TEXAN DERAILS; TWO ARE INJURED

Bill to Reorganize Judicial System Given to House

ABOLITION OF MANY COURTS IS PROPOSED

AUSTIN, Jan. 13. — House members of the 43rd legislature today decided to employ two attorneys for the first 30 days of their session to assist in drafting bills.

What the pay of members will be still was undecided. The senate, which had voted $8 a day, turned down a proposal from the house that senators get $8 and house members $10.

Ten dollars all around seems likely. Economy plans for state government began to take definite shape today when Rep. T. H. McGregor presented a proposal to abolish the 11 courts of appeals and the 125 district courts of the state, at the same time making the supreme court one of nine members and the court of criminal appeals one of five members. Now they have three members each, with commissions to assist them.

McGregor estimated the re-arrangement will cut court expense $1,700,000 a year. McGregor proposed also the repeal of the automobile headlight law. He declared non-enforcement makes it valueless and that it costs automobile owners $300,000 a year. Reduction of the state poll tax from $1.50 to $1 was another re-arrangement measure offered.

PILOT PLANS 50,000 MILE WORLD TRIP

By KENDALL OLDS
United Press Staff Correspondent
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 13. — A 50,000 mile trip around the world by air in 600 flying hours is the plan of Walter Kertz Beetle, Jr., aviator. Beetle, whose plane now is being built, plans to take off from Clear Lake, near here, on Feb. 12, that day being the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, whose body is entombed here. Beetle will call his plane "City of Springfield—Home of Abraham Lincoln."

Fifty-one countries will be visited by Beetle, who says he will fly the 600 hours in 90 days. He has figured he will travel 51,710 miles. Beetle, who is 27, has been flying since 1922. He has put in 700 flying hours and was formerly connected with the United States Department of Commerce and War Department as a plane tester.

His longest flight to date, he said, was from Battle Creek, Mich., to Flagstaff, Ariz., where he "cracked up" en route to Los Angeles, Cal. He was born in Haddon Heights, N. J. Beetle said he expected to make his first stop at Memphis, Tenn., a distance of 350 miles from Springfield. He expects to visit more than 200 cities.

After Memphis he will proceed to New Orleans, La., and Brownsville, Tex., in that order. The first country he will visit will be Mexico, where he will make a landing at Vera Cruz. He then plans to fly to Guatemala City, after which he will go to San Jose, Costa Rica.

Countries which he will visit are Panama, Columbia, Venezuela, the British and French Guineas, Africa, Spain, France, England, Russia, Poland, Germany, Netherlands, Greece, Bulgaria, India and Australia. He plans to return to Springfield by way of southwest. He expects to finance the trip through the sale of postal cards, which he will mail on his tour. He hopes to sell 1,200 of these cards for a dollar each.

Lone Star Officials Have Banquet Here

Twenty officials of the Lone Star Gas company banqueted at the Laguna hotel here last night, according to H. L. Dyer, manager of the company in Cisco. Among those present was C. L. Trevelt, of Dallas, general sales manager.

After the banquet the officials discussed business and problems of the company.

Parents Battle Over Baby Heir

Actress Blamed In Girl's Death

Dorothy Burgess, above, stage and screen actress, faces preliminary hearings soon on a charge of manslaughter arising from death in a San Francisco auto accident of Louise Manfredo. Miss Burgess refused to testify at the coroner's inquest, at which the above picture was made. The dead girl's parents have already sued Miss Burgess for $25,000.

SENATE GROUP TO TAKE FARM BILL MONDAY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. — The senate agriculture committee will meet Monday to map a course of action on the farm relief bill approved by the house, it was decided today.

Indications were the bill would be reported out quickly. The bill passed late yesterday by a vote of 203 to 152.

Chairman Marvin, of Texas, of the agriculture committee was given much credit for the victory. He held his forces firmly in line after one day of rebellion in which rice, peanuts and butterfat were added to hogs, wheat, cotton, and tobacco as products on which farmers would be given government bounties in return for restricting production.

The house designated the "fair" prices which farmers should receive during a period of beginning 30 days after enactment of the bill and up to the start of the 1933-34 crop marketing year.

These prices are: wheat, 55 cents a bushel; hogs, 5 cents a pound; cotton, 9 cents a pound; rice, 75 cents a bushel; peanuts, 3 cents a pound; butterfat, 26 cents a pound.

FARM MORATORIUM CAMPAIGN GAINS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 13.—A campaign by the nation's farm interests to halt tax sales and mortgage foreclosures appeared to be gaining momentum today.

At many farm meetings plans were announced to march on state legislatures in an effort to draw public opinion to the demands.

