TAX BILL IS REPORTED TO SENATE

Trial of Anti-Trust Suits Opens Today at Austin

TESTIMONY TO BEGIN AT TWO O'CLOCK

AUSTIN, May 9.—First testimony was to be taken here, 2 o'clock today in Attorney General James V. Allred's attempt to prove 15 major oil companies the American Petroleum Institute and the Texas Petroleum Marketers' association attempted to create an oil monopoly in Texas.

R. C. Holmes of New York, president of the Texas company, C. B. Ames, T. J. Donoghue, F. T. Manley, G. L. Noble, W. S. S. Rogers, E. M. Crone, J. P. Grust and H. W. Dodge, minor Texas Company officials, also were summoned from New York and J. S. Lench from Houston, headquarters of the Texas Company.

They were to appear before George Shelley, Austin attorney, named by District Judge J. D. Moore to take preliminary testimony. So much of such testimony as is desired will then be available to both sides in trial of the suit in which Allred asks $17,850,000 penalties.

Resumption of the trial proper is set for May 23, before Judge Moore in 58th district court here.

Holmes, reputed million-dollar-a-year president of the Texas company is named by Allred as one of a general committee of the oil industry appointed at a series of meetings in New York in 1928 at which the youthful Texas official asserts a plan to control the oil marketing of the entire country was formulated.

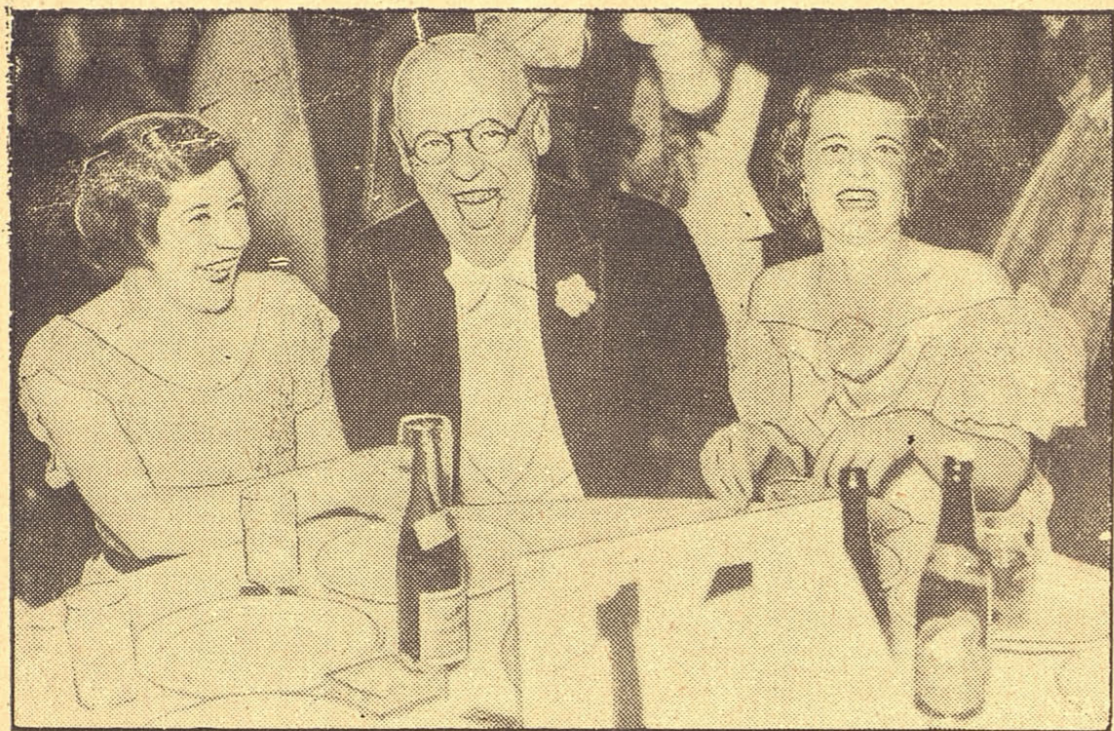

In his petition before the court here, Allred alleges Holmes named a special committee to assist in formulation of a tentative code and that their report was filed with Holmes at the offices of the Texas company in New York on July 18, 1928.

