Cisco Representatives Pleased With Cut-Off Prospect

SURVEY OF NEW ROUTE BEING MADE

Mayor J. T. Berry, F. D. Wright, J. J. Collins and J. E. Spencer, who represented Cisco at the hearing before the highway commission at Austin yesterday on the proposed cut-off to shorten Highway No. 1 between west Texas and Fort Worth, returned last night well pleased with the prospect for the completion of the project. The hearing was postponed until the February meeting of the commission but Chairman Ely of the commission responded to questions with the unequivocal statement that the commission has determined to build the 45-mile cut-off between Ranger mountain and Weatherford. He said, however, that the commission is willing to hear protests against the construction.

Survey of the route that the cut-off will take through southern Palo Pinto county, a section of northern Erath and across Parker county to rejoin the present route at the western extremity of Weatherford is under way and will not be halted pending the postponed hearing, Chairman Ely said.

MORE TIME FOR OBJECTORS.
AUSTIN, Jan. 19. — A scheduled controversy over the Weatherford-Strawn cut-off on highway 1 proved a misfire here Monday when those from Mineral Wells and Breckenridge, here to protest it, asked for another month to prepare their objections, and the 45 representatives, from Fort Worth to El Paso supporting it, withheld their arguments until the objections have been made.

Chairman W. R. Ely of the state highway commission, announced that the surveys and work would not be held up in the absence of the protests.

Proponents Speak
Judge B. L. Russell of Baird got in a few words in support of the cut-off route, saying its proponents were not fighting "any body else having a highway" that it was not a pet measure of the present commission personnel and will not be an unwarranted expenditure of money to build the second line of highway cutting 14 1/2 miles off the distance from Eastland and points west to Fort Worth.

John Christian of Mineral Wells, who appeared as spokesman for the opponents of the cut-off line, said arguments have not been completed and his group preferred coming back next month.

Representative Bailey Hardy of Breckenridge, bitter opponent of the new line, was here, but took no part in the argument. The other opponent was Hal Rorch, chairman of a Mineral Wells committee.

Not to Hold Up Work.
"I told them," Chairman Ely commented, "that they could come down and present their arguments when they get ready, but that work would not be held up pending a hearing. Part of Palo Pinto county wants the highway," one of the proponents spoke up.

"Has the commission decided to build this highway?" a spokesman of Mingo asked.
"Yes, long ago," was the reply from the bench.

Come Johnson, member of the commission, told the delegation there wasn't any use to bring his members to the hearings; but was assured by F. D. Wright of Cisco that there were only from one to three representatives from each of the 19 or 20 cities supporting the new construction.

The commission has indicated its purpose to go ahead and build grading and structures, and within the next several years to surface the cutoff route of the "Broadway of America."

NEW PROGRAM TO STABILIZE COTTON MADE

AUSTIN, Jan. 19. — A new plan to stabilize the cotton industry was put under way here today by Fred W. Davis, former Texas commissioner of agriculture.

The plan, which is to be south-wide, is declared by Davis and other agricultural leaders, to obviate the difficulties met by former organized efforts to keep up cotton prices.

The aim is to control 10,000,000 bales of cotton which is more than half of the annual crop.

How this is to be done has been worked out at a conference here of J. E. McDonald, Texas Agricultural commissioner; W. B. Yearly, Dallas, secretary of the Farmers' Marketing association; I. B. Alford, formerly of the state agricultural department, with Davis.

The plan first recognizes the natural law of supply and demand.

These participating will contract to make the cotton acreage retraction called for by the recent Texas cotton acreage law. Where there is no valid state reduction law, the executive committee will fix a limit.

With the supply thus controlled, the producer will name a price. Sales will be made at the price as there is demand. The holding organization will be allowed to deal only in members' cotton. It will be prohibited from dealing in futures, assigning cotton or selling on call. Officers and salesmen of the association will be prohibited from dealing for themselves in any of these ways prohibited for the association.

Contracts signed by members with the association are not to become binding unless the membership as signed up represents owners of 10,000,000 bales calculated on 1931 production.

Olaya Denies Oil Talk With Mellon
WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. — A cablegram from President Olaya of Colombia, was read to the house judiciary committee today considering impeachment proceedings against Sec'y of the Treasury Mellon, denying that Mellon ever discussed with him the matter of oil concessions.

MAGICIAN'S TECHNIQUE NEVER FAILS TO GAIN ADMISSION

By BATES RANEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Jan. 19. — Need a job? Try John Mulholland's technique. He always gets an audience. The plan is this:

You approach the hard-boiled office boy who bars your entrance to the big boss's office. Reaching into the air you produce a glass of water, drink the contents, make the glass disappear again.

