FIRST COUNTY PWA PROJECTS OKEHED

About Our Friends

By STEPHEN A. LONG

Saltillo... ancient capital city of Texas while joined to a Mexican state, is one of the big cities of Old Mexico... 5,500 feet above sea level... beautiful mountains towering above a lovely valley... famed for fruits, peaches, plums, pecans, walnuts, etc... educational center... center of cotton, wheat and shoe manufacturing... many ancient buildings... located near scenes of many battles of U. S. Mexican war.

Monterrey, nearest important border town, very modern and beginning of mountain plateau that leads by means of the most beautiful scenery in the world to the incomparable valley of Mexico City, 7,500 feet above the sea... Railroad begins its mountain climb... sometimes three locomotives needed to pull the fine Fort Worth Special, with its two air-conditioned diners, observation car and fine pullmans.

Clouds hover below mountain tops... stone walls running for miles, straight as an arrow over mountain and valleys... can't see how the natives were able to climb and stand while they laid these stones... marking the boundaries of the ancient hacienda, or farm home, of the rich owner, who was an emperor of his vast estate... These ranches have been broken up in many instances, by the government which is trying to redistribute the wealth of those land kings... trying to bring education and comfortable living conditions to its vast number of peons, little higher in the scale than brutes.

Corn is the universal crop... without his corn, the native would be lost... just like the early pioneer of America who lived on his buffalo... Every kind of food contains corn, pounded by the women into some kind of meal.

Maguay, grown by every householder for the purpose of furnishing him his liquor... as thick as mesquite or post oak in this country... The pulp is extracted from the leaves and these in turn filled with sweetened water to make their whiskey... pumped into the leaves.

Sugar cane plentiful, from which much rum is made... so plentiful that drunkenness occurs only on the border near Texas... Natives

STOCK SHOW WILL BE PART OF 1935 FAIR

Special to Daily News
EASTLAND, Aug. 2 — Termed by a committee, Rev. Chas. W. Estes "a climax to anyone's fair" a livestock show in conjunction with the Eastland County Fair this year was decided on by members of the event's committee in session Thursday at the Eastland Chamber of Commerce offices.

Dates of the fair are Sept. 25-28. The show will be an exhibit of four divisions in the Jersey group and four in the beef cattle, it was indicated. Also to be exhibited are sheep, goats, horses, and mules. Premiums will be offered in the cattle group. The show will not be confined to registered stock, except in the beef cattle division, committee members stated.

The show will be staged with surplus funds from last year's fair. The Eastland group voted to financially provide for the regular rabbit show of the county club. The cattle will be exhibited in the old Coca Cola building in Eastland, if negotiations mature with H. C. Davis and Walter Jarrett, company official at Abilene.

Members of the group reporting at the commerce building and voting for the livestock show were L. A. Hightower, Carl Johnson, C. J. Rhodes, Rev. Charles W. Estes, T. E. Richardson all of Eastland.

New FERA Setup For Texas Is Announced

38 DISTRICTS WILL HANDLE STATE RELIEF

By United Press
AUSTIN, Aug. 2 — District relief directors who will take over administration of direct relief formerly handled by 253 county administrators were named today by state relief headquarters.

Under the arrangement there will be 38 districts. They are so arranged that there will be a director in each place where there is a works administration office. The arrangement is to facilitate cooperation. Other headquarters are scattered:

Included in the headquarters and directors are:
Mineral Wells, J. H. Garrett.
Cleburne, Loys Session.
Sweetwater, R. F. Formway.
A director for El Paso has not been chosen because the former administrator there has gone to the works division and his successor has not been chosen.

Counties grouped in various districts are:
Palo Pinto, Parker, Jack, Clay, Johnson, Ellis, Hill, Somerville, Hood, Erath.
Taylor, Callahan, Eastland, Stephens, Shackelford, Jones.
Nolan, Coke, Sterling, Mitchell, Scurry, Kemp, and Fisher.

Ellsworth Mayer Is Given WPA Job

Special to Daily News
EASTLAND, Aug. 2 — Second of two Eastland County Relief Board employees promoted to jobs with the Works Progress Administration came Thursday when it was announced Ellsworth Mayer of Eastland, certifying officer, has been appointed a district auditor.

Mayers has been employed in the Eastland county office for over one year. Thursday he was in attendance at a training school for WPA employees at Austin. It was not known what district he will work. First of the promotions was announced recently when R. F. Boston, county works manager, was made district field supervisor for WPA with headquarters at Big Spring.

Victim of Freight Is Hill County Boy

By United Press
GREENVILLE, Aug. 2 — The body of the white youth who apparently was knocked from a freight train passing under a bridge last Saturday near here was identified today by an uncle as Odell Meek, 18, of Hill county.

W. T. Meek of Sherman, identified the boy, saying the victim was the son of a Hill county farmer. A witness said he saw a man trying to pull a woman to the top of a freight train as it approached the bridge. Later the body was found but the woman disappeared.

U. S. May Take Hand In Seaman Strike

By United Press
HOUSTON, Aug. 2 — Federal authorities, it was believed today, may intercede in the seamen's strike at Port Houston as a result of a fight aboard a tanker yesterday. Another fight occurred last night, in which an engineer was beaten severely.

