REDS WINNING MINUS ANGLO-AMERICAN AID

Greatest Mother in the World Directs Greatest Program Ever Conceived

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—“The greatest mother in the world,” with a war task ahead, comes to the American people to appeal for funds — March 1-31 — funds to finance the most extensive humanitarian program ever conceived. Goal of the 1943 war fund campaign of the American Red Cross is $125,000,000.

Chairman Norman H. Davis of the Red Cross briefly referred to 1942 accomplishments as a particular reason why this organization is rightfully called “the greatest mother in the world.” Upwards of 30,000,000 people were “mothered” in the first year’s war program.

Aid War Sufferers.

“This report shows, since World War II began, $66,000,000 expended on foreign relief which brought aid to many millions of evacuees, refugees and other war sufferers, and $5,000,000 expended on relief for prisoners of war of the United Nations: since Pearl Harbor, 5,500,000 first-aid certificates awarded; a million and a quarter blood donors; 68,000 nurses aides trained and in training; 520,000 surgical dressings and millions of knitted and other garments made; more than a million trained in nutrition and home nursing courses and more than 1,500,000 members of the armed forces given aid in unravelling personal and home problems.

“Red Cross services to our armed forces, to the needs of distressed civilians on the battle front and home front can be supplied only by great expenditures and some sacrifices. We are exerting our utmost efforts to accomplish these tasks with the least possible drain upon the resources of the people—in funds, time and energy. We must never falter in our determination to meet these definite obligations. The Red Cross is confident that all of our people will be generous in their support of the 1943 war fund.”

Goal $125,000,000.

Of the $125,000,000 goal, $45,000,000 will be used by the 3,755 Red Cross chapters to finance their indispensable needs and their ever increasing local work on behalf of the families of the men in service. The remainder, of $80,000,000 will go to the national organization. This sum with $20,000,000 left from 1942, will make up the $100,000,000 needed by the American Red Cross for its expanded services.

Funds for Armed Forces.

Chairman Davis emphasized that 65 per cent of the funds required by the national organization had been budgeted for Red Cross services to the armed forces. As the armed forces increase, the Red Cross must keep pace. The 1943 program of the Red Cross presents a picture of great expansion in every phase of its work. Blood plasma is one of the most important contributions to the medical branches of the military. It has proved itself by saving the lives of thousands of boys wounded in battle.

Need More Plasma.

So extensive is the use of blood plasma, the army and navy have asked the Red Cross to step up its blood donor service and supply them with 4,000,000 pints in 1943, an increase of 3,000,000 pints over the 1942 requirements.

Clubs for Soldiers.

Red Cross clubs are provided throughout the world, where American soldiers are stationed and granted leave. Here the soldier can eat, sleep and have recreation. In many foreign lands, where soldiers are stationed in isolated points, the Red Cross sends him refreshments and entertainment by clubmobile methods.

Red Cross chapters are expanding their home activities to keep step with the war effort, food rationing, the shortage of doctors and nurses and the manpower shortage has added stress to the importance of Red Cross services. Nurse’s aides and assistant dieticians have proved helpful to hospitals and Red Cross trained members of the motor corp have been called upon in many communities to “man” city ambulances and for many other emergency transport services. Only with the aid of 3,500,000 volunteers has the tremendous task of 1942 been successfully achieved.

Disaster Relief.

Disaster relief continues. The last Red Cross annual report shows that a total of 26,666 homes were destroyed by fire, wind and water, leaving 72,434 Americans without food, clothing or shelter. Made homeless by 149 disasters, sufferers were fed, clothed, sheltered and administered to at a cost of $1,250,000.

From July 1, 1920 to June 30, 1941, the Red Cross has extended relief in the United States to 4,397,711 victims of 1,986 disasters. Disaster struck in every state of the nation and in 2,080 of the 3,070 counties. Disaster relief during the 212-year-period was $97,000,000.

HOME SERVICE.

What is the Home Service department of the Red Cross? Who is entitled to Home Service? What is the Home Service committee of the Red Cross doing in Eastland county?

These are only a few of the questions that might be asked concerning this vastly important branch of the American Red Cross as the war fund campaign gets under way, March 1. Two-thirds of all the donations to the Red Cross war fund will remain in the county and the greater part of that will go to the Home Service department.

Home Service is a Red Cross chapter program which concerns the welfare problems of members of the military and naval forces of the United States, and of disabled ex-service men, and their dependents. It is a primary obligation of all chapters under authority of the congressional charter.