While the boy is recovering from his astonishment, you walk in. It's simple for a magician like Mulholland, one of the cleverest slight-of-hand artists of the day.

But he was not always a leader in American magic, as exemplified by his post as vice president of the American Society of Magicians. Once he was a book agent.

He recalls that once when he got by a startled office boy with the glass of water trick he ran into a pretty difficult proposition at the boss's desk.

"I had been trying to get an appointment with that man for a long time," he related. "I managed to get into his office and he looked up and growled: 'What do you want?' So I pulled a fast one on him. Said I: 'I wrote down what I wanted the last time I was in here. You'll find it in your left hand desk drawer.'"

By slight of hand he saw to it that a note did reside in the drawer. Mulholland grinned as he recalled how many books he sold there and then.

He likes to mystify people, to give pleasant entertainment. One of his favorite stunts is to walk into a bank and shove a blank check in the teller's window.

"One teller looked at me sort of funny," he relates. "So I said, 'Oh, I forgot to endorse it, didn't I?' But the check is blank," he stammered. "You must be mistaken," I said. "Look at it again." And I waved my hand over it. He looked again and saw that the check was properly made out and endorsed. He looked up my balance very carefully before he cashed it, however."

MISSING FT. WORTH GIRL IS LOCATED

PORT WORTH, Jan. 19. — Lucille Strickling, 14, missing from Fort Worth for more than a week, has been found in St. Augustine, Fla., it was announced today by Sheriff Red Wright.

The girl's mother, too overcome with joy to talk to her over the telephone will leave tomorrow to return her to Fort Worth.

Lucille was found in St. Augustine by police there. She had written to a boy friend here, telling him to address her care of general delivery in St. Augustine. Police watched the window there and picked her up when she appeared and asked for a letter.

Brinkley Station to Be 150,000 Watts

DEL RIO, Jan. 19. — Dr. John R. Brinkley, Kansas goat gland specialist and politician, today announced plans for increasing power of his radio station XER in Villa Acuna, Mexico, to 150,000 watts, 8,000 watts less than the world's largest at Warsaw, Poland.

The station began broadcasting last October at 50,000 watts and was increased gradually to its present power of 80,000 watts. Brinkley has claimed his station to be the largest in the world although records show the station at Warsaw has power of 158,000 watts.

Mother of O. L. Stamey Is Ill

Mrs. F. K. Stamey, mother of O. L. Stamey, principal of the Grammer school, who is seriously ill at her home at 1115 West Seventh street, was reported resting well today. Mrs. Stamey became ill suddenly last Saturday.

Louisiana Primary Marked by Death

HAMMOND, La., Jan. 19. — Louisiana's democratic primary election today was ushered in with bloodshed, one man being killed and two others wounded in a gun battle on a downtown street here.

SCHOOL ENDS FIRST TERM THIS WEEK

The first semester of the Cisco high school year is closing this week with examinations. The second semester will begin next Monday morning.

Registration of pupils for the second term will begin Thursday evening, Principal H. Brandon said, when freshmen students coming up from the grammar school will be registered. Friday morning students already in high school will register.

The examinations for the first term are being conducted on a basis of periods. Examinations in first period classes took place Monday. Examinations in second period classes were held this morning and examinations in third period classes took place this afternoon. Fourth period classes will have examinations Wednesday morning and so forth until completion of the tests Thursday morning.

Mufflers and Mirrors Needed

Warning that all commercial cars using state highways must have rear view mirrors and that all cars and trucks must have mufflers was issued today by Highway Patrolman M. C. Myers.

RUTH JUDD'S TRIAL OPENS AT PHOENIX

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 19.— With crowds fighting to get into the courtroom Winnie Ruth Judd, accused of the murder of two of her former girl friends, went on trial today on a charge of killing one of them, Agnes LeRoy.

The attractive blond, daughter of a retired clergyman, will not be tried on the charge of slaying Miss Hedvig Samuelson, roommate of Mrs. LeRoy, unless the state is not satisfied with the verdict in the present case.

Mrs. Judd came into the courtroom shortly before 10 o'clock walking between two deputies. She appeared not at all nervous.

American Seized By Chinese Pirates

PEIPING, China, Jan. 19.— River pirates on the Yangtze said to be communists, captured an American barge captain today and shelled an American steamer.

Charles Baker, the barge captain, was seized west of Hankow and carried off for ransom. Six members of his Chinese crew were held with him. An American gunboat was sent to the rescue.

Other pirates shelled the American steamer Chita on the upper Yangtze, killing one Chinese sailor and wounding another.

Says Hoover Would Cut Own Salary

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. — A prediction of President Hoover would reduce his own salary voluntarily if congress voted a cut in pay of government employes was made in the house today by Rep. Wood, Rep., Indiana.

