LOWDEN RELEASED DELEGATES AFTER EIGHTH BALLOT

Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 12.—Fear of a deadlock which he believed would prove detrimental to his party caused Governor Lowden to release his delegates, according to a statement by him tonight.
"The delegates were becoming restive under the delay, and fearing protracted deadlock, I decided to release my delegates and advised them to use their best judgment as to whom to support."
He expressed confidence in Harding and said he would support him.

DETECTIVES GUARD INFANT DAUGHTER OF FAMOUS CARUSO

EAST HAMPTON, N. J., June 12.—Fear that an attempt might be made to harm Gloria, the infant daughter of Enrico Caruso, caused a heavy guard of private detectives to be thrown around the famous singer's estate pending an investigation of the $500,000 jewelry robbery last Tuesday evening.
Threatening letters have been received. All of the Caruso family, except the wife, are armed.

SUIT BROUGHT TO RESTRAIN BRYAN APPEAR IN MOVIES

Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 12.—A suit to restrain William Jennings Bryan from appearing in the movies in a demonstration of certain of his lectures on total abstinence, was filed here today by George Dalton.
Dalton claims he developed the idea, and proposed it to Bryan, and that they came to an agreement. Later, according to Dalton's bill, Bryan sought modification agreement, including the provision that the financing be done by Edward Goltra of St. Louis. Bryan later obtained a copyright on the idea, using his lectures for the scenario purposes, Dalton says.

Speech Nominating Harding, Winner of G. O. P. Nomination

Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 12.—Assailing the present administration as an oligarchy in which the few rule the many and telling his hearers that the country faces a problem more serious than those faced by either Washington or Lincoln, Frank B. Willis, former governor of Ohio, today placed the name of Senator Warren G. Harding in nomination for the presidency at the republican national convention.
Former Governor Willis recited briefly Senator Harding's record in the senate and promised that if nominated he would be elected.
He charged that production had been hampered by so-called government regulations and announced that the republican party has been called upon to rescue the country and save American institutions.
Mr. Willis said:
"Republican success is always desirable in 1920 it is imperative. Called into being by Abraham Lincoln to save the union, the republican party merited its long years of triumph through its valiant service to the republic and its promotion of the people's progress. It battled for national prosperity and sound finance under the leadership of Ohio's knightliest son, William McKinley; it raised the victorious standard of the square deal and obedience to the law at the call of that stalwart, red blooded American, Theodore Roosevelt. That vast as are its achievements and brilliant as has been its leadership, the man nominated here today must be of type big enough to enable him to look with level gaze at the leadership of other years, and to face, undaunted, problems more serious than those which confronted Washington or Lincoln."
"We have emerged from a world wide victorious and unafraid, in that great struggle to maintain the national honor and preserve free government among men, republicans on battlefield, in congress and in private life did their full share as Americans regardless of the repeated insults of the most bitterly partisan administration in the history of the republic and the official pronouncement that the only way to sustain the republic and be patriotic was to vote the ticket of the party that won in 1916 because 'he kept us out of war' and seek to win in 1920 because 'he kept us out of peace.'"
"In the fevered atmosphere that settled about a world, war torn, weary, petulant vapors have sprung up periling the peace of the world and the perpetuity of our own republic."
"Bolshevism and anarchy stalk ferocious and militant across the planet and even dare to shake their briefly hair in our own country undismayed by its own administration that furnishes by its own operative unconstitutional acts the very soil in which I, W. Wilson flourishes and which fulminates against radicalism through one department of the government and encourages it by important executive and diplomatic appointments in others. Instead of orderly liberty, regulated by law, under democratic rule, this government has become an oligarchy in which the few rule the many by intimidation. Government by threat must cease."
"The necessities of our country, unprepared for war, furnished excuse for expenditures of unparalleled extravagance. This wastefulness was endured without a murmur while the war lasted, but now the people demand and will have retrenchment. Extravagance must give way to economy if the country would avoid bankruptcy."
"Production is hampered and hamstrung by so-called governmental regulation of business by those who understand neither business nor government. To add to these domestic woes, those in authority by a self-assumed 'mandate,' seized in the face of flat repudiation by the American people at the ballot box, have undertaken to sign away, by a stroke of the pen, the independence won by the sword of Washington. The spirit of an unwavering loyalty to American tradition and institutions upheld by every president from Washington to Roosevelt, has been superceded by a vague, misty, polygamous, patriotism that would scatter its affectional indiscriminately among Bengalese and bolshevik and which would prove as unsatisfactory and trouble-breeding in international as in domestic affairs. From this hopeless stangle of unparalleled inefficiency, unheard of extravagance, unconstitutional usurpation of power and up-American bartering away of national independence, the democratic party is impotent to solve these problems because it has grown and fattened on the very evil policies and practices which must now be wiped out forever if the republic is to live."
"The republican party here assembled, with the faces of the heroic dead looking down upon us and commanding us

FEDERATION OF LABOR MAD AT G. O. P. ACTION

Associated Press.
MONTREAL, Canada, June 12.—The republican convention has "turned its back upon labor," has adopted a platform "defiant in its defense of the enemies of labor, calculated to secure for them fresh advantages and greater privileges," declared Samuel Tompkins and Matthew Wolf, president and vice president respectively of the American Federation of Labor, today in a statement presented to the convention.
The report was adopted by the convention and ordered printed and distributed to organized labor.
Gompers stated that the executive council had announced labor's demands which had been submitted to the republican convention and would be submitted in identical form to the democratic convention.
Congressional investigation of alleged "unspicable outrages" inflicted upon miners by the coal interests in West Virginia was demanded in a resolution unanimously adopted.
The labor platform as adopted, they asserted, proposes industrial enslavement and abrogates rights as precious as life itself.
"The republican platform practically ignores the profiteer," the statement added, "and while recognizing the evils of currency inflation, offers no remedy for these conditions."
The Mexican plank of the platform, labor leaders charge, aims to undermine the sovereignty of the Mexicans. "It proposes a fulfillment of what has long been the hopes and aims of those whose sole object is the exploitation of the Mexican people and the boundless Mexican resources."
"It will be noted that the platform," said the statement, "is silent on essential rights of wage earners to organize into trade unions and select their own representatives; ignores the fact that only by collective bargaining through such organization of wage workers can industrial justice be attained."

Warren G. Harding

Associated Press.
Warren G. Harding has always been a resident of Ohio, which state he has represented as United States Senator since 1914. In private business life he is publisher of the Marion, Ohio, Star.

He was born on a farm, near the village of Blooming Grove, Morrow county, Ohio, November 2, 1863, the eldest of eight children. His father, George T. Harding, was a country doctor whose forebears came from Scotland. Before going to Ohio, the Hardings were residents of Pennsylvania, where some of them were massacred by Indians. Others fought in the revolutionary war. His mother, Mrs. Phoebe Dickerson, was descended from an old-time Holland Dutch family, the Van Kirks.

In his youth Warren Harding lived the life of a farmer boy attending the village school until 14 years of age, when he entered Ohio Central college of Iberia, from which he was graduated. As editor of the college paper he first displayed a talent for journalism. He was obliged to stop school now and then and earn the money with which to pursue his college course. At one time he cut corn, at another painted barns and at still another drove a team and helped to grade the roadbed of a new railway. At 17 he taught a district school and played a horn in the village brass band.

At odd times he worked in the village printing office, in time becoming an expert typesetter and later a linotype operator. He is a practical pressman and a job printer, and as a "make-up man" is said to have few equals. The luck piece he has carried as a Senator is the stock type.
In 1884 Dr. Harding moved his family to Marion. A short time afterwards the father purchased for Warren The Star then a small paper.

On the paper Warren Harding performed every function from devil to the managing editor. In all the years the senator has owned it there has never been a strike or a threatened one.

Senator Harding is closely identified with many other large business enterprises.

FORCES OF LOWDEN COLLAPSE; VOTES ARE CAST FOR HARDING

Ohioan Centered On by Party Chiefs Friday Night As Man to Break Deadlock—Lowden and Wood Run Neck and Neck for Eight Ballots, With Johnsons Strength Dwindling.

Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 12.—Warren G. Harding, United States senator from Ohio, was nominated for the presidency by the republican convention after a deadlock lasting nine ballots, and which finally forced out of the running all of the original favorites.

As his running mate, the convention named Governor Calvin Coolidge, of Massachusetts, upsetting the plan of the Harding backers to nominate Senator Irvine Lenroot of Wisconsin.

The collapse of the forces of Governor Lowden and their transfer in large part to Senator Harding, put the latter over.

General Wood lost heavily, however, when the Harding drift began, and Senator Johnson also went steadily down hill.

Entering the convention as a candidate distinctly of the "dark horse" class, Harding got only 64 votes on the first ballot yesterday, and on the second ballot dropped to 56.

Adjournment last night on the fourth ballot gave Harding 61. In an all-night conference among the party chiefs, however, Harding was mentioned many times as the man most likely to break the deadlock should neither Wood, Lowden nor Johnson command the lead today.

They all failed to do so, Wood and Lowden running a neck and neck race for the leadership on four more ballots, while Johnson dwindled steadily.

LEADERS CENTERED ON HARDING

Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 12.—Senator Harding of Ohio, emerged today from an all-night conference of the republican chieftains as the man whom they hoped would break the imminent deadlock on the presidential nomination.

They planned to concentrate strength on him should the convention fail to break the deadlock established yesterday by four ballots without a nomination.

The backers of Wood, Lowden and Johnson, who led the first four ballots in the order named, with the best Wood showing 314 1-2 of 193 necessary to nominate, had not relaxed their efforts.

JOHNSON FELL BEHIND.
All three of the leaders gained strength as the balloting progressed, except Johnson, who went 7 1-2 votes behind his high mark of 148 on the last ballot Friday night. Harding's supporters sought Johnson's support by mentioning Johnson as a vice-presidential candidate, but Johnson gave no early indication that he had relinquished hopes of the higher office.

Leaders also considered other dark horses if the Harding boom collapsed.

At 10:25 o'clock Chairman Lodge called the fifth day's session of the convention to order, and immediately called for the fifth ballot in the contest for the presidential nomination.

BUTLER RELEASES DELEGATES.
Nicholas Murray Butler released 88 delegates. When a caucus was held it was shown they split, 41 for Lowden, 24 for Wood, six for Harding, and the balance scattered.

There was no nomination on the fifth ballot. Wood lost 13 1-2 votes; Harding and Lowden gained. Lowden passed Wood on the fifth ballot. Predictions of the Wood managers that he would gain after the first ballot were not fulfilled. Lowden ran up to 303, Wood 299, Johnson 133 1-2. Several polls were demanded during the balloting.

On the sixth ballot, Michigan's solid vote of 30 for Johnson broke, 11 going to Wood one to Lowden, and the remainder standing pat. Calls for polls were renewed on the sixth ballot, while the Michigan break, with the possibility of others, added to the tension which grew as prospects for breaking the deadlock became nearer.

As the convention went into the seventh ballot, word came from the leaders that they expected to fight it out longer before the expected break.

On the sixth ballot Ohio gave some Harding votes to Wood, but Harding men said they would return to the Ohio candidate with accessions expected from New York.

Johnson was losing ground steadily as the balloting progressed.