W. C. Campbell, Eastland county Home Service chairman, and E. E. Freyschlag, Eastland county Red Cross chairman, have been advised by Red Cross officials that this county is handling more in proportion to population than any chapter in Texas. This is due to the large proportion of Eastland county men in military service.

Though the Home Service department, committee members perform such duties as reporting to service men any illness that might occur in that soldier’s home; locate for a soldier his family with whom he has lost contact; help solve problems of dependency in a service man’s home; secure emergency furloughs without delay when there is a death or serious illness in the home; secure complete reports on those wounded or missing in action; help tide a soldier’s family over a financial emergency, or help straighten out any other of the great variety of tangles that human beings seem unable to avoid.

This summarizes the tremendous job the Red Cross has before it in rendering vital services to the armed forces of the nation and the task of maintaining morale on the home front.

The basic idea is that the government does not think a man can be a good soldier, sailor or marine unless his mind is free from care concerning matters at home.

Home Service work can be kept up in Eastland county and made possible by great unselfish giving of time and energy and by the contributions large and small of people of all walks of life, and from every corner of Eastland county.

With Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins as county chairman of the campaign, the following committee heads have been named:

Cisco—Mrs. George Fee. Ranger—Judge L. R. Pearson. Gorman—Leonard Stewart. Rising Star—Frank Robertson. Carbon—Frank Stubblefield. Eastland—Mrs. Jack Frost.

MORE WATER FOR GARDENS

There is quite a trend for Victory gardens in Cisco as in other places over the nation, aided and abetted by the government in its plea for more food for soldiers, allies and for the home front as well.

Ciscoans, as usual, are progressive and in the front ranks of any move that will help themselves and their government. They are cooperative and are eager to show that cooperation and loyalty in whatever way seems best. And so, many are planning to put in a garden in the back yard and try to grow their own vegetables, at least.

Then comes the age old problem of whipping the dry weather, which is a usual visitor at the most inappropriate time — just when the garden is in full fruitage and must have water or perish.

Various proposals have been made looking to an increase in the water allowable, so that gardeners could have more water without the prohibitive cost that the regular household rate would impose.

An exploration into the question brings out many points that the average citizen might not know, and brings problems that would have to be solved by the city commission, should they lend an attentive ear to an increase in the water allowable, or a low commercial rate for gardens after the minimum had been passed.

Commissioners Charles J. Kleiner, A. D. Anderson, Geo. Boyd H. S. Drumwright and J. J. Collins discussed the matter very freely and seem to have an open mind to the question, provided difficulties of which they are well aware could be overcome—a fact that is very doubtful, they say. Mayor Mitcham is out of the city and could not be contacted.

All of the commissioners seem to be agreed on the doubt of the ability of the city to furnish enough water for the increased demand, should gardeners be turned loose for irrigation purposes. The very nature of the storage system, which is scattered into three positions; the lack of a modern system of laying of lines, much of which had been laid in earlier years causing much more friction than a more modern laid out system would cause; a bottleneck in the lead lines, not possible to remedy at this time, and the lack of ability to indefinitely increase the amount of water that can be pumped into the city storages, from a multiple of impediments to an increase in water that would be hard to overcome.

Then there would be the cost of keeping the pumps running day and night, and this would be no mean figure. The fact that the city has been trying vainly to pay the bonded indebtedness for several years, would not warrant much increase in city expense. Of course a small charge for water above the minimum would more than take care of the extra pumping expense.

Will Discuss It

J. J. Collins, water commissioner, brought out the fact that some years ago the city’s income from water was more than three times that of the present income before the recent raise in rate. This means that there was being pumped more than three times as much water as at present, and the cost

CITY BOARD OF HEALTH QUOTES LAW

Dr. W. P. Lee, city health officer, makes the following statement in the interest of the public: “The city of Cisco has an ordinance that forbids the use in cafes or other places that serve food to the public, of BROKEN DISHES; also that ALL dishes and containers MUST be SCALDED in BOILING WATER after being used and before being used again. “The city board of health has called my attention to this and I urge the correction of this laxness. “Also, no person without a health certificate is allowed to work where food, cooked or raw, is served.”

BOOTH AUCTION BARNS MOVING OUTSIDE CITY

The Cisco Livestock association is moving its auction barns and pens to a new location outside the city limits this week and work of tearing down fences is under way.