The Farmers Holiday association, of Nebraska, announced a farmers' march on the state capital February 15 and 16 to seek enactment of legislation for a moratorium on debts and mortgage foreclosures.

In Iowa more than 1,000 farmers approved a similar march. Congressman-elect Ernest W. Marland, of Oklahoma, former oil magnate, is one of the leading advocates in the southwest for a moratorium on farm mortgage foreclosures and tax sales. He warned that revision of money lending practices must come to save the nation from dire consequences.

LOBO BANQUET WILL COUNT AS CLUB MEETINGS

The banquet to be given the members of the 1932 Lobo football team by the Rotary and Lions clubs tonight next Thursday evening at the Laguna hotel will be counted by both clubs as their regular weekly meetings and no luncheon will be held by the Lions Wednesday noon or the Rotary club Thursday noon, it was announced.

The program is in charge of a joint committee from the two clubs, who announced that an out-of-town speaker will be obtained. A ticket committee will function under direction of Jack Anderson as chairman and an arrangement chairman has been named to take charge of banquet details.

"Sunbonnet Girl" to Be Given at Baird

The "Sunbonnet Girls" operetta given here Tuesday night by the high school choral and glee clubs, will be presented in Baird tonight, according to announcement by Supt. R. N. Cluck of the Cisco public schools.

The operetta is directed by Misses Ella Andres and Lucille Robinson, who are in charge of the choral and glee clubs, respectively. The Baird Lions club will sponsor the production tonight.

When the operetta was given in Cisco Supt. Cluck said the crowd that jammed the auditorium was the largest he had ever seen attend a high school program when an admission charge was asked. Miss Pauline Flaherty plays the title role, with Pierce Thomason taking the man's lead. Bobby Kilpatrick and Marion Waters furnish comedy throughout the production. Between 60 and 70 are in the cast.

Rules Solons--- And Also Sink

Just because she's been elected speaker of North Dakota's house, Mrs. Minnie D. Craig isn't going to give up her house-wifely duties. Right after her first session of gavel-banging she went home and washed the dishes.

RHYTHM BAND FEATURES LAST NIGHT PROGRAM

Featured by a rhythm band from the first and second grades of the West Ward school, which opened the program with the grand march from "Aida," the Cisco public schools presented a community program to a crowd that packed the high school auditorium last night.

The rhythm band, directed by one of the pupils, and under the supervision of Miss Addie Stevens, was uniformed in red and white trousers, capes, and caps. "This will mean a lot to those youngsters," said Supt. R. N. Cluck this morning. The rhythm band idea, new in Cisco, is being promoted in the best schools of the country.

The East Ward had planned a number but was forced to withdraw from the program on account of sickness.

Crigger Paschall, who has been leading in the American Legion drive for prompt payment of school taxes, made a talk asking for funds so that the schools may continue.

Other numbers on the program were a mock wedding by the grammar school; a December number by the fourth grade of West Ward, directed by Miss Lucille Sprull; a piano solo by Frank Yarger of the grammar school; numbers by the high school quartet; dance numbers by Miss Melba Ray, accompanied by Miss Virginia Lee Smith, of the high school; and a skit from "The Sunbonnet Girl."

The crowds seem to get bigger and bigger and bigger every time we have one of these programs," said Supt. Cluck. He says that the programs are given to create a better feeling between the school and the community, and to allow the pupils a chance for self expression.

BEER BILL IS REWRITTEN BY SENATE BODY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. — A senate judiciary sub-committee today rewrote the house beer bill and substituted for it an amendment of the Volstead act to legalize 3.05 per cent beer, ale, porter and wine.

The new alcoholic content approved by the senate group slightly reduces the standard of the 3.2 per cent fixed by the house in the Culler bill. It was explained that as the house bill was drawn it stated as a fact that 3.2 per cent beer was not intoxicating. Under such a law a court merely would be required to find to the contrary to make the law unconstitutional.

PROGRAM FOR SMOKER AT 7 IS PREPARED

A program featuring at least four amateur boxing bouts between Cisco and Eastland boys and an exhibition match between professionals, music by the American Legion Novelty orchestra and acrobatic dancing awaits the business men at the regular meeting of the Merchants Smoker on the roof garden of the Laguna hotel this evening.

The banquet preceding this program will begin at 7 o'clock and a capacity attendance is anticipated. A. D. Anderson will be toastmaster.

Don Burger is chairman of the committee which is arranging the program.