Facts Concerning G. O. P. Nominee for the Vice-Presidency

Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 12.—Governor Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts, who was late today nominated for vice president on the republican ticket, came into national prominence during the policemen's strike in Boston. His name was placed before the convention at Chicago as a candidate for the presidency by Congressman Frederick H. Gillett. The following extracts from the speech of Mr. Gillett will give an idea of the life and character of the vice presidential nominee:
"A year ago hardly a man outside of New England knew who was governor of Massachusetts. Today every man and woman in this vast audience, every lover of ordered liberty in the United States, knows and enjoys that the governor of Massachusetts is Calvin Coolidge."
"Opportunity—which knocks once at every man's door—came to him and found him waiting her summons, calm, courageous, resolute to do his duty, though the heavens fall. And he did it so well, he met his great opportunity with so masterful a spirit as to send a thrill of admiration through every community in the land, and every honest man felt safer because there was such a governor as Coolidge."

"Isn't that the type of man you want for president today? Nominate him and you rally behind him that underlying devotion to our public security, that faith in our republican institutions which when once aroused is overpowering and irresistible. He is supported by no special class or interest, but he attracts all those who desire that 'obedience to law is liberty,' who wish this to be a government of laws and not of men."
"Just to do his duty well has been his life's characteristic. None has been too small for his painstaking, conscientious care; none has arisen too large for his ability or his courage. I believe there is no burden or honor you can place on him which he is not worthy."
"A boyhood on a lonely farm in Vermont bred him in industry, frugality, self-reliance. The granite hills seemed to have moulded his grave, indomitable character. Family self-denial gave him a college education at Amherst to broaden his native talents. Then he practiced law. But his neighbors soon recognized the value of this quiet, sagacious man, and drafted him into the public service, and he fitted from one useful station to another till he reached the highest office of our state. He is not showy or spectacular, but he never disappoints. The limelight attracts him less than the midnight oil. No audience ever fails to listen to his weighty sentences and when they go away they vote as he has talked. A poor man, living in the most frugal simplicity, he always had the confidence and support of the working people, yet rich and poor are to him alike equal before the law. He never crooks the pregnant hinges of the knee before pretentious power, nor stiffens his neck in pride before lowly weakness; but he holds the even tenor of his upright way following his polestar of duty."

"Would it not be a restful change to see such a man in the White House today? His straight-forward personality would clear the murky atmosphere of Washington like a bracing northern breeze. We have been fed long enough on glittering rhetoric and extravagant novelties and rainbow-tinted dreams."
"Do you demand for your candidate a man of native ability? Take him who, an unknown country lawyer, won the confidence of the legislature in his first term. Do you want a profound political thinker? Take the author of that inspiring volume 'Have Faith in Massachusetts.' Do you want courage? Take the governor who just before an election sent the dauntless message: 'There is no right to strike against the public safety by anybody anywhere any time. Do you want a winner? Take the man who has never concealed his convictions who has never lowered his standards and who has never known defeat.'

"I have not a word of depreciation for the splendid men whose names have been put in nomination. I can follow any one of these veterans with enthusiasm and confidence. But it is to the glory of the republican party that there constantly emerge from the ranks young men able to bear forward our banner to new glory. Such a man as our governor, He is patient as Lincoln, silent as Grant, diplomatic as McKinley, with the political instinct of Roosevelt. His character is as firm as the mountains of his native state. Like them, his head is above the clouds and he stands unshaken amid the tumult and the storm."

"William McKinley was a great president because he understood the view-point. Congress and know how to cooperate with the legislative department of the government. We have had enough of one-man government. It is time to resume the functions of government as set forth by the constitution. We do not need a dictator, an autocrat, to give orders. The country calls, rather, for a man of courage, poise and decision, who while reserving to himself the right to direct the general course of government, is not so cocksure in his infallibility as to refuse to hear the advice of other men of large ability and wide experience; a man deliberate in judgment, wise in counsel, and of such caliber and experience that in these troublous times of unrest when the old ship may have to sail tempestuous seas before she reaches her usual calm course of progress, he can say to officers and crew as he labors among them, 'Steady, boys; steady.' We need not so much brilliant and hair raising while Hoover lost one of the five votes with which he started the day in the seventh ballot. Sprout and Coolidge, next high men in the seventh, were below 100.

Harding made small but steady gains through the fifth and sixth ballots.
Michigan broke again on the eighth ballot. Johnson 19, Wood 13, Lowden 7. Harding gained two from Alabama and three from Indiana.

Seventh Ballot Broke Tie

The seventh ballot broke by one vote the tie between Wood and Lowden created by the sixth ballot, and the eighth ballot began with outward evidence of an early decision.

The seventh ballot stood: Wood, 312; Lowden, 311; Harding, 195. Wood gained half a ballot from the result of the sixth, while Lowden lost half a ballot, Harding making all the gains of the eighth ballot.

At the end of the eighth ballot the different candidates stood: Wood, 299; Lowden, 307; Harding, 193 1/2; Johnson, 87; Sprout, 75 1/2; Coolidge, 39; Poindexter, 15; LaFollette, 24; Hoover, 5; Butler, 2; DuPont, 3; Knox, 1; Kellogg, 1; Lenroot, 1.

After the eighth ballot the convention recessed until 4 o'clock without naming the presidential nominee. Meanwhile many delegations went into caucuses.

COOLIDGE UNKNOWN UNTIL THE POLICE STRIKE IN BOSTON

BOSTON, June 12.—Calvin Coolidge, Northampton, Mass., although in public life almost since his graduation from Amherst, in 1895, was little known outside of this state until the greater part of the police force of Boston went on strike September 1915. Coolidge was then governor. He ordered out the state guard to patrol the streets of Boston after night rioting, announced that law and order must be preserved and declared that strikers were deserters and their places would be filled by other men.

AS A WOMAN THINKS

THE ADVANTAGE OF A SMALL INCOME.
By EDITH E. MORTARTY

The small group of women sitting in the little parish house had just finished putting up their last bit of decoration on the last booth and were resting a bit before they continued their work of getting ready for the evening's bazaar. The topic of conversation was the one nearest their pocketbooks, the ever-present high cost of living.
There was actual wailing and lamenting on every side over pirate butchers and grocers, profiteering clothing merchants and sugar hoarders. Every one from the janitor's wife to the wife of the pillar of the church had some grievous tale to relate. Then the minister's wife the group and after listening a while to the woes of her sisters she calmly announced that she did not worry a great deal about the high prices.

"Oh, I know what all of you are thinking," she said. "You are wondering why I have not more to worry about than any of you. You all know the small income I have to manage on and you are wondering why I am not at my wits' end. Well, I should be, if it were not for the fact that during the early part of the war I decided just what was worth while and what was not and I determined to omit everything that was not worth while and get along with necessities and no trimmings.

"I know that people think I dress queerly and am not fashionable enough. That is just one thing which I threw out as non-essential. I determined that a beautiful hat costing $45 was nothing in comparison to my own peace of mind and my husband's. I decided that receptions and social affairs were really not the things that counted in life and so why were new frocks to wear to them so important. I buy only what of necessity I must have and really you would be surprised at the little money you can actually get along on. I am really happier figuring out ways to get along without buying new things than I ever was spending money for new clothes. You can not imagine until you try it what a feeling of triumph you have when you finally find a way to make that old frock do another season.
"I do the same thing with food. I buy only what we need. Of course, neither the butcher nor the grocer like to see me coming, for I will never take an extra ounce of meat or an extra bunch of greens. If everybody had the courage to do what I am doing I am sure that the high prices would have to tumble. And it is really surprising how little it takes to live."

"Yes," agreed the wife of the pillar of the church, "we might all try your plan and help bring down high prices for our husbands were all ministers, but if I attempted such a thing people would begin to talk, men would think my husband was losing money and the banks might not be eager to lend him money when he needed it. Underpaid school teachers and wives of underpaid ministers have such an excellent excuse for using common sense, but the rest of us have no excuse and we do not dare display common sense without an excuse for fear of losing our social standing in a community."

maneuvers as we do safe and sane seamanship by a captain who knows the way.
"Ohio presents such a man for your deliberate consideration. He is a stalwart, fighting republican, who believes in the efficacy of representative government under party sponsorship; knowing and heeding the lessons of the past, his face is toward the future—he is not a professor, progressive, but a performing progressive; and he is a vote getter. The country needs the republican party, the republican party needs Ohio and Ohio needs the nomination of her candidate to insure success. We believe we can carry Ohio this year for the nominee of this convention whoever he may be, and we pledge our undivided effort from now till November to bring that about, but with our candidate nominated victory is certain. The enemy carried Ohio in 1912 by 100,000 and in 1916 by nearly 50,000, yet in between times in 1914 a great forward-looking Ohio republican was elected United States senator by 103,000 majority and he carried along to victory the whole republican stake-ticket with me on it and he can carry Ohio next November by 100,000 majority.

"If we had carried Ohio in 1916 a great republican president would be in the White House today. If we carry it in 1920 the nominee of this convention will be inaugurated president March 4, 1921.
"In the name of Ohio republicans I present for your deliberate consideration the man who can carry Ohio and thus insure republican triumph—that modest, dignified, substantial citizen, that aggressive, sane, cool-headed leader of men, that typical American, Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio."

NOTED PUNJAB, INDIA, MASSACRE WAS CALCULATED

DELAYED REPORT SHOWS THOSE IN AUTHORITY VERY INHUMAN.

HARRASSED INNOCENT

Martial Law Used Purposely to Make Men and Women Suffer.

Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 12.—A strong arraignment of the administration of the Punjab district in India in connection with the troubles in the spring of 1919, including the massacre at Amritsar, characterized as "a calculated piece of inhumanity," is contained in the report of the commissioners appointed by the Punjab sub-committee of the Indian National Congress to investigate the disorders and their cause. Full copies of this report have now reached this country.

Cabled reports of the findings of the commission showed that it had recommended the recall of Lord Chelmsford, the viceroy, the relieving of Sir Michael O'Dwyer, the lieutenant governor of the Punjab, of any responsible office under the crown, the demotion of General R. E. H. Dyer, commander-in-chief of the British forces in India, and of other British and Indian officials involved in the troubles, as well as the repeal of the objectionable Rowlatt act, which ostensibly was enacted for the suppression of sedition. General Dyer has since been relieved of his command by the British government.

The text of the report reveals numerous other interesting points made by the commissioners, in summing up the evidence of more than 1,700 witnesses who were examined and in formulating the conclusions reached.

"We have been obliged in places to use strong language," says the commission in the course of its conclusions, "but we have used every adjective with due deliberation. If anything we have underrated the case against the Punjab government. We recognize that we have no right to exact an impossible standard of correctness from the government. In times of excitement and difficulty, any officer is prone to make mistakes, in spite of the best intentions in the world. We recognize, too, that when the country is on the eve of important changes introduced in the administration, and the sovereign has made an appeal to the officials and the people for co-operation, we should say nothing that may be calculated to retard the progress."

"But we feel that it is not possible to ignore acts of atrocious injustice on a wholesale scale by responsible officers, at it would not be possible, no matter how bright the future might be, to ignore the criminal acts of the people. In our opinion, it is more necessary now than ever before that the official wrong should be purged, as well as the people's. The task of working the reforms and making India realize her goal in the quickest time possible would be well nigh impossible, if both the people and the officials do not approach it with clean hands and clean minds. If, therefore, we recommend that officials who have erred should be brought to justice, we do so, not in a vindictive spirit, but in order that the administration of the country may become purified of corruption and injustice. Whilst, therefore, we believe that the mob excesses in Amritsar and elsewhere were wrong and deserving of condemnation, we are equally sure that the popular misdeeds have been more than punished by the action of the authorities."

