TAXPAYERS HEAR LEGISLATIVE CANDIDATES

Wordy Duel on Utilities Injected Added Interest To Taxpayers Convention

What promised to be a rather quiet session of the Eastland County Taxpayers association developed into a spicy and most interesting assembly during the concluding hours. The utility question was injected into the proceedings after the legislative candidates had been heard. This was brought about when Mr. Pettit rather heatedly resented some statements regarding telephone rates. He stated that the Southwestern Bell Telephone & Telegraph company's earnings, by reason of discontinuance and general loss of long distance tolls, were less than former years, and that in his opinion, the service justified the rates charged.

The decreased earnings of the telephone company, as claimed by Mr. Pettit, who is district manager of the company, were sharply questioned by Judge Eugene Lankford, who stated that the annual report of the American Telephone company, parent organization of the telephone monopoly, showed the net earnings of the organization were greater than ever in history. Denials by Pettit brought others to Lankford's defense, including Judge C. C. Robey, Cecil A. Lotief and others. From this discussion those in attendance enjoyed the wordy duel that lasted till the association adjourned. Those present declared the session the most interesting yet held, and members not attending missed something worth while. The debate brought out questions that probably would not have been raised otherwise.

Lotief, who is a candidate for flortorial representative, entertained the audience with many facts and figures pertaining to public service companies, principally in regard to the gas industry. His remarks were punctuated with sufficient witticisms to keep the audience entertained and in a good humor, but each thrust, whether fun or facts, carried a point that was loudly applauded by his hearers. Everyone said it was a great session.

Candidates Gave Their Views

The session was set apart to hear the several candidates for legislative honors, and all running for the senate and lower house, including candidates for both the 106th and 107th legislative districts, had been notified to attend the meeting and express their views on the platform of principles contained in the resolutions adopted by the association. Practically all candidates for these positions responded, and in a general way, endorsed the principles of the association.

Wilbourne Collie, candidate for state senator of the 24th district, opened the program, but as he had finished before the Citizen man arrived, we can report nothing of his position except his endorsement, in the main, of the association's views.

Mr. Collie was followed by Cleve Calaway, candidate for floater, who was concluding his talk when we entered the auditorium. Mr. Calaway stated he accepted the policies laid down by the association.

Oscar Chastain, former representative from Eastland county, and candidate from the 106th district, endorsed the resolutions adopted by the association, but stated that it would be impossible for him to fully outline his views on the policies in the eight minutes time allotted the speaker. Specifically, he said, he favored reducing auto vehicle registration fees to $3, which would save the people of Texas ten million dollars, and if it was found more funds were necessary to carry out the highway program to raise the gasoline tax one cent, but didn't think this would be required. Favored turning over to the state highway department all state and federal designated highways; opposed payment of poll tax as a prerequisite to vote (applause); favored abolishing fee system; combining the offices of treasurer and auditor; favored taxing only equity held in real estate and thought that the legislature should create a budget for operating the highway department in order that some check might be made of the expenditures of the commission; favored reorganization of public service corporations by the best means possible and opposed duplication in county and state administrations.

Meredith Hines, also a candidate for the legislature from the 106th district, was introduced, who spoke briefly, resenting the soft impeachment of being a "school boy," and stated that he did not claim to have all knowledge as to the best means of curing all the ills with which the people are burdened, but promised complete cooperation with the association in carrying out the policies advocated.

The next speaker for representative from the 106th district was W. O. Russell, of Gorman, who said it was easy for him to endorse every resolution adopted by the association, as he was one of the charter members, and had voted for each plank in the association's platform, believing they pointed the way of relief for the people from the present intolerable conditions, and if elected would work for the adoption of every plank in this platform. He said some relief, from some source, was imperative. We cannot pay the expense of the federal, state and county governments, based on 20 cent cotton and $3 wheat, with 5 cent cotton and 50 cent wheat.

Lotief Wins Applause

Cecil A. Lotief, of Cross Plains and formerly of Cisco, now a candidate for representative from the 107th flortorial district, was introduced at this juncture. He put the audience in good humor with his opening remark when he apologized for not being an orator by saying he was "no lawyer and glad of it, after hearing some of the disparaging remarks against the legal fraternity. I can talk about shoes, clothing and dry goods, but am at a disadvantage when talking politics. However, I have some well established policies, and all in line with those adopted by this body, which I shall work for if elected your flortorial representative. I believe the highway department should be elective, and less money paid to employees of this division of the government. Think the salaries could be cut 50 per cent without impairing the efficiency. We have too much taxes and too many commissions and bureaus. I oppose administration for the benefit of families and believe the law against nepotism should be enforced strictly. I think the people should have relief from the gas monopoly that is now oppressing everyone, and favor a general regulation of all public service corporations, especially requiring these corporations to render their

Citizens All Wet About Refund on Meter Deposits

The Citizen was all wet last week in its statement about the abolishment of meter charges being as of January 1, and the water patrons being entitled to a refund. The error was ours—rather our wrong deciphering of the notes of the city secretary. Hurriedly written the date was as of "Jun. 1," and in transcribing the notes the reporter read the date as Jan. 1, 1932. The fault, we admit was ours, but indirectly we hold it against the executive session, for such errors are liable to occur when the reporter does not witness the proceedings of any deliberative body. We apologize to Secretary Cate, for we understand he has been besieged by many patrons inquiring about their refund.

MARTIAL LAW REVISION GRANTED GOV. STERLING

WASHINGTON, May 3—The Supreme Court upset one state law, upheld stringent procedure in prohibition cases and refused to allow packers to handle other than meat products Monday in the first written decisions it has handed down in three weeks.

