Commissioners Court Orders Local Option Election For Aug. 26

The commissioners court, on its own initiative, has ordered a county wide election to be held August 26 to determine whether the people of Eastland county favor the sale of 3.2 per cent lager beer. In taking this action which is authorized by law, County Judge Garrett stated that there was no doubt the required number, 500, could be secured, and to save time and expense, the election was called by the court without the formality of waiting for the presentation of the petition.

This election will be held at the same time the people will vote on the 21st amendment to the Federal Constitution, which is for the repeal of the 18th amendment, and would forbid the transportation or importation of intoxicating liquors into any state in violation of the laws of such states.

At this same election people of Texas will vote on the proposed state constitutional amendments, as published in the Cisco Citizen in Eastland county.

But should the people favor the sale of 3.2 beer, this does not mean that beverages of higher alcoholic content may be sold, as there is an amendment in force to the state constitution that prohibits the sale of hard liquors and beverages of higher alcoholic content. Then, too, 3.2 beer cannot be sold before Sept. 15. So, don't get thirsty too soon, or you may have to look up your old bootlegger to satiate that thirst.

But we should not lose sight of the other matters of vastly more local importance than 3.2 beer. Each of the amendments to the state constitution directly affects every citizen of Texas. Chief of these perhaps, is Senate Joint Resolution No. 3, known as the County Home Rule amendment, providing for the merging of county and city governments. This amendment will reduce the expense of administering the affairs of both county and city administrations, and has much to merit the claim for its adoption.

Amendment No. 43 is for the purpose of determining whether the sale of 3.2 beer may be legalized, and has the same objective as the provisions of the county local option election just called by the commissioners court, which is contingent on the adoption of the state wide measure. The reason this local option election is necessary is that Eastland county was dry by local option before the 18th amendment was adopted.

Amendment No. 30 would authorize the state to issue twenty million dollars in bonds, bearing 4½ per cent, for relief work to match the federal appropriation. Texas has fought shy of state bond issues, and this amendment, the Citizen believes, has a rough and rugged road ahead. Only to secure the allotment from the federal government will it likely prevail.

Amendment No. 32 doesn't affect our people, but is being submitted to include those counties whose taxes have been remitted on account of some disaster, which were not included in the homestead amendment adopted last year exempting homesteads up to the value of $3,000, from paying state taxes, and if adopted will not apply to those counties until the expiration of that time for which the taxes have been remitted, unless before the expiration of such period the county shall certify that the need of such remission has expired.

The above is a brief sketch of the provisions of these amendments which will refresh the minds of the voters for what they are voting for or against.

The Citizen still has a few of the back numbers of this paper containing these amendments which can be secured at this office.

The Passing of Mrs. R. Q. Lee is Mourned By A Host In Cisco

DIED—Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, Mrs. Clare E. Lee, relict of the late Congressman Robert Quincy Lee, at her home in this city, age 50 years, three months and 14 days.

Though it was generally known that the health of Mrs. Lee was such that her death might be expected at any time, yet few were prepared for the shock that her passing occasioned when the dark messenger came and summoned the soul of this christian woman to her future home, that house not build by hands, eternal in the heavens. Death came while confined to a bed of illness at her home, 802 West Broadway, to which she had removed from the former family home on Avenue L, after the death of her husband who passed on while serving in the United States Congress in 1930.

The body was removed from the Green Funeral Home early Sunday afternoon to the First Baptist Church where it lay in state till the funeral hour at 4:30 in the afternoon, and where those whom she loved paid homage to the dead as with tear-dimmed eyes they looked upon her face for the last time.

Covered with rare cut flowers, mute emblems of love and esteem, the beautiful silver casket was placed beneath the altar, profuse with choice floral offering, and it was there hundreds paid their last tribute to this christian woman, whose walks in life had patterned after the Great Wayshower, who said "I am the way."

"Abide With Me"

As the casket was wheeled beneath the altar, followed by the bereaved relatives and friends who occupied seats reserved in the center pews, the choir, directed by Mrs. Leon Maner, feelingly sang "Abide With Me." The song concluded, the pastor, Rev. E. S. James, selected an appropriate scriptural reading, using the 90th Psalm: "Lord, thou hast been my dwelling place in all generations," followed by "Rock of Ages," from the choir, and a special solo, "The Old Rugged Cross," by Mrs. P. L. Ullom.

Preceding the song the pastor gave a brief biographical sketch of the character of Mrs. Lee, in which he eulogized her beautiful life, replete with usefulness and love for her church and her friends. The services were then turned over to Rev. Acker

Lake Amusement Co. Staged Spectacular Bathing Revue Sat.

What was acclaimed the most beautiful and spectacular display of feminine pulchritude, as well as the most successful bathing revue, was that staged by the Lake Cisco Amusement Co. Saturday night when eighteen of the Oil Belt's fairest exhibited the beauty and symmetry of the female form divine at Lake Cisco swimming pool.

