About Our Friends
By STEP A. LONG

Cisco civic clubs can get a great lesson from the enthusiasm and energy of the little city of Moran... a little city that you could almost hide in one of Cisco's suburban additions with a membership of about 45 for its luncheon club... and what a membership! Ministers, teachers, garage men, grocers, druggists... why try to mention all of them... the whole town, even the ladies who serve such wonderful meals to their husbands, appear to be vitally interested in community building and doing the thing that should be done... A great fellowship seems to exist among the members... that's most important, after all... Mitt Williams, W. H. LaRoque, Johnny Cox, Dr. Seale, A. D. Anderson, A. L. Foster, H. L. Dyer, E. P. Crawford, E. Hiltson, H. Schaefer, Pete Nance, Spurgeon Parks attended from Cisco and furnished the program for Wednesday's luncheon in that little city... We were glad to meet many old friends... Lewis Waters, Lawrence Martin, Bob Black, Mrs. Townsend, L. L. Walker and a dozen others... pastors of the Baptist and Methodist churches... fine young fellows... Supt. and Mrs. Etheridge, of the Moran schools... live couple... and S. W. Altman, who just won't get any older... there's a dozen others whose faces rise before us but whose names have slipped from us right now... They are building a tennis court and putting on a trades day for next Saturday... and that live young man, Pool, says the money will be raised... It's mighty hard for a town to die with men like those... McCurdy, who has been leading them a long time, says they can't be licked... What fine Lions they would make... or Rotarians... We want them to

MONOPOLY ON LIQUOR SALES BEING SOUGHT

AUSTIN, Feb. 28. — State monopoly over the sale of legalized hard liquor in Texas was proposed today by Sen. Joe Hill of Henderson. His proposed amendment to the constitution, which would prohibit the sale of hard liquor for private profit, declares the state policy shall prevent the return of the saloon and create a state liquor control board. A three-member board would be appointed by the governor and have complete power to license and regulate the importation, manufacture and sale of all liquor except of 3.2 per cent alcohol. At 12:10 p. m. the senate adjourned until tomorrow morning without voting on the question of repeal.

Mrs. Jones' Brother Dies At Comanche

Mrs. Lee Jones and son, Thomas Lee, were called to Comanche Wednesday on account of the death of Mrs. Jones' brother, Ed Ligon. The funeral will be held at Comanche this afternoon.

Huey Is Likely To Run For Governor

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 28. — Sen. Huey Long said today he had "about decided" to run for governor of Louisiana at the election to be held next spring. When asked if that meant he would not run for the presidency Long said, "We'll take that up for discussion later. But for that matter, I could run for governor and president both. Jack Garner did it. If he could do it, I could."

Electric Strike End Saves Dying Patients

AGREEMENT IS MADE TO SAVE HEAVY LOSSES

BULLETIN
EL PASO, Feb. 28. — City officials acting as mediators in a strike of 150 union employees of the El Paso Electric company, announced at noon today that the difficulty had been settled and the men agreed to return to work.

EL PASO, Feb. 28. — Striking workers of the El Paso Electric company lost their first bout with the company they agreed to return to work, failing immediately in their demands for recognition.

Turbines in the plant were being warmed up at 2 o'clock and power was promised for 3 p. m. today.

EL PASO, Feb. 28. — Alarmed by the crippling of hospitals as well as the paralysis of practically every line of business in the city affected by a strike of power company employees El Paso city officials appealed to the El Paso Electric company shortly before noon today to negotiate with the strikers.

County Judge Joseph McGill, assisting Mayor R. E. Sherman as mediator, said he would recommend to officials of the company that they accept demands of members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical workers for recognition of their union and the "Closed Shop."

"We want to keep people from dying in the hospitals and keep the water supply to avoid fire danger. We know nothing of the merits of the controversy itself," Judge McGill said.

He pointed out that three persons at a hospital living in oxygen tents were in danger of dying if electric power to operate the oxygen equipment were not restored immediately.

M. C. Smith, electric company president, admitted he had received an 11 page proposed agreement from the strike committee at 11 p. m. last night, but declined to comment until company officials had conferred this morning.

St. Louis, Detroit May Get Texas Gas

AUSTIN, Feb. 28. — St. Louis and Detroit, largest American cities without natural gas resources, will be served part of Texas' wasted "billion feet a day" if negotiations are successful.

State Tax Commissioner R. B. Anderson will leave today for St. Louis to confer with engineers of the two cities on plans for a pipe line to carry 400,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily from the Texas Panhandle, Anderson represents Gov. James Allred.

