3 PCT. SALES TAX BILL INTRODUCED

Three Beer Bills Offered in House of Representatives

3.2 PER CENT "KICK" WOULD BE LEGALIZED

AUSTIN Jan. 20. — Three bills seeking to legalize beer were offered in the Texas house of representatives today.

One legalized 3.2 per cent beer by weight, another called for a constitutional amendment legalizing beer. The third barred saloons, called for closing any sales place at midnight and prohibited Sunday sales.

The old keg beer of former days is not returned under the new proposal. The legalized beer is to be offered only in 12-ounce bottles on which a half-cent tax will be paid.

Only persons who have been engaged in the grocery, drug, hotel, restaurant or soda and soft drink business for two years will be eligible for sales licenses to be issued by county judges.

There will be two types of licenses. One is for sales for consumption on the premises. These will not be issued for establishments within 200 feet of a church, school or charitable institution, nor in any block with a church or where most of the property is residence property.

Places selling beer for immediate drinking must close at midnight and remain closed until 7 a. m.

They will pay double the $25 license required for a non-consuming establishment.

Sales or gifts to persons under 16 are prohibited. Musical instruments, athletic contests and other features of the old saloon are prohibited.

15 Years Free; Returns to Pen

Although Glenn Smeeman, above, had spent the last 15 years of his life building up a successful business in Cleveland under the name of Harry Stanley, he is now back in Colorado state penitentiary. He escaped from the prison in 1918. Governor Johnson of Colorado refused a plea for pardon.

Smeeman's wife, shown with him above, is the mother of a three-month-old baby, and became seriously ill after she accompanied Smeeman on his voluntary return to Denver. He had refused to pay "hush money" to a woman who knew of his past, and she turned him in.

COMM'N SEES MAJOR ATTACK ON PRORATION

TYLER, Jan. 20. — The state railroad commission today intimated it believes major oil companies are cutting crude prices to break proration. The intimation came from Comm'r Ernest O. Thompson in the course of a hearing on pipe line practices.

T. L. Winn, Dallas attorney, had asked a thorough investigation of production and price cutting.

"It looks to the commission as if big companies are cutting the price to break proration," Comm'r Thompson said. "It looks as if now that proration has grown up and is kicking its daddy in the pants. They are against it."

MAJORS JOIN IN GENERAL OIL CUT

HOUSTON, Jan. 20. — Major oil purchasers joined today in a general reduction of mid-continent oil prices.

The Texas company and the Humble Oil and Refining company announced they would meet the 15-cent per barrel reduction posted two days ago by the Stanolind Crude Oil Purchasing company.

Fifty cents a barrel was the new price for East Texas crude. Sharp reductions were announced in other oil fields.

All new schedules were retroactive to 7 a. m. January 19.

The Texas company's new schedule which was not by Humble, called for reductions ranging from 17 to 20 cents a barrel in North Texas, West Texas, New Mexico and in Gray, Carson and Hutchinson counties of the Texas panhandle pool.

HUMBLE MEETS SLASH IN CRUDE SCHEDULES

Humble Pipe Line company today joined other purchasers in the general reduction of crude oil prices in the mid-continent area. The new Humble schedule, effective at 7 o'clock this morning, meets the new Texas company prices for this area, but varies somewhat from the Texas postings in various other fields.

Ranger, North Texas, Mexia, Powell, Boggy Creek, Richmond, Wortham, Currie, and Moran crude is quoted at 28 cents for below 29 gravity with a two-cent increase for degree to a top price of 52 cents for 40 degrees and above.

A flat price of 50 cents is quoted for East Texas crude.

Gray county crude is listed at 34 cents for below 35 gravity with a two-cent differential to a top of 46 cents for 40 and above.

Other listings are as follows:

Carson and Hutchinson counties, 29 cents for crude below 35 degrees with a two-cent differential to a top of 41 cents for 40 and above;

Conroe, 54 cents for below 35 degrees with a two-cent differential to a top of 64 for 40 and above;

Crane, Upton, Crockett, Ector, Howard, Glasscock, Pecos and Winkler counties, Texas, and Lea county, N. M., 30 cents flat;

Goose Creek, Hull, Liberty, Orange, Pierce Junction, Moss Bluff, Racon Bend, Sour Lake, Spindletop, Sugarland, West Columbia, Humble Rabbs Ridge and Refugio light, 32 cents for below 20 degrees with two-cent differential to a top of 62 for 34 and above;

Refugio heavy 45 cents flat;

Mirando crude, 35 cents flat;

Pettus crude, 55 cents flat;

Salt Flat and Darst Creek, 40 cents flat.

Famed Theorizer Returns to U. S.

Prof. Albert Einstein is shown here with Mrs. Einstein as he arrived in Los Angeles harbor for a visit to the United States. He will confer with California scientists, especially Dr. Robert A. Millikan, on new theories evolved since his last visit. Einstein laughed off efforts of a patriotic women's society to bar him as a Communist.

