Jockeying With City Offices Pastime For City Commissioners

Jockeying with the electorate of the city seems to be of little importance to the members of the city commission. At a called meeting last Thursday night the commission received and accepted the resignation of Commissioner Joe Clements, and H. A. Bible was unanimously elected to fill out the unexpired term, ending the first Tuesday in April, 1935. Clements, who had served as commissioner for the past two years, was re-elected April 4 last. During his incumbency has filled the office of street commissioner at a salary of $150 per month. He gave as a reason for his resignation that he could not afford to serve for the salary of $12.50 per month, provided, in amendment No. 4, adopted by the people at the April election, which also prohibited commissioners from being employed full time.

After Clements' resignation was accepted, and his successor appointed, on motion of W. J. Foxworth he was employed as street superintendent and his salary fixed at $125 per month. So the change will only cost Clements $25 per month, and he is relieved of all responsibility as a city official.

Citizen's Forecast Correct

Last week's Citizen predicted that Clements would resign, and be named street superintendent, and this very thing occurred even before the Citizen was in circulation on the streets.

While there is no particular objection to Mr. Bible as a city commissioner, yet the people had chosen their officials, and should have had an opportunity to express their preference for a successor to commissioner Clements, as his successor has practically two years, or a full term, to serve. The commission could have called an election and permitted the people to vote for some man to succeed Mr. Clements, while he could have delayed his resignation until the election could have been held at only a small sacrifice in salary. This, however, the commission did not elect to do. In fact the commission has hardly considered that the public has any say in the affairs of the city, as indicated by their hasty action in calling a meeting to receive Clements' resignation, appoint his successor and restore him to the pay roll with as little delay as possible.

Just why should such emergency exist that necessitated such a rush is not apparent, unless it be that it was the desire that Clements should begin drawing his salary of $125 per month as street superintendent at the earliest date possible.

Clements gave as his reason for resigning that he could not live on the salary provided in the fourth amendment to the charter. He said he made the race to succeed himself in good faith, as he did not believe the fourth amendment would be adopted. But that since it was endorsed by the people, and he was deprived of employment at full time, it was necessary to tender his resignation.

There was no delay in the program, which some claim was prearranged, as Bible qualified the night he was elected, and Clements employed as soon as the municipal machinery could function. His appointment practically commenced as soon as his pay as full time commissioner stopped. And there is only $25 difference in his salary now and that which was paid him as full time commissioner. In fact it is $25 more than Clements agreed to work for had the fourth amendment been defeated, for it was on his motion that full time commissioners' salaries were fixed.

Just why the commission should raise Clements' bid for the job $25 is not apparent, this too, when he is relieved of the duties and responsibilities of being a city official. The natural presumption is that he would have accepted the position for $100 per month or less, as he had, by his own motion, voted to pay only $100 for this work, plus the duty and res-

TRIBUTE TO MOTHER

By J. F. B. WRIGHT
207 W. 9th St., Cisco, Texas
(Suggested for Mothers' Day Program)

Oh mother dear, whom we revere,
How can we ever know;
Such love impels, and memories dwell
On childhood scenes that intervenes,
While in this world of woe.

Oh mother kind, where will we find
A friend compared to thee?
We look above, for God is Love;
He hears our cries from yonder skies;
For merciful is he.

Oh mother friend, you've always been
The same from day to day;
Tho others fail, your love prevails;
You've paid the price in sacrifice,
And toiled your life away.

Oh mother true, we honor you;
We never can repay
The anxious fears thru childhood's years;
The many cares and fervent prayers,
Bestowed along life's way.

Oh mother sweet, the child's retreat
For comfort in distress;
Who understands, with soothing hands
Pressed on our brow—we feel thee now,
With benedictions bless.

Oh mother great, the nation's fate
Is hid away in thee.
You rock to sleep and vigils keep,
Each night and day, along the way,
The future's destiny.

Oh mother pure, so safe, so sure
Are all thy deeds of love;
Each step you take for love's sweet sake;
While angels gaze on mercy's ways,
From shining worlds above.

Oh mother grand, in all the land,
No one can take your place;
The lives you mold, like buds unfold
To bloom so fair, with graces rare,
To bless the human race.

J. F. B. Wright, author of the above poem, is the poet laureate of Cisco, and in this "Tribute to Mother" he has excelled most of the other productions from his pen, though many of his poems have real merit, and are worthy of one more famed than, as yet, this unacknowledged author.—Editor.

responsibility attached to the office of city commissioner.

