Cisco Merchants Offer Second Trades Day Saturday

PROGRAM TO BE GIVEN AT 7 O'CLOCK

Cisco merchants Saturday evening at 7 o'clock will present the second of a series of Trades Days with a program to be given in front of the Mobley hotel at D avenue and Fourth street.

The first of the Trades Day programs was presented last Saturday evening and in spite of the short time allowed to advertise it, drew a large crowd. The Lobo band was the feature of that program.

For the forthcoming event the Marx Brothers colored orchestra has been secured. These boys can make the sort of music that tickles the toes and adds a rare gaiety to such a program and visitors to the city that evening can be secured of an hour of excellent entertainment. Other features will be presented at the same time.

The Trades Day program has been widely advertised and Cisco has prepared a hospitable reception for its visitors. Similar events will take place on successive Saturday evenings and once each month, on the first Monday, a master program will be presented at 4 p. m. at a place in the city to be announced at the proper time.

Merchants

Fifty-five Cisco business concerns have already enrolled in the Trades Extension organization. They are: Miller-Lauderdale, Perry Bros., Morris Simon Store; J. C. EASTLAND IS THANKFUL FOR CISCO PROGRAM

Dr. H. B. Tanner, secretary of the Eastland chamber of commerce, sent to the Cisco Daily News today through Earl Bender an expression of the thanks of the Eastland County Fair association and the citizens of Eastland for the program which Cisco through its chamber of commerce presented at the opening night of the county fair Wednesday.

The program was highly praised by Dr. Tanner and he asked that the Daily News express the appreciation of the people of Eastland for the entertainment.

The Lobo band, directed by G. W. Collum, Miss Arlene Scudder in whistling numbers; F. L. Reynolds, in vocal numbers; Mrs. Larry Waterbury, Jr. in readings and a pianologue and the Parks orchestra were presented to the large crowd which attended the opening program.

On the Merchants Birthday Calendar

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Sledge, Jr., on September 23 at 7:10 a. m.

The parents will be entitled to the gift offered on the Merchants Birth calendar by the Exide Battery and Electric company if no earlier birth on this date is reported within ten days.

Housewives "Can the Surplus" For Needy--

A "Can the Surplus" campaign, the object of which is to preserve the surplus fruits and vegetables of the present bumper crops for distribution among the needy this winter; is spreading among Ohio housewives and seems likely to find favor in other states. Above is a group of women of the Grace Reformed church at Akron canning fruit, donated by farmers, in the church kitchen. At the left is Mrs. Daniel E. Morgan, wife of Cleveland's city manager, at work. The movement is supported by newspapers, city officials, women's clubs, church organizations and other groups.

The District Five meeting is one of a series of nine similar meetings being held over the West Texas Chamber of Commerce territory. The last meeting will be held the day following this one at Coleman for District Ten.

Local Gin Is Keeping Busy

Between 25 and 30 bales of cotton are being ginned daily at the Bankhead Feed Mill now as the cotton season opens. So far the gin has handled approximately 200 bales with expectation that a 1,000 or more will have been ginned by the time the season closes.

Revival to Begin At Putnam Oct. 4

A revival meeting will begin at the Methodist church at Putnam Sunday, October 4, at 11 a. m. It was announced today by the pastor, the Rev. Cecil Fox.

"We are planning to make this a community-wide revival, said the Rev. Mr. Fox, "and cordially invite all Christians to take part in the services with us."

The messages will be brought by the pastor. They will be strictly evangelistic, he announced. Home talent is being depended upon for the song services and these will be under the direction of Del Brooks.

14 Japanese Women Reported Murdered

CHANG CHUN, China, Sept. 24.—Military authorities here were advised today of the murder of 14 Japanese women who were fleeing from the Chino-Japanese war zone in Tungling. The advisers said four men accompanying the women were missing.

NANKING, Sept. 24.—An aroused nation was warned by the central executive committee of the Peoples Party that "agitation will not be conducive to the solution of the crisis but will indirectly benefit our enemy."

"Deplorably inflammatory" speeches from all classes of Chinese were reported by news agencies which pointed out the possibility of anti-Japanese violence.

Cisco R. M. A. Is Congratulated

J. C. Lacey, of the State Retail Merchants association, who is working with the Cisco Retail Merchants association of which Miss Lucille Self is manager, said today that the association is receiving letters and telegrams of commendation for the progressive work it is doing in credit organization in Cisco.

The association is endeavoring to extend its benefits to every business organization in the city and to make more effective the advantages of credit as a means of developing new business and holding old business.

Masons to Meet At 8 This Evening

There will be a stated meeting of Cisco Lodge No. 556, A. F. and A. M., at the Masonic hall this evening at 8 p. m., it was announced. All members are expected to be present.

COMM'N PUTS THUMBS DOWN UPON PAVING

No vote was taken for the reason that no motion was introduced. Four of the five commissioners present openly expressed objection to accepting the Jagoe bid on the basis that the city finances are not in condition to allow it and also for the reason that they regarded an asphalt oil treatment of the road as ineffective in preventing its deterioration. Comm'r. Jonah Donovan, however, maintained that the $3,500 or more that has been spent in building the base and laying the caliche will be lost unless some action is taken to complete the road and favored accepting the bid. He maintained that the city would not have another opportunity to pave the strip with an expenditure of $500. The chamber of commerce had offered to squeeze the additional $500 out of its present budget.

Other commissioners, however, felt that the city street department could repair the caliche base and give it a thorough oiling and preserve it. They declared that it would be easier to maintain under this form of treatment. If paving is essential, they argued the city can do it with its own equipment. Commissioner Clements, said the street department would get to work on the road at once.

Mr. Donovan, asserting that it was clear he would not get a second, declined to introduce a motion and the proposition was rejected for want of action.

City Engineer Reagan said that the price for which the Jagoe people, now paving Highway 23 to which the Lake-Zoo road joins, was in line with exception that the road should be 18 feet in width instead of 16. He declared against a 16-foot road from the standpoint it was not wide enough to carry the weight of the chamber of commerce, said that the contractors had said that a 16-foot road is all the present base will carry, a theory which the city engineer denied.

J. J. Collins, president of the chamber, appeared with Mr. Spencer as its representatives. He said that the chamber has already made up its mind to join with the city in the project and that it was up to the commission to determine what should be done.

Commissioner Fee, as mayor pro tem in the absence of Mayor J. T. Berry, called the session of the commission.

Truckman Proves Big Strike Breaker

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Pudgy, boyish faced, hardboiled Peter Devito, truckman, is New York's most successful strike breaker with an annual income of $500,000 and an ambition to succeed as his boss his old schoolboy friend Al Capone.

