APPOINTMENTS REMOVE TWO STATE SOLONS

AUSTIN, Sept. 11 — State Sen. Margie Neal, of Carthage, here today said she had declined appointment as recorder of the general land office Washington.

AUSTIN, Sept. 11 — Two vacancies will occur in the 43rd legislature which convenes in special session here next, Thursday, it became apparent today.

Sen. Margie E. Neal, the only woman member of the present Texas senate, today was named recorder of the general land office by President Roosevelt.

Ford Conferring With Officials

DETROIT, Sept. 11.—Henry Ford, who "escaped" from his wilderness retreat near Big Bay, Mich., under the canvas covering of an automobile trailer and returned secretly to Detroit, conferred with company officials today, presumably over the NRA automobile code which he has refused to sign.

It was believed that Ford shortly would break the silence he has steadfastly maintained since it became known that the 80,000 workers the employees would not be under NRA regulations.

LOCAL OPTION LAW PRESENTS INTRICACIES

By RAYMOND BROOKS
AUSTIN, Sept. 11 — Counties and precincts that voted on local option for beer will have a hard time changing their minds now.

Future local option elections are but one of numerous intricate questions of law affecting the sale of beer after Sept. 15.

Many local officials are now concerned whether those who live in local option dry areas may go outside and buy beer and legally transport it back to their homes.

A uniform procedure will be worked out to govern this. Under the old local option law before statewide prohibition, it was legal to take your liquor with you—for your own use—into local option dry territory.

The attorney general's department has construed this question.

"Whether, when a whole county voted dry by local option Aug. 26, a precinct in the county may call another election."

It cannot.

Hereafter, the election can only be on a county-wide unit; and under the beer law, the next election cannot be held within less than six months of the first. Elections may be called every six months, but will be countywide in each instance.

Other questions are whether publications containing beer advertising can be sent into local option dry areas, or whether such beer advertising can be published within the dry areas.

It appeared probable that the legislature, convening next Thursday, will be called upon to clarify numerous uncertainties of the present law.

INCREASE IN ALL SCHOOLS IS PREDICTED

The beginning of a new adventure for hundreds of students in Cisco today was just a day of feverish activity for almost half a hundred instructors. At both the public schools and Randolph college, estimates of the enrollment to noon were out of the question. It was freely predicted, however, that increases over last year would be shown.

At the high school the period was the busiest first day in several years. Supt. R. N. Cluck said. He was pressed into service to assist Principal H. Brandon and others of the high school faculty check the registrations as they were turned in.

Classes will start at the high school and throughout the entire public school system tomorrow at 2:30 a. m. This afternoon the high school schedule will be run through in order to correct conflicts and make assignments for tomorrow's work.

At Randolph college Dean E. B. Isaacs said that it was impossible to estimate what the attendance would be when enrollment is completed. He and the rest of the faculty were kept busy all day registering students. The schedule of classroom work has been posted in one room and in there the new students select their courses, filling out the necessary card.

In contrast to the two housed last year, the girls' dormitory will have a large number of out-of-town students, early arrivals indicated. The boys dormitory, which sheltered 21 students last term, will show no decrease in boarding students.

Classes will not start at the college until Wednesday, tomorrow, being given over to registration. All students who arrive tomorrow will be on time for the opening of the term, the dean said.

Assignment of teachers to the ward schools will not be done until tomorrow Supt. Cluck said. This cannot be done until enrollment figures of the various schools are available.

60 Employees Added by Cisco NRA Firms

Tabulation of 163 NRA questionnaires returned to the Cisco committee by business firms who signed the president's re-employment agreement reveals that approximately 60 workers have been added to the payrolls of these firms in the campaign, the committee announced today.

Although some of these workers are temporarily employed, the tabulation reveals the willingness of business men here to comply with the terms of the voluntary agreement in spirit as well as letter, the committee said.

The questionnaires also show that all employers answering are paying at least the minimum wages, and that many are paying much above the minimum schedules. These facts reflect a considerable increase in the payroll volume here, a result aimed at by the campaign to lure a return of prosperity through stimulating purchasing power.

Three others are candidates for baptism next Sunday.

BUSINESS NEWS FROM TEXAS IS STILL CHEERFUL

DALLAS, Sept. 11 — Business news continued on the whole cheerful in Texas this week as sensational development in two of the state's leading industries produced alternate gloom and optimism.