In appointing the program committee for the meeting J. A. Bearman, general chairman of the Smoker organization, directed that the program should exclude all but a minimum of business with no speeches and a preponderance of entertainment. The committee, Mr. Burger said, has attempted to carry out the spirit and letter of these instructions and he is confident that all those who attend will be treated to the best entertainment that has yet been offered at one of these meetings.

An out-of-town referee will be in the ring and judges will be selected to insure fair play.

Indications were this afternoon that a number of Eastland business men would be visitors to watch their boys mix it with the Cisco youngsters.

Loboes Meet Buck Five Here Tonight

Cisco's Big Dam Loboes will meet Coach Shotwell's Breckenridge Buckaroos in the Cisco gym tonight at 7:30. This will be the fourth Oil Belt game for the Loboes this season.

The Bucks will be handicapped in this game by the loss of Jimm Carrigan, veteran center, according to a story in the Breckenridge American yesterday. Carrigan has been suffering from an infected ankle and was reported by Leon Pace, Buckaroo manager, to be out of the game until next week.

The Loboes will enter the game as the under dogs tonight, but will present a stronger team than in any other game so far this season. The strong rivalry between the Cisco and Breckenridge teams of the past should be enough to make a scrapping pack of them when they take the hardwood against Shotwell's men.

PHILIPPINE BILL VETOED BY HOOVER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. — The house voted this afternoon to override the president's veto of the Philippine independence bill. The vote was 274 to 94.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. — President Hoover today vetoed the Philippine independence bill on the ground that it does not fulfill the United States' responsibility to the American people, the Filipinos, and the world at large.

The president's veto message expressed the view the United States must undertake further steps toward liberation of the islands "but they should be based upon a plebiscite to be taken 15 or 20 years hence."

The bill was the only major one passed at the present session of congress.

NEWS ORDINANCE ENACTED
LAS VEGAS, Nev., Jan. 13. — Rooming house operators here trod with care these days due to a recently enacted "rooming house" ordinance which holds the landlord equally guilty with women for happenings in the house.

Eyed by Japan

Col. John H. Jouett, a former U. S. Air Service flyer, has recently been revealed as in charge of the Chinese Aviation Institute at Hangchow. The Chinese air school, announced as a training ground for commercial flyers, was established shortly after the Shanghai battles of last year. Japanese papers have suggested that military flyers might emerge from this civilian training.

GERMANS SELL SOVIET TWELVE LLOYD SHIPS

BREMEN, Jan. 13.— During the last few weeks the North German Lloyd has sold to the Soviet government 12 vessels, totaling 50,000 tons. This transaction has aroused much comment in German shipping quarters.

First, there is the amount of tonnage involved in the transaction. Twelve vessels totaling 50,000 tons is equal to the entire property of a medium sized shipping company in this country. Second, the ships were sold by a private company to a government. Third, the whole transaction is in contradiction of the generally recognized principle that the precarious situation of shipping due to surplus tonnage can be remedied only by a methodical dismantling of craft.

On the other hand, the North German Lloyd has quite a number of reasons for the transaction. First of all, notwithstanding the generally acknowledged justification of the above considerations, they are chiefly theoretical. The Russians, for instance, it is pointed out, probably would have found some one else willing to sell them vessels if German companies had declined. It is known that the Soviet government, while negotiating with the North German Lloyd, also was negotiating with British shipping circles for the purchase of ships.

Another reason is that the sale helped to improve the company's financial conditions. The ships sold were idle, with little chance of re-employment in the near future. The price paid must be assumed to be above the actual book value of the ship.

According to a stipulation in the sales contract, the Soviet will employ the vessels exclusively in Black Sea shipping.

Cisco Man's Mother Dies In Tennessee

News has been received of the death on Jan. 11 of Mrs. H. R. Garrett, 63, of Kimberlin Heights, Tenn., mother of H. R. Garrett, an aunt of Mrs. E. Buford Isaacks, both of Cisco. Mrs. Garrett had been in poor health for a number of years, but the particulars of her death were not learned.

Mrs. Garrett is survived by her husband, who teaches in the Bible college at Kimberlin Heights, three sons, a daughter, and six grandchildren. H. R. Garrett, a son, is a teacher at Randolph college here, where he has coached the famous Randolph Klitten basketball team. Mrs. Isaacks is the wife of the dean of the college.

MANY BRUISED WHEN 7 CARS LEAVE RAILS

GLADEWATER, Jan. 13. — Two persons were injured seriously and between 25 and 30 others were bruised when the Texan, westbound Texas and Pacific railroad passenger train from St. Louis, derailed two miles west of here before dawn today.

The most seriously injured were: Mrs. Alexander H. Robinson, of St. Louis, Mo.; Harry Silverman, of New York City.