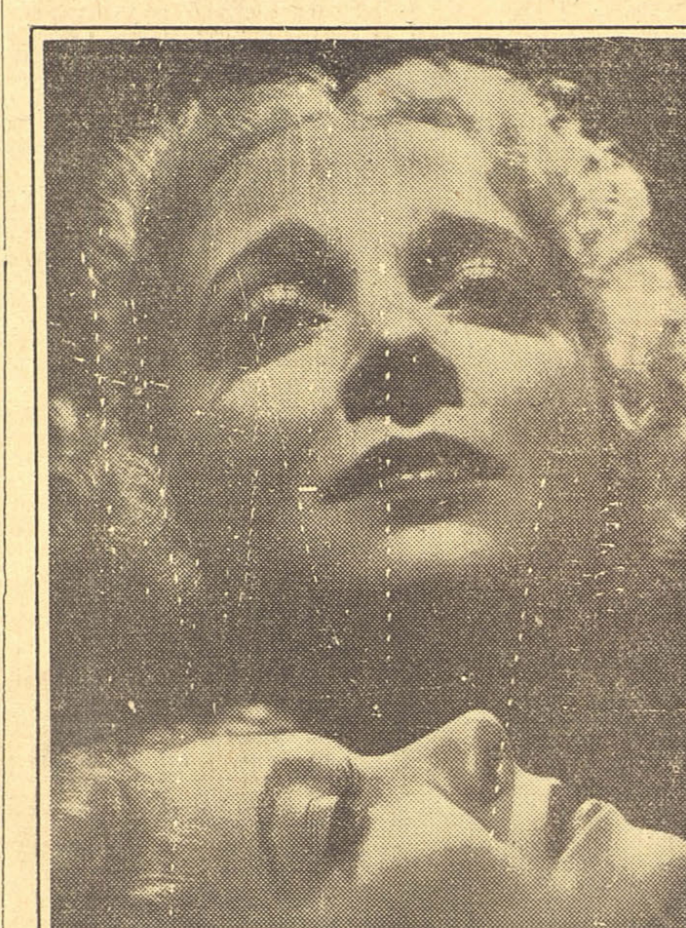

Because U. S. Customs Inspector F. J. Birkenfeld was aboard the tanker yesterday when 64 members of the International Seamen's union boarded it, federal authorities may take a hand. Birkenfeld said the strikers disregarded his orders not to come aboard.

POWERFUL FARM GROUPS THREATEN TO 'WRECK' INDUSTRIAL TARIFFS

By United Press
COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 2 — Representatives of some of the most powerful farm organizations of the southwest threatened today to average court attacks on the AAA processing tax by "wrecking" the protecting tariff on industrial products.

The action took almost the form of a declaration of legal civil war.

Virginia Registers Deep Affection

Registering ineffable tenderness, her thoughts perhaps soaring to air castles of greater film popularity, dazzling Virginia Bruce, in this unusual studio portrait, displays the blond beauty and emotional facility that have already won her an army of devotees. A leading feminine role in a new, elaborate musical is just another of the stepping stones over which Virginia is wending her way toward greater screen laurels.

'Mystery Bottle' Thrown Into Lobby Probe By Reunion of Texas Friends

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 — An impromptu reunion of members of the Patton family and some friends from Texas sought to clear up the congressional lobby investigation's mystery box muddle today and, incidentally, added a mystery bottle to the picture.

Youthful Norris Shook, a good looking Texan, drew into the record his story the box which his uncle, Representative Pat Patton, democrat, Texas, received from a utility man the day before the Wheeler-Rayburn utility bill vote "contained only cigars, because I took a handful."

A witness had suspected the box held something else. Bonnie Patton, 17-year-old daughter of the representative, told the same story and, with some pride, added that she met Dick Powell, movie star, on a trip to Annapolis on June 30 when she went there with her family the day before the utility vote.

It was fiery Representative Thomas L. Blanton, democrat, Texas, who brought in the mystery bottle after investigators determined that a hotel clerk had given Blanton a small parcel, left in the room of E. V. Sellers, NRA employe, when witnesses suspected the Patton box contained something other than cigars.

"It was a bottle of kerosene oil," Blanton testified. "The chair does not pretend to be dry," remarked Chairman John O'Connor, democrat, New York.

Patton took the stand to reiterate that he had bought only $3,000 in federal government bonds and to support his previous statement that he had salary and funds totaling more than $500 a month between January and June, aside from the purchase.

Lineups for tonight's game have been announced as follows: Miller: Leach, 3; Lauderdale, ss; Sanders, l.f.; Smith, c; Littleton, s. f.; King, c. f.; Dyer, 1; Boyd, 2; Miller, r. f.; Grantam, p; Anderson, Elkins, Wagnon, substitutes.

LaRoque: Holder, c; Leveridge, p; LaRoque, 1; Giles, 2; Yates, 3; Huffmyer, s. f.; Elliott, s. s.; Little, r. f.; Parish, c. f.; McCaren, l. f.; Huestis, Lee, Nance, Anderson, substitutes.

Tomorrow night the Nance club will meet the Stamford V-3 Speedsters, an all-star team, it was announced today. Following the game the Nance club will be hosts to the Stamford team and families at a watermelon cutting.

Prince Alexis Dies When Auto Crashes

By United Press
BARCELONA, Spain, Aug. 2 — The shattered body of Alexis, 21-year-old, happy, charming Georgian prince whose success story centered around his marriages to wealthy American women, lay today in the beautiful seaside villa of his sister. Alexis was killed last night in an automobile accident in which a woman companion was seriously injured.

SUSPECT HELD IN MUTILATION OF PROFESSOR

BULLETIN
CHICAGO, Aug. 2 — State attorneys announced today that Mandeville Zenge, 26, has been "positively identified" by two witnesses as the man seen fleeing from the scene of the mutilation murder of Dr. Walter Bauer.

CHICAGO, Aug. 2 — Mandeville Zenge, 26-year-old jilted suitor of a pretty nurse, was seized here today in connection with the brutal mutilation murder of Dr. Walter Bauer. He denied any knowledge of the crime.

The slim, brown haired farm youth from Canton, Mo., was seized in a raid on a taxicab barn in the western part of the city at 3:30 a. m. but news of his arrest was withheld while investigators questioned him.

"I didn't have anything to do with it," he sobbed burying his face in his hands as he sat in the center of a group of questioners. Mrs. Louise Bauer, 23, hospital nurse of Kirksville, Mo., who married Dr. Bauer 3 weeks ago, after breaking off a 7 year "understanding" with Zenge, had insisted that her rejected suitor "just couldn't have committed the crime."

Bauer, 38-year-old chemistry professor and post graduate student at the University of Michigan was kidnaped in Ann Arbor Tuesday night and brought to Chicago where the barbaric operation was performed by his captor.

"Why would I do anything to the doctor. I loved Louise more than anything in the world and I wanted her to be happy with him."