It ruled valid confiscations made by the government under the tariff and navigation laws of automobiles and ships found hauling liquor into the country.

It granted the governor of Texas a review of his contention that he had the right to order out troops to force curtailment of oil production as a conservation measure.

The court held illegal the search of the garage of John Vance Taylor, at Curtis Bay, Baltimore, by prohibition agents resulted in Taylor's conviction on a charge of violating the prohibition law.

property for taxation at the same valuation they place for rate making to their patrons." (Applause.)

A. M. Housley, of Shackelford county, candidate for the senate, said he was the present representative in the lower house for Shackelford and Jones counties, and stood on the record he had made. He stated that expenses of the state government was based on boom time prices, and favored a general paring down of salaries at least 10 percent; had secured the passage of a bill reducing salaries 10 percent through the lower house, but it was slain in the senate; opposed prororation of cotton acreage as an undue interference with the farmers' business, as he, nor a majority of the legislators, knew nothing about farming.

Senator Cunningham Greeted
Senator Oliver Cunningham, candidate to succeed himself as senator from the 24th district, being introduced, was most cordially greeted. He stated: "My record as your senator shows that I have conscientiously fought for a reduction of expenses of the state government, a reduction and more equitable equalization of taxes with which the people are now sorely afflicted. I heartily endorse your policy against voting for utility and corporation attorneys as your senators and representatives, for I found many members of the senate who were in the pay of public service corporations. I shall get no support from the corporations

Decision Is Made After Protest Entered by Pass and Committee

Completely divorcing the fire department from supervision of the city commission, and thus eliminating the department from any political complications that might arise was the act of the commission in called session Friday when C. O. Pass, chief of the department, and a committee of firemen, met with the commission and entered a protest to the appointment of an inexperienced man as driver of the fire truck, and one not a member of or connected with the department. This protest was over the naming of M. L. Perdue as night desk sergeant, whose duty has been to drive the fire truck to conflagrations occurring during the night. No objection to Mr. Perdue was made on personal grounds, but the department desired that a fireman be placed in this job, and one experienced in driving and operating the truck and pumper, and knowing the location of the fire plugs. They pointed out that an inexperienced man manipulating the fire machine would endanger the lives of firemen, and as there were several members of the department capable of handling the machine, men who had served in protecting city property free of charge for many years, the department thought they should be placed in charge of the fire apparatus.

Abolish Superintendent

At the meeting Friday night the commission formally abolished the office of water superintendent, held by Engineer J. G. Reagan. This action came after Mr. Reagan had requested a hearing on his status with the city. Commissioner Winston having been named water commissioner on full time salary, Reagan stated that this act, he had been legally informed, did not automatically terminate his connection with the department. Reagan insisted, if he was to be discharged, that the commission show him the courtesy of saying for what cause. Considerable discussion seemed to get the deliberations nowhere, but was finally settled on the suggestion of City Attorney Grantham that the course less capable of friction would be the abolishment of the office of water superintendent which was done.

The Friday night session was enlivened by heated discussions of matters of the water superintendent and the fire department. Having settled the status of the water superintendent, whose duties are now under the Water Commissioner Winston, further consideration of matters pertaining to the fire department were deferred till Saturday night, when a special meeting was called for that purpose, which resulted in the divorcement of the fire department from the city government. Anticipating as lively session as that of Friday night, the city hall was practically filled Saturday night with spectators, all eager to get in and witness the fireworks should the pyrotechnics be touched off.

Firemen Go In Caucus

The entire personnel of the fire department caucused in the police headquarters Saturday evening, when it unanimously voted to present the name of Clarence Tune as the choice of the fire department for the position of night desk sergeant and truck driver. Several other firemen were mentioned for the position, but each one waived their rights in favor of Tune for the reason he was just as well qualified, and held priority membership with the department.

However, before the committee could meet with the commission to present Mr. Tune for the job, the commission had deliberated and voted the divorcement of the department from city supervision, and appropriated $150 per month to pay the salary of truck drivers to be named by members of the fire department. The truck drivers are relieved from desk duty, and have no police service to perform. The day and night desk sergeants are to answer fire alarms, call firemen who have phones to respond to night alarms, and to assist the firemen in every way possible when an alarm comes in other than actually performing the duties of firemen. The commission, it is understood, will continue to pay for wet fires, upkeep of apparatus, etc., as has been the custom in the past.

Following out this arrangement Chief Pass announced that J. E. (Mickey) Stuart had been employed as driver and caretaker of the fire equipment. No action has yet been taken regarding the employment of Clarence Tune as night man for the department, Pass said.

Other matters disposed of Saturday night was the rescinding of the action of the regular session in employing M. L. Perdue as night desk sergeant at a salary of $100. Perdue was reappointed but his salary was reduced to $75, and Henry Stubblefield was appointed day sergeant at the same salary.

The divorcement of the fire department from the city meets the approval of the department with only one objection: the appropriation is insufficient to secure good men to operate the equipment. It is pointed out that $150 was inadequate to pay two men competent to serve in that capacity. This, it was stated, might cause the city to be penalized and an increase in insurance rates.

BOUQUET FOR THE EDITOR

A beautiful bouquet was presented the Citizen Editor by Mrs. R. T. Porter, from her flower garden at her suburban home, on the Rising Star highway. Mr. and Mrs. Porter moved out to their country home this spring, and this bevy of beautiful blossoms is from plants transplanted from her Cisco yard.