Al's Son Arrested

Walter J. Smith, 22-year-old son of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, who was arrested in New York on a technical charge of homicide after the auto he was driving struck and killed Harry Wallace, 53. Young Smith has been released on $1,000 bail.

DEMOCRATS TO BE NAMED ON DIRECTORATE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.— President Hoover today announced the partial personnel of his new $2,000,000 reconstruction finance corporation.

Charles G. Dawes, he revealed, will retire as head of the American delegation to the Geneva arms conference and become head of the corporation.

Secretary of State Stimson will succeed Dawes as head of the arms delegation.

Eugene Meyer, governor of the federal reserve board, will become chairman of the board of directors of the finance corporation.

Mr. Hoover said that the names of other directors of the finance corporation would be announced after conferences which are to follow final passage of the finance corporation bill in congress. The president said he wanted to maintain the non-partisan complexion of the corporation, intimating that some of those named to the board would be democrats.

GOV. MURRAY'S TALK IGNORED BY DRY GROUP

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.— Officials of the Anti-Saloon league decided today to ignore the startling speech of Governor Wm. H. Murray, of Oklahoma, who went before the dry organization's convention last night with the suggestion that a retreat from prohibition might be necessary.

Murray's plan for regional liquor control among the states was described by F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the league, as an old wet argument with no new phase except the method of controlling the liquor within states. McBride said the Oklahoma governor, introduced as a dry leader, had repudiated his own convictions by deviating from his prepared speech.

Chairman A. J. Barton, of the executive committee, said he could see no reason why the league should comment officially on Murray's speech. It will be answered simply before but many Ciscoans who have heard him declare that he is a rare treat as a speaker. His glib humor and sparkling wit kept his audience well entertained as he presents a type of homely philosophy that strikes home while the audience is laughing.

F. D. Wright will be toastmaster. Community singing and special musical numbers as well as other features are being arranged.

At the conclusion of the banquet the Loboes will elect their captain for 1932 as is the custom.

The banquet is being presented by the Citizens Athletic association whose guests the boys and their coaches will be during the evening.

MINISTER FOSTERS REPEAL ACT.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 19.—The Kentucky legislature had before it today a bill to repeal the state's prohibition act fostered by a protestant minister who is a member of the lower house.

The Rev. C. W. McCaw said his measure repealing the drastic "Little Volstead act" of Kentucky, passed in 1920, was designed primarily to give financial relief to counties where jails are filled with prohibition law violators.

PROGRAM FOR LOBO FEED IS PREPARED

The program for the annual Lobo banquet to be held on the roof garden of the Laguna hotel Thursday evening at 7 o'clock is being completed, the program committee announced today.

Dr. Thomas H. Taylor, president of the Howard Payne college who is much sought after as a banquet and luncheon speaker, has been secured for the principal address.

Dr. Taylor has not appeared in Cisco before but many Ciscoans who have heard him declare that he is a rare treat as a speaker. His glib humor and sparkling wit kept his audience well entertained as he presents a type of homely philosophy that strikes home while the audience is laughing.

F. D. Wright will be toastmaster. Community singing and special musical numbers as well as other features are being arranged.

At the conclusion of the banquet the Loboes will elect their captain for 1932 as is the custom.

The banquet is being presented by the Citizens Athletic association whose guests the boys and their coaches will be during the evening.

SIX BODIES ARE TAKEN FROM MINE
PARROTT, Va., Jan. 19.—Bodies of six men, killed in an explosion deep in the Pulaski Anthracite mine were recovered early today by a rescue squad which had battled for hours against debris and gases to reach their entombed comrades.

The positions of their bodies indicated all had died instantly. Cause of the blast, which roared through the main shaft only a few minutes after the 20 men of the night shift had entered the mine, probably never will be known, a mine official told the United Press today.

DAILY BIBLE THOUGHT

DOING WONDERS:—O God, thou hast cast us off; O restore us again. Thou hast made the land to tremble; Thou has showed thy people hard things: Thou hast given a banner to them that fear thee, that it may be displayed because of the truth.—Psalm 60: 1-4.

NOT MERELY LOCAL.

At the request of opponents of the proposed Bankhead cut-off between Ranger Mountain and Weatherford, the hearing on the project before the highway commission has been postponed until the February meeting of the commission. The commission, according to Chairman W. R. Ely's statement from the bench at Austin yesterday, has definitely decided to build the road and has already begun surveys of the route with that end in view. This survey will not be halted pending the postponed hearing on the question. Determination to continue preliminary work on the project indicates pretty well that the construction will go through and that motorists travelling between the east and the west over this cardinal highway of the nation will find the distance reduced by 15 miles.