The $6,000,000 citrus industry of the lower Rio Grande Valley was damaged 75 to 90 per cent by the hurricane, but as relief work got under way plans to salvage wind-fallen fruit were initiated. What percentage of the damaged fruit it would be possible to save was difficult to estimate.

Coincidentally with the blow to hopes of citrus growers, who before the hurricane faced the brightest crop prospects in years came augury of better days for the oil industry. Operators envisaged "dollar oil" as major companies posted increases which Friday reached a top of 92 cents a barrel for north and north central Texas oil and 90 cents for East Texas crude. The average rise of 30 cents meant $292,560 a day more to producers under the government's daily allowable of 975,000 barrels.

The cotton market accepted the government's estimate of 1933 production at 12,414,000 bales calmly although it was depressed at first by other factors. Indications were Texas growers would receive around five cents a pound more for their estimated 3,815,000 bales this year than they got for their 4,500,000 bales this year.

Farm Income Grows
The general farm income continued to grow. From various sources it was indicated the August farm income was in excess of $28,000,000, the largest in two years.

The Federal Reserve's optimistic report of increased sales in both retail and wholesale lines was corroborated by growing bank clearings at Dallas, the state's leading wholesale center. For the week ending September 2, they amounted to $29,114,395.04, more than $9,000,000 in excess of clearings for the same week a year ago. Weekly gains were more than $1,000,000 have been reported consistently for the past several weeks.

The mohair industry opened the season in West Texas with 6,500,000 pounds moving to warehouses as prices held around 200 per cent higher than last season at 30 to 35 cents a pound for small clips to 40 cents for kid hair.

As the fall shearing season started spring wool tipped 30 cents, the season's high up to that time.

LATEST GOV'T MUST SHOW IT HAS STRENGTH

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Recognition of the San Martin government in Cuba depends on its ability to maintain order and command the support of the people, it was explained at the white house today.

It was added President Roosevelt was maintaining his "watchful waiting" policy, hoping it would be unnecessary for this government to intervene.

At the same time Sec'y of State Hull again stated the American attitude toward the various Cuban factions was absolute impartiality.

Thirty American armed vessels are expected to complete the naval concentration about Cuba tonight.

The first formal approach for recognition of the new San Martin government was made today when the Cuban embassy informed the state department of the new president's inauguration yesterday.

NEW PRESIDENT WORKS TO COMPLETE CABINET

HAVANA, Sept. 11.—Hopeful the danger of armed American intervention has passed, President Ramon Grau San Martin today sought to complete his cabinet and rally political leaders to his support.

The new president hoped to persuade leaders of the half dozen political parties that only by backing him in a nationalist government could intervention be averted and normal conditions restored.

Confused as the situation was the universal opposition of Cubans of all shade of political opinion to intervention was pronounced and was being solidified in anti-American feeling.

OFFICERS SEEK GEO. KELLY IN OKLAHOMA CITY

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 11.—While Harvey P. Bayley, accused kidnaper and killer, lay chained in a jail cell reading a Bible, federal authorities here today were pursuing a clue that George (Machine Gun) Kelly may be in Oklahoma City.

Kelly and his wife are the only persons still at large of the 14 accused in the $200,000 kidnaping and ransom of Charles F. Urschel.

A man and woman fitting descriptions of Kelly and his wife, Katherine, were in Yukon, small town 20 miles west of Oklahoma City, about midnight and drove toward the city.

A NOTABLE LEGAL CAREER.

A distinguished native Texas lawyer has passed, in the death of R. A. John of Houston.

Mr. John was born in Bastrop county, a neighbor of the venerable Gov. Joseph D. Sayers. He was educated at Southwestern university in Georgetown, and began his law practice in that city.

Gov. Sayers in 1899 appointed him state's attorney before the court of criminal appeals. He removed to Beaumont in 1903, and from there to Houston in 1908.

Judge John was married at Georgetown in 1887 to Miss Margaret Houston Morrow, granddaughter of Sam Houston.

In Mr. John Bastrop county gave to the state one of that group of illustrious men in whose names its renown endures. His service to Williamson county and to the state stands out with the same distinction as his career as a private practitioner of the law.

DISASTER RELIEF.

The legislature is certain to have before it measures for relief of the hurricane-stricken Valley.

Relief is of two kinds: the emergency feeding and shelter of storm victims; provisions for setting up shop again and carrying on.

The first type is being taken care of well, with resources of both the state and the nation mobilized swiftly and efficiently. The other is, on the whole, the biggest job.