Voted For Winston

Discussing his resignation with the editor of the Citizen Mr. Clements stated that Mrs. Clements told him when "he had voted to increase Commissioner Winston's salary to $150 per month" that it would be a boomerang to him. "But I did not think so then. But I see it now," he stated.

In this jockeying of the elective offices of the city most people see, or believe, it to have been the result of a pre-arranged program, after it was determined that the fourth amendment had been adopted.

The Citizen regrets the necessity of criticizing the acts of the commission, as it had been the intention of this paper to refrain from any further comment on what the commission might do, but feel that such acts should not be allowed to pass without voicing some opposition. We had hoped to be able to praise, rather than censure, the future acts of the commission, but it seems that they still regard their official position entitles them to proceed as their will may dictate, regardless of the rights of the people.

COMMISSIONERS COURT APPROVES CO. DEPOSITORY

In the regular session Monday the commissioners' court approved the report of the Commercial State bank of Ranger on the county school funds, of which this bank is the depository. The report had been audited by the county superintendent before going to the court for approval.

VISITING AT CISCO

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Smith of West Line, Pa., and children, Hazel, Dorothy, Edward and Orville, who drove to Eastland for the funeral of Mrs. Smith's son, Bill Hussey, killed in an airplane crash here Easter Sunday, and who was buried at Cisco Saturday following funeral services conducted at the First Methodist church of Eastland by Pastor Sam G. Thompson, remained for a few days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Stroup of Cisco, parents of Mrs. Smith.

Commission Decees To Elect The Chief Of Fire Department

The city commission, at another called meeting, held Monday night, adopted an ordinance requiring the election of the chief of the fire department by that body, instead of by the members of the department, which has been the rule since the organization of the department.

The old ordinance, under which the department has been functioning since its organization, provides that the officers of the department shall be elected by its members, and confirmed by the commission, whose tenure shall be one year. The new ordinance requires the department to submit three names to the commission from which the commission will elect a head of the department, under the same rules that chamber of commerce directors are now elected. And, according to the proceedings of the council, which declared there being no duly qualified chief, the department was notified to submit three names last Friday night from which a chief would be named to serve till the next annual election to be held the first Friday in January, 1934.

Present Organization Endorsed

Friday afternoon the members of the department met at the fire station when a number of business men were present. C. O. Pass, present chief, presided, and gave a statement of the contention of the members of the department. He said if the business people of Cisco, or members of the department desired his resignation he would step down at once and take his place in the ranks, but if the property owners and fire boys wanted him to continue that he would remain on the job even though his salary of $25 per month should be cut off. He said the motive of the commission in passing the ordinance was to oust him as chief.

While the Citizen is not fully informed as to all of the details of this controversy, we believe it is extremely unfortunate that there should be any friction between the city commission and the fire department. No one can tell where this friction will terminate, nor foresee the results. Unless the matter is adjusted amicably it will not be the department or the commission that will be penalized, but the property owners—those who pay insurance premiums. The fire rating board will soon learn of the present state of affairs and the city will be penalized in proportion to the exigency of the situation.

It is not personal, so far as those effected are concerned, nor is it a matter between Pass and the commission, but one that vitally concerns those who pay insurance premiums. However, it is only reasonable that the members of the department should be permitted to elect its own officers, as harmony is necessary for efficiency in any organization, more especially in a voluntary fire department.

The Citizen believes that anyone who becomes a member of a fire department, without pay, is performing a patriotic duty, and should be granted anything in reason a city government can give them, certainly the right to select its own officers. Any antagonism can only result in the impairment of the service, and prove expensive to the property owners. This was the position voiced by the business people who met with the fire boys Friday afternoon. Everyone present expressed their confidence in the organization as it now exists, and said they wished it continued under the present officials.

Department Stands Pat

Friday night the matter was discussed by the department at its regular monthly meeting, when the unanimous decision was reached to stand pat, and refuse to comply with the commission's demand to submit three names from which the commission would elect a chief.

Soon after the commission was organized a year ago that body divorced itself from the fire department, and declined to have any part in its man-

10 CRIMINAL HEARINGS SCHEDULED FOR TRIAL IN 88TH DISTRICT COURT

Ten criminal cases are scheduled for trial in the 88th district court, three for Monday, May 15, and seven for Wednesday, May 17. They are as follows:

Monday: Frank Bida, arson; Jim Ferguson, possession of liquor, and A. T. Minick, possession of liquor.

