EASTLAND CO. FEDERATION OPENS 1932 AUSPICIOUSLY

By MRS. W. K. JACKSON
Chairman Press and Publicity, Eastland Co. Federation T. F. W. C.
EASTLAND, Jan. 20.—The Eastland County Federation of Women's Clubs met in Community Club House, Eastland, Texas, on Saturday, January 16, for an all day session. Registration, presided over by Mrs. J. C. Patterson, showed some sixty-five to seventy in attendance. This was considered a gratifying acceptance of the invitation of the Better Homes in America committee for Eastland, hosts for the day to the federation.

The club house was bright with many bouquets of roses from committee and artistic groups of potted plants arranged by P. L. Parker, florist. A comfortable temporary dressing room was provided for wraps, and hostesses for this feature, Mrs. J. L. Cottingham and Miss Overton, appreciated the comfort of the customer loaned for use of the guests by Wolf's. Delightful music throughout the morning recreational hour and luncheon period was provided by Mrs. F. C. Hunter, Miss McCanlies, Miss Lorain Taylor and Mrs. A. F. Taylor. During intermission, fine Electric Victrola music was provided by Harper.

The forenoon occasion was opened informally by the President, Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, who introduced a number of demonstration pastimes, modeled on the school of Dr. Jackson of New York. (School of Recreation), who conducted classes in Eastland at Connelley Hotel a short time since. In connection with these activities, the President introduced the subject of the Home work now so much in vogue for needlewomen, the making of rare and unusual quilts. Several of these were on display, properties of Federation women from over the county, and the District chairman T. F. W. C. Mrs. W. E. Stallier, of Eastland. Folk songs were led by Mrs. Hunter and Mrs. Grady Pipkin and special numbers introduced by president, were from the Music Book, issued by Better Home Bureau, "Morning Comes Early" and "Paripointa." Mrs. Grady Pipkin gave a charming atmosphere to the quilting feature by singing the old song "Aunt Dim's Quilting Party," joined on the chorus by entire group.

From 12:30 to 1:30 the Hostess Committee served a delicious luncheon of salads, sandwiches, nut cakes, stuffed olives, wafers and tea with lemon. The tea table was counterpointed with a landscape of wee houses and trees carrying out Better Homes idea. The silver tea services were presided over by Mesdames W. T. Root and E. C. Satterwhite and the salad trays by Mesdames W. E. Stallier and F. S. Bittle. Assisting Mesdames C. U. Connelley, McGlamery, A. J. Campbell, Meley, Little, Mrs. E. Townsend assisted the hostesses in the club room and Mrs. W. P. Leslie, during the luncheon hour. The tea room was most attractive in green garden furniture and colors carried out in other furnishings, of flowers, and foliage.

Legality of New Cotton Law Tested

FRANKLIN, Tex., Jan. 20.—Constitutionality of the new Texas cotton acreage law was taken to Judge W. C. Davis of the 81st district court here today by County Attorney T. L. Tyson.

He Claims He is Jesse James

COMPLETE HOME DISTILLING PLANT CAPTURED BY POLICE

A small all-copper distilling plant, declared to be the most complete of any ever confiscated in this part of the county, was captured by Chief of Police W. M. Miller and Officers S. G. Tomlinson and Joe Hicks in a Mexican residence here early this morning. One arrest was made by the officers. Double-distilled liquor could be run with the plant. Two copper "pots" one of 15-gallon capacity and the other of five gallons, were taken, together with a copper "thumper" to prevent "belching" of the brew caused by over boiling, and a long copper coil to be immersed in a tub of cold water. The "pots" were small enough to be used conveniently on a cook-stove.

Sterling Victim of Abnormal Times May Be Theme of Campaign for Re-election

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, Jan. 20.—That Governor Ross Sterling, business man was prevented by abnormal times from giving a demonstration of what business methods will do for the state government, probably will be the theme song of his campaign for a second term.

DAILY BIBLE THOUGHT

HE LEADETH ME:—I will bring the blind by a way that they knew not; I will lead them in paths that they have not known: I will make darkness light before them, and crooked things straight. These things will I do unto them, and not forsake them.—Isaiah 42: 16.