An actual code, he says, was agreed upon in Chicago, December 3, 1928, and adopted unanimously by the American Petroleum Institute there December 5.

This code, he says, was presented to the Federal Trade Commission on Feb. 11, 1929, at St. Louis; that on July 25, 1929, the Federal Trade Commission gave a "pretended approval, which, he says, was without authority of law. Holmes is named as being present at most of these steps.

And What Did Governor of Ohio Say?

It seems there was plenty of that old-fashioned "southern hospitality" for which Dixie is justly famed when Governor George White of Ohio, often mentioned as a possible Democratic presidential nominee, attended the Beaux Arts ball given in connection with the governors' convention at Richmond, Va. Here is Governor White, in a happy mood, between two charming Richmond matrons—Mrs. Wichter Dudley, Jr., left, and Mrs. John T. Lewis, right—who seem to be bent on making his visit a pleasant one.

CISCO GREET'S MOTORCADE AT 2 P. M. SUNDAY

With 18 cars in line the annual Broadway of America motorcade paused 15 minutes in Cisco at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon en route to San Diego and the convention of the Broadway of America highway association. The caravan expects to pick up its strength from El Paso on.

The Lobo band entertained the visitors during their stop here and several hundred Cisco people assembled in the business district to add to the welcome. Secretary J. E. Spencer, of the chamber of commerce, made a brief address of welcome which was responded to by President F. O. Mackey, of the association.

Misses Marie Glenn, Marian Chambliss, "Dutch" Van Horn, Willie May Snyder and Dial distributed bulletins of Cisco publicity material, cleverly packed in pocket envelopes, to the trippers.

The Hot Springs "Silver Streak" car, bearing a broadcasting equipment was very much in evidence, broadcasting the greetings of the motorcade, announcements of the convention and invitations.

The caravan was delayed 30 minutes at Ranger by sudden thunder-showers which required hasty rearrangement of plans for an outdoor barbecue. The entertainment was moved under roof. By the time the group had reached Cisco the skies were clear and the sun bright between showers.

SALE OF LAKE AMUSEMENT CO. ENJOINED

EASTLAND, May 9.—A temporary injunction was granted Saturday morning by Hon. George L. Davenport of the 91st district court restraining W. A. Myrick from disposing of any of the property of the Lake Cisco Amusement company.

The proceedings were instigated by H. C. Reiner of Lubbock who contends in his pleadings that he made a loan to Myrick and took certain securities as collateral which involved the Lake Cisco Amusement company property.

Judge Davenport set Thursday, May 12, at 10 a. m., as the time for a hearing and Myrick was ordered to appear at that time and show good cause why a receiver for the property should not be appointed.

The Lake Cisco Amusement company owns the swimming pool and dance pavilion just below the dam at Lake Cisco and leases the ground upon which it is located from the city of Cisco. The company also owns some boats on the lake. It is said to be the largest artificial swimming pool in the world and the dancing pavilion covers approximately 5,000 square feet of floor space.

Myrick did not appear here Saturday to conduct a trustee sale of the company as had been advertised.

GASTON B. MEANS IN A NEW ROLE.

Gaston B. Means is a North Carolina scion of one of the oldest families of the Tar Heel state. He was born a democrat and lived a democrat for a number of years. He became a chum of Harry Daugherty and other prominent members of the Harding clan. They made him a special investigator for the department of justice. Gaston has been making history for years. He has a lurid reputation as a doer of things. He has been the publisher of books and played his part in the Washington Merry-Go-Round literature. Now he is under arrest on a charge of "larceny after trust."

Mrs. McLean is the wife of Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post and the Cincinnati Inquirer. She is the daughter of a Colorado multi-millionaire. Her husband is in France. Mrs. McLean continues to reside on this side of the ocean. They gave the noble experiment of matrimony the acid test for years. Then they parted and have been in the courts ever since.

As a contact man the North Carolina playboy appears to have invaded a rich field. It is said that he got the money. Likewise it is said that Mrs. McLean engaged Gaston to work on the kidnaping case with the full approval of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. What has happened to Dr. J. F. Condon of New York? He was handed $50,000 to give to the kidnapers of the Lindbergh boy. He handed it out but the kidnapers failed to return the little chap. They kept the money. It must be true that the world owes a living to many daring men and women and they go out to get the living with the least possible effort on their part.