Devito's strike breaking successes and income were revealed by federal income tax collectors who arrested him yesterday in his comfortable brick home where he lay abed surrounded by loaded pistols and a sword cane.

Ranger Rotarian Speaks Here Today

Andy Anderson, Ranger Rotarian, was the speaker for the Rotary club luncheon today. His subject was International service and he made a stirring appeal for better acquaintanceship between Rotarians, towns, states and nations as the best means of promoting world peace. Difficulties between peoples arise from the lack of understanding between them and pointed to Rotary's prime object as that of promoting world friendship and world peace.

The day was President's day and President H. S. Drumwright was in charge of the program.

Other visitors present for the luncheon today were: Jim Hooks, Bob Lenz, Bert Robertson, "Dirty" Moore, Abilene; A. L. Boland, Dallas, and Earl Bender, Eastland.

Man Held For Steinbach Killing

DALLAS, Sept. 24.—J. A. Hill, 39, wanted in Corpus Christi on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of Al Steinbach, of Cincinnati, was held here today for Corpus Christi officers. Steinbach's skeleton was found on a lonely bluff near Corpus Christi some time ago.

VISITS AT SWEETWATER.

Mrs. Leon Maner accompanied Dr. and Mrs. L. A. Dodgen, of Macon, Ga., to Sweetwater, Tuesday for a visit of several days.

Just Two Sets of Twins

FARMER DIES AFTER COTTON FIELD BATTLE

MT. VERNON, Sept. 24.—N. F. Cash, 42-year-old tenant farmer, died today following a cotton field gun fight in which all three participants, including Cash's son, were wounded.

R. L. McCullers, foreman of the Tittle farm, eight miles north of here where the shooting occurred, was arrested and released after posting bond.

Witnesses said a disagreement arose when McCullers insisted that Cash and his son, Trannie, 20, pick their own cotton instead of for other tenants.

Several shots were fired by each participant.

Truckman Proves Big Strike Breaker

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Pudgy, boyish faced, hardboiled Peter Devito, truckman, is New York's most successful strike breaker with an annual income of $500,000 and an ambition to succeed as his boss his old schoolboy friend Al Capone.

Devito's strike breaking successes and income were revealed by federal income tax collectors who arrested him yesterday in his comfortable brick home where he lay abed surrounded by loaded pistols and a sword cane.

He said he expected to succeed Capone in about six months because Alphonse was looking for a successor.

Relief Program To Be Outlined

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 24.—A program for relief of more than million unemployed persons in 19 middlewestern states was being formed here today under the direction of Governor Wm. H. Murray, of Oklahoma. Delegates from industrial, labor, relief and other organizations were arriving for a conference on unemployment beginning here tomorrow. Several hundred leaders are expected to attend.

TEXAS GROUP IS AGAINST RESOLUTION

DETROIT, Sept. 24.—By the margin of 1008 to 394 the American Legion today called on congress for a referendum on either repeal or modification of the 16th amendment.

Shortly thereafter the Legionnaires voted to uphold President Hoover's plea and make no demand for an immediate cash bonus payment.

Wild scenes of disorder, shouts and cheers, throwing of hats and applause broke out when the wet cement gained the number of votes necessary to insure victory for the resolution urging the referendum.

The majorities of the delegations of only 12 states voted against submission of the referendum. Among them all 45 Texas votes. Twenty-one state delegations split their votes to cast part for and part against the measure. Only nine states voted solidly against the resolution, among them Texas.

The vote was 902 to 507 against payment of the cash bonus.

Henry L. Stevens, of Warsaw, North Carolina, was elected national commander by acclamation after the first ballot.

HYDE TO MAKE SURVEY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Sec'y of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde said today he will soon undertake an investigation to determine the number of farmers who would be employed raising hops and barley if the prohibition act should be modified to permit the manufacture of beer.

"I am undertaking this purely as a personal matter," he said.

RANDOLPH HAS FIRST CHAPEL EXERCISES

Randolph college held its first chapel exercises at 10 o'clock this morning in the college chapel with a number of ex-students and Cisco people present. The program included talks by President Lee Clark and other members of the faculty.

This evening at 8 o'clock the fine arts department of the school, with Mrs. Clark as head of the department, will present a faculty recital at the college auditorium to which the public is invited.

Registration of pupils reached 60 this morning with others coming in at a rate that promises to bring the number to approximately 100 by the time the term is well under way. Due to the difficulties faced by the school in preparing for the present session, this is considered an excellent number.

Bull Fight Brings Martial Law Threat

SANTA FE, N. M., Sept. 24.—Martial law in New Mexico threatened today unless Socorro abandoned its plans for a bull fight at a siesta next week.

Promoters went ahead with their plans in spite of the denial of their request for a permit.

Typed on folders advertising the bull fight was the statement "The law is out of town."

Filipino Legislature Asks Independence

MANILA, P. I., Sept. 24.—A resolution demanding independence of the Philippines was adopted at a joint session of the island legislature today.

The resolution will be presented to secretary of war Patrick Hurley here to investigate conditions.

WEATHER

West Texas—Partly cloudy. Probably showers in north and extreme west portion tonight and Friday.

East Texas—Generally fair tonight, Friday partly cloudy. Continued warm.

SOVIET WRITER TO TELL TRUTH ABOUT U. S.

By EUGENE LYONS
United Press Staff Correspondent
MOSCOW, Sept. 24. — So many Americans have told the "real truth" about Russia after a visit here, that at least one Russian deserves a chance to reverse the process.

Upon Boris Pilyak, one of the foremost Soviet novelists, falls the lot. He has just returned to the Soviet capital after six months spent in the United States and he is working on a book recording his American impressions which, if his conversation on the subject is any indication, will be sizzling hot.

"The most insistent fact about your American society," he said, "is its highly organized and highly tolerated banditry. Infringements of the law and outright violence which in any other part of the world would create sensations, you Americans seem to accept as a matter of course. Bootlegging, hijacking, police corruption — who pays attention to such things in the U. S. A?"

Truth Doubted
Soviet citizens who listened in as Pilyak gave a few examples of American tolerance for crime — examples in which the names of Al Capone and "Legs" Diamond figured — refused to believe him. They turned to an embarrassed American reporter for the expected denial that such things could be.

"Why our G. P. U. would clean up the lot of them in a month," one of the listeners asserted.

Among Pilyak's reports which his fellow-Russians find too strange to be credible were the following:

That he could obtain contraband goods (namely liquor) in every city he visited by merely calling the nearest drug store.

That he met well-known local criminals — bootleggers, racketeers, etc. — in the homes of socially prominent and respectable people.

That certain American cities (Reno, for example) subsist upon what amounts to the sale of easy divorces.