Fleet of 'Enemy' Destroyed by Ray

By United Press
HIGHLANDS, N. J., Aug. 2 — An "enemy" war fleet racing under cover of darkness toward New York City, was destroyed today by a single battery of coast artillery directed by the army's new mystery ray.

Forty-eight of 51 attacking ships were disabled or sunk. One of the "three which escaped was believed damaged."

The engagement was almost entirely imaginary but it proved to high officers of the Washington general staff and war college that safety of the American coast from sea and air attacks had been enhanced by one of the most important war inventions since the World war.

The mystery ray that played the principal part in the battle is a secret of the U. S. army.

German-American Relations Normal

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 — United States-German relations returned to their normal condition today, with this country looking coldly across the Atlantic at the national policy pursued by the Hitler Nazi regime.

Officials here believed the reply dispatched by Acting Secretary of State William Phillips last night to the German protest over the recent riot aboard the liner Bremen in New York harbor, in which the German swastika banner was torn from its staff, would close the incident.

ENCAMPMENT DISCUSSED AT FFA MEETING

The FFA encampment next week was the principal topic of discussion when the part-time chapter of the Lutheran school met last night at the school. J. M. Bird, sponsor of the chapter, led the discussion. Betterment of the members' grain sorghum through cutting out bad heads also was discussed.

Those present at the meeting last night were Alvin Wende, Avery Holt, Herbert Wende, Edwin Wende, Alvin Schor, Ernest Reich, Martin Reich, Clarence Stroebel, Charlie Parks, Roger Shockley, Fred Wende, Adolf Stroebel, Willie Wende, Carl Stroebel, Albert Schor, Ben Wende.

Quins' New Nurse

Just as pleased with her new nurse as with her Sunday finery, Marie Dionne seems the picture of content, perched on the lap of attractive Eva Gagne. A young brunet, Miss Gagne is "subbing" for Nurse

Yvonne Leroux, on vacation for the first time since the quins were born, 15 months ago. Nurse Gagne is Ontario-born, was trained in the Ottawa General Hospital, and is very fond of the quins—as who isn't?

Hot Oil Probe Recesses; Committee To Investigate Sending of Telegram

AUSTIN, Aug. 2 — Hearings of the Texas house of representatives committee to investigate hot oil today had recessed indefinitely. For three days the committee heard testimony of the state railroad commissioners and their explanations of incidents the committee discovered at previous sessions. Another meeting about September 1 was indicated.

Meantime, the committee and other agencies will seek to find out who is responsible for a fake telegram on which 127,231 barrels of oil was released for shipment in East Texas without approval of the tender board.

The message had been pasted on a sending blank so that it covered the line which distinguishes a sending and receiving blank. It was addressed to H. A. Miles, chief of the East Texas commission office, and typewritten on it was the name of Lon Smith and Earnest Thompson. Thompson's first name is spelled Ernest, with no "a".

Committee men admitted they knew the telegram was a fake but said it indicated a lack of coordination when such a large amount of oil could be released in such a manner.

BRITAIN AND FRANCE FORM UNITED FRONT

By United Press
GENEVA, Aug. 2 — Premier Pierre Laval of France told a secret meeting of the League of Nations council tonight that France and Britain had formed a united front to break a deadlock which has developed in their efforts to settle the dispute between Italy and Ethiopia.

The council prepared for a night session to approve a compromise on which four nations were believed nearing an agreement.

ITALY TO CALL OUT MORE TROOPS

ROME, Aug. 2 — The government will issue an order tomorrow for the mobilization of four new army divisions for service in Ethiopia, it was learned today.

CLAIMS FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND PRESS CHALLENGED BY CITATION

By United Press
ANGLETON, Aug. 2 — Free speech and freedom of the press was questioned by contempt proceedings against six Houston newspapermen, John Crooker, defense attorney told District Judge M. S. Munson, at the hearing on the cases today.

The newspapermen were cited for contempt Monday because they published reports of the murder trial of Clyde Thompson, Retrieve prison farm convict, after Judge Munson ordered them not to do so.

The right of free speech and freedom of the press was of far more importance than any inconvenience of the court arising from publication of news by a newspaper, Crooker said as arguments began.

CISCO'S POOL DRAINAGE JOB AMONG GROUP

Special to Daily News
EASTLAND, Aug. 2 — Examination of 11th works progress administration project proposals aggregating $86,074.68 began at district National Reemployment Service offices in Abilene today.

Announcement was made by County Administrator H. E. Driscoll after notification from officials at Abilene this morning.

The projects, secured after the countywide meeting held in Eastland July 8 are the initial WPA project proposals from this county. If approved at Abilene, the projects will be sent to San Antonio, state WPA headquarters, for the final approval.

The projects are:
Eastland streets, $24,871.90.
Desdemona streets, $2,230.
Olden school, $475.
Countywide sanitation, $8,646.
Ranger Junior college dormitories, $3,803.35.
Lateral road in precinct four, $24,489.90.
Lateral road project in same precinct, $2,834.60.
Road from Gorman to Desdemona, $3,519.
Okra school, $2,119.
Cisco swimming pool drainage and beautification, $4,828.13.
Eastland swimming pool, $8,327.05.

PROJECT TO AID IN DRAINAGE OF POOL

Cisco's WPA drainage project includes cleaning out the creek just below the swimming pool. A rock bottom will be constructed and land on each side will be terraced.

Land on either side of the swimming pool will also be beautified and all underbrush will be eliminated.

The project will facilitate drainage and aid in beautifying the park just below the pool.

UNITED AFTER HALF CENTURY SEPARATION

FORT WORTH, Aug. 2 — Reunited after 50 years of separation, Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Arnold are enjoying the romance of a second honeymoon.

Strange was the fate that guided their destinies. Childhood sweethearts on neighboring ranches in Burnett county they were five and seven when Indians raided the settlement one day and carried away Little Annie.

However, one day while visiting an Indian tribe L. V. found his sweetheart and bargained with the chief for her return.

They were married at 15 and 17. One day a quarrel separated them and after a few brief communications they heard from each other. Each married again and raised families.