Judge C. Garrett Asks Re-Election As County Judge

The Citizen takes pleasure in presenting the name of Judge Clyde Garrett to the voters of Eastland county, who authorizes this paper to announce his candidacy for re-election to the office of county judge of Eastland county. Little introduction is necessary in presenting Judge Garrett to the voters of Eastland county, personally or officially, for being a "native son" of the county, having lived here from his infancy, most people of the county know him. Officially, he is well known to practically every person in the county, and those who are most intimately acquainted with his official acts are his staunchest friends and supporters. He is now rounding his third year as judge of the county, probate and commissioners' court, and his record is one that any man can point to with pride.

"My three years in the office of county judge have served to impress me with the responsibilities of the office. My former experience as a business executive has been valuable to me in the performance of its duties thus far. In presenting myself for re-election to the office I feel that my intimate knowledge of the details of the county's affairs, and its financial status will enable me to give it a better executive administration than bringing in a new man who is unfamiliar with the situation." Thus said Clyde Garrett in regard to his intention to make the race for re-election to the office of county judge.

The office of county judge carries with it a far greater responsibility than the average citizen realizes. In addition to being the presiding officer of the commissioners' court, the county judge presides over a law court for the trying of civil and criminal cases, and acts as a referee in matters pertaining to lunacy, epileptics, pensions, indigents and probate matters, such as guardianships and the probate of wills and the administration of estates.

The county judge is the chief executive officer of the county's affairs by reason of being presiding officer of the commissioners' court and having these responsibilities prescribed by the statutes.

County Funds Carefully Guarded

Judge Garrett and the commissioners' court have been particularly diligent in seeing that the county's funds in county depositories have been adequately protected. In a recent bank failure the county had on deposit approximately $265,000 of which the indications are that it will be recovered in full.

In view of the fact that in the closing of a county depository a few years ago in which there is still due the county the sum of $355,587.88 and probably none of it will ever be recovered the present county judge and commissioners' court have every right to take pride in the results of their diligence in attending to the county's money. In the former bank closing the county had on deposit the sum of $556,535.15. The securities guaranteeing the deposit were sold for $115,389.44, and the state guaranty fund refunded the county $85,557.83, making a total recovered of

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The Lord thy God in the midst of thee is mighty, he will save, he will rejoice over thee with joy.—Zeph. 3:17.

Beloved Father—Mother—
The only power I own—
With thee so close beside me
I am never alone!
From thee comes inspiration
And light more clear than day;
Thy hand points out the path to me,
'Tis thou who lead'st the way.
—Helen Ward Banks.

When Pilate said to Jesus, "Knowest thou not that I have power to crucify thee, and have power to release thee?" Jesus showed, notwithstanding his extremity, an utter fearlessness for any supposed power apart from God. He answered, "Thou couldst have no power against me, except it were given thee from above." With Jesus, at all times, in all ways, in all conditions, under all circumstances, divine Love was a very present reality. He knew it was the nature of Love to supply man with all good.—Alfred Johnson.

WHY ASK THE JUDGE

In reply to "Taxpayer's" query as to the sudden change of the Daily News' attitude regarding its solicitude for the people concerning the deliberations of the city commission, relative to the executive session of that body, refers "Taxpayer" to the editor of the Citizen. For the edification of the News, and the information of the public, this editor, while occupying the position of city editor and reporter of the News, we were only an employe, and published such matters as the management dictated. Like the present editor, we had no authority, as we simply carried out the orders of our superiors. We had no say as to what should and what should not be printed in the columns of that paper, therefore, knowing those who are now conducting the Daily News are limited in their expression, makes the recent solicitude of that paper for the public's interest all the more perplexing, as there has been little or no change in the policy of the paper.

However, if the editor of the Daily News is really anxious to know what the Citizen editor's opinion of local matters were during the time mentioned we would refer him to the files of the Cisco American, which publication the Citizen editor directed in other years, when none gave us orders. We believe a perusal of the files of the American will reflect the attitude of "the Judge," and convince even the News editor that we were fighting the battles of the people then fearlessly, as we are now, for there were no superior heads to give us orders.

So, instead of asking "the Judge," just consult the files of the Cisco American. It tells how "the Judge" stood on questions affecting the people's interest.

STATUTORY ELECTIONS OPEN TO ALL DEMOCRATS

When a state seeks to regulate partisan primary elections by statutory enactment, and prescribe who may and who may not participate it must be careful about barring voters on account of "race, color or previous condition of servitude," the federal supreme court has decided in the second decision handed down by the tribunal. This case, like the one appealed five years ago, was brought by L. A. Nixon, negro attorney of El Paso. Five years ago Nixon carried the case to the federal court of last resort, and was sustained. He was, in an election that year, denied permission to participate in the Democratic primaries, though subscribing to the pledge "I am a Democrat and will support the nominees of this primary election." At that Nixon was a better Democrat than Tom Love and those erstwhile self-styled leaders who participated in the primaries and then stultified themselves by voting the Republican national ticket.

But that is not german to the subject. The Citizen editor has always maintained that the state law legalizing primary elections barring voters from participating on account of "race, color or previous condition of servitude" is illegal, for in enacting such a law the state is presuming to do those things prohibited by the federal constitution.

After the first decision of the supreme court the Texas legislature attempted to cure this defect by an amendment modifying but not omitting the objectionable clause, and this decision rendered Monday, though with four dissenting votes, to the Citizen seems clear and to the point that the primary law is violative of the 14th amendment, and we believe good law.