Again, where is the Lindbergh baby? Was it a case of revenge? Was he stolen by a maniac? Is he in the land of the living—or the land of the dead?

WARRIOR BILL CALLS OUT HIS TROOPS.

Warrior-Gov. William H. Murray ordered out his troops in his crusade to regulate oil operations in his adopted state. His sweeping mandate of martial law applicable to oil activities within the Oklahoma City limits halted all drilling. Moreover, restricted zones were declared and in addition a great area of Capitol Hill, south suburban district of the city, where most of the activity is located, was declared closed to oil development.

There are 225 wells located within the Oklahoma City limits. Certain groups and oil companies persistently have attempted to advance activities further into the metropolitan area. Geologists have reported that perhaps the richest part of the vast Oklahoma City oil fields lies under city streets and skyscrapers.

Publicity is the thing in this game of politics in a presidential year. Warrior Bill is a presidential candidate. After taming the wild animals in the oil area of his capital, Gov. Bill is going to New York and promises to take the hide off all his critics and "to let the light shine in dark places." As the second Andrew Jackson produced on this continent in 150 years he is going to tell the down Easterners just where to head in and while he's talking of the heading act he is going to let the grass rooters of the American world know that their "Moses is on the march." Well, this is the season for open sports and Warrior Bill is not only a scientific but a very noisy player of the game.

PASSING THE BUCK IN HIGH PLACES.

President Hoover sent a message to the congress lambasting and lacerating senators and representatives for their failure to make sweeping reductions in appropriations and salaries and the adoption of his so-called economy program. Then the senators retaliated. They sneered at his message. They said that he had a republican congress on his hands two years ago and a year ago and never a hint as to the immediate necessity for the balancing of the budget and the cutting out of dead timber in all the departments of government. Indeed, it has been a case of passing the buck ever since the new congress came in. House insurgents tossed aside the recommendations of the speaker and the majority and minority leaders, they cut "the lights and the liver and the lungs" out of the sales tax proposal, they have been running wild ever since, and the senate bill, if enacted, will be a hodge-podge of "sock it to the rich" all along the line, not overlooking the so-called poor in the nuisance taxes which are certain to come.

In presidential years back passing is the order of the day and the president is a past grand master in a scientific understanding of the game. He has the American congress on the hop and the leaders know it.

FLYER McADOO AWAY DOWN IN GEORGIA.

William Gibbs McAdoo at 67 is a sky flyer of renown. He scored a comeback in California and now he is going to play the political game for all it is worth. He issued a statement at Sea Beach calling the result of the California primary "a serious and perhaps irreparable blow to the Roosevelt candidacy." He said it made Speaker John Nance Garner "a formidable contestant for the nomination."

Publisher Hearst and William Gibbs McAdoo have many old scores to wipe out. They knifed Smith in two campaigns. Smith had led fights against Publisher Hearst and William Gibbs in other campaigns. He had won some of his battles. Now he is king of the Eastern stoppers and the California publisher and the California statesman-financier-lawyer have their own little program to play on the banks of Lake Michigan in June. It is all in the game and how it is played.

There will be many surprises in Chicago. There will be many faces turned to the wall and in the coming November election there will be senators and representatives thrown in the ditch. Behind the sales tax which was defeated by the house insurgents are the two California leaders and those for whom they will speak in the making of presidential candidates and a platform to be given to a democratic people.

PROSPERITY PROMISED TO MOVIE LAND.

Carl Laemmle is head of the Universal Film corporation. He is very optimistic. He has a wonderful building program. He has a budget of $18,000,000, the largest in the history of his corporation, and this vast sum will be spent for the production of pictures this year. This enlarged budget, according to the movie king, is based on his hope and expectation that the 1932-1933 season will be one of the biggest in the motion picture industry experience.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON R. WAITE Shawnee, Oklahoma.

That a live city has a settled, definite plan of development.

Its plans are to make a bigger, better, brighter and busier city.

Prosperity and satisfying contentment come through productive industry.

The prosperity and progressiveness of a city are always reflected in the unity and cooperation of the citizens.

The man who always tries to keep the middle of the road on every proposition for the common good of the home city had better snap out of it and get right. It does not take the rest of the citizens long to get his number.