Arld, who is night police at the stockyards here, once wrote a little book about his lost sweetheart which he called "Queen Bee and L. V." Queen Bee was the name the Indian chief had given the little girl.

The other day in a San Angelo hospital Mrs. Annie V. Leinweber underwent an operation.

Her friend Mrs. Allie Rhymes visited her. They talked of Mrs. Annie's childhood.

"They called you Queen Bee?" "It was Mrs. Rhymes time to be startled. She had read "Queen Bee and L. V." because she was the author's niece.

She told the story to the woman who suffered on the hospital bed. The sick woman wept. That night she wrote a letter.

The other day she and L. V. were remarried in San Angelo.

WATER SPEEDER FINED

BARNSTABLE, Mass. — Andrew Crosby was fined $25 for speeding in a speed boat. Crosby was going so fast that the wash from his boat upset a rowboat and its occupants had to swim 200 yards to save their lives.

WEATHER

West Texas — Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday probably showers extreme west portion, slightly cooler panhandle tonight.
East Texas — Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday.

Relocation of Highway 80

Yesterday came the announcement that the relocation of Federal Highway 80 through Cisco had been approved and work of surveying for the right of way would begin immediately.

The announcement came after more than a year of untiring effort on the part of far-seeing Ciscoans who believed that one day the highway would be straightened to permit greater safety and that it must either take a path directly through the city or go around it entirely. Naturally the path through the city was sought as the one which would benefit Cisco the more, since much of the future of the city lies in its highways. The highway department, finding that there was no particular advantage in going around the city, approved the Eighth street location.

Here's what the new road means. It means that heavy Highway 80 traffic will be moved off D avenue. The sharp turns on the highway in the city will be eliminated. Eighth street and the connecting links between it and the present road will be paved, at outside expense except for the right of way, which must be furnished by the city and the county. A new concrete overpass will be built at the Eighth street Katy crossing. Work will be provided for many men—useful work.

One of the points overlooked to a great extent in the road relocation is the fact that a modern concrete and steel overpass will replace the present wooden viaduct over the Katy tracks. This will be one of the most important phases of the work as far as the city is concerned. It means a great deal to everyone to bring his visitors in through the front door, and cities are no exception. The new concrete structure in the place of the present eyesore, which is not wide enough to permit more than two cars on it at one time, will add a great deal to the appearance of the city. At the same time it will give East Cisco something it has not had before, a connecting link with the rest of the town which it can be proud of. It will aid in making the east side of town a better place to live in.

The pavement, too, will be a great asset to the city. Besides the fact that it is a highway, Eighth street will always be a street. Of course the work itself will be beneficial, and the route will be better and safer than the old one.

For more than a year J. E. Spencer and the Chamber of Commerce have worked to secure a relocation of the highway. They are to be congratulated upon their work as shown in their service to the city.

It's Japan's Turn

The annual grand maneuvers of the Japanese navy are under way now, and the fleet is going through strategic exercises somewhere in the northwest Pacific in the vicinity of the Kurile islands.

A few weeks ago the United States performed its exercises in the Pacific, and the pacifists screamed to high heaven.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—If a certain bipartisan group of determined senators can be counted on to go through with their private assurances, this heated session of Congress will feature an outstanding battle for "war insurance."

Members of the Senate Munitions Committee, with a unanimity seldom found in such a congressional group, are getting set to tack their neutrality bills onto the big tax measure if they can't get the program reported out by an apparently hostile Foreign Relations Committee.

Similar action, is likely on their bill to tax the profits out of war, now buried with the Finance Committee.

Various other groups—conspicuously the inflationists—intend to urge pet plans as riders to the tax bill when it reaches the Senate floor. If Senator Borah had known about the Munitions Committee plan, he might have predicted adjournment in December instead of November.

The neutrality program, introduced in three resolutions by Senators Nye and Clark, would prohibit loans or credits to warring nations, restrict trips by Americans into war zones, prohibit export of munitions to belligerents, and cause all shipments of commodities to belligerents to be made at the buyers' risk.

State, War, and Navy departments—and even the White House—seem to be cold to these measures at this session. Hence their bottled-up status in committee.

THE House of Morgan has one of the most efficient cross-filing and indexing systems in the world. The Munitions Committee investigators, who have been searching the Morgan files for evidence showing how we got into the last war to protect American loans and exports to the Allies, have found occasion for great glee in that.

Original fear that important documents might have been mysteriously mislaid before or after arrival of the investigators has diminished considerably. Through a numerical and alphabetical code, it appears, practically every paper is linked up with other papers and it would be very difficult to hold anything out.

PRIVATE letters received by this writer indicate the extent to which everyone over there is thinking in terms of war. One hears:

Nothing but war talk in Germany—of the most acute and apprehensive and hell-quivering sort, with most of the German people in a "white heat of fear." . . . Common belief in England that Italy will have a bad time in Ethiopia, whereupon Germany will walk into Austria and all hands probably will be drawn in. . . . England re-establishing sphere of influence in Greece since marriage of Princess Marina to the Duke of Kent and probably backing restoration of the Greek monarchy as well as increased armaments in a nation strategically important when Italy invades Ethiopia. . . . German ships, under naval agreement with Britain, to be largely of the shallow draft type which could operate in the Gulf of Finland and bombard Leningrad. . . . Of a "silent air plane" finally developed by Germany to a point where it can balk aerial sound detectors.

Making Confetti for the Next War Celebration

about it. Now the Japanese fleet is doing just what our own fleet did—and just as no one in the United States is in the least worried by this Japanese action, it seems fair to assume that the action of our own fleet caused no worry on the other side of the Pacific.

As a matter of fact, a good deal of fuss was made over nothing. Our fleet practiced the maneuvers it would use in case of war with Japan now the Japanese fleet is practicing the maneuvers it would use in case of a war with us—and who on either side of the water, has been harmed?

Misguided Conscience

The cables from Berlin bear some peculiar news, these days.

One dispatch the other day announced that some 500 small Jewish children in Berlin were told by social welfare workers that they could no longer go with other children of the poor to the public playgrounds this summer.