The first need, after caring for the injured and feeding and housing the homeless, is to make provision by which the Texas citizens in the Valley may rebuild, may restore a semblance of the normal order, and may remain in the Valley country.

The thing of greatest importance is to make it possible for them to rebuild their homes and business establishments, and to carry on in the Valley. The alternative would be for many thousands to drift away, leave the beautiful and well-developed section in its present desolation, and permanently reduce the Valley to a lower level of development.

Dollars spent quick enough to let the people rebuild the Valley and make it possible for them to stay there will be productive dollars. Their spending—if spent quickly—will preserve what otherwise will be abandoned and lost; and will enable those who have suffered such losses to get going again toward recovery.

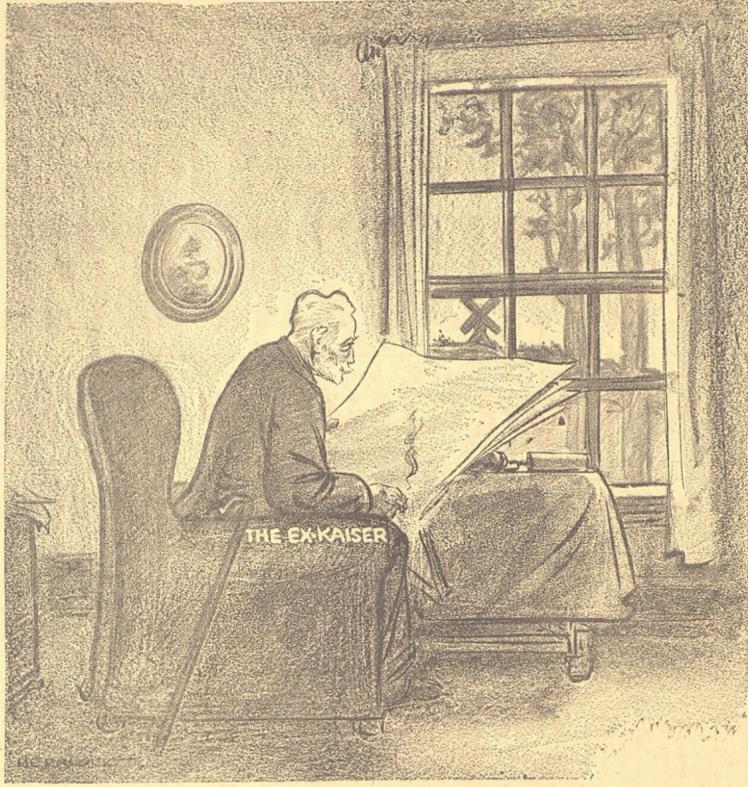

Tax remission, moratoria on the heavy bond-payment tax levies, and the like in the long run will be of general benefit; but the greater need is ready money or credit to put the houses back in shape again to be lived in; to repair and restock the business establishments; to re-create the citrus orchards that were seriously damaged. This year's fruit crop is lost. If the government pays for its destruction, as it paid for values and in preserving the Valley. If the state can assist in this, and if the state can apply relief funds, and rehabilitation funds quickly enough, it will make possible that those who are willing can stay on in the Valley and rebuild much, if not most, of the unmeasured toll of storm damage.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON E. WAITE Shawnee, Oklahoma.

W. D. Hastings, publisher of the Columbia (Tenn.) Herald, says:

"When cold facts displayed in type in an advertisement come in contact with printers' ink, they make an indelible and lasting impression upon the human mind.

"Wifful waste is apt to create woe! want. And yet that is what is taking place in this country today. The destruction of cotton, the slaughtering of hogs. The use of printers' ink properly backed up by convincing words might have convinced Secretary Wallace that it would have been more profitable in the long run to have castrated the male hogs rather than slaughter the sows and pigs.

"It is better to give than to receive. Therefore, it would be better to allow these hogs to grow to maturity, slaughter them then and pack them away in bacon and give it to the poor and needy.

"It is better to have a half loaf than no loaf at all, but when there is a whole loaf in sight, why discard it for a half loaf? This holds good with the swine. A 225 pound hog will go further than a 100 pounder.

"Nothing is so convincing as a statement printed on cold black letters—nothing is so lasting upon the mind. That this is a fact has been demonstrated through the ages that have passed. Then why will the national advertiser kid himself by thinking he is getting over something impressive when he talks it over the radio? Radio is in one ear and out the other. The old masters got theirs from printers' ink, spread upon the pages of the text books. Printers' ink makes a lasting impression, an impression that time alone can erase.