Hopkins Asks For More Relief Funds

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. — Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins today asked the PWA administrator, Harold Ickes, to advance $80,000,000 to care for the nation's needy during the first three weeks of March.

The federal emergency relief administration requiring about $150,000,000 a month to provide food and clothing for 21,000,000 persons, has been without funds of its own since Feb. 10, due to senate delay on the new relief bill.

State Income Tax Bill Is Proposed

AUSTIN, Feb. 28. — The Texas house of representatives today received a state income tax bill. Should it become law, a single person will pay tax on all but the first $1,000, a married man on all but the first $2,000 plus $200 for each dependent. Corporations will pay on the first $1,000.

The tax begins at one per cent on the first taxable $1,000, advances at seven per cent on all over $11,000.

Opera Puts Beauty In "Carmen" Role

The movies at last are influencing opera singers for leading roles are being selected for beauty as well as voice, Louise Caselotti, young and beautiful, who looks like a living Carmen, has attained wide popularity in the role through her performances at the Hippodrome in New York.

LIKENESS OF WILSON SEEN ON U. S. BONDS

First United States bonds ever to use the picture of Woodrow Wilson, democratic wartime president, will be offered for sale at the Cisco post office tomorrow, according to Postmaster L. H. McCrea.

Wilson's picture appears upon the $500 United States savings bond being offered for sale beginning March 1. The Cisco post office has bonds of four denominations, the $25, $50, $100, and $500 bonds. They carry respectively the pictures of Washington, Jefferson, Cleveland, and Wilson.

McCrea said today that he was expecting to receive some of the $1,000 bonds, bearing the picture of Lincoln, within a short time.

Expected to Sell

"I put up a poster on the bulletin board, and already several have come in and asked about the bonds," he said. "I think they will sell pretty well."

The bonds are to be sold and delivered by the local post office. They may be cashed, with interest, any time after 60 days from the purchase date. Cashing of bonds will be through the treasury department.

"purchasers may convert postal savings into the bonds," McCrea pointed out, "retaining their interest."

He said that the bonds are all numbered and may be kept by the treasury department or any federal reserve bank free of charge if the purchase has no place to keep them.

Stockmen Seek To Stabilize Industry

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. — An advisory committee of cattlemen, known as the committee of 25, discussed the industry's ills with AAA officials today.

The chief topic of discussion was the desirability of a program to adjust and stabilize livestock supplies by controlling feed grain production. Supporters of the proposal advocated legislation to permit taxing livestock without contract and benefit payment requirement.

The conferees included Grover Hill, Amarillo.

Rythm Band To Open Stunt Night Program

The West Ward Rhythm band will open the annual stunt night program at the high school auditorium this evening with three numbers. The program will begin at 7:30.

The Rhythm band is composed of approximately 40 boys and girls from West Ward, under the general direction of Miss Addie Stevens. It has already won a first place in the Eastland county interscholastic league contest and is preparing for the next county meet to be held next month.

The Rhythm band will open with "Country Dance" by A. Lewis Scarmolin, and will play "Moment Musical" by Schubert and "Drum, Fife, and Trumpet," by Frederick A. Franklin.

The program will include, besides its eight local talent stunts, two professional numbers.

Following is the complete program, with the exception of the Rhythm band numbers listed above:

Garden club stunt.
Francis School of Dancing.
"Six Little Grandmas" — Godfrey School of Expression.
"Fiddler's Frolic" — Delphin club.
"The Scales Holiday" — O. O. Music Club — Mrs. Clifford Yeager, sponsor.
"A Tragedy in 3 acts with Prologue" — XXth Century club.
"Winter Wonderland" — Cisco Music Study club.
Rotary club stunt.
"Grandfather's Clock" — Jr. Music Lover's Club, Mrs. Krauskopf, counselor.
Wedding-Davis — Fine Arts studio.

First prize of $5 will be awarded for the best stunt on the program. It has been announced. Cisco firms contributing to the prize fund are the following: First National Bank, Cisco Gas Corporation, West Texas Utilities company, Community Natural Gas company, The Boston Store, and Norvell-Miller Grocery company. Second and third places will receive honorable mention.

Prizes are to be awarded also for ticket sales. It has been announced.

The Stunt Night is an annual feature sponsored by the Cisco Federation of Women's clubs, which usually attracts the best talent of the city's organizations, and draws large crowds.

Funds derived will be used by the Federation to repair the clubhouse and by the Rhythm band.

COURT RULING IS DANGEROUS TO NEW DEAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. — Federal court ruling threatened the legal foundations of half a dozen aspects of President Roosevelt's New Deal today.