FIVE KILLED

KNOXVILLE, Iowa, Jan. 13. — Two passenger trains collided head-on and burst into flames on a trestle near here late last night. Five persons were killed and 28 injured.

The body of the fifth victim was taken from the burned wreckage today.

Gladeater physicians, nurses and ambulance crews were dispatched to the scene of the wreck, and aided the injured who were placed aboard another train to continue their trip westward.

Seven cars left the rails at an isolated point between two stations. Two of the coaches rolled over, the others resting on their sides.

Passengers escaped through car windows. The dining car struck the signal block as it careened off the rails, slicing off its end and stripping the car. The train crew removed the injured and carried them to the right-of-way where firemen were built to keep them warm.

COLD WAVE IS BLAMED

FORT WORTH, Jan. 13.—A sudden cold wave that caused a rail to crack was blamed today by Texas and Pacific railway officials here for derailment of the Texan near Gladeater.

A brief visit of winter early today brought freezing temperatures to Texas as far south as Austin and Del Rio. Amarillo reported 23 degrees for the lowest temperature in the state. El Paso and Abilene each had 30 degrees weather.

$32,000 RELIEF CHECK HANDED EASTLAND CO.

FORT WORTH, Jan. 13. — Eight of 40 counties scheduled to receive R. F. C. relief loans today from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce had entered their claims by noon.

Checks will be turned over to counties throughout the day. One-third of the $753,708 allotted West Texas will be given out today, according to Manager D. A. Bauden. The largest check given this morning was to J. E. Spencer of Eastland county, for $32,000.

Sale Of Altman's Grocery Announced

Sale of the Altman Grocery company to Gabbert and Scarborough was announced today. Clyde Gabbert, one of the new owners, said that his company bought the business Saturday but that the deal was not closed until today.

Both Gabbert and S. M. Scarborough have been living in Norton, where they have been in the grocery business.

Mr. and Mrs. Babbert have one son. They will make their home in Cisco at 507 West Sixth street. Scarborough's family will not move to Cisco for 30 or 40 days, Gabbert said. The Altmans will continue to operate the Altman Style Shop on D avenue, it is understood.

HE FOLLOWED THE FLAG OF THE COMMONER.

Forty-two years ago James Stephen Hogg was governor of Texas. He was the first native Texan governor. Rep. F. C. Weinert of the Guadalupe-Comal district was one of his lieutenants. Weinert is in harness today as a lawmaker. Speaking of education and the public school system, this grand old man who has served the people in many offices places this in the record of 1933: "There is no real argument against the raising of the scholastic age limit so as to exclude six-year-old children, which will entail unquestionably a great amount of savings. A six-year-old child is a good deal of a baby, and I don't think that people should be taxed for such purposes, especially under the conditions which now exist. We should take out both the overs and the unders." Same thinking is necessary in this period which calls for plain living and intelligent work.

HIGH SPOTS IN THE HAUNTS OF MEN.

Organization of the 43rd legislature has taken place. This is to be the most important legislative session held in the state capitol since the close of the war between the states. Democrats dominate the senate. That is, there are 31 senators and 31 democrats all classifying as followers of Jefferson. There are 150 representatives. According to the classification 148 are regular followers of Jefferson and two are independent or republican. Now get down to business and hit the grit. All the people, regardless of political affiliation, demand it. They expect it, and it is for the senators and representatives to hew to the line regardless of where the chips may fall.

It is known to all the correspondents and most of the lawmakers that the incoming governor, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, will call for a 25 per cent reduction in all departments of governments, all institutions of the state and all down the line, from the top rail to the under. Well, there has been a 50 per cent reduction in values of property; sweeping reductions or cuts in the salaries of all wage earners; lowest price levels for many years as to the staples from the ranch and the farm and the orchard and the garden. Why shouldn't there be a 25 per cent reduction in cost of government for the biennium? The way to face a crisis is to face it—to cut to the bone and to give all the people relief from the frightful load of taxation on high valuations. There is no other way out of it. There is only one way to retrench: That way is to retrench—regardless all along the line of the civil and social order.