"Just one more and then I'm through. You can fool all the people some of the time, but can't fool some of the people all of the time." Therefore, right is bound to prevail and the advertiser who thinks he can make a conversation over the radio stick will wake up and find that he has spent his money for nothing and he is just where he began and will have to go back into the columns of his old home paper, thasall."

News Want Ads Bring Results.

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TODAY

EVE HAYLES, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bixby's department store, marries DICK RADEB, a construction superintendent. Dick wants Eve to stop working but she refuses.

Unknown to Dick, Eve plays the stock market on borrowed money ARLENE SMITH, a stenographer at Bixby's, buys stock on Eve's advice but loses all her money. SAM HOLMIDE, an advertising man employed by another store, is infatuated with Arlene.

MONA ALLEN, copy writer, dislikes Eve and is responsible for several errors at the office for which Eve is blamed. The building on which Dick has been working is completed and his employers tell him they will have no more work for him for at least two months. He tries to make the best of this situation but Eve is discontented.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXI

JUNE'S roses had faded and Mrs. Brooks' garden took on a slightly parched and neglected look. The Brooks boys were away for the summer, working in the kitchen of a lake-side camp. Hence the entire care of the place fell on Mrs. Brooks, who seemed in need of a rest.

Dick noticed this and made it a habit to sprinkle the lawn once a day, either at sunrise or after sunset. He never wakened Eve until he had prepared breakfast and he insisted upon relieving her of all details of the housekeeping.

"Why not?" he asked. "It's bad enough to have you cooped up all day in an office. You need all the time out-of-doors we can possibly manage. Besides, I haven't anything else to do."

He took her to the office in the yellow roadster and Eve found him waiting at the side entrance of Bixby's at the close of each day. Dick never seemed to mind the mileage and usually took her home the longest way, driving along the lake until they were forced to cut across town. That cool drive was a blessing during the July heat which settled in sultry monotony over the city.

Eve looked forward eagerly to her vacation but found she must wait until August for it. Despite all Dick did to make things easier for her she could not suppress a feeling of vexation when he put his golf clubs in the car and drove on to the links after leaving her at Bixby's. Earle Barnes usually left the store early two afternoons each week for a foursome of golf with some advertising men but Eve, who had enjoyed playing in other years, found herself unable to leave the office during the day and too tired for such exertion after business hours. More and more responsibility fell to her lot as Barnes found her trustworthy and thus relieved himself of additional burdens.

"How is Dick?" Arlene asked one morning. Eve answered bitterly, "Oh, he's busy! Busy playing golf and solitaire and reading technical stuff."

"Why, Eve, don't you love him any more?" asked Arlene in mock horror. "Of course," Eve replied, "but it's so stuffy in this office right now and it's so nice out-of-doors. Anyway men get all the breaks!" She swallowed a lump in her throat.

ARLENE reminded her, "But Dick doesn't want you to keep on working."

"I'm going to just the same!" Eve announced firmly. "I'm going to find out what it's like to be an advertising manager—and don't you forget it!"

Mona came in then and the conversation was dropped. That night Eve found a new trellis decorating the porch. Dick had made it. She went with her to the garage where he showed her a pergola for the garden and more trellis work for the other porches.

"Why Dick," she said, "those are lovely! Why don't you make these to sell?"

Dick's only reply was a look of forbearance.

"But you might as well be earning some money," Eve persisted. He merely looked at her again and this time Eve felt rather uncomfortable.

Dick finished making the trellises that week and set them up. He added considerably to the attractiveness of the house and Mrs. Brooks was overjoyed.

The four weeks of July dragged on as though they were four months. Eve had never minded working during the summer, but this year her discontent was chiefly due to the fact that she was working while her husband was not. Once she suggested that Dick might look for work and he gave her a withering glance. However, he cheerfully did the housework, continued to drive her to the office and call for her at the end of the day. Once each week he took her to some resort along the lake for a shore dinner. They usually finished the evening with a swim in the lake or a dance or two before the long ride home.

EVE was glad that Dorothy McElhinney was spending the summer with her parents out of town. At least Dick would be free from her persistent wiles. Miss Leeds was on a European tour and Eve missed her. The cards which she sent from Switzerland and Italy awakened in Eve a strong desire for such a trip.