BRIDGE A PROSPEROUS INDUSTRY.

Bridge, according to the Associated Press, "is a prosperous big business," which in the opinion of leaders of the industry is assured of a long future. Expenditures on bridge, itself, we are told, are estimated at a $100,000,000 a year with some 20,000 persons making their living from it. Total annual expenditures caused directly and indirectly by the game are around $250,000,000 a year, representing employment for at least 50,000 persons. Bridge books have been selling at the rate of $2,000,000 a year. It is nothing for a small book store to sell as high as $50 worth of bridge books daily. Revenue of two bridge magazines alone is $100,000 a year. Some $50,000,000 is paid each year for instruction to some 2000 teachers. Lessons range from $5 to $50 an hour.

There are large financial investments in a thousand or more bridge clubs. It is easy to spend $20,000 for furnishing. Dues range from $50 a year up. A certain New York club is exclusively for millionaires. One store in a large city in one day sold eight carloads of bridge chairs at a bargain sale. Manufacturers of playing cards are reaping a harvest. Manufacturers of elaborate card table covers are taking in the coin. Yes, bridge "is a prosperous big business." Contract bridge has the call. For more than 100 years poker was the great American game. Now poker has been side-tracked. All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy; all work and no play makes Jill a dull girl.

SALARY REDUCTION THE ORDER OF THE DAY.

Members of the Detroit city council voted to accept a salary reduction of $600 a year, each in accordance with a schedule of pay cuts for city employees contained in an ordinance recently passed by that body. This ordinance provided for a 10 per cent reduction in salaries below $4000 a year and an additional 10 per cent reduction in salaries above that level. San Antonio has followed suit. Mayor Chambers and his commissioners have taken a reduction of 20 per cent. As for the minor employees they have been given a cut of 10 per cent. Pensions for the widows and children of employees who have passed on have been reduced 10 per cent. Uncle Sam has 700,000 employees on his pay roll, exclusive of the army and navy and air branches of the governmental service. Economy is the call and salary reduction is on the way. An American dollar has a purchasing power of 100 cents. Two years ago it had a purchasing power of 60 cents. Low price levels for foodstuffs and feedstuffs are written in box car letters everywhere.

ARTHUR MILLS GIVEN A VERDICT OF GUILTY.

Arthur Mills, former tax collector of McLennan county, had a change of venue to Robertson county. An indictment returned by McLennan county grand jury charged that Mills had misapplied $44,823.60 of McLennan county public funds. His punishment was assessed at four years in the state penitentiary at Huntsville. Now the Mills case will go to the court of criminal appeals. He is the son of the late state Senator Seth Mills, pioneer of McLennan county. He was born and reared on a farm on the Bosque river. He was engaged in farming until 1918 when he was elected county commissioner from precinct four. He served in that office two terms. In the election of 1923 Mills defeated the veteran Lee Davis for the office of tax collector, which he held for eight years, or until Jan. 1, 1931. He was never defeated for county office as he did not offer for the democratic nomination for tax collector in 1930. He chose instead to seek the office of state comptroller, for which he made an active and state wide campaign but was defeated. Many sheriffs have been indicted for collecting exorbitant fees. Several have been convicted and given penitentiary sentences. Now it is announced a Travis county grand jury has returned true bills against holders of county office in several sections of the commonwealth. There is a dragnet out and the trailers are said to be very active. Texas has a most iniquitous fee system. It should be destroyed root and branch.