Poland's Huge Army Is the Only Way to Quiet Nation's Fear of Border Invasion

By RICHARD D. McMILLAN, United Press Staff Correspondent

WARSAW, Jan. 20. — This is the capita of the land of fear and armed force.

I have walked through the streets and seen soldiers everywhere, not so many as in the time of the Soviet-Polish war 12 years ago, but the country has today more than a quarter of a million men under arms and could put an army of 1,000,000 or more, in the field in a few weeks.

Along the frontiers are mighty chains of forts, built under supervision of French military engineers. Behind this ring of steel, behind the battalions of bristling bayonets, the Polish people are restless and fearful. On every side they have potential enemies — Germany, Lithuania, the mighty masses of Soviet Russia.

Poland needs her arms and her army, she says, until her frontier neighbors can be subdued.

Poland is France's military "yes man". The Polish army is largely French trained just as her bastions as I have said, were built with France's financial and engineering aid.

The Poles are France's most powerful ally and, in the event of war, each would rush to the other's aid with Yugo-Slavia and Rumania also flinging themselves into the strife to maintain the status quo.

Poland Seen as Tyrant

In the eyes of Germany and Lithuania, Poland is the tyrant of Eastern Europe. Under force of her arms, they accuse, Poland has increased her size far beyond the limits laid down by the Allies. Lithuania is particularly bitter against Poland because of the Polish filibustering expedition shortly after 1920 when Polish troops 15,000 strong seized the city of Vilna and some 60,000 square miles.

Poland says this belongs to her ethnographically; Lithuania puts forward the same argument in support of her claim. A feeble country in military strength, which did not become a nation until after the war, Lithuania appealed to the League, but the dispute never has been settled.

The power magazine in Eastern Europe in the eyes of politicians is, however, not the Polish-Lithuanian frontier, but the Polish corridor. The firm conviction in the hearts of every Pole is that Germany will not rest until she has wrested the "corridor" from Poland and thus re-unite East Prussia to Germany. Germany says she wishes to do so by peaceful means, by revision of the Versailles Treaty, but Poland maintains if her army were cut Germany would use force.

The Germans say that in ten years Poland will have 50,000,000 inhabitants and in 25 she will be mightier than Germany. If the present situation is consolidated by allowing Poland to retain her might and territory she will become the dictatorial nation of Central and Eastern Europe.

MAGAZINE IS PUBLISHED BY BRITISH IDLE

BIRKENHEAD, Lancashire, Eng., Jan. 20. — Unemployed men have turned publishers here, writing, editing and producing a fortnightly magazine which even contains a "woman's page."

The production of this magazine is the newest development of the occupational centers and social clubs organized by the jobless as part of a social experiment.

Birkenhead has become dotted with occupational centers, fostered by outside interests and social clubs run on a "twopenny a week" basis. They are designed to keep the unemployed physically and mentally fit.

Men besiege the occupational centers eager to turn their enforced idleness to good account and the "twopenny clubs" are so prosperous on account of the unlimited supply of volunteer labor and the cumulative value of a multitude of twopenny subscriptions that even billiard tables are installed.

The magazine is typewritten and mimeographed. It includes philosophical and humorous items, and articles on practical subjects.

Classes for unemployed now are available here for language study, economics, industrial and commercial law, stenography, physical training, swimming instruction, sports, drama and music.

Educations which never were complete because work called the youths from the classrooms, now are being completed. Thousands who never would have entered a college now are being instructed in arts and crafts and advanced academic subjects.

GULF, MAGNOLIA MEET PRICE CUTS

Both the Gulf Refining company and the Magnolia Petroleum company today joined in the general crude oil price reductions initiated by the Stanolind Crude Oil Purchasing company and followed by the Texas, Humble and other purchasing concerns. United Press reported this afternoon.

WEATHER

West Texas — Mostly cloudy. Occasional rain southeast portion tonight and Saturday.

East Texas — Cloudy. Occasional rains tonight and Saturday. Probably fog Saturday morning.

Noted Baptist Layman Succumbs

WACO, Jan. 20. — W. H. Jenkins, 85, noted Baptist layman and veteran Waco attorney, died at his home today after a prolonged illness.

Classes were suspended and the campus flag lowered to half-mast at Baylor university where he had been secretary of the board of trustees since 1905.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon. Memorial services at Baylor university will be held after Pat M. Neff, president, returns from New York.

67 PER CENT COLLECTION OF SCHOOL TAXES

"Approximately 67 per cent of the year's taxes had come in on January 10," said Secretary W. F. Walker of the school board here this morning. "This includes some delinquent taxes also."

He added that, from what he had been able to gather from the city hall and from other school districts, the Cisco schools are in better shape financially than many others. A comparison last year showed that whereas at that time 85 per cent of the taxes had come in at Cisco, only from 60 to 65 per cent had been paid at most other West Texas towns at that date.

Of course, Secretary Walker said, many of the delinquent taxes will never be collected due to removal of the parties. Property taxes will come in gradually, however.

Walker said that he was sorry to see that Cisco people had not taken advantage of the law which removed the interest payable from all delinquent taxes up to December 31. This law had made very little change in the payment of school taxes in Cisco here.

