BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Let all those that seek thee rejoice and be glad in thee; and let such as love thy salvation say continually, let God be magnified. Thou art my help and my deliverer.—Ps. 70:4, 5.

Heaven disapproves that care, though wise in show, That with superfluous burdens loads the day, And, when God smiles a cheerful hour, refrains.—MILTON.

It really is the little things in life that mean so much. The little things that do not require money to possess them. Little things which we can give and give, and the source is always replenished. It is the little words, the little deeds, the little looks, also the little thoughts that prove the foundation of big things.—Comiskey.

Carrying It Too Far

THE proposal for a Will Rogers memorial fund game between the Texas Interscholastic league champion football team and the best team in Oklahoma is being prosed. The ideal behind the proposal is worthy enough to gain it considerable support. It is said that the coaches of the four Texas teams still in the race for the championship are in favor of it. No doubt such a contest would raise an appreciable sum for the cause. It is probable, however, that its sponsors would be disappointed in the amount.

POSTSEASON classics like the Rose Bowl and the Sugar Bowl have sufficient of what we might call "dignity," lacking a better word of description, to command the respect essential to their not being over-exploited. They are, in short, goals of sportsmanship endeavor which represent proper rewards for clean and superlative playing. But the practice of carrying the high school game beyond the normal limits of a season into such a spectacle as the post-season clash between the Texas and Oklahoma champions is concerned seems to be going a bit too far for boys of the age and experience who would be involved. It seems to us that the high school game should be kept to reasonable season and territorial limits where it may be developed in proportionate relation to the remainder of the school curriculum. Taking it beyond this relationship into the realm of a great regional competition is simply placing it entirely out of proportion with the aim of the high school game. There is, after all, such a thing as "commercializing" high school sports in the sense that these sports are overemphasized for town publicity benefits. The business men who are attempting to promote this game have permitted their enthusiasm for a winning team and its direct benefits to their community and their businesses to lead them beyond a proper appreciation for the ideals of the game and its relationship to the schools and the development of the boys. It is time to call a halt on such a tendency, we think.

Putting on the Brakes

WITH the public debt already half of what certain bankers were said privately to have assured President Roosevelt the country could stand without damage to its financial strength or credit there is evidence that the administration, planning next year's budget, is putting on the brakes. Incidentally, some bankers are publicly wondering who assured the president that such a huge public debt could be safely carried. The government's program of public spending as a means of recovery has had its disadvantages as well as its advantages. It has a strong tendency to get beyond the bounds of administration program through encouraging demands for wild spending from other quarters. The Townsend plan, for instance, threatens to give Washington a great deal of trouble. Advocates of the plan are encouraged to present their demands by the huge spending projects of the government and the credence given to the spending idea by the administration's "prime the pump" process has gained a great number of converts. Similarly the demands of other theorists gain a support that is embarrassing. It is hard to keep a fire within bounds. The administration frankly started out on a spending program. It promised to keep this within certain bounds and to apply the brakes at a certain time. Even if the program were fully successful, it would have difficulty in doing this. It is going to be mighty hard to steer away from printing press money, particularly since the government is known to have reserves ample to support a much greater issue of currency than exists. But Roosevelt seems determined to keep his course, and his stand against the bonus is evidence that he has the strength to stand firm despite the difficult implications of his own program.

Human and Other Nature By W. F. BRUCE

Yesterday I rather hurriedly ventured into a ticklish subject, and am not sure that I understood what I meant when I got through with it. Perhaps we ought to be less sensitive about our politics, and more investigative. The more the importance of any issue that is up for consideration the more candidly and calmly we ought to examine it. Probably we are sensitive toward political and religious questions in proportion to the importance of their bearing upon our welfare.

If we approach the problem of Mr. Roosevelt and his administration and their part in the campaign next year in as unbiased a frame of mind as is possible no doubt we would all find ourselves somewhat mixed in our attitudes. Many people would be wage earners and would be drawn between the advantage of a relief job on one hand and the disadvantage of an advancing cost of living on the other. Others are deeply engulfed in enterprises that depend upon profit for their success, and are at a loss whether to welcome more the impetus that has been given to business by the sums of money that have been put into circulation through loans, or to resent more the government control that has curtailed private initiative. Some who are concerned for the moral progress of society are first encouraged by the move for social justice that has received emphasis, and next discouraged by the license of social evils that has been openly advocated.

Most issues have moral bearing in their ultimate analysis even if they are political. Most political questions have economic meaning in one way or another; in other words the motives of voters and the positions held by candidates, as well as the principles may usually be expressed in a way that means dollars and cents. The stand that we take and the ballot that we cast next year ought to be influenced by all these considerations. For this reason conservative party lines may be broken. In fact two or three times in American history a new party has been launched and has become a major one because the established parties did not adjust themselves to changing conceptions. Whether that will happen this time we will see.

A Washington Daybook By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON — Administration leaders, anxious for a "short and snappy" session of congress beginning on January 3, privately eye with some apprehension reported plans of proponents of the Townsend old-age pension plan for the immediate future. Edward F. Trefz, one of the Townsend organizers, has served notice that Washington may expect thousands of members of the Townsend national legion, an inner organization of the movement, to converge on congress. "Marches" are nothing new to the national capital. Since 1894 when "Coxey's Army" set the style, so-called pressure groups have employed this method to impress congress with their demands. Ku Klux Klansmen have marched down Pennsylvania avenue in their day. Khaki-clad ex-soldiers tirelessly picketed the offices of senators and representatives in their ill-fated bonus march. More recently hundreds of farmers invaded the capital to pledge anew their faith in the present administration and particularly in the AAA.

Strength Growing The Townsendites, however, present a different sort of a problem. Flushed with their recent victory in the Michigan third district congressional primaries where their candidate won the republican nomination for a seat in the house over four opponents. Townsend leaders are boasting openly of their strength in the coming congress.

They claim between 40 and 50 congressmen now are in sympathy with their cause and predict a Townsend bloc of around 100 will vote for OARP, Ltd. (Old Age Revolving Pensions) on a showdown. Politicians have awakened to potentialities of the movement. Republicans more than the democrats are feeling the pressure from the Townsendites.