Franklin D. Roosevelt will be inaugurated March 4. He will have behind him a democratic congress with sweeping majorities in both branches. Democratic members of the senate finance committee all agreed that no revenue measures should be enacted until after governmental economy legislation has been passed. This calls for a reduction or a saving of a billion dollars in the cost of federal government. Even with this reduction it will be necessary to tap sources that will yield $500,000,000 in new revenue and reducing governmental expenditures about the same amount. This is no time for log rolling in the nation or state. It is no time for fat pork barrels. It is no time for favoritism. Democrats swept the country last year. It was a revolt of the republican farmers west of the Allegheny mountains in all the states between the mountains and the Pacific ocean that returned the democratic party in power. In Iowa and all the important corn belt and wheat belt states these republican farmers who voted the democratic ticket are making their demands, and the leaders of the party of Jefferson will be wise to heed the united voice of the growers of things and to restore to the people a government of rigid economy as well as the simplicity of the days of the fathers—meaning the administra-

MENUS FOR THE ENTIRE FAMILY

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

WITH the "cold" season upon us, many mothers are wondering if it really matters what the small cold-sufferer eats.

As soon as a cold appears in a child, his temperature should be determined. This definitely informs the mother just how "hard" his cold is and she can choose his diet with the necessary care. Keep in mind that when the temperature is above normal, the diet should be liquid.

A liquid diet includes broths and clear soups of various kinds, cereal gruels, milk, raw eggs in combination with milk, fruit juices, cocoa and cream soups of various kinds.

If there is no temperature, a light, easily digested diet is advisable. Children of school age require nourishing food, but no meat should be eaten and very little sugar allowed. Vegetables, fruits, eggs and milk will provide a varied and adequate diet for a day or two.

When there is a cough, dry foods should be avoided. All the semi-solid foods that "slip down" easily are suitable and have no tendency to irritate the throat and cause coughing.

Finally, when the cold is broken, a diet of higher-than-ordinary value should be supplied to aid the body in repair and growth. Easily digested fats are especially desirable at this time. Butter, cream, bacon and olive oil with the continued generous use of eggs, milk and fruit seem the ideal fuel foods. This building-up diet should continue until all traces of the cold are gone. It will do much to insure complete and quick recovery and prevent serious after-effects.

The following light menu for a day may help you in planning others.

Breakfast: Orange juice, well

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Chilled tomato juice, cereal, cream, stirred eggs, toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Baked minced ham and celery with cheese, lettuce sandwiches, lemon snaps, milk, tea.

DINNER: Hungarian goulash, boiled potatoes, chiftanade salad, dried apricot cobbler, milk, coffee.

cooked cereal, cream, crisp toast, milk.

Dinner: Clear soup, baked potato, buttered spinach, poached eggs, creamed celery, orange and skinned grape salad, milk.

Supper: Lamb broth with barley, shredded lettuce with French dressing, whole wheat bread and butter sandwiches, baked apple with cream, milk.

The French dressing for the lettuce salad should be made with lemon juice and olive oil.

Fruit sherbets, ice cream, custards, gelatin and whips can be included in menus planned for the "light, easily digested diet."

The Senate Comes to Order

tions of Jefferson and Jackson and Grover Cleveland and the first four years of the Wilson reign.

A wise man knows there are no birds in last year's nests. A thinking man knows that the crisis involved by the crash of 1929 largely destroyed the purchasing power of the growers of things and placed thousands of wage earners in cities and towns in the ranks of the unemployed through no fault of their own. All this affected the revenues of the employes of labor, the receipts of all mercantile and manufacturing firms under the skies of Texas and piled high the taxes which led to the organization of taxpayers (employers and employes) who were face to face with the grim spectre of financial disaster unless relief should come in the reduction in cost of government and the elimination of extravagances which had grown into the governmental system in World War days and in the wild gambling era which followed in the wake and ended more than three years ago.

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

I can't very well get along in this column without pointing an occasional moral. Pointing morals is a favorite practice with many of us whose professions give us public ears, and the practice is generally recognized if generally disregarded.

Nevertheless, when a contributor who is in no wise associated with the newspaper business, voluntarily offers an argument in favor of a fundamental tenet of my profession, I cannot but feel that I am well supported in my religion and justified in declaring it. Hence, the following doggerel which points a decided moral—a couple of them:

"They Advertise"

A hen is not supposed to have much common sense or tact. Yet every time she lays an egg she cackles forth the fact. A rooster hasn't got a lot of intellect to show. But none the less most roosters have good enough sense to crow. The busy bee they bu-z-z, Bulls bellow and cows moo, The watchdog barks, the gander quacks,

And the dove and pigeons coo. The peacock spreads his tail and squawks. Pigs squeal and robins sing. And even serpents know enough To hiss before they sting. But man, the greatest masterpiece That nature could devise, Will often stop and hesitate Before he'll advertise.

Let us be different. Remember—"It isn't the big man in the fight, it's the big fight in the man that counts."

PARIS STYLES

By MARY KNIGHT

United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS, Jan. 13. — This is the time of the year that smart society goes in for its winter sports.