Wednesday: Virgil Miller, theft; C. C. Coalson, theft; M. Whatley, theft; Almus Owen, theft; T. M. Brown, theft; Tony Johnson, theft, and T. Z. Short, receiving and concealing stolen property.

NEW CASES PENDING

91st District Court: Gertie Wallace vs. Ernest Wallace, divorce.

L. E. Edwards et al vs. R. E. Stevenson, receiver, to stop foreclosure and injunction.

In re liquidation Texas State bank, Eastland, to sell real estate.

Thurber Brick Co. vs. L. A. Hightower et al, foreclosure pavement lien. J. S. Brimberry vs. the Commercial State bank et al, injunction.

Mrs. Emma Green vs. J. B. Davis et ux, suit on note and foreclosure.

88th District Court: Bula B. Connelley vs. C. E. Garrett, try title and for damages.

County Court: James Shaw, banking commissioner, vs. J. L. Fox, suit on note.

The case of Ralph Reed et al versus J. A. Bearman et al, was called for trial in the 88th district court Tuesday morning. This is a civil case involving an alleged partnership of the contestants in which the plaintiffs contend that they believe the defendant converted property belonging to the partnership, if such existed, to his own use. The plaintiffs are represented by J. D. Barker of Cisco and the defendant by Forest Wright of Cisco.

The jury in the case of the state of Texas versus Walter Reynolds, tried in the 91st district court Monday, returned a verdict of not guilty. Reynolds was charged in the indictment with possessing a still.

G. W. Cox, tried in the 91st district court Monday on an indictment charging forgery on two counts, was adjudged guilty by the jury and sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary. Cox was charged with having passed forged checks to D. J. Neil and Roy Rushing of Gorman.

The case of the state of Texas vs. Gene Squires was called for trial in the 88th district court Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. A special venire of fifty men had been summoned from which a jury was selected. Squires is under indictment for the murder of Joe Pugh at Ranger last fall. It is alleged that in an altercation which occurred at a dance Pugh was struck with some metal instrument, resulting in injuries from which he later died.

agement or operation. Now, according to Chief Pass, the commission contends that a closer supervision of the department by the commission, is necessary to continue its efficiency. Under present arrangements it has no voice in the management of the department, a condition the commission created by its bill of divorcement a year ago.

The matter is one fraught with some seriousness to those who pay insurance premiums, and it behoves the property owners to use their good officers in bringing about an amicable adjustment of any friction that may exist. No one could blame the members of the department from resigning in a body should they be denied the right to elect their own chief. To be a volunteer fireman is a thankless job at best, and certainly they are entitled to every consideration at the hands of the people or the city government, that is reasonable.

THOUGHT FOR MOTHERS' DAY

Honor, love and cherish thy mother while she is still with you, and reverence her memory who has passed from this stage of action, that God may bless you, and prolong your days.

Oh mother true, we honor you;
We never can repay;
The anxious fears thru childhood's years,
The many cares and fervent prayers
Bestowed along life's way.
—J. B. F. WRIGHT.

One of the sweetest stories of filial affection, and at the same time a beautiful tribute to Mother, comes from an overseas scene. The actors being an esthetic Easterner and a Southern negro soldier, both buck privates, who were trapped in a shell hole. The negro was struck by a shell fragment, had received a fatal wound. In his delirium he was again back with his "Mammy," and as the death dew settled upon his brow, believing his white "buddy" was his mother, he raised his face and whispered: "Kiss me, Mammy," and the Easterner stooped down and kissed the big negro's lips, as the black's soul was wafed to join his "Mammy" in spirit land.

CROSS PLAINS PREPARES TO BUCK THE GAS MONOPOLY

Noting the success of the Rising Star municipal gas plant, from which report comes that a profit on operation is being realized that will provide a sinking fund to pay the cost of construction and take care of the operating overhead and upkeep, Cross Plains has decided to emulate the example of her spunky little neighbor and buck the gas octopus with a municipal gas plant of its own. Cross Plains is supplied by the same distributing company that formerly supplied Rising Star, but doesn't any more.