On the same day the notorious Jew-baiter, Julius Streicher, announced that "the conscience of the German people must be awakened to realization of the existence of the Jewish problem."

That the conscience of any people which vents an insane race prejudice on some hundreds of small slum children is sadly in need of awakening, goes without saying. But that the awakening needs to be along the lines suggested by Streicher is open to considerable doubt.

Operator To Drill Well Near Gorman

SPECIAL TO DAILY NEWS
EASTLAND, Aug. 2 — Interest in the Gorman section for producing wells was increased at Eastland this week when application was filed to drill five miles southwest of that community.

A. Straughan of Mertzson filed application with the Railroad Commission to drill No. 1 W. C. Hamilton, section 22, DDA-A survey. Operator intends to drill to 2,800 feet.

Last week a well of Kirk and Davison's gauged on test production of 120 barrels per day.

To Hear Opinion Of Eastland Dam

EASTLAND, Aug. 2 — An engineer's opinion on the feasibility of the proposed Mangum dam will be heard after a scheduled inspection Thursday by one from the firm of Joseph Ward, Wichita Falls. H. C. Davis, Eastland Chamber of Commerce secretary, announced.

To be reported to the Chamber of Commerce will be possibilities for a lake and irrigation of the surrounding section.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

Did you ever stop to think
EDSON R. WAITE
Lawyer Okla.

Oklahoma City — Air conditioning is more than cooling the air. It washes the air, removing all particles of dust and regulates humidity.

This was brought forcibly to my attention this evening. I arrived here just before the dinner hour. It was hot and dusty. After cleaning up, I went into the air cooled coffee shop of the Biltmore Hotel. What a change on a hot day and how one can enjoy a meal in a cool place!

After dinner I strolled around the business section of Oklahoma City with my friend, James E. Barrett, managing director of the Biltmore Hotel.

Oklahoma City is fast becoming a city of skyscrapers. The Biltmore, 26 stories; the Ramsey Tower building, 32 stories; the First National bank building, 38 stories, and high ones in every direction.

In most of the downtown sections here they have a new parking system and charge a fee to park. Meters are installed on the curb and upon parking the motorist drops a nickel in a nearby meter. A little flag is raised on the indicator and remains up for the allotted time. It's something new, but Oklahoma City, I am told, is first in almost everything.

Oil derricks in the city limits — lots of them. Oklahoma City each year is growing more important in a business way, with its splendid transportation facilities is fast becoming the manufacturing and jobbing center for the great southwest.

SUN-TAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JO DARIEN, finishing her first year in college, learns her father is out of work. Jo hunts a job and secures part time work in a marine supply store. There she meets wealthy, handsome DOUGLAS MARSH who offers her the job of hostess at his inn at Crest Lake. Jo accepts. This causes a quarrel with BETTIE PAUL, to whom she is engaged. Jo breaks the engagement.
She goes to Crest Lake. Her duties are pleasant, but Marsh's eccentric mother takes a dislike to the girl. BABS MONTGOMERY, a school acquaintance who is jealous of Jo's popularity, comes to the inn. PETER FRAGONET, film actor, and his wife are also guests.
Fragonet pays Jo a narked attention, tells her he loves her and begs her to marry him as soon as he can secure a divorce. He goes to Hollywood, promising to return soon.
Bettie Paul comes to Crest Lake as the life guard.
Marsh takes Jo to dinner at the Lone Tree Tavern. During the drive he kisses her.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIII
HE released her and leaned back against the wheel, searching Jo's face as if he were really seeing it for the first time. Then, just as deliberately but infinitely tender now, his lips touched hers again.
"Jo drew away, laughing shakily. "You mustn't make this too important," she told him.
Looking straight into her eyes, Marsh did not answer her laugh, and in a sudden rough gesture, he turned his attention to the car again, starting it down the long hill road which terminated at the Lone Tree Tavern.
"It was much more important than I dreamed," he said seriously, his eyes on the road.
"And if I'd known it would have such a sobering effect on you," Jo told him, "I'd never have permitted it."
He turned to her slowly, smiling in spite of himself. "We shouldn't have done that, Jo."
"We?" exclaimed Jo in mock concern. "It was entirely your idea."
"You're right. And I'm sorry."
"And if you're sorry, I'm insulted," Jo said.
"Insulted?"
Jo nodded, her eyes twinkling with amusement. "Of course. Isn't it insulting for a man to kiss a girl and then say that he's sorry he did it?"
He did not answer until they were abreast of the Lone Tree Tavern. But when he had stopped the car before the rustic dining place, he turned to Jo and said, "Somehow I lost my sense of humor with that kiss, Jo. It's—it's a bad sign when a man loses his sense of humor with a girl. I don't want to be like Fragonet, and yet—" He stopped. "You're a damned dangerous young woman, Jo Darien. I think you don't realize yourself how dangerous you are. Perhaps that's what led to the Fragonet business. I'm afraid that if some man doesn't tie you down very soon you're likely to be in trouble a great deal."
SOMETHING warned Jo not to meet him on this serious and insecure ground, and she asked lightly, "Is that why you gave Bettie Paul a job at Crest Lake? Was it because you thought he might tie me down and keep me out of trouble?"
She was amused at his annoyance. "Well . . . I'll have to admit that I was influenced by what Babs told me. She said you and young Paul were in love and had this."

planned the summer together. But, damn it, Jo—somehow I don't fancy myself in the role of Dan Cupid now."
"No . . . you hardly look the part."
Marsh's annoyance gave way in a sudden burst of laughter. "Perhaps it's because I'm such a rotten archer, and disapprove of nudism!"
Jo joined his laughter, relieved that they were in safe channels again. She wondered if she could have saved herself all the trouble with Fragonet had she refused to take him seriously. She glanced at the ivy-covered Lone Tree Tavern. "I've a hunch the food is good here," she said.
Marsh jumped from the roadster and assisted Jo to the ground. "It is," he told her. "Much better than at Crest Lake Inn!"
The owners of the isolated tavern were a rotund pair, man and wife for all of 30 years, who had built the huge structure because this wood was where they wanted to spend their declining years. The meals they served to travelers and hunters, and the occasional rooms they rented, were only incidental to their lives—but nevertheless they were born host and hostess.
They greeted Jo and Marsh effusively and directed them to a huge hearth fire while dinner was prepared.
"We don't order here," Marsh told Jo. "It'll be either chicken or steak—and I promise you that it'll be good, whichever it is."
Jo sank into a chair before the roaring flames. "I hope it's chicken . . ."