Tax Racketeers
That the American government takes a percentage in the form of income taxes on the earnings of bootleggers and other criminals.

That political leaders in various American cities compete for the support of the criminal elements in obtaining public offices.

That leading gangsters are idolized, biographed, interviewed, entertained and protected like national heroes.

"Of course America is a land of marvelous industrial technique," Pilyak added. "I don't want to convey the impression that it has nothing but organized banditry to offer to the world. I merely mean that the outside is fabricated by this phase of American life."

"You have certainly attained amazing heights in the matter of physical comfort. I found people complaining about their hard lot who lives better than Stalin does here. But the future seems doubtful. In my journey across the United States and back I saw too many huge factories idling, heard too many complaints about hard times to believe that all is as it should be. The American people may have to reduce their living standards not only for the immediate period of crisis but permanently."

Another of the outstanding literary figures in the Soviet Union, Eugene Zamiatin, will visit the United States in the near future. His novel, "We," was published in New York several years ago, as well as many of his short stories. Several of his plays are on the boards of Moscow and Leningrad.

Few Colleges Allow Girls to Smoke

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 24.—There will be no smoking at Meredith, Peace and St. Mary's, Raleigh girls' colleges, this year, that is, not in public. Most of the smoking done among the women will be strictly on the sly. Neither will there be any poll of parents to ascertain whether they desire their daughters to be allowed to smoke.

Salem College, Winston-Salem, stands out as the only women's college in the state publicly on record that permits the girls to smoke. Smoking will be permitted only where the girls' parents have given their consent and the smoking is limited to special rooms for that purpose.

North Carolina College for Women went into the matter last year after the students attempted to abolish the rules against smoking and canvassed parents. The response of the parents was so overwhelming against it that President Poust dropped the matter entirely. Davenport College, Lenoir, did away with smoking entirely. At Meredith President C. E. Brewer said there were specific rules against smoking and the penalty is expulsion from the institution. At St. Mary's and Peace, likewise, smoking is not permitted. The question, said President W. C. Pressly of Peace Institute, has not been raised with him as yet.

Two More Days Of Big Sale Left

Only two more days, is the announcement of the Cisco Furniture Co., who are now conducting their Closing Out Sale, after which they will move their goods to some other store of the Barrow organization. A. B. Barrow, president of the organization, when seen yesterday said that on Monday of next week, the store here will be closed and goods moved away from Cisco. "We expect to do a good business during the next two days," said Mr. Barrow.

"because rather than move these goods on the train or in trucks, we are taking our loss here in price reductions on the floor and we believe that the people of Cisco trade territory will recognize these extreme values and buy a great quantity of these goods thus saving us the trouble and expense of loading and shipping them away." All Cisco and especially the former Cisco Furniture company customers regret very much to lose this business concern from Cisco. Schulerburg — Bids awarded for new post office building. THE GOVERNMENTS LOAN POLICY.

The federal government has announced a policy of leniency in the collection of crop loans made to west Texas farmers, according to an announcement from the West Texas chamber of commerce officers at Stamford, which quotes Sec'y of Agriculture Hyde in a statement that each loan will be considered on its individual merits, "granting extension of time in part or all where repayment would work undue hardship." The policy is not only constructive but is obviously the only one that can be justified by the government's original motive in making these loans available to the farmers.

The individual farmer is not to blame for the present agricultural debacle, and certainly an effort to assist him to make a crop and provide a living for himself and his family should not now be turned into a penalty that would make it even more difficult for him to survive. According to the Stamford statement approximately $2,500,000 has been loaned by the government to the farmers of 67 counties of west Texas. It is a happy consequence that the government is shaping its collection policy in the same spirit in which it was prompted to provide the loans. Stabilization of the agricultural industry is the primary essential for stabilization of the nation's economic conditions and obviously the first and the most serious effort of the nation should be turned toward assisting the farmer toward a condition of prosperity.

Sec'y Hyde's desire that each loan be considered upon its individual merits requires that another step be taken to put the policy into the most advantageous effect, the statement points out. That step is to resurrect the county loan committees which functioned during the granting of the loans. It is patent that these local committees are the only official agencies which can determine with any degree of correctness the merits of the individual cases, and justice requires that the most sympathetic attention should be given each case.

SECOND TRADES DAY.

Cisco's second Trades Day of the fall trade extension campaign will be held Saturday evening at 7 o'clock. The first Trades Day, which took place last Saturday, drew a large crowd although the time had been too short for effective advertising.

Cisco extends a cordial invitation to the people of the rural communities in its neighborhood to come to this city Saturday and join with them in the program that will be presented. A colored string band has been secured to provide music for the evening and other features will make the event a thoroughly enjoyable one.

These Saturday night programs are incidental to a big celebration each First Monday when a master program will be presented during the afternoon.

Cisco's motive in providing these celebrations is to enhance its benefits as a trade center to the people of the territory about it. It is endeavoring to give the sort of service these people demand and without which they will go elsewhere. In nearness and in the ease with which it can be reached Cisco is the logical center of trade for the people who make up the population of its particular area. It is anxious to add to these advantages a character of service that will make it to the interest of these people to come here.

ROAD BOND RELIEF.

The Cisco Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening passed a resolution urging Governor Sterling to submit to the second called session of the present legislature a resolution enabling the legislature to pass a bill setting aside a portion of the revenue from the state gasoline tax to be applied on the payments on county road bonds principal and interest. A bill to this effect introduced by Rep. Brooks during the present session failed of passage as did a similar bill introduced by Rep. Stevenson.

The resolution passed by the Cisco chamber, which is almost identical to a joint resolution passed by the senate and house during the second called session, points out that the department will have a large surplus of funds for the present biennium in a sufficient amount to take care of the situation during the business depression.

Such being the case there is every season to argue the justification of the requested legislation. Eastland county in common with other counties in the state is heavily burdened with taxation. This burden, by far the larger part of which comes from heavy road issues voted to construct roads which the state has taken over and maintains, is a crushing one at a time when ad valorem tax valuations are declining under the pressure of a tense economic condition and there is a positive danger that a number of counties will default unless relief is afforded. A default in such payments is not only serious for the reason that it amasses debt, but also from the fact that it affects the morale of the public. The state can perform no more commendable act than to utilize its resources in relief to these tax-burdened counties, and it is to be hoped that Gov. Sterling will respond to the situation with the submission of the necessary topic and that the legislature will provide the essential legislation.

China Fears Communists

PEIPING, Sept. 24. — The serious flood disasters in the Yangtze valley have hastened the crisis in the battle between Communists and advocates of representative government for dominance in this country.