Senator Connally of Texas, in a statement commented on the supreme court decision as follows:

"The majority opinion holds that the legislature could not empower the executive committee of a political party to prescribe tests based on color, but it is suggested that the convention of a party being the repository of party authority would have the inherent power to prescribe party tests without legislative grant. It follows that if the party convention should prescribe such tests, they would not be violative of the fourteenth amendment.

"The court's objection is that the executive committee was acting under a legislative grant and that the fourteenth amendment prohibits a state from making such a grant. It seems to me that the state convention can either itself take appropriate action or authorize the state executive committee to do so without conflicting with the court's action.

"The dissenting opinion of Judge McReynolds in which Judges Van Devanter, Butler and Sutherland concurred, holds that the executive committee acting for the party possesses ample power to prescribe the tests and that such action is not violative of the fourteenth amendment."

Supreme Court Finds Democratic Primary Election Law Invalid

Taxpayers Hear Candidates--

for my candidacy for the senate. Ask the coporations who they are supporting in this race and then form your own opinion. I notice your resolutions favor consolidation of certain county offices. I am of the opinion that the merging of the offices of assessor and collector of taxes is embodied in one of the amendments that will be submitted to the people in November. I favor as many consolidations of offices and departments as can be done economically, but no man can accomplish these reforms in one or two sessions. One of the obstacles being too many friends and relatives of senators and representatives holding jobs in the departments. When it is proposed to abolish any department the head of that division is on the floor of the house or senate to remind the members by his presence that his friend or relative holds a job in his department. I favor the budget system for all the divisions of the state government, based on their economical administration, and would compel these departments to confine their expenses to the amounts appropriated for these budgets. It has been charged that the senate has over one hundred employes. This is true, I regret to say, and I have attempted to reduce these employes, but it is a custom that has prevailed of allowing each senator in caucus, to name three employes. I introduced a bill to cut this number down to one, but it was defeated. I have always advocated turning over to the state all designated highways, and divert a portion of the highway funds to retire bonds voted by the counties for building roads." Senator Cunningham concluded.

Ben L. Russell Jr., candidate for floater, briefly spoke in favor of his candidacy, stating that this was the first time he had offered for a political office, but felt that he was qualified to represent the people of Eastland and Callahan counties. Believing the reduction of expenses of government was the first step toward the reduction of taxes, favored the budget system for all state and county departments. Investigating, he found at least twelve of the state departments could be merged without impairing the service, and a saving of $1,700,000, he said. Ascertaining that the state was educating many non-resident students, free of cost, he favored a reasonable tuition fee in state-supported colleges and universities. He stated that he read the resolutions of the association and endorsed each one in principle.

Yeager Latest Candidate
J. S. Yeager, having only recently entered the race for floritorial representative from the 107th district, came near being overlooked, as his name had not been furnished the chairman. But Mr. Yeager announced his presence and was called to the front. There he outlined his platform, which is published in another section of the Citizen. Finishing this announcement he called for questions from anyone present. Answering those who made the queries he endorsed each policy promulgated by the association. Dwelling on high salaries that are being paid public officials, he stated he favored a general reduction of salaries, as he had ascertained that it would require 20 farmers' labor to pay the salary of the average official.

When Mr. Yeager concluded others made brief talks, including Chairman Neil, Judges Lankford and Roby, Lotief and others. Judge Lankford stated that he deplored the fact that so few of the candidates expressed themselves on the regulation of public service corporations, which he considered one of paramount importance at this time.

Following Judge Lankford, Judge Roby made a splendid talk in which he said he was not a candidate for any office, but was standing shoulder to shoulder with Judge Lankford in his fight for the public weal, and thank God, we are making progress, as the higher courts are at last taking cognizance of the fight being made by the people. In support of the needed policy of retrenchment, he read some statistics of the cost of government at Austin, in which he was supported by Senator Cunningham who corroborated these figures, reciting some extravagances that are being put on the people.

Not in the "House of His Friends"
The discussion drifted to the public service corporations, and it was this point that provoked Manager Pettit, of the S. W. Telephone company, to offer a protest. But Pettit was out-classed, as he was in no sense in the "house of his friends," but he was game, and stood his grounds till the standing became too hot, when he attempted to withdraw from the auditorium, but capitulating to the call to "stay and hear it all," resumed a seat. Protesting against the adverse criticism of the telephone company, Pettit said: "I thought this was a movement for tax reform, but you people will be making a mistake by fighting the telephone company, as they are striving to build up the country and are not earning within three percent of what the law allows on their invested capital."

It seemed that Lotief was loaded, for at this juncture of the proceedings he went to the speaker's stand and uncorked a bunch of statistics, gathered in previous fights against the gas company at Cross Plains. These statistics were read with telling effect, and Lotief was the recipient of much applause when he had concluded. A fact that went home to the audience was when Lotief told them that the gas company had rendered their property in Cross Plains for taxes at $5,000 but for rate-making valuation the property was placed at $125,000. Some disparity.

The next session of the Eastland County Taxpayers association will convene in Eastland May 14.

SANE SOLUTION OF OUR DEPRESSED CONDITIONS

Dispatches from Washington stated that Senator Carl Hayden, of Arizona, was preparing to introduce a simple little bill to relieve the present depression which if enacted into law, will do more to relieve distress of the people than all the financial aids that have been dished out to the favored classes. Dispatches from Washington characterizes Hayden's bill as a new plan for restoring silver prices, but laymen have repeatedly proposed just such a measure that is now being sponsored by the Arizona senator. However, the people are not interested in the fact whether the plan is old or new, but will hail it as a general measure of relief if allowed to become a law, as it will increase the circulating medium of the nation, a result most devoutly hoped for.