That fifteen miles represents in the aggregate a tremendous saving to the travelling public. On that factor alone the construction is more than justified. The highway commission is charged first of all with the ultimate improvement of the state highway system. It has no duty to yield to the insistence of a particular section, already well provided with direct and first class highways, when that insistence is inimical to the interests of traffic generally.

Highway No. 1 is not merely a road serving a tier of counties in what is known as the Oil Belt section of Texas. It is not merely a highway serving Texas east and west. Highway No. 1 by popular acceptance is today, and destined increasingly to be, a national artery of motor traffic. As such the state highway commission has a particular responsibility that is national in scope. To shirk that responsibility, to refuse to carry out so important a project because of pressure from the local interests of one section, would be simply to admit a certain weakness of policy and purpose which cannot be tolerated if Texas is to reap the best advantages from its highway system.

We believe that the highway commission, by its determination to build this route, is placing the interests of the state and the public first. It has refused to place itself in the position of penalizing the travelling public for the interest of any one section. That is the type of commission to which Texas can safely trust the development of its road system. It must be remembered that our highways, particularly those known as cardinal highways, are not built merely for today but tomorrow. Roads are not pawns to be jockeyed with for present advantages. Their construction has a vital influence upon development and any compromise of true principles in this construction is certain in the end to result in delay if not injury to the fullest realization of the state's resources. A commission that is capable of seeing through the obscuration of prejudicial interests, of basing its program upon fundamentals and rigidly adhering to these principles is the only type of commission that is worthy of assuming the responsibilities imposed upon it.

A comparison of evidence for and against the proposed cut-off will quickly convince the unbiased mind of its justification purely from a local significance. But when the facts as they pertain to the volume of transcontinental traffic are viewed the necessity for the construction becomes imperative.

PAY YOUR POLL TAXES!

Only eleven more days remain for the payment of poll taxes. The county tax collector's office is being kept open until nine o'clock each week-day evening for the convenience of the citizens who wish to pay their taxes and particularly to take advantage of the opportunity to pay all delinquent taxes without penalty and interest which was allowed by a recent act of the 42nd Texas legislature.

The year 1932 will be a presidential election year. Officers and representatives from the highest to lowest stations will be chosen by popular ballot during the year. Every American citizen has a responsibility in the choosing of these officers and that citizen who neglects the ballot is simply shirking his political duty. Without the payment of his poll tax his voice in governmental affairs this year will be useless.

Pay your poll tax now and equip yourself to have a say in how your city, county, state and nation shall be governed.