Although the school board has been collecting taxes it does not have on hand a very large amount of cash at present. This, Secretary Walker points out, is due to the fact that during the years of 1930-31 and 1931-32 the school board issued warrants and vouchers to take care of the teacher's salaries.

These warrants and vouchers have been accepted in the payment of taxes in order to get merchants to accept them. Now, although the board does not have on hand a great deal of cash, teachers have been paid and the taxes collected.

CALCULATED TO PRODUCE 45 MILLIONS

AUSTIN, Jan. 20. — The 3 per cent sales tax bill was formally introduced in the Texas house of representatives today.

The measure, calculated to yield $45,000,000 a year, levies the sales tax as an occupation tax based upon gross receipts. One-fourth of all occupation taxes goes to public schools.

Occupations are divided into groups of associated activities. Some of the groups are mining, manufacturing, retail selling, printing and publishing, advertising, including radio and distributing natural gas.

A minimum annual tax of $25 is placed on those engaged in brokerage, common carriage, truck and contracting enterprises. Others pay only the actual 3 per cent on sales.

The tax is specifically made to take the place of the present ad valorem tax for general state purposes. The bill provides there shall be no ad valorem tax for statewide purposes provided in the state constitution for schools and Confederate pensions.

Monthly reports are required beginning March 15, 1933, until January 15, 1934. Ten per cent penalty is to be added to a tax for failure to report plus $50 a day for each day of delay.

Refusal to permit inspection of sales records will make a person liable to $500 fine and six months in jail, or both, and a corporation liable to $5,000 fine.

COLLECTION OF LINDY TROPHIES KEEPS GROWING

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 20. — The affections and admiration of people of every land for Charles A. Lindbergh, trans-Atlantic flier, find expression here in 2,500 trophies, valued at approximately $1,000,000.

The museum, which occupies a great portion of the Jefferson Memorial Building, in Forest Park, is said to be the only one in the world devoted to tributes to a living man.

From almost every country the tributes to his courage and skill have come. Among them are jewels from kings and simple, inexpensive gifts of school children.

Lindbergh's Favorite

The favorite of Colonel Lindbergh, his friends say, is a model of the "Spirit of St. Louis," the plane he flew from New York to Paris. It is carved from a single diamond and stands between a pair of silver globes made in 1700.

This trophy, valued at $50,000, was presented Colonel Lindbergh by William Randolph Hearst, the publisher. Colonel Lindbergh has seen the collection only four times the last on New Year's Day, 1930.

The trophies, before being registered, are closed to all but the most distinguished visitors. It was signed by people from every state and from almost every nation.

Famous Signatures

Most of the famous figures of aviation including the pioneers, Orville Wright and Glenn Curtiss, have signed the register. Others include the French fliers, Coste and Bellonte; Ruth Nichols, Charles Doolittle, Frank Hawks, H. E. Honeycutt and Major Albert Bond Lambert.

The exhibit is being added to constantly, until the problem of properly displaying the trophies has become a serious one. Colonel Lindbergh wrote recently that he was sending five additional cases containing hundreds of articles sent directly to him.

TRUST FUND GREW

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 20. — A trust fund started in 1916 with $50,000 donation for the care of public school teachers retired because of age, was invested in stocks in 1916, sold near the peak in 1929, and re-invested in high class bonds.

MAY GET CHAIRS

EL PASO, Jan. 20. — Deputy Francisco G. Rodriguez, of Juarez, thinks hard-working clerks should be provided chairs. He will introduce a bill in the Chihuahua state legislature forcing employers to provide chairs for store clerks.

Inauguration Cost Only $133.12

AUSTIN, Jan. 20. — The house of representatives today learned that the inauguration of Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, for which it appropriated $500 had actually cost only $133.12. The house adopted a resolution thanking officials for their economy.

ALBANY QUINT HERE TONIGHT

The Loboes will take on the Albany Cagers in the Cisco gym tonight. Little is known about the Albany team except that it defeated Breckenridge recently.

Coach Elkins said this morning that he understood J. L. Cearley, star center for the Loboes, is ill and may not be able to play tonight.

In case Cearley is able to play, Elkins said the starting lineup would probably consist of Cearley at center, L. A. Harrison and Elvin Norvell at forwards, and Cleo Ray and Leonard Latch at guards. If Cearley is out of the game Elkins indicated that there would be a shift in the lineup, but was unable to say just who would go in at center.

This is the first time Norvell has broken into the starting lineup. He got into the game against Eastland Tuesday night when Cearley came out with four personal fouls, but has not yet started a game.

NEW SEMESTER BEGINS MONDAY AT RANDOLPH

With indications of a decided increase in enrollment, according to Dean E. B. Isaacks, Randolph college's spring semester will begin next Monday.

Only one day will be allowed for registration, Dean Isaacks said, advising all who intend to enter the college for the second semester to matriculate on that day to escape the late registration fee. He said that students who will finish the high school next week should register at the college at the regular time and make arrangements to enter classes when the high school course is completed.