Bolton's Offer An illustration of the reason for the uneasiness among politicians is seen in the case of Chester C. Bolton, chairman of the republican congressional campaign committee. Bolton, a member of the house appropriations committee and a conservative in fiscal affairs, has offered to cooperate with proponents of the Townsend plan in putting old age pension legislation in proper form. He made his of-

CORCHY SMITH

THE CLANCY KIDS So That's the End of It. By PERCY L. CROSBY

NEVER MIND THE LADY by David Garth

SYNOPSIS: In a desperate effort to get much needed equipment aboard steamer for his upriver engineering job, Terry Willett has gone to the dock and caught the loading boss in crooked work. They have quarreled, and the man is shot by Allaire West just as he aims at Terry. To protect Allaire, Terry has "taken the rap" with the native police. But Allaire, who is more than half in love with Terry, believes he has boarded ship for his job, and left her alone in land about to be torn with revolution.

Chapter 13

FOX SPEAKS OUT

Action! The city was charged with it and so were the Legations. Back at his Embassy Fox learned that Ray West had accepted the Old Man's advice and the American polo party would sail for New York via Vera Cruz.

Nor did the Ambassador's advisory powers stop there. He gave the attache to understand that his next brainstorm would draw more than a rebuke—it would entail a transfer to Zanzibar or some other place, if not a dismissal from the Foreign Service.

The Old Man would have said more but he had to take time out to get purple over a Washington despatch and Fox returned to a desk full of cables and messages to be decoded. He felt singularly unimpressed about the threats to his career. What he had done was worth it. He didn't fall in love every day.

All night long he worked. Dent was swearing at the consul who was much mystified over the disappearance of two American seamen and had reported an "overt act" to the Embassy.

The house of the Ministry of Finance had been picketed by police guards against a threatening crowd. The President and his Cabinet were conferring behind locked doors at the Palace. Everybody was looking toward Propionaire. The atmosphere was lovely for a rest cure.

And the next day the streets and parks were thronged with people.

Fox prayed for the hours to pass. The Vera Cruz ship was to sail at ten that night. And night, he thought, would never come.

At half-past eight the Ambassador took his nose out of a sheaf of reports long enough to order him as an official representative of the Embassy to bid the party Godspeed. Proprieties and amenities must be observed at all times. Rule something-or-other of the efficient Foreign Officer.

The attache didn't reach the Alvio until shortly after nine. Traffic congestion in the streets was terrible. He scarcely knew whether he'd find Allaire there or not, but finally located her on one of the hotel balconies viewing the lighted panorama of the capital.

The Avenida Georgian stretched across the city from the great hotel, straight as an arrow, toward the Capitol building with its brilliantly lighted fountains throwing leaping sprays of changing color to the dark velvet sky.

"Allaire!" he said. She turned slowly, almost reluctantly.

"Oh—George. Cheerio. son. Beautiful, isn't it?"

"Your boat, Allaire. We'd better go—"

"I don't know whether I will or not."

Her voice was low and measured. A quick stab of panic went through him.

"Allaire—please—"

A moment her eyes dwelt on his strained face, then she smiled.

"I have an idea that you're somewhere behind the Ambassador's urgent proposal. Oh, well, don't worry, George, I won't embarrass you. I suppose I might as well tag along."

A last minute she lingered, assimilating the vista of dancing lights, the strains of music from a nearby cafe, the pulse of swirling traffic, then his arm in hers they left the balcony and went out into the street.

In the taxi he lit a cigaret and smoked furiously.

"I'm going to ask to be transferred. Or resign or something. Anyway I'm going back to the States as soon as I see this rotten mess through."

"You wax emphatic," she drawled lazily. "And your brow is somewhat fevered," she added, passing a hand over his forehead.

"Mr. Fox, are you in love, perchance?"

"Mr. Fox," he admitted grimly, "is plenty in love."

"And what is Mr. Fox in love with, pray? His art?"

He said it quite calmly.

"With you, sainted wench."

Allaire glanced at him keenly, lounging sideways against the cushions, her hands clasped against one hip.

"Darling, this is a hell of a time to tell me a thing like that, don't you think?"

"Why? Because I suddenly realize you're really leaving? Back to the States with this place just an interlude in your life."

He took both of her hands and she yielded them, unresisting.

"I'm just shooting the works, Allaire—like throwing a last ditch forward pass. I'm crazy about you."

His eyes crinkled at the corners in his boyish grin. "If I'm not original, I can't help it. I'm just trying to ask you to marry me. And I'm going to chase you to the States to ask you again."

She tilted her head back and regarded him in mock estimation.

"Very acceptable. Harvard man, athlete, extraordinarily good-looking, rising in the diplomatic service, with enough money to be an Ambassador some day—truly a catch."

"Yes," he commented, "and what I'm catching now is nobody's business. Still," he added, considering, "I haven't been let down so easy since the time I was lowered into a cradle at the age of thirty days."

"Don't, George," she said, swiftly contrite. "I didn't mean it quite like that. But, oh, can't you see—I don't want to talk about those things now. Not here in this place. I've just found out I don't know what it's all about. I have to learn to stop crying for the moon. That's what this queer place finally taught me. There isn't any moon. Will you give me a cigaret?"

"Well," he said, holding a light for her, "that's settled and I'll just have to hope you're still in circulation by the time I get back to the States. Lord, that's a lot to expect."

The girl rested white chin on fist and stared at the top of an idly swinging satin slipper.

"I promise you," she said gently, "I will be."

They swept up to the dock. He escorted her up the gangway and immediately realized any hope of being with her alone before she sailed was void.

The polo party was laughing about "being chased out of town." They referred to Vera Cruz as though it was the name of a Mexican movie actress. Fox lost Allaire in the crowd. He went back to the dock as the whistle blew and eagerly searched the faces at the ship's rail.

On Loaning Money . . .

This is the BANK that SERVICE is Building
Modern Safety Deposit Service

Banks like to loan money. That statement may seem strange, considering the proverbial delight of a banker in saying "No." However, it is true—banks like to loan money, for it is mainly from the interest received on loans that the bank is enabled to pay salaries to the personnel, and to give the stock-holder a fair return on his investment.

