PEACE PLAN DETAILS ARE MADE PUBLIC

Att'y-General Ruling Makes Neff Parks Head

Through the

By GEORGE

Tomorrow is "Christmas Seal" day in Cisco, set apart by mayor's proclamation, during which the members of the American Legion auxiliary will endeavor to sell a large number of these tokens of humanity's war against the White Plague. The seals are sold for one cent each and are traditionally used at Christmas time, hence their name.

There is much of interest to be learned about anything to which a person will apply his or her earnest attention. To a geologist, says Noyes B. Livingston, a rock is not something inert and inanimate, but a constantly seething mass of motion, and even emotion—an incomprehensible aggregation of infinite little universes which we call atoms. Cataclysms beyond conception and tragedies of undreamed immensity may result from the explorations of scientists cracking up these infinitesimal particles of matter in their laboratories.

That random thought, however, is a queer way to introduce the subject of road building. It is merely to emphasize that there is a lot about the apparently prosaic business of making roads that we don't know. I went out yesterday afternoon with J. E. Spencer to have a look at the topping of the Leeray cut-off which the maintenance department of the highway commission began a few days ago.

The department is taking opportunity there, with the excellent base that has been built, to make practical close comparisons of various formulae for topping with asphalt. Double-seal and triple-seal bituminous surfacing will be laid in connecting strips and the wearworthiness of the two will be compared under similar conditions. Both are good tops, of the same thickness. The first uses only two sizes of crushed stone, the second three. On a good base—the real secret of good roads—each will wear a long, long time. If there is any virtue in one over the other, the comparison here will reveal it.

Much has been learned about road building in the last few years. Laying of asphalt tops as now done may appear unsubstantial to some lay critics. But the contrary is true. Roads built today with less effort and material than were employed some years ago in the construction of surfaces, are vastly superior to the old type. The process employed on the Leeray cut-off is known as "inverted penetration." Given a smooth base, properly shaped and more thickly constructed at the sides toward which the weight of the traffic is constantly pushed, a layer of heavy stone is spread and smoothed. A coating of hot asphalt is squirted over this. If a double-seal is used, the asphalt is covered with a layer of finely crushed stone, laid in surplus enough to work closely into the asphalted crevices of the larger stones and become thoroughly mixed with the asphalt into a smooth surface. This is swept with a great broom, dragged like a harrow, and rolled with a great roller. Traffic in a few days dusts off the surplus "chat" and works the remainder into the asphalt which "bleeds" up into a solid black surface.

In the triple-seal formula three sizes of stone are used. About 30 days will be required to finish the paving and Cisco will then have an excellent, all-weather road to the north.

Finley, Joe Bob and Bryan Lee Winston will spend Friday evening in Ranger.

HOLDS ALLRED NO AUTHORITY TO APPOINT

M a y e s, Brownwood Man, Was Governor's Nominee

AUSTIN, Dec. 13. (AP)—The attorney general's department has ruled that Governor Allred is without authority to appoint a chairman of the state parks board, it became known today. The ruling advanced former Governor Pat Neff, vice-chairman, to the chairmanship, which D. E. Colp, of San Antonio, vacated.

Governor Allred had appointed Wendell Mayes, of Brownwood, as chairman, to succeed Colp.

JAPS 'POLICY' FORMULATED

TIENSIN, Dec. 13. (AP)—High Japanese officers today formulated at a conference their "policy" toward North China, involving a sharp increase of the Japanese army forces in this area, and a close collaboration with the new, semi-autonomous regime.

1225 Bales Ginned at Moran to Tuesday

MORAN, Dec. 13.—John Alexander, manager of the Moran Gin Co., stated Tuesday that they had ginned 1,225 bales of cotton up to that date, and is expecting the total run for the season to be around 1,300. The crop was better this fall than it was believed it would turn out last summer. Quite a bit of bad weather during the past three months held back cotton picking, but at this time most of the farmers are through. A few have some picking yet.

Mr. Alexander states that the average price paid here this fall has been 10.50 cents per pound. Seed averaged around $33.00 per ton. This crop has brought local farmers $71,500 for lint and $17,160 for seed, making a total income of $88,660.

Conservative Meal to Be Demonstrated

While Christmas has been a day of feasting and rejoicing for many centuries, there are some people who prefer more conservative holiday meals. Miss Albertine Berry, home economics director for Community Gas company, will have this type of meal in mind during her demonstration at the Norvell and Miller grocery, 200 West Eighth, Saturday from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m.

Miss Berry, in addition to new recipes for choice meats appropriate for Christmas meals, will discuss buying and preparation of less expensive cuts of meat that will prove excellent holiday dessert recipes. Miss Berry will have available for housewives who attend the demonstration during the day a menu for plum pudding, a traditional Christmas delicacy, that can be prepared in the home at reasonable cost.

Miss Berry will be in Cisco this week end through the cooperation of Norvell and Miller grocery and the Community Natural Gas company.

BAPTIST MEN IN BANQUET HERE THURS.

Cisco Ass'n Brotherhood Addressed by Eastland Pastor

The associational meeting of the Baptist Brotherhood of the Cisco association was held in the dining room of the First Baptist church Thursday night, where a banquet was served by the women of the church. These associational meetings are held quarterly, and the meeting last night was said to be one of the best yet held.

W. D. R. Owen, of Eastland is associational president and presided at the banquet when covers were laid for 69 guests.

These meetings are held quarterly at one of the churches in the association, which embraces the counties of Eastland, Stephens and Shackelford. It was voted to hold the next meeting with the Gorman church, with Eastland being chosen as the alternate site.

An interesting program was enjoyed after the meal, during which President Owen presided. The first was calling the roll of churches in the association, and recording the names of the representatives present. Following the roll call, minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. This was followed by a general report and discussion of the work of the association.