As might be expected the bankers and financiers are opposing the plan, and if within their power, will see that it dies aborning. These governmental parasites oppose any measure to increase the money circulation of the land unless it provides tax-free securities bearing interest to further add to their holdings.

Hayden's plan would allow nations to pay an ounce of silver for each dollar of indebtedness, if they agree to restore their silver coinage to a fineness of at least nine-tenths silver.

One and a half ounces of silver would be accepted for each dollar of indebtedness if the foreign countries would merely agree not to melt their own coin to obtain the silver.

Silver received in debt payments would be coined into silver dollars by the United States Government, deposited in the Treasury, and silver certificates issued against them.

"The primary object of this legislation," Hayden said, "is to break the worldwide vicious circle of declining prices of nearly one-half the people of the world who have no other money than silver."

Statutory Clause Barring Negroes From Polls Ruled Violates 14th Amendment

WASHINGTON, May 4.—By a one vote margin the Supreme court Monday threw out as invalid the Texas law under which the democratic state executive committee barred negroes from democratic primaries.

The majority of the five to four alignment held that the law had constituted the state executive committees of all political parties its agents and that the act of the democratic group was therefore the act of the state, invalid under the fourteenth amendment to the federal constitution.

Cardozo's Statement
"The pith of the matter is simply this," Justice Cardozo stated in delivering the opinion, "that when those agencies are invested with an authority independent of the will of the association in whose name they undertake to speak, they become to that extent the organs of the state itself, the repositories of official power. They are then the governmental instruments whereby parties are organized and regulated."

Previously, in March, 1927, the court set aside a Texas law which barred negroes from voting in state democratic primaries.

That case and the case today were brought to the supreme court by L. A. Nixon of El Paso, Texas, a negro, who sued the democratic judges of election for damages caused by their refusal to permit him to vote.

Dissenting Opinion
Justice McReynolds delivered a dissenting opinion, in which Justices Van Devanter, Sutherland and Butler joined. They took the view that the "notion that the statute converts the executive committee into an agency of the state lacks support."

Referring to the former action declaring invalid the Texas law prohibiting negroes from voting in democratic primaries, Justice McReynolds asserted it was fair to construe the present law as an intention of the legislative to rescind "the general right of political parties to prescribe qualifications for membership."

Under such a construction the law should be sustained, the minority insisted.

S. J. Yeager Fifth Floterial Seeker To Get in Running

In a statement given out by J. S. Yeager, of Putnam, today he announced he will be a candidate for floterial representative of the 107th district, composed of Callahan and Eastland counties, subject to the action of the Democratic primary.

Mr. Yeager has made his home in the two counties for more than 40 years, coming to Eastland county with his father in 1890 when a boy, and moving to Callahan county in 1906. He has been active in politics for thirty years, taking a leading part in all activities pertaining to the upbuilding of his home district, and has held the office of county commissioner eight years, justice of the peace eight years, which office he holds at the present time, and was appointed maintenance superintendent by the state highway department of this district, composed of seven counties with headquarters at Eastland, in 1925, serving two years, resigning to attend to private business.

He is thoroughly familiar with state and county affairs, and will make his campaign on the following issues:

1. I favor a general reduction of expenses in all state affairs, including a reduction of all salaries, fixed by statutes, of Texas employes who are drawing more than $1,500 per year, putting salaries in line with the earnings of the people who are paying the taxes.
2. I will favor a constitutional amendment submitted by the 42nd legislature, combining the offices of assessor and collector. Also, I favor the consolidation of treasurer with that of county clerk, as the treasurer's work is a duplication of the work done in the county clerk's office.
3. I favor abolishing the fee system and substituting a reasonable salary to all state and county officials.
4. I favor the election of members of the state highway commission.
5. I favor a law making it a criminal offense for any senator or representative to accept employment from public service corporations while they are the paid servants of the people.
6. I favor retiring outstanding road bonds in the different counties, or as many of them as have been placed on designated highways with a portion of the gasoline tax, but will oppose any raise in the tax on gasoline.
7. I favor guaranteeing bank deposits in state banks by bonds double the amount of the deposits for protection of the depositors.
8. I favor submitting a constitutional amendment abolishing the ad valorem tax on homesteads up to the value of $3,000 and will favor a reasonable income tax if necessary to meet the deficit.

"Did the work" says Miss Glivar
WHY DON'T YOU TRY IT?

After more than three months of suffering from a nervous ailment, Miss Glivar used Dr. Miles' Nerve Tonic which gave her such splendid results that she wrote us an enthusiastic letter.

If you suffer from "Nerves," if you lie awake nights, start at sudden noises, tire easily, are cranky, blue and fidgety, your nerves are probably out of order.

Quiet and relax them with the same medicine that "did the work" for this Colorado girl.

Whether your "Nerves" have troubled you for hours or for years, you'll find this time-tested remedy effective.

LET'S GO SOMEWHERE

By J. B. F. Wright
(Dedicated to the new administration of the city of Cisco, this the 26th day of April, 1932.)

Let's go somewhere; we can't stand still,
Or backward we will slide;
Let's take a hold and climb the hill,
And reach the other side.

Let's lend a hand—get started out,
Sing out, oh happy day;
Let's turn our city round about,
And go the other way.