"In examining, in detail, the events in the different districts of the Punjab, we have refrained from saying anything regarding the government of India. It is impossible, however, to ignore or slur over the inaction, if not the active participation, of the central government in the official action. His excellency the viceroy never took the trouble of examining the people's case. He ignored telegrams and letters from individuals and public bodies. He endorsed the action of the Punjab government without inquiry. He clothed the officials with indemnity in indecent haste. He never went to Punjab to make a personal inquiry, even after the occurrence. He ought to have known, at least in May, everything that the various official witnesses have admitted, and yet he failed to inform the public or the imperial government of the full nature of the Jallianwala Bagh massacre, or the subsequent acts done under martial law. Whilst we do not think his excellency was wilfully neglectful of the interests of those who were entrusted to his charge by his majesty, we regret to say that his excellency Lord Chelmsford proved himself incapable of holding the high office to which he was called, and we are of opinion that his excellency should be recalled."

Other conclusions of the committee were stated as follows: "The people of the Punjab were incensed against Sir M. O'Dwyer's administration by reason of his studied contempt and distrust of the educated classes, and by reason of the cruel and compulsory methods, adopted during the war, for obtaining recruits and monetary contributions and by his suppression of public opinion by gagging the local press and shutting out nationalist newspapers from outside the Punjab."

"The Rowlatt agitation disturbed the public mind and shook public confidence in the good will of the government. This was shared by the Punjab in a fuller measure, perhaps than elsewhere, because of the use made by Sir M. O'Dwyer of the defense of India act for purposes of stifling public movements."

"The Satyagraha (civil resistance) movement, and the hartal which was designed as a precursor of it, whilst they vitalized the whole country into activity, saved it from more awful and more widespread calamities, by restraining the violent tendencies and passions of the people.

"The Rowlatt agitation was not conceived in an anti-British spirit, and the Satyagraha movement was conceived and conducted in a spirit entirely free from ill-will and violence."

"There was no conspiracy to overthrow the government in the Punjab."

"The arrest and internment of Mr. Gandhi leader of the Satyagraha movement and the arrests and deportations of Drs. K. B. Bhow and Satyapal were unjustifiable, and were the only direct cause of hysterical excitement."

"The mob violence which began at Amritsar was directly due to the firing at the railway overbridge several days previous and the sight of the dead and wounded at a time when the excitement had reached white heat."

"Whatever the cause of provocation, grieved and condemned."

"So far as the facts are publicly known, no reasonable cause has been shown to justify the introduction of martial law."

"In each case martial law was proclaimed after order had been completely restored."

"Even if it be held that the introduction of martial law was a state necessity, it was unduly prolonged."

"Most of the measures taken under martial law, in all the five districts, were unnecessary, cruel, oppressive and in utter disregard of the feelings of the people affected by them."

"In Lahore, Akalgarh, Ramnagar, Gujrat, Jalandhar, Jattar, Lyallpur and Sheikhpura there were no mob excesses at all worthy of the name."

"The Jallianwala Bagh massacre was a calculated piece of inhumanity to wards utterly innocent and unarmed men, including children, and unparalleled for its ferocity in the history of modern British administration."

"The martial law tribunals and the summary courts were made the means of harassing innocent people, and resulted in abortion of justice on a wide scale, and under the name of justice caused moral material sufferings to hundreds of men and women."

"The crawling order and other fancy punishments were unworthy of a civilized administration, and were symptomatic of the moral degradation of their inventors."

"The imposition of indemnity and of punitive police at various places, notwithstanding exemplary and vindictive punishments meted out, through nearly two long months, mostly to innocent men, and the exacting of fines and illegal impositions were an uncalculated, unjust and added injury."

"The corruption and bribery that took place during martial law form a separate chapter of grievance, which could have been easily avoided under a sympathetic administration."

"The report, after making the recommendations previously noted, and certain others, concludes: "It is our deliberate opinion that Sir M. O'Dwyer, General Dyer, Colonel Johnson, Colonel O'Brien, Mr. Bosworth Smith, Rai Sahib Sri Ram Sud and Malik Sateb Khan have been guilty of such illegalities that they deserve to be impeached, but we purposely refrain from advising any such course, because we believe that India can only gain by waiving the right. Future purity will be sufficiently guaranteed by the dismissal of the officials concerned."

Weds Girl to Give Another's Child His Name; Court Hears Odd Story

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 12.—How a woman's love for a girl, who admitted to him that she was about to become the mother of another man's child, led him to marry her in order that a nameless baby might not be born in wedlock, was revealed here in the district court a hearing on a child abandonment charge brought by Mrs. Estelle Westwood against Charles M. Westwood.

Dr. Chester Rumsey, a dentist, has been named as the alleged father of the child.

Two years ago, in 1918, while the United States was in the heart of the war, pretty Estelle Steinbarth, 19 years old, was in love with Chester Rumsey, who was just finishing his junior year at Marquette Dental college. Charles Esterwood was even more in love with Estelle.

The Steinbarth home had been broken up some time before as a result of the death of Estelle's mother, and she had gone to live at the Rumsey home.

In the spring of 1918 Estelle discovered that she was about to become a mother. She went to Rumsey, according to her story, but he told her he was in no position to be married.

Westwood's Sacrifice.

In the meantime Charles Westwood had enlisted in the navy. When he came home on leave the girl told him of her predicament.

"I suppose I was a poor fish, but I thought so much of Estelle that I wanted to help her," Westwood now says.

"So I proposed that we be married, that the baby might at least have a name."

"I was in the navy then, and expecting to go to France almost any time. Of course there was a strong possibility that I might have stayed there, and in that case nothing would have been lost."

"Well, the war ended all of a sudden and I came back home. The baby had been born while I was away."

"When I came back Estelle merely looked up and said: 'What you here again?' She had an idea that I could get a divorce, and then she would be able to persuade Rumsey to marry her. I told her she wouldn't be able to manage it, but she insisted that she knew what she was doing."

"She left our home often, and would go to the Rumseys' house, sometimes staying there over night. Finally, I instituted divorce proceedings. Then Rumsey married a girl named Marie Swift last January."

Marked Romance End.

Rumsey's marriage to Miss Swift marked the collapse of Estelle's romance. She had believed implicitly in the young dentist. When she went to him in 1918 and told him of her trouble he had told her it would ruin his career if he were compelled to leave school at that time.

Trusting in his love for her, she did not dispute him. But it was unthinkable that she should become the mother of an illegitimate child.

She went to a physician, it is stated, but did not tell him exactly what her ailment was. In a hurried diagnosis he pronounced her a sufferer from tuberculosis and sent her to the Blue Mount sanitarium.

While she was there Westwood came home on a furlough from the navy.

Westwood never hesitated when he heard of her predicament. Kind hearted by nature, and deeply in love with Estelle, he was ready to take care of her and give a name to her baby. Then, too, he was going to France soon, and many of the boys who went over there did not come back.

"The case is one of the strangest I ever heard," commented Judge Page in district court. Turning to Westwood, he remarked: "Although you are not the baby's father, you are required, legally, to help support it."

An agreement was reached whereby Westwood will pay $5 a week for the baby's care while the divorce action is pending.

Visitors From Corsicana.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Church of Corsicana, accompanied by their granddaughter, Miss Lillian Church, and by Dr. Garrity Church, are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Payne at their home here. Mrs. Payne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Church. Dr. Church is the uncle of Miss Church.

The visitors will remain a week or so before returning. Many social events are being planned for the entertainment of Miss Church. Dr. Church has just finished his fourth year of a six-year course at the Vanderbilt University.

In this year's final examinations of the faculty of arts of McGill University the highest marks for mathematics and physics were won by a young woman, Miss Allie C. Douglas.

BUSINESS SURVEY.

Why not a business survey of the city of Cisco? The News is of the opinion that the town has grown so fast in the past two years that even our home people have not been able to keep in their minds anything like an accurate record of the new business and manufacturing enterprises that have located here.

Undoubtedly it would prove a great asset as an advertisement for Cisco to have compiled and published in book or pamphlet form a list of the large business enterprises doing business here, together with the investment of each.

The fact that the Humble Oil and Refining company has invested millions of dollars in the erection of a plant in Cisco is an asset that it would be well to let the people on the outside know about.

The fact that the Texas company has secured and will erect a modern and up-to-date plant in Cisco is likewise a tribute to the future of the city.

The fact that only in the last few days a cotton textile factory has decided to erect a mammoth mill in Cisco and will bring skilled labor from distant states, is something of which to be proud.

It would, without doubt, make interesting reading, not only to our home people, but to outsiders, as well, to learn the number of wholesale houses doing business in Cisco, together with the investment of each.

Of course, such survey would not be complete without a detailed report of the thousand of dollars spent in public improvement.

The News believes that the time has come when the city of Cisco should let the outside world know what it has accomplished.

The fact that business men of large means have invested millions of dollars in enterprises in this city will have its influence in inducing others to study the reasons for these investments.

Let's get together, gentlemen of the Chamber of Commerce and the Young Men's Business League, and plan concerted action to bring Cisco to the attention of outside capital and to the home-seeker as well.

Cisco has a residential district of which it can well be proud. Attractive homes, beautiful shade trees and well kept lawns denote a home-loving people.

as vote was so badly scattered among the three leading candidates as to leave the delegates from the Lone Star State in position to claim the credit, no matter which one secured the nomination.

OPEN OPINIONS

Let's Make Up and Face Forward. Everything about Cisco seems to be intensely democratic. Every one has felt free at all times to express his opinions. And opinions have been freely expressed upon sundry subjects—politics, law, education, religion, social service, oil, railroads, dirt roads, graded roads, better streets, sanitation, city government, water supply, boat houses, pleasure parks, ball parks, cotton factories, refrigerators, water mains, sewer mains, telephone systems and everything else.

Sometimes, no doubt, one democratic freedom has been indulged in an extent not altogether helpful. The right to criticize is a democratic right, and it is well that it is so. And yet this right may sometimes be exercised to such an extent as to become harmful to society. In fact, criticism may be pushed and pressed until it becomes destructive of good feeling and neighborly fellowship, resulting in hateful factions, and yet it is best that the community have such democratic rights. It would be a bad day in any community should such a day ever come, when freedom of speech should be denied to any citizen.

"I don't believe in a family fuss," said a quaint philosopher. "But I do believe in the liberty that makes a fuss possible." Now, I don't believe in any kind of fuss, but I do believe in the right of free speech and free press, exercised within the limits of peace and harmony. But freedom should never be so exercised as to divide a town into hurtful factions. Such a use of freedom is always bad, and wherever it is used, whether abused or not, it is an enemy and not a friend to the community.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a very oily skin. Will you please tell me what I can do for this?—Blonde. For oily skin, wash all rich and greasy foods, because diet has a great influence on the condition of the skin. Wiping off the face occasionally with diluted alcohol (25 per cent strength) is beneficial in the case of an oily skin. A few drops of ammonia or a pinch of borax in the water with which the face is washed, is also helpful.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am troubled with falling hair. I have always had beautiful, thick hair and this worries me a great deal. I am not a pretty girl, but every one remarks about my beautiful brown hair. What can I do.—Brunette. Grade petroleum is often used to prevent falling hair. It does not leave the hair too greasy, but helps the scalp. Use as little as possible at each application, rubbing into the scalp with gentle massage every night.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Can one live a Christian life if either the man or wife has been married before and after a divorce has married again?—A Reader. The Catholics and a few other creeds do not accept divorce. Legally, however, divorce makes it all right for the husband or wife to marry again. Most people believe that after a divorce a second marriage is all right.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a married woman and have one child. I have been married but 19 years. My husband is a real good to me in some ways, but he drank for a long time and now he worries me a lot and makes me very unhappy because I dislike it so. My life has never been of much pleasure to me because of a man I was in love with before I was married. This man is now married and I realize my mistake after it is too late.