All should get together, think together and stay together in working for the home city.

Every citizen should work shoulder to shoulder in the upbuilding of the home city.

Sometimes it's a long, hard pull, but properly directed cooperation will bring the results.

It takes teamwork to do big things.

TEXAS TOPICS

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, May 9. — This set of proposals, ranging all the way from county tax action to state laws and constitutional amendments, is being submitted to various taxpayers' groups over Texas as one form of conciliation and cost-cutting for government. They are said to have been drafted by a member of the state tax survey committee now at work. They were read before the Travis County Taxpayers league by Chmn. W. H. Cullen, and given Mr. Cullen's full endorsement. They include:

- 1. Continue collection of fees, but pay them into state, county and city treasuries as at present. Pay officers salaries based upon levels effective in business.
2. Abolish fees of justices of the peace and constable.
3. Abolish the office of county judge; elect five commissioners, one to preside as chairman. Create office of county court at law and vest in it the same jurisdiction now held by justice and county courts in both civil and criminal matters.
4. Abolish office of tax assessor, tax collector, treasurer and county clerk, merging all into a fiscal office, with one official to perform all the duties.
5. Abolish office of district clerk, transferring its duties to the fiscal office.

6. Abolish the 11 courts of civil appeals; increase supreme court to nine members.

7. Abolish offices of state treasurer, comptroller, insurance department,

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—There's a farm vote, a labor vote and a soldier vote in this country, but the one that throws the largest scare into Congress is the soldier vote.

The veterans are greatly outnumbered both by the laboring men and the farmers, but the veterans always know what they want from the government and come much nearer to getting it.

They are better organized, more articulate and determined and spread more evenly over the country. The real farm vote is relatively sectional and the labor vote—which perhaps should be referred to as "the so-called labor vote"—is heavily concentrated. But the veterans are scattered more or less evenly, in proportion to the voting population, through every state and every congressional district.

Can't Ignore Them

Few congressmen can afford to ignore them. If it were not for the official opposition of the American Legion, the present pressure of veterans for measures to cash the bonus certificates would be far more likely to succeed than now seems probable.

Even with the legion's opposition, Congress would be likely to pass the thing over a presidential veto if it were not for the sad state of the national finances.

Four million veterans represent a formidable voting group. They may not vote as an organized unit, but they can be concealed in one direction or the other more effectively than any comparable element.

They have the obvious incentive of voting for benefits to themselves which take the form of cash money, an incentive stimulated by current hard times. Their average age, which is just under 40, is that of the voter not too young to have become interested in politics and not yet too old to care. And they never lack for political candidates who appeal to them as a group with attractive promises.

9000 Per District ASSUMING an average of about 9000 veterans to a congressional district, it is easy to see why no ments, department of agriculture, health department, Transfer agricultural functions to A. & M. college. Create one department, in charge of one man appointed by the governor, to handle the other matters.

8. Eliminate the duplications in educational institutions of the same professional courses in several different colleges.

We gather that his successor-to-be on the railroad commission got just as much information from former Gov. Pat M. Neff as the newspapermen have. That is to say, exactly none.

Mayer Ernest O. Thompson talked with him. Mayor Thompson is Gov. Sterling's selection for the railroad commission when Mr. Neff proceeds to take the president of Baylor having accepted election to it.

Just what point there is of keeping it a secret, even from the man who is going to be placed in the job, as to when he will resign, is something on which Mr. Neff has neither given nor invited suggestions.

Chmn. W. R. Ely of the highway commission is at the head of the biggest single activity of the state government. He is carrying through a program which was started by

Gov. Sterling when Mr. Sterling was chairman of the commission.

However much a great program of highway-building, of immeasurable present and future benefit to the state, may be made the object of political attack, he isn't in politics, and the first course the commission has followed of building roads where it thought they should be and refusing to put them where it didn't think they should be has marked it as distinctly non-political in its conduct.

Judge Ely, instead of entering personal politics for a race for the railroad commission, will stay on the highway commission.

Former Gov. Dan Moody: "I haven't said I would become a candidate if Mr. Sterling doesn't run," means a great deal.

As an individual opinion if Mr. Sterling doesn't seek a second term, he will be the candidate to beat the Ferguson's. I might be right.