However, since the bank's primary obligation is to the depositor—to safeguard his funds—the bank can make loans only to those who will unquestionably be able to repay when the loan is due. Such a policy is only good common sense and fairness. It is the only way to properly safeguard the depositor—to have his money ready when he wants it—and it is the only way that the bank can have a constant source of funds available for other business enterprises.

A sound loan policy is the best possible indication of a good bank, for only through sound loans can the banker fulfill his obligations to the depositors, to borrowers and to the stockholders.

What about . . .
TEMPERATURE?

Any sudden change in temperature as you go from a warm room into a cold one disturbs the heat regulating apparatus of the body and makes it susceptible to cold germ attacks.

Protect your family against becoming overheated or chilled. Give them the benefit of healthful, pure, warmed air throughout the house. If you are not keeping a comfortable and even temperature in every room don't go through the winter without this health protection.

If your home is inadequately heated . . . if you "huddle" in one or two rooms, sudden temperature changes are unavoidable. Your family goes from a heated room into a cold hall or adjoining room. Then, shivering and chilled, they return to the heated room. This happens many times a day, and each time they have unnecessarily subjected themselves to conditions that make them susceptible to highly communicable diseases. America's Public Health Enemy Number One, the common cold germ, finds a fertile field in inadequately heated and poorly ventilated homes.

Keep comfortable temperatures and adequate ventilation throughout your home. You will find that it will add to your happiness as well as assist you to protect your health and that of your loved ones.

County Christian Endeavor Union Meets at Ranger

The Eastland County Christian Endeavor society met Friday evening at 7:30 in the First Christian church at Ranger. The meeting was opened with a musical prelude with Miss Mattie Byrl Montgomery of Ranger playing the violin and Miss Mary Helen Childs, also of Ranger, at the piano.

Miss Juanita Smith of Ranger sang a solo, "Silent Night, Holy Night," assisted by Miss Florence Richardson of Eastland at the piano. This number was followed by a song, "Joy to the World," by the congregation with Miss Mary Helen Childs playing.

The society had as its guest Ben Hallock of Abilene. Mr. Hallock, who led the group in prayer, is district publication superintendent.

Miss Florence Richardson gave a list of reasons for the change that has been made in the time for the county union meeting.

Bud Winston, county union treasurer, made a report on the financial circulation of the society.

The program was then turned over to Miss Mildred Mathews of Ranger, who gave an interesting talk on the subject, "In Him Lies Life."

The congregation sang "Christ Is King," led by Miss Mathews, with Miss Florence Richardson at the piano, followed by a prayer by Joe Bob Winston of Cisco.

Miss Florence Richardson gave a Scripture reading, a Christmas story, consisting of the second chapter of Luke.

Rev. H. B. Johnson of Ranger, host pastor, made an interesting and educational talk on "Peace on earth, good will toward men." "Christmas, Birthday of Christ," was discussed by Miss Mathews.

While the congregation sang, "I Gave My Life for Thee," the Christmas offering for the Joilet Fowler Orphan's home in Dallas was made.

Rev. W. A. Richardson of Eastland dismissed the meeting with a prayer.

A "get acquainted meeting" began when everyone went into the church annex where several enjoyable games were played. Cookies and cocoa were served.

Ranger, Cisco and Eastland were all well represented. There were 38 present.

Survey Reveals Site For Dam Is Natural

EASTLAND, Dec. 19. — Ten days work on preparation of a survey of the proposed dam near Mangum has revealed a natural location for the structure and possibility of a lake having a capacity comparable to large ones in Texas.

That report was included in "shot gun figures," engineer's term for findings before complete investigations, given by P. A. Welty, Austin engineer in charge of the proposed dam data compilation, at the chamber of commerce smoker in Eastland Friday night. The affair was held at the Connellee hotel.

Incomplete data compilation which shows as favorable was reported as follows: natural location for reservoir and dam, sizable lake area, soil would hold water good, natural site for spillway and rock available for base of dam.

Findings of the engineer, under whom are employed several others will be included in a project proposed to be submitted to the Works Progress Administration.

Federal Inquiry of Liggitt Case Is Demanded

Sec'y Says Gov. Allred Believed Hickman 'Tip-off'

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 19. (AP)—Testimony that Governor Allred believed that Tom Hickman acted as "tip-off" in the safety department raid on the Top O'Hill Terrace, near Fort Worth, and approved of Hickman's discharge, was before the special house investigation committee today.

Edward Clark, personal secretary to the governor, said that Governor Allred accused Hickman after Hickman failed to get gambling evidence.

The hearing recessed subject to call.

New York has a "toyery" where children can borrow toys free of charge, as they take books from a public library.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 19. (AP)—State officials, who refused to take "no" for an answer, Saturday challenged Attorney General Homer S. Cummings either to approve a federal inquiry of the Liggitt assassination or disclose evidence on which he "indicted the reputations" of the Twin Cities. Their first appeal for federal handling of the case was rejected by Cummings, Gov. Floyd B. Olson and the state attorney general.

H. H. Peterson renewed the request and expressed the conviction that the government inquiry "will disclose violations of the federal law." Cummings had previously called the Twin Cities "poison pools of crime."

VAN CLEAVE IS ASSESSED TWO YEARS IN PEN

The Mary Lou Howell case, charged with murder in connection with the slaying August 15, 1934, of L. F. Threet, aged Cisco rancher, on his ranch nine miles west of Cisco, was postponed when called for trial in 91st district court Wednesday morning, where Judge B. W. Patterson of the 88th district is presiding in the absence of Judge George A. Davenport.

Elmer Van Cleave, charged with conspiracy to rob in connection with the same incident, entered a plea of guilty and was assessed a term of two years in the penitentiary. The court invoked a former conviction of robbery, carrying a five-year suspended sentence in connection with a burglary at Lake Cisco several years ago. This means that Van Cleave, chief state witness in the trials of Clifford Doggett, under a death sentence for murder and a 99-year sentence for robbery in the Threet case, and Miss Howell, must serve seven years in the two cases.