The barns of an auction organization at Moran have been bought which is on the Lake road just beyond Cisco Junior college, according to Paul Booth, secretary and one of the owners of the institution. Other owners are Joe Coats and J. O. Taylor.

It will be several weeks before the organization is ready to begin actual sales, Mr. Booth said.

for pumping was about $100 more per month.

In the face of all these probable reasons why the city could not undertake an increase in allowable at this time to care for gardens, Mr. Collins said he was going to bring the matter before the city commission, probably at their meeting tonight. He said that a few years ago the city did increase the allowable to 5,000 gallons per month for the minimum charge during the months of June, July and August, but that the practice had been discontinued.

Meanwhile, the clamor grows for more water for garden and lawn use, many quoting the fact that citizens were promised that if they would vote for the bond issue with which to build the dam, oceans of water would be available for every possible use. Now they say that a crisis has arisen demanding that Cisco grow much of its own food, and they say that this is impossible if we cannot have water at this critical time. They do not want to launch an enterprise that they are sure would be doomed to failure without an adequate supply of water during the hot, dry months of the year, when the whole year’s work would be depending on that supply, and at prices that would not be prohibitive.

COMMANDER OF ALLIED FORCES IN NORTH AFRICA—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, promoted to the highest U. S. military rank on February 11, directs the operations of the combined American, British and French armies in ousting the Axis from Africa. He was born in Tyler, Texas, in 1890, graduated from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point in 1915, and during the World War was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal for “his unusual zeal, foresight and marked administrative ability” while commanding officer of the Tank Corps Training Center at Camp Colt, Gettysburg, Pa. He has filled many important posts in the War Department and while serving as Assistant Chief of Staff in charge of the operations division, Office of the Chief of Staff, Washington, D. C., in June, 1912, he was designated as commanding general of the European theater with headquarters in London. He organized and commanded the American forces in landing in North Africa November 8, 1942.

“DEATH TO THE INVADERS” WAS STALIN’S EXHORTATION TO TROOPS ON ANNIVERSARY

MOSCOW, Feb. 23. — Premier Joseph Stalin, hailing Russia’s military forces on their twenty-fifth anniversary as “an army of avengers,” said Tuesday that “in view of the absence of a second front in Europe the Red army alone is bearing the whole weight of the war,” and ordered a fight to the death against the German invaders, 4,000,000 of whom he said the Russians had killed in 20 months.

“Death to the German invaders” was his exhortation in a lengthy order of the day which he signed as supreme commander-in-chief.

In it he reviewed both Russian defeats and successes since Germany’s invasion of Russia in June, 1941; assayed the shrinking German chances of success; derided German strategy, and warned his people that a bitter fight remained.

“The enemy has suffered defeat, but he is not yet conquered,” Stalin said. “The German Fascist army is experiencing a crisis because of the blows it has received from the Red Army, but this does not yet mean that it can not recover.

“The Red army has before it a severe struggle against the cunning, cruel, and as yet strong enemy.”

But, said Stalin, “the fact is Fascist Germany is becoming more and more exhausted while the Soviet Union is more and more developing its reserves and becoming ever stronger. Time is working against Fascist Germany.”

Since the beginning of the war, the Russians have put out of commission about 9,000,000 German officers and men, “of which no less than 4,000,000 were killed on the field of battle,” he declared.

“In the last three months alone, 112 enemy divisions have been routed by the Red army, 700,000 men have been killed and more than 300,000 have been taken prisoner,” Stalin said. He also listed huge German equipment losses.

He pointed out that the Russians began their offensive three months ago on the approaches to Stalingrad.

“Since then the initiative in military operations has remained in our hands,” he asserted, with the Russians advancing in difficult weather conditions over a front extending 900 miles.

And, he said, Germany’s “accomplices” in the Rumanian, Italian and Hungarian armies had been defeated.

Manpower reserve, Stalin declared, was the weak spot of the German army now, and he said it was unknown how they could make up the loss in either men or time.

“And time will not wait,” he said.

WINANT MENTIONED.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—There was considerable speculation today that if the rising congressional clamor for removal of War Manpower Commission Chairman Paul V. McNutt succeeds, President Roosevelt may ask John G. Winant, ambassador to Great Britain and an outstanding labor authority, to take over the job as secretary of a reorganized Labor Department.

ASSAILS CLIQUES.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 23. — Wartime sacrifices can not be demanded of “common folk,” says Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, “if the aristocracy of labor unionism is thinking of more dues and more power—and the inner clique of bureaucracy is thinking only of a fourth term.”