The Baptist Brotherhood membership consists exclusively of laymen of the churches, although there are usually a number of ministers in attendance. At the meeting Thursday night the principal address was delivered by the Rev. Reed Eastman, recently called pastor of the Eastland Baptist church, who made an impressive talk on the work of the Brotherhood.

The post-banquet program included the song, "Standing on the Promises," which was led by W. Frank Walker. The Harry Schaefer orchestra furnished music for the meeting.

Mr. Walker stated that it is the purpose of those having these meetings in hand to make them entertaining as well as spiritual in their programs, and this was no exception, as the entertaining features were very interesting part of the program Thursday night.

Witness in Grand Jury Investigation

To appear as witnesses in connection with the cases of two Ranger men charged with the holdup robbery of a Fort Worth loan company office, Chief of Police Milton Perdue and O. W. Hampton, Cisco cafe proprietor, were in Fort Worth today to appear at grand jury hearings.

The two suspects, one said to have been a newspaper circulation manager for a brief time here and the other a washing machine salesman, were arrested at Ranger some time ago. Chief Perdue assisted in the investigation.

To Have Operation for Ankle Infection

An ankle infection developing from an injury sustained a year ago when the motor of a truck backfired as he attempted to crank it has sent Eugene Henderson, son of Comm'r. and Mrs. H. C. Henderson to a Dallas hospital.

Mrs. Henderson went to Dallas Thursday and last night a telephone message from her said that Eugene would undergo an operation at 2 p. m. today. Mr. Henderson was to leave for Dallas this afternoon.

New Ranger Head Strikes Ex-Deputy

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 13. (AP)—Captain J. W. McCormick, the newly appointed senior ranger captain, today struck Frank Matthews, former Bexar county deputy, as members of the special house committee investigating the public safety commission, met to receive testimony on Bexar crime conditions.

The one blow was struck. McCormick said he struck Matthews after Matthews started "popping off."

1,000 Bales Less Cotton Is Ginned

There were 3,519 bales of cotton ginned in Eastland county prior to December 1, a report of Mrs. Katherine Fee, special agent for the department of agriculture, said this week. This compares, she said, with 4,514 bales ginned to the same date a year ago.

JAP TROOPS ENTER CHINA

Ranch Boss Will Be Buried Today

MIDLAND, Dec. 13.—Funeral rites for Lester (Gabe) Beauchamp, 34, who was dragged to death by his horse at the Parks & Proctor ranch near Albany Wednesday, will be held from the First Methodist church here this afternoon. Mr. Beauchamp was foreman of the 16,000-acre ranch and had left Wednesday morning to ride the pastures.

Tangled in his own rope, the brush-torn and battered body was found in a seven-section pasture early Thursday morning by a searching party that had combed the area throughout the night with flashlights.

The ranch foreman evidently had roped a calf and dismounted to tie it when his horse bolted, the rope whipping tight around his arm. The other end was fastened to his saddle horn.

When the riderless horse returned to the ranch corrals 10 miles south of Albany late Wednesday, 50 men, led by Roy Parks, one of the foreman's employers, turned out for the search. Parks and Foy Proctor of Midland operate the ranch.

Surviving Mr. Beauchamp are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Beauchamp of Midland and four brothers and two sisters. He formerly lived here.

Negro Hunted in Slaying at Lufkin

LUFKIN, Tex., Dec. 13. (AP)—Posses are today hunting Harry Lacy, negro, who shot and killed Edgar Womack, farmer, and wounded Deputy Sheriff C. C. Thorn last night.

Officers said that Lacy had stolen a hog. Womack and Thorn went to get the hog at Lacy's home. They told the negro to kill and dress the animal and take it to the Womack house.

The negro turned as he started toward the Womack home, shot the two men and fled.

$11,957 TO FARMERS

EASTLAND, Dec. 13.—Disbursements to farmers of Eastland county by the department of agriculture in rental and benefit payments amounted to $11,957.05 in three months ended Sept. 30, according to a tabulation of payments released by the department Wednesday.

ITALY WOULD GET 2-3RDS OF ETHIOPIA

Plans Being Carefully Examined by Italians

(By Associated Press) The peace plan, which was made public today, would give Italy sovereignty or control over approximately two-thirds of Ethiopia. An Italian spokesman said the plans were being carefully examined.

It was learned that Anthony Eden is to return to London immediately from Geneva for consultations with cabinet ministers in view of antagonism to the peace plan that has developed.

Ethiopia reported that a strong patrol defeated an Italian post, killing seven, and wounding an undetermined number.

Authoritative Rome sources said that Pope Pius, through the papal nuncios, had influenced Poland, Austria and France to push for peace.

Emperor Haile Selassie, of Ethiopia, asked the League of Nations today to call a special meeting of the entire assembly to discuss the situation in the Italo-Ethiopian conflict on the grounds that the Franco-British peace plan had violated the League covenant.

The League's small nations had expressed opposition to the plan, and rebellion against the proposal is threatened in the British house of commons. British constituents protested this action bitterly. At Dessye Selassie said he would reject the peace proposal if it provides for partition of Ethiopia.

Mussolini protested to the League of the Ethiopians using the Red Cross emblem.

Presbyterian Xmas Programs Announced

Rev. J. Stuart Pearce, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, made the following announcements of Christmas activities of the Presbyterian congregation:

The annual pageant will begin at 7 p. m., December 22, and the church Christmas tree at 7 o'clock p. m., Monday, December 23.

Rehearsals for the pageant will be Saturday evening, December 21, at 7 o'clock. All who will take part in the pageant are requested to meet at the church promptly at the hour.

The Christmas trees will be of the same kind previously had—One for the small children, and the other a white Christmas tree, where gifts for the needy will be placed.