Newest court attack—the Weirton steel decision in Willyington, Delaware and the Kentucky coal decision in Louisville—cut to the heart of constitutional principles on which the Roosevelt administration had built its recovery program.

The administration and congress had proceeded on the theory that by right of the power to regulate interstate, they could regulate wages, hours, labor policies and other aspects of individual business because they affected interstate commerce.

The Weirton decision, if upheld, will knock that theory into a cocked hat.

Federal Judge Charles Dawson, in Louisville, took the same view and rule that coal mining is interstate commerce and beyond the power of congress to regulate.

Seek Kin Of Former Eastland Countian

Relatives of Willis Bell, 69, former Eastland county man who died in an Abilene hospital Tuesday, were sought today by operators of an Abilene mortuary.

The relatives were thought to live in Abilene, but up to late Wednesday morning had not been contacted.

Simon To Ask Truce Early Next Month

PARIS, Feb. 28. — Sir John Simon may take to Berlin early next month a British-French proposal for a 10-year armament truce among European nations, including Russia, it was understood today.

Simon, British foreign minister, came to Paris today to deliver a lecture on parliamentary procedure and confer with Premier Pierre Flandin and Foreign Minister Pierre Laval.

Bids Received For Road Improvement

AUSTIN, Feb. 28. — Bids were received today by the state highway department on paving, road grading and roadside improvement estimated to cost over $1,000,000.

Tabulation of bids was expected to be complete late today.

Projects included asphalt concrete paving for highway 68 in Ellis and Johnson counties.

AD VALOREM TAX RATE REDUCTION FROM NEW BILLS SEEN BY GARRETT

Sharp reductions in the ad valorem tax rates of Texas counties will result from enacting bills now pending in the House of Representatives, Judge Garrett said today.

Judge Garrett, county judge and president of the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association, said Thursday.

Judge Garrett believes the plan will permit reductions in county tax rates ranging from one-fourth to one-half in the majority of instances. If the state assumed retirement of $3,300,000.00 in road bonds of Eastland county, the ad valorem tax rate could be reduced by 60 cents on the $100 valuation, he said.

House bill No. 325, introduced by Rep. Harold Beck of Texarkana, creates in the state treasury a special county and road district highway fund to assume the bond burden. It allocates 25 per cent of revenues from the gasoline tax to the available school fund; 35 per cent to the county and road district highway fund; the remainder to the state highway fund.

Adds to Gas Tax

House bill No. 483, offered by Rep. Lonnie Alsop of Carthage, adds one cent to the state gasoline tax to guarantee sufficient revenues to make real the proposed reduction in county tax rates.

Thus, motorists who use county roads and highways will pay the cost of constructing and maintaining those roads, reducing the burden of ad valorem taxation on the farms and homes and other property of the people, Judge Garrett pointed out.

Ruth's Sponsor Knifed in Tokio

Near-tragedy was the aftermath of the American baseball players tour of Japan, with Babe Ruth as headliner, when Masataro Shoriki, noted Tokyo publisher, who sponsored the trip, was stabbed in the neck by another publisher, Kastusuke Negasaki, outraged because the venture took money out of Japan in time of depression.

Shoriki is expected to recover.

Every Scholastic Important To You Own Child's Education, Says Cluck

Importance of having every child of school age on the Cisco school census roll was emphasized again today by Supt. R. N. Cluck of the public schools.

"Each child on the roll means $16.50 to the school. If your neighbor's child fails to get his name on the roll, your child will have to suffer by sharing his own apportionment with him," Cluck said.

The census takers will begin their canvass of the city early Friday morning and will attempt to cover the entire city in one day, Cluck said. In this connection, he said that he is having 10 teachers, who know the city and the pupils, and who are familiar with the work to do the work. The city has been divided into zones for the purpose.

"The law requires that every child between the ages of 6 and 18 on next Sept. 1 be listed," Cluck said. "It does not take into consideration whether that child is in school or intends to be in school on that date. Neither does it take into consideration the fact that some under the age of 18 may be married. There are usually a few in this last grouping."

"What it does take into consideration is the number of persons within the school age, as stated above."

"There has been a great increase in the number of scholastics here, as well in the number enrolled in school. We now have more pupils in school than we have had at any other time in the last five years."

HAMILTON AT KEMP HIDEOUT SAYS SHERIFF

KAUFMAN, Tex., Feb. 28. — Sheriff John Kelly and four carloads of deputies hurriedly deployed along roads south of Kaufman this afternoon after receiving a telephone call from an anonymous informant that Raymond Hamilton, escaped Texas killer, was in hiding near Kemp.