IT was, but that was not all. There were creamy mashed potatoes, the tenderest of new peas. There was a plate of hot biscuits which Mrs. Bowen kept heaped—and a bowl of honey. There was a huge pitcher of cold milk, and, as old man Bowen said, there was "more where that came from." When Jo and Marsh had literally stuffed themselves with fried chicken and the "fixings" Mrs. Bowen brought in coffee with great square crackers and plain unpretentious American cheese.
"Oh . . . Jo exclaimed, "I don't know when I've so enjoyed food. Mrs. Bowen, it was all beyond words."
Marsh laughed. "Mrs. Bowen has heard that so often she doesn't even blush with pleasure any more."
"That may be, Douglas Marsh," the old lady told him. "I ain't blushed now for 20 years or so, being married and all—but that don't mean I don't like to hear compliments on my cooking." She turned to Jo. "And when you get married—as you certainly will, being as pretty as you are—you'll want to hear compliments on your cooking, too."
Having delivered herself of this statement, Mrs. Bowen returned her attention to Marsh long enough to warn, "And that's something you want to remember, Douglas Marsh!"
When she had gone, Marsh grinned at Jo. "I've never been here with a girl before, so Mamma Bowen naturally takes it for granted that you're the future Mrs. Marsh."
Still embarrassed by the old lady's assurance, Jo laughed. "Well, I'm complimented to be the first girl you've treated to food like young Paul were in love and had this."

"Mamma Bowen is certainly a character. I want her to see the motion picture company when it comes to Crest Lake. She's quite a movie fan. They drive to a little town about 20 miles from here to see the movies. I brought Fragonet down here once and you should have seen the meal she cooked for him—enough for 10 men!" Marsh stopped suddenly. "I—I didn't mean to mention him again today, Jo."
"I don't mind, really. I'm curious myself about what they're going to film at Crest Lake," Jo said.
"Well, all I know about it is that it's the story of a forest ranger—of course that's Fragonet—and he falls in love with the daughter of a rich timber owner. Silas Drann is directing it. He's very good at these big outdoor pictures. Gets wonderful effects."
"Will there be quite a company come from Hollywood?"
"PROBABLY not," Marsh guessed. "You see, they'll do a lot of the 'shooting' right on the Atlas lot in Hollywood. At Crest Lake they'll take just the outdoor scenes, and maybe Drann will have some footage taken for atmosphere to work into the picture later on."
"Well," Jo laughed, "we ought to be able to count on having the daughter and her timber-owning father, anyhow!"
"Surely. And don't forget there'll probably be a villain, and maybe a good-for-nothing woman who's after the hero. Drann will probably bring along more cameramen and sound technicians than actors and actresses. There'll be some excitement, all right—and of course we'll have to honor them with a party before they return to Hollywood."
"Isn't it strange that Silas Drann would decide to come to Crest Lake for location scenes when he hasn't the slightest idea what it's like?" Jo wanted to know.
"Oh, Fragonet sent some pictures, and insisted it was just the place. Atlas lets him have his way in a lot of things, you know. He's a big box-office attraction and all the studios are anxious to grab him the moment his contract with Atlas is completed."
Jo nodded, slowly, beginning to understand more and more why Fragonet should want his way so insistently, and be so utterly certain that he would be successful. They talked longer than they realized, until Jo suddenly glanced at her wrist and exclaimed, "Good Heavens! We should be getting back . . ."

Marsh leaned indolently against the back of his chair and nodded. "Perhaps we should," he said regretfully.
In the car he helped her into his leather jacket, and Jo settled low in the cushions to avoid the chill night air that rushed past the windshield and over their heads.
"This has been fun," she murmured. "I'm . . . sort of sleepy . . . after all that food and warmth."
"Well," said Douglas Marsh, "I've a perfectly good shoulder which could be transformed into a pillow simply by having you put your head against it."
"I can't believe that," said Jo. "Sounds like black magic."
"There's only one way to see if it's true."
Jo tried that way . . . and before they had traversed another quarter mile she was asleep.

JUSTICE THROUGH SORCERY FAILS; COMMUNISTIC SOLOMON IS OUSTED

ARTEMOVSK, U. S. S. R., Aug. 2 — Even Solomon's methods of judgment sometimes go awry, as the director of the dining-room of a hotel factory can testify.

It will be recalled that Solomon, asked to decide to which of two claiming mothers a child belonged proposed to cut it in half and give each a portion. The real mother dissented in terror, and received the child.

The Artemovsk director's problem was vastly different but he employed the same psychology, drawing on Eastern sorcery.

A dining-room waitress said her money had been stolen by a fellow employe. The director ordered all workers, one by one, to pass through a dark room in which was a soot-dipped cat. Each was instructed to pat the animal, while secretly an attendant was placed at the exit to examine the hands of all. The guilty person, so the director thought, would be afraid to touch the cat and his clean hands would signify his guilt.

Most of the workers, disgusted with what they considered sheer foolishness, passed through the room without touching the cat. Moreover they complained to higher officials about the incident.

Not only did the sorcery-steeped director fail to catch his thief. He also was expelled from the Communist party.

Murder Trials May Come To Eastland

EASTLAND, Aug. 2 — Expression of likelihood of trial of two Hood county farmers in Eastland county was made this week as District Judge Sam M. Russell of Stephenville convened a grand jury at Granbury to investigate the slaying of Thomas Holmes, 19, Hill City store operator, last May 12.

Max Cash, 21, and Bird Tracy, 27, have been charged with the offense and have made statements. County Attorney J. B. Dykes of Hood county is quoted.