Mr. and Mrs. Harve Woodridge expect to leave Saturday for a two weeks visit with relatives and friends in San Marcos and Austin.

Gov't Puts Three of Five Suggested Points to Aid Cotton in Operation

AUSTIN, Dec. 13.—Three of the five points suggested a year ago for the well-being of the cotton industry by Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the University of Texas bureau of business research and an internationally known authority on cotton marketing, have already been placed in operation by the federal government, Dr. Cox has pointed out.

It was exactly a year ago that Dr. Cox, writing for the Texas Business Review, monthly periodical published by the University bureau of business research, presented his "emergency cotton program."

In brief it was: "The cotton industry of the South is facing an emergency, and drastic measures will be necessary to avoid serious impairment of standards of living of practically the entire population. The emergency cotton program must: Provide means for restoring export markets for American cotton; eliminate the processing tax to restore the domestic market for cotton goods on a basis of fair competition with other textiles; relieve the unbearable tariff burden now being carried by cotton growers; restore hundreds of thousands of farm families to homes on farms with a prospect of making a decent living; bring about better farm management practices on cotton farms to prevent overproduction and provide additional cash enterprises."

In his most recent analysis of the cotton industry for the Review, Dr. Cox said:

"Since that program was outlined the government has taken steps to put in operation, wholly or in part, three of the five points mentioned. In the first place, the government has removed the greatest immediate obstacle to the free flow of American cotton into world markets; that is, loans to farmers above world price. That corrects a great mistake, but make not the error that this move alone will regain foreign markets. It will be necessary to do more than that. It will be necessary to encourage rather than restrict production. This fact has become so obvious that the important question now is one of method. A bonus on production based on some form of domestic allotment seems preferable under existing circumstances. In addition to this, vigorous efforts must be made to improve farm management practices, to lower costs of production, improve the quality of American cotton, and strengthen our marketing agencies.

"Nothing as yet has been done about the removal of the injustices from the processing tax on cotton, which continues indirectly to subsidize competing textiles and to dry up the American outlet for cotton goods.

"The government followed closely my recommendation as to the relief of the tariff burden on the cotton farmer. I suggested: 'Tariff burdens must be equalized. This should be done by taking sufficient cash from current tariff revenues to pay cotton farmers a bonus sufficient to give cotton a buying power comparable at least with the 1909-14 level. Reduction in benefit payments should be made over a period from three to five years and tariff duties over the same time should be reduced proportionately to a revenue basis only.'

"Considerable money and effort is being put into an attempt on the part of the government to restore farm families to homes on farms. However, it should be obvious by now that any attempt to restore an appreciable number of farm families to profitable employment on farms under a drastic crop restriction program is utterly futile. The substitution of a plan to encourage production such as a properly worked out domestic allotment plan would go a long way toward the accomplishment of the fourth provision.

"The fifth provision is extremely complicated and will require effective planning for a long-time program. Experience of the past two years should at least suggest an effective line of approach.

"The road of cotton is rough. September and October showed very satisfactory market operations. American cotton moved rapidly into domestic consumption and export, and this, with a certain amount of crop depreciation, due to weather and insect damage, brought about a substantial rise in the price of cotton. Beginning shortly after November 1, there developed a strong 'short' interest in near month future positions which has forced heavy premiums in near-month positions and will most certainly be detrimental to the entire cotton industry and especially farmers and manufacturers if the condition is not corrected."

Japan now is the largest foreign supplier of merchandise to Ethiopia, accounting for the great bulk of its cotton textile imports, the outstanding item in the country's import trade.

Maryland's Ennis Tops in Everything

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Dec. 13. (P)—At the University of Maryland here one Lou Ennis is just about tops in everything.

He has completed a fine job of football at end for the Terrapins and has turned to lacrosse.

A 190-pound, 5-foot-11-inch husky, Ennis is a senior in the school of business administration who has averaged 3.4 during his college career—where the maximum is 4.

He is president of the student-government association, the most coveted honor on the campus, and top colonel in the R. O. T. C.

Topping it all he is putting himself through school by working for the National Youth Administration. He doesn't neglect his social duties either, for he's a member of Sigma Nu fraternity and O. D. K., honorary Greek society.

Criticizes Coach for Not "Yanking" Him

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., Dec. 13. (P)—Jimmy Coffis, little sophomore left halfback on Stanford's eleven, has his own ideas about how Coach "Tiny" Thornhill should act.

Coffis, rated the best safety man on the Pacific Coast, bobbed the first kick in Stanford's crucial game with California. It was his only miscue of the season.

After the game, he told Thornhill:

"I kept looking at the bench for several plays after to see who you had warming up? Did you have any idea of yanking me after that fumble?"

"No," replied Thornhill, "I never figured on it at all."

"Well, you should have," Coffis snapped back.

Games With 'Common Foe' Give Chance to Compare Rose Bowlers

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., Dec. 13. (AP)—Matching of Stanford and Southern Methodist for New Year's Day offers an opportunity unusual to Rose Bowl competition—a chance to compare the teams on the basis of performance against a common enemy.

Their common opponent was the University of California at Los Angeles. U. C. L. A. put the only blot on Stanford's record this season with a 7-6 victory on October 12, but was in turn crushed by the Texas aerial circus, 20-0 on November 11.

Simple subtraction thus gives the Mustangs a 22-point advantage over the Indians, but statistics of the two games show them much more closely matched.

In first downs Stanford holds a net edge of four. S. M. U. made 17 first downs against the Uclans to 16 for Tiny Thornhill's Indians, but on the other hand Stanford allowed only four while the Texan defense was cracked for seven.

Stanford 'Out-Rushes' S. M. U.

Yardage by rushing shows a similar lead of 42 yards for the westerners, who ran up 205 yards on the ground against U. C. L. A., three more than were gained in similar fashion by S. M. U. U. C. L. A., however, ran the ball 114 yards against the Texans and only 75 against Stanford.