I love this man dearly and feel sure he loves me as I do him. The more I think of him and the longer I am married, the more I care for him. This, however, has never caused me to be untrue to my husband. I am miserable all the time and can not be content with anything. Will you please advise me what to do to be contented and satisfied with home and my husband? I know my former sweet heart loves me more than he does his wife.—White Cabbage.

You are making yourself more unhappy by thinking wrong thoughts; to grieve because your husband used to drink is a useless thing now. Live in the present and be thankful that it is not made so easy for him to obtain intoxicating drinks now. He will get along much better and be happier and more kind if he feels he has your sympathy and co-operation. To dream about the other man is more than a waste of time because it does you positive injury. You are idealizing some one who in reality is different from your picture. Forget the past because it is a dead thing in your life and blocks the way to the happiness which might be yours every day.

You must not forget the blessing your child is to you. If she were taken away you would find that she alone was enough to make you happy. Enjoy her while you have her with you. Time will pass quickly and she will be a grown girl and some man will take her away from you. Do not be blind to the blessings you have. There are said to be 220 glaciers in the Alps over five miles in length.

AT THE CHURCHES

Lutheran Church Services. The next Lutheran service takes place on Sunday, June 20, at the Christian church, 430 p. m., and thereafter every other Sunday. All Lutheran Christians are heartily invited, also such that are without Jesus and his church are welcome. REV. ERNEST F. A. BUSS, Evangelist Lutheran Pastor.

Choir Launches Campaign. Tuesday night the church choir of the Baptist church began a campaign for $1000 to be given toward the building funds of the church.

In the near future the church will take definite action toward the erection of an attractive temple of worship on the present site. The choir in their enthusiasm and as a tribute to God and an expression of appreciation to him for blessings of the past few months, have taken the initiative steps toward this end.

A memorial window will be placed in the new church and a donation will be deposited for the organ fund. The program of Tuesday evening was attractive in every detail and was thoroughly enjoyed by a large, appreciative audience. Mrs. Eunice Gates (Grew) read; Miss Emma Webber, soprano; and Mrs. Duessey, soprano, responded to requests heartily received.

During the intermission, W. B. Patterson, president of the choir, extended to those present an expression of appreciation for their co-operation and good will in the endeavors of the choir of the Baptist church. The generous silver offering received at the gate entrance increased the fund 30 more than $200.

First Baptist Church. 10 a. m., Bible school with classes for all; S. E. Hittson, superintendent. 11 a. m. and 8 p. m., sermons by Dr. A. N. Howard, pastor. Musical program for both services is as follows: Morning—Anthem, "No, Not Despairingly" (Gilchrist), Mrs. Buchanan and choir. Offertory, selected. Evening—Popular song service. Quartette, "I Will Give You Rest," Mr. Hittson, Mrs. Atkins, Mrs. Patterson and Mr. Patterson. Offertory, selected. Choir hymn, "My Mother's Bible," Mr. Buchanan and choir. Mrs. Charles W. Atkins, director.

First Presbyterian Church. Preaching by the pastor at 11 a. m. and 8:30 p. m. Subject for morning sermon, "The Path of the Just." Subject for evening sermon, "Sin Shall Not Go Unpunished." Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. Christian Endeavor, 7:30 p. m. A most cordial welcome is given to strangers and visitors. Let everybody go to church today. J. D. LESLIE, Pastor.

First Christian Church. Bible school, 9:45 a. m. Preaching by the pastor, 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Intermediate C. E., 6 p. m. Senior C. E., 7 p. m. The morning service will be devoted to a memorial service for the Old Fellows of the city and community. Every one cordially invited. Strangers and visitors made welcome. E. H. HOLMES, Minister.

Christian Science Society. Christian Science Society of Cisco holds services every Sunday at 11 a. m. and Wednesday at 8 p. m. at I. O. O. F.

Hall, to which the public is cordially invited. The subject of today's lesson is "God the Preserver of Man"—54v. Epworth League Program Today. Lesson subject, "The Sin of Sloth." Scripture lesson, Prov. xxiv-27-34. Matt. xxv-24-31. Piano solo, John O. Bassford. First topic, "The Marks of a Slothful Man," Mrs. Godbey. Second topic, "The Law of Growth," Miss Helen Williamson. Violin solo, Master Oscar Holt. Vocal solo, Mrs. Doty.

First Methodist Church. (Worshipping in City Hall) What would you think of a man who possessed a beautiful home, but who chose to live in a dirty room in the basement? "The Man in the Basement" will be the subject of the sermon Sunday night. The service will begin at 8:00 o'clock. Everybody welcome.

Remember, also that the morning service will begin at 11 o'clock. Some important matters will be presented to the congregation at this meeting, and in addition to the sermon by the pastor there will be a three-minute speech by John H. Garner. The hours of service will be as follows: Sunday school, 9:45 a. m.; G. Park, superintendent. In one of these hours this morning: Morning sermon, 11 a. m.; sermon by the pastor.

Story hour, 4 p. m.; story by Mrs. Stuckey. Intermediate League, 5 p. m. Senior League, 7:30 p. m. Evening service, 8:30 p. m.; sermon by the pastor on subject announced above. Everybody welcome to all of our services. LEWIS N. STUCKEY, Pastor.

Straight Talk on Our Public Utilities. Charles G. Dawes and David R. Forgan stated the plain truth, which every business man knows, when they said that, like everything else, the security interest rate had gone up; that it would not be possible to finance our public utilities on the old, low rate of bond interest.

Truths like these are nothing in politics. They will be immediately rejected by those who ride into office on taxation and gas into another grasping demand by Wall Street for more ill-gotten gains. This is the bunkum; this is jargon. That it comes down from an earlier age, when it was true, is but one more of the miserable penalties that we have to pay for the sins of the fathers.

Nevertheless we may believe that the bottom point in public utility baiting is being neared in our community. Frank talk like that from Messrs. Dawes and Forgan comes right on top of the daily exhibition of the lack of service made necessary by the custom of handling our political purposes important community matters that should be handled from a business standpoint. The day may be within sight when our public will realize that service can be obtained solely upon the basis of real instead of merely political action.

We may "boast Chicago" with all the tin horns in Christendom, but we shan't make it an attractive place for the investment of outside capital, nor a comfortable place for living in ourselves, if we force the suspension of the street car, gas, telephone and other public utility services. Continued use of these utilities for the advantage of political factionalism may bring such a suspension into the realm of the immediately possible. We believe that the people of this city are beginning to appreciate that fact.—Chicago Evening Post.

Nime's Selling Principles. THE POLICY of The Nime Dry Goods Company, since its opening in Cisco, has been to save money for our friends and patrons, pricing our merchandise at all times within the reach of all and at prices which would allow us to make a fair profit and continue to do business. We have endeavored to carry in stock and have ready for our patrons, the best the market affords at the lowest possible prices. The success of this policy, we feel, has been steady and certain, as our business will prove. In the working out of this policy we have made many friends who find it a real pleasure to buy from us, and who find they can do better at NIME'S. There is one outstanding feature of this policy and that is: Nime's Buying Power. Years in the merchandising business has given this store a Buying Power among the best in this section of the country. NIME'S enjoys the confidence of wholesalers and manufacturers, and therefore enjoys a buying power envied by many, and NIME gives his patrons and friends the benefit of this Buying Power in the moderate prices prevailing at this store now and which will prevail hereafter. If you have never visited NIME'S, do so at your earliest convenience. The merchandise is all new and fresh, of best quality and workmanship, and will compare most favorably with any sold in Texas. And the prices are placed within the reach of all. Men and boys, when you get ready to buy your summer Suits, Trousers, Coats, Hats, Underwear, Footwear, etc., be sure to look at our line before buying. NIME Dry Goods Co. Cisco's Shopping Center

POPULATION OF 58 TOWNS SHOW DOUBLE GROWTH

PORT ARTHUR COMES IN CLASS OF CITIES INCREASING OVER TWOFOLD.

Associated Press.
 WASHINGTON, June 12.—Fifty-eight of the more than 1,100 cities, towns and villages in the country whose 1920 census has been announced more than doubled their population in 10 years. Of these places 23 were in the north, which includes New England, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and the states south of the Ohio river, Missouri and Kansas; 17 were in the south, which includes all states south of those enumerated; and eight were in the west, which includes all states west of North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Twelve of the places were among those which more than doubled their population in the 10 years ending in 1910.

Cities of more than 25,000 population which have doubled the number of their inhabitants in the last 10 years, arranged in the order of their percentage of increase, follow:

City	Per cent Increase	Pop.
Hamtramck, Mich.	1,266.0	48,615
Highland Park, Mich.	1,631.0	46,599
Miami, Fla.	440.1	29,549
Gary, Ind.	239.4	55,344
Long Beach, Cal.	232.2	55,592
Chicago, Ill.	209.1	44,995
Akron, Ohio	201.8	208,125
Warren, Ohio	184.1	27,650
Flint, Mich.	137.6	91,593
Pontiac, Mich.	135.8	34,273
Clifton, N. J.	123.0	26,470
West New York, N. J.	120.7	29,526
Irvington, N. J.	114.4	25,496
Knoxville, Tenn.	114.1	77,815
Winston-Salem, N. C.	113.2	48,395
Oak Park, Ill.	104.8	39,830

Of these cities Flint, Mich., Irvington, N. J., West New York, N. J., Pontiac, Mich., Long Beach, Cal., and Miami, Fla., more than doubled their population in the decade 1900 to 1910.

Cities having a population from 10,000 to 25,000 which more than doubled their population in the last 10 years are:

City	Per cent Increase	Pop.

Fire Breaks Out In Feed Store Again

Fire broke out for the second time in the Aaron & Young feed and grain store on South Main street early Saturday morning as a result of smoldering embers of hay and grain, which had not been totally extinguished with the fire of the previous evening.

Both pieces of apparatus responded to the alarm of the siren at the light and power plant and crowds thronged to the scene despite the lateness of the hour.

Streams of water were played on the smoking debris, which had broken into pieces in places. After thoroughly soaking the premises the fire department returned to quarters.

Picnic Party at Lake Bernie.
 Lake Bernie was the scene of a picnic party given last week by the Knights of Azala, the young men's organization of the Methodist church. The affair was a delightful one. After an evening of boating on the lake and other enjoyments about 20 couples sat about a bounteous picnic spread.

The mining industry in Alaska, which began in 1880 when the gold placers at Fairbanks were first exploited, has produced more than $418,000,000 worth of gold, silver, tin, copper, tungsten, antimony, coal, petroleum, marble, gypsum, platinum and palladium.

According to experiments made at the Pasteur Institute in Paris an average of about six quarts of alcohol can be made from each 100 pounds of seaweed.

The New Judia Re-Opens Today!

The New Judia has been closed for one week's re-painting, re-decorating and remodeling the interior and exterior of the theatre building. The New Judia under the management announces that only first-class pictures will be shown, including the best-known in the country. Such producers as First National, Paramount-Artcraft, Metro, Select, Goldwyn, Pathe, and others, will be featured at the New Judia every day and night. The best comedies also will be shown, including Charlie Chaplin, Max Sennett Stars, and others. For the re-opening, and lasting two days, today and tomorrow, afternoon and night, one of the most interesting stories ever screened will be shown at The New Judia.

TODAY and TOMORROW AFTERNOON and Night

THE GIRL AND THE WOMAN

Behind the Girl was the massed power of the Government. Her mission—hazardous in the extreme—tapped the very fountain of thrilling experiences.