Good business judgment dictates that fair treatment and reasonable rates hold customers, which applies to utilities and other corporations as well as to individuals. But those corporations that enjoy a monopoly are usually the last to adopt this policy. However, there is one exception to this rule in this part of the state—the West Texas Utilities Co.—which corporation, although having a monopoly, always tries to adjust its rates as local conditions change, and cooperate with the communities it serves. Their's is a policy in direct contrast to that of another monopoly which is exploiting West Texas—the Community Natural hijackers. They would hardly know the meaning of cooperation were they to meet it on the highway. Their's is a policy, fixed at their headquarters, as inflexible as the laws of the Medes and Persians, to get all the traffic will stand, despite the fact that their policy of no concessions has lost them more hundreds of meters, and proportionally more revenue during the past year than they can regain in the next five. We were about to overlook one exception, which we recall (as we want to be fair, even to the Natural hijackers.) During the bank holiday they did extend the penalty deadline. But why should they worry about a few losses in Cisco? Their's is a string monopoly, exploiting many communities, and the ever, the Review says plans are still going forward of signing up the to build a municipal plant. How-meter losses here may be recouped from other localities.

But wait a minute. Their rate controversy is not yet finally disposed of. Should they find a sympathetic federal court these extracted meters will be charged back to Cisco in their plea for their sliding rate scale of $1.60 per 1000.

But it seems that the Southwest Gas company, which serves Cross Plains, and did serve Rising Star, has profitted by its experince with Rising Star. Remembering that the latter town did build its own municipal plant when the Southwest refused Rising Star a decent rate, has made some concessions to Cross Plains to keep out a municipal plant, as the Citizen has just been informed that the Southwest has offered Cross Plains a 50-cent rate. Had the Southwest given Rising Star a similar rate there would have been no municipal plant in that city, which is a standing example to other towns to either get a reasonable rate or build a municipal plant.

Generally cities do not care to go into the business of operating their utility plants, but the greed of monopoly has, and will continue to force other communities to own their utilities.

If the Southwest will give Cross Plains a 50 cent rate for a term of years, the Citizen believes that would be better than for the town patrons for the muicipal plant.

Maybe some day monopoly will learn that the public won't stand for everything. If the Southwest can give Cross Plains a 50-cent rate, the Community Natural hijackers can do the same for Cisco, and would, were it not a fact that they are running true to form to the appellation given them by the Citizen, rather than to that which is recorded in their franchise.

ALLRED'S POLITICAL AMBITION

Roscoe Fleming, Austin correspondent of the Fort Worth Press, sees Jimmie Allred, attorney general, as a formidable candidate for governor in 1934. The inspiration of his premature gubernatorial boom for the young attorney general was his fight to kill the oil and gas commission after Gov. Ferguson had strongly endorsed its passage. Fleming even goes further and makes out a slate to be put in the field, after a conference alleged to have been held, consisting of Ross Sterling, Dan Moody, and the two insurgent Walters--Woodul and Woodward. The slate as alleged to have been discussed at this conference placed Allred as a candidate for governor to "break the Ferguson dynasty;" Woodward, for lieutenant governor, and Woodul for attorney general. Ye gods! What an unholy alliance. This combination could hardly get further that the Colorado river banks as a state ticket. Woodul, already discredited at home for his obstruction tactics in the senate, and Woodward not any too popular in his own county for the same reason, while Allred has yet some pre-election trust-bursting promises to be fulfilled before he could claim a following for re-election to his present office.

The people are watching their officers this year, and most of them are familiar with the tactics employed by the two Walters to obstruct legislation promised the people, and could hardly be expected to get very hot for either as state candidates. Allred was elected to his present job on the strength of his anti-trust suits against the oil trust, but so far has given indications of falling down on the job. He can hardly hope to arouse much enthusiasm until he has redeemed his pre election promises by prosecuting his big anti-trust suits against the oil monopoly. At least he must make a showing, which he has not done so far. The major companies still have their strangle-hold on the petroleum industry, in all its branches. A divorcement of the filling stations would be something to Allred's credit, but it seems that he is making a slow headway, even in that direction. The public is fast forming the opinion that his anti-trust suits will be "pocket vetoed" in the attorney general's office, and another young official has gone the way of his predecessors--capitulated to the oil octopus.

But seriously, even should Allred presecute his anti-trust case to a successful issue, that is no reason why he should presume the people would elect him governor. The office of chief executive of the state is no kindergarten school, for it requires more than an anti-trust conviction of the oil monopolists to qualify a man to be governor of this vast domain. Texas has made one mistake of electing a boy governor, and will hardly repeat this error so soon.

Local Post American Legion Prepares For District Meet Here

The local post, American Legion, is preparing to entertain the delegates to the convention of the Seventeenth district which will gather in Cisco May 20, for a two days session. This promises to be one of the most interesting of the Legion conventions of West Texas, when legionnaires will attend from all posts in this district, which include the cities of Mineral Wells, Brownwood, Coleman, Sweetwater, Wichita Falls, Abilene, Breckenridge and intervening cities.