It is in the passing game where Coach Matty Bell's Methodists show the biggest edge. They completed 17 out of 29 aerials against U. C. L. A. for a total of 183 yards and lost four by interceptions. The more conservative Stanford eleven passed 17 times while losing to U. C. L. A. but completed only four for 48 yards. Three were intercepted.

No conclusive indications can be drawn on pass defense, for U. C. L. A. threw only two passes against the Indians, both incomplete. Its passing attack was also fruitless against S. M. U., although it tried hard. Of 18 passes, only three were completed for 30 yards and four were intercepted.

The statistics set forth that Stanford outkicked U. C. L. A., by 2.3 yards while the latter outpunted the Texas eleven by 0.4 yards. The Indians in the same way show a better average on punt returns than S. M. U. and suffered less yardage loss from penalties.

HERE ARE THE FIGURES:

U.C.L.A S.M.U.		U.C.L.A Stanford
First downs	7	17	16
Yards by rushing	114	202	75

Umpire E. C. Quigley Seeks a "Grand Slam"

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 13. (AP)—E. C. Quigley, the Kansas hog-fancier who is better known as a baseball, football and basketball official, has one officiating goal yet to achieve, and he hopes this will be the year.

Quigley has umpired in six world series. He has been an official in three Rose Bowl football games. He has officiated in 16 national basketball tournaments. But he has never been on duty in the three events the same year, or, to be exact, in consecutive seasons.

Quigley estimates he has umpired in about 3,600 National league baseball games, close to 40 world series games, at least 2,500 basketball games, and in approximately 500 football contests, but he would like to have a "big three" in one year before he quits.

Consumption of confectionery and chocolate products in the United States is running about 10 per cent ahead of last year's consumption.

Injured Alustiza Inspires Indians With Movie Lesson in Blocking Art

To Wed Senator

Brazil is not a drinking country, Correio da Manha, morning newspaper here, concluded from statistics of liquor importations last year amounting to only $1,731,440.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif. (AP)—A teammate out of football forever may provide sufficient inspiration for the Stanford Indians to overcome their Rose Bowl "jinx" and avenge previous defeats at Pasadena next New Year's Day.

He is Frank Alustiza, the Basque blocking back and a regular for three seasons until Alustiza suffered an eye injury in Stanford's lone defeat this fall at the hands of U. C. L. A. by a 7-6 score.

No less an authority than Bobby Grayson, the Indians' star full-back, said the team won the "big game" from California and the Rose Bowl selection for the third year in succession "for Frankie."

Alustiza's teammates have had assembled a movie reel featuring action by him from films of all their previous games. It was a gift to him.

Let Grayson tell the rest of it: "Then 'the old man' (Coach Thornhill) pulled the smartest thing he ever did. He showed us those pictures the night before the big game. We saw some great blocking, and we made up our minds we'd go out and do the same thing. And we did."

Although he is still recuperating from a successful operation, Alustiza, seated in an automobile which was run into the stadium, witnessed the 13-0 drubbing his mates hung on California. And he expects to be on hand at Pasadena to urge them to a Rose Bowl triumph.

THE CLOSED WINDOW-

Do you shut out healthful fresh air from your home during winter months by keeping all windows tightly closed? You wouldn't consider doing such a thing in summer, now would you?

It is especially important to keep the air of your home fresh and pure during winter. Under the artificial conditions of winter indoor life, heavy demands are made on the oxygen supply of your home. In the first place an adult breathes about 360 cubic feet of air every 24 hours. In addition to this, the heater in the room takes a large supply of oxygen from the air because fuel will not burn without oxygen. Both the heater and the occupants of the room are consuming the air. Therefore, it becomes doubly important during winter to introduce a reasonable amount of fresh air from the outside so that the air you breathe will be pure as well as warm and comfortable. Incidentally, fresh air is easier to heat than "stale" air.

When open flame heaters are used exclusively it is of utmost importance to have adequate ventilation and a circulation of heated air, if healthful conditions are to exist. Proper ventilation should be provided through window openings, and pure warmed air should be kept circulating through connecting doors of all rooms. America's Public Health Enemy Number One, the common cold germ, finds a fertile field in an inadequately heated and poorly ventilated home.

A simple method of providing a constant circulation of fresh air is to open the window nearest the heater in each room slightly at the top and bottom. This permits fresh, oxygen-laden air to replace the products of combustion caused by breathing and by the fuel burning in the room. The overheated air which rises to the ceiling circulates to other parts of the room and a more healthful air condition is the result.

Guard the health of your family this winter with proper ventilation and adequately warmed fresh air in every room in the house. It's a simple precaution in combating the common "cold".

Don't gamble with a "cold"! Consult your family doctor before it has an opportunity to undermine your health. Tune in each Thursday night at 6:30, WFAA-WBAP, for helpful information from a leading physician that will assist you to guard against the common cold germ.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Let not then your good be evil spoken of: for the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost.—Romans 14: 16, 17.

Arise from dark dreamings of lack and of sickness and sorrow; Though deep seem the shadows, still faithfully let thy light shine; Nor may error beguile thee to linger, for now, not tomorrow, The Father's rich treasure, o'erflowing and bounteous, is thine.

—ALMA HARRISON.

The coming of the Holy Spirit upon expectant people is not always like the sound of a rustling mighty wind, but often more like the gentle rain from heaven and other symbols of tenderness mingled with strength. In times of great fear or anxiety, or when passions are rising high, or when the heart life is arid, the need of humanity is the Holy Spirit like spring rain upon a dreary winter-bound soil.—Cincinnati Christian Advocate.