Behind the Woman, the world-old power of captivating beauty and alluring manners. "The Yellow Typhoon" they call her in the Orient because of the wreckage she left in her wake—simple men who saw not her tigerish heart.

One day they met—the Girl and the Woman—like a lighted fuse and powder—and the issue between them was settled—as becomes the manner of the Female of the Species.

Come away from your work-a-day lives, for a sea trip with a thrill for every roll of the ship.

VIVID RECITAL OF CARRANZA'S LAST MOMENTS

REPORT OF ITALIAN JOURNALIST GIVES STORY THAT'S HORRIBLE.

IMMORALITY RAMPANT

Capital Devoid of All Military Discipline at Time of Departure.

Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, June 12.—A diary written by Aldo Baroni, an Italian journalist, gives a vivid picture of the flight of President Carranza and his expedition of 10,000 persons from Mexico City in the vain effort to reach Vera Cruz in safety. It leads up to the moment when the word was passed in the expedition to "save yourselves who can," the trains were abandoned, Carranza bade Senor Baroni good-bye and began the march into the hills which ended in his death.

The diary discloses the fact that Carranza evidently foresaw his end, for Senor Baroni quotes him as saying when he left the train to take refuge in the hills: "You saw we start my first journey in 1913 and you will see my last in 1920."

Parts of the diary as published by El Universal, a local newspaper, read: "I followed Don Venustiano when he left Mexico City in 1913 with 200 men in his heroic march against Huerta. Today I am leaving the capital with him to be, probably, a witness of his end. I am writing, seated on a bag of rice in the presidential supply car. The disorganization which prevails in the station yards is terrible. Nobody has the power to organize anything. The expedition appears like one to Africa (referring to the enormous amount of baggage). I just saw in a cage the lions of Barragan that used to arouse the wonder of the bourgeoisie in the Paseo de la Reforma."

At Apizaco he recorded: "Word has passed that the last three trains have been lost. It appears that good luck is with Don Venustiano. The word 'treason' is on every lip. The citizens are jammed in the cars like sardines. Our march is like that of a herd of savages. The military trains are filled with soldiers, who have brought their children, domestic animals, dogs, chickens and parrots. Their women cause the greatest disorder. In the trains are more than 10,000 persons and of these more than 5,000 are women and children who wail, cry, cough, rob and impede progress."

"In front of the presidential train is a luxurious Pullman buffet car, symbol of disorganization and immorality. A number of girls elegantly dressed and a few elegant youths comment and wave from the windows. They appear like picknickers."

"We leave San Marcos at night with the lights out for the enemy menaces the rearward and flanks. The ill-will of the train men has been noticeable since we left Mexico City. Air hose has disappeared from some of the trains and without brakes they threaten to crash into the ones preceding them. Water is becoming scarce. There has been no military discipline since we left the capital. The troops are demoralized. The leaders act independently. General Murguia runs everything."

"The first shots break the morning stillness. On horseback, followed by only one aide, Don Venustiano advances at a trot. The first wounded arrive. There are few medical supplies and the girls of the feminine train offer their petticoats as bandages. Nobody has time to think of medical dressings, but the lions of Barragan were not forgotten."

"The president returns. He personally led forward the cavalry on the right flank when they began to retire. Murguia has flanked the enemy and defeated him. Under a mosquito bush a deputy is roasting a chunk of red meat with great skill. Luis Sabara is organizing a battalion of civilians. 'All who have no arms step forward.' It resembles a scene from 'The Chocolate Soldier.' A prisoner is questioned. We learn that all Vera Cruz is in the power of the rebels. Candido Aguilar, almost alone, has fled to Zongolica."

"Murguia arrives, amidst cheers. The victorious troops parade. I see an order of the day captured from the enemy. In it Oregon orders that the trains be stopped, but that the president, if he will, be allowed to proceed to Vera Cruz, with full guarantees and an escort."

"The trains proceed slowly. We arrive at Rinconada. Ten kilometers of trains, wrapped in silence. There is no water. A living chain passes it from hand to hand to replenish the supply of a dead locomotive. Don Venustiano watches. Not a trace of the terrible battle which must be raging in his big breast shows on his face. This man is made of rock."

"Carranza has statesman-like qualities, but one great defect: he does not know men. Capable, he is surrounded by incapable; honest, he allows thieves at his side."

"I am aroused by a terrific spooling. Soldiers and civilians have sacked the Soledad ranch of 548 hogs. Soon the cars resemble butcher shops. I am told we are to continue our journey on foot. The water problem continues unsolved. Orders have been given to burn the records of the general staff."

"An airplane is to fly over the enemy lines. It has gasoline for one hour. Santana (the aviator) returns. He tells me we are surrounded. The convoy is lost. Violent firing is resumed. The president's barber, burdened with arms and ammunition, explains how our artillery should be used. It would be enormously ridiculous if it were not so terribly tragic. The soldiers' women stoically continue cooking."

"Millan (General Augustin Millan, governor of the State of Mexico) is brought back, fatally shot through the head. Other wounded arrive. There are no doctors, no medicine. "The final moment" has come. The president has ordered the trains abandoned and the march to San Andres begun on foot. I have bid Carranza good-bye. His smile was sad, but his voice firm as he said: "You saw we start my first journey in 1913 and you will see my last in 1920."

MEXICO TO SEND MISSION TO U. S. TO HAVE TALKFEST

Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Reports have reached the state department through unofficial channels that the Mexican government is about to send to the United States a mission to discuss relations between the two countries in an entirely informal way.

Miguel Voverubias, dean of Mexican diplomats, is mentioned as heading the Mexican mission, which will not have military powers, but it is the desire of the Mexican government, according to the report, that it determine the basis of adjustment for all difficulties between the two countries.

In proportion to population Switzerland has nearly five times as many savings bank depositors as the United States.

Anita Stewart Plays Opposite Roles In Latest Special Picture

Takes Part of Vamp for First Time in Her Screen Career, But Likes Her Other Role.

For the first time in her screen career Anita Stewart appears as a vamp in a motion picture, "The Yellow Typhoon," from the novel by Harold McGrath, and will be shown at the New Judia Theatre today and tomorrow.

She plays the double part of twin sisters, Berta and Hilda Nordstrom, the former a striking blonde of the adventurous type and the latter a sweet brunette with characteristics quite the opposite.

In essaying the role of Berta, whose golden hair and artful ways leave men broken as the reeds in the path of a storm and give to her the name of "The Yellow Typhoon," Miss Stewart portrays in convincing manner an unusual character part.

"While vamping is something new to me, except from observation," said Miss Stewart, "nevertheless I have always felt that I could play such a part if only given the chance and provided with the proper make-up. That is why I jumped at this opportunity to prove to doubters that I could act like a really wicked woman."

"The blonde wig, the jewels and the clothes I were made fit easy for me to do this part. I will admit, however, that I would hardly care to play a straight vamp role, and the fact is that in 'The Yellow Typhoon' I also played as a twin sister of sweet and wholesome character. Thus it gave me much satisfaction to show this contrast between good and bad."

"No, I have no love for vamps, but I rather enjoyed playing the part because I thought I could reveal in their true light the characters of those women who are the greatest enemies of man."

Harry Feldman and Yankee Doodle Girls at Airdome Monday

Harry Feldman and his Yankee Doodle Girls, who played the Judia Theatre here several months ago and later the Broadway Theatre, will return to this city and open at the National Airdome on Main street Monday evening.

There are 16 people in the show's personnel, including a chorus of pretty girls.

People here still remember the excellence of the Feldman show at its two previous appearances in this city and will, no doubt, throng the Airdome during the week to see the troupe in its new repertoire.

The distillers of Scotland have made a definite move to produce power alcohol and it is anticipated that 30,000,000 gallons from home production should be possible when the present plans are carried out.

New Judia Re-Opens Today; Was Closed for Week to Remodel

Presents New, Bright Appearance for Reopening Bill, Anita Stewart in "The Yellow Typhoon."

The New Judia Theatre will reopen this afternoon after having been closed during the past week to allow workmen to remodel both the interior and exterior of the theatre building. The playhouse now presents a neat and inviting appearance, the new white front standing out prominently.

For the opening day a First National production has been secured, "The Yellow Typhoon," taken from the story by Harold McGrath. It is a wonderful picture and many thrills are forthcoming from the start to the finish of the bill.

Manager Lewis announces that he has contracted for the best pictures he can get for the New Judia this season. This calls for such producers as the First National, Metro, Paramount-Arcraft, Goldwyn, Select, Pathe and other well-known companies, with the best artists in the world. With these will be shown the select comedies, such as Charlie Chaplin, Max Sennet productions and other well-known fun makers. An orchestra of five pieces will furnish the principal music, together with a large organ which is being put into first-class shape. It is the intention of the management to give to the people of Cisco show like they would see in the larger cities.

AT THE NATIONAL AIRDOME.

Harry Feldman, who has combined his two shows—the Yankee Doodle Girls and the Crackerjacks—writes that he is going to open a two weeks' engagement at Cisco on Monday night, June 14, with the biggest and best show he has ever had with new people and new plays.

Still heading the combined shows are Agnes Geary, the blues singing fool, and Pete Pate, that long, tall, funny black face comedian who everybody likes. Pate has a new line of funny comedy that will amuse you.

The show is clean, refined and has a suggestive line or anything said or done that will offend the minds of the most fastidious.

Feldman states that directly after this engagement he has booked his company to play the larger circuits and the people in Cisco have indeed a treat in store for them the coming week.

Ted Waldman, the nut on the Hammonica, is one of the big features. This boy plays everything on that simple little instrument from ragtime to opera.

Plays will be changed daily with new costumes and scenery for each night.

Feldman himself, who is a very able eccentric comedian, will personally appear during the week in his famous character of Skinner.

City Health Officer Searches for Unlawful Surface Toilets

"I am making a search for all unlawful surface toilets in use within the city sewer district," says Dr. J. W. Gregory, city health officer, who reports that although many property owners have acted immediately in connecting with the sewer, there is yet a considerable number of owners who have not made the required sewer connections, and who still have the dry toilets in use, which the health officer says, is strictly against the city ordinance.

"This is one of the serious sanitary problems with which I am confronted," says Dr. Gregory, "and I am going to keep right behind this grave obstacle to the improvement of Cisco health conditions until each and every surface toilet within the sewer district is done away with."

Dr. Gregory urges all property owners who have surface toilets of this kind in use, to take steps in complying with the city ordinance covering the matter.

GIL'S GLEANINGS

Just when we get a winning combination worked up, and are taking every game, Fate intervenes again, and knocks us out of our sterling catcher—the best a minor league team ever boasted of. Tim suffered a compound dislocation of the terminal phalanx joint on his right thumb, when a foul tip hit him in the third inning of the first game of Friday's double header. It has been hardly a week since the unfortunate catcher was hit on the head by a bat, and forced out of the game for several days. Let us hope for Tim's sake, as well as our own, that his injury will not be serious enough to keep him on the sick list very long.

"Abilene 'bot again Friday!" Seems strange to see that sentence in print. We forget when it was the Eagles dropped that other game.

Grover Alexander, the great pitcher of the Cubs, comes out with the statement that Rogers Hornsby, the Texas boy, who is holding short for the St. Louis Cardinals, is the greatest batter he ever faced. This is hard to swallow when we think of such swat kings as Nap Lajoie, and Honus Wagner; but Grover is somewhat of a judge of hitters, and he hands Hornsby a great tribute in these remarks.