The bathing beauties entered the stage, erected near the island in the center of the pool, through an arch of flowers. The stage, 24 by 36 feet, was amply large to enable them to be seen from every angle. The background of the stage was a bower of ferns and flowers and trellises of blossoms at each corner. Footlights were so arranged as to give the setting a perfect theater effect.

There were eighteen of the Oil Belt's fairest young women, representing business firms and establishments in this section, who participated in this revue, and were as follows:

Entrants

Miss Lucille Clements, Miss Laguna hotel; Miss Kathleen Wilson, Miss Lake Cisco Amusement Co; Miss Florence Jensen, Miss Miller-Lauderdale; Miss Dorothy Frank Reeves, Miss Gholson hotel, Ranger; Miss Leverage Purvis, Miss Nance Motor Co; Miss Lucille Burkett, Miss Cross Plains;

Cisco Business Men Are Almost Hundred Percent For N. R. A.

Cisco is practically unanimously supporting the N. R. A. program of President Roosevelt, at least the display of the Blue Eagle is indicative of such support, as all business houses authorized to display these emblems are doing so. Others, whose codes have not been adopted, or who are exempt from the provisions, and not having received their emblems, are endorsing the program, in its principles, or so express themselves.

But there is quite a bit of comment being heard about some seeking to avoid compliance with the spirit of the act. For instance, the matter of shorter hours. The spirit of the act, calling for shorter hours, does not contemplate that a business or industrial plant can be in accordance with the program simply by shortening the hours of labor without giving additional men employment. Yet, some ardent supporters of the N. R. A. are doing this very thing, the Citizen is informed. The Marsh-Fentris newspaper is boasting of its compliance with the provisions simply by reducing the hours of labor from eight to six hours a day, but no additional men have been employed.

The Citizen is informed that the Banner Ice Cream delivery truck driver is working the same hours in delivering the ice cream to its patrons. The Citizen was told that the Banner company claims this man is their outside salesman, and therefore exempt from the provision regulating the hours of labor. Others have shortened the hours for keeping their places of business open and not increasing their working force.

As the Citizen understands the provisions and purposes of the National Recovery Act was to give more people employment at increased pay. It is not complying with the spirit of the act to close your place of business just simply to keep from working your help longer than the regulations prescribe. Those responsible for the act care not how long you keep your business house open provided you have the men employed to do so without working them longer hours than the regulations called for. In fact, the closing of stores too early works a hardship upon the buying public—those who are detained at their industries till late in the afternoon or

PERRY STORE MANAGERS MET IN CISCO SUNDAY

Managers of the Perry string stores met in conference on the NRA last Sunday in Cisco, and while here were dinner guests at the Mobley of Manager Woods, of the local store. Acting upon instructions from headquarters these young men adopted the blanket code, including the opening and closing hours, increased employees where necessary, and hiking of salaries in accordance with instructions of the National Recovery Administration. The meeting was presided over by District Manager Ray Spears, of Brady. Others here attending the meeting were Mrs. Ray Spears and little son, of Brady; L. Greer and W. Jackson, of Mineral Wells; I. R. Hanna, of Eastland; U. R. Richards, of Munday; Burette Karkalits, of Albany, and I. J. Gay, Comanche.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Luker and children, living at Wichita Falls, but formerly well known citizens of the Lutheran Community, returned home Saturday after a pleasant visit here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stroebel.

early evening, and causes many merchants to miss sales. The laboring man often buys his groceries after his day's work is done. If you close your stores at 5:30 he can't do this, and will have to be put to additional inconveniences in getting his supplies.

But the Citizen is not concerned so much about early closing and late opening of the places of business, but is just calling the attention of these 100 percent N. R. A. people, who have shortened the hours without employing additional help, they can hardly be classed above 50 percent supporters, as they are violating the spirit of the regulations if not the actual letter of the program.

What the administration is interested in is providing more jobs for those without employment, at a better wage. The administration is not concerned about how soon you close your shop, or how late you open. More jobs is the objective, and if you are only complying with your agreement by increasing the pay of these now employed, and not employing additional help, if really needed, you can claim to be only supporting the act 50 percent, as you are only going half way, provided the shortening of hours was done simply to stay within the letter of the law.

M. D. Paschall Died At His Cisco Home Wednesday Evening

The passing of M. D. Paschall Wednesday at 9:30 o'clock at his home, 1006 West Ninth street, removes one of the pioneer citizens of Cisco. Funeral services were held at the family home Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock, conducted by Rev. C. O. Shugart, former presiding elder, now pastor of a Fort Worth church. His death following a continued illness of several months, though it was only several weeks ago when he became incapacitated to look after his business. Burial was in Oakwood cemetery following the services at the home.