Raising the Age Limit

THE Interscholastic league executive committee has yielded to demands for a league referendum on a proposal to raise the age limit for participation in league supervised high school athletics from 18 years to 19 years. The 18-year limit will become effective next September if it is not rescinded in this referendum. The committee arbitrarily which has been vigorously protested. There is such a thing as carrying regulation too far. The reduction of the age limit was explained by its advocates on the ground that the average limit from 20 years, an action age of the high school graduate is between 17 and 18, and that it is unfair to play a boy who progressed normally to graduation at that age against older boys.

THE fallacy of that argument exists in the fact that there is no "average" boy with respect to football participation. The fiction is derived from the mathematical inclusion of boys and girls who do not play football and whose interests and abilities are different from those who play football. If by merely lowering the age limit school authorities would prevent competition between extremes there would be some excuse for the low age limit, but the fact is that there is just as much or more "unfairness" in permitting competition between boys 14 and 15 and boys 18 years of age as permitting it between boys of 16 and 17 and boys of 19 or 20 years.

THE real injustice exists in the fact that excessive regulation stifles the sport and denies all the boys and the school the best benefits of its training in sportsmanship and its character-building. The age limit should be raised to the 19-year line in fairness to all concerned.

Praiseworthy, If Futile

REFUSAL of Ethiopia to accept peace terms which would entail surrender of a certain amount of "conquered" territory for the dubious advantage of a narrow strip to the sea across Italian-occupied Eritrea on the score that it would represent rewarding aggression is an admirable instance of national self-respect however much it may disrupt the well-laid peace plans of the powers. The instance in which Britain and France seek to preserve their own interests by trading off parts of Ethiopia to appease Mussolini's appetite, shows clearly enough that the great powers other than Italy, have as little regard for the autonomous integrity of the "nigger" country as does the dictator of the lantern jaw. They would have no compunction for slicing up its territory and trading it for their own peace and advantage.

THE refusal of Selassie to trade one foot of territory for withdrawal of Italian aggression gets our admiration although it is certain that, torn between the ambitions of rival empires, the national self-respect of the "uncivilized" country is bound to succumb to the predatory demands of the powers.

Human and Other Nature

By W. F. BRUCE

"Springing out of bed" may be a good way to begin a short story, which is supposed to begin with a lunge. It may be also a good way to begin a day that one wishes to go down in history, at least in his personal memoirs, as one to be remembered for its accomplishments. But when it comes to suiting the action to the expression one is strongly inclined to let the phrase begin the story or enliven the biography of some shining example of success. But why should an act of just a moment such as the one of changing position from supineness to uprightiness be so dreaded? Mainly because so much is involved in that little act. One minute the muscles are relaxed, the heart is idling, and the mind is unconcerned. The cover seems to shut out both discomfort and responsibility, and comfort and irresponsibility are two things that make one easy in body and mind. The workaday world may be clamoring for recognition outside and knocking at the very doors but as long as one is abed he can presume himself to be "not at home" to its insistent demands. But in some unexpected instant the plugs is executed and now he is a different being; pulse picks up, alert, effort begins to counter-act discomforts, and one finds himself slipping in under the load. It was not a momentary movement that was holding him down, but all that followed in the way of the day's work which one knew would begin the instant that first move was made. I do not suppose that success is measured by the degree of alacrity with which one executes his rise in the morning. But it is a pretty good index to such factors as health, regularity of habits, seriousness of attitude toward work, and thrill at the challenge of life; these are important items of success; hence one may use his morning leap as a basis of guess as to how he is getting along with his work.

Politics At Random

By BYRON PRICE (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

The anti-Hoover declaration of the Ohio Republican leaders is one of those comparatively small events which sometimes mark the turning point of great political movements.

Considered by itself, apart from its background of local and national rivalries, the action is not so important. The state central committee, which framed the declaration, does not decide what candidate the state will support; and, after all, Ohio is only one state among many.

Yet, when all of the circumstances are taken into account, the development carries certain implications of the most interesting sort.

One inevitable suggestion is that the committee may not have acted entirely as an isolated unit of the party's national organization—that a step of so extraordinary a character must have had some extraordinary cause and purpose.

In other words, the declaration raises the question whether this really is the first concrete gesture of a wide-spread and well-organized effort to read Mr. Hoover out of party leadership.

Extraordinary Action The facts of the case are interesting enough to warrant detailed examination.

Ohio has a primary law, and the primary returns usually decide what candidate will be supported. The state central committee presumably represents all elements of party opinion and occupies itself with party organization, not with candidacies.

A half-dozen or more Republicans now are prominently mentioned for the presidency. One of them is Mr. Hoover, who by virtue of his nomination in 1932 remains the titular leader of the party. Furthermore, it has been reported that Mr. Hoover might try to capture the Ohio delegation as an entering wedge of convention strength. It is not unusual for a state committee, when several candidates are in the field, to step out of its designated role to express its approval of one of them; but to single out one among several for condemnation and to select the party leader for that role, is something out of the ordinary. It is difficult to recall any exactly similar case.

But that is what the committee did. In the words of State Chairman Schorr: "While no formal action was taken, the committee unanimously and informally expressed the opinion that Herbert Hoover should not be a candidate and should not be nominated."

Movement On Foot This, to many politicians, appeared something more than an invitation to Mr. Hoover to stay out of the Ohio primaries, and out of Ohio politics.

It unquestionably will be interpreted by the former president's political enemies in many other states as an invitation to follow the lead of Ohio, and disavow well in advance of the national convention and willingness to go through another campaign under a Hoover banner.

No one who associates with politicians is unaware that a movement to take the Hoover label off the party, and particularly off the 1936 convention and nominee, has been in progress quietly for months. Now the Ohio central committee has "broken the ice."

What, if anything, will ensue? Will the movement stop there, or will a convincing number of other state committees and leaders fall into line, shouldering Mr. Hoover out of the picture and clearing the field for other candidates.