Headquarters will be established at the Laguna Hotel, where delegates and their wives will register, when the expected attendance will be about 500.

There will be no shortage of musical attractions, as in addition to the Lobo band other bands expected to be here will include the official Legion band, of Sweetwater; the Lone Star Gas Company band, of Ranger; the Brownwood Bugle and Drum Corps, and the Drum and Bugle Corps of Wichita Falls. These will give concerts at headquarters and on the streets, and at least one concert in which all musical bodies will participate. Various other musical organizations will be in attendance, including the American Legion Novelty Orchestra, of Cisco.

Various features of entertainment for the visitors from other cities and the Cisco trade territory will be offered by the Legion and business people of Cisco.

"Cut out my ad in the Citizen. I have sold the cow," said John Holder, of the A.-G. Motor company used car department. "In fact, I sold the cow twice. I find the Citizen ads bring results every time I have advertised anything for sale."

LEGION AUXILIARY WILL STAGE POPPY DAY MAY 20

The ladies auxiliary of the John William Butts post, American Legion, has designated May 20 as "poppy day" in Cisco. This annual event is scheduled to be held in most cities of the nation on May 27, but as the Legion convention will be held here on the 20th, it was decided to put this poppy sale on during that day. The auxiliary will be assisted by members of the Philathea class, of the First Methodist church. Everyone is requested to buy a poppy, as the proceeds from these sales will be used for the rehabilitation of disabled war veterans and their dependents.

City Hall People Note Suggestion Of City Election

Last week the Citizen suggested that an "election should be called to elect Clements' successor, should he resign," and Monday we received a copy of the city charter with the paragraph specifying the manner of filling vacancies on the commission marked, which, as we already knew, stated that the vacancies shall be filled by appointment of the commission. Last week we were not sure that an election could be legally held, hence our qualifying the statement by saying "if it could be legally done." However, as there is no inhibition in the charter against calling an election to fill any vacancy, and as the people are supposed to be the sovereigns, we are convinced that it would have been legal to refer the matter back to the people. We hardly understand why the commission should become so punctilious over the little word of "shall," when it has hitherto been regarded as merely just another word in the charter.

The charter was enclosed in one of the official envelopes of Secretary Cate, but as he has discontinued his subscription to the Citizen, of course he did not read the editorial, hence, the copy of the charter, with the gratuitous information, with which we were already familiar, did not emanate from him.

Minimum Allowance Of Water Increased As A Relief Measure

As a relief measure to enable Cisco people to cultivate and produce their own vegetables, the city commission, at its meeting Tuesday night, raised the minimum of water consumption from 5,000 to 10,000 gallons per month. This order repeals former orders of minimum allowance. It was pointed out that this minimum increase would not only make many families self-sustaining, but would be an incentive for the people to beautify and improve their premises. This minimum to be in force during June, July and August.

The matter of preventing the appearance of flies and mosquitos was discussed at length, as was the manner in which many are handling their wet garbage. Sanitary Commissioner H. A. Bible was instructed to formulate rules for sanitary regulations in this respect and see that they are enforced, which he is now doing.

A meter salesman was present to sell the city water meters, commission-Winston sated 100 were needed now to replace old ones. No action was taken, as it was decided to leave the matter in the hands of the water commissioner, and when desired, the order would be placed. Those shown the commission were priced at $10 each, with an allowance of $2 for old meters.

Commissioner Burnett urged a closer collection of delinquent water rentals. The commission frowned on Commissioner Foxworth's suggestion to allow U-turns at the intersection of avenue D at Seventh and Sixth streets, and favored Burnett's proposition to enforce observance of the stop signals, especially at Ninth and Avenue E.

Tuesday night was Commissioner Bible's initiation as a commissioner, and he was clicking in regular form. Both he and Foxworth, the baby members of the commission, are in line, and taking to their duties like veterans.

Littleton Ghost Story

Ghost-story lovers may be interested by an incident of which the details are claimed to be perfectly authentic.

On the night of November 25, 1779, the second Lord Lytton dreamed that a bird flew into his room, changed to a woman, and bade him prepare for death within three days.

He told the dream to his family at breakfast next morning, but made light of it, being to all appearances in excellent health.

He joked about it again just before going to bed, a few minutes before midnight on the third day.