In the Political Arena

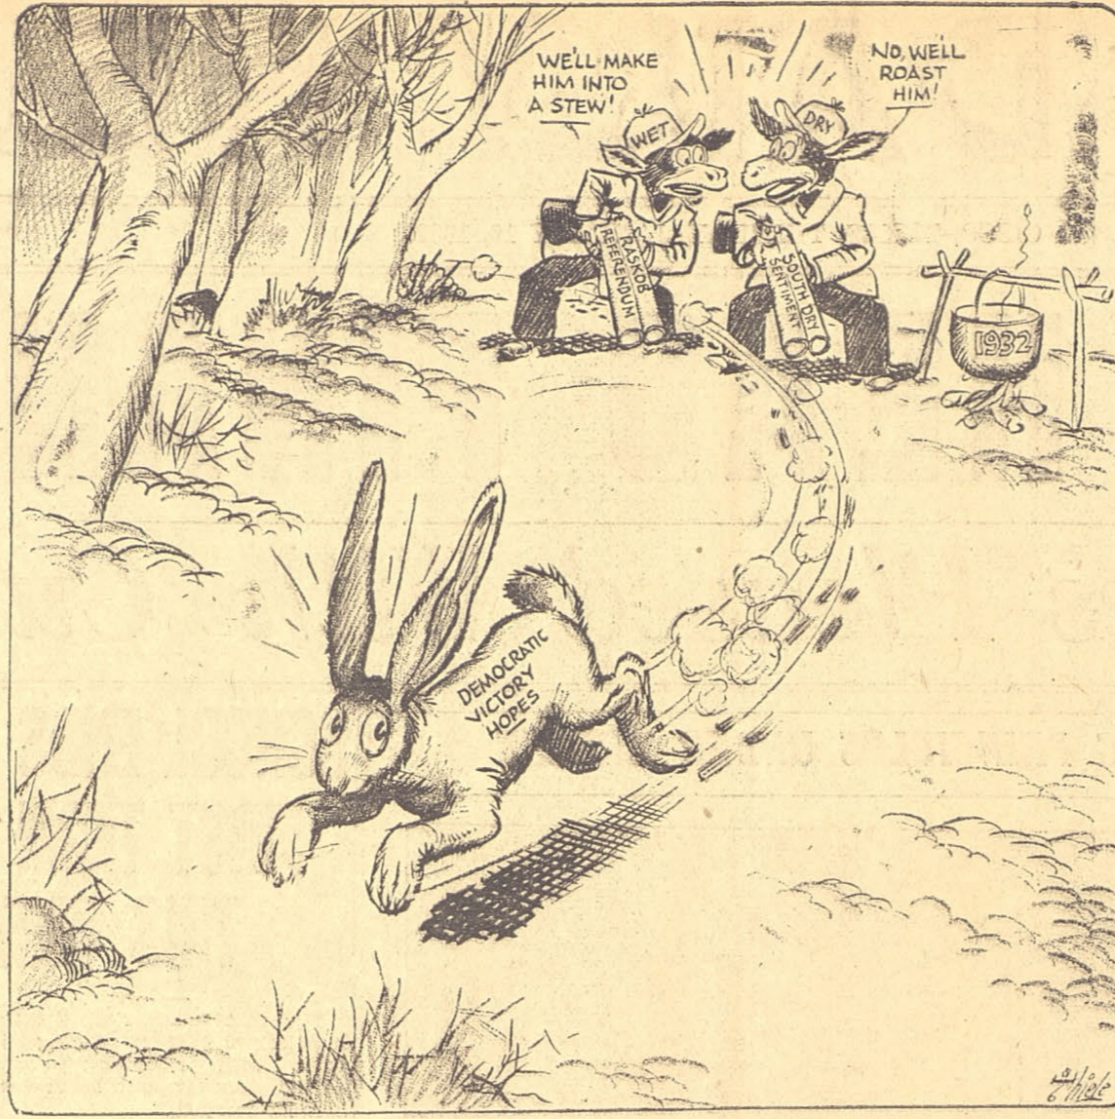

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD
Publicity appears to be the order of the day. Former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York has a signed article dealing with prohibition and the way to make a complete change in the 18th amendment in the current issue or number of the Literary magazine. He does not advocate the repeal of the 18th amendment. He goes about a change in a different highway of political endeavor. He is for the submission to the people of an amendment to the federal constitution, which if adopted would restore to the people of the 48 commonwealths "the police power of the state."

This would permit the state to handle the liquor question as it was handled in the days of local option or what was known as the state wide prohibition method. This would restore to the people of a commonwealth all the power or authority they possessed before the coming of the 18th amendment. A commonwealth where a majority of the voters prefer the government plan like the Canadian system would control the sale of intoxicants and place all the profits in the state treasury.

A reminder that Texas has written prohibition into its constitution. Texas has the Dean law, which is the most drastic of all statutes dealing with the manufacture or sale or possession of intoxicants. A Texas senator, Morris Sheppard, is the author of the 18th amendment. He made his annual argument early in the new year in defense of the prohibition acts and sounded the slogan: "Prohibition now and forever."

No Time to Argue!

Our senior senator is a never-surrenderer and never-say-die pro. He is a sincere pro. He does not talk dry and drink wet. He is a regular, and he does not believe that prohibition should be made the test of the democracy of the voters.

American voters are entitled to know all the facts. Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland is for the restoration of the power of the state. This is, he is said to be for the Smith plan which has appeared in cold type in the Liberty magazine and is likewise the Raskob plan. Newton D. Baker is a member of the Wickersham commission or was a member before the commission yielded up the ghost. He is not a prohibitionist. He believes the 18th amendment has been a rank failure. He said so in the report of the individual members of the commission. He is a champion of states rights. He is not a fanatic on the subject of liquor. Those who are closest to him say that he believes the police power of the state should be the controlling power in the handling of the liquor issue.

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt is said to be for a change. He believes that the 18th amendment, which deprived the state of its police power of control, was a blunder, that many changes should be made, that the people of the state should make their own laws relative to what they should eat or drink. Moreover, it is said that the New York governor would not force prohibition as a paramount issue in the national election to take place in November.

Melvin Traylor is not an advocate of the 18th amendment or the Volstead act. He is one of the leading citizens and bankers of the west of all states lying between the Alleghenies and the Rocky mountains. As for Speaker John N. Garner he voted against the submission of the 18th amendment to the legislatures of the 48 sovereign states and then bowed to the will of the majority as given expression in World War Times. Former Senator Thomas B. Love thought he knew what he was doing when he declared through the public prints that the dries would be willing to support Speaker Garner if he would declare for prohibition forever, the prohibition amendment until the end of time, the Volstead or a stronger statute of enforcement, and pledge undying reality to the prohibition cause. "Now where do we go from here?"