And, conversely, will the overt act in Ohio force the former president to become openly a candidate in order to hold his forces together for the convention leadership to which he evidently aspires?

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Cosmo Hamilton, the writer, believes there will be a European war within two years and that it will be provoked by Germany. "Because she wants to get back her colonies now in our possession."

I like the way he answers questions when reporters shoot fast ones at him. When he got on the Berengaria the other night he told of his experiences in communicating with the dead by telephone. He is a firm believer in spiritualism.

"But who paid the telephone calls?" piped up a scribe. "They were prepaid," Mr. Hamilton answered solemnly.

I also like the explanation Lieutenant Felix Waitkus gives for the failure of his recently attempted flight to Lithuania. He had engine trouble and landed in a field in Ireland.

"It's like this," the Lieutenant says. "On a trial spin before taking off my propeller picked up some Shamrock, and a friend of mine assured me I would have to make a forced landing in Ireland. Well, I did, and now I can't help wondering where I'd be if that propeller had picked up seaweed."

Somerset Maugham is unlike that school of British writers who made a business of grinding out whole novels over weekends.

He seldom writes more than 1,000 words a day. The national drink of Tibet is tea, says Arthur S. Vernay, "with a little rancid butter in it." Vernay, however, prefers scotch. He is one of eight men to penetrate the plateaus of Tibet in the last 35 years.

Arturo Toscanini neither becomes indignant nor excited when people refer to him as a genius.

Nor is he embarrassed. He accepts it as a mere statement of fact, as if some one were referring to him as a musician, or an Italian.

Anticipating a killing during the coming Christmas season, most New York shops had their displays ready even before Thanksgiving was out of the way. Toys and Christmas cards have been featured for weeks.

He is known principally as a radio comic, but in reality Fred Allen is a very shrewd business man. After he went to Hollywood to make a hit picture he came right back and said he was too busy to consider other films. But the offers are now stacked a foot high on his desk, and when Hollywood wants you, it gets you. It does.

Time seems elastic on Broadway, what with "The Children's Hour" in its 2nd year and the "Night of January 16th" reoccurring for the 75th time.

Culled from a ship news reporter's column: "A fog, like a soft grey blanket, hung over the lower harbor." And from another column: "The harbor was reduced to a thick pea-green soup." Maybe there ought to be an official color declarer with the weather department.

Loitering through a hotel lobby the other day a music teacher, hauled out an odd cigarette lighter. "Where'd you get that?" inquired a companion. "No, let me guess— Jascha Heifetz gave it to you." "How'd you know?" inquired the astounded fellow.

"He gave me one too," his friend explained. "When Heifetz was in South America he bought several hundred of them as gifts for his pals."

AGREE ON NEW PEACE PLAN

France and Great Britain were reported in substantial agreement on a new plan for Ethiopian peace after several "minor changes" were incorporated in original proposals drafted by Premier Laval of France and Sir Samuel Hoare, British foreign secretary. The plan, to be presented to both Italy and Ethiopia, would give Ethiopia an outlet to the sea at Assab. Italy would be given the province of the Tigre, with the exception of Aksum, and would receive a colonization zone in the south.

Azucar (Spanish Sugar to You) Is "Bargain Horse"

By ORLO ROBERTSON
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Dec. 13. (AP) — Real bargains among the turf's ranking thoroughbreds are few and far between, but at least ten horses, including the great Discovery, fall in that category this year.

Although Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt paid $20,000 for Discovery as a 2-year-old, the famous chestnut son of Display has earned his oats many times over. As a juvenile, the 1935 handicap champion, holder of two world records, was not much but last year he picked up $49,555 while trailing Cavalcade through most of the season. He was even greater this year, winning $102,545, the majority of it in piling up eight straight victories.

A Real Bargain

The most notable bargain of the season, however, was Azucar, the former jumper which young Fred Alger, Jr., of Detroit acquired from J. E. Widener for a reported price of $7,500. The gelded son of Milesius, Irish-bred and with a Spanish name, rolled up a grand total of $117,950, largely because of his victory in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap.

A. A. Baroni's Top Row, the little speedster that broke Discovery's winning streak in the Narragansett special and then repeated the victory in the Massachusetts Handicap at Suffolk Downs, also rates near the top. The California sportsman claimed the son of Peanuts for a mere $3,500 in 1934. Since January 1, he has won $93,120 and ranks with Discovery as the one to beat in the 1936 Santa Anita Handicap.

Profit In King Saxon

King Saxon, rated the greatest of the year's milers, Identify and Good Gamble, stablemates of Discovery, the Canadian-owned Stand Pat and Roman Soldier also have proved rare bargains among the older horses.

C. H. (Pat) Knebelkamp acquired the king as a two-year-old for $2,500. He returned $38,010 to his Kentucky owner's pocket. Young Vanderbilt picked up Identify out of a claiming race for $3,500 last year and won $26,095 with the 3-year-old before he went wrong at Saratoga. He also paid only $4,500 for Good Gamble yet the filly earned $35,985 and rated as one of the best of the 3-year-old fillies of the year.

Tintagel and Grand Slam

Roman Soldier, which like Identify and Good Gamble came out of Max Hirsch's barns, cost the late William Sachsenmaier and Phil Reuter a reported sum of $7,500. He went on to prove one of the ablest of the year's 3-year-olds, winning $45,100 with victories in the Texas and Detroit derbies. Stand Pat, purchased by E. F. Seagram for $3,500, went through a heavy campaign but finished with earnings totaling $28,225.

Among the juveniles, Marshall Field's Tintagel and Grand Slam from the Bomar stable of Detroit were the outstanding bargains. Field acquired Tintagel for $5,100 as a yearling and the son of Sir Gallahad 3rd, with victory in the Belmont Futurity as his major conquest earned $76,170 to top the juveniles in money won. Grand Slam joined the Bomar stable for the modest sum of $4,000. He won $68,095, with victories in the Arlington Futurity, the Kentucky Jockey Club Stakes and a second in the Pimlico Futurity.