While he was undressing he suddenly fell dead.—London Times.

City Victim of Eruption

A melancholy interest attaches to Martinique, the "Queen of the Caribbees." What was previous to May 8, 1902, a beautiful and prosperous island is now half desolate. It was on that date that the eruption of Mt. Pelee, plainly visible from the ship's deck, utterly destroyed the charming city of St. Pierre with its 30,000 inhabitants. The city and its people lie buried beneath a thick blanket of lava ashes. It is recorded that the gayety-loving creole women of St. Pierre were the most beautiful females to be found in the entire West Indies. Empress Josephine was born in Martinique.

INFORMAL CONERENCE TUESDAY EVENING OF COMMISSION-FIREMEN

A step was taken Tuesday night towards bringing about a solution of the controversy between the department and commission when Fred T. Grist, Odie Keen, Clarence Tune and Leonard Eppler held an informal conference with the city commission after that body had recessed. The conference was executive, as only the commission and the firemen were present. The members of the fire department made it plain to the commission that they were acting individually, and not as accredited representatives of the department, but wished to discuss the matter informally. Mayor Berry and all members of the commission were in attendance, as was City Attorney Grantham. A member of the committee stated that the commission's position was that the department must either accept the ordinance or proceed according to their own by-laws. The latter provides that the department must elect its chief, who must be acceptable to the commission, and to be confirmed by that body. This was not done when the chief was last elected, due, Chief C. O. Pass stated, to the fact that the commission had divorced the fire department a year ago, and it was not thought that this was expected or required.

The Citizen is informed that the commission will insist that the department either conform to its by-laws in electing a chief, or accept the recent ordinance, with the alternative of the commission taking over full control of the department. While the Citizen is 100 percent behind the fire department, and its members, we believe there is nothing in this position that should cause any friction, or prevent an amicable solution of the matter. The department is of too much importance to the welfare of the entire city to be jeopardized from any cause. We appreciate the position of the members of the department in their contention to elect their own officers, as it is conducive to efficiency and harmony in the working of that body, but the officers should be acceptable to the commission. A solution should be forthcoming, and that at once. And no individual should stand in the way.

Cisco's fire department was organized in 1886, and until two years ago perfect harmony has always prevailed. Let's continue to manifest that fraternal spirit, is the wish of every loyal citizen.

President Wilson Of The People's Mutual In Cisco Past Week

President Ernest W. Wilson, of Abilene, president of the People's Mutual Life Insurance Association, was in Cisco last week in the interest of his organization, and making contact with Cisco people who hold policies in this company. The People's Mutual is the successor to the Citizen's Mutual, formerly of Cisco, but recently taken over by the People's Mutual, of Abilene.

President Wilson is well pleased with the condition of his company, stating that new members are being enrolled as policy holders every day, and the company meeting its claims promptly. There are about 500 policy holders of this company living in the Cisco country, in addition to the large number living in Taylor and other West Texas counties.

The Citizen has heard many words of approval of the manner in which the People's Mutual is being operated.

A recent issue of the Abilene Reporter carried a photographic copy of the check for $1000 for a death claim paid to Mrs. Robbie Allen, of Abilene, for the death of her husband, who held policy No. 1303 in Class A.

The People's Mutual was organized in 1928, and has been constantly expanding by adding new policy holders up to this time. In fact its taking over the Citizen's Mutual was a part of the expansive program of the company.

C. R. West, former manager of the Citizen's Mutual, remains with the People's Mutual as vice president and agency director. Other well known Cisco gentlemen on the directorate includes Judge D. K. Scott, but many of the officers and directors are prominent Abilene people who are personally known here. Among these are W. R. Ely, E. L. Finley, R. D. Green, and others, besides J. R. Black, of Baird, who is also a director. The People's Mutual is carrying an advertisement in the Citizen, to which we direct your attention.

Conditions That Affect

Human Eye Injuriously

Too long hours of continuous use of the eyes should be avoided by a rest at intervals, if only for a few minutes, at which time they can be benefited by being bathed with ordinary cold water from the faucet. Dr. Sol Rosenblatt explains in "Eye Hygiene and Heat," an article appearing in Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

It is the heat that is generated over a long period by excessive use of the eyes that causes the eyes to become tired. Heat affects the eyes in numerous ways, Doctor Rosenblatt explained. The heat generated by excessive use of the eyes over long hours, added to the ordinary body heat; the heat of fever repeated over a period of years; the heat of brilliant sunlight or too intense artificial light, and the heat of furnaces over a period of time are detrimental to the function of the eye.