Let's push and pull with all our might,
To bring our city out;
If all our efforts we unite,
We'll make a change, no doubt.

Let's go somewhere—get started now.
Don't wait another year;
Let's move our city anyhow,
Whatever may appear.

Let's go somewhere, we can't stay here,
We've tarried now too long;
With purpose true and heart sincere,
Be ever moving on.

Let's go somewhere, inspite of fate,
Some day we'll gain the goal;
Let's forge ahead with steady gait,
Our destinies to mold.

Let's use our eyes and careful be,
While on this forward pull;
It's left up now to you and me,
It's business, not merely bull.

vor a reasonable income tax if necessary to meet the deficit.

9. I am unalterably opposed to the creation of any bonded indebtedness, or any further raise in taxes under present conditions.

10. I will oppose any new commissions, but will favor clothing of the railroad commission with plenary power to regulate all public service corporations, such as gas and other utilities, giving the people a reasonable rate.

OLDEST TEXAS PYTHIAN. PAST GRAND CHANCELLOR

Under the department of "Dallas and State 50 Years Ago," in the Dallas News of April 21, that paper tells of the election of Max Elser as past-grand chancellor of Texas Knights of Pythias by the grand lodge of that order April 21, 1882. The grand lodge met in Galveston that year. Mr. Elser was living in Fort Worth at that time, but is now a well known citizen of Cisco. He says he is the oldest living past grand-chancellor of the Texas Pythians. H. J. LaBatt, of Galveston was elected vice grand chancellor at that session.

REMAINS OF MRS. SHULTS CONVEYED TO GATESVILLE

The remains of Mrs. Myrtle Shults, former Cisco woman, who passed away Tuesday evening at her residence in the 1500 block on C avenue, were conveyed to Gatesville for burial. Funeral services were conducted at the residence by Reverends Balderee, of Abilene, Smart, of the East Cisco Baptist church. The body was conveyed to Gatesville, the Green Funeral Home in charge. Burial was in the Friendship cemetery after another burial service was held there.

A brief obituary of Mrs. Shults, published below, was furnished the Cisco Citizen by her pastor, Rev. James L. Smart:

Mrs. Myrtle Douglas Shults was born Nov. 24th, 1896 in the state of Okla., died April 26th, 1932 at Cisco, Texas. Miss Myrtle Douglas was united in marriage to Mr. Pete Shults Aug. 2, 1914 at Gatesville, Texas. She, with her husband, moved to Cisco in the year of 1927. She was converted in August of the year 1913, and five years later—August 10, 1918, joined the Missionary Baptist church. The East Cisco Baptist church has lost a faithful and beloved member. Her pastor found her willing and ready to do her best every time she was called on for service to her church and her Savior. She was loyal to the B. Y. P. U., W. M. S., and Sunday school. She loved God with all her heart, soul and mind. She was a devoted wife, a loving mother, and a true friend. In all of her suffering she was patient and ready for the summons of her Savior to come home. Our loss is heaven's gain. In departing this life, she leaves to mourn her untimely going, her husband, Mr. Pete Shults, two daughters, and one son, Clara, Irisdean and Douglas Pete. Two sisters and one brother, Mrs. Cleora Cockrell, Shawnee, Okla.; Mr. Lee Douglas, Henderson, Texas; Mrs. O. V. Cunningham, Cisco, Texas. Her mother, stepfather and half sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Berry, and Miss Jonnie, of Gatesville, Texas. The body was taken by rail to Gatesville and laid to rest, Friday morning, April 29, in the Friendship community cemetery to await the resurrection morning.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH SERVICES

The subject of the lesson-sermon is "Adam and Fallen Man" in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, May 8.

Job 14:1, 2 furnishes the golden text: "Man that is born of a woman is of few days, and full of trouble. He cometh forth like a flower, and is cut down; he fleeth also as a shadow, and continueth not."

The following passages from the Bible (Genesis 1:26, 27) are included in the lesson-sermon: "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: . . . So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he them; male and female created he them."

Embraced in the service are also the following citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy—page 475:

"The Scriptures inform us that man is made in the image and likeness of God. Matter is not that likeness. The likeness of Spirit cannot be so unlike Spirit. . . . The real man cannot depart from holiness, nor can God, by whom man is evolved, engender the capacity or freedom to sin."

Mrs. A. J. Houston, mother of Mrs. J. C. Mayhew, was brought to Cisco last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Mayhew and children, Earl and Misses Elma and Nadine, having motored to Gatesville to spend the day with their mother, who accompanied them home for an extended visit. Mrs. Houston was seriously ill about two months ago, and Mrs. Mayhew was at her bedside for some time. She has about recovered, though is still quite feeble.

BREAK THE ALABASTER BOXES FOR THE LIVING

In looking through some old clippings, Max Elser came across the following, which was printed in the Sunshine Calendar of New York, in 1906:

A Sunshine Sentiment In an Obscure Corner

Max Elser, an associate Sunshiner, sends in the following clipping, which he says he came across in an obscure country weekly which was lying in a chair at a country hotel. The sentiment was so fine that he immediately sent it in for the Calendar. Mr. Elser does a great deal of Sunshine work himself, and is constantly interesting other people in the work:

"Do not keep the alabaster boxes of your love and tenderness sealed up until your friends are dead. Fill their lives with sweetness. Speak approving, cheering words while their ears can hear them. The flowers you mean to send for their coffins, send to brighten and sweeten their homes before they leave them. Let us learn to anoint our friends beforehand for their burial!"