A number of students from out of town have already made reservations at the college, he said. These and the new students from Cisco and surrounding territory will add 20 to 25 to the student body, the dean said. He advised that classes are being arranged so that a student may enter now and take full time work.

HOMES NEEDED FOR RANDOLPH GIRLS

Dean E. B. Isaacks, of Randolph college, said this morning that a number of prospective girl students at Randolph are in need of homes where they may pay for their board and room with housework. During the past two years, he said, a number of Randolph girls have lived in Cisco homes and their work has been satisfactory to housewives. Homes are now needed for three or more girls for the remainder of the term. He said that anyone willing to assist one of these students may call him at 443 W or at the college office, 9514.

Clyde Thompson in Futile Prison Break

ANGLETON, Texas, Jan. 20. — The penal farm here was quiet today after one convict had been slain, another wounded and a third recaptured when guards frustrated their break for liberty.

The dead man was A. L. Lester, 29, shot to death by Guard G. R. Pool when he and two companions bolted from a wood chopping squad.

B. Allen, 20, of Rusk county, was the wounded convict. He was shot in the back.

The third member of the trio was Clyde Thompson, serving a life sentence for murder from Eastland county. Thompson, twice sentenced to death for the murder of Lucian Shook near Leary in 1928, had his sentence commuted by Gov. Ross Sterling.

HOOVER AND ROOSEVELT IN POLICY TALK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. — In the historic red room of the white house, President Hoover and the man who will succeed him in office, Franklin D. Roosevelt, joined today in a common effort to remove barriers to international peace and prosperity.

The two men were joined by Norman H. Davis, expert on disarmament and war debts. It is strongly believed here that Davis will be Roosevelt's secretary of state.

The white house issued a statement after the conference announcing that the new democratic administration was prepared to discuss debts and the world economic conference with Great Britain early in March.

PHEASANT ATE $10 BILL

GLENCOE, Minn., Jan. 20. — The corner of a ten dollar bill was found in the crop of a pheasant by Mrs. Edward Riener, who only complained that the bird had not eaten the whole bill.

SEN. LEWIS AND FUTURE OF RAILWAYS.

Sen. James Hamilton Lewis, democrat of Illinois, predicted in the senate while debate was on, that Reconstruction corporation loans to the American railroads would not be paid and government ownership would result sooner or later. All this is a reminder that in a recent address L. W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri Pacific lines, said: "Do you realize the extent to which investment in railroads is scattered? Look at the railroad bonds that are owned by insurance companies and savings banks. About six billion dollars of the 11 billion dollars railroad bonds outstanding are owned by insurance companies, savings banks, and public institutions."

Then he turned to the loans made by the R. F. C. saying, "The newspapers were filled with articles about what the Reconstruction Finance corporation had done in the way of loans to the railroads. These loans were made primarily to save the insurance companies and savings banks, hospital institutions, and the like whose investments were substantially in the securities of railroad companies." Then Pres. Baldwin asked this question, "What would happen if one of the big insurance companies had failed? How many people in your community, in every community of the United States, would have lost money they had invested in insurance to that company?" A blunt message to all concerned from the lips of a rail president who knows all the facts and believes in the thorough education of all the people as to conditions as they exist in the American world. Franklin D. Roosevelt has said, "Destructive criticism is never justified for its own sake; But To Build We Must First Clear The Ground." His advice is passed on to lawmakers and laymen everywhere.

MORATORIUM ON FEDERAL DEBTS.

All who dwell in the irrigation sections of America are reminded that a bill to continue for a year and a half the moratorium on debts owed the government by federal irrigation districts has been approved by a joint senate and house irrigation committee. Elwood Mead, a noted engineer, is federal commissioner of reclamation. He has advised the loan of $5,000,000 to the bureau from the treasury to carry on the construction and repair work in these federal irrigation districts. He appeared before the joint committee and declared this would be necessary because of the moratorium taking away funds usually relied upon for construction. A lawmaker, national or state, is traveling a rocky road. A chief magistrate, federal or state is not luxuriating in a rose garden.

MIDWEST FARMERS AND THEIR PROGRAMS.

Legislatures are grinding in many commonwealths. Midwest farmers against adverse economic conditions in their revolt against the high cost of government have set legislators of combest states to diligent paring of budget demands. Throughout all the territory which witnessed the so-called farmers' strike measures are being shaped to slice millions of dollars from state expenditures. In all the states the lawmakers are shrinking outlay to fit within the state income. Iowa lawmakers promise to establish a high economy mark. They hope to save the taxpayers of the state $25,000,000 a year. Nebraska lawmakers are cutting to the bone. Minnesota legislators are prepared to cut the budget $8,000,000. Gov. Henry Horner of Illinois is for the sales tax which he says will yield the treasury $75,000,000 annually to ease the load of property tax payers." North and South Dakota are clamoring for a 25 per cent reduction in salaries and departmental cost of government. A great president once said, speaking of tariff legislation, "it is condition and not theory that faces the American people."

bor only thoughts of hard times show a great lack of faith in their country. They should investigate themselves and their own business, for the fault may be theirs. Investigation might show them that in these times of keen competition it would pay them to first sell to themselves a belief in their own business and then go out and sell it to the public through newspaper advertising.

