Entire Town Is Wiped Off Map in Cuban Tidal Wave

THOUSAND OR MORE DEAD IN CATASTROPHE

CAMAGUEY, Cuba, Nov. 12.—The last contingent of the 1,500 refugees from the stricken town of Santa Cruz del Sur, wiped off the map by a tidal wave in Wednesday's hurricane, was distributed among emergency hospitals here today.

Women were working night and day in the emergency hospitals, some of which were lighted only by candles and oil pending the restoration of electric service.

Volunteer squads were disposing of the dead as rapidly as possible, but so many corpses were strewn over the territory that there was danger of pestilence.

The first relief train loaded with medical supplies and food began arriving this afternoon.

ISLAND CITY DEVASTATED

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Nov. 12.—The city of Gaymansbrack, situated among the islands 100 miles south of Cuba, was devastated by the tropical hurricane which struck Cuba.

The message, intercepted as it was relayed from a steamer at sea, revealed more than 60 persons were killed, hundreds injured and all government buildings in the district destroyed.

HOOVER SAYS PARTIES MUST COOPERATE

ABOARD PRESIDENT HOOVER'S TRAIN, Nov. 12.—In the remaining four months of his term in the white house President Hoover will labor on "an entirely non-partisan basis" for economic recovery of the nation, he declared today.

He is returning to Washington by a route that will lead him across the tip of the Texas panhandle Sunday afternoon.

"It is our duty," the president continued, "after March 4 to cooperate with our opponents in every sound measure for the restoration of prosperity."

"The functioning of our government depends upon strong, two-party organization."

GROWTH OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS IN AMERICA IS DESCRIBED

(Editor's Note — The following article on the growth and development of the American public schools was written for the Daily News by H. Brandon, principal of Cisco high school as an American Education week feature.)

By H. BRANDON Cisco High School Principal

Since the week of Nov. 7th through the 13th has been designated as National Education Week, I take this method of bringing to the public an idea of the growth and development of the public schools of America in order that the people may better understand the magnitude of the public school business.

The history of public supported schools dates back to the year 1642 when the Colony of Massachusetts passed a law requiring every township of a certain population and over to establish and maintain an elementary school at public expense.

As was stated above, Massachusetts was the pioneer in the field of public supported elementary schools, and it is in this state that we find the beginning of the high school movement.

Along with this growth and extension of the public school systems, there has been, of necessity, a continuous increase in the amount of money expended for their maintenance.

TRUCKS DEFENDED BY AUTO DEALER.

Former Rep. Walter Beck of Tarrant county served three or four terms and was voted an able lawmaker. He is in the automobile business. He is out making speeches defending "the trucks" place in the picture, meaning no doubt the highways and byways. He has demanded a square deal for the trucks. He is declaring that a third of the total tax income for Texas for highway purposes is produced by commercial vehicles. He condemns in no uncertain terms the truck regulating laws passed last year "under the guise of public safety measures."

INSULL AND HIS OPERA HOUSE.

Samuel Insull was a lover of music. Grand opera appealed to him, and when the millions began to roll in, he built a magnificent temple dedicated to music and song at a cost of $20,000,000. He was the angel who footed the bills for the grand opera outlay for years and years. Now he is a fugitive from justice. His palace of song is dark. His grand opera company has been disbanded, and the cup of gall and wormwood is ever in reach of his hand and his lip. A biography of Samuel Insull written by a man who began at the foot of the ladder leading to fortune and fame and then tumbled from Alpine heights into the ditch of despair, shorn of all his possessions and his pride broken, would be one of the best sellers of the age.

WHAT HAPPENED TO THE IDAHO PROPHET.

Sen. William E. Borah of Idaho cast an absentee ballot, caught a train from Boise and turned his face toward the city on the banks of the Potomac river. Before his departure he had proclaimed to the world "that the speeches of Alfred E. Smith were the ablest and best delivered for Herbert Hoover and his cause." His train touched Chicago on election day. He was informed by press representatives that an unusually heavy vote was being cast over the nation. It was then that the Lone Eagle made his final prediction: "That looks good for Hoover. Every vote means the women are going to the polls and 75 per cent of the women in the country are for Hoover." Well, the returns are in. Herbert Hoover and William Howard Taft in the history of presidential elections are linked together as two important personages who are counted among "the also rans." Taft, one of the most loyal and one of the best men the republic has known, came out of the grave and served until his death as chief justice of the supreme court of the United States. Resurrection may come to Herbert Hoover. there is no telling what will happen in future years in "the land of the free" when the growers of things and the millions of "forgotten men" ran amuck on election day.

OIL BONUSES SUBJECT TO INCOME TAX.