Death Removes One Of Cisco's Earliest Pioneer Residents

Charles Henry Daniels, one of Cisco's oldest and most highly respected citizens, passed away at the home of his son, Grant C. Daniels, 108 West Sixteenth street, early Wednesday morning, after a week's illness.

Mr. Daniels was stricken Tuesday morning, April 26, while at breakfast at a local cafe, but was able to walk to the Daniels hotel, where he maintained an apartment, and a physician was summoned. His illness was diagnosed as appendicitis, but owing to his advanced age, he would not submit to an operation. He was removed to the home of his son, Grant C. Daniels, Thursday of last week, where he rapidly grew worse till his passing at 2:15 o'clock Wednesday morning, peritonitis having developed during the last days of his illness. Death held no terrors for this venerable Christian gentleman, as was evidenced during his last conscious moments when he frequently expressed himself as willing to go.

Came to Texas in 1881.

Coming to Texas in 1881, settling near Cisco in what is now the Dan Horn community, he was one of the earliest settlers in this section. He left his ranch and farm home and moved into Cisco in 1906, and he and his brother, Geo. W. Daniels, built the Daniels hotel, which was the leading hotel of Cisco for many years, and during the oil boom days was headquarters for the oil fraternity that thronged this city.

Charles Henry Daniels was born in Chautauqua county, New York, near the Pennsylvania state line.

A fuller obituary of Mr. Daniels was prepared by Rev. James L. Smart, who conducted the funeral service Wednesday afternoon at 3:30, at the chapel of the Green Funeral Home, after which burial was in Oakwood cemetery, with the Green Funeral Home in charge.

Brief Sketch of His Life

Mr. Chas H. Daniels was born in Chautauqua county, N. Y., Sept. 28, 1848. Died May the 4 at 2 A. M., 1932. He was 83 years, 7 months and 6 days old when called home. Mr. Daniels was united in marriage to Miss Olive Bisbee at Wattsburg, Pennsylvania, Dec. 24, 1868. To this union one son and a daughter were born the daughter being called home in early youth. He, with his family, came to Texas in the year of 1881, direct to Eastland county, and was one of the early settlers of this section of the country, a pioneer cattleman, a citizen of sterling worth, honored and esteemed as a christian gentleman. He was a real estate owner and business man of Cisco, he and his brother, G. W. Daniels, were partners in the hotel business-known as the Daniel's Hotel, of this city, and he is numbered among those who laid the foundation and helped to build the city of Cisco.

He was converted and joined the Missionary Baptist church 55 years ago. He was also a deacon in the church, and has been an active and faithful member of the First Baptist church, of Cisco, until his hearing and eyesight became impaired several years ago, also in the loss of his dear wife and companion, on whom he depended in the early days of his affliction. In the last days of his life he quoted a great deal of scripture, and said many times, "I am ready to go, I want to go home." Among the last words to his son he said "I see your mother, can't you see her?"

He leaves to mourn his home-going, one son, G. C. Daniels, Cisco; two grandsons and one granddaughter of Cisco. His wife having preceded him in death about five years ago. Funeral services were conducted by James L. Smart, pastor of the East Cisco Baptist church at the chapel of Green's Funeral Home, 3:30 Wednesday May 4, 1932, after which the body was laid to rest in the Oakwood cemetery to await the coming of his Savior in the resurrection morning.

GETS FIRST FIRE ALARM WHEN GLENN HOME BURNED

The new desk sergeant at police headquarters, Henry Stubblefield, received his first fire alarm Thursday morning when the call came from West Seventeenth street and Avenue H at 11:15 o'clock. Henry was considerably frustrated, but did manage to remember the location till he reached the department bulletin board.

The origin of the fire was not determined at the time of this notice, but it was said the building, which was the R. S. Glenn home, was badly damaged, though the extent was not stated.

Judge Garrett--

Doing Work of Two Judges

In talking to a representative of this paper, Garrett said that prior to his taking of the office there was a separate judge of the county court at law. This position was abolished. Garrett's present salary is $3,200 per annum while the total salaries for the two judges and a stenographer were $5,760, making an annual saving of $2,560 and Judge Garrett is doing the work alone.

Judge Garrett and the commissioners' court have adopted a broad policy in matters of adjusting property values for tax purposes. Sitting as an equalization board they have tried to be fair and reasonable to both the large and small owners of property.

Garrett is a native of Eastland county, having been born here of one of the pioneer families. Prior to being elected to county judge he has served as city manager of Eastland and as a banking executive.

"Eastland county owns real estate valued at more than $375,000 in addition to office equipment and road equipment of a probable value of $100,000," said Garrett, "and it's a man-sized job to see after all of it, attend to the safety of the county's funds, handle probate matters and preside over the court. However, I like the job and am experienced and qualified to hold it and am going to ask the people to reelect me to the place."

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lash spent last week in Dallas, returning home Monday.

Turner M. Collier, Deputy, Seeks Job As County Clerk

The Citizen takes pleasure in announcing the candidacy of Turner M. Collier, who is in the race to succeed his superior, R. L. Jones, as clerk of the county court of Eastland county. Being born and nurtured in a Democratic home, it is only natural that his candidacy is subject to the action of the Democratic primaries.

Advancing as his qualifications for the office it is only necessary to say that if elected he will go into the office fully equipped with ripe experience, as he has been chief clerk under County Clerk R. L. Jones for the past two years, and has been performing the duties of that office. Now he is asking for the position he has filled as deputy for the past two years. So, no one will have to worry about his qualifications if they vote for Turner Collier.