The action in postponing the Howell murder case was influenced by the ruling of the State court of criminal appeals which recently reversed and remanded a 20-year robbery conviction against her in the Threet case in 42nd district court at Baird. The site of the holdup and shooting which resulted in the charges against these three principals was in Callahan county, hence the robbery case trials of Miss Howell and Doggett at Baird. Threet, found fatally wounded in his pasture, died at a Cisco hospital, which gave jurisdiction in the murder cases to Eastland county.

In an opinion written by Judge O. S. Lattimore, it was held there was not sufficient evidence to show that the Howell woman was guilty of intent to robbery or had conspired with Doggett to rob the man.

"We find nothing supporting an intent to rob save the fact that she was out in Threet's pasture and on a pallet with a man with whom she had gone after a night in a tourist camp with another man who had followed them out and who . . . shot and robbed Threet and left them both tied," said the opinion.

"Such conduct would not impute intent to rob and we are confronted with a state of facts showing easy virtue but little upon which to base a legal conclusion of guilt."

A special venire of 75 and many witnesses have been called for the case. The death penalty given Clifford Doggett in 88th district court last year on conviction of killing the rancher near Cisco, Aug. 1934, was affirmed by the appeals court.

Jury Verdict of Not Guilty in Theft Case

EASTLAND, Dec. 19. — Three criminal cases were disposed of in the 91st district court this week, Judge B. W. Patterson presiding in the absence of Judge Davenport, who is holding court in Dallas.

Joe Ferguson, charged with removal of mortgaged property, pleading his own cause, was acquitted in a trial by a jury.

Charged by indictment with the theft of automotive equipment of the value of over $50 from H. P. Ernest, a jury in the 91st district court found Ernest Wallace not guilty Monday.

Charles Asher pleaded guilty to a charge of theft over $50 and was assessed a two-year sentence in 91st district court Monday.

T. B. in Natives Is South Africa Menace

PRETORIA, So. Africa, Dec. 19. (AP) — Tuberculosis, which has wiped out one-fifth the negro population of the Union of South Africa, is developing into a national problem which, authorities state, must be handled by the federal government.

"The problem has become too big and too expensive for any municipality," says Dr. J. O. Heyns, officer of health, in his annual report.

"The colored population, unlike the Europeans in this country, have not developed resistance to the disease.

"They do not like fresh air, love overcrowding, and lower their vitality with drink and exposure."

A religion that is promulgated by carnal force is void of spiritual power.

Peace and justice are promoted, not through worship, but through friendships.

THE OLD SQUARE DANCE NEXT SATURDAY NIGHT

Lovers of the old square dances, the stately minuet, quadrille, etc., will welcome the revival of these old favorites of the sixties when the Lake Cisco Amusement company features them at the Lake Cisco pavilion next Saturday night.

It has been a long time since the old square dances were in vogue—in fact there are probably many persons now grown who have never seen the dances which were enjoyed when we older ones were young. Occasionally there were a few who waltzed, but in those days the round dances were rather frowned upon, and only the more daring indulged in them.

But everybody enjoyed the quadrille, minuet, Virginia reel, and most of them could dance the lancers. Although this dance was not common, it is one of the prettiest of the quadrille group.

Probably there will be many of the old beaux and belles of the earlier times who will take advantage of this opportunity to see the popular dances of their younger days, even if they have grown too old to enjoy this class of the terpsichorean art. But unless some of the old-timers lead the dances, and do the prompting, it is doubtful if any of the present generation could guide the dancers through a dance set.

But probably there will be some of the older men and women who will feel the thrill of younger days when the "fiddlers" strike up some of the old tunes, like "Turkey in the Straw," "Mollie Put the Kettle on," etc.

Anyway, the old square dance Saturday night should bring out a good crowd, and doubtless will, if for nothing more than the novelty of seeing how a generation ago enjoyed dancing.

When the church persecutes in the name of Truth, in turns light into darkness and religion into an iceberg.

Audit of Cisco Public Schools
Show Accounts in Good Condition

Following is the introductory letter and consolidated totals of receipts and disbursements for the 1935 fiscal year and the 1934 fiscal year of the Cisco public schools taken from the audit of the school district books made by Shaw Audit company of Fort Worth:

September 20th, 1935. The Board of Trustees, Cisco Independent School District, Cisco, Texas. Gentlemen: At your request, we have audited the books of account and record of Cisco Independent School District, Cisco, Texas, for the two-year period ended August 31st, 1935, and we present herewith our report consisting of this introductory letter and the schedule enumerated in the index prefixed hereto and made a part hereof.

The books of account of the school district do not include accounts reflecting the assets and liabilities, therefore we are not able to prepare a balance sheet. We recommend that, as soon as practicable, steps be taken to include such accounts. This will render necessary an inventory and appraisal of all property belonging to the district. These do not need to be set up in extended detail, but unless fairly full and accurate will be of little practical value. Further, it will require a careful analysis of the delinquent tax records which should show totals of delinquent taxes by years. All accounts receivable, accounts payable, notes payable, bonded indebtedness, etc., should also be included.

From the above it will be seen that our work has, of necessity, been limited strictly to cash receipts and disbursements. Our analyses of the various accounts have been prepared with consideration only for the date of occurrence and is without reference to the time when incurred. The schedules included in this report have been compiled strictly on this basis.

Receipts

The receipts are, primarily, from two sources, local taxation and the state and county apportionments. All receipts were traced directly into the bank deposits except where warrants outstanding were received in payment for taxes. Such exchanges were fully accounted for. We will discuss these in the above order.

The taxes assessed amounted to $40,208.98 on the 1933 roll and the tax roll for 1934 reflected a total of $38,338.07. Of these amounts, $24,065.38 was collected currently on the 1933 tax roll and $22,829.01 was collected on the 1934 roll. An effort at economy in the use of current receipt forms for delinquent tax collections resulted in some confusion. The various laws remitting or postponing penalties for delinquent taxes confused matters of segregation as between current and delinquent taxes all the more. Also, we noticed that the school board has, at various times, changed valuations of property from that set by the board of equalization. The following extracts from the civil statutes, 1935, tend to show that such changes were ultra vires activities.

Article 7212—Counties—

* * * said court, after hearing the evidence shall fix the value of such property in accordance with the evidence so introduced and as provided for in the preceding article; and their action shall be final in such cases.