STAMFORD WELL SHOWING

ALBANY, Dec. 13.—Peckham Brothers and Danciger Oil & Refineries No. 1 City of Stamford, directly north of the new King sand production near Lueders, was showing for a 25 to 50 barrel well in the Cook horizon yesterday after taking one foot of the sand from 1,815-1,816 feet.

The test filled 650 feet with oil in the seven-inch hole after the sand was topped. The oil rose in 14 hours overnight.

Located north of the Ungren & Frazier No. 1 Jennings, it is on the Stamford settling basin land, a strip 200 feet wide which crosses diagonally the northeast 80-acre tract out of section 207, BBB&C survey. It is about three miles northwest of Lueders in Jones county.

Ungren & Frazier of Abilene are now moving in material for a north offset to the No. 1 Jennings, which will be 660 feet from the south line and 660 feet from the east line of the east half of the northeast quarter of section 207. The No. 1 Jennings completed as a 404-barrel natural well from the King sand, flowing potential gauge through two-inch tubing.

The last completion, Bridwell & Fikes No. 4 Jennings, directly between the pool opener and the Ungren & Frazier well, has not

Grid Fan Idolizes Sheldon Beise, Who Gave Him a Scar as Souvenir

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 13. (AP) — Among the 45,000 fans who cheered Sheldon Beise, burly Minnesota fullback, as he left the Wisconsin game, marking the end of his collegiate career, there was one man with tears in his eyes.

He is A. C. Tibbetts, superintendent of schools at Mound, Minn., where Beise played his first football—and was a star almost from his initial game.

"I've never known a finer, cleaner lad," says Tibbetts. "He was a been tested yet and has produced no oil because there has been no storage available.

In Southern Jones county, the Brown Eagle Oil company and Charles Kleiner No. 1 Birt Fields, wildcat three miles east of Hawley, had a three or four barrel show of oil in the Cook horizon from 1,957-63 feet, with no water.

Operators announced the test would be carried on down to the King sand, or around 2,400 feet. It was originally intended as a 2,000-foot test. Location is 1,414 feet from the east line and 150 feet from the north line of the Fields 153-acre tract in the east half of Samuel Andrews survey.

In the Hawley field, storage connection was being completed for the Tom Humphrey No. 1 Henry Dorsey estate, estimated as probably the largest producer for the field, which extended the proven area more than a half-mile early this week. Sand, topped at 2,058 feet, was the second producing pay in the field. It headed through eight-inch pipe with 100 feet of open hole. Location 18, Manuel Bueno survey No. 196.

Ungren & Frazier No. 1-C Dorsey, a south offset to the Martin No. 3 Dorsey which recently struck new production at 2,150 feet, was drilling ahead at 1,170 feet. It is in section 4, Manuel Bueno survey No. 197.

SPORT SLANTS

By PAP

Boxing was very much in the doldrums until Joe Louis came along and injected new life with his thudding brown fists. Then almost over night the sport took a new lease on life. And the new found interest was not confined to the heavyweights. Even the tiny flyweights and bantams have attracted huge gatherings.

In the ranks of the smaller fighting men is Freddie Miller of Cincinnati, recognized all over Europe and in most parts of the United States as the featherweight champion. A grand little scrapper whose record covers over 200 fights, he is one of the most active boxers the game has produced, his ring schedule calling for at least two or three engagements a month.

Miller is a classy little left-hander with a pleasing style. He packs a terrific punch. Many rate him the greatest southpaw since Lew Tendler.

His astonishing activity, at home and abroad, should give him a decided edge over the other claimants of the featherweight crown.

The Sharkey 'Color'

Jack Sharkey, former heavyweight champion now attempting a comeback, continues to add colorful (?) new patches to the crazy-quilt that is his fight record. To the "unusual" incidents which dotted his career, such as his ill-advised use of the American flag as a robe when he climbed into the ring to fight Max Schmeling the first time; his efforts to leave the ring when he thought he had knocked Carnera out in their first meeting; his failure to protect himself while complaining to the referee and thus leaving himself wide open to Dempsey's crushing left-hook; the crying spell he staged when Phil Scott claimed a foul in their famous Miami farce and many others equally unexplainable, he adds his twin-knock-out of Eddie (Unknown) Winston on the occasion of the launching of his come-back campaign.

It's Sharkey-esque

The incident was typically "Sharkey" in every detail. After the Negro had swarmed all over the former champion at the opening bell only to crumple in a heap when Sharkey landed a left hook on his jaw, the spectators stormed the ring and demanded more than the single minute of fighting they witnessed.

When the crowd hammed in the ring and refused to allow the fighters to leave, the officials ruled that Sharkey and Winston could start all over again. The second time it took Sharkey slightly longer to dispose of the Negro, a round and a half, to be exact.

On the strength of his past record all sorts of strange things may happen to Sharkey if he insists on continuing with his come-back plans. He might eventually be tossed in to meet Joe Louis. And figuring on the basis of what Louis did to Carnera after Primo had stopped Sharkey it ought to be enough to discourage the former sailor from continuing.

Peaceful Buddhist Cloisters Rededicated As War Shrine

By C. Y. McDANIEL
 NANKING, Dec. 13. (AP)—Three bowls of rice, or a few wheat cakes a day when living—an unmarked grave when dead.

Such was the lot of the common soldier in China for centuries, though the struggles which overthrew imperial dynasties and established new ones, and in the civil wars of the early republican era which turned ambitious bandit chieftains and army subalterns into "war-lords" and "marshals."