OUR OWN CHILDREN.

It is right that Americans consider the starving, homeless children of occupied countries.

Food must be sent them, care given, as soon as may be.

But it is necessary also to consider our own—they must come first.

Bad effects of the employment of women in war industries are already apparent.

Juvenile courts, social workers, are greatly concerned about what they are finding.

The best children in the world cannot grow up to be useful citizens without sensible adult supervision and protection during the growing period. When not only one family of children, but a dozen in the same neighborhood, are left at loose ends day after day, the worst can be expected and is now happening.

The younger ones get into small mischief, and at best are not properly fed or looked after. Slight illnesses develop into serious ones. The older youngsters get into big mischief. They break windows, destroy fences. They steal, they annoy the younger ones. Too many young girls get into personal troubles whose nature and consequences they are too young to understand.

Some of the military organizations will not take any woman with children younger than fourteen. Incidents ought not to take mothers with young children unless the children are positively assured of proper supervision and safeguards. This problem becomes more pressing day by day.

It's not an easy nut to crack, but it's tomorrow's men and women whose foundation of health and character are thus being destroyed.

LARGE MAPS.

"Look at large maps." This was the advice of Lord Salisbury, who for many years combined the offices of British minister and the headship of the Foreign Office, corresponding to our State Department. He was replying to the alarmists who, whenever Russia annexed a few more square miles in Central Asia, shouted that India was in danger. These timid souls failed to consider Asia's vast distances, which must be covered before an invader could be said even to approach India.

The same advice applies, with rather less force, to the Russian gains. They are great indeed, and bid fair to be even greater; but they have by no means made up for the even larger gains made by the Germans in the summer and fall of 1941. Rostov is lost to the Germans, and Kharkov also; but not till Smolensk and Kiev, far nearer the Russian border, are regained, will the balance of territory lost and won begin to tip in Russia's favor. And till that time it will be wiser to keep optimism well under restraint.

REVOLT ON OLYMPUS.

Those Greeks are at it again. They don't appreciate the blessings of starvation brought them by the Nazis, and annoy the damnable invaders by guerilla warfare. Over forty thousand are now operating in six separate bands.

The names of the regions where they are strongest, Olympus and Parnassus, homes of the gods and the muses, sound like echoes of Greece's ancient greatness. Her people, then as now, valued freedom above all. They are guaranteed that liberty will come again, and the Nazi dominion pass like an evil dream.

POST-WAR BASEBALL.

The baseball magnates are doing some post-war planning too. It might be supposed that they had enough present-day anxieties, with worry as to whether war needs will allow baseball to go on at all. But it is wisest to look ahead, both for countries and for individuals; and that is what the baseball chiefs are doing.

High up among their plans is the bringing of major league baseball to the Pacific coast. St. Louis has not for years been able to make two big league teams pay. On the other hand, there is Los Angeles, the fourth largest city in the country and surrounded by populous communities. Distance has heretofore kept California out of the big league picture, but post-war aviation is expected to take care of that.

Such a change, if made, will complete the spread of the national game. In its early days the National League, the older of the two big circuits, was pretty much of an Atlantic Coast affair. When Spalding and Anson were stars in the 70's and 80's, such comparatively small cities as Hartford, Worcester, Albany and Troy enjoyed franchises. A major league team in Los Angeles seemed as unlikely as one in Shanghai. But the world moves, and baseball with it.

COST OF HITLER.

What Hitler is costing the United States is brought home to Americans daily. It is naturally but a small part of what he has cost the world. Anyone liking to soar in financial superlatives may do so by reading the Commerce Department's recently released estimate.

It is quite a tidy little sum: $400,000,000,000 now, with this year's expenditures expected to bring it over $500,000,000,000. That is half a trillion dollars, or $230 for every man, woman and child on the face of the earth, estimating the world's population at 2,169,000,000.

While most of the burden has been imposed on the nations opposed to the Axis, Germany and Italy have paid plenty. German military expenditures since Hitler came to power are estimated at more than a hundred billion dollars. In less than three years, since Italy cast her lot with the Nazis, that mislead country has spent more than eight billion dollars. And the end is not yet.

We may groan at the money we still have to spend, but our enemies will do more than groan. They will collapse.