OTHER OPINIONS

NOT MERE DECORATIONS

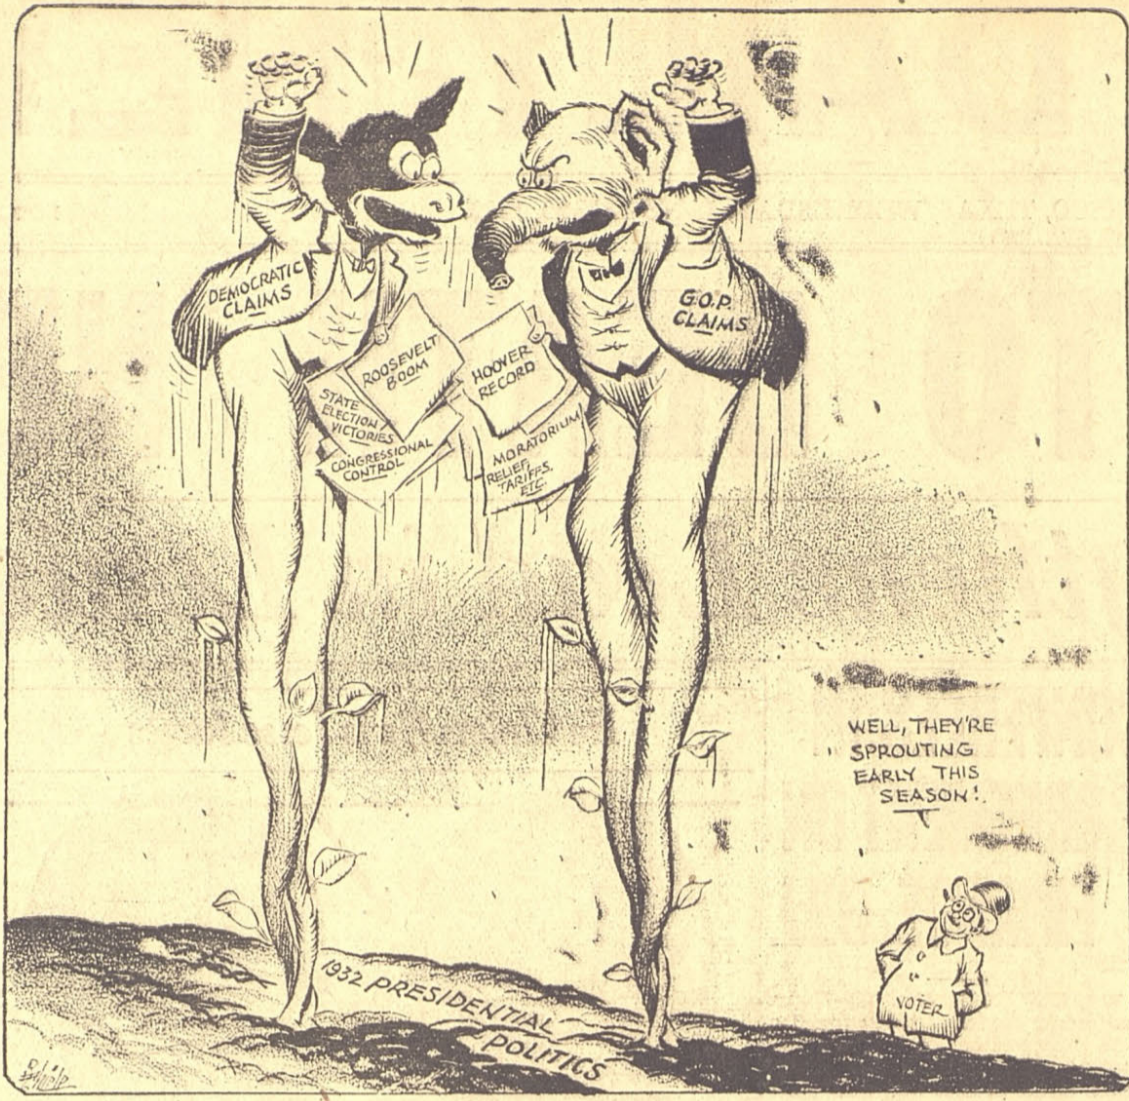

Women democrats think the time has come when they should be given a more important place in the functioning of the party than to serve merely for decorative purposes on committees and in the national conventions. A formal and rather emphatic demand, in fact, has been made by a group including the national committeewomen representing thirty states and two territories for increased recognition for their sex, and it was intimated that the demand would be followed by appropriate action unless it is granted.