Nature provides a safeguard in a manner somewhat similar to that of the water-cooled motor. Transparent fluids are circulated within the eye, and the anterior surface of the eye is bathed with fluid coming down from the tear gland above the eye. The peculiar special function of the eye requires transparency, and excessive heat destroys that quality; the loss of transparency is fatal to the function of that special organ, even though its form and strength are fully regained.

Ancient Caravan Routes

The caravan routes to the eastward in the China trade were across Persia to Khurasan, Balkh, up the Oxus to the Plains of Pamir; thence to Kashgar, Yarkand and Khotan; thence across the Gobi desert to Tangut, not far from the Great Wall. In China the routes followed the wall. There was an alternate route down to Hormuz, at the foot of the Persian gulf, and thence by sea. As the trade developed there were side routes and Samarcand and Bokhara became important stations. It was said that in Tamerlane's time these routes were so well policed that a woman could travel them unguarded and that a purse could be lost on the way and returned to its owner.

Sources of Dyes Long Known Only to Indians

The Indians of Central America may be stolid and uncannily quiet, but they will never be accused of being colorless. Almost everything they wear and practically everything they make is as colorful as a tropical garden.

All Central American Indians love color. Their handwoven rugs and blankets, their hand-wrought pottery and baskets fairly flash with brilliant reds, and purples, and yellows. Moreover, these are colors that the sun will not fade, nor the rains make dim, for the dyes—to all intents and purposes—are everlasting. These dyes have long been the pride of the Indian's heart. For centuries the sources from which they were obtained and the formulae used in their preparation were carefully guarded secrets.

The source of one particularly gorgeous purple dye was sought by outsiders for years, and finally discovered to be a fish living in Central American lagoons.

Insects, also, produced beautiful dyes. Up until the time that cheap chemical dyes were put on the market the growing of cochineal insects was an important industry and a tremendous business was done in cochineal dyes.

Cochineal insects feed by the thousands on the leaves of the nopal, a form of cactus.

THE CONNIE DAVISES STILL LINGER AT MINERAL WELLS

Mr. and Mrs. Connie Davis, who were victims of an auto accident near Mineral Wells three weeks ago, have not yet returned home, but are still patients at the Nazareth sanitarium in that city, where they are slowly being nursed back to health. Their injuries seem to have been more serious than was thought at the time, but their friends are gratified to know that their case is progressing nicely, and their recovery is anticipated at an early date.

PATTERSON REVOKES PAROLE OF CONVICT

Paul Dean Barton has been returned to the state reformatory at Gatesville. During the latter part of December Barton had been paroled to his parents at Olden. Recently his parole was revoked by Judge B. W. Patterson, of the 88th district court, because of reported misconduct. He now stands charged with assault with intent to kill, resulting from shots fired on Sheriff Foster and Deputy Woods, when they found him in the brush, near Olden, as the officers were searching for a stolen car.

W. R. USSERY HEADS COUNTY BOARD OF SCHOOL TRUSTEES

The first meeting of the new board of county school trustees was held last week in the school superintendent's office at Eastland, when the board was formally organized with the election of W. R. Ussery, of Carbon, chairman. The law specifies that the superintendent shall be the secretary of the board.

Besides Mr. Ussery the other members of the board are J. A. Beard, of Eastland, for precinct No. 1; E. M. Howard, of Rising Star, for precinct No. 3; R. L. Poe, of Cisco, for precinct No. 4, and J. T. Poe, of Carbon, for the county at large. All were in attendance at the meeting.

After disposing of routine business the following trustees were appointed: George DeVoll, for Grandview; W. I. Tyrone, for Davis; George W. Stowe, for Long Branch, who fills the place made vacano by the election J. T. Poe as a member of the board.

CROP PRODUCTION LOANS ARE CLOSED

The time for crop production loans closed May 1. A total of 385 loans averaging $70 each and totaling $26,950 was loaned to Eastland county farmers. Sixty percent of this total has already been received by the borrowers. Due date on these loans is Oct. 1, 1933 and the rate of interest is 5½ per cent, with a refund of unearned interest when the principal is paid before maturity of the loan.

The Eastland county board handling these loans is composed of W. S. Michael, county auditor, Eastland; E. H. Mills, groceryman, Ranger; and F. J. Stubblefield, merchant, Carbon.