Article 1054—Cities, Towns, and Villages—

* * * The action of said Board at said meeting shall be final, and shall not be subject to revision by said board or by any other tribunal.

The state apportionment was based on a scholastic census of 1406 with an allotment of $16.00 per capita for 1933-34 and for 1934-35 the census showed 1497 and the per capita allotment was $16.50. The following table reflects the items more clearly:

1932-33 Apportionment—

Scholastic census, 1294. Per capita apportionment, $16.00.

Total apportionment, 1294 times $16.00 equals $20,704.00.

Paid to August 31, 1933:

To Cisco Independent School district, $13,587.00; to county administration, $647.00.

Total paid to August 31, 1933, $14,234.00.

Balance due school district, August 31, 1933, $6,470.00.

1933-34 Apportionments—

Scholastic census, 1406. Per capita apportionment $16.00; total apportionment, 1,406 times $16.00 equals $22,496.00, less paid to county administration, $703.00.

Balance due Cisco Independent school district, $21,793.00.

1934-35 Apportionment—

Scholastic census, 1497. Per capita apportionment, $16.50; total apportionment, 1,497 times $16.50 equals $24,700.50, less paid to county administration, $658.68.

Balance due Cisco Independent School district, $24,041.82. Total due district from state apportionments, $52,304.82.

Paid as follows: During the fiscal year ended August 31, 1934, $25,451.00; during the fiscal year ended August 31, 1935, $26,853.82; total received from state apportionment, $52,304.82.

Disbursements

Disbursements are shown in extended detail in the schedules included herein. Comparisons by funds and consolidated by years have been included. Due to the fact that the books of the district are kept on a cash receipts and disbursements basis which is followed strictly in the reports, some distortion as between the years will be apparent, but, in the main, the comparisons reflect the true basis of operations.

All disbursements were found to be fully supported by payrolls, bills, etc. Disbursements from banked funds was by check, properly signed, indorsed, and cancelled. The schedules above referred to are in sufficient detail to render extended comment superfluous.

Bonded Indebtedness

During this period it became necessary to refinance the bonded indebtedness of the district in the amount of $320,000.00, principal, plus $27,700.00 unpaid interest. The details of bonds refunded as well as of the refunding issues are shown in the schedule included in this report, captioned "Refunding Bond Issues."

WRONG SIZE DIAPERS

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Dec. 19. (P)—One pilot learned there are more than one size of diapers, after buying hundreds of miles to deliver them. Another was somewhat baffled by a telegraphed order from a man in the interior.

"bring wife shoes, she's kind of big on foot." Star Air Service officials pointed out today some of the difficulties they meet doing "shopping by a irplane" for Alaskans living in the far interior.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Let all those that seek thee rejoice and be glad in thee; and let such as love thy salvation say continually, let God be magnified. Thou art my help and my deliverer.—Ps. 70:4, 5.

Heaven disapproves that care, though wise in show, That with superfluous burdens loads the day, And, when God smiles a cheerful hour, refrains. —MILTON.

It really is the little things in life that mean so much. The little things that do not require money to possess them. Little things which we can give and give, and the source is always replenished. It is the little words, the little deeds, the little looks, also the little thoughts that prove the foundation of big things.—Comiskey.

Carrying It Too Far

THE proposal for a Will Rogers memorial fund game between the Texas Interscholastic league champion football team and the best team in Oklahoma is being prosed. The ideal behind the proposal is worthy enough to gain it considerable support. It is said that the coaches of the four Texas teams still in the race for the championship are in favor of it. No doubt such a contest would raise an appreciable sum for the cause. It is probable, however, that its sponsors would be disappointed in the amount.

POSTSEASON classics like the Rose Bowl and the Sugar Bowl have sufficient of what we might call "dignity," lacking a better word of description, to command the respect essential to their not being over-exploited. They are, in short, goals of sportsmanship endeavor which represent proper rewards for clean and superlative playing. But the prac-

...tice of carrying the high school game beyond the normal limits of a season into such a spectacle as the post-season clash between the Texas and Oklahoma champions is concerned seems to be going a bit too far for boys of the age and experience who would be involved. It seems to us that the high school game should be kept to reasonable season and territorial limits where it may be developed in proportionate relation to the remainder of the school curriculum. Taking it beyond this relationship into the realm of a great regional competition is simply placing it entirely out of proportion with the aim of the high school game. There is, after all, such a thing as "commercializing" high school sports in the sense that these sports are overemphasized for town publicity benefits. The business men who are attempting to promote this game have permitted their enthusiasm for a winning team and its direct benefits to their community and their businesses to lead them beyond a proper appreciation for the ideals of the game and its relationship to the schools and the development of the boys. It is time to call a halt on such a tendency, we think.

Putting on the Brakes

WITH the public debt already half of what certain bankers were said privately to have assured President Roosevelt the country could stand without damage to its financial strength or credit there is evidence that the administration, planning next year's budget, is putting on the brakes. Incidentally, some bankers are publicly wondering who assured the president that such a huge public debt could be safely carried. The government's program of public spending as a means of recovery has had its disadvantages as well as its advantages. It has a strong tendency to get beyond the bounds of administration program through encouraging demands for wild spending from other quarters. The Townsend plan, for instance, threatens to give Washington a great deal of trouble. Advocates of the plan are encouraged to present their demands by the huge spending projects of the government and the credence given to the spending idea by the administration's "prime the pump" process has gained a great number of converts. Similarly the demands of other theorists gain a support that is embarrassing. It is hard to keep a fire within bounds. The administration frankly started out on a spending program. It promised to keep this within certain bounds and to apply the brakes at a certain time. Even if the program were fully successful, it would have difficulty in doing this. It is going to be mighty hard to steer away from printing press money, particularly since the government is known to have reserves ample to support a much greater issue of currency than exists. But Roosevelt seems determined to keep his course, and his stand against the bonus is evidence that he has the strength to stand firm despite the difficult implications of his own program.

Pour Wine Into Danube, Solon Advise

BUDAPEST, Dec. 19. (AP)—Stephan Goergey, Member of parliament, discussing the situation of Hungarian wine growers, suggested that half of the country's annual wine production be thrown into the Danube.