Three things are asked by the women democrats. First, they want half the delegates at large to the national convention to be women. Second, they want a larger representation of women in the state delegations. Third, they want more women on the important resolutions committee, where they may take part in the preparation of the party's platform, and also a larger representation on the arrangements committee, in whose hands rest much of the responsibility for "fixing" things in advance of the national conventions.

In justification of these demands the women point out that they are numerically equal to the men, and further that the men have not made such an outstanding success of their management of party affairs during the past few years. Political equality of the sexes has been a legal but not an actual fact for several years, the men of each major party evaluating the votes of the women but neglecting to divide the spoils of privilege and responsibility with them. Now they are asking, and probably will get, full recognition of their equality, and to say they have a right

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, Jan. 20. — A group of nine men and women who sat in Austin early this week has more power than any other body of the two houses of the legislature acting together to effect financial economies to the state.

That group has planned, when it can get away from other duties, to begin a program of efficiency development that will carry the economy part with it. . . . That group has planned, when it can get away from other duties, to begin a program of efficiency development that will carry the economy part with it. . . .

The group is the state board of education, of which Nat M. Washer, able business man, is chairman — a group having such outstanding men in its membership as James O. Gillette of Amarillo.

Its long arm in the direction of efficiency and economy is the power specifically given it by the legislature to deal with the courses of study in the higher educational institutions.

What does that power mean? It means not only authority but the duty of integrating the teacher colleges and the other colleges with the work of the university.

The power extends to making each of the 200 higher state educational institutions a specialized unit. It therefore extends to abolishing 19 sets of overlapping and duplication — nineteen parallel setups for the same type of work.

The power extends to a tremendous change from the present system in which teacher colleges at Alpine, Canyon, Commerce, Denton, Nacogdoches, San Marcos, Huntsville compete with one another in their courses of study. It extends to taking out the lost motion of duplications between Texas Tech, the College of Arts and Industries, the College of Industrial Arts, Arlington and John Tarleton colleges. . . . Duplication between the University of Texas and A. & M. college, and between each group and each other group.

If the revised and specialized curriculum should disclose that Texas can pay the transportation of pupils now attending some of the colleges to others half-way across the state — if it shows that the state has about twice as many teacher colleges as there is any excuse for if it proves that ambitious colleges have crowded into a field of endeavor and set up competing faculties for work they are not justified in attempting, those problems can be worked out in the light of the $5,000,000 present deficit, and the peaceful resolution over excessive taxes.

Its final report probably will prove all of these things.

The board is cautious and rightly so on a matter of this importance.

It found so much to do concerning public school education that it has not yet, in a little more than a year of its existence — since it replaced an ex-officio board of three — to get beyond the problems of public schools.

But it is looking forward to functioning in adjusting the higher education curriculum to Texas needs, rather than the political ambitions of members of the legislature.

The budget is being made for higher education this summer by the board of control. Under a new law, Gov. Sterling will make his own recommendations before the legislature gets the budget. And since the governor has the final say, by veto his recommendations will get respectful attention in the legislature. . . . If the board of education is to make its work of ironing out the foolish, costly duplication — duplication that is injurious actually to the state's system of education by making all mediocre rather than each a highly-developed, specialized unit — its preliminary revisions at least should be made in time to go into the budget.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee, Oklahoma.

That most cities need more street lighting.

In some cities the business section is taken care of while the residential section is forgotten. In other cities, if the business section is lighted up as it should be, the business men have to make up a purse to pay for it.

Every city should have good street lights. When they haven't it just shows that some officials are either asleep on the job or don't realize the importance of proper lighting.

Good street lighting is essential for better business as well as for safety.

Well lighted streets advertise a city and show it to be progressive. The proper lighting of all streets of a city is a public necessity. For any city to cut down street lighting on a theory of economy is foolish.

Proper lighting of streets pays dividends in safety and guards lives and property and increases business. A city well lighted is well liked.

Speaking of the Weather--

by CHARLES TALMAN
of the U.S. Weather Bureau

St. Elmo's Fire One of World's Strangest Phenomena — Not One Person in 10,000 Has Actually Seen It's Crackling Light.