Speaking of the Weather--
by CHARLES TALMAN
of the U.S. Weather Bureau

A cloudburst isn't really that at all—it's caused by uprushing warm currents of air and falls when current ceases.

A standard dictionary defines a cloudburst as "a sudden copious rainfall, as if the whole cloud had been precipitated at one time."

As a matter of fact, if a cloud of the largest size were, by a miracle, precipitated at one time, coming down at the maximum speed of falling raindrops, it would not cause a torrential shower, such as is commonly described as a cloudburst; but of course the comparatively small amount of water in the clouds was not realized by our ancestors, who believed that clouds sometimes actually burst and discharged their entire watery load at once upon the earth. This idea is learnedly set forth in a quaint little German work by Christian Weise, published in 1701, as well as in many later works.

The earlier scientific attempts to account for the tremendous downpours to which the name "cloudburst" is applied assumed condensation in the vortex of a tornado or waterspout, and hence the name "waterspout" was formerly often applied to a cloudburst, even when it occurred far from any body of water.

The rainfall attending a tornado is doubtless sometimes of cloudburst intensity, but a majority of cloudbursts are now believed to be the product of thunderstorms. Violent uprushing current of air always occur at the front of an advancing thunderstorm. Moisture in the air drawn into the storm by these currents condenses as it rises, on account of the cooling of the air by expansion, but the upward blast is so strong that for a time the water is prevented from falling as rain.

If the rising currents are weakened at some point, a large accumulation of water is permitted to fall at one time. This is especially likely to occur when a traveling thunderstorm, which is fed by rising streams of air from overheated ground, passes over the cooler surface of a mountain, so that the supply of warm air is temporarily cut off. This would explain the special frequency of cloudbursts in mountainous regions.

SHORTER HOURS

PARIS, Jan. 19. — The Academy of Medicine has concluded that hernia will disappear as a human ailment if the present eight hour working day is continued or shortened. Hernia began with the era of stone construction, and reached its peak during the industrial period of the early century, when workers spent 10 or 12 hours a day at work.

"I've been CHASING YOU 12 miles...."

to tell You You've Lost Your Oil"

Two cars raced along the highway east of Abilene, Texas. The second driver finally overtook the leader and signaled to stop.

"I've been chasing you twelve miles to tell you you've lost your oil," he called to J. W. Bell. Mr. Bell found that a rock in the road had knocked a hole in the crankcase, allowing the Conoco Germ Processed Oil to drain out.

But examination of the motor showed no damage done. The "Hidden Quart" had protected the motor!

Only Conoco Germ Processed Oil offers the extra protection of the "Hidden Quart" that stays up in your motor and never drains away.

Only Germ Processed Oil actually penetrates and combines with metal surfaces.

You need that extra protection during the starting period, when almost half your motor wear occurs. Oils not Germ Processed drain away, leaving parts unprotected. Germ Processed Oil stays on the job to cut down starting wear, giving your motor longer life, with fewer repair bills. It is the safest, surest lubrication you can buy.

Change to Germ Processed Oil now at the sign of the Conoco Red Triangle.

We neither encourage "dry crankcase" experiments nor guarantee success under all conditions. But unsolicited letters from motorists, now in our files, tell of this and hundreds of other runs with empty crankcases but without damage.

THREE KINDS of LOVE

by KAY CLEAVER STRAHAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Ann and Cecily Fenwick have for years supported themselves, their younger sister, Mary-Frances, and their grandparents, known as "Rosalie" and "Grand".

Mary-Frances, 15, and still in school, strikes up an acquaintance with Earl De Armout, vaudeville actor, and meets him secretly. He tries to persuade her to become his stage partner.

Ann and Phil quarrel when she learns that he is going to work in Phil's office building, address him with endearments.

De Armout continues to urge Mary-Frances to join his act and she promises to give him her answer next evening. Cecily is disturbed when she learns Barry has left town without telling her about it.

ANN GOES ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXV
Mr. G. O. Carmichael, president and sole owner of the Home-Maid Bakery Products company (Carmichael's Big Cream Loaf, Carmichael's Cookies for Kiddies, Carmichael's Cakes for Choice Occasions), stood on his front porch and frowned across his well-mown lawn over his bugles pink roses and sighed worriedly.

Gray haired, healthy, clean shaven, excellently tailored, in appearance he resembled a banker or thought that he did. His ambition for 25 years since he bought his first small shop and stopped doing baking for the other fellow had been to look like a banker. That, then, must have been so much to the good on this early Monday morning. Also, conscience clear, he had slept well, had arisen, breakfasted satisfactorily, kissed his wife whom he loved devotedly, and had gone now-as far as the porch at least—to a business that was thriving robustly at a time when many businesses were failing.