Goergey said the overproduction of wine on account of ever increasing trade restrictions preventing its exportation, has reduced the price to about 2 cents a quart. If half of the wine were destroyed, he argued, the remaining half could be sold at home for from 6 to 8 cents a quart.

SIGNS MEXICAN PACT MEXICO, D. F., Dec. 19. (AP)—Mexico and El Salvador have signed a commercial treaty intended to increase trade between them. It contains a "most favored nation" clause.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON — Administration leaders, anxious for a "short and snappy" session of congress beginning on January 3, privately eye with some apprehension reported plans of proponents of the Townsend old-age pension plan for the immediate future.

Edward F. Trefz, one of the Townsend organizers, has served notice that Washington may expect thousands of members of the Townsend national legion, an inner organization of the movement, to converge on congress.

"Marches" are nothing new to the national capital. Since 1894 when "Coxey's Army" set the style, so-called pressure groups have employed this method to impress congress with their demands.

Ku Klux Klansmen have marched down Pennsylvania avenue in their day. Khaki-clad ex-soldiers tirelessly picketed the offices of senators and representatives in their ill-fated bonus march. More recently hundreds of farmers invaded the capital to pledge anew their faith in the present administration and particularly in the AAA.

The Townsends, however, present a different sort of a problem. Flushed with their recent victory in the Michigan third district congressional primaries where their candidate won the republican nomination for a seat in the house over four opponents, Townsend leaders are boasting openly of their strength in the coming congress.

They claim between 40 and 50 congressmen now are in sympathy with their cause and predict a Townsend bloc of around 100 will vote for OARP, Ltd. (Old Age Revolving Pensions) on a show-down. Politicians have awakened to potentialities of the movement.

Republicans more than the democrats are feeling the pressure from the Townsends.

Bolton's Offer

An illustration of the reason for the uneasiness among politicians is seen in the case of Chester C. Bolton, chairman of the republican congressional campaign committee.

Bolton, a member of the house appropriations committee and a conservative in fiscal affairs, has offered to cooperate with proponents of the Townsend plan in putting old age pension legislation in proper form. He made his offer in an address before a meeting of Townsends.

Townsend organizers claim they are adding 1,000 members a day to their clubs in Bolton's home city of Cleveland.

Bomb Explodes Near Jap General's House

TIENTSIN, Dec. 19. (AP)—A bomb exploded Tuesday in a vacant house next to the residence of General Tada, commander of the Japanese troops in a North China garrison, killing one person.

The explosion occurred in the home of Kwei-Tang, pro-Japanese bandit leader. The Japanese concession district was thrown into almost a panic.

NEW POOL IS OPENED

Texas Central Oil Co. et al No. 1, Dawson & Conway, opened a new pool for northwest Shackelford with completion of a 25 barrel pumper from the Hodges-Engel sand at 1300 to 1306 feet in southeast corner of southwest quarter of southeast quarter section 162, E. T. Ry. Originally intended as a Cook sand test for 1700 feet the well penetrated a good oil sand, which has appeared in commercial amounts only in one other area of Shackelford county on the J. A. Matthews ranch four miles north of Albany and ten miles east of the new discovery, which is a new sand entirely for western Shackelford. The new well is only a quarter miles from the J. H. Nail ranch where Humble Oil & Refining Co. holds a large block of recently acquired leases.

F. Craig Morton No. 1, W. P. Newell is drilling at 200 feet in a new spot due southwest of the Cook pool and Newell pool of Dean Bros., in southeast corner of southwest quarter section No. 114, E. T. Ry. with adjoining leases held by Dean Bros. of Ft. Worth, Capitan Oil Corp. of Ardmore, Oklahoma, Cortez Oil Company of Tulsa, Oklahoma. This test will probably go to the Hope sand below 1600 feet, but is seeking Cook sand production at 1400 feet on a strike trend from two Cook sand pools, on a large block of leases held by Mid-Kansas Oil & Gas Co. following discovery of the Cook pool two miles northeast.

Root-Rhodes Oil Co. No. 2, W. P. Newell, is drilling at 1100 feet on a new test in center of section 12, block 12, T. & P., a half mile northwest of the old Hope pool of Roeser & Pendleton on the Davis-Newell.

R. F. Gilman No. 5, H. Herron, was a failure at 973 feet in northwest of southwest quarter of section 10, block 11, T. & P. passing up good show of oil and gas in Tannehill sand 897 to 908 feet.

R. F. Gilman No. 1, Lula L. Smith, is preparing to spud a new test in southwest corner of north quarter of section 16, block 11, T. & P., east of the Jeter pool and near a small well abandoned by Barnsdall Oil Corp. seven years ago.

Kittery Oil Co. No. 4, Annie Eaheart, is preparing to spud a new test in southeast of survey 18, block 11, T. & P., just west of Albany, an offset to Poly Oil Co. No. 9, Florence and Delia Spears which was completed several weeks ago as a nice producer in the Bluff Creek sand, after having been plugged as a dry hole through the shallower Tannehill sand formation early in the year.

J. L. McMurray heirs et al No. 2, Dawson & Conway, has improved since completion last week and is pumping 51 barrels daily on test from Bluff Creek sand at 1600 feet, making a nice extension for northeast side of the Bluff Creek pool.

Roeser & Pendleton, Inc.-Humble Oil & Refining Co. No. 3, J. P. Morris, is rigging up for a new test in northwest corner of section 191, E. T. Ry. on the southeast side of Bluff Creek pool, a new outside test and the first to be drilled in that direction in two years, although no dry holes have appeared.

Roeser & Pendleton, Inc.-Humble Oil & Refining Co. No. 3, J. P. Morris, was completed as a 12 barrel pumper in northeast corner of section 205, E. T. Ry. south offset to Livingstone & Wellman No. 2, A. J. Swenson, in Bluff Creek sand at 1600 feet.

Ray & Stanforth No. 3, J. P. Vickers, is drilling at 700 feet in northeast corner of southeast quarter of northwest quarter of section 207, E. T. Ry., following completion of same operators No. 2 for an initial of 200 barrels daily from Bluff Creek sand at 1600 feet. The Ray & Stanforth north extension on the Vickers farm gives the Mims pool new discovery this year of Charter Oil & Gas Co.-R. F. Gilman, an area more than three-fourths mile long in western Shackelford and is proving one of the best finds of the year in Chackelford county's shallow sands.