St. Elmo's Fire—which is also called corposants, and by several other names—is one of the mysterious phenomena of the atmosphere.

Ample and accurate information is to be found in comparatively few scientific books, and the majority of these are in foreign languages. The phenomenon, has been known to mankind from remote antiquity and is far from rare, yet it is likely that not one person in 10,000 has ever witnessed it.

St. Elmo's fire is a first cousin of lightning. It occurs chiefly in thundery weather and is a brush discharge of electricity, in the shape of small jets and flames, chiefly from pointed objects, including lightning rods, the masts and spars of vessels, the angles of roofs, etc.

The discharge is accompanied by a hissing or crackling sound, which is sometimes heard in the daytime, when the "fire" itself is invisible on account of its comparatively feeble luminosity. The discharge also occurs in snow storms and dust storms.

Since most of the well-known descriptions of St. Elmo's fire relate to its appearance at sea, the impression prevails, outside of scientific circles, that it is exclusively or chiefly a marine phenomenon. As a matter of fact, however, it is much more common and also more striking in its manifestations on mountains than anywhere else. In this country it is well known on the higher slopes of the Rockies and the Sierras.

It occurs, however, on lowlands as well as in mountainous regions, and in all latitudes. The Egyptian pyramids are occasionally adorned with it, and some brilliant displays have been seen during blizzards in the Antarctic.

At sea the discharges sometimes take the form of one or two starlike objects at the trucks of the masts or the tips of the yardarms, but occasionally the spars, rigging and other parts of the ship are lighted up with a great number of stationary or moving flames, producing a weird spectacle. Many superstitions concerning these lights have prevailed among sailors.

Divorce Fees To Build Jail

RENO, Jan. 20. — Whether a divorce costs $50 or $500 here, the county has collected enough money from decrees granted during 1931 to contemplate building of a new addition to the court house, as well as a new county jail.

A "Bridge of Signs," to connect the second floor of the court house with the second floor of the proposed new jail would also be constructed.

Jail facilities have been crowded in the old Washoe county jail building, adjoining the court house by the rear. Equipment installed some years ago, is also out of date and in poor condition, it is said.

Court conditions in the main building also are crowded, with additional court rooms and offices for court officials required.

It was thought at first that a new jail might be constructed on top of the present court house, but architects disapproved the plan. The building would not support such a heavy addition.

DUMAS — W. G. Henderson purchased and took over management of dry cleaning establishment known as McMurray Dry Cleaners.

MOSLEMS URGE UNIFICATION AT WORLD SESSION

JERUSALEM, Jan. 20. — Unification of Moslems, the largest religious body in the world, was the keynote of the recent Pan-Islamic Congress, here, attended by representatives from all parts of the world.

The congress was not without its excitement, although the momentous question of the establishment of the caliphate, the spiritual and temporal ruler of the Moslem world, was not discussed.

Some of the other questions, however, were of great importance to the Moslems, and were fiercely debated. Resolutions finally adopted included: a protest to the League of Nations against its interference in the adjudication of purely Moslem rights at a Moslem shrine; to boycott in all Moslem lands merchandise produced in Palestine factories; to proclaim to the world that Zionism is a catastrophe for Moslems; to reject the decisions of the International commission regarding the Walling Wall; and to inform the world that Palestinian Moslems desire independence.

Moslem Railroad As was expected the Congress announced that the Hedjaz railway is a Wafid property, belonging to the Moslem world, and as such is inalienable from Moslem control. It is over this railway that pilgrims to Mecca travel. Since the war it has been operated by French and British.

Parents of four sets of twins and grandmothers of seven other children — all born during the last 11 years — is the amazing record of Mr. and Mrs. John Hanley of Robbinsdale, Minn. Some of their grandchildren are older than their youngest twins. All of the twins are healthy and ran out in sub-zero weather to pose with their mother in this picture. The twins are: Norman and Norma, four years old; Helen and Harold, five; Wanda and Waneta, eight; June and Junior, eleven. Mrs. Hanley is behind them. There are two other children in the family, both married. Another died.