Communists, taking advantage of widespread suffering, are gathering their forces for an attack, which they hope will be a knockout blow for their opponents. Floods, which have pauperized 50 million people, have favored them, they believe.

The government at Nanking has accepted the challenge. General Chiang Kai-shek and his followers have realized for some time that Communists are their most dangerous enemy.

The Yangtze valley floods came as the most dangerous threat of all. One-eighth of China's 400 million were made homeless and lost their meager possessions. The rice granary of China was wiped out just before the harvest.

Communist agitators saw a happy hunting ground for their doctrines. Long before the floods had subsided, agitators moved among refugee camps, exhorting the people to join the Communist party.

It is now admitted that the crisis will come this winter. If the government can take care of homeless millions, Communists can hardly enlist them. If relief funds prove inadequate, millions will probably join the well organized Communist armies in the south.

Lost 20 Lbs. of Fat In Just 4 Weeks

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 yrs. old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—an 85 cent bottle lasts 4 weeks—you can get Kruschen at Moore Drug Co., or any drug store in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.—Adv.

OTHER OPINIONS

THE NATIONAL DANGER

Social legislation and war debts have brought England and Germany as close to national bankruptcy as it is possible to get without falling in. In fact, the recent foreign credits alone saved Germany.

No American can know the history of the German and British crises without wondering if the United States is headed in the same direction. To be sure there is no immediate danger, but are not the factors at work here which are responsible for the financial troubles of those two sister nations?

Social legislation has been adding hundred of millions of dollars to the federal budget. It is responsible for the present deficit and for the $1-100,000,000 loan the government is planning to float. Nor have the demands of social legislation been exhausted. All of the costly panaceas, which have brought England and Germany to the end of their resources are already in operation or being advocated in the United States.

The threat is not to this generation, but to posterity. The extravagance and charity of each successive generation leaves new burdens for posterity to pay. Some day posterity, having troubles of its own, will be unable to pay.

It will be the part of wisdom, when prosperity returns to pay off old obligations as rapidly as possible and to declare a holiday for social legislation that the country may be prepared for the next depression. But have representative governments such wisdom? Here is one that has not. Congress is tugging at the bit to get along on the next great orgy of spending the people's money when government revenues permit it. — Paris News.

RARE FOSSILS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 24.—Starfishes, crinoids, cystoids and trilobites — all unusually fine specimens of the Upper Devonian seas of Germany — have been unearthed and loaned to the Harvard Museum of Comparative Anatomy for study and exhibition. These fossils occur in the Hunsruck slate now being quarried for roofing slates.

Since January 1st., sales of Texas crops and livestock or their products are approximately $112,475,000 according to figures compiled by agricultural department of Dallas News.

SEA LION RULES FLOAT

SANTA CRUZ, Sept. 24. — If a lion is king of the land, there is no reason why a sea lion should not be king of the sea, one of the species evidently decided here recently. The huge animal appropriated a swimmers' float off Seabright Beach for a sun-bath, and refused to budge. Life guards admitted their unwillingness to challenge his right.

FOR THE BEST ANSWERS EXPLAINING THE

MYSTERY of the "HIDDEN QUART"

AND TELLING HOW THIS QUART BENEFITS MOTORISTS

Fact No. 1—Thousands of motorists and service station men have observed that after a car has been given its first fill of Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil and is driven 200 to 350 miles, a look at the crankcase gauge shows that about one quart of oil is apparently missing . . . but

Fact No. 2—These same people have noticed that on the second and later fillings with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, scarcely a drop of oil will disappear during the first 350 miles, and practically none at 500 and up to 1,000 miles!

The above facts have been checked by actual tests with cars that use six quarts of oil for the crankcase, cars in good mechanical condition and driven at ordinary rates of speed. These facts will also prove true for your car, in proportion to the amount of oil your crankcase usually holds, your car's mechanical condition and the speeds at which you drive

What becomes of the "hidden quart"? The answer is easy if you study the Facts given above and keep in mind the things that only Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil can do. The explanation of the whereabouts of the "hidden quart" is simple—no technical knowledge of motors or oil is necessary.

Remember—The "hidden quart" of Germ Processed Oil does not escape through leakage . . . does not burn up, wear out nor evaporate. It is "present but unaccounted for." Fact No. 2, given above, proves all this.

After you've found where the "hidden quart" goes, you can easily see the special benefits it gives the motorist—advantages that no other oil can give.

Ask at any Conoco Station or Conoco Dealer for free Entry Blank which contains information about Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil that may help you win. Conoco Station and Dealer employees will gladly answer your questions. Remember, you do not have to buy anything to enter this contest.

HIGH COURT TO HEAR CHAIN STORE FIGHT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The great economic and legal battle between chain stores and independents will be renewed in the supreme court next month.

Last spring, by a 5 to 4 vote, the court, with the so-called liberal members in the majority, upheld the Indiana chain store tax in a case appealed by the late LaFayette Jackson. Under the Indiana law, chain stores were required to pay a tax proportionately higher than independents.

Now the court, after a four-month vacation, will meet on Oct. 5 to find before it, not only a vigorous plea for a re-hearing by Jackson's administrator, but two somewhat similar appeals involving attacks on similar laws enacted by North Carolina and Mississippi.

In addition, the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company has brought up an appeal contesting the validity of Virginia's law imposing a separate distributing house tax on each such house operated by any merchant in the state. A three-judge federal court upheld the Virginia tax.

The Great Atlantic and Pacific Company also appealed the North Carolina case, attacking a statute which taxes the ownership of two or more stores and flatly exempts from taxation the ownership of a single store.

The Mississippi case involves a state law imposing a tax of one-fourth of one per cent on gross sales of all tangible property, plus an additional tax of the same amount on gross sales of persons operating more than five stores. The North Carolina and Mississippi appeals will be argued the first week of the court term.

The re-hearing petition in the Jackson case falls last spring's decision as "the door of opportunity" for state legislation "to destroy the owner of two or more stores, commonly but erroneously called chain stores." It claimed that there are relatively few national chains of stores, but many independent merchants who own a few stores each.

The petition asserted that 53 bills to tax ownership of two or more stores "at high and oppressive rates" were introduced in 25 state legislatures recently.

Marble Boom For Canon City

CANON CITY, Colo., Sept. 24.—Industrial leaders in Canon City anticipate a boom both in employment and general business conditions in the community within six months with the announcement of the U. S. Marble Co. that work on the first unit of one of the largest marble quarries in the country will begin at once.

The crusher, which has been operating in Canon City for the past three years, will be rebuilt and enlarged to handle 30 tons an hour.

The entire plant, including storage bins and warehouses, will occupy about six acres.