"I assume," Mr. Moody said, "that Gov. Sterling will offer for a second term; I am convinced he will be renominated and reelected. I pledge him my fullest support."

Now there will be a renewal of the clamor to take oil and gas administration out of the hands of the railroad commission, because one or two of its great number of employees are accused in the East Texas oil scandals. This will reach its climax in the next regular session of the legislature when old axes will be brought out for fresh sharpening and when the attempt will undoubtedly be taken as far as its sponsors can get a bill in the legislature... mindful that the governor not long ago urged the legislature that it was imperative to make this change.

Cabinet Lacks

Beau Brummel

MADRID, May 9. — The Spanish cabinet at the present has no member who deserves the title of "fashion-plate."

It did for awhile, when Miguel Maura—young, good-looking, and a neat dresser — was in the cabinet and was, as one might say, the Pat Hurley of the Spanish administration insofar as clothes were concerned. But Maura now is outside of the government.

The president, premier, and ministers all dress well, but none are Beau Brummels. Nevertheless, Don Niceto Alcala-Zamora has been unjustly criticized for his sartorial appearance.

It develops that the President has three pin-striped suits, among the others which he possesses. He particularly likes these pin stripes suits for wear when he is traveling. One is black, one brown, and one is blue but in the photographs they all look alike, and the stripes appear to be wider than they really are. So when the President is on an official trip, although he may make use of all three of these suits, by glancing at the photographs one gets the impression that perhaps he travels with only one suit.

Don Niceto, of course, is above all an Andalusian "senor" — something like a "squire" of one of the American Southern states — and makes no pretense of being up in the matter of dress. It is told of him that in the days when he was a Minister of the Crown he could not tell the difference between the front and the back of the Minister's hat.

the MAN HUNTERS

BY MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Susan Carey, pretty secretary, falls in love with Bob Dunbar, son of a millionaire. Denise Ackroyd, who hopes to marry Bob, asks Susan to attend a house party and manages to cause a misunderstanding between Susan and Bob. Ben Lammman, another admirer of Susan's, has a fist fight with Bob. Susan jumps out of Bob's car and asks protection from Ernest Heath, her employer, who is passing. He takes her home. Mrs. Heath, jealous of Susan, threatens an alienation suit but desists when Jack Waring produces a letter involving her in an affair with another man. Ray Flannery, who works in the next office, confides to Susan that the "key" Webb, whom she cared for, has married another. Rose Milton, Susan's chum plans to give up her career to marry On Christmas eve Heath sends Susan flowers and Ben, who has proposed marriage and been refused, is jealous. Waring meets Denise at a New Year's eve party and she indiscreetly tells she has meddled in Susan's and Bob's love affair.

CHAPTER XXXII

It was one of those sharp bitter days of late January. Snow had fallen the day before and overnight had changed into sleet. The pavements were an icy menace along which taxicabs cautiously slid. At five o'clock Susan looked out and shivered, dreading the walk to the street car. For the past half hour she had noticed Mr. Heath fussing about in his own office. There did not seem to be any particular reason for his lingering. She was putting on her hat when he appeared in the doorway.

"Miss Carey, I have the car and it's a wretched night. Let me drop you at your home."

Surprise showed in the girl's face. "Oh, that's awfully kind of you but I can't do that."

"Not at all. I should be very happy to do it. Just one moment and I'll be with you."

They rode down in the elevator together, the girl, as always, more than a little shy with this man. Simon, waiting in the sleer, sprang down to open the door for them. He tucked a thick, soft rug around Susan's knees.

"Are you quite comfortable?" Susan said she was. She felt as warm as toast.

"Good." Her employer's voice was brisk and business-like as ever. "I wanted to see you before you went on still in that quiet, impersonal way. The girl waited silently. She loved the luxury of this car, the rich robe under her fingers. She was quite unprepared for what was to follow.

Abruptly the man blurted out. "You knew, didn't you, that Mrs. Heath's term of residence in Reno will be over next week?"

"No, I didn't know that." Susan looked at him innocently.

"Yes. That's the way it is. I shall be free then."

"Yes of course," Susan didn't know what else to say.

"I'm afraid I'm doing all this very badly," Heath continued. He stared down at her, his thin, aristocratic features curiously illumined. "I wanted to ask you something important."