Terrell City Marshal M. L. Sullivan and a posse of officers left Terrell at 2 p. m. today receiving a call from Sheriff Kelly at Kaufman.

Hamilton was reported surrounded at his hideout.

Honolulu Guardsmen Hunt Flood Victims

HONOLULU, Feb. 28. — Gov. Poindexter today called out national guardsmen to search for the bodies of the victims of one of the most severe storms in the history of the islands.

The guardsmen joined rescue forces which already had recovered five bodies in the flooded area of the island of Oahu on which Honolulu is the largest settlement. It was feared the death toll would be much greater.

New Patrol Suits Prevent Questions

It's safe bet to say "Cycle Mounties" Ernest Daniels and Morgan Myers at Eastland haven't been asked when the next bus leaves in the past two weeks.

The motor patrolmen with 118 over the state are sporting a new distinctive uniform.

The men wear a medium blue shirt, with shoulder straps of tan piped in red, and tan trousers with a one-inch stripe of blue piped in red down each side. The caps are a combination of the blue and tan materials with blue visors.

The uniform was adopted instead of the former gray shirt and trousers because of the ease of impersonation.

ATTORNEYS TO DISCUSS PLAN WITH HOLDERS

Settlement of Cisco's municipal debt today appeared to be one step nearer as Attorneys R. E. Grantham and F. D. Wright prepared to leave for New York to confer with the bondholders committee and attorneys before filing a petition for and plan of settlement in federal court.

More than the necessary 75 per cent of bondholders have agreed to the plan, it was announced, to make a court order binding upon all.

If as many as five per cent of the bondholders wish to contest they may do so five days after the filing of the plan of settlement, it was said.

If the settlement is contested, the court will examine the plan and hear argument from both sides before making a decision upon the fairness of the agreement.

If, however, no such contest is filed, the court will examine the plan, and if it finds it fair, will issue an order for the settlement, Attorney Grantham said this afternoon.

The plan of settlement, as now proposed, is a settlement by the city on 33 per cent of the principal, which means approximately one-fourth of the entire debt.

The principal is $4,843,500. This, with the accrued interest, will run to about $6,500,000, it was estimated today.

"There will not be a mortgage on anything," Grantham said today. "The federal government won't interfere with the administration of city affairs."

Attorneys for the bondholders have been seeking a conference with Cisco attorneys in New York upon the matter for two months, Grantham said. After their conference, it is planned to file the petition and plan immediately in the federal court at Abilene.

The attorneys today estimated that they would return to Cisco in about a week.

MOVE TO END RELIEF LOCK IS EXPECTED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. — Action by President Roosevelt within 24 hours in an effort to break the deadlock of the relief bill was predicted by his aides today as Mr. Roosevelt returned from a brief vacation to find his entire legislative program in danger.

A White House official said he could not imagine that 24 hours would pass "without some action" by the president to try to bring order out of the congressional tangle.

Speaker Joseph W. Byrns said senate leaders with whom he had talked indicated they hoped to be able to pass the relief measure without the controversial amendment requiring payment of prevailing wage rates to relief workers.

Byrns said he believed the house would stand by the president on the issue.

LEGISLATIVE PRESTIGE OF PRESIDENT FADING

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. — President Roosevelt's legislative prestige is fading so rapidly that he soon must confront the necessity of establishing working control in congress or sacrificing most of his reform program to an early adjournment.

Democratic congressional leaders believe the New Deal will be able to beat back this session despite a probable losing fight on the bonus and almost inevitable retreat on the public works bill. There is no disguise of feelings that Roosevelt is slipping and that something needs to be done about it quickly.

Lincoln Stood For True Democracy

A short time ago the nation observed Lincoln's birthday. It would be a fine thing for the country if American citizens gave a little time to pondering the ideals and principles for which the martyred president stood.

Lincoln was the embodiment of true democracy. No man was ever more passionately devoted to liberty, to freedom, to destroying human bondage of whatever kind. His was a loyalty to country that went beyond party, beyond partisan politics—and that would willingly make any sacrifice in order that the nation might endure, progress and prosper. No task was too great, no duty too exacting, if it would help to preserve and maintain those enduring principles laid down by the founders of the country in the United States Constitution.

During four years of unparalleled national crisis, Lincoln was the rock that could not be swayed by mob sentiment, by fear, by the lust for power, by the desire for personal gain. No man ever possessed a greater hatred for war—yet Lincoln went into the Civil War deliberately, knowing that tragic as the waste of men and resources would be, it was essential to the preservation of the Union. Between 1860 and 1864 America stood at the crossroads—and Lincoln drove relentlessly forward on the course that meant the continuance of liberty, democracy, and Constitutional principles.