W. D. R. Owen of Eastland, acting criminal district attorney in the absence of his brother who is on a vacation, stated Thursday that Judge Russell has been informed that every cooperative action will be taken by Eastland county officials. Russell was informed that the cases could be taken care of around Sept. 1, Owens stated.

Anti-Nazi Disorder Raises International Issue

The Anti-Nazi rioting that attended the sailing of the S. S. Bremen from New York, when a group of alleged Communists ripped the Nazi swastika banner from the mast of the great liner, threatened to develop international complications as the German press demanded satisfaction. The difficulty of keeping the crowd in check is evident in the above action picture, which shows how the police were outnumbered during a disorder in connection with the Bremen incident.

WHISKY REVIVES BIRD MOBILE, Ala. — A sparrow fell to the earth in front of Al Zerlin's store, overcome by the heat. Berlin mixed a few drops of whisky with a few drops of water, poured them down the open beak. The bird popped off his hand and flew away thoroughly refreshed.

AIDS DAIRY INDUSTRY OTTAWA, Ont. — The Canadian government will spend $1,000,000 this year in an effort to stabilize the dairy industry. The money will be used to support the cheese market until prices reach the level of butter prices and are above world prices now received by Canadian cheese producers.

HOTEL KEY RETURNED HANFORD, Cal. — After an absence of more than 20 years, an old key bearing a leather tag from the famous Esrey Hotel has been returned. Meanwhile the old landmark was destroyed by fire and a modern hostelry built on the site.

SETS SAFETY RECORD WEBB CITY, Mo. — Guy Lofton is claimant of the title for the truck driver who has driven the farthest without a single accident. He has traveled 345,000 miles in 19 years without a single accident. He has no ding or bumper touching.

KERR COUNTY GIRL WINNER OF 4-H PRIZE

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 1 — Laura Oehler, 16-year old 4-H club girl from Kerr county, was awarded first place in the state-wide 4-H bedroom improvement contest conducted by the Texas Extension Service at banquet Tuesday evening honoring the bedroom contestants. Grace Gossett, 14-year old girl from Wharton county, was second, and Mahala Bell Rutherford, Young county, was third in the contest.

More than 650 farm girls entered the contest as bedroom demonstrators this year, representing 83 counties. Besides these bedroom demonstrators, more than 11,000 4-H girls throughout the state acted as bedroom cooperators.

At the banquet, which was a feature of the twenty-sixth annual farmers short course being held this week at Texas A. & M. College, Mrs. Bernice Clayton, extension specialist in home improvement and the state judge, said, "There is a noticeable difference in the general improvement of farm homes where 4-H club girls acted as bedroom demonstrators. Through sacrifice and hard work, these 4-H club girls raised money for their rooms. Some planted gardens and sold their vegetables. Others sold canned goods from their pantries, some picked cotton, or raised poultry. One girl picked wild blackberries and sold them. Last year a 4-H club girl boarded puppies to raise money to furnish her rooms."

On Texas Farms

Trench silos are getting filed this year in Texas. Corn, red top cane, seeded ribbon cane, hegari, kafir, milo, and a few more such crops are going into them.

E. R. Eudaly, Extension dairyman, says these crops had better be ripe because if they are cut to green the silage will contain a surplus of acid and as a result scour the cattle if fed liberally.

He says that the leaves on the upper half of the stalk should be green—but the ripier the crop the greater the feed value of the silage.

A trench silo six feet wide at the top, four feet wide at the bottom, five feet deep and 100 feet long will hold 30 tons of silage. That makes three tons per cow for a ten cow herd. Eudaly says three tons is just about what a dairy cow needs.

But that isn't all. Each cow should be supplied with one ton of hay and one of feed per year. He says cannily, "Remember, the more roughage the cow will consume, the less of grain mixture will be required. Hay and silage are cheaper than corn and cottonseed meal."

On a recent trip to the Gulf coast territory spreading the gospel of trench silos or "canning the cow's winter food supply", Eudaly found that Refugio county had only one trench silo. Since he spoke there two months ago, 100 silos have been dug and filled.

Collection Box Is Urged for Misers

BOSTON, Aug. 1 — A collection box that nobody could ignore is suggested by Dr. H. Augustine Smith of the Boston University School of Music in the plea for funds to support the open-air concerts of the Boston Symphony Orchestra ensemble.

Under Dr. Smith's novel plan, a dollar bill dropped into the box would produce no sound, a quarter would ring a bell, a nickel would blow a whistle, and if someone passed by without contributing the box would fire a blank cartridge and take the unfortunate's picture for future reference.

Spanking Ordered For Theft of Auto

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 1 — Judge Frank E. Neuzette thinks there is nothing better than an old-fashioned spanking for young lawbreakers.

So he summarily proceeded to deal out such a sentence when Theodore Enliche, 18, pleaded guilty to stealing an automobile to take his girl for a ride.

The youth's father complied with the decision and in the proverbial woodshed, too.

FINDS GOLD IN AIR
OTTAWA, Ont. — The Canadian government is staging a "gold hunt" in its own "back yard" and expects to find 1,000 ounces every year. Recently the Royal Mint discovered that gases were carrying away approximately $35,000 worth of gold dust yearly, and a machine was installed to wash the gases.

SISTER MARY'S RECIPES

BY MARY E. DAGUE
Written for NEA Service

When a little girl I used to go to great-Aunt Nancy's for "tea" and the most memorable occasions were those on which she served thinly sliced breast of chicken with gooseberries. Her watermelon pickle, too, clear and crisply tender and spicy, always lasted like more. I vowed then that when I grew up and kept house I, too, would have spiced gooseberries and watermelon pickle. These are the recipes she passed on to me.

Great-Aunt Nancy's Spiced Gooseberries

Three parts slightly under-ripe gooseberries, 4 pounds sugar, 2 cups cider vinegar, 1 tablespoon cinnamon, 2 teaspoons cloves, 2 teaspoons allspice.