Winter sports clothes must combine beauty, warmth and line yet must not impede movement and must be waterproof. That complicated demand is met best by the neat skiing trousers which Paris conceived.

Waterproof woolen jersey, that has proved itself to be waterproof in more than name, is used for the straight, full trousers that are the only correct cut for skiing. Instead of being encased in the usual socks, however, they are worn with faced kaiters. A successful Schiaparelli skiing ensemble has navy blue trousers topped by a blouse of soft rose colored jersey, finishing in a cravat that knots on one side and shows above the gray wool cardigan that it worn over it. Close fitting, with a yoke that does not extend over the shoulders, but continues down the front to outline the brown leather cylinders that serve for for his services. Instead of having a fixed salary for which the stewards are responsible, the pastor will depend upon free-will offerings only. He started the plan in the middle of 1932 and evidently obtained very good results for he requested that it be continued during the present year and it was so voted by the stewards.

Having had some experience with the problem of raising finances for the pay of the pastor and other expenses of church operation, Specs concedes that it is a might courageous soul who will depend upon the spontaneous enthusiasm of the pew sitters for his bread and meat.

REGULATES OPENING
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 13. — Birmingham harks back to the day of the mule and wagon twice each year, with the semi-annual opening of circuit court. Because of a statute that has remained on the code books a half century, courts in this county do not open until 11 a. m. on the convening day. The law was meant to give residents of remote sections of the county time to reach the courthouse for the session opening. New roads and fast automobiles enable persons to reach the courthouse from any section of the county within a half hour now.

One Sure Way to End Coughs and Colds

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

Vocational Report-- CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE mately 33 per cent. Mr. Wendt states that he will subsoil a large part of his farm this year. Considerable time was spent during the year in connection with fairs and exhibits. Community fairs were held at Dothan and Pleasant Hill. The Eastland County General Livestock show held at Cisco in February 1932 was well attended, and the exhibits were better than in previous years, some 250 animals being shown. In cooperation with County Agent Patterson and the other vocational teachers of this county, exhibits were placed at the State Fair of Texas and the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show. From these exhibits over $300 in premium money was distributed among approximately 40 farmers and older boys in this immediate trade territory. In August 1932 the fourth annual

Future Farmer encampment was held at Lake Cisco, approximately 160 boys from 20 schools over Central West Texas attended the three-day meet. It was pronounced the best encampment which has been held to date. Cost of the encampment is paid by a small fee charged each visitor, which was sufficient this year to more than meet all expenses, approximately $45 being left in the fund. Lake Cisco is a very desirable place for this meeting and there is splendid opportunity to greatly enlarge the Future Farmer Encampment when conditions become normal again. A series of evening meetings with farmers of the Word-Shady Grove-Pleasant Hill and Romney communities has resulted in a number of improved practices being adopted. These meetings were devoted to improved practices in growing baby chicks, culling, spacing grain sorghums, distributing experiment station seed crops to plant instead of cotton and other topics of this nature. A part-time school with older boys was held in the Lutheran community, beginning early in January 1932. These meetings were devoted to soil and water conservation, budding native pecan trees, poisoning trees around fields which are harmful to crop yields and other topics of this kind. Meetings were held each Thursday evening for 15 weeks, after which the group was organized into a part-time Future Farmer Chapter which holds monthly meetings. This chapter, incidentally, is one of two such chapters in Texas. These boys have adopted a splendid program of work and have held regular meetings during the entire year. The group is participating in the state terracing contests, having recently run terrace lines on approximately 250 acres of land on three consecutive days. A member of this chapter conducted the subsoiling test previously mentioned in this report. Winnings by members of the chapter in the state Future Farmers Exhibit at Dallas during the State Fair of Texas totaled approximately $30. Among other objectives of this program are the following: 1. Send delegation to the State Convention at Dallas. 2. Sponsor a meat killing and curing demonstration. 3. Bud 100 or more native pecan trees. 4. Introduce pure strains of Experiment Station grain sorghum. 5. On ten or more farms. 6. Plant a trial patch of Korean Lespedeza. Approximately 40 boys have been given a practical course in agriculture in the local high school. In addition to their class work, this group has participated in the district and state judging contests, sent boys and exhibits to the state fair and the Fat Stock show, budded some 80 or more native pecan trees, participated in the activities of the district chapter and other activities of this type. Outstanding among the achievements of the Cisco chapter are the following: 1. Election of James Matthews of the Cisco chapter as state secretary. 2. Awarding of the highest Future Farmer rank to James Matthews. 3. This was done at the national convention in Kansas City in November, 1932. 4. Two members of the Cisco chapter, out of a total of 11 in the state, were awarded the Lone Star degree at the state convention at Dallas in October, 1932. Community service has been rendered in the form of vaccinating livestock, insect control, culling poultry, figuring rations for live-