Marion D. Paschall was born in Hopkins county, Sept. 13, 1867, and would have reached his 66th birthday had he lived till that date in September. He came to Cisco 46 years ago, and was among the earlier citizens of this city. Up to a recent date he had been in the insurance business, and had charge of the Farm Loan bank business in this section. Previously he was engaged in the mercantile business, and was a traveling salesman for several years.

During his residence in Cisco there was no man perhaps who was better known than M. D. Paschall, and he enjoyed the confidence of a large circle of friends. He was affiliated with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and the Masonic fraternity, Cisco Lodge No. 565, A. F. & A. M. officiated at the burial which was according to the ritual of that fraternity.

He was united in marriage to Miss Ella Maud Peveler May 13, 1891, who, as his widow, and three children survive, these being Criglar Paschall, Cisco; M. D. Paschall, Jr., Cross Plains, and Mrs. Frank Gaston, Dallas. Two brothers and three sisters also survive.

The active pall bearers were Judge Burette W. Patterson, of Eastland; A. Grist, J. M. Williamson, L. D. Wilson, Joe Wilson, and W. P. Coldwell, Cisco.

Mr. L. D. Mendenhall returned Monday from Dallas where he attended Mrs. Mendenhall, who is a surgical patient in the Baptist sanitarium in that city, having submitted to a major operation recently. Mr. Mendenhall reported that the general condition of his wife is favorable, but the nature of the operation would require her remaining in the hospital some time yet.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

For the Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, saying unto thee, fear not: I will help thee.--Isaiah 41:13.

Though the fig tree shall not blossom,
And the vines no fruit shall yield;
Though the olive bear no fruitage,
Neither meat be in the field;
Though the flock from fold be absent,
And no herd be in the stall;
"Yet I will rejoice," with singing,
Knowing naught but God, as All.
---Mabel H. Schroeder.

We believe, as firmly as we believe anything, that the regeneration of the natural morale, impaired by the disappointment and disillusion of these late hard years, will come about more surely and swiftly if, as we are told, our people are really turning back to the religion of their fathers for strength and help.--Gallia Times, Gallipolis, O.

N. R. A. GOING OVER BIG

The spontaneity manifested by the nation in falling in line with President Roosevelt's national recovery program is as gratifying as is the patriotic motive that inspired the act. It demonstrates the people have implicit confidence in the president, and are willing to place their trust in him to the limit. Never in a peace-time revolution have the people responded to an appeal from the white house to aid in a patriotic cause more completely. In fact, the response has been with such unanimity that one might think the nation was on a war-time footing, the patriotism could not be more complete were we marshalling our forces to drive an invading foe from our shores.

And it is meet and proper that it should be so. For in reality we are waging a peace-time war fraught with greater consequences than that of armed conflict. The country is fighting a civil war-fare that we hope will avert a catastrophe more devastating than any conflict this nation has ever been called upon to quell. For there is an unrest among the people that had almost reached the breaking point, which, had not there been a Moses reincarnated in President Roosevelt, to deliver the people from the wilderness of despond no man might have been able to foretell the dire calamity that mayhaps would have followed the acts of an hungry and despondent citizenry.

Surely the country has the same right to expect the people to support the country in the present crisis with the same patriotic enthusiasm as that which was given President Wilson when America cast its fortunes with the allies of Europe, and more reason there be, for our interest was an imaginary interest, while in the present crisis we were confronted with a condition of real danger.

Certainly we can hardly view the present situation and previous state of affairs without seeing the hand of God directing our destinies. Roosevelt, it seems, is the man of the hour, for we can only look in retrospect with a shudder of what the consequences might have been had Roosevelt been defeated.

But God has promised that "divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need," and that he will raise up a man to care for those who obey the divine commands. With these promises vouchsafed unto us we believe that now, as when he commanded Moses to deliver the children of Israel from Egyptian bondage, he has raised up a Roosevelt to lead the people of America out of the wilderness of depression and from the bondage of the capitalistic system that has almost reduced the people to a state of peonage.

WHY NOT USE RFC FUNDS

Reports from Washington state that the federal government has turned over $37,910,142 to the emergency body for distribution among the states of the Union. Is Cisco planning to secure any portion of this sum? The Citizen has urged the city administration to get busy and negotiate with the authorities to borrow RFC funds to put idle men of this city to work. When these matters come up for consideration in the commission meetings usually there is some one to register objections, and to give reasons why that particular project is objectionable to the administrators of this emergency fund. That is a bad sign, indicative of inability to cope with the situation or a following of the course of least resistance. There is no such word as can't. Everything is possible for the right person to handle. And there is always some man who can put it over. Some people delight in tackling big jobs and achieving the impossible, while others register objections and back it up with arguments, which if directed toward accomplishing the desired end would really be worth while. When these objections are raised in the commission meetings it usually ends by dropping the subject which is never referred to again, or not until another meeting.