Livingstone & Wellman No. 1A, J. P. Morris, is a new northwest extension test for the Bluff Creek pool, drilling at 1100 feet in southeast corner of southwest quarter of section 199, E. T. Ry.

W. R. Loggie No. 3, Ghio Estate is spudding a new shallow test in center of north 80 acres T. E. & L. survey 397.

NEW DEEP LIME VENTURE

ALBANY, Dec. 19.—Whisenant & Richardson et al No. 1, W. A. Carter has completed a standard rig near center of section 70, Lunatic Asylum lands, 7 miles southeast of Albany near the M. K. T. railroad station of Sedwick, Texas, and will drill to 4,000 feet, according to contract made with the landowners in the vicinity. This is the first deep lime venture for the area within ten years and more, since Kellogg Drilling Co. No. 1, Jno. F. Sedwick two miles northeast sprayed oil and gas from the 3600 foot lime more than ten years ago.

More than 20 years ago the Moran field of southeast Shackelford gained considerable production from the Strawn or Moran sand at 2,000 feet, but most of the tests were not drilled to the lime formations at 3600, 3800 and 4100 feet, where showings of oil were encountered in other tests drilled to the deeper horizons.

A. H. Woodfin is blocking leases in the vicinity of Moran for a new deep test three miles west of the Lone Star Gas Co. pool on the Elliott ranch where there was a 4,000 barrel completion in the 3900 foot lime four years ago. Some lands in the territory have been leased many times during the past 20 years.

LOCATION FOR DEEP TEST

ALBANY, Dec. 19.—Location has been made by Roeser & Pendleton, Inc. and Merry Brothers and Perrini for a deep test on the T. E. Moore Estate about seven miles east of Albany. The exact location is 535 feet from the north line, and 330 feet from the east line of section 25, block 8, T. P. survey. The operators plan to carry the well to a total depth of approximately 4,400 feet, hoping to encounter the lime which produced in the Pitzer & West, DeLafosse No. 1, situated a little less than three miles northeast of the location. The DeLafosse well produced for a short time from a lime which was believed to be Ellenberger, but it was junked after the casing was parted by a charge of nitroglycerine that exploded far up in the hole. The nearest production is about 1-2 mile east in the old Milham pool which was developed several years ago. Production was obtained in this pool from a sand around 2100 feet and from a lime around 4350 feet.

A standard rig is being moved to the location and the well will be spudded as soon as possible.

THREE WELLS NEAR COMPLETION

GORMAN, Dec. 19.—With three wells near the completion point interest is strong in the local oil fields. Each of the wells are in a different section of the field and can mean quite a lot to either further development or the stopping of work here. East of town the well of Hoffman and Page is near to the point where acid will be put in. On the west of town two other wells about three or more miles apart are also down to the point where it will soon be known what to expect in that section. They are the Slone well of Maurot et al and the Case and Martin well on Hampton place.

Each of them are due to be drilled in within a week.

On the Payne tract, Brewer et al. are now down to 1,500 feet and drilling rapidly.

The three producers east of town are holding up nicely and they are making about as much as they did at first.

Many Books For Children Listed By Santa Claus

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
Here are a few suggestions from Santa Claus, of bright, gay books for the wee ones—books that not only have plenty of pictures, but text that is easy to absorb.

"Here Comes Peter," by Verna Hills, illustrated by Eleanora Madson, tells of the life that surrounded Peter, leading up to his fifth birthday. If adults look at it from the point of view of what they would have loved at the age of four or five, they may give it a place under the Christmas tree. It is perfect of its kind.

"There Was Tammie!" by Dorothy and Marguerite Bryan, has to do with a Scottish terrier and how happy it will make children to see him proudly looking at us over the back of the rumble seat on his way to the picnic.

"The I-Spy Alphabet," by Wilma Hickson and Archie Harradine, makes a guessing game of the alphabet—showing the letter and an illustration and telling the young letter-seeker how many words beginning with the letter are to be found on each page.

"Bobo Dee," by Lionel Reid, illustrated by R. Denison, has to do with a little boy who had a magnificent imagination, and how he even did a bit of wise imagining when he met a real lion.

Squirrel Story
"Three For An Acorn," by Margaret and Mary Baker, is a squirrel story as gay and alert as the whisk of a squirrel's tail.

Other picture books for little children are: "Bear Twins," by Inez Hogan; "Every Day Children," by Hildegard Woodward; "I Know A Surprise," by Dorothy Walter

American Venus

Miss Mardee Hoff (above), selected from 2,600 models as the "girl with the most beautiful figure in America," accepted the challenge of Rosemary Andre, English dancer and British beauty winner, to match her physical perfection. (Associated Press photo).

Baruch, illustrated by George and Doris Hauman; "The Susanna Winkle Book," by Dorothy-Mason Pierce; and even a book about a baby by Lois Kenski, called "Little Baby Ann." It is quaintly lithographed and, were it not for the motor car, might have been published in our grandparents' day.

For older boys and girls mention must be made of "The Book of Prehistoric Animals," by Raymond L. Ditmars, illustrated by Helene Carter, seriously, scientifically and interestingly presented.

GERMANS STUDY ABROAD
BERLIN, Dec. 19 (AP)—Under exchange arrangements with other countries, 2,500 Germans studied abroad in 1935, compared to 1,500 in 1934. The largest contingent, 666, went to England. The United States attracted 114.

County's Quota of Resettlement Clients Increased

EASTLAND, Dec. 19. — Eastland county's quota of 60 rehabilitation clients this year will be increased to 200 by Jan. 1, George I. Lane, county supervisor of the Resettlement administration, announced Saturday. Enrollment of the new clients will begin at once.

The increased quota will offer farmers receiving the aid an opportunity of working back to independence, Lane stated.

Long-time farm plans will be worked out as rapidly as possible, but in the meanwhile, direct grants for subsistence will be made. All families accepted for either the permanent or the temporary program must be approved by the county advisory committee.