"I suppose we'll never be able to go to Europe together," Eve murmured discontentedly.

"Why not?" asked Dick. "Look at all the money we are losing!" she pointed out. "The salary you might have earned this summer would have covered such a trip for us."

"Yes and it might have made a down payment on the Empire State Building," Dick answered. "But I'm not sure that is just what I would have done with it!"

Thus he answered each of Eve's gibes concerning his lack of employment.

According to the policy of Bixby's store, Mona Allen and Mrs. Penney did not receive vacations because they had worked there less than a year. Arlene departed for two weeks at a Y. W. C. A. camp. "I'll have some fun even if I don't meet any eligible admirers," she said good-humoredly when she left the office. "If it hadn't been for my little financial flier I'd be starting out on a vacation that would warrant a couple of inches' notice in the Sunday Times."

THE following week Eve received a letter from Arlene. She read excerpts from it to Dick that evening.

"Sam brought me here in his roadster," Arlene had written. "I didn't want him to at first because—well, you know. But he insists he stopped drinking the night he met me at Fred's party and hasn't touched liquor since. He says I am more inspiration to him than the best gin on the market. Anyhow he brought me a huge box of chocolates too, and there's always a letter in the morning mail."

"I love it here! I lead the 'staircase' choir every morning after breakfast and now I'm working up an act for Stunt Night.

"Thanks for the books you sent. For the first time in my life I have enough time to read. I'm leaving in a moment for my morning swim. Give my love to Mona. . . ."

Eve stopped reading and said, "Sam must be glad Arlene is who she won't meet anyone to give him competition."

"You did romantic!" Dick challenged.

"Well, it's a neat little triangle just the same. Sam likes Arlene and Arlene likes George Bliss. I'm not sure who Bliss cares for."

"And I like you and you'll have to pay for looking as sweet as you do!" Dick told her, gathering her into his arms.

But their life together was not always so peaceful. There was the evening when Eve, looking up from a magazine, exclaimed, "Dick, I don't know why you have to keep puffing at that old pipe all the time! That's the fifth time you've filled it since I came home."

"Wrong! It's the sixth," he told her cheerfully, knocking the ashes into a low brass bowl.

"I think you smoke too much," Eve went on in a petulant voice. "Worried about my health, dear?"

"No, I'm thinking how much it costs!" she blurted out. "Smoking is an expensive habit. You aren't working and yet you smoke just as much as ever."

"When a man isn't working he needs recreation more than ever. And I take my exercise smoking," he teased.

"Oh, you're impossible!" Eve cried as she flung herself into a lounging chair.

"See here, Eve!" Dick said firmly. "When I'm working I stow away all the shekels I can spare and when hard times come around I guess I can still afford to smoke if I feel like it!"

He arose abruptly and a moment later the outer door slammed. (To Be Continued)

OUT OUR WAY

THE OLD AGE - AND THE NEW

S. M. U. TO HAVE GREEN 11, BUT CHANCES GOOD

By MERRILL E. COMPTON United Press Staff Correspondent DALLAS, Sept. 11 - The football hopes of Southern Methodist university of Dallas will depend this season on Sophomores.

Twelve letters from the team which ended the Southwest conference race in fifth place last season have graduated leaving holes in the line and backfield. Several other lettermen may not return.

The 45 candidates expected to report September 20 to Head Coach Ray Morrison for practice will include 28 second year men; two junior college men and 11 other with only one year's experience on the squad.

Three seniors are expected to be candidates for the team. "It will be the greenest squad I've ever had, yet I believe it will be one of the best," Morrison said. "These kids showed plenty of ability in spring training and they've got the best team spirit I ever saw. They've got dash and fire and they can throw the ball around."

Real Material "It is the kind of material we need for our 'aerial circus.' The public likes that style of offense and we're going to give them plenty of it this fall."

Two of the 45 or more reporting are apparently assured of regular varsity assignments. They are Ray Fuqua and Louis Smith, each ends and rated by Morrison as two of the finest the school has boasted.

Understudying them will be four second year men including Maco Stewart, former all-state high school star from Corsicana. Cecil Colvill, Hillsboro, Bill Tipton, Cammona, and Jim Kelly, Dallas high school finish the list.

Stewart underwent an appendicitis operation this summer. He may be late getting into condition.

Another all-state high school selection reporting for his first varsity season is Billy Stamps, the short, little guard who teamed with Stewart at Corsicana. J. C. Wetzel of Dallas, is regarded as the second most likely candidate.