The issues that surrounded Lincoln have passed, but the characteristics of the man remain, and will not be forgotten. In times like these when so-called emergency measures threaten the very foundations of our Constitutional government, it is well to remember Lincoln and his work.

Banish The Reckless Driver

Drivers with chronic cases of traffic negligence, who have long and continuous strings of accidents against their driving records, will be ruled off the highways, if bills such as recently introduced in the Oregon legislature by State Senator Bynon are passed.

The bill was originated by the American Automobile Association, and carries the endorsement of the National Council for Street and Highway Safety. It has been in effect in a number of states for several years. Under it, a driver responsible for a certain number of accidents is deprived of his license. The bill is reciprocal in that persons ruled off the roads of one state cannot obtain a license to drive in another state which has the same law. States which have tried the law pronounce it extremely beneficial.

Authoritative surveys demonstrate that the habitually careless driver, like the habitual criminal, never reforms. If he is reckless, incompetent or congenitally unable to drive properly, the chances are that he will never change. No matter how many accidents he may have, and how many times he may be arrested, he will continue to cause more accidents and violate more traffic laws. Thousands of cases are on record where one driver has been responsible for a score or more of accidents within a relatively short period of time. Such drivers menace the life, health and property of us all—they have no right to drive automobiles.

It is estimated that, after the 1935 legislative sessions close, 85 to 90 per cent of all motorists in the country will be affected by a safety responsibility law. It will be a potent weapon in the war against our mounting toll of automobile accidents—nine out of ten of which are easily avoidable.

Pacific Defense Program

Those who believe that the principal menace to the United States' territorial security lies across the Pacific in Japan, find ammunition to back their theory in the administration's $500,000,000 army development program.

Lost in a welter of items concerning new airplanes, additional troops, and a buildup of the National Guard, is a requisition that has been little publicized as yet—but is of tremendous significance. It provides for a great Hawaiian air base, to cost $11,000,000. Army officers, queried on the meaning of this, said frankly that the war department wishes to move the national frontier 2,000 miles into the Pacific.

It is proposed to have a string of such bases eventually built from Alaska to Panama.

World Events of Interest

Washington continues to re-echo with the findings in the gold suits and now the administration turns to the tricky task of protecting the government from future suits under the decision. Department of Justice and Treasury officials study the opinions with magnifying glasses as the impression grows that under some circumstances suits were possible unless congress decrees that such actions were beyond the jurisdiction of the court of claims. There is talk around Capitol Hill that a conversion program may be instituted to retire outstanding gold-clause bonds. As the president studies the moves to protect the government from possible embarrassment on account of gold suits, the conviction comes that the Supreme Court has given the administration a new cloak, but it's surprisingly tight across the shoulders.

'Quo Vadis?'

Texas Topics

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, Feb. 28. — A sub-committee of the house oil, gas and mining committee has been appointed to draft a measure relating and controlling the wastage of natural gas in the Texas Panhandle field. Its members are Rep. H. K. Stanfield of Amarillo, Rep. Sidney Latham of Longview, Rep. Hollis Frazer of Franklin, Rep. H. B. Steward of Fairfield and Rep. A. G. Walker of Vernon.

Rep. Stanfield is co-author with Brooks all others of the Panhandle delegation of a bill providing for rationing of gas from all wells in the Panhandle and for curbing the wastage into the air of gas from which casing-head gasoline has been extracted. Gov. James V. Allred last week read a message to the legislature urging that gas wastage be stopped by regulations he outlined, and that uses to which gas might be applied be not restricted to the present provisions of "useful purposes" in the sour gas law.

Rep. Stanfield said his bill, sponsored and favored by the independent gas operators and landowners, covered the points of Gov. Allred's recommendations and that there was complete agreement between Gov. Allred's suggestions and the purpose of the Panhandle members' measure.

Sen. Weaver Moore's proposed liquor repeal amendment, now favorably reported to the senate, does not purport to be self-enclosed, and would not authorize the sale of liquor, if adopted, until the legislature had set up regulations and machinery.