Neither surfaces nor depths seemed to provide reason for Mr. Carmichael's depression. Peace should have been dropping slow. But, had someone come inquiring as to the absence of the nine bean rows and the hive for the honey-bee, he would have been told that Mr. Carmichael had a disagreeable duty to perform. Duties were Mr. Carmichael's fetishes. Kindly, well meaning, earnestly mistaken about many things Mr. Carmichael did not need to see his duty to do it. He scented duties from afar and made them his own with a whiff or two; he heard them whispering in the wind and caught them on the wing. No duty, no matter to whom it belonged, was safe anywhere near Mr. Carmichael.

Mary-Frances Fenwick was coming down the walk on her way to school. Mr. Carmichael, affecting a strolling gait, met her by the pink roses in his parking.
"Good morning, my dear," he said.
"Good morning, Mr. Carmichael."
"Nice morning, isn't it? On your way to school, I suppose?"
"Yes, Mr. Carmichael."
"School soon out now, isn't it?"
"Yes, sir. We're having our finals this week. It is algebra today. I am dreadfully worried about it. It's so hard."
"Speaking of worries," said Mr. Carmichael, "I've been quite worried myself, here of late. Very queer thing. For some time now I've noticed a young couple over

CEREAL RELIEVED HIS CONSTIPATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought New Health

Every one who has suffered from constipation should read Mr. P. M. Fisher's letter:

"For many years I suffered from constipation and used, for relief, all kinds of laxatives. After a few days' treatment, I would only find my condition the same as before and at times worse.

"Some time ago I started to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly, once a day as directed. Since doing this, I have found that I do not need any other medicine to procure the desired result, and it keeps me in a very healthful condition."—Mr. P. M. Fisher, 352 Evergreen Place, Ridgewood, N. Y.

Constipation is caused by lack of two things in the diet: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN supplies both—and also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears out the wastes.

How much safer this is than risking pills and drugs—so often harmful. Just eat two table-spoonfuls daily—in serious cases, with every meal. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved in this way, see your doctor.

Equally tasty as a cereal, or used in cooking. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

in your yard—right near the corner. They meet there frequently. I wonder if your grandfather would like to have that sort of thing going on in his yard?"
"What sort of thing?" said Mary-Frances.
"Love-making. I have no doubt, indeed, love-making," modestly insisted Mr. Carmichael, "but—night or night. No. I am certain that your grandfather would not like it."
"I don't much think he'd care," Mary-Frances comforted.
"I'm not so sure of that, young lady. I'm not so sure of that. Here is a peculiar thing. The girl is your size and build. In fact, if I didn't know what a sensible little lady you were, I'd be positive that I do know you. But I think your father will get you anyway. It wouldn't be right not to get yours just because I flunked."

"The trouble with Daddy," sighed Ermtrude, "is that he always does just exactly what he says he will, and he never does what he says he won't. He said if we both passed in everything he'd get us both ponies to ride. And if we had held out for the ponies if he'd had to go to Penderton or some place and steal 'em. But since you flunked, he won't and that's all there is to it. I guess I know my own father better than you do."

How to Reduce Colds and Their Costs This Winter

One of Family's Biggest Problems Met With Vick "Control-of-Colds" Plan

Actual Test of the Plan Is Offered By Cisco Druggists On a Trial Guarantee.

To most families this winter, the high costs of colds are an extra burden. Loss of time, health and money are involved. To reduce the drain of this burdensome family "Colds-Tax" is the purpose of the Vick Plan for better "Control-of-Colds"—to lessen their number, severity and duration.

Plan Follows New Discovery
The Vick Plan is made possible with Vicks Nose & Throat Drops. Based on a new idea for "preventing" colds, this new Vick discovery is companion to Vicks VapoRub, the modern way of "treating" colds. Each aids and supplements the other for better "Control-of-Colds."

Here, briefly, is the Vick Plan:
1.—Before a Cold Starts
Watch yourself whenever you have been exposed to anything that you know is apt to give you a cold, such as—

Contact with others having fresh colds—crowds, stuffy ill-ventilated rooms, public places—a night on a Pullman or a dusty automobile ride—sudden changes in temperature—inhaling smoke, dust, gasses—excesses in living, such as over-eating, smoking or drinking, which reduce body resistance—after a hard day when you are over tired.

Then—if you feel that stuffy, sneezy irritation of the nasal passages, Nature's usual signal that a cold is coming on—use Vicks Nose Drops at once—just a few drops up each nostril. Repeat every hour or so if needed. This will prevent many colds by stopping them before they get beyond the nose and throat—where most colds start.