The marble is quarried about five miles northwest of Canon City. Geologists announced that there is an almost inexhaustible supply of high grade marble in the vicinity. Quarry waste will be ground into terrazzo, a floor covering which yields to design.

The Canon City quarries contain marble in three colors—pink, rose and buff. Officials of the U. S. Marble Co. declared the shades of pink and rose found in the travertine are the only such shades in the world, making the marble of immense value in buildings where more than two shades are required.

The new industry in Canon City and its associated activities will eventually employ between 1,000 and 1,600 men.

Hitler Is Fiery Apostle of German Freedom From War's Heritage

By H. A. PETERS (United Press Staff Correspondent BERLIN, Sept. 24.—If there is one name on the lips of the German people today more than that of Brüning, or Hindenburg, it is that of Ad. Hitler. He is the watchword of youth, fiery apostle of freedom from the war's heritage, preacher of race hatred and promise of a Reich unshackled by tribune.

His rise to the spotlight has been as spectacular as the menace of his doctrines to the stability of present-day Germany. And strangely, his personality, although it dominates 6,000,000 voters, remains as intangible as many of his theories. Hitler is an agitator. All those who hear him addressing a crowd, agree as to his personal magnetism. In a personal talk, or with a group of four or five, this quality somewhat deserts him. His magnetism is somewhat gone, and he gives the impression of one who is struggling to maintain a pose—then he fears direct and personal exchange of ideas—perhaps is walling himself up to protect an inner sense of insecurity.

The son of a civil employe in Austria, Ad. Hitler did not follow in his father's footsteps. The father died when he was 13. He went to work in the building trades, became a draughtsman. This placed him definitely lower in the social scale than his father. The significance of this must be fully realized in order to arrive at a fair appreciation of the youth, and to explain his later devotion to politics. In Central Europe, a civil servant is a personage. He often wears a uniform, is the object of much respect and deference. The fact that he had gone down in the social scale instead of advancing rangled. His attitude was a constant inward protest. He refused to be regarded as a proletarian.

He therefore enjoys the more his position on the social heights today. His yearning for social standing finds expression in his magnificent Brown House (National Socialist headquarters) in Munich. And that, in turn, points to an interesting kink of personality. Hitler loves Munich. He feels at home there, is confident. Still an Austrian citizen, he likes the easy, comfortable atmosphere of the South German metropolis. He will not leave, although he could wield a much greater influence if he came to Berlin.

Hitler is 42, middle sized, inclined to weight. When he is talking, a lock of hair falls down over his forehead. In personal conversation he gives the impression that he is unable to concentrate his thoughts, that he is not quite sure of them. He talks rapidly, not so much for emphasis, rather he gives the impression he is trying to convince himself. His facial features are irregular and undistinguished; the hands are very long with slim fingers. The difference between Hitler and Mussolini may be indicated by one characteristic. Mussolini makes the Fascist salute by throwing out his hand boldly, fingers spread; Hitler raises his arm as though the muscles were cramped, holding his fingers together.

In the lecture hall, he is all action. He gesticulates and stares his audience direct in the face. In private, he never bothers to answer a question directly. He stares at the questioner, then braces himself, and put a counter question which usually consists of "What has that to do with the subject?" Without waiting for an answer he then proceeds into repeated abuses of the existing order. His outward appearance is neat, but he is not overdressed.

As has been said, he has fused the forces of his whole life into political ambition. He can talk of only one thing—politics. That he claims absolute authority for himself, demands blind obedience from all is characteristic of him.

Enough has been written of his enlistment and service in the German army during the war, of his famous Munich "beer putsch" in 1923 which first brought him into the spotlight, of the six months' imprisonment, following failure of this putsch, and of the sensational gain of his national socialists in the elections last fall, which awakened the country to the great growth of discontent and aroused uneasiness abroad.

TEXAS TOPICS

By RAYMOND BROOKS AUSTIN, Sept. 24.—Sen. Ben G. Oneal is the first announced candidate for congress out of the several in the legislature who will make the race next year.

Sen. Oneal and one-half the senators are holdovers, and a race next year will take this group out of present offices only if it wins. If they lose, they still have the senate seat.

But house members have to make a choice, since all are to be elected next year.

Rep. Victor B. Gilbert is to be a candidate for attorney general if James V. Alfred does not seek reelection to that post. Lieut. Gov. Edgar Witt and Sens. Clint C. Small and Walter C. Woodward are prospective candidates for governor. Following are among senators whose terms will expire next year: Beek, Berkeley, Cunningham, Gain-cr, Hardin, Hornsby, Martin, Parrish, Patton, Pellard, Small, Stevenson, Thomason, Williamson. It is yet to early for decision to have been reached in most cases by the incumbents whether they are to ask re-election to this office or not, or election to some other office.

A plan to begin diverting gasoline and license fee revenues from the roadbuilding fund to the general operation of the state government will encounter stiff opposition, if brought forward now.

Lawmakers will recall that the University of Texas was designed to be self-supporting from its land endowment; but that from the day the legislature began the policy of appropriating money to it, its budget has been back before every biennial session, and now the university receives as a matter of course nearly $4,000,000 from the general revenue. Schools have their own tax equivalent to the total cost of government, yet when the policy of making rural aid appropriations was formed, the custom of appropriating from $1,000,000 to $2,500,000 a year out of general revenue became a standing one. Once put the license fees to supporting the institutions or any other service except highway building and the growing demands of the state would never let them get back again to the purpose for which they were levied.

Believe it or not, prisoners in the Texas penitentiary have the benefits and pleasures of radio. From a single receiving set operated by a prisoner, horns are hooked up in the various cell blocks.

Glistening like an oriental tower, the drab old red mortar land office building that O. Henry labored in for years, has been renovated until it appears as one of the most attractive buildings of the state campus group. It is used as a museum by the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Seen a white stone highway building will be added to the group making rural aid appropriations was formed, the custom of appropriating from $1,000,000 to $2,500,000 a year county courthouse, to be renovated and improved, remaining temporarily as a fifth.

The State of Texas now officially has one college that is not operating. That is a nautical college, created through the persistent effort of Sen. W. R. Cousins of Beaumont.

Sen. Cousins says the state will be furnished a United States government ship; and arrangements are to be made for an instructional staff in which men of Texas the state with the longest coastline of any, may train some of its people for maritime posts.

Several large irrigation projects are in the course of building in Texas; but no official of Texas has yet raised the question whether the limitation of cotton acreage, thus forcing other land into other crops will discourage or hold back any of these undertakings. Most of them are designed for vegetables and other crops than cotton.

The cotton law itself will tend to more intensified cultivation of the land that is worked; so that it is not probable the irrigation developments already planned will be crippled because of the cotton law in itself; though bringing on of new ones may be retarded by it.