Susan felt a surge of excitement. She sat quite still, waiting for him to go on.

"Would you think me quite mad if I asked you to be my wife when all this is over?"

Now that the question lay between Susan felt numb with astonishment.

"I know I shouldn't have done it this way," the man blundered on, but I have been so distressed about the whole affair, so anxious to keep you out of it, that the necessary preamble to a proposal of marriage had to be forgone. You don't understand, do you?"

"I'm afraid I don't," Susan admitted.

"What I mean is this. A young girl can and does expect the preliminaries of courtship. My position made that impossible but can't you won't you overlook them all and consider the matter in a reasonable light?"

Was there ever Susan wondered, so strange a proposal? The man's manner was as quiet and business-like as his phrases. He might have been discussing a raise in salary. She began to speak, but he stopped her.

"Don't answer me now. You must have time to think about it, naturally."

Flight Stories Match Stories

MOSCOW, May 9. — Reports originating in Bucharest about starving frontier peasants fleeing across the frontier to Rumania are matched perfectly by reports in Moscow about starving Rumanian peasants crossing the frontier for refuge in Russia.

The likeness of the stories holds true down to the smaller details. If Bucharest is to be believed, Soviet soldiers are shooting down the oppressed peasants trying to cross the river Dniester into Rumania. If Moscow is to be believed, Rumanian soldiers are shooting down hungry peasants attempting to run away to Soviet territory.

It is not unlikely that there is a measure of truth in both stories. To some hard-pressed farmers in Bessarabia, under the Rumanian flag Soviet Moldavia, on the other side of the river, looks inviting. The Moldavians on their side of the Dniester, have troubles, too. collectivization under direct or indirect pressure, grain quotas, collection of seed funds, etc. Some of them no doubt, look longingly across the dividing line.

The Soviet press does not deny that some Russian peasants have fled to Rumania. It charges, however, that they are "kulaks," or peasants rich enough to own two cows and therefore unworthy of attention.

WILD GOOSE CHASE

AQUOKEITA, Ia., May 9. — This is the story of a man who actually went on a "wild goose chase." Burr von Schrader nurtured two pairs of Canadian wild geese for several years. One day, thinking them sufficiently domesticated, he liberated a pair. They promptly flew away. He retrieved them 12 miles from home on the Maquoketa river.

DIDN'T LIKE CAMELS

CARSON CITY, Nev., May 9. — Transporting a load of whisky by automobile over Nevada's highways is not contrary to any state law, but transporting whisky in the state by camel is a law violation. The reason is that for some reason, a law has remained on the books for years; making it a crime to drive, lead or transport camels over the highways.

GREAT VOLUME OF BUSINESS IS BEFORE WTCC CONVENTION

SWEETWATER, May 9.—A business program dedicated to a consideration of ways and means of solving problems affecting the commercial and civic life of West Texas is the program of the 14th annual convention of the West Texas chamber of commerce which convenes in Sweetwater Thursday and continues through until Saturday noon.

From the time Sweetwater's director in the regional organization, D. A. Clark, opens the Thursday morning session until President Harte, San Angelo, announces the selection of the 1933 convention city and final adjournment, Saturday afternoon, there will be plenty of activity and a great volume of business going on at the convention.

Mayor J. P. Majors, Sweetwater's mayor, will make the welcome address on Thursday morning. To this welcome, Henry Ansley of Amarillo will respond. Ansley is the author of the popular "Like the Depression" article that appeared in the March issue of West Texas Today, and was later reprinted in hundreds of publications throughout the nation. Ansley will give his famous depression talk from which the article was taken.

Following the response, President Houston Harte, San Angelo, will be introduced and will preside during the general sessions of the convention. Harte will present a report of the main activities of the regional chamber during his tenure of office.

Governor to Speak.

Governor R. S. Sterling is to be the principal speaker on the first morning session, following which a general business meeting will be held to elect ten new district directors from the ten respective districts of the West Texas territory. Those ten men will constitute the president, vice president and treasurer, the executive board.