Knockers living in glass houses should not knock too hard. Its dangerous.

While it is the duty of every citizen to assist the government as much as possible, still we think that where public and private enterprise are in any way competitive, it is the duty of the public to support private enterprise. By GEORGE

If anyone went home from the Lobo banquet last night with a case of dyspepsia to people the darkness with nightmares the particular individual had better visit the doctor or a psycho-analyst. I neither mean to praise nor abuse the bill of fare that Donald Burger and his Laguna hotel staff provided. It was a fine meal. But that is left entirely out of the discussion. The tremendous shaking that was given the meal after it was properly disposed of is the theme in point.

Good humor is an infallible digester and 40 minutes of laughter that makes the toenails quiver will cure the most chronic case of gout. That was what happened to the 100 who gathered to give recognition to the work of the 1932 Lobos and to have a good time. Dr. R. E. Jackson, of C. I. A., was the humorist.

The program committee — A. D. Anderson, Leon Maner, H. Brandon, H. L. Dyer and E. H. Varnell — deserve the commendation of the Lions and Rotarians for their fine work in providing such entertainment.

Cecil Lotief, representative from the 107th legislative district, embracing Eastland and Callahan counties, wants the folks to send him suggestions.

At least so he responds to a letter from W. H. Kitzrell. Cecil is a new member of the state law-making body. He succeeded Victor B. Gilbert, now with the state railroad commission as assistant director of the motorbus division.

LOOK OUT FOR THESE SYMPTOMS OF CONSTIPATION

Get Relief With Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sallow complexions, and sleeplessness are often warning signs of common constipation. Unless checked, constipation may impair health.

Today, you can get rid of common constipation by simply eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than taking patent medicines.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Serious cases, with every meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

SHEILA SHAYNE, whose parents were well known vaudeville entertainers, is in New York looking for a job...

At the party she meets several celebrities, including GORDON MANDRAKE, well known producer...

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XIII

THE part Mandrake offered Sheila was a job—but a disappointment as well. The new play, "When Lights Are Low"...

Sheila nodded and blushed. She was grateful for a friendly word because rehearsal, when parts are first assigned...

Sheila shook her wise little head and told herself she hoped the girls wouldn't spoil him. But they would, of course...

"I hope they'll change those lines," Sheila told him nervously. "Why don't you ask them?"...

He looked so innocent that Sheila decided he was not joking. She was sitting on a scenic rock, swinging her little feet in her tap shoes...

Then suddenly she spied it. A scrap of paper propped against the sugar bowl on the red checkered table...

THE note read: "Sheila call Mr. Mandrake at Bryant 0025. It may be a job.—Ma."

Ma had taken messages before. Scrawled in the corner, as an afterthought, Sheila found, "Must of phoned around 2:30."

It was hardly 3:30 now. If Mandrake wanted to see her that afternoon she had time to reach his office even allowing a half hour in which to freshen up...

She was trembling as the nickel chimed in the pay telephone in the street floor hall. Sheila gave the Bryant number without looking at the paper in her hand...

"Mr. Mandrake's office? This is Miss Shayne calling. I have a message asking me to phone."

THE telephone operator's voice sounded aloof, noncommittal. "Paine? What do you want to talk to Mr. Mandrake about?"

Sheila frowned unhappily. This seemed a bad omen. The entire office should, she felt, have been electrified to receive her call.

"Shayne!" she repeated patiently. "Sheila Shayne. Mr. Mandrake called me an hour ago. After an interminable stretch of heart beats and telephone clicks another more decisive click sounded in the receiver. A voice.

BUT it was not Mandrake. It was a woman's voice, clipped and haughty this time, asking what Sheila wanted.

"Mr. Mandrake called me at about 2:30 and asked me to call. This is Sheila Shayne speaking."

There was a silence. "Mr. Mandrake was in conference from two until three," the voice announced as if that settled

"I guess you are rather new to Broadway, aren't you?" she asked. The young man considered, head bent slightly to one side.

SHE laughed gaily. "That was the answer I deserved. And my answer to that is, 'Yes' and 'No.' I'm new to a part in a Broadway show but not new by any means to the ways of Broadway. Nor to tramping the streets looking for a job."

SHEILA translated herself instantly into liquid motion. She had learned the routine in half a dozen painstaking sessions with Bill Brady who had gone to some length to inform her that they were not paying him extra to teach her the steps, nor would he dream of doing it for anyone but her.

As a routine it was one of Bill's best. Flashy, intricate, yet appearing to the uninitiated far more difficult than it really was.

To Jim Blaine this fresh-faced, dark-haired girl dancing on the cleared stage was poetry itself. The loveliest dance he had ever witnessed.

"Say, you are wonderful!" he told her, a smile spreading over his face, when, panting, Sheila dropped back on the seat she had recently vacated.

"It takes wind, that's sure. I'll have to keep on practicing."