Ed. F. Jay, field supervisor of Breckenridge, was in Eastland on Tuesday assisting the county board in closing up the loans.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH SERVICES

"Mortals and Immortals" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, May 14, including Eastland First Church.

The Golden Text is from Galatians 4: "Thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ."

Included with other passages to be read from the Bible will be the following from John 14: "In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. . . . And whither I go ye know, and the way ye know. Thomas saith unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest; and how can we know the way? Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me."

The Lesson-Sermon will also include the following from the citations to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 495): "If sickness is true or the idea of Truth, you cannot destroy sickness, and it would be absurd to try. Then classify sickness and error as our Master did, when he spoke of the sick, 'whom Satan hath bound,' and find a sovereign antidote for error in the life-giving power of Truth acting on human belief, a power which opens the prison doors to such as are bound, and sets the captive free physically and morally. "When the illusions of sickness or sin tempts you, cling steadfastly to God and His idea. . . . Let Christian Science, instead of corporeal sense, support your understanding of being, and this understanding will supplant error with Truth, replace mortality with immortality, and silence discord with harmony."

MAX ELSER MEETS HIS SEA-FARING GRANDSON ON FORT WORTH VISIT

Max Elser, who returned from Fort Worth the latter part of the week, where he was the guest of his daughter, Mrs. H. Hardy, had the pleasure of meeting his grandson, Robert Elser, son of Frank Elser, newspaper man, author and playwright, of New York City.

Young Elser, who is now 21, was also visiting Mrs. Hardy while at home from one of his sea voyages. He told a representative of the Star-Telegram that he had "always been keen about shipping," so, while in his freshman year at Yale in 1932 he decided to go to sea. Since then he has been in ports in all parts of the world, he told the reporter, and on his arrival in New York will sign up for a Mediterranean cruise, and next fall will make a voyage to South America, he said.

Though differing from the type of sailors with whom he shipped he said he never had any "tiffs" with them, but found them find, grand, swell and decent fellows, he told his interviewer.

According to the story the Star-Telegram had of the young man, he met many interesting people on his voyages, among them was a son of George Vanderbilt, of New York, who was his rival in a love affair on a Honolulu voyage, but Vanderbilt left him without a contender when he left the ship at Sumatra for a tiger hunt.

While in London he said he met many theatrical people, through his father, the author of "Mr. Gilhooly," a Broadway success last year, in which Helen Hayes starred.

He said his father hopes he will take up writing, but thinks it will be hard to settle down after so many months at sea.

"My visit to Fort Worth was a double pleasure, by reason of my grandson's visit," Mr. Elser said after his return to Cisco.

F. B. Matthews, state trapper operating in Eastland county, reported two wolves trapped Monday on the Roy Phippen ranch near Cisco.

City Health Officer Reports No Deaths In Cisco In April

Dr. W. P. Lee, city health officer, reported to the city commission Tuesday night, that there were no deaths in Cisco for the month of April, and his report disclosed that there were six births during that period.

"In fact the general health of the city is excellent, despite the fact that we still have a few cases of measles, scarlet fever and diphtheria, though neither of these have assumed epidemic proportions," Dr. Lee said.

"There are also a few cases of whooping cough, but not sufficient to cause alarm. All cases are well in hand.

His report included one case of quarantine violation, which terminated his responsibilities of that feature of his duties.

The greatest menace to community health of Cisco is threatened from the fly nuisance," Dr. Lee said. There are many places where flies and mosquitos are permitted to breed, and from this source we are in some danger of contagious disease. Improper care of wet garbage, by not providing covered receptacles, placing it about the premises, or dumping it in dry garbage, afford prolific breeding grounds for the pests. Then there are many vacant houses, some of which have old cisterns or pools of water underneath, that have not been located by the sanitary officer. The unwillingness or failure of residents to report such places hampers the methods of eradication. Most residents are cooperating with the health department in reporting places that need oiling on their own premises, but are slow about saying anything about those on adjacent property.

Texas is in the red in observing the requirements of reporting vital statistics," Dr. Lee told the Citizen as he exhibited a map with every state in the Union printed red except Texas indicating that this state was the only one not making full reports of the births and deaths. This is a record that all states are trying to perfect, as its importance cannot be over-estimated. To have a record of a child's birth, or the death of a person may decide important matters so far as the individual is concerned, such as inheritance, insurance, war compensation and many other matters that may come before the courts of the land. There is a penalty for not reporting any birth or death that occurs, and parties failing to make these reports are subject to prosecution.