Loboes to Present Season's Second Performance Friday

COMANCHE INDIANS TO BE OPPONENTS

With another week of intensive practice behind them, in which Coaches Jefferies and Hill have endeavored to correct defects that were revealed in the clash with Gorman high school last Friday night, the Loboes are preparing to offer the customers a second spectacle when they meet the strong Comanche high school eleven at Chesley field tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock under the flood lights.

The same lineup which started the game with the Gorman Panthers will probably start the contest with the Indians. This combination, headed by Capt. Chuck Van Horn at right end, proved effective against the powerful Gorman team for five touchdowns, although allowing the visitors one touchdown to add to another collected against the seconds. A faulty line was responsible for the score and the ailing sector has been subjected to a pretty severe corrective dose during the week. No doubt Ciscons will witness a considerable improvement in its performance Friday evening.

Comanche will be playing its second invasion of the Oil Belt. The team is a scrapping outfit and in its first contest held the powerful Breckenridge Buckaroo creditably until worn down by injections of fresh material in the Bucky ranks, allowing the Green Wave to race through five or six counters in the concluding period.

With another week of work behind them the visitors will, logically, have improved to a great extent and there is every prospect of a heated fray confronting the Cisco gold-clads in this encounter.

The Cisco starting crew will likely consist of Waverley Massengale and Van Horn at ends; Norvell and McMahon at tackles; Wade Massengale and McCall at guards; Preston at center; Wilkins and Cleo Ray at halves; Little at quarter and Jefferies at full.

The second team will probably be given an opportunity to redeem itself for the unfavorably showing the boys made when they allowed the Gorman team to intercept a pass and run it back for the Panthers' first touchdown Friday evening. This blot on their record sits ill with the lads whose scoring balance so far is in red ink on the wrong side of the ledger.

Cowboy Punter

Big Steve Marshall, co-captain and fullback of the Simmons university is likely to use his toe plenty Saturday when the Cowboys play the Texas

University Longhorns Saturday. Punting is not his only hobby, however. He rams the line quite frequently and is a mainstay on the defense.

COWBOYS AND STEERS MEET THIRD TIME

AUSTIN, Sept. 24.—For the third time in athletic history of the two schools, Simmons University and University of Texas eleven meet when the Cowboys invade Austin Saturday. The varsity crews have met only once, that in 1920, when Berry Whitaker's great undefeated team swamped the Abilene eleven, 63-0. In 1929 the Steer "B" squad dropped a 3-0 decision to the Cowboys at Abilene.

Saturday's engagement will be the first of the season for the Longhorns and the second for Simmons, the latter having defeated Daniel Baker last week end. Since Clyde Littlefield, Texas coach, is noted for his cautious early-season tactics, a close game is expected. The Steer mentor rarely elects to show rival scouts more than a glimpse of his real strength in preliminary games, and it is reasonable to assume that so far as possible he will keep his main scoring threats under cover. Reports from Simmons indicate, however, that Coach Les Cranfill will place a strong team on the field, and the Steers may have to open up more than is expected in order to subdue the Texas Conference eleven.

Topping of a week of hard work with a lively scrimmage last Saturday, Littlefield closed his first period of training with his first string group fairly well set. Intensive drills this week in preparation for the Simmons contest probably will be run off with a first team made up of the following: Dubose and Bibby, ends; Blanton and Moody or Doell, tackles; Captain Baumgarten and Cook, guards; Howie, center; Elkins, quarter; Stafford and Craig or Burr, halves; Koy, fullback.

SOUTHWESTERN SEASON OPENS ON SATURDAY

By D. B. HARDEMAN
AUSTIN, Sept. 24.—The official opening of the Southwestern grid season is due for Saturday with all the conference teams except the Baylor Bears getting into action. Five of the games are due to be set-ups for the conference eleven, but reports predict a real battle for the T. C. U. Frogs when they tackle the Louisiana State University team at Fort Worth.

The Texas Longhorns have the only easy game of the year Saturday when they meet Leslie Cranfill's fighting Simmons Cowboys. While this game is expected to be far from a run-away battle, it is believed that the Steers will clear up much of the doubt as to who will fill the vacancies at the ends and the backfield. Speed is going to be the bid for success put forward by the Cowboys, but the Steers should encounter no real difficulty unless it is overconfidence.

It is interesting to note that the Aggies are set for a double bill Saturday at Kyle field when the Cadets play host to the Tarleton Plovoys and the Southwestern Pirates. Last year the Aggies downed the Pirates 43-0, and since they are stronger this year than last, it should be no trouble to whip the two teams.

Ray Morrison's Southern Methodist Mustangs are rounding into shape this week for their tilt with the Denton Teachers. Last year the Mustangs worked for the inter-sectional games, but this year the Eagles seem to have made up their minds to lead the flag race in the conference. The bid for positions should be cleared up with the two easy games on successive weekends, The Ponies tackle the Teachers this week and the Simmons Cowboys next Saturday.

The Arkansas Razorbacks report many weaknesses this year, but they whipped the College of the Ozarks last year 27-0 without a hard try, so a good bet would be about 20-0 in favor of the Porkers this Saturday. They play at Fayetteville.

Rice Institute has experienced a tough battle for the last several years with the Sam Houston Teachers, but brilliant sophomores and juniors should make the battle an Owl victory with apparent ease this season. Rice looked good last Saturday when they whipped the Texas College of Arts and Industries 27-0 at Houston with Jack Frye, sophomore back, scoring the fifth touchdown.

T. C. U. will have a hard time with L. S. U. perhaps, but the Frogs are a powerful eleven, and with a consistent power attack, a win is expected for the Southwest conference team when the Louisiana team comes to Fort Worth. T. C. U. has a powerful display of good backs with Brannon, Hinton, Spearman, Oliver, Captain Green and others. Their line was very good last year and it is almost as good this season. They are sure to be in the fight for the conference flag.

All in all, the conference will see but one, possibly two, good battles over the weekend. Rice fans may find an upset in the Sam Houston Teachers, and T. C. U. will have a hard fight with Louisiana State.

CAVE MEN HAD TOOTH WORRIES EXPERT SAYS

PALO ALTO, Sept. 24.—Cave men and primitive Indians in California had other things than saber-toothed tigers and mastodons to worry them, Dr. A. W. Meyer, head of Stanford university anatomy department, has concluded.

Toothache, for instance, was just as common in those days as now, Dr. Meyer declares, and six out of seven or even eight out of nine, probably suffered from cavities, impacted wisdom teeth and similar dental troubles, he believes.