Other guard material includes Glenn Laimore, Tulsa, Okla.; Rosser Laughlin, Durant, Okla.; Rollin Dixon, Wichita Falls; Tommie Fields and Charles Baker of Cheroke.

Each of the Oklahomans are juniors. Fields, eligible under the new rule permitting junior college men to play on conference varsity teams, played at Weatherford Junior college last year.

The battle over center involves two sophomores and a junior. Superior speed may give Arthur Johnson of Tyler, one of the stars on the freshman team of last year, the call.

Jim Bradford, San Antonio, a junior, and Buster Raborn of El Dorado, Ark., are the others listed as most likely candidates for this post.

In the backfield Morrison faces one of his biggest problems. Kenneth Travis, regular quarterback, Captain Howard Sprague, fullback and Bert Baxter, half, will be missing. The latter married this summer, will not return to Southern Methodist.

The shuffle of cards will likely result in some of the material labeled now as "quarterback" fulfilling other assignments.

Six seek the signal-barker's job. The list include J. R. Smith and Jack Little, both of Dallas, Shaly Burt, Hillsboro, Bob Turner, Weatherford, Harry Shuford, Tyler and Jack McNutt, Corsicana. McNutt is a senior, the others sophomores.

Haskell Ross, Farmersville, also a senior, is rated as the best bet for fullback. Whitney Baccus, Estelline, Robert (Bob) Wilson, all-state backfield man while at Corsicana high, Jack Scagraves, Teague, James Russell and Jackie Gore, both of Dallas, and Charles Chinn, Waco, are other backfield men.

Air Game Due for Revival in Southwest Conference, Texan Sports Editor Says

By DICK WEST Daily Texan Sports Editor

Seven southwest conference schools will officially open their training for the 1933 football campaign today with over 315 athletes participating in the first day's workout.

Never before in the history of the conference have experts so widely disagreed as to the favorites for the forthcoming title won by the Texas Christian Frogs last season.

For the past three years, ever since the University of Texas shattered the S. M. U. Ponies in Austin 35-7, practically all the teams have been blessed with a wealth of material and have used this material in the production of power teams.

The following season, 1931, saw the ponies prance to another title, but it was accomplished by a power team and not a passing one. Only once during the entire season did Morrison cut loose, and that was in the game with St. Mary's university on the Pacific coast. Last season, Francis Schmidt, T. C. U. coach, studied past history and took advantage of his strong line to wield a crafty offense together that packed power.

The Cycle Again The 1933 season, however, is another story. The cycle seems to have turned again. Clyde Littlefield announces at Austin that he will use all his passers to advantage. Ray Morrison asserts emphatically that he will employ every trick pass in his repertoire. Morley Jennings at Baylor will take advantage of two fine ends by using passes. Schmidt, using the clever Langdon and Pulliam to throw the oval, will resort to the air. In fact, nearly every coach in the circuit plans to "shoot the works" offensively during the ensu-home, but he has T. C. U., Baylor, Arkansas, and Rice in his home lot.

Fourth Place Prospects

Texas Christian, Baylor, and Arkansas will fight it out for the fourth position with Schmidt having a slight, advantage because of last season's championship aspect.

The Frog backfield will not cause much trouble because of the lack of a dangerous ball carrier like Hilliard, Rex Clark, Eastland, seems to be the Purple's best bet for an ace runner. Baylor, with two brilliant ends, a good schedule will be tougher than usual. Arkansas, reinforced by a group of prep stars from the flashy El Dorado Prep school, will give Fred Thomsen something to work with for the first time in many years and he can be counted on to produce something that might startle the fans' eyes.

The experts, then, are in a dilemma. Only one thing is certain - T. C. U. will not win the title again because one school just does not repeat as a champion in this conference. If you want to bet, bet on that.

HUGE ALL-STAR CAST USED IN 'GOLD DIGGERS'

Enough stars, featured players and Hollywood beauties to make up interesting casts for at least six other feature films went into the making of Warner Bros. picture, "Gold Diggers of 1933," which comes to the Palace theatre tomorrow for a 4 days run.

Considered one of the most important films on the year's production schedule of the Warner Studios, no expense was spared in making it outstanding from every angle—and cast, was not the least of these angles.