DON'T LET COMMON CONSTIPATION DULL THE JOY OF LIVING Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brings Relief Constipation takes the sunshine out of your days. It may bring headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness, sallow skins, pimples. If neglected, it can seriously impair health. Fortunately, you can avoid this condition by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides two things needed to overcome common constipation: "bulk" and vitamin B. ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of blood-building iron. The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes. How much better than dosing yourself with patent medicines. Two tablespoonsfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in chronic cases. BEGIN HERE TODAY SHEILA SHAYNE, 18, whose parents were well known vaudeville actors, is in New York looking for a job. Sheila is a dancer. In spite of the fact that she has spent almost her entire life on the stage her ambition is to marry and have a home like those she has seen in small towns in which she has played. On a few hours' notice she is hired to take the place of DAISSY GLEASON, another dancer, who has sprained an ankle. Sheila goes to JOE PARIS' office in "Tin Pan Alley" to make arrangements. There she meets TREVOR LANE and DICK STANLEY, both rich. Lane asks Sheila to dance at a party he is giving but she refuses, knowing that after a day of rehearsing and the performance that night she will be too tired. She goes to the theater and there meets PHIL SHORT, an old acquaintance. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VII SHEILA was glad to see someone she knew—even an old sweetheart like Phil Short. A sweetheart who, as a matter of fact, had dropped her suddenly without warning. Why had Phil stopped coming to see her? Why had he stopped telephoning? Sheila had never known.

Sheila darkened her lids with blue make-up and crimsoned her lips with gorgeous strokes.

couldn't always account for sudden departures, failures to explain, omitted farewells. By the time she reached the dressing room Sheila felt rather friendly toward her old admirer and a little sorry for Mildred. Though his attitude toward Sheila had been above reproach, there was no denying the fact that Phil was a bit. Back in the dressing room, the party dancers, as Lottie had somewhat scornfully dubbed them, were posing in their scarfs and gowns, their classic robes in pastel shades talked about in conversation. They talked a great deal, completely ignoring the others. Lottie confided to Sheila, busy with her cosmetic pan, that the only good number in the "Classic line's" act was a scarf dance one by the two little blonds. Lottie was a blond, too, but there as a difference. The two youthful dancers had honey-colored air which obviously grew that way without benefit of art or decoration. However, Lottie might feel, Sheila soon was aware that these girls were not trying to appear superior. They were not cheap, Sheila would have told you. The baby little street suits which were busily donning were oil out and reminded Sheila of the clothes worn by the smartest "Follies" girls. Dark, plain, unpretentious and expensive. SHEILA worked on at the dressing table. Lottie's specialty came first and then Sheila's—with a wait between while the art, elegant in evening clothes, performed. She lighted the tiny lamp, melted the cosmetic in the little "trying pan" and beaded her lashes carefully. Darkened her lids with blue make-up, crimsoned her lips with generous strokes, dabbed rouge high on her cheek bones. Close at hand she looked grotesque, anything but intriguing. But beyond the footlights the patches of color would be subdued to a natural flush, a hazy loveliness, glowing and sparkling with health. Next came her hose, carefully smoothed on, and her dancing slippers. A silken slip and then Daisy's frilled gown, tight at the waist and billowing to her knees. If it had been fitted to Sheila it could not have been more suitable. She would wear it for the first number. Lottie, rather grand and aloof in a tiara and sweeping blue satin, watched as Sheila promenade across the dressing room. "I'd take this other dress up a little more on the side," Miss Kilmoyne suggested, turning from inspection of her own huge pink chiffon handkerchief. The size of a lunch cloth and left hurriedly for the wings. The art dancers, still in their street clothes, returning two by two from dinner, eyed Sheila curiously and, had she not known it, enviously. "Nervous?" one of the honey-colored blonds asked, smiling. Sheila smiled, too, and shrugged. Of course she was nervous! But it was like the excited nervousness of a circus horse sniffing sawdust after a long vacation. Soon she would be out there in the glare of the footlights. Phil, Roscoe and the rest would be behind her. An audience, hostile or friendly, in front. A sea of faces swimming across her vision! THE orchestra was bringing Lottie's number to a close with a blare. Applause, not voluminous but encouraging. There, Lottie was taking a bow. And another! That was a mistake—forcing the bows that way. Sheila liked to be hustled back to the stage, hand in hand with the band leader, bowing shyly, backing out before the audience was willing to relinquish her. But to force applause was bad business. Presently the clapping became milder, merely a polite patter. Sheila stood in the wings. Roscoe waved his baton, Phil nodded and a band crashed into melody. Two bars. Three bars. How did it go? Oh—this way! Sheila ran again. Now she was dancing! Dancing to a full house, too. "Don't take that last turn, baby!" She could still hear Bill Brady's admonishing tone, still hear his "ta-ta, ta-ta!" Sheila didn't fake the turn. It was glorious. Skimming like a bit of stiletwood. Dancing on a breath of wind. Across the stage, then back again, this time progressing slowly. Hands crossing in front, head bent just a bit, feet flying. She had it down pat! Tum-tum tum! Tum-tum tum! Tum-tum tum! Now a run up the stage, a few steps around Roscoe, who beamed as she skimmed past him, his baton flicking in approval. She darted toward him, whisked away coquettishly as Bill had taught her. The saxophone droned a few bars unaided and, shielded by Roscoe's bulk, Phil winked at her. Roscoe nodded smiling. It was all in the act, of course, but Sheila knew he was pleased. Sheila, too, was pleased. This was like old times again. Darting, shuffling—suddenly the dance was ended. There was a tornado of applause and Sheila bowed quickly, disappearing. Then, waiting for Roscoe's nod, she reappeared. A bow. Roscoe beckoning her. She fluttered toward him on her toes, smiling, bowing. They advanced toward the footlights, bowed to the house, to each other, her finger tip in his moist, fat palm. Applause, loud, clamorous, insistent. It broke in sudden gusts, now here, now there, and rippled over the entire house. Another tornado as Sheila stood still. Was she going to dance an encore? Bowing again, a low sweeping, skipping bow. Sheila ran off to change for the next number. But not before she had seen the man in the front row who was still applauding vigorously. "There in correct evening attire, a strange sight in that cozy little neighborhood house, sat Dick Stanley. He was alone. (To Be Continued)