Tim Springer can certainly show his ball players how to hit. The latest averages show the Indian boss at the head of the American league sluggers, with a mark of .390.

Babe Ruth has to date 16 home runs, and a clotting average of .389. And to think that he says he hasn't started hitting yet. Whenever he does start it will be a good move on the part of all managers to furnish their outfielders with flying machines, and clothe all infielders in suits of armor.

There are 39 players in the American league batting .300 or better since the season began. That is a large number, and for this late in the year. Tyrus Cobb is not yet among the select class. Cleveland and Washington both have c'th batting averages over .300.

Fort Worth at last dropped a couple of games; but the Beesmonsters had to go extra innings on both occasions to turn the trick.

ONLY MONEY UNTAINTED
 Brahmans Refuse to Associate With "Pariahs," but Accept Coins.

W. G. Tinscom Fernandez in Christ, said Herald.

The pariah is the outcast living, through centuries of oppression beyond the pale of Hinduism. "Only if he is beaten will the pariah have sense," is one of the many proverbs of India.

There were endless rules for its observance, all carrying severe punishments. Before the British government controlled India, there was a definite distance at which the pariah or mecha could defile a Brahman.

Pariahs were forced to walk a certain distance from the roads; in a country where water is so precious, they were compelled to obtain water the best they could from country streams and marshes instead of using the public wells; their settlement of miserable huts had to be located a certain distance from the village; and the worst agricultural lands in the community were sold them at exorbitant prices.

Even under the enlightened conditions maintained by the British government, quasi slavery continues to be practiced as in ancient times. Failing to obtain a loan the pariah continues to mortgage his children, and tacitly the caste village holds in fee simple the child or adolescent labor of the pariah settlement on its outskirts.

Today, the only surviving outward mark of discrimination that can not be obliterated by the British is found in the everyday matter of trade. No pariah may approach a shop and handle goods as is the custom in the Orient. From a safe, undefinable distance he must indicate to the shop-owner, his needs and choice.

The goods are placed in the middle of the road, and the money left in a receptacle to be claimed when the pariah has withdrawn to a safe distance with his purchase.—W. G. Tinscom Fernandez in Christian Herald.

SCOUTS DIVIDE DOUBLE HEADER WITH BUDDIES

HOME CLUB TOOK FIRST GAME 6 TO 2, GORMAN BUDDIES THE SECOND, SCORE 11 TO 2.

The Scouts and the Buddies divided a double bill Friday, the first game going to the home club 6 to 2 and the second to the Buddies 11 to 2.

Happy Jack Kotzelnick was on the mound in the opener for Cisco and he pitched a grand game. Twelve of the Buddies fell victims to Jack's crooked, deceptive curve ball and upsetting fast one by striking out. His control was perfect and he helped materially to win the game by tripping to left with Jack York on first.

In the very first inning Cisco began piling up the markers. John King smashed a hard double to right and with a spectacular show of speed flew home on Ross Johnson's hit through short. Ross went to second on the throw to the plate. Tim Griesbeck singled past second, scoring Johnson.

The Buddies made one in their half of the second inning on a couple of hits and a stolen base, but the Scouts kept a comfortable lead on their rivals and were never in danger any more during the first battle.

In the sixth Jack York decided the score was a little close for the Scout victory, so he widened the gap between us and the visitors by clouting a long home run to the end of the left field pasture.

Tim Griesbeck, our peerless catcher, injured his right thumb in the third inning when a foul tip off Savone's bat broke the flesh from the finger and caused a compound dislocation of the bones forming the first joint. He will be out of the game for several days.

The second affair of the afternoon was a slaughter match. Hap Kotzelnick started the fray, but the effects of the strenuous labor put forth by him in the first game finally told on him and King went into the box with nose out in the sixth to wind up the day. The climax came when Gressett tripled to right with three men on.

The Scouts played a single game at Ranger Saturday and will tackle the Eastland Judges Sunday in the first of a three-game series.

Chapman has been signed by Manager York to take Griesbeck's place behind the bat.

Cruse will pitch Sunday against the Eastland Judges.

CISCO'S NEWEST LARGE INDUSTRY INSTIGATES TALK

STRANG POINTS OUT SOME OF REASONS FOR HIS COMPANY'S CHOICE.

LABOR MAIN FACTOR

Takes Issue With Sanitation Conditions Here; Suggests Improvements Be Made.

Officers have been secured for the temporary use of the advance guard of the Continental Tire & Rubber company's force of office workers in the Mayhew building, and Saturday arrangements were being made for the installation of office furniture and equipment. It is understood that the offices will be moved to the space now occupied by the Western Union, provided the telegraph company make a contemplated change.

Last night when asked directly for the reason Cisco was selected as a location for the textile factory F. W. Strang replied:

"That is a question that seems to be worrying a few of the people and one that you may rest assured created discussion from our board. There are many reasons, many of which are not pertinent, perhaps, in the eyes of the public. However, as I have reported to your Chamber of Commerce and Young Men's Business League, the geographical location of Cisco with reference to production area of the so-called long staple cotton, is one. Another is the fact that Cisco has direct connection with New Orleans and the Gulf, the northern terminal into the heart of and reaches a most wonderful section to the northwest. Water was an added cause for our decision. Last and by no means lesser of other reasons, is the problem that has confronted manufacturers since the Indian warriors started business by supplying their squares with beads and allowing their wives to produce bead trinkets which the big boys sold to white traders—labor."

"Cisco is not the most beautiful village in the world, nor is it the worst. There are countless thousands of towns half the size of Cisco which have better sanitary conditions. There are communities with few towns having less apparent interest in the health of the coming generation than this town. A broadside saying that cleanliness is next to godliness seems to have waned through before it got to Cisco, for while there is every evidence of a church-going people, the very streets of your city belie the godliness. I am told a great campaign is to be waged for the cleaning up of the streets, alleys and byways. We shall be glad to see that campaign put into actual operation and the proper person may rely upon us for a small subscription if necessary.

"As a contrast let me call your attention to the difference between sanitary conditions of Cisco and the very fine and highly progressive 'suburb' Humboldt. In The News you call attention to the duty of citizens that voters should be shown Humboldt. Would one think it is the desire of the citizens of Cisco, proper, to have visitors hurried through the streets to a suburb that is really clean and represents the efforts of men who value the health and happiness of loved ones?"

"That is not the trouble, I am sure. Conditions are due to the fact that you have suffered from a shortage of labor and materials and have been handicapped in many other ways. At the same time your health officer is entirely right and in deserving the commendation of every mother and father in his stand that no more labor is required to put trash where it belongs than to put it in the street.

"Getting back to our last reason for coming here—labor—one must understand that it will be necessary to bring the greater number of our skilled laborers from the north and east. In bringing them to Cisco we are eliminating in great part, labor troubles. When a man moves here with his family, invests in property, has children in school and has gotten to know this great-hearted people it will require more than petty grievances to drive him away from our factory. Competitors on the other side of the city can not entice labor from us, for we have no competitors in a radius of hundreds of miles, and if any one should delve deep enough it would be found that that was the principal reason for the mills at East City, most likely.

"Some may say we'da new comers, are speaking pointedly. Grant that is true. The reader must realize that in bringing an investment totalling three to five hundred thousand dollars and upwards of fifty families from other sections—if an epidemic of typhoid hits Cisco and spreads because of the indifference of the city, and as a consequence our plant is closed down for even a few weeks with resultant loss of a small percentage of laborers—does the reader think we are not entitled to some consideration? And that is the only matter of government or administration in which this company will engage. Until the town is cleaned up it is a certainty that I, as spokesman for the company, shall remain a thorn in the side."

"Our laborers, or rather partners, work under the profit-sharing plan, a plan which in this day and time means more than the simple sharing of profits. It means help in the greatest sense of the word; and we want no trouble-makers or strife-brooders such as the organized bands of 'rats', 'jacks' and 'skows' now permeating the very atmosphere of the factories and mills of the north and east.

"These are some of our reasons and the most pertinent ones.

"Allow me to make a correction in your article of last week. Your representative asked the question: 'Will you sell stock in this project to the people of Cisco, and is it a promotion?' My reply was, no; it is not, and has never been a promotion proposition. There is not one dollar of promotion stock in the Continental Tire & Rubber company. We have and will continue to sell stock in our company, of which the 'Cisco Cotton Mills' are and will be a part, and a mighty important part.

"The secretary-treasurer of the company have leaving for Denver to close contracts with brokers in Pueblo, Denver, Salt Lake and possibly Portland for the sale of a large part of the stock issue. Those brokers have requested one of our representatives to call and sign a contract after a very thorough investigation. In fact, we have many communications from brokers and investment bankers tending to show that there is a ready demand for solid industrial stocks. We have other brokers in the east and in Carolina, so that while we have and will sell stock in Texas, the larger part of our stock sales will bring money from other states to help develop this state. Texas has been developing northern interests since this became an independent state, and turn about is only fair play."

Needs of Southwest Set Forth in Address By Red Cross Worker

Says Animals' Birth Records Are Better Kept Than Those of Children in Many States.

Some of the needs of the Southwest from a Red Cross point of view, were set forth in an address by Miss Susan Ramsey, director of the bureau of education of the Southwestern division of the Red Cross at St. Louis, in an address a few days ago, before one of the adult classes of one of the city's leading congregational churches. Miss Ramsey in the course of the past year has made extensive trips throughout Missouri, Kansas, Texas and Oklahoma.

The Red Cross worker mentioned high schools as a great need in rural districts. Many farmers opposed the rural high school because it increased their taxes.

"It is a harder matter," she said, "to interest some of them in their boys and girls than in their hogs and cattle. A story is told in one district that I visited of a farmer who had a baby in the family, and when the baby cried at night he grew weary of it and gave the child to his wife, saying he 'had to have his sleep.' A few hours afterward the wife was awakened by a light in the room and was surprised to see her husband preparing to go out. 'I hear a pig squealing out in the barn,' he said, 'and I want to find out what is the matter with it.' The question arose: Why was he more interested in the pig than in the child? And the answer was that the pig had a thoroughbred father."

"There is a large, beautiful building in Missouri, built especially to house the pedigrees of Poland China hogs. It contains vaults, in which these pedigrees are preserved. In the state of Missouri there is no such pains to keep the birth registration of babies, as there is for Poland China hogs. There are

ROAD BUILDING CISCO PRECINCT STARTS MONDAY

WORK BEGINS ON RISING STAR ROAD, WITH THREE CAMPS NOW ESTABLISHED.

Work on the Rising Star road is to start Monday.

The F. H. Harris Construction company has been given the sub-contract for the road building under the county program in the Cisco precinct and will lose no time getting down to business.

Three camps are being established at the present time on the Rising Star road. One of them is situated on the creek about two and a half miles out, the second is just beyond the school house, about three and a half miles from Cisco, and the third is at Lockhart, five miles out. Local teamsters will be given preference, together with other local labor, in the road building schedule, it is understood.

The camps have been located as near to water as possible and will be clean and sanitary throughout. Hundreds of men will be employed in the work of this precinct.

parts of Missouri in which a baby can be born without any record being made of it. This is not the case in St. Louis nor in any of the large cities, but there is no legal machinery in outlying districts capable of compelling a registration of the birth of a child. This caused us great difficulty in our work among the soldiers in Italy after the war. Their claim had to be based on a birth certificate, and in many cases there were no birth certificates, because no record had ever been made.

"Also, a drop of silver nitrate should be dropped into a young infant's mouth to prevent blindness. There ought to be a provision, right in the birth certificate for having that done. In none of the state I have visited is there any such provision.