In announcing for this office Mr. Collier is making his maiden race for a political office, as this is the first time he has ever asked for political preferment at the hands of the people.

There is every reason why Cisco people should give Mr. Collier's candidacy a cordial reception, for it was in Cisco that he first saw the light of day. He was born in this city to his parents, Rev. and Mrs. T. M. Collier, a former Cisco Methodist minister. The family is one of the oldest and best known of Eastland county, and each member enjoys the friendship of all who know them.

Mr. Collier says he will make an active campaign, and endeavor to meet every voter, both men and women, that will be possible, but those whom he fails to meet, he asks to give his candidacy their careful consideration.

Mr. Collier's candidacy is a laudible one, for he is a young man of splendid mental equipment and a clean life. The Citizen commends his candidacy to our readers and ask that you give him most careful consideration, believing he will go into the office well qualified to discharge every duty of the position.

ANOTHER CAR OF FLOUR APPROVED FOR CISCOANS

Secretary J. E. Spencer announced Thursday that another car of flour had been approved for Red Cross distribution from the Cisco headquarters of that organization. Mrs. Schurman, Red Cross representative, spent several days here last week, who, with Mr. Spencer, visited each of the Red Cross distribution points in Eastland county.

Secretary Spencer reports 192 families having been served from the Cisco office from the last allotment of flour received here from the federal farm board, in addition to that distributed from Ranger, Eastland, Rising Star, Gorman and other Red Cross agencies.

NEW BUTCHER CUTTING MEAT AT ALTMAN STORE

A new butcher is now cutting meat and serving the carnivorous patrons of the Altman grocery. Mr. A. T. Fakes is the new meat cutter, taking over the section formerly held down by Mr. Joe Kilborn. Mr. and Mrs. Fakes have recently moved to Cisco from Abilene, and will make this their home. Mr. Kilborn is retiring from business for the present, as he says he feels he needs a rest, but may go back in business in the near future though he expects to look over East Texas towns before he settles down once more.

WILL ATTEND HUNTER'S SPEAKING AT EASTLAND

Many from Cisco have announced that they will attend the speaking at Eastland Monday night of Tom Hunter, of Wichita Falls, who is making the race for governor. They have read his platform and it rings true, according to the ideas of many here who believe in a more economical administration of state affairs. Hunter speaks like he knows what it's all about, and the voters are desirous of seeing a man in the governor's office who really knows and cares something about the masses. The address will begin at 8 o'clock.

SUDDEN DEATH OF WILL PORTER LEARNED HERE

A telegram to Mr. R. T. Porter Thursday from the widow announced the sudden death of Mr. Will Porter, at his home in Corpus Christi, early Thursday morning. Burial will be in that city today, the telegram announced.

Deceased was the only uncle of Mr. R. T. Porter, of near Cisco, and many years ago was a well known citizen of this city, where he operated a flour mill, and was also owner of a lumber yard here. He visited in the Porter home here last fall, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Porter met him in Dallas, after the Confederate reunion had adjourned, and conveyed him here where he was their guest for several days. Owing to the burial being so early it was impossible for Mr. R. T. Porter to reach Corpus Christi in time to attend the funeral of his relative.

The news of the passing of Will Porter will be received with regret by the many former friends of deceased, who is fondly remembered in Cisco by many who knew him in other days.

U. D. C. CALLED MEETING

All United Daughters of the Confederacy of the Martha Stout chapter are called to meet at the U. D. C. park pavilion Saturday at 10 o'clock a. m., as there is urgent business to be attended to.

Any and all persons who are eligible to become members of this organization are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

MRS. R. T. PORTER, Pres.
MRS. D. E. WATERS, Sec.
MRS. A. J. OLSON, Treas.

CISCO ATHLETES ATTEND STATE MEET AT AUSTIN

Chaperoned by Mrs. E. L. Hazlewood, Mrs. E. H. Varnell and Superintendent R. N. Cluck, Cisco entrants are attending the state interscholastic league meet at Austin this week. The entrants are Betty Fee Spears and Bessie Pearce, girl debaters; Sterling Drumwright and John Peter Huey, boy debaters, and G. Miley, winner of the 100 and 440 yard dashes at the district meet. Others attending so far as reported include R. L. Tucker and Garner Alton. The party made the trip in cars.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Johnston, well known Cisco folk who have been in East Texas for some time past, were greeting friends here Thursday, en route to Crane, where Mr. Johnston has just completed a building contract. They are now located at Palestine, but still maintain their residence in Cisco.

F. B. Altman, of the Altman Grocery and Altman Style Shop, who has been in Soudan for the past week, is expected home Sunday.

Jack Pippen and daughter attended the track meet at Abilene Wednesday.

T. J. Dean spent the major portion of last week in Waxahachie, where he owns a drug business.

E. C. SATTERWHITE WILL RUN FOR TAX COLLECTOR

E. C. Satterwhite, of Eastland, was in Cisco Thursday and announced he would make the race for tax collector of Eastland county in the July primaries. Mr. Satterwhite stated that his formal announcement for this office would be made in the near future, probably next week.

He has lived in Eastland county for over 35 years, and is well known in nearly every precinct of the county, having lived in Gorman, Ranger and Eastland, and where he is known has many close friends who will doubtless be glad to support him in this race. He stated that probably he was least known in and near Cisco of any other section of the county, but would endeavor to meet all the voters during the campaign.

Citizen readers are requested to watch for his announcement in this paper, and to give his candidacy due consideration.

He will announce his platform of principles in his formal announcement.