Wash berries. Snip off the tiny prickly end and the bit of stem with a pair of small scissors, taking care not to cut or break the skin. Cover with sugar and let stand in a warm place for an hour. Bring slowly to the boiling point and boil half an hour. Add vinegar and spices and cook until thick. Pour into sterilized glasses and cover with paraffin.

Gooseberry Jam

This is very good with crackers and cream cheese for a last course. Wash, top and tail slightly under-ripe gooseberries. Weigh and put into preserving kettle with just enough water to barely cover bottom of kettle. Allow three pounds of sugar to four pounds of fruit. When fruit begins to boil begin to count the time and boil five minutes. Add half the sugar and remove from the fire until the sugar is dissolved. Return to heat and bring to the boiling point and boil

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: California grapes, cereal, cream, waffles, honey, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Macaroni salad, graham rolls, fresh gooseberry jam, cantaloupe stuffed with peaches and pears, milk, tea.

DINNER: Broiled ham, potatoes au gratin, spinach with lemon butter, endive salad, baked gooseberry pudding, milk, coffee.

For immediate use, there's a gooseberry pudding that is delicious. Of course, the famous gooseberry fool is a marvelous dessert for July dinners, but I know I've given that recipe before.

Baked Gooseberry Pudding

This is a splendid dessert to use with a fish dinner particularly, although I'm sure you'll like it almost any time.

Three cups gooseberries, 1 cup bread crumbs, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 eggs. Wash, top and tail berries. Cook until tender in a double-boiler. Rub through a sieve. Add bread crumbs, butter and sugar to pulp and mix well. Beat yolks of eggs until thick and lemon colored and add to mixture. Fold in whites of eggs beaten until stiff. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake forty-five minutes in a pan of hot water in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.). Serve warm with sugar and cream.

USE FINGER PRINTS
SANTIAGO, Chile — Two novel uses for finger prints have been introduced. In future all shady characters entering pawnshops with what may be stolen goods will be required to leave their finger prints in a special register to be kept for the purpose.

PLANT BUDS AT NIGHT

BERNE, Ind. — An unusual plant is growing in the garden of Mrs.

Edna Stauffer. The plant has no blooms during the day, but around 7 o'clock every evening numerous buds open and yellow flowers appear. All the blooms are wilted by 11 o'clock the next day.

LUCK, ALL BAD

MOBILE, Ala. — Ollie Broadus had a horse and wagon. Both were hit by a car, and the horse was killed. He bought another horse. A motorist hit his wagon, scared the horse and it ran away. He bought a car. It collided with another, and Broadus paid damages.

BOYS BURN UP ROAD
CARTERSVILLE, Ill. — Small boys with matches, not motorcars, burned up a new road to the Cartersville cemetery. Workmen laying an asphalt and naptha preparation on the road saw their work going up in smoke while a group of boys admired their own handiwork.

Hitler Only Ruler Who Gets No Salary

BERLIN, Aug. 2 — The German Reich's Fuehrer and Chancellor, Adolf Hitler, probably is the only head of state in the world who does not receive any salary.

His chancellor's salary of 24,000 marks a year ($9,600) is being turned over to a special trust fund, and his presidential salary of 60,000 marks a year, ($24,000), upon his order, is being withheld by the treasury.

The Reich pays Hitler merely the president's "entertainment fund" of 120,000 marks a year ($48,000). This fund is destined to cover the expenses of the receptions of foreign diplomats and other official functions.

Hitler, of course, is able to forego his salary because he earns a large personal income as author of the best-seller "My Struggle" and as co-proprietor of the Nazi party's publishing company.

How large this income is has never been disclosed. Many people in and outside Germany wondered whether it was large enough to enable Hitler to make a gift of 100,000 marks ($40,000) to the families of the victims of the recent explosion at Reinsdorf.

Politics In Barber Shop Is 'Real Thing'

CHEYBOYGAN, Mich., Aug. 2 — "Barber shop politics" is the "real thing" in this city. Residents can be shaved on a Saturday night by a probate judge, register a deed with the man who used to rub tonic on their scalp, or seek advice about the barbers' itch from an alderman. Probate Judge A. T. McClintic was the owner of a barber shop for 36 years before he entered politics. He is serving his second term, but still works in the shop on busy Saturday nights. Register of Deeds Leonard J. McDonald and Alderman Robert Duncan are former barbers, now holding elective positions. Patronize Our Advertisers.

548-MILE HIKE KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — L. E. Vaughn, 83, lost his blacksmith shop at Huntington, W. Va., in a fire. When he arrived in Knoxville he had walked 548 miles in 20 days, going to his only other home, a farm near Chattanooga. Use Daily News want ads for results. Phone 80.

New Star Twinkles

Today's Cinderella: 18-year-old Doris Webster (above). A manager of one of New York's swankiest night clubs had only to listen to her sing for a few minutes on an amateur bill before he engaged her as a featured entertainer. Hitherto unknown, she already is being offered stage and screen contracts.

Poultry Shipments Still Unfavorable

AUSTIN, Aug. 2 — Poultry and egg shipments to interstate points during June continued the unfavorable year-to-year comparison which has been noted for many months, it was pointed out in the report of the University of Texas bureau of business research. "It is probable that this downward trend may be reversed in the not distant future when the prospective abundant and relatively cheap feed crop will seek an outlet through the development of animal enterprises including poultry production," the report said. "Interstate shipments of poultry and eggs during June totaled 70 carloads, composed of 33 cars of poultry and 37 cars of eggs, against 87 cars for the corresponding month last year, of which 51 cars were poultry and 36 cars were eggs. "Receipts of eggs from outside states amounted to 20 cars — 11 from Kansas, 2 from Missouri, 3 from Oklahoma, and 4 from Nebraska. In June last year a total of 28 cars were brought in from other states — 25 cars from Kansas, and 1 car each from Missouri, Nebraska, and Iowa."

STONE AX FOUND

CHEYENNE, Wyo. — A perfectly chiseled stone ax of the type used by Indians as weapons and for scraping hides was found by Jim Horiskey on a fishing trip recently. The relic was believed to have been used before the first white man crossed the continent. Daily News and American and Roundup want ads are a good investment.—Phone 80.