Walter E. Yaggy, chairman of the elections committee, will present the report of his committee, which will be a list of the affiliated towns, and their respective directors nominees. When elected the directors will be the new governing board. Already over one hundred and ten towns have named their directors, several additional cities having affiliated with the West Texas chamber of commerce during past few weeks. During 1931-32, one hundred and one towns were affiliated. Yaggy expects to be able to report at least one hundred and twenty-five cities as affiliated, and as having named directors, which will be the number in the history of the organization since it has been organized on its present basis. Serving with Yaggy on the elections committee are: J. H. Greene, Colorado; W. J. Casey, Dalhart; J. E. Meroney, Ranger; A. C. Surman, Post; and T. P. Hornback, Rule.

This same committee will have charge of all convention voting and will handle the voting incident to the selection of the next convention city. Three cities, Amarillo, Big Spring, and Mineral Wells, are seeking the 1933 meeting, and Plainview has announced that it will go after the 1934 meeting.

Special Luncheons.

At noon on the first day there will be special luncheons for two groups, a chamber of commerce secretaries, and members of the Texas legislature and candidates for legislative posts. Carl Blasig, Brady, will be toastmaster at the first luncheon—that for secretaries. President Houston Harte will make the principal address.

Joe Wheat, Seymour, chairman of the West Texas chamber's committee on legislation, will be toastmaster at the legislators' luncheon. Judge Chas. E. Coombs, Stamford, past president of the West Texas Chamber, will be the speaker.

On the afternoon of Thursday, May 12, two group conferences of special interest to West Texans are scheduled—one on budget making and the other on livestock and agriculture.

Will R. Lence, Abilene, is chairman of the public expenditures and taxation group conference on budget making. Speakers at the conference will be Chas. A. Jay, Dallas; O. C. Coles, El Paso; J. M. Wagstaff, Abilene; and C. N. Bassett, El Paso. To this conference have been invited the five hundred members of the 85 local public expenditures and taxation committees in West Texas cities which have been created through the efforts of the West Texas chamber of commerce. Also, mayors, city commissioners, city council members, county judges, commissioners, and legislators have urged to attend the conference.

Wilbur C. Hawk, Amarillo, is chairman of the other group conference scheduled for Thursday afternoon.

ternoon, that on agriculture and livestock. Paul T. Vickers, Midland, is secretary. Speakers will be Frank P. Holland, Dallas; J. H. Lowery, Fort Worth; Eric Racey, Dallas; Leon Goodman, Midland; Amos G. Carter, Fort Worth; and Dean A. H. Leigh, Lubbock.

Industrial Tour.

An industrial tour of Sweetwater after noon following the adjournment of the two group conferences. Visitors who take advantage of the tour will be shown the gypsum plant, big oil refinery of the Gulf Refining company, the International Harvester branch plant and other industries of interest.

The evening business sessions consist of committee meetings of the convention work committee, the highway committee, and a preliminary of the My Home Town speaking contest.

The Gypsy Girl revue which is being offered by the people of Sweetwater will be outstanding entertainment during the first evening followed by a dance in the International Harvester building. The dance floor covers more than a quarter of an acre of land, and the dance will be one of the biggest ever given in West Texas.

Following a business session on Friday morning devoted to a consideration of the report of the convention work committee headed by James D. Hamlin, Farwell, two business men of New York with international reputations will address the convention—James S. Carson, vice president of the American and Foreign Power company, and H. G. Smith, president of the National Council of American Shipbuilders. Both are to appear immediately following the Sweetwater meeting upon the program of the annual convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Noon Luncheon.

There will be two noon luncheons on Friday, May 13. One will be given for visiting newspapermen, and the other for presidents of local chambers of commerce, and West Texas Chamber of Commerce directors.

Millard Cope, Sweetwater, editor, will be toastmaster at the newspaper luncheon, and Max Bentley, Abilene, chairman of the editorial board of West Texas Today, will be the principal speaker. Over one hundred newspaper men are expected to attend.

D. A. Clark will be toastmaster at the presidents and directors luncheon, and Houston Harte will be the principal speaker. The luncheon will be devoted to instructing directors in their duties and responsibilities to the organization.