She and Jim soon became great friends. He was not dependent on his salary, even when it began—which would not be until after the show opened.

"There are two villages. One is New Haver and the other a suburb of Boston."

"And a certain village known as Paris and another called London tossed in!" Sheila added.

He laughed gaily. "Is my bitter past as evident as that? I say, let me introduce myself. You are Sheila Shayne, I know, for when you were dancing I heard some one say so. Well, my name is Jim Blaine. I suppose they'll change it on the program, provided I ever get that far. That's not flossy enough. Meanwhile I want to call you Sheila if I may. So why not try Jim?"

"Oh—Shayne!" a raucous voice interrupted them. "Do you think this is a pink tea? That's your cue!"

"My fault," whispered Jim, shamefacedly rising from the bit of scenery where he had been seated at her feet. "Never mind that old bozo. He praises you when you aren't around!"

the matter. Ruses to reach great producers are not uncommon and it is a secretary's business to keep such calls away from her employer.

"The—the time may be wrong," Sheila stammered. "But that was the message I received—"

"Sorry!" This time the voice dismissed her. "Mr. Mandrake has gone for the day." The connection severed sharply.

Whatever the chance that had dangled before her for a brief instant, she had lost it. Lost it by a few hours, while making useless rounds among useless agents!

"Well," Sheila thought, trying to laugh, "I wanted a shampoo and I can wash my hair now."

But it wasn't funny—losing the chance of a job with Mandrake. No matter how she tried, Sheila couldn't persuade herself that it was.

Flitting downstairs, she lighted the gas under the water tank, waited 15 minutes, turned it off and flitted upstairs again with an armful of towels.

Outside the bathroom on the second floor was a roof. Ma allowed an occasional roomer to sit there on a chair taken from the bathroom and view the beauties of a dozen backyards while recently shampooed hair dried in the wind or hosiery fluttered from a line.

There was no one else in the house—unless that young man who had just taken the parlor floor had come in. Another sharp peal sounded.

THE telephone rang, sharply, insistently. There was no one else in the house—unless that young man who had just taken the parlor floor had come in.

"Gee, I hate to go down there just to tell someone that Miss Bell row if he changes his mind," Sheila whispered back. The pianist, a slender, bent young man in shirt sleeves who appeared completely bored, again struck the music cue.

There was no one else in the house—unless that young man who had just taken the parlor floor had come in.

"Gee, I hate to go down there just to tell someone that Miss Bell

during rehearsals surprised him. "I think I'll ask for a salary during rehearsals and offer to work free while the show runs," he said whimsically, and although she knew that there was no financial stress on his own part, Sheila laughed.

Then the rehearsals ran into seven weeks and there was a salary. Sheila replenished her wardrobe, exercised, waited. She was letter perfect in her part.

One afternoon Mandrake dropped in and Sheila's offending lines were changed speedily. For this she was grateful.

The play was to open in two weeks in Atlantic City. Then it was a week. Then tomorrow. Bustle and scurry everywhere. Costumes completed and packed by short-tempered wardrobe mistresses, scenery shipped, the arrangements for the company's transportation made final.

Jim Blaine offered to drive Sheila down in his car. She wasn't certain this was a wise plan either for herself or him and finally he decided to go in the train with the rest of the company.

The show went off beautifully. Critics praised it abundantly. "They noticed you. Did you see that?" Jim asked Sheila over the telephone next morning.

Sleepy-eyed, she laughed. "I haven't seen the papers."

"And you're dying to know what they said about you but wouldn't ask for the world!" Jim went on. "Well, here goes!" He read, "A certain little newcomer to the terpsichorean ranks—"

"Why, I've been dancing for years!" Sheila protested.

Jim continued. "—Sheila Shayne, handled the part of Sally in an urbane and delightful manner. Marion Randolph, who was adequate, had best look to her laurels!"

"Adequate—wow! Did they say anything about you?"

"Plenty!"

"Read it to me, will you?"

"Meet me for breakfast and I'll let you read it for yourself."

They were very merry half an hour later in the hotel breakfast room. Then, at Jim's direction, the waiter brought the newspapers.

isn't here any more!" Sheila grumbled. Miss Bell was a popular young woman who had recently departed and for whom the telephone rang constantly.

Of course it couldn't be a message for Sheila herself. Dick never called in mid-afternoon. Phil Shurt was away. An agent wouldn't call at such an hour.

But there was no help for it. Sheila would have to answer.

"Hello," she said indifferently. Then her face changed, brightened.

It was Mandrake himself whose voice she heard. "Miss Shayne?" the voice said. "This is Mandrake speaking. I called you this afternoon—from the club. You weren't in."

"Oh, Mr. Mandrake!" Sheila felt suddenly weak, her throat dry.

"I saw you at Lane's the other night," the man went on. (He had seen her fully three months ago but that didn't matter.) "I liked those songs you sang. Clever. I wonder if we couldn't get together on a part for my new show?"

There was a pause. Mandrake seemed to be waiting for her to speak.

"I—I—that would be fine, Mr. Mandrake."