Preliminary results of study of Indian skeletons found in burial mounds near Mayfield, Santa Clara county, showed marked structural defects ad acute nutritive wants, Dr. Meyer said. Evidence was plentiful that these primitive men also experienced considerable pain from abscessed, decayed and broken teeth he said.

Teeth in these days were used for mechanical purposes to a great extent, it has been shown, adding to the pains of those who were forced to pull leather thongs through skin jackets and such things perhaps while suffering from severe toothaches.

The fact that many of the bones found in the burial mound were those of small children indicated that the standard of living among the primitive inhabitants of the region was very low, Dr. Meyer said, and indicated that the securing of food was a real problem.

No evidence was found that the Indians either spun or wove, Dr. Meyer stated. Shell money was found in large quantities, indicating the tribes had learned the art of barter, however.

SWEDES JOIN RAT WAR

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 24.—Sweden has joined an international war on rats it has now been announced. The Swedish government health authorities have formally accepted an invitation to participate in an international congress, in Paris, aimed at the total extinction of rats. Prof. C. A. TWO MILLION DOLLARS PAID IN WAGES AND SALARIES...

A REAL CONTRIBUTION TO WEST TEXAS' PROSPERITY

PROVIDING a livelihood for over 1,200 employes... many of whom are your friends and neighbors... the West Texas Utilities Company has contributed to the prosperity of West Texas, for the last three years, an annual payroll of over $2,000,000.00.

Two millions of dollars is a powerful agency toward the stabilization of business conditions... Its expenditure means a substantial amount of trade for retail stores, grocers, laundries, doctors, dentists, and commercial establishments of all kinds.

Only the continued expansion and development of the West Texas Utilities Company has made possible the building of this payroll. Through efficient management and economical operation, this company has expanded its facilities, reduced rates and stimulated the industrial and agricultural development of its territory. To carry forward these important projects, the assembling of a loyal, enthusiastic and hard-working corps of native West Texan employes has been a logical outgrowth.

These employes are genuinely concerned over their company's activities. They are working for West Texas... its growth and development... just as you are working toward the same goal. To co-ordinate our activities is the constant aim of the West Texas Utilities Company.

Every dollar you spend for electric service... and more!... has, for the past eight years, been re-invested in the future of West Texas. Payrolls alone, for construction and operation, are equal to 30c out of every dollar you spend for electric service—a sum which goes back into this "Land of Opportunity" in salaries and wages paid to West Texan employes.

Do You Know?
... that if you are an average user of domestic electric service you can increase your use and enjoyment of the comforts and conveniences of electric service by three times, and only increase your total bill by approximately 10c a day? This is made possible through a major transmission line electric system and an organization accustomed to doing large things in a large way.

GUILTY LIPS

by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN Author of "MAD MARRIAGE"

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Pretty Norma Kent, 20-year-old secretary, marries Mark Travers, son of F. M. Travers, millionaire real estate dealer, in spite of the father's threats to disinherit Mark.

The story opens in Marlboro, middle western metropolis. Mark sells his expensive roadster to get money for the honeymoon and he and Norma go to fashionable Blue Springs. After two weeks their money is gone, partly due to Mark's gambling. With $500 borrowed, the couple return to Marlboro. Mark sets out on a round of pleasure instead of hunting work. When their funds dwindle again he and Norma move to a cheap apartment.

Mark gets one job and loses it. Then he becomes a floorwalker in Blossomdale's department store. In spite of poverty the young couple are happy. After a few weeks Mark's father sends for him, offers to take him back into his own business organization if Mark will prove he can make good. His first task involves a business trip to France. Norma is to remain at home. She is frightened and begs him not to go. In spite of her protests Mark departs. He expects Norma to stay with his parents while he is away but she slips out of the house, leaving no trace of her whereabouts. In a restaurant she hears her name spoken.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
Norma raised startled eyes. "Why, Bob?" she exclaimed. "Why hello—"
Bob Farrell smiled. "Wasn't sure it was you for a minute," he admitted. "Haven't seen you in a long while. Mind if I join you?"
"Please do! It's good to see you again, Bob." For a moment the girl's eyes lowered, then met his gaze. "Mark's out of town—it's a business trip—and I'm taking a vacation from my own cooking. Sit down and tell me all about yourself."

Farrell pulled out the chair opposite and sank into it. He looked at Norma admiringly. "I haven't been doing much," he said. "Nothing to talk about." He hesitated, then continued. "I should have sent you my best wishes long ago—when I read about your marriage. I certainly wish you every happiness, Norma."
"Thanks." There was a pause before Norma said hurriedly, "I have been happy. So happy! Some day when you meet the right girl, Bob, I hope you'll know the same happiness. You deserve it—and you'll find it, too! You see this is the first time Mark and I have been separated. It's going to be pretty hard, I'm afraid."
Farrell's tone was sympathetic. "Maybe you'd rather be alone—," he suggested.

Norma shook her head. "Oh, no! I think I'll feel better to have someone to talk to. It's luck finding you here, Bob. I've thought of you so many times. You didn't leave Marlboro after all as you expected?"
"No. No that—er—that fell through."
She didn't notice that he flushed slightly. "You've been doing things I want to hear about," she told him. "Chris said you've had a promotion."
"Well, not exactly that. Got a raise while back and they don't load me with quite so many errands to run. I've been lucky on a couple cases. Old McVaine seems to be pulling for me. That's not interesting though. Tell me what you've been doing."

"Keeping house. Cooking and sweeping and washing dishes. Oh, and I love it, Bob. I've never been so happy in my life."
Farrell traced a pattern on the table cloth with the tip of a spoon. He said without glancing up, "I guess you mean that."
"Of course I mean it! You must come to see us some time. I want you to know Mark. When you do you'll understand. Bob, Mark's wonderful! Come to dinner some night soon after he gets back!"
"Thanks. Hope I can make it."

Is he to be gone long?
"It seems a long time to me. Four weeks and maybe five! Just now that sounds like a lifetime!"
"Oh, the time will pass. That's about the best thing time does. You'll find ways to keep busy. How about Chris? Seen anything of her lately?"
"Not so much as I'd like. She's been at the apartment and occasionally I meet her for lunch. Chris always seems to be the same."
The waitress brought Farrell's order. Norma had been placed before her and she was pleased to see it looked appetizing. She ate with more relish than she had expected.