'Every Man a Soldier'

But militarism is the new order of the day in China. "Every able bodied man a soldier," is the motto of a program which compels every school and college youth to learn the art of warfare.

"National salvation can only be achieved if the people of China are ready and willing to lay down their lives for their country," is the slogan flashed to Young China from moving picture screens, highway billboards and over the radio.

New Yorker Draws Plans

This is the spirit which prompted the national government to spend $1,000,000 on a memorial at Nanking to honor the heroes of the revolution of 1911 and inspire the youth of the land to emulate their deeds of bravery and patriotism.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek provided the authority and funds, and a former New York architect, Henry Kilam Murphy, the architectural inspiration which have transformed the ruins of a 15th century Buddhist monastery into a war memorial and heroes' cemetery.

Ancient Place Glorifies War

Visible for miles, a reinforced concrete pagoda overlooks the "hall of commemoration," old Chinese in appearance but thoroughly modern in construction, and the serpentine wall enclosed area in which neat rows of headstones mark the last resting of those who fought on the "right" side in the various stages of the revolution.

Long-robed priests walked and chanted, and incense burned for four centuries in the great hall in whose walls stone slabs bearing the names of the revolutionary martyrs have been set.

This building was one of medieval China's replies to the challenge of fire, rust and decay. No wood is found anywhere in the structure, successive tiers of 12-foot thick brick arches support the ing vaulted roof.

For several hundred years a sacred shrine of Buddhism (the religion which above all others opposes warfare and death), this beamless temple is now a shrine of patriotism, glorifying battles and the soldiers who fight them.

Santa Claus Finds His Mail Filled With Many Heartaches

By CLAUDE H. WOLFF
 SANTA CLAUS, Ind. (AP)—"Santa Claus" is in a predicament. It's the mail—thousands and thousands of letters. And he doesn't know how he is going to get dolls and bicycles for all the little girls and boys who have written for them.

"This is my first year as Santa Claus," says Oscar L. Phillips, postmaster at Santa Claus, Ind., "and it's a lot of fun for many of the letters are happy ones, but there are many heartaches, too, in my mail."

Could Use Million Dollars

"From all over the United States, from Ireland, Germany, New Zealand and England I have had letters from children. I am trying to answer as many as possible, but I cannot get to all.

"It makes my heart ache when I read the letters from the poor children—especially when I cannot do anything about it. I believe I could use a million dollars just in meeting the children's requests."

Boys and girls are getting old fashioned. Postmaster Phillips said.

"Why, I don't believe there ever have been more requests for bicycles and dolls," he said. "At least ninety per cent of the girls want dolls and the boys are almost as eager for a bike."

Phillips, the father of three boys and two girls, takes his new job seriously.

"Twenty-two thousand pieces of mail came to us on just one day last week," he said. "From now on, we will be swamped, for every one wants us to get the mail right back on its way at the proper time. I believe we will handle a million pieces this year."

Santa Claus Park

Phillips became postmaster of Santa Claus early this year following the death of James F. Martin, who had held the position for twenty-eight years. He's a practical fellow, serious minded and self assured.

All around Santa Claus, Ind., projects dealing with the old Saint are being developed. One, when completed, will be everything a child ever dreamed Santa Claus' home to be. It will have an eskimo village, a workshop, a wishing well, a lake around which reindeer will be free to roam, and a paradise island.

will be foremost in the park. The development is the work of the Santa Claus Good Fellowship Club, a non-profit organization. It will take a year or more to complete.

First Fines Paid in Violation of New Liquor Laws

EASTLAND, Dec. 13.—Fines were paid by Mae King and her husband, R. A. "Curly" King, of Desdemona, in county court Thursday for the possession of liquor without tax. Criminal District Attorney Grady Owen believed the fines were the first for the alleged violation of the new state liquor laws.

Deputy Sheriff E. L. Woods and three federal officers of Fort Worth seized 23 cases of bonded liquor and several quarts of brandy and gin at a cafe operated by Mr. and Mrs. King in Desdemona Thursday. No charges were filed by federal officers since the federal tax had been paid, county officers stated.

Office Deputy D. J. Jobe Thursday morning was making preparations to advertise the seized liquor for sale.

Under new state law, seized liquor must be advertised for sale to wholesale dealers 10 days after the seizure. Nearest wholesale dealers were believed located in Fort Worth.

Mrs. King paid a fine of $38.10 and King a fine of $29.65.

Mrs. King, given a two-year sentence on a charge of killing Leon Robinson, recently was granted a new trial Nov. 13 by the court of criminal appeals.

Personals

Coe McLeRoy left this morning by motor for DeQuincy, La., for a brief visit with his sister, Mrs. Blanc, who is ill. Mrs. Blanc formerly lived in Cisco.

Miss Crystal Jackson expects to visit in Eastland tonight.

Mrs. C. C. Jones spent Friday in Eastland.

Douglass Bales of Austin is visiting his sister, Mrs. A. G. Tuttle and Mr. Tuttle.

Misses Dixie Bills, Lucile Bacon and Vivian Kilpatrick will go to Ranger this evening.

Fire Damages P. O. Capital Building

WASHINGTON.—Notes entered at random in A Washington Daybook—

More than 10,000 law briefs, "G-men's" reports, subpoenas, notes and letters shoot through the walls of the new department of justice building every day. . . If Attorney General Cummings wants to see the latest AAA suit or the criminal record of Alvin Karpis a phone call will bring the bulky papers rushing to a mail station outside his door at 25 feet a second. . .

A score of cafes, cafeterias and lunchrooms are maintained in the capital's government buildings for the convenience of employees. . . Most of them are maintained by a non-profit organization known as the welfare and recreation association. . . From its surplus over expenses 50 per cent goes to the United States treasury. . . Last year $50,000 was paid in. . . 17,000 are served daily, principally at lunch time.