BIG DAM CHATTER

By FRANK LANGSTON

Now comes the news that Cisco high school has a girls basketball team. Principal H. Brandon is coach. When asked about the team last night, Coach Brandon said that he has 12 or 15 girls working out every day and that there are some who have possibilities of developing into real basketball players.

Back in the days that used to be, this part of the state was known as the place where the forwards grow. Cisco, Breckenridge, Snyder, Dublin and a few other towns about produced the best girls basketball teams in Texas in the high school class.

The Lobo Queens and the Breckenridge Burkarettes had a standing rivalry which usually ended in the state final game. There were a few times, though, when football rivalry came into play together with the girls basketball and the season ended just outside the gym.

Cisco, and the other teams hereabouts, had a habit of getting their players on the all-state selections. If a girl could make the first string here or at Breckenridge she expected at least an honorable mention for all state.

Most of them got it, too, or rated one of the all-star teams. Remember how the gym used to be packed to see the Lobo Queens play when they had Lulu Price, Cleo Stringer, Bessie and Tommie Swindle, Doris Bates, Alberta and Irene Parsons, Ann Yarborough, Bobby Bryant, Edith Qualls, and the rest of them.

One year when the state girls A. A. U. tournament was held in Cisco, Atlanta, a little school in East Texas surprised everyone by coming to the tournament with just about the fastest little team anyone had seen and winning fourth place. Lacking the height and reserve strength of Breckenridge, Cisco, and Dublin, the Atlanta girls made up a great part of the deficiency in speed, scrap and a dead eye for the basket.

That same Atlanta team gave the officials a brain storm, though, with its Allday sisters. The girls were twins and looked exactly alike. To complicate matters further, Atlanta's players were not numbered. Even that would not have been so bad, though, except for the fact that both girls played forward. Finally the powers put their heads together and made one of the twins wear a ribbon around her neck so that the scorers could distinguish her from her sister.

The Lobos play the Breckenridge Buckaroos tonight in the Cisco gym. The Buckaroos recently defeated Ellasville, the team that handed Cisco a licking in the first game of the season. The score was about 17 to 11.

Cisco ought to defeat the Bucks if they could not do any more than that to Ellasville, for the Lobos beat themselves in the first game. With new men on the court, the team showed as bad a case of stage-fright as a team could very well have.

Evidently the Bucks don't think so much of the Lobos, judging from a pre-game story in the Breckenridge American yesterday. The story began "Cisco! The home of the 'Big Dam Lobos'" and mentions the fact that the Lobos have not yet won a game.

Well this is Friday the thirteenth. It can't bring any bad luck to the Lobos. Maybe Lady Luck will get pitched off from her seat beside the Buckaroos. If she does, the Lobos will welcome her with open arms.