Invests 35 Years' Back Pay

Acme

For 35 years Quartermaster Clerk Hugh F. Deakins has been withdrawing only a portion of his Marine Corps pay, allowing the rest to accumulate until it amounted to $21,269. Here he receives five $5000 War Bonds from teller Madelyn Jones of the First National Bank of Quantico, Va., in exchange for $18,750 of back salary which he collected recently on receiving a promotion to Warrant Officer.

A MESSAGE FROM OWEN D. YOUNG

From the desk of OWEN D. YOUNG

We do not produce goods in large volume by individual action. We do it by individuals organized into action. So let us organize War Bond purchasers under the Pay Roll Savings Plan.

For the worker it makes the saving of 10% of earnings easy.

For the Government it creates an conveyor belt to assemble funds and gives, after 10 years the bill will bring $4 for every $3 put on.

So we can daily win the war and daily save for the future after the war.

Owen D. Young.

Owen D. Young, noted industrialist, affirms in the above statement his belief in united support for the War Bond program. "We do not produce goods in large volume by individual action. So let us organize War Bond purchasers under the Pay-Roll Savings Plan. For the worker it makes the saving of 10 percent of earnings easy."

PERTINENT QUESTION.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—"Why does the government still permit strikes, slowdowns and absentee periods in war industries?" asked a full-page advertisement captioned Texas Speaks! which appeared in Monday's Washington Post.

The advertisement, which was signed Sponsored by Texans From Every Part of the State who Admire Courage and Fortrightness of Speech in Public Officials, carried large pictures of Gov. Coke Stevenson and Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith.

But if Junior is content with a 70 per cent passing grade in school, he may be only 70 per cent dependable as an inspector in a war factory.

Table with columns for WEIGHT (Over 0, 4 oz., 7 oz., 10 oz., 14 oz., 1 lb. 2 oz., 1 lb. 6 oz., 1 lb. 11 oz., 2 lb., 2 lb. 4 oz., 2 lb. 8 oz., 2 lb. 12 oz., 3 lb., 3 lb. 4 oz., 3 lb. 8 oz., 3 lb. 12 oz., 4 lb.) and PER LB. Rows include FRUITS AND FRUIT JUICES (Canned and Bottled, Frozen, Dried and Dehydrated), VEGETABLES AND VEGETABLE JUICES (Canned and Bottled, Frozen), and OTHER PROCESSED FOODS (SOUPS, CANNED AND BOTTLED, BABY FOODS).

THE FOLLOWING ITEMS ARE NOT INCLUDED: Candied Fruits, Chili con Carne, Fruit Cakes, Fruit Puddings, Frozen Fruits in containers over 10 pounds, Frozen Vegetables in containers over 10 pounds, Fruit Juices in containers over one gallon, Meat Stews containing some Vegetables, Paste Products—such as Spaghetti, Macaroni, Noodles, whether or not they are packed with added Vegetable Sauces, Vegetable Juices in containers over one gallon, By-products of fruits or vegetables such as soya bean oil, soya bean milk, fruit and vegetable dyes, and similar products.

INSTRUCTIONS.—To find the Point Value of an item: 1. Find out the net weight of the contents (from the label, if any). 2. In the line across the top of the chart, showing the weight in ounces and pounds, find the column in which this weight belongs. 3. Find the item in the listing of items in the column to the left. 4. The POINT VALUE of the item appears on the same line as the item and in the column listing the correct weight. All Point Values must be determined by weights. If no weight is marked on the item, the item must be weighed. In finding the Point Value of a container where contents are given in fluid ounces, consider the fluid ounce to be the same as the avoirdupois weight ounce. One pint is one pound; one quart is two pounds.

The Point Value of any item weighing over four (4) pounds shall be arrived at by multiplying the number of pounds of that item by the Point Value per pound of that item as given in the "Per Pound" column. Fractions of a pound should be figured in quarter-pounds. Fractions of a quarter-pound should be figured to the next higher quarter-pound. Thus, an item weighing 4 pounds 9 ounces would be considered as weighing 4 pounds 12 ounces for the purpose of getting the Point Value of the item.

WASTERS NOT WANTED

"Clean up your plates," George Mardikian, owner of San Francisco's famous Omar Khayyam restaurant, tells his customers, "and I'll refund ten per cent of your check in War Stamps!" Above, Mr. Mardikian and chef George Holl decide a client has earned his Stamps. "Sure the War Stamp refund cuts into business," Mr. Mardikian admits, "but winning the war is more important. If adopted nationally, my plan should save millions of dollars of food a year and sell hundreds of thousands of War Stamps."