In place of the present bar against any beverages except those of 3.2 alcoholic content or less, his amendment, for which an election is proposed Aug. 24 this year, says in part:

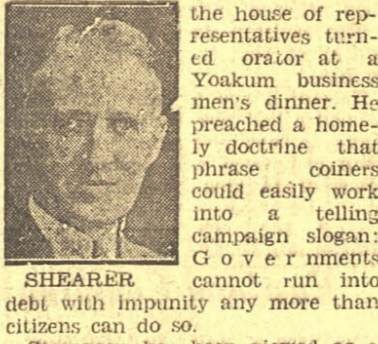

"The legislature shall have the power to regulate the manufacture, sale and traffic in intoxicating liquors.... It says counties dry by local option when the dry amendment went into effect, shall remain dry until voters decide otherwise. It says the voters may adopt beer only, or prescribe the type of alcoholic content of liquor to be authorized. It gives the absolute power of local option to the voters of any county, justice precinct or incorporated city or town to say whether liquor shall be sold within such area."

R. L. Young, Sr., Abilene, "no new tax" exponent, is supporting the bill which has been introduced to increase registration or tuition fees in the University of Texas and state colleges. Mr. Young proposes as to the colleges: "Either compel all within certain ages to attend the full term of years, as is done in the public schools...or else set the tuition and other charges at what the taxpayer is compelled to pay each year, and get it off his back.... Our goal at this time is to raise these tuition charges up to at least one-half of what the taxpayer now pays each year per student and the outcome of the campaign will depend entirely on the interest taken by the taxpayer."

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, Feb. 28. — The beginning of a Coke Stevenson-for-governor boom was seen here when the popular Lincoln-esque speaker of SHEARER of the house of representatives turned orator at a Yoakum business men's dinner. He preached a homely doctrine that phrase coiners could easily work into a telling campaign slogan: G o v e r n m e n t s cannot run into debt with impunity any more than citizens can do so.

Stevenson has been viewed as a likely candidate since he was re-elected speaker over the vigorous protest of Governor Allred.

A federal court injunction against the Tennessee Valley authority was issued just as the UVA requested Governor Allred to set up a state board to find markets for the sale of electric energy. The judge's order against government competition with private industry will prevent hasty action on that bill.

Because of the order there will be a close scanning of the Colorado, Brazos and Neches river authorities in Texas. The Tikes-Allred plan for government pipe line from the panhandle gas field may be halted because of it.

Chemist John B. Patterson, Austin member of the house of representatives, is a former army man who still cherishes a cavalryman's moustache. It waved as Representative Patterson asked questions of Rep. Joe Greathouse of Fort Worth. Three times Patterson repeated a question.

"I can't understand you for your moustache," said Greathouse. "One industry in Texas is paying a tax that the state could not collect legally. It is the tax on intangible assets of railroads. The railroads know that the tax cannot be collected legally; the state tax board admits the same thing." "But by common consent, the tax is paid." "The anomaly results from the recent decrease in railroad earnings. When railroads were big earners the state decided they should be taxed on more than their physical property. Intangible assets also were taxed. They were made tangible for tax purposes by computing the capital value that would, at a six per cent rate, earn annually what railroads averaged annually over a five-year period."

Such a mathematical procedure in 1934 would have resulted in a minus figure for the intangible assets. There would have been nothing to tax as an intangible asset. By agreement intangible assets were left at the figures established by former computations. Why the apparent philanthropy? Former State Tax Commissioner Henry P. Edwards of Dallas explains it in the report of the state tax board which has just been issued. When the assumed intangible assetment is added to the assessment of tangible properties of railroads as a group they are paying taxes on property listed at 25 per cent of its true value. There is no good reason to be at odds with the railroads for being under assessed. The state railroad commission fixed the valuations of material properties in determining bonding powers. Courts hold that a value set for one purpose is the value of all purposes.

Railroad properties are not alone in being under assessed. The tax board made inquiries into the tax records of the state's 254 counties; and concluded:

"Property generally was generally assessed at valorem for 1933 and 1934 at 48 per cent of full value." Very property owners say they are breaking under the tax load and demand a sales tax for relief.

SILKEN SPINDLES

by Laura Lee Brookman © 1935 NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
GALE HENDERSON, pretty and 22, works in a silk mill. She and her 19-year-old brother, PHIL, support their invalid father. STEVE MEYERS, who also works in the mill, asks Gale to marry him. She delays giving her answer.

Gale goes skating, breaks through the ice and is rescued by BRIAN WILSON, whose father, now dead, built the mill. Brian has come home after two years in Paris ready to take his place in the mill.

VICKY TRATCHER, daughter of ROBERT TRATCHER, general manager of the mill, schemes to captivate Brian. She sees him with Gale and is furious. Convinced to meet Gale, she tells her that she (Vicky) and Brian are engaged to be married. Gale, believing Brian has been amusing himself at her expense, is deeply hurt. She refuses to see him again.