2.—After a Cold Starts
At night, massage the throat and chest well with Vicks VapoRub (now available in white "stainless" form if you prefer). Spread on thick and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bed-clothing loose around the neck so that the medicated vapors arising can be inhaled, all night long.

If the air-passages are badly clogged with mucus, melt some VapoRub in a bowl of hot water and inhale the steaming vapors for several minutes. (If there is a cough, you will like the new Vicks Cough Drop—actually medicated with ingredients of Vicks VapoRub.)

During the day—no time, any place—use Vicks Nose Drops every few hours as needed. This gives you full 24-hour treatment and without the risk of too much internal "dosing," which so often upsets digestion—especially of children.

Offer By Local Druggists
Your druggist is offering Vicks Nose Drops and Vicks VapoRub on the following trial guarantee: Use these preparations together as directed in the Vick Plan for better "Control-of-Colds." Unless you are delighted with results, your money will be refunded.—Adv.

Famed Statue Of Christ Found

PARIS, Jan. 19.—The great figure of Christ, carved from ivory to picture his sufferings as he died against the cross, which Michelangelo sculptured more than four centuries ago to be enshrined in the Temple of Minerva in Rome and lost when Napoleon marched into the city, has been found in Paris among the heirlooms which became the dowry of an aged French woman.

Experts have pronounced the picture in the possession of Madame Pain to be the Michelangelo original.

The figure is two feet high, exquisitely carved and with a patina which four centuries allows. It is placed against a faded mauve brocade and framed with a hand-carved gilded frame showing the handwork of artists of the period of Louis XV.

Napoleon, and his army made it their practice to select the masterpieces of arts from the cities which they took, and in that way the ivory Christ left Rome. Nothing was heard of it until Madame Pain asked experts to place a value upon the piece of ivory, now a tobacco brown in color.

Experts declare that the ivory carving is an epitome of anatomical research. Overtures have been made to return the Christ to Rome because of its beauty even if it is not proved to be the original and missing Michelangelo.

PELLAGRA IS TRACED BACK TO CIVIL WAR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Knowledge of the existence in the United States of pellagra dates as far back as 1864, the United States Public Health Service reports.

It was long thought that cases of this dietary deficiency disease first were reported after the turn of the century, but certain studies recently inaugurated by the Health Service have revealed unique historical evidence concerning pellagra.

In 1864, a physician in New York and another in Massachusetts each reported a case of pellagra. Another New York physician reported cases in 1882 and 1902.

Most reports, however, have come from the South, where negroes and poor whites, feeding chiefly on corn pone, poorly cooked pork, meal, flour, potatoes and molasses, have suffered in great numbers.

In 1912, a South Carolina practitioner announced after a study of clinical records of the state hospital for the insane and correspondence with state officials and physicians, that pellagra had existed there at least since 1828.

It was not until 1919, however, and years subsequent, that Dr. Joseph Goldberger of the Health Service dispelled theories that pellagra was communicable and due to a bacillus. By experiments with human "guinea pigs" in Mississippi and South Carolina, Goldberger determined that pellagra was entirely of dietary origin. It is most prevalent among the poor dirt farmers of the South, and in years of depression, such as 1907, and again this year, it manifests itself more strongly than usual.

Will Discuss Methodist Baptism

"Why Methodists use different modes of baptism" will be the subject of Rev. H. D. Tucker Sunday night at the First Methodist church. The service will begin at 7:15 and last just one hour.

Rev. Mr. Tucker announced that he would also tell at this service why the Methodists baptize infants and small children and will discuss the difference between Methodist and Roman Catholic baptism of infants. He will also tell why the Methodists believe that Christ was sprinkled at his baptism. Everybody is invited to hear these discussions, Mr. Tucker said.

His subject Sunday morning will be "The Greatest Glory of Methodism."

Stratosphere Tests Planned

PARIS, Jan. 19. — Paris to New York in six hours via the stratosphere is the almost incredible transportation feat hinted at by constructors of the new Farnum stratospheric plane being assembled at Billancourt.

The new miracle plane has an airtight cockpit, surmounted by five heavy radiators—three for air, one for oil and one for water. Work was begun a year ago, and valuable studies of the stratosphere made by Professor Piccard in his balloon flight are being used in the construction work.

Trials of the new machine are to be in the spring and are expected to last six months. If these trials are successful, M. Farman states, the stratosphere, which begins some eight miles above the surface, will be penetrated. A number of French pilots already have volunteered to make the initial flight.

The plane will have a 500 h. p. motor and its airtight cabin will contain apparatus to pump 60 liters of air a minute, with a temperature of 40 degrees below zero. Speed of about 500 miles an hour is the hope of the constructors, despite the heaviness of the plane.