Continued questioning drew from Farrell some of the details of the law suit that had brought him a modest amount of glory. Launched on the subject he described curious angles of another legal tangle. They finished dessert and still Farrell talked on. Abruptly he said:
"Look here, you're tired and I've been making you listen to all this blarney. Why didn't you tell me to shut up?"
"Oh, but I've been interested. I was interested in every word! Perhaps you'd better go now though. I am just a little tired."
Farrell was on his feet. "You haven't told me where you're living. Is there somewhere I can take you?"
Norma shook her head. "Just put me in a cab," she told him. "It's been good to see you, Bob, and know you're making such strides to success. But then I always knew you'd do that. You will come to dinner?"
"I certainly hope to. Really don't you think I'd better come along with you?"
"Really I don't."
The driver looked back at his passenger. "Where to, Ma'am?" he asked.
"Turn into Eighth street. Keep going until I tell you to stop."
The driver obeyed instructions. They had traveled three blocks when traffic stopped them. Across the corner Norma saw an electric sign which read, "Hannah Spencer Hall." She knew the place, though she had never been there. An endowed home for young girls who worked.

A hotel was out of the question because Norma had no baggage. It might be an idea—
Norma rapped on the glass partition and told the taxi driver to stop. She got out, paid her fare and hurried across the street. Then she went up the steps of Hannah Spencer Hall and entered.
"I wonder if I could get a room here for the night?" she said to the gray-haired woman at the desk. I've missed my luggage and I don't know what I'm to do!"
The woman asked several questions. Norma answered them truthfully, giving the impression, however, that she was a stranger in the city and that she was friendless.
"We'll find a place for you," she was informed. "Let's see, number 305 is vacant now—" name as "Norma Travers," omitting the prefix "Mrs."

She sat in the one comfortable chair in the new bedroom, contrasting her surroundings with the apartment and the room she had occupied in the Travers home. Undoubtedly this was the poorest of the three.
"I can stand it for four weeks!" Norma told herself. "Four weeks can't last forever! Four weeks—and Mark will be back!"
When the trunk arrived she unpacked her clothing and hung the dresses in the tiny chest. She put underclothing in neat piles in the drawers of the dressing table. Some of the things she did not bother to unpack. There was no use taking out the pretty evening gowns or evening wrap.

Once Norma passed before the mirror of the dressing table. It was not her own reflection of which she was thinking.
"If only I had a picture of Mark to stand there!" the girl lamented. "Even a little kodac picture would be something."
There was no picture and Norma knew it. She rummaged in the trunk again, brought out an object and placed it on the dressing table. It was a fountain pen Mark had used and discarded. Not very personal—still it had been Mark's.
In the afternoon she telephoned Chris Sanders and agreed to meet her at 5:30 on a familiar corner. Norma reached the place first. She saw Chris, slender and erect, threading her way through the maze of traffic. Norma went to meet her.
"Here I am, Chris!" she called. The older girl turned her head. She caught Norma's eyes and smiled.
"Sorry to be late—," she began but did not finish the sentence. "Why, Norma!" Chris Sanders interrupted herself. "What on earth's happened? You look like a ghost!"
"It's—oh, it's nothing serious. Marks got away—on business for his father—and I just thought I'd like to talk to you. That's all."
"Bone away? Where's he gone?"
"To New York. And he's sailing tonight for France. He's going to be gone four weeks. Chris, and already it seems like it's been a million years."
"But I didn't know he was working for his father! When did this happen?"
Norma's voice did not betray her. She managed to keep it almost steady as she answered, "I'll tell you about it. Let's go somewhere where we can talk."

Cement Mills Make Good Showing
AUSTIN, Sept. 24.—Texas cement mills made a fairly good showing during August, with production of cement only 3 per cent behind the season's high level registered last month, and, at 644,000 barrels, only 7.6 per cent less than in August 1930, according to compilations of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.
"Shipments increased 5.2 per cent over those for August, 1930, though they were 4.2 per cent less than in July," the Bureau's report said. "Stocks at the end of the month were about 24,000 barrels, or about 4 per cent less than in either July or in August, 1930. Normally, there is a greater drop in stocks on hand between July and August."
Activity in the Texas mills held up considerably better than that for the entire country. Production of cement in August, 1931, totaled 13,549,000 barrels shipments amounted to 15,172,000 barrels and stocks at the end of the month were 24,311,000 barrels. As compared with a year ago, production and shipments are 24 per cent and 25 per cent lower, while stocks increased 2 per cent. During August, cement mills were operating at 60 per cent of capacity, as against 62 per cent in July and 81 per cent in August, 1930.

Flier Sees Next War in 1980
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—The next great war will occur "any time after 1980," and to shelter the people of the world there will be bomb-proof buildings and powerful protective gases.
This view into the future was given by Commander Willis B. Haviland, war aviator, of Atlanta, Ga., here on business.
Belief that science will act shortly to provide plans for defense against predicted air raids and gas attacks was voiced by the aviator.
"Another world war will not wipe out cities and nations," he explained. "Science will develop means of countering warfare almost as speedily as the hazards of war increase."
"All buildings will be constructed so bombs will not explode on hitting the roof and the walls will be built so that the force of the blast will have no effect."
Commander Haviland led the first American air attack of the World War. He was in charge of a squadron of 16 planes, which swooped down on the Austrian naval base at Porto Corsini, on the Adriatic Sea, in 1918.

French Revive Ancient Fete

PARIS, Sept. 24.—The revival of an ancient religious fete has just been started in the forest of St. Germain-en-Laye called the Fete of the Loges. The name comes from the Woodmen's cabins originally found in the forest. These disappeared and the chapel which took their place was destroyed in 1346 by the English.
The little church was dedicated to Saint Fiacre and was no more than a memory when Rene Cuisinat asked Louis XIII for permission to use one of the huts as a hermitage. Cuisinat, because of his piety and kindness, came to be regarded as a saint and the hut was made the objective of many pilgrimages.
It was not long afterward that a religious order was installed in the huts, and in 1644 Ann of Austria erected a church and monastery on the site. The Fete of Loges was inaugurated eight or ten years later under the name of Fete of Saint Fiacre. The name was changed in 1790 to the Fete of the Loges, and such it has been revived. Pilgrims visit the spot today to seek indulgence. The forest fete formerly drew thousands of Parisians all through the 19th Century, and with the building of a railway, the fete gained even greater popularity.

Locked the Stable After the Horse Was Stolen

We are all familiar with the above saying which means, Action came too late. Now, that is the way with many people about their insurance—they think about it when it is too late—they lock the stable too late.

When your car perhaps has been stolen or you are faced with a liability suit, then it is too late to insure—

Let us protect you now.

This is the BANK that SERVICE is Building

Webster defines "loans" as follows: "Anything furnished for temporary use.

When we pay what we borrow we make progress . . . we build up . . . we acquire. When we merely pay interest on what we borrow we mark time. We all have a certain unsound feeling about a loan that runs on and on—never getting any smaller.

Obviously a loan is something that should be repaid . . . otherwise its usefulness has been destroyed.