"You aren't signed, I take it? If you aren't I'd like to talk to you this evening. Let me see"—there was a pause—"it's five now. We both have to eat. Why not have dinner together? Suppose I send my car for you at seven?"

Sheila drew a deep breath. "Thank you so much. I'd love to go."

"I'll bring a contract along and we'll talk it over. If we can come to terms I'd like you to go into rehearsal tomorrow."

Sheila hung up the telephone in a daze. Mandrake—a job—and rehearsal tomorrow! Oh, could it all be true?

TEXAS GROWS 81 PER CENT OF MOHAIR IN U. S.

LUBBOCK, Jan. 20. — Texas produced 81 per cent of the 1929 United States mohair clip, according to an analysis of the last census by Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, head of the department of agricultural economics in Texas Technological college. Of the 14,500,000 pounds of mohair produced in the United States, 11,800,000 pounds were grown in Texas. The value of the Texas clip was $5,100,000.

Twelve percent of the sheep and lambs in the United States were in Texas in 1930. Sixty-five percent of the goats and kids of the nation were in Texas.

Twenty-two percent of the turkeys produced in 1929 were grown in Texas.

Ten per cent of all the cattle in the United States in 1930 were in Texas.

Thirteen per cent of all the land in farms in the United States was shown by the census to be in Texas. On this land were eight per cent of the farmers of the nation.

Although the number of farms for the nation decreased two and one-half per cent from 1920 to 1930, the number in Texas increased 12 per cent.

SAME TROUBLES
WINNERED S. D., Jan. 20. — A pair of "identical" twins carried their similarities to a hospital recently, where they were both operated on for appendicitis. Ida DeVries, 15, was brought to the hospital to undergo the operation when her twin sister, Theresa, suffered the same symptoms and was also taken to the hospital. Both were recovering satisfactorily.

ONE CODFISH CONTAINS ENOUGH EGGS TO PRODUCE MORE THAN A BILLION POUNDS OF FISH, IF EACH EGG HATCHED AND MATURED.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS. HAS MORE TREES IN PROPORTION TO POPULATION THAN ANY OTHER AMERICAN CITY.

A SEVENTY-FIVE POUND codfish contains something like 9,000,000 eggs, and there have been rare catches of cods that weighed 200 pounds, and many that weighed from 100 to 175 pounds. The average codfish is far below these figures, however, and only a very small per cent of those hatched ever reaches maturity. This is fortunate, for the offspring of one large codfish could soon fill the ocean to overflowing, if all lived but a few years.

NO POLICE FORCE
WEIRTON, W. Va., Jan. 20. — Weirton, said to be largest unincorporated town in the United States, is without a police force now. Constables patrol the town since expiration of commissions of police officers formerly provided by a steel company. The population is 14,000.

EXCITEMENT KILLED FARMER
BROWNVILLE, Pa., Jan. 20. — When Gustave A. Schiller about to butcher a cow on a farm near here, fired a rifle at the animal. Schiller, instead of the cow, dropped dead. Excitement over the butchering was blamed for Schiller's death. The bullet missed the cow.

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, Jan. 20. — Rep. T. H. McGregor of Austin has it all figured out that the Texas Centennial will pay for itself in increased gasoline tax receipts. He maintains that cars of visitors will use enough gasoline for the state tax on that fluid to pay more than the $5,000,000 it has been proposed that the state appropriate.

He has a plan that would give Austin $2,000,000 for exhibit buildings, $1,000,000 to San Antonio for a hall of history the Alamo, $1,000,000 to Houston for a Port of Entry building commemorating the Battle of San Jacinto, $500,000 for El Paso for a mineral exhibits building on the College of Mines campus and $500,000 for promotional work.

If turbulent times develop in the Forty-third legislature they will not alarm one of the new members, E. T. Townsend of Alpine. Forty-two years ago when he was but 19 he joined the Texas Rangers. All along the border he served in the days of Mexican revolutions, counter-revolutions and their accompanying disturbances on both sides of the Rio Grande.

Townsend also served as sheriff in the Big Bend country. He was a member of Captain J. S. McNeill's Company E of rangers which has figured in magazine stories of the border.

Rep. Dave Shannon of Fort Worth is having quite a time lining up members for a "bet" measure. "I am down here," he tells them in assumed seriousness, "for a single purpose. I have one bill that I want passed."

After his hearers is warmed up to a proper degree of interest and inquires what the bill is, Shannon explains.

"I want to bar the last card in stud poker and the wild card in draw poker."

"It sure would save me lots of money," one member asserted when Shannon sprang the proposal on him.

Brig. General Jacob F. Wolters was one of the persons Shannon told about his poker bill. The general, once a representative himself, asked.

"Have you many Germans in your district? If you have you may cause trouble for yourself by not including a simplification of Skaat."

Wolters, when a youthful legislator, proposed a similar joking bill for reformation of poker. One of his German constituents wrote demanding that Skaat be included.