Group conferences upon state and county reorganization plans, and upon the beautification plan of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce are scheduled for Friday afternoon. Van Zandt Jarvis, Ft. Worth, will be chairman of the Public Expenditures and Taxation Conference on state and county reorganization, and A. B. Davis, Lubbock, secretary. Speakers include C. N. Bassett, El Paso; Dr. Herman G. James, Vermillion, S. D.; Moore Lynn, Austin; Walter Rock, Fort Worth; and Senator Carl C. Hardin, Stephenville. The same groups have been especially urged to attend this conference as the first on budget making.

J. Thomas Davis, Stephenville, will be chairman of the beautification conference to which has been invited all members of the eighty local beautification committees in as many towns in West Texas that have been organized through the efforts of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Ed Bishop, Dalhart, will be secretary of the conference. Speakers include: R. C. Morrison, Fort Worth; J. H. Burkett, Clyde; Mrs. Henry B. Trigg, Fort Worth; E. O. Sleske, College Station; and Houston Harte, San Angelo.

The Friday evening program is the same as that for Thursday evening.

Election of Officers.

Bright and early Saturday morning at breakfast at seven-thirty o'clock, directors of the regional organization will meet for the election of officers. A president, two vice presidents, treasurer, and general manager.

Dr. Herman G. James, president of the University of South Dakota, Vermillion, S. D., will be the principal speaker at the Saturday morning session. Dr. James was for years a member of the faculty of the University of Texas, and has been very prominent in government work in the United States for years.

C. M. Caldwell, chairman of the Home Town Contest, will preside Saturday while the six winners from the preliminary contests speak before the general convention to determine the winner of the entire contest.

Following this a business session devoted to introduction of the new officers, and to the selection of the next convention city will close the convention program.

SHARP UPWARD MOVEMENT IN STOCK PRICES

In its weekly review of business and financial conditions The Wall Street Journal says:

Wall Street, at the close of the week, witnessed the sharpest upward movement in securities prices in months, following inactive trading and low levels for the main body of stocks during the first four days of the week. The stimulus to the market was furnished by the most constructive developments in Washington in securities. From the standpoint of enhancement in values the upswing was the best since February 13, last.

It was started on its way by the declaration of President Hoover to Congress late Thursday citing the imperative necessity of a definite and conclusive program to balance the budget. He urged unified action and stressed that "uncertainty is disastrous," and that "sectional, party, and class considerations can have no place in it."

This was followed on Friday by the adoption by the Senate Finance committee of a compromise tax program which will have the full backing of the Treasury and administration. The House Ways and Means committee, too, voted to report adversely on the Patman bill and all others before that committee dealing with the cash payment of the remainder of the adjusted service certificates of world war veterans.

In addition to these official favorable developments, definite improvement was apparent in certain branches of industry as well as in the financial situation generally. U. S. Steel Corp. announced that effective May 15, it and subsidiary companies, would reduce by approximately 15 per cent all wage and salary rates at all departments in the more important steel districts and in other local spots reflecting equitable differentials.

The resumption of dividends by Ohio Oil Co. an advance in the price of tank car gasoline and the consummation of the transaction involving Standard Oil Co. of N. J. and Pan American Petroleum and Transport Co., were factors benefiting oil shares.

This week's range of the Dow-Jones averages follows:

	High	Low	Close
30 Industrials	$59.68	$54.10	$59.01
20 Railroads	22.66	20.02	21.39
20 Utilities	25.10	23.58	25.10
40 Bonds	74.68	73.59	73.65

GOT K. O.

BROCKTON, Mass., May 9.—Arthur Stiles, 29, received hospital treatment here recently after he had been knocked unconscious by a stone snapped by a tire of a passing automobile.

"Adam and Fallen Man" Was Subject

The subject of the lesson sermon was "Adam and Fallen Man" in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, May 8.

Job 14:12 furnished the golden text: "Man that is born of a woman is of few days, and full of trouble. He cometh forth like a flower, and is cut down: he fleeth also as a shadow, and continueth not."

The following passages from the Bible (Genesis 1:26,27) were included in the lesson-sermon: "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness. . . So God created man in his own image, in the image of God he him; male and female created he them."

Embraced in the service were also the following citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy—page 475.

"The Scriptures inform us that man is made in the image and likeness of God. Matter is not that likeness. The likeness of spirit cannot be so unlike Spirit. . . The real man cannot depart from holiness, nor can God, by whom man is evolved, engender the capacity or freedom to sin."