"I heard the story, while I was on tour, of a young woman who should have inherited a certain bit of property, but her inheritance hinged on the fact of whether she was born on a certain day. This could not be proved, until finally someone happened to remember that a certain registered Jersey calf was born on the same day as this girl had been. They went and found the birth date on the Jersey calf and thus proved the girl's birthday."

Miss Ramsey also spoke strongly on the need of closer regulations as to the quarantining of contagious diseases, mentioning several cases of smallpox which had been carelessly handled in rural districts.

Within 20 miles of New York city half there reside more Jews than in all America beside.

MARINE SERVICE WITH THRILLS IN GULF OF MEXICO

"HURRICANE CHASERS" WILL PATROL DURING STORMS AND REPORT BY WIRELESS.

Associated Press.

GALVESTON, Tex., June 12.—A marine service which will afford opportunities for thrills equal, if not greater, than those incident to life aboard destroyers and sub-chasers during the war will be inaugurated on the Gulf of Mexico, where "hurricane chasers," small crafts of the sub-chaser type, will patrol during storm periods and transmit by wireless to the weather bureau stations particulars of storms and hurricanes encountered, according to A. H. Scott, local observer, who recently returned from a conference at Washington with the chief of the weather bureau, C. M. Marvin.

Instead of fleeing from the storms, Scott said, the little vessels will risk destruction by either riding before them or hovering on the outskirts in order that they may obtain the fullest information to the land stations of the weather bureau. Veteran seamen who are thoroughly familiar with both Gulf and West Indian storms, which rank among the most violent of any seas, will man the little crafts which will ride with Neptune and his winds.

At present, Scott declared, warnings of approaching storms are wireless landward to weather bureau stations by passing liners and freighters, but often these reports are incomplete because vessels sending them are making all haste to get away from the storm area.

With the chasers patrolling the Gulf storm areas, he said, more accurate and full information of hurricanes headed northward will be available.

In addition to the tremendous convulsions of nature which have swept Texas coastal cities and caused large losses of life and property, smaller hurricanes drift over the Gulf and when their approach is heralded they sometimes play havoc with fishing boats and other smaller crafts. The new service is expected to reduce losses of coastwise shipping and lowland property considerable by giving warnings of approaching menaces from the sea.

Along Automobile Row

By R. M. HUDSON

Adding to the spice and variety of models to be seen in Cisco's Automobile Row, a shipment of Essex Roadsters, just received, have been placed on exhibition at their Cisco home—the busy Motor company. They lend additional charm to the touring Essex already shown here.

The Cisco Motor company is again reathed in smiles—its new twins. They are just taking off a car shipment of laynes and a car shipment of Chalmers automobiles. These include sport models, roadsters, touristiers and seven-passengers. And there are buyers around Cisco for all of them, was their business comment.

That shipment of Oaklands is now here and will be shown in our sales room this week, perhaps—with the buyers' permission. If shipping conditions do not improve soon, we may have to resort to the expediency of driving cars from the factory, as did the Honey River dealer recently, said H. D. Fulwiler, of the Fulwiler Electric company, distributors. If they drove them 1400 miles on 72 gallons of gas, we can bring them a little further on just a little more gas.

A car of Dodge parts. That's a bunch of car parts, but T. D. Mitchell, Jr., manager of the Central Motor company, has been in Waco the past week, and through the central house has secured a car of parts to be in Cisco at once. This will help the Dodge users of this area—who are strenuous car users, and making great demands for parts and cars. Business is just as good as parts and cars will permit it to be.

The latest in automobile tools are now a specialty with Blanken Bros. Automobile Supply company. They are showing some unique ones in their automotive hardware display. They have them from Los Angeles and from Massachusetts—for every use on a car.

The Auto Electric company is expanding so rapidly that their present quarters will not hold their machinery. A new building is being put up for them over on the Cisco & Northeastern track, where they will move their machine shop and pipe-fitting machinery within the next thirty days. However, they will add new repair machinery and continue their auto repair shop in their present location.

"Those lubrication articles appearing in the automobile pages of The News are very timely," said A. J. Edwards, of the Auto Electric company. "They point the way to car preservation, and a car that has been kept well lubricated gives less trouble when it comes into the repair shop. While it may be money to the repair shop, yet it gratifies the mechanic to see a car abused for lack of lubrication."

THOUGHTS FOR AUTO USERS

Backing up in mud has a tendency to unlock the chain fasteners. Then when you drive along for a while, one or more of your chains may be lost. This can be avoided by putting a piece of wire around the locking clamp. It is an easy matter to remove it with a pair of pliers.

A frequent cause of noisy gears in the truck transmission is the presence of a pinion which is put to mesh with an old gear. The one which has seen long service is necessarily somewhat lacking in its denticulation and gives audible evidence of its resentment at being forced to do further duty, especially with a companion to which it is not habituated.

Very often oil leaks through the axle tubes from the differential housing, and gets on the brake bands, making it impossible for the friction surface to grip the metal drums when the brake pedal is depressed. To remedy the trouble temporarily, pour a little kerosene on the bands, as this cuts the grease. To cure the trouble, install new felt washers to prevent the oil getting through the axle tubes.

There is a little knack about folding a spare tire, but the process is soon mastered. Remove the valve, turn the tube inside out and start at point farthest away from valve. Roll tube toward valve, allowing the air to escape as you do so. When tube is completely rolled up replace valve inside carefully before you let go the tube, otherwise most of the air will rush in again.

Gearcase Lubricants.

An engineer recently conducted a series of experiments with lubricants for the gearcase. He found that with grease in the gearbox two horsepower out of the nominal 15 were lost. It required that amount of power to drive the gears through the stiff grease. The proper lubricant for the gearcase is oil heavier than engine oil, but still oil.

Mexico City was chosen by the Aztecs as the capital because it was so completely surrounded by lakes and marshes that a handful of warriors could easily defend its approaches against a greatly superior force.

In West Mexico is a railroad with ebony ties, and ballast of silver ore drawn from old mines beside the track.

AUTO AND ROAD CHAT

The California Automobile association has appealed to motorists to curtail the consumption of gasoline by eliminating 50 per cent of their pleasure riding until normal condition are brought back.

Only about 12 per cent of the near two and a half million miles of rural roads in the United States are surfaced, despite the fact that there are about seven million motor vehicles in the land. In the surfaced roads, Indiana leads, in ratio.

Ten Texas men have just completed driving a fleet of Oakland cars from the factory at Pontiac, Mich., to Honey Grove, Texas, says an announcement. It required eight days to make the trip of 1400 miles, and the average consumption of gasoline was 72 gallons per car. The factory is now said to be on half production.

New York is to rebuild its highway system into permanent roads to meet the growing demand for truck traffic to supply the railroad deficiency. The state proposes a $100,000,000 bond issue for this purpose.

It is said that a uniform anti-theft law is being drafted by a committee of prominent automobile officials to present to the various state legislatures at their next sessions.

It is said that the National Council of Defense can, in case of emergency, mobilize for passenger and freight use 1,000,000 passenger cars, 700,000 privately owned trucks and 45,000 army trucks.

It is reported in London that Lady de Bath, better known as Mrs. Langtry, and who is now past her sixty-fifth year is contemplating a return to the stage.

Coming Struggle for Auto Supremacy

A coming struggle for supremacy, if not for existence itself, in the automotive field was predicted by Charles Coolidge Parlin, manager of the commercial research department of the Curtis Publishing company, in a talk recently before a group of executives of the Franklin Automobile company at Syracuse.

"When production catches up to demand, as is sure to happen before long," said Mr. Parlin, "it will be a case of the survival of the fittest." Drawing a conclusion from the agricultural implement field in which late years have witnessed great reduction in the number of firms engaged while business done has increased many times, Mr. Parlin voiced the opinion that ultimately there would not be more than 25 automobile manufacturers in the United States.

Analyzing the various qualifications which would insure permanency in the field, he stressed the importance of organization loyalty and high ideals in workmanship.

"Although the sales and advertising departments are more in the public eye perhaps than the production end of a business," said he, "to my mind the men who are actually building a car are charged with the real responsibility upon which rests the future success of the company. There is one thing advertising will not do—it will not build a permanent market for an inferior product. And when the period of retrenchment does come, the manufacturer who has built something into his car that the other fellow hasn't, who has built a quality product that is recognized as such by the public generally, will not suffer."

AUTO ACCIDENT DEATH RATE LOW

Upon whom rests the blame in case of contact between a pedestrian and a motor car—and especially of the former is injured?

In nearly every case the police officials and newspapers, at least tentatively place the responsibility on the driver of the vehicle, according to prominent motorist view, but in case of a fall, or drowning, or similar accident, the victim alone is held responsible, is the claim.

Reviewing statistics compiled by the national safety council, C. E. Rirman, president of the Elgin Motor corporation, has discovered that the greatest number of deaths from any one accidental cause comes from falls—the rate being 14.8 for every 100,000 people. Next comes railroad accidents and injuries with 11.5 and 9.1, respectively, per 100,000 people.

Continuing, Mr. Rirman says: "Automobiles do not come on the list until this point, and the rate is 8.9 per 100,000. True, the number of accidents due to motor cars in any way has risen, because of the vastly increased number of cars in use, but the rate, it has been shown, has decreased slightly, which Mr. Rirman thinks, is a hopeful sign, and a credit to the intelligence of the drivers of motor vehicles.

The accident rate from drowning and other causes holds close to that of the automobile, showing conclusively that the person injured or killed must be at some fault, that it is not alone mental defect in the motor vehicle driver.

"Fatigue can and does cause lack of mental alertness in the pedestrian, it is even more apparent in him than in the driver, because the latter must be keen to a critical situation that may arrive any moment. He must be mentally alert to drive a car, whereas, a pedestrian may walk along and be engaged in other thoughts than those pertaining to his own safety.

Speed is not necessarily a factor in accidents occurring to pedestrians, it may be, however, to the user of the car. Few pedestrians are killed or injured by fast-moving cars. As a matter of fact, a pedestrian will attempt to cross in front of a slow-moving car, whereas he will not think of taking that risk if a fast-moving car is approaching.

The human factor must at all times be the prime one in avoiding accidents—on the part of both driver and pedestrian—but a perfectly controllable machine will naturally tend to lessen the chance of accidents. One of the chief faults may be poorly designed or badly adjusted brakes. An equalizer that does not operate because of mechanical deficiencies may indirectly cause accident to a pedestrian, if it does not bring disaster to the driver and occupants of the car.

The slightest binding on one side of a brake system may prevent the pedals, the action and cause only one brake to take hold, with the result that the car may stall and bring about an accident or because of the lack of total braking possibilities, fail to stop the car that might be brought to a quick standstill if both brakes were perfectly operative, as must be the case on the enlarged brake drums lined with Thermoid Hydraulic pressed brake lining, used on the Elgin Six cars.

New York's Road Program Is Halted

New York's road construction program has been halted. The New York State Highway Commission, in a letter to Governor Smith, announces the entire suspension of all new construction until such time as conditions again become normal or near normal. These conditions it quotes as follows: 1. Shortage of high cost of labor. 2. Shortage of railway cars and uncertainty of transportation. 3. Lack of competition in bidding. 4. Seemingly unjustifiable advance in cost of material. 5. Commercial quarries restricting output and in some instances closing down. 6. Necessity of assuring, by utilizing labor which would otherwise be diverted to New York, the completion of the maintenance program which, because of the present conditions of our highways, is an economical necessity and more essential than new construction.