The name of Warren William alone, or of Joan Blondell, contains enough box office appeal in itself. But added to these two names in this picture are such players as Aline MacMahon, Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell, Guy Kibbee, Ned Sparks, Ginger Rogers, Agnew Tammany Young, Sterling Holloway and Ferdinand Gottschalk.

Added to this is the list of two hundred Hollywood beauties who make up the ensembles in the musical numbers which form an important part in the story. These beauties were picked by Busby Berkeley, who also directed the ensembles, after interviewing several thousand applicants in various Southern California cities, and making a final choice after a series of numerous screen tests.

The collection of two hundred beauties which resulted from these tests constitute a complete category of what is considered feminine pulchritude from every viewpoint.

Mervyn LeRoy, who is responsible for some of the most outstanding hits in motion picture history of the past few years, handled the direction of this musical-comedy-drama.

A battery of high-powered story and song writers went into its creation. The play on which the picture was based was written by Avery Hopwood, and adapted for the screen by Erwin Gelsky and James Seymour, with dialogue written by David Boehm and Ben Markson.

The music and lyrics are from the pens of Harry Warren and Al Dubin, who wrote all of the song hits for the successful "42nd Street."

"Striking" Medal For Huey's Socker

Yessir, you'll have to admit this medal's "striking." It was struck to commemorate the washroom gladiator who struck Senator Huey Long in the memorable Battle of Long Island. On the face of the medallion is an unflattering piscatorial caricature of the "Kingfish" receiving a poke from a fish which emerges from a washbowl. The Latin inscription reads: "By public acclaim for a deed accomplished in private."

WETS PREDICT REPEAL MARGIN IN MINNESOTA

ST. PAUL, Sept. 11—Judging solely from the number of signers, who affixed their names to petitions of the United Repeal Council and the Consolidated Drys, wets will carry Minnesota's special election on repeal of the 18th Amendment by a ratio of 2 1-2 to 1 tomorrow.

Some 70,000 persons, signed petitions, which placed 21 wet leaders on the ballots in the bracket marked "For Repeal." Only 30,000 names backed the petitions of the dry candidates.

Wets were confident that Minnesota would fall in line with the parade of state's favoring repeal. John P. Scott, St. Paul, repeal council chairman, said:

"There was no other candidate within 20,000 indorsers of the wet slate when the petitions were filed. We are gratified at the spontaneous results and large number of signatures which the petitions revealed."

Despite the strong campaign the Consolidated Drys, under the leadership of W. G. Calderwood, Minneapolis, have carried out, the wets were unanimous in predicting victory.

Calderwood, however, disagreed. He pointed out that some 20 counties in Western Minnesota are known to be dry strongholds. Although St. Paul is conceded to the wets, Minneapolis is debatable territory.

Calderwood refused to make any

Nude Models Desert Paris Art Quarter

PARIS, Sept. 11.—The langorous ladies, who used to earn their livelihood posing in the nude for the painters of Montparnasse have staged a migration to other climes—in other words, artists' models now are rare in the Latin Quarter.

When art was in full bloom, young women flocked to studios here from all corners of the world. Stockholm sent its blondes, New York its stateily-limbed queens, Spain her dark señoritas while even almond-eyed maidens from the Orient hit the trail.

Good models were in demand and hard to find. Painters like Van Dongen and Foutjta, paid hundreds of francs daily for their models. Other young women who made art an excuse to come here to display their shapely lines always could depend on earning ten francs an hour posing, although the price might include such sundry jobs as washing the artist's spare shirt and cooking a meal in his camed kitchen.

But the crisis has hit both artists and models. The artists went first. Home they went—to Berlin, Chicago, London or Vienna, leaving a mountain of bills.

The models, with no artists left have had to find other fields.

A very few linger on. These are the real beauties of Montparnasse, who really are worth their money and help the real painters sell the occasional canvases.

Ernest Kay Makes Good With League

AUSTIN, Sept. 11.—Baseball fans who questioned the ability of Ernest Koy, former fullback star on University of Texas gridirons, to make good in baseball today chalked up a point in favor of the 200-pound slugger.

Sports writers of the Piedmont League recently named Koy as the best centerfielder in the loop. The 23-year-old Texas football star is scheduled to finish this season with Newark of the International league.

Newark is a New York Yankee farm. A few Koy fans believe the hard-hitting youngster will be invited to the Yanks' spring training quarters next year if he makes good with Newark this month.

Until the Durham team of the Piedmont League began playing under arc lights, Koy had been hitting at a 367 pace. His average slumped to .345 during night games.