Bonuses received by the owners of oil and gas lands under leases under Texas law was declared by the supreme court of the United States to be subject to the graduated rates imposed on ordinary income and not to the lower rates on income from the sale of capital assets. A reminder that the fifth circuit court of appeals decided in favor of the taxpayer, a citizen of Archer county. Uncle Sam needs the money, and he is a pauper. Since 1930 the appropriations for the cost of government and the cost of wars exceeded the income of Uncle Sam by more than six billion dollars. Payday always rolls around and then it is cash on the barrel-head or a sell out.

Went to Fort Worth Friday to see this boy Hilliard run. He didn't. I haven't seen Leon Maner yet to find out the real reason, but I gathered from watching the game that a fellow by the name of Pruitt, a Purple end, another by the name of Vaughn and five more elephants in the Froggie forward wall were a great deal of the reason. Hilliard did some fancy stepping but it was all this way and that. I got one thrill out of the game when Stafford grabbed one of Koy's passes and same dem near making it a touchdown. The big Texas back wasn't quite fast enough to get away from Mr. Spearman, however and there was a smackdown on the three yard line.

and in accepting the appointment of the taxpayers groups to serve as their lobbyist, he carried into effect his own preexisting intentions, he pointed out.

If the East Texas oil confusion over a federal court decision endangering proration was supposed to bring back cheap oil, apparently some of the gasoline refiners did not know about it; for they followed the court decision with an increase in the price of gasoline in South Texas.

What will they do when their terms of public office close? Many people at the state capitol are thinking about that now. Some already have settled the question by going to other places, as for instance State Supt. C. N. Shaver went back to his Huntville school; B. H. Wooten and

TEXAS TOPICS

By RAYMOND BROOKS AUSTIN, Nov. 12 - Tom F. Hunter of Wichita Falls, "the people's lobbyist" at Austin was chosen by the Texas Taxpayers organizations to do just what he was going to do anyway, he said while on a visit at the state capitol. His purpose of looking after public interests while the legislature is in session was a self-imposed task; legislature ought to consolidate county and district clerks and a lot of other offices," he declared at Austin. A perfectly valid law was left on the statute books when criminal appeals court pointed out one section of the 9-45-hour law for women in industry carried no penalty, the state labor commissioner, Robert B. Gragg, has pointed out in a statement. Mr. Gragg showed that the codifiers of 1925, whose work has been criticized wherever a court decision has found flaws in it simply brought forward as surplusage one section of the old law, which out of its context was left without a penalty clause; while other parts of the statute are whole. "A recent decision," Mr. Gragg said, "turned on a technical omission" - of the penalty - "by the codifiers, and does not in the least affect... validity of the law."

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, Nov. 12.—Coke R. Stevenson of Junction, probable speaker of the 42nd Texas legislature, is paid a remarkable compliment by A. B. Martin, formerly of the Court of Criminal Appeals. He picked Stevenson as "the best all around lawyer" in Texas.

He has been in the legislature since the 41st session representing Kimble, Kerr, Bandera, Real, Edwards, Sutton, Schleicher, Crockett, Howard and Mason counties.

If the days returned, like those early in the French revolution when the aristocrats got rid of influential opponents by forcing them into sword duels, Rep. Truman O'Quinn of Beaumont would be top hole in the Texas legislature.

O'Quinn, who took up fencing at the University of Texas, is an expert swordsman. He kindly keeps a button on his foil in picking opponents in a quartet, three or whatever other kind of thrust is still popular in the sword game.

The state's new highway department building, occupying the site of the jail that once housed "O Henry", will be ready for occupancy about February. It was designed to relieve congestion in other state office buildings and provide a safe place for state records.

On one never knows when the state supreme court is going to sit. The court of criminal appeals, which is just as supreme in criminal cases as the supreme court is in civil matters, seldom varies from its routine. Sessions are held promptly each Wednesday at 9:30 a. m.

Senator George Purl of Dallas recently discovered there is hot water in the wash rooms of the state capitol only when the legislature is in session.

"I do not know whether it is a compliment to the legislature or a slam at their need of ablution," said Senator Purl.

Ranger Captain Frank Hamer is not only a dead shot with gun and pistol. He is a keen shooter on the marble boards. It's his favorite indoor sport.

Water from the River Jordan, brought back by Mrs. Chris Dulnig, a San Antonio world traveler, was used recently to christen the little daughter of Adjutant General W. W. Sterling. The christening at the governor's mansion was performed by the Chaplain P. B. Hill of the state ranger force.

Red Read, Austin, has received a democratic "gold card" from campaign headquarters in recognition of securing numerous individual subscriptions to the national campaign fund in the state. Read's was the best seen in Texas.

Wasps Trim Cowboys In Homecoming Game

Displaying a superior brand of football, the Howard Payne Yellow Jackets again humbled their tradition foes, the Simmons university Cowboys with a 13 to 0 count in Abilene Friday night.

Led by Worley, the Wasps forced their way deep into forbidden territory in the first quarter and then took advantage of a break for Worley to score on a pass from Underwood in the second period.