Complete Railroad Into Parks Camps by Latter Part Next Week

The Cisco & Northeastern railroad will probably be completed into Parks Camp, an all community just above Leary, in Stephens county, by the latter part of next week, according to officials connected with that project.

The laying of rails is being pushed ahead just as fast as circumstances will permit and the arrival of the first train from Cisco into Breckenridge is not many months off.

$4,030,998 Worth of Coffee Enters One Port in March

Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 12.—Restriction is reflected in coffee imports, the consumption of coffee increasing in proportion to the decreased use of intoxicants, according to statistics by the customs import service here. During March 21,852,362 pounds of coffee, valued at $4,030,998, entered this port, the biggest coffee business for any month in the history of the customs service, officials said.

Gold is now $120 a ton in Italy, twenty times as much as before the war.

FIELD OF AUTO NEARLY GENERAL

In the early period of automobile development their use was limited to special occasions, and not to everyday service. In those days the cars lacked protection against wind, dust and weather, and the user had to handle himself with goggles, muffler, coats and caps to insure any degree of comfort. Then an auto trip was an excursion, planned ahead. It was a trip that unfavorable weather usually postponed.

Today, the automobile has become so intimate a part of our life that the enclosed car is the type that best meets the needs of the average user. The more a car becomes a thing to be used impulsively and habitually, rather than upon special occasions, the more protection is needed, for the driver will not want to take the trouble to prepare himself especially to use it. The car that the owner can step into and drive away, regardless of whether he is dressed warmly or not, or whether his apparel may suffer damage from the weather, is the car from which he will derive the most comfort and usefulness.

"Of course the closed car answers these requirements better than any other type, which accounts for its growing popularity," says Salesman Stock of the D.M. Motor Co., local distributors of the Studebaker and Overland automobiles. "But the same reasons that make it especially useful, also make it vital that the closed car shall be unusually well finished, because it is a car that is used in all weather, the outward finish must be of a class that will not become shabby with a little rain and sun.

Mechanically, too, the enclosed car ought to be better than the average. Vibration in a motor that might pass unnoticed in an open car will readily be perceived in a closed car, and be a distinct source of annoyance. For these reasons the enclosed car that is a real source of satisfaction and pleasure must be built right, thorough and through."

No Korean people would think of marrying without consulting the stars, who face the happy day for them. This he does simply by adding the bride's age to the bridegroom's and, after determining which star rules the destiny of their united ages, he decrees that the wedding shall take place upon the day sacred to that star.

Trees In Business Section Cisco Must Be Felled, Says Y. M. B. L.

Tree in the business section of Cisco must be felled.

This is the latest objective toward which the Young Men's Business League is driving.

The main objection among the members of that organization seems to be that shade trees along the business streets not only make the city look like a country village, but also give the downtown thoroughfares an irregular symmetry and partly shut from view the facades of business buildings.

This was demonstrated, it is said, in the double page photograph appearing in the Port Worth Record and showing buildings of Cisco with obstructing trees in the foreground.

Property owners on Main street and the sections crossing Main will be urged to fell the trees about their premises.

Following this drive the Young Men's Business League contemplates a campaign for the laying out of parks and beauty spots where trees more properly belong.

In the rural districts of Germany not so many years ago "pay weddings" were quite common. These peculiar entertainments were arranged for the pecuniary benefit of the bridal pair, for the guests each paid an admittance fee. The receipts went toward furnishing a home for the newlyweds.

New Mexico Will Market 18,000,000 Pounds Wool 1920

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. June—The Wool Growers' Cooperative Association of New Mexico has been formed for the purpose of eliminating middlemen and increasing the returns of the sheep men.

It is the intention this year to concentrate in a warehouse in Chicago, for grading and selling to spinners, as much of the wool clip as is pledged to the association.

When the association is considered as permanently established and is sufficiently strong financially, arrangements will be made for one or more bonded warehouses in this state, where the wool will be graded and sold.

Sheep men say at present wool passes through the hands of from two to five persons after the grower sells it until it reaches the man who makes it into cloth. New Mexico's wool clip this year will, it is estimated amount to 18,000,000 pounds. Growers have already pledged 3,000,000 pounds to the association.

COFFEE AND FLOUR MINES DISCOVERED

GREAT WAREHOUSES OF CHICAGO FILLED WITH ARTICLES, SAYS INVESTIGATOR'S REPORT.

Editor's Note—This is the third of a series of articles on the food situation in Chicago, written for International News Service by John F. Delaney.

Following the sugar trail through Chicago's billion dollar food catacombs one was forced to dodge around millions and millions of pounds of flour, coffee and tea to continue along this pathway of speculation which was amazing to me as I trod it.

In my experience as a newspaper man I had occasion to visit various mines where the minerals of the earth stood as a lure to the man to risk his life in the mining of them. But I have never had the experience before of visiting flour, tea and coffee mines which mark the various warehouses of Chicago.

I walked for miles and miles underground in Southern Illinois during the coal strike and saw million and millions of dollars worth of coal—black, sparkling, dazzlingly in the underground light. I saw "rooms" half worked and full of coal, but in my tour of Chicago warehouses I passed through similar "rooms" and instead of the black, sparkling ore there was the white and brown sacks which resembled ledges.

There is much more flour, coffee and tea in Chicago than there is sugar.

I visited the Soc Terminal Warehouse, where both the Washburn-Crosby and the Pillsbury flour is in large stocks. In one end of the terminal, which boasts a half million square feet of fire proof storage on the east side of the building Washburn-Crosby has the warehouse and on the other end Pillsbury has its storage warehouse—that is, one of them. There are three floors used for flour, and there are thousands upon thousands of bags and millions and millions of pounds of it.

Here were found, in addition to the large amounts of flour in cloth sacks and barrels, hundreds of broken paper sacks of flour which were placed on trucks and practically discarded. Flour in abundance—in fact, overflowed from the possession of Mitchell & Ehringer, who make a specialty of storing flour. Flour by the thousands of bags was also found on the docks of the various railroads.

More than a million pounds was found dust covered and rotting on the docks of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad in a ship of the river at Fourteenth street. Photographs were made of this, which bore the label of the Fairfax Milling company of Fairfax, Minn., and had been in the storage warehouse on the docks for upward of two years, according to the statement of one of the men in the office who had charge of the commodities in the dock warehouse.

Floor after floor in the Currier & Lee warehouse furnished a big display.

At the West Side warehouse flour was piled ceiling high on the five floors of the building, and the warehouse was so filled with flour and other commodities that flour also packed the gangways and the staircases which led to the different floors of the building.

The Skiley warehouse at Clark street and the river also furnished a view of an abundance of this commodity.

There was all privately owned flour and had nothing to do with the vast supplies of the United States Grain corporation, which reported from time to time that large holdings of flour necessitated the large shipments of flour to the foreign countries on credit. The export of flour from July 1, 1919, to April 1, 1920, by the United States Grain corporation was 13,249,000 barrels. Export is now curtailed.

On March 21 the senate authorized the selling of 5,000,000 barrels of flour as a relief measure to foreign countries. The United States Grain corporation received the authorization by a vote of the house and senate.

The enormous amount of flour mentioned is bolstered considerably by the floors and floors of pancake flour which is found in nearly every warehouse in Chicago that caters to this sort of storage.

Nowhere can a definite figure be gained as to the exact amount of flour in storage.

Tea—that commodity which is used in nearly every household—was found in abundance. Tons and tons of it were found in the warehouses here, on the docks and in the storage places of special brand tea operators, importers and speculators.

In the Ontario warehouse at No. 487 West Ontario street, where the J. C. Whitney company and a number of others have large stores of tea, I wended my way through six floors of tea.

The tea was packed on every floor and on many of the floors a like amount of coffee was in storage.

I was told that there were 40,000 boxes of tea to a floor. There were 70 pounds of tea in a box, and the tea in storage in this place ranged in price from $7 a pound to 20c a pound for tea siftings.

Eighty-one importing firms and dealers handle tea and have it in storage in the city of Chicago. These are aside from the speculators who store tea and hold it for advancing markets.

My first introduction to the large supplies of coffee was at the warehouses of Griswold & Walker.

I believe an estimate of $10,000,000 worth of coffee would cover the holdings of this warehouse company.

There is a goodly pot of tea, a wealthy canister of coffee and a full larder of flour in Chicago.

ZIONIST LEAGUE TO PREPARE PALESTINE FOR JEWS

NOTED AMERICANS AMONG THOSE FURTHERING MOVEMENT TO BUILDING HOMELAND.

Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 12. — The first group of American delegates to the International Zionist Conference which convenes in London July 4 left here today for England on the steamer Lapland. In all there will be 32 American delegates to this conference, considered by American Zionists a most momentous gathering. The others will leave for England next Saturday.

In the party going today are Justice Louis D. Brandeis of the United States supreme court, honorary president of the Zionist Organization of America; Judge Julian W. Mack of the United States district court, president of the organization; Nathan Straus, Mrs. Mary Fels, Jacob de Haas, Zionist executive secretary; Louis Lipsky, organization secretary; Professor Felix Frankfurter of Harvard, Captain Abraham Tulin and David Rosenbloom.

The first world Zionist conference held in six years since the outbreak of the war, the forthcoming convention is considered of importance because it will deal with the practical problem of the establishment of the Jewish National Homeland. Delegates will attend from every country in Europe, Palestine, Argentina, Australia, Canada and New Zealand.

In announcing the meeting the Zionist Organization of America says:

"Millions of Jews throughout the countries of Eastern Europe, waiting for the opportunity to leave for Palestine, will watch the proceedings of the conference with intense interest because it will deal with the practical problem of the establishment of the Jewish National Homeland. Delegates will attend from every country in Europe, Palestine, Argentina, Australia, Canada and New Zealand.

"The American delegation has a definite program for the restoration of the Jewish homeland in Palestine, which it will place before the conference. It is pledged to free immigration for Palestine, but recognizes that it will be necessary to regulate the immigration at first in order to bring into Palestine a large labor army to begin the immediate construction and engineering work necessary to prepare the country for the 4,000,000 Jews, who it is expected will ultimately make their home there.

"The American Zionists hope also that the development of Palestine will be carried on, under the principles of democracy and equality enunciated in the famous Pittsburgh program, adopted by the 1918 Zionist convention and ratified again at this year's extraordinary convention. This program provides for absolute political equality as regards race, sex and religions; establishment of the ownership and control of the land, all natural resources and public utilities in the people with due regard for existing rights; use of the co-operative principle; and prevention of the evils of land speculation and other forms of financial oppression.

"It will also work for the establishment of a national board of health in Palestine, with the American Zionist medical unit, now operating there, as its foundation, in order to organize up on a nation-wide scale the fight against disease. The establishment of experimental stations and technical laboratories for the study and development of the country's resources will also be proposed by the American delegation.

"To carry out all these projects necessary for the development of Palestine, advices from London state that the Zionist inner actions committee will propose launching a fund of $15,000,000 to finance them and other vast operations to be decided upon at the conference.

"Mrs. Brandeis, Mrs. Mack and Mrs. Straus are accompanying their husbands. Mr. and Mrs. Straus will continue on to Palestine to inspect the many philanthropies they have started there and to investigate the establishment of such others as they deem necessary to help carry out Zionist reconstruction plans."

ATTENTION, ODD FELLOWS AND REBEKAHS!

Member of Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges are urged to meet at I. O. O. F. hall Sunday, June 13th, at 10 a. m., proceed from there to the Christian church, at which place Pastor Holmes will preach a memorial sermon, after which the members will visit the cemetery and decorate the graves of our deceased members. Those having automobiles, bring them, and don't forget to bring some flowers.