Senator George Purl also had a sad experience with a legislative joke. At considerable expense he had printed as a New Year's card an exact duplicate of a Senate Journal dated Jan. 1, 1932. The very last item on the page was: "Amend the Journal by striking out 1932 and insert in lieu thereof 1933. Happy New Year to all the present and former senators and their families and our staff of faithful employees."

Checking up afterward, he found few of the recipients had read through the "Journal" far enough to get the snapper at the end.

The senate still answers roll calls orally. The house votes on a machine. On morning roll call, senators present answer "Here" with one exception. The exception is Senator Purl, who answers "Present."

The senators, in voting to cut their own pay to $8 a day, left Bob Barker, Fort Worth, the high-salaried man in their branch of the legislature. As senate secretary, Barker's pay is $10 a day.

Reading of Gov. Ross S. Sterling's farewell message to the legislature received scant attention in the house that Rep. T. H. McGregor interrupted to propose the reading be dispensed with and the message be printed in the Journal. When he ascertained there were but two pages more to be read, McGregor withdrew his proposal.

Another message must come to the legislature from Sterling through the one read last week was known as his "farewell" message. The constitution requires him to report to the legislature all moneys received and paid out by him from any fund subject to his orders. The recent message made no report on his expenditure of the law enforcement fund nor of his issuance of deficiency warrants.

So Fagged Out, Drowsy She Could Hardly Work

"I seemed to be so weak. I would feel so fagged out and drowsy I could hardly do my work," writes Mrs. Lela Adams, of Goreville, Ill. "I was in this condition for some time, till I felt nervous and out of sorts. A friend told me to take Cardui. I did, and began to improve. I felt much stronger and gained in weight. TRAFFIC TOLL DECREASED
DALLAS, Jan. 20. — The traffic toll in Dallas, reduced from 85 persons in 1931 to 50 in 1932, is on the decline because of closer supervision of traffic, City Manager Edy reported to the council.

DOG ROUTED BANDITS
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 20. — "Chubby" a police dog, quickly routed two bandits who attempted to rob his master, James Bates. Two Negroes stopped Bates on the street and demanded that he turn over his money. Bates said, "Sit em!" and "Chubby" lunged for the throat of the nearest one. Although one of them was armed, the two Negroes did a sprint down the street.

Palace Cafe Is Being Remodeled

Lloyd Doyle, of the Palace cafe, has remodeled and painted the inside of his place on Broadway, installed new light fixtures and generally tidying up his place. Like many other merchants of Cisco, he is going to do something about ending the depression and not wait around and wonder what's going to happen. Cleaning up the stock, with some good window displays and a steady advertising schedule, will do wonders toward good business for 1933. Several Cisco merchants are acting on this theory and are already cashing in on renewed business.

A. Zzed Lives Only In Phone Directory

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 20.—At the foot of the lists of telephones for the United States is the name of A. Zzed, of Birmingham, but it's all just a hoax—and Mr. Zzed is a non-existent person. When four Birmingham men moved into bachelor apartment some time ago, they faced the problem of paying for four listings of their telephone number. Then came the idea of a common number under a cognomen composed of a syllable of the name of each. That idea, however, was discarded when it was Jones and Brown couldn't be merged with two other names that were rather difficult to pronounce. The four thought next to adopt a name that would be first in the phone directory. That idea, too, failed when a book containing even the oddest of names failed to divulge one that started with four A's. That destroyed their hopes of muscling in above the A. A. A. Alabama Automotive Association.

So the name Zzed was decided upon. "Just look at the last number in the book," they tell friends who ask their phone number.

PARIS STYLES

By MARY KNIGHT
United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS, Jan. 20.—Red velvet evening wraps are seen everywhere these evenings where people dress for the occasion. At a theatrical premiere the other night Alice Tully the American singer looked very swanky in a long red velvet evening coat the skirt of which was shirred into two wide bands of black fox fur. She wore this over a dull black evening gown from Worth with a large white pique bow on one shoulder.
A French bride, married just before Christmas, chose the palest of pale pink Lyons velvet for her wedding gown. She was a brunette herself and the contrast was lovely. There was a bit of simple draping on the hips and a full skirt to which the train was attached. Her tulle veil was dyed the same tone, and her bridesmaids wore gowns of the same pale color in crepe with brown velvet toques gloves and shoes.
Silver brocade and tulle is considered terribly chic just now, and Worth has made a costume similar to the bride's above, in this combination. It is of silver brocade with a broad band of gray fox around the hem, and Bondel in New York chose it from Worth's last collection.

Says India Not Ready for Dominion

TEXARKANA, Jan. 20.—It will be many years before India rises to the dominion form of government enjoyed by Canada and Australia, in the opinion of Rev. W. G. Fletcher, Texarkana, who spent several months in the far east. "India has not learned to hang together," the minister said, predicting failure of Mahatma Gandhi's republican ideas and his campaign of non-resistance. As long as Moslems and Hindus are "at each other throats" there is need for British policing, he intimated. "I hold no brief for Great Britain, Rev. Mr. Fletcher said, "but wherever the Union Jack floats there are good roads, justice, religious liberty and frontier protection."