Gale goes to a dance with Steve. Phil is here. He is being drunk and bursts into loud denunciation of the mill bosses. Next day PHIL is dead.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXVII
PHIL went on bitterly. "They let out foot of us—Gillaspie and Fritz Moon and Ed Turner and me. Oh, I know why! Some of Thatcher's spies got hold of the fact that we've been holding meetings, trying to get an organization started. That's why they fired us. That's the only reason. Everybody knows Gillaspie was the best man in the spinning room and Ed Turner's worked in the mill for eight years."

Gale said, "But, Phil—"
"Don't think I'm sorry!" he interrupted. His red hair fairly bristled. "Say, I'm glad it happened. I'm glad I'm through slaving for Thatcher and his gang of crooks."
"But what about the others?" Gale asked, "Joe Gillaspie and Fritz Moon and Ed Turner. They've all got families. What will they do?"
"They'll get along. And I'll get along, too. I'll get a job somewhere. Oh—I heard something else tonight. Mary Cassidy got an eviction notice."

"Oh, Phil!"
"Ordered her out unless she can pay up her rent—and of course she can't. What else would you expect of those old robbers? It seems Mary's been talking lately. Must have been pretty free in saying what she thought of the way they treated her at the mill. It got back to Thatcher and now she's got to pay or get out tomorrow."

"But how can she pay her rent when she hasn't any work?" Gale asked indignantly. "She's only been earning a few dollars a week since she left the mill and she's got those two children to take care of. Mary's doing the best she can."
Phil shrugged. "What of it?" he said. "You don't suppose that makes any difference to Thatcher, do you? Sure, he'll put her out. Mary and her children, and all the rest of us, too, can starve for all he cares."

"Poor Mary!" Gale said. "There must be something we can do. Maybe I'd better go over—"
"There's nothing you can do tonight," Phil told her. "Wait until tomorrow and see what happens."

Wait and see what happens!

THE words came to Gale again, standing before her bedroom window, staring out at the darkness. Wait and see what happens! What would happen to Mary Cassidy and her two children if they were put out of their home? How would they live? And what would happen to Gale's father and her brother and herself, with Phil out of a job? Figures danced before her dizzily—$5.40 for groceries, $3.60 for coal, the rent due next week, the $5 Phil owed her that wouldn't be paid now, $1.50 at the drug store, the gas bill that was overdue—

How could she pay those bills when they totaled more than she earned? Yet if they weren't paid—particularly the rent—would she and her father and Phil find themselves out on the street, turned out of their home as Mary Cassidy was to be turned out? No, of course that couldn't happen. Not to her—Gale Henderson. She was letting herself get worked up over something imaginary. She'd find a way to meet the bills. And perhaps Phil would find another job in a day or two, perhaps even tomorrow.

Gale turned away but the icy feeling hung about her heart. "Wait and see what happens," she told herself once more. "Wait and see what happens—"

Phil met her as she came from the mill the next afternoon and they went to Mary Cassidy's. It was a gray day. There had been a drizzling rain all morning and, though the rain had ceased, the air was still damp. It was cold now, too, and there was a sharp wind.

Phil said, "Lem Williams told me the sheriff was down here. He said they were putting Mary's stuff out on the sidewalk." "They're really putting her out? I should think Sheriff Whitman would be ashamed of himself!" "Whitman takes orders from Thatcher just like everyone else in this town. Don't you know that?"

"But a woman like Mary Cassidy, with two little children—!" GALE did not finish the sentence, half-way down the block, saw Mary's cottage. A dozen people—men, women and children—were moving about and, at the edge of the walk, in a disorderly pile, was a pitiful array of furniture, bedding, dishes, clothes, a bag of coal, and a box containing food. Bed posts were staked against a table and chairs piled on top. A mattress, doubled over, sprawled on the ground, a tea kettle beside it. Half a dozen potatoes had fallen from a sack and a child was picking them up.

Another youngster, a boy of 8 or 9, came running toward them. "Miss Cassidy's been 'victed!' he shouted. It was a new game to the child and he was excited. Gale said, "Oh, it's horrible! Look—there's Mary."

She hurried forward to where Mary Cassidy was sitting in a battered rocking chair. The woman wore a coat, but her head was bare and the wind blew her hair back from her forehead. She looked years older. She sat with shoulders bent, as though trying to protect the wriggling 2-year-old in her arms. The child was fretful, whimpering.

Gale took one look at her and came to a decision. She said, "Mary, you're coming home with us."

For a moment she thought the older woman hadn't understood. Mary Cassidy said brokenly, "They threw me out of my own house. They took my job and then they threw me out. Now I got nothing—no place to live, no place to sleep. What're my kids goin' to do without even a place to sleep? How'm I goin' to get anything for 'em to eat?"