The supervisor expects to continue working out farm plans with the object of getting all families started on a permanent program early in the new crop season. Making the loan is merely the beginning of the supervisor's job. He must see that the client grows his living at home and cans enough food to carry him through the winter—an average of 125 quart cans of food for each member of the family. Cash crops are permitted only after enough land has been set aside for food and feed.

The families will be required to make their own arrangements for renting land, after which loans will be made by resettlement.

The Texas Agricultural association, represented by 1600 farmers from two hundred counties, at its meeting in Dallas recently, commended the Resettlement Administration and called upon Oklahoma farmers to join them in pushing through the Bankhead-Jones farm tenant bill, which would make an adequate sum available for purchase of farms and equipment for worthy tenants, without a down payment. Until some legislation is passed, the Resettlement Administration is confining its efforts in most cases to loans for teams, equipment and supplies. These loans draw five per cent interest and are repayable in one to five years.

Two Forgery Charges Filed Against Man

Two charges of forgery have been filed in justice court here, against Louis M. Weed in connection with two checks, one drawn on W. B. Starr for $5.25 and cashed at Mayhew Brothers, and another drawn on R. A. Adams, Dothan, for $18.25 and cashed at J. C. Penney Co. here. Weed has been lodged in jail at Eastland to await action of the grand jury on the complaints. He was arrested here Sunday.

SCOUTS ARE SUMMONED IN ETEX PROBE

AUSTIN, Dec. 19. (AP) — Estimates of 15 to 20 thousand barrels daily of "hot oil" production during November were made as an east Texas delegation sought larger allowances before the Texas Railroad commission Monday.

J. F. Hudnall, petroleum engineer of Tyler, said that information from pipe line scouts indicated those figures. Hudnall gave names and subpoenas were issued on Chairman Thompson's order. He named Charles Bradley, Tyler, Texas company scout, and Scouting Services, assertedly published by Howard Mathews, Longview, and G. E. Wimberly of Kilgore.

Thorough Survey of Tax Records in Texas Is Begun

AUSTIN, Dec. 19.—A thorough survey of tax records in Texas which will eventually result in the collection of thousands of dollars from properties now escaping taxation has been started in twenty districts covering the entire state, R. B. Anderson, state tax commissioner, has announced. Financed by $2,644,000 in Works Progress administration funds and sponsored by the state tax board, the survey which is getting into motion now will provide employment for 4,184 persons from relief rolls of Texas, Anderson predicted.

Drawn up subject to the approval of the Texas legislature, the project was approved and appreciation was expressed for it in concurrent vote of both houses on October 28.

"This work is expected to increase the revenue of the state thousands of dollars annually," Anderson declared. "Much land now escaping taxation should be made available for assessment by the revision of county tax records. Fair evaluation of lands for taxation and avoidance of duplicate taxation should be realized also," he said.

These three major aims, the discovery of land now escaping taxation, the elimination of duplicate assessments, and the classification of lands with reference to their productivity in order to establish a basis of fair evaluation for tax purpose, have been set by the project sponsors.

District supervisors have been appointed tentatively in each of the twenty Texas WPA districts by commissioner Anderson. These supervisors have taken charge of the work and will be subject to the approval of district WPA directors after a two-weeks trial. As sponsor of the project the State Tax Board will control all supervisory personnel and all persons engaged in supervisory work will be appointed by this board subject to the approval of WPA district directors.

English Mayors Find Their Posts Expensive

LONDON, Dec. 19. (AP)—Sir Percy Vincent, newly-elected lord mayor of London, receives more than $50,000 a year, twice the salary of a British prime minister, but it has been calculated that he will have to spend as much more from his own pocket. And in every city in England the mayor, when his term of office ends next November, will look ruefully at his bank balance and discover (as previous mayors have all discovered) that the official allowance never is nearly enough to cover his expenses.

In fact, many mayors complain that the gold chain of their office is the only gold with which they come into contact during twelve ruinous months as first citizen.

"You have to be pretty fit to face all the tasks that fall on an English mayor," said George Henry Bull, mayor of Islington (one of London's largest boroughs with a population of 321,712) as he handed over the mayoral chain to his successor with a sigh of relief.

"It is a terrible strain mentally, physically—and financially. Perhaps your hardest task during the year will be to evade too much eating and drinking."

On Loaning Money . . .

This Is the BANK that SERVICE Is Building

Modern Safety Deposit Service

Banks like to loan money. That statement may seem strange, considering the proverbial delight of a banker in saying "No." However, it is true—banks like to loan money, for it is mainly from the interest received on loans that the bank is enabled to pay salaries to the personnel, and to give the stock-holder a fair return on his investment.

However, since the bank's primary obligation is to the depositor—to safeguard his funds—the bank can make loans only to those who will unquestionably be able to repay when the loan is due. Such a policy is only good common sense and fairness. It is the only way to properly safeguard the depositor—to have his money ready when he wants it—and it is the only way that the bank can have a constant source of funds available for other business enterprises.

A sound loan policy is the best possible indication of a good bank, for only through sound loans can the banker fulfill his obligations to the depositors, to borrowers and to the stockholders.

What about TEMPERATURE?

Any sudden change in temperature as you go from a warm room into a cold one disturbs the heat regulating apparatus of the body and makes it susceptible to cold germ attacks.

Protect your family against becoming overheated or chilled. Give them the benefit of healthful, pure, warmed air throughout the house. If you are not keeping a comfortable and even temperature in every room don't go through the winter without this health protection.

If your home is inadequately heated . . . if you "huddle" in one or two rooms, sudden temperature changes are unavoidable. Your family goes from a heated room into a cold hall or adjoining room. Then, shivering and chilled, they return to the heated room. This happens many times a day, and each time they have unnecessarily subjected themselves to conditions that make them susceptible to highly communicable diseases. America's Public Health Enemy Number One, the common cold germ, finds a fertile field in inadequately heated and poorly ventilated homes.

Keep comfortable temperatures and adequate ventilation throughout your home. You will find that it will add to your happiness as well as assist you to protect your health and that of your loved ones.

. . . Community Natural Gas Co.

Don't gamble with a "cold"! Consult your family doctor before it has an opportunity to undermine your health. Tune in each Thursday night at 6:30, WFAA-WBAP, for helpful information from a leading physician that will assist you to guard against the common cold germ.