In the second half the Yellow Jackets buzzed their way through the air to score again, Worley to Taylor. Simmons tried a drive in the fourth quarter, but was too late in getting started, and time after time Cowboy passers were smothered before they could get rid of the pigskin.

EAGLES SPOIL BUCK BID FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

By FRANK LANGSTON

Taking the offensive at the first possible moment, Glenn Wyatt and his flock of Abilene Eagles turned back the Breckenridge Buckaroos 14 to 7 in their drive for the district title at Abilene Friday afternoon. With the wind in their faces, the Buckaroos found their high kicks did more damage than good, and Abilene was quick to take advantage of the situation.

Wyatt circled right end time after time for substantial gains, picked holes at the tackles and led the attack through the air. The first touchdown for the Eagles came after they had received a high kick straight into the air on the Breckenridge. After a few drives at the line Wyatt rounded the Buckaroos' end for a touchdown. Middleton's kick was good for the extra point. The warbirds stayed in scoring territory throughout the first quarter but were unable to convert their other opportunities into counters.

In the second quarter the green retaliated by forcing the attack into Eagle territory and passing their way to the goal line. Then on three straight runs, Ennis carried the ball over the goal line and Captain Martin tied up the score with a kick from placement.

The final touchdown for Abilene came in the last quarter after Blackmon had taken a lateral pass for a 30 yard run to the Buck's 15 yard marker and Wyatt passed to Cogdell in the left flat zone for a touchdown. Middleton kicked goal.

The Eagles missed a couple of field goals, but were able to beat the Bucks without them. Wyatt leading the attack throughout the game. Breckenridge had a great guard in Captain Martin, who messed up the Abilene offensive time after time. Pitzer was hurt early in the afternoon, and it was Wohlford, fullback, who carried most of the green offensive.

CRAZY CRYSTALS

Nature's Gift to Suffering Humanity

I have suffered with nervous indigestion and constipation for several years and have used almost every known remedy for same, and spent several hundred dollars to no avail.

After using three boxes of CRAZY CRYSTALS I can truthfully say I believe they are a Gift from God to suffering humanity, and they are not a patent medicine.

VARIED JOBS DEVELOPED TO PAY SCHOOLING

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another of a series of articles showing how college education has gone on in Texas despite some effect from the depression. Previous articles have pointed out and explained a trend toward the smaller institutions.

By SAM D. HALES
United Press Staff Correspondent
DALLAS, Nov. 12. — Earnest young Texans who want college educations but haven't any or enough money for the necessities have turned to several new types of part time work this fall.

The working college boy in traditional college orchestras are familiar and student magazine-selling has been joked about but these and other usual types of student work have been eclipsed by some found in a United Press survey.

The Parker county farm boy who brought his cows to Weatherford college, staked them nearby and sold milk and butter to pay his way, inspired a number of imitations. The survey shows he has imitators at four schools.

Five students at Howard Payne college Brownwood, have cows and are running dairies. Six others are selling home-cured meat to help pay their way. Several others sell home-canned products.

Two boys at Baylor university, Waco, brought cows from home and are paying for their meals in a private home with the milk and butter.

Several students at John Tarleton college, Stephenville, have individual dairy herds and poultry flocks. Others are feeding hogs and beef cows for the market. A group of Texas Technological college boys are paying their way by operating the college farm and dairy on the old XIT ranch.

Laundry Agents
One Austin college (Sherman) student runs his own cleaning and pressing plant. Countless others in nearly all institutions act as laundry agents.

One Texarkana Junior college student drives a bus, another works for a telephone company and a third is a newspaper reporter. One Baylor university student is a city fireman after classes. At Abilene Christian college, the roster includes a shoe-repairer, a chauffeur, an electrician, several tutors and several students caring for children.

University of Texas students work in many state offices and one or two are members of the legislature. Some of them used to sleep in the treasury departments as guards for the vault.

Part time ministers, barbers, bookkeepers, stenographers, instructors, graders, waiters, filing station operators, janitors, and odd-job boys among students run into the thousands.

Practically all the colleges have employment services or exchanges. These provide students for such work as lawn-mowing, chimney-repairing, picture hanging, fence-straightening and almost any other task an ambitious energetic boy or girl can do.

Another article will discuss foreign students in Texas colleges where they are from, and the courses they are pursuing.

SHOOT MAN

FORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 12. — Edward Love, 35, returned safe from a hunting trip only to be laid low by his pet dog and cat. He leaned his loaded gun in a corner. The cat and dog started to fight and knocked the gun down. It was discharged and a bullet hit Love in the right leg.

QUAIL SLOWS UP TRAFFIC

MEADER DAM, Wis., Nov. 12. — Traffic around a new parking area was slowed when a flock of about 40 quail visited the spot in the center of the business district and marched across the gravel space. An ambitious dog later flushed the birds from shrubbery along the river.