"But, Mary," Gale said, "I've just told you. You're coming home with Phil and me."
"I can't leave my stuff here," Mary objected, shaking her head. "I got to stay and watch it."

RUTHIE CASSIDY, aged 6, gazed at her mother from beyond a broken chair on which stood a pile of dishes, topped by a coffee pot. Ruthie wore a knitted cap, faded and several sizes too large, and a man's coat fastened with a safety pin. Her hands were bare. She had been listening and she came toward her mother.

"Can't we go, Ma?" she asked. "It's gettin' dark and I'm aw cold."
A woman stepped beside Gale. "I'd ask 'em to stay with us," she said, "only Joe's sister's family moved in last week. My, but it's sad—them two little tykes out here like this—!"

"They're coming home with me," Gale said determinedly. "Mary, we'll find a place for your furniture."

A little woman in a faded green coat joined the group. "She can store some of her things in our house," she said. "It's just across the street."

Mary Cassidy did not seem to understand. "They got no right to put me out," she repeated stubbornly. "They got no right—"
The baby whimpered louder and Mary turned her attention to him. Ruthie clutched at her mother's skirt. "Let's go, Ma," she urged. "I'm so cold!"
Gale had turned and was looking for Phil. She saw him at a distance and called.
"The woman in the green coat went on. 'Miss' Brookman could make room for some of them things. I'll ask her—'"
Phil came up then and Gale said to him, "Mary's coming home with us, but we've got to find some place first to store her things. She can't just leave them here."
"O. K.," Phil said. "I'll get some of the fellows to help."
In 10 minutes the men were carrying Mary's possessions into neighboring houses.

of Eastland county has filed divorce proceedings against his wife, Florence Evelyn Lee or Tom Green county. Allegation that she was extravagant, habitually drunk, and brutally whipped an 8-year old child, Robert Wayne, are set forth by the petitioner. That his wife commenced drinking four years ago and because of her cruel, harsh tyrannical conduct had impaired his health and rendered living with her insupportable, is recited by the petitioner. Because of his wife's conduct and impeding his job with a major oil company and other things, the petitioner seeks the divorce. Community estate is listed as 60 shares of capital stock of Humble oil, an automobile worth $400 and furniture of $2,500, the petitioner further asks for property.

CITY OF RANGER SUIT DISMISSED. Order of 88th district court dismissing suit of City of Ranger vs. Hall Walker and M. R. Newham, assessing court costs to Real Estate

Clean Out Kidney Poisons

Wash Out Your 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes

If kidneys don't pass 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters may become clogged with poisonous waste and the danger of acid poisoning is greatly increased. Bladder passages are difficult, which often smart and burn like scalding water and cause discomfort.

This acid condition, brought about by poor kidney functions is a danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Most people watch their bowels which contain only 27 feet of intestines but neglect the kidneys which contain 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters. If these tubes or filters become clogged with poisons, it may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't run any risk. Make sure your kidneys empty 3 pints a day.

Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used successfully for over 40 years. O 1934, Foster-Milburn Co. No. 13-R

HELD IN CAR THEFT

EASTLAND, Feb. 28. — Paul Dean Barker of Eastland, 17-year-old "baby bandit" who was assessed 20 years at Fort Worth Saturday, was returned to Eastland Tuesday night by Steele Hill, deputy, on a bench warrant for automobile theft. The deputy sheriff said the theft for which Barker is held was allegedly executed some time ago.

Barker pleaded guilty to five charges pending against him at Fort Worth after hearing a jury in criminal court assess the 20-year penalty for one robbery. Judge Willis McGregor at Fort Worth ordered Barker confined for 20 years for each charge, the sentences to run concurrently.

The Yount-Lee Oil company for a reported $100,000,000 were "far from completion" but refused to elaborate upon the statement.

Private reports were that at least one of the Yount-Lee directors had not yet signed necessary papers to close the deal which Stanolind officials admitted was being handled through a "third party."

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 28. — Oregon plans to open up its Canyon Creek game refuge to hunters with bow and arrow. Archers would be allowed to hunt deer and other game on payment of a $15 license fee.

WILD WEST DAYS

SWEET HOME, Ore., Feb. 28. — Ralph Payne's idea of a good time is shooting out street lights. He was indulging in that sport when arrested by the city marshal. Payne had also knocked in a store front just as an afterthought.

OGDEN, Utah, Feb. 28. — Who would identify a cow or a chicken as a manufacturing plant? That is what a bill introduced in the House of Representatives here wants to do, stating that they produce "salable goods."