At the last meeting of the commission F. E. Harrell stated that Cisco had used approximately $29,000 of RFC funds, with nothing permanent that we could point to as having been accomplished except the rock fence around the cemetery.

But it seems the publicity given the matter by the Citizen has had some effect, for the city commission has named a committee to work with that body for working out a plan to name projects for construction. This committee is composed of Messdames A. J. Olson, C. H. Fee and William Reagan, and Messrs. J. J. Collins, J. A. Bearman and W. H. LaRoque. The Citizen hopes that this committee will get busy and suggest some worth while projects that can be pointed to as permanent construction and not projects designed only to spend money, even thought with the laudable and kindhearted objective of giving labor employment. We hope the committee will meet all objections referred to above by obstructionists, and devise some substantial improvements that will be for the common good. Nothing, as the Citizen views it, could be more meritorious than the construction of a municipal gas plant. Surely what Rising Star and Cross Plains can do is not impossible for Cisco. Were I a member of the commission I would be slow to admit that the villages mentioned could do that which my home town, many times larger than these hamlets, could and are accomplishing.

The Citizen is aware that the administration has been told that RFC funds were not available for construction of competitive projects but that was some time ago, and different rulings have been adopted. Then, too, there is a way to overcome many obstacles. Nothing is impossible.

VISITING BROTHER IN MARSHALL, MINNESOTA

Henry Stroebel, Jr., of the Lutheran community, is in Marshall, Minn., where he is the guest of his brother, Herman Stroebel, who has been living in the bleak North for several years where he is lucratively employed as an automobile parts salesman. Despite the fact that he has a good job he writes his parents that he is getting homesick for his home in the Sunny South. Before leaving for the North Herman was with the Cisco branch of the Humble Oil Co. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stroebel, of the Lutheran community. Henry Jr., is expected to prolong his visit two weeks yet.

Cowpeas is said to be the best feed to plant on land taken out of production. Experimental work reveals that cowpeas planted during this season bring better results than other crops planted this late.

It is suggested that plowed under cotton lands be planted to peas.

Cotton plant hay makes good feed, experts say. Instead of plowing the plants under farmers can supplement their feed crop by curing the cotton plant for hay, or making ensilage.

"It is better to get nitrogen from the air by plowing in the fall seed of winter legumes than to buy it in bags in the spring."

Christian Science Church Service

"Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, August 6. The Golden Text is from Psalms 143: "Teach me to do thy will; for thou art my God: thy spirit is good."

Included with other passages from the Bible is the following from John 4: "God is a spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth."

The Lesson-Sermon also includes citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: The Scriptures imply that God is All-in-all. From this it follows that nothing possesses reality nor existence except the divine Mind and His ideas. The Scriptures also declare that God is Spirit. Therefore in Spirit all is harmony, and there can be no discord; all is Life, and there is no death. Everything in God's universe expresses Him.

"God is individual, incorporeal. He is divine Principle, Love, the universal cause, the only creator, and there is no other self-existence.

He is all-inclusive, and is reflected by all that is real and eternal and by nothing else. He fills all space, and it is impossible to conceive of such omnipotence and individuality except as infinite Spirit or Mind. Hence all is Spirit and spiritual" (p.331).

C. Miller, a former pastor for many years while deceased was one of his most active parishioners, now pastor of the Baptist Church at Belton.

Refuting the claims of the sting of death and the grave hath no victory, Mr. Miller told of the separation of Mrs. Lee with her life companion, when three years ago, in this same edifice, we paid tribute to the late Congressman Lee, and "today we know that this is the reuniting of these two, for the soul of Mrs. Lee has joined that of her life companion in God's own kingdom." Sustained by God's own grace and the christian life she had lived, Mr. Miller spoke of the fortitude with which the deceased had borne her suffering during the years preceding her death, whose approach no one realized more certainly than she. "But there was only the regret of leaving her loved ones that caused her to cling to life, as she faced the future, supported by the sure promises of Jesus that "In my Father's house are many mansions; and I go to prepare a place for you."

"Though her life had been comparatively short," Mr. Miller said, "yet hers had been a full life; full of christian work and for the welfare of her church and friends, and those with whom she was associated, a life in which she had accomplished much."

Active In Women Spheres

Mrs. Lee was not only active in church affairs, but took a great interest in civic affairs and club work, where she was always a leader among those of her sex, holding many honorable positions of preferment in the women's organizations of the state.

She was more than a wife to her late husband, being associate and adviser in the affairs of life in which he was occupied, as president of the WTCC., congressman and private citizen. Therefore with the passing of Mr. Lee her life's work was practically finished and it was meet that she should be called by the Master to rest in his own heaven, where pain and sorrow are strangers.

Born at Wall Hill, Miss., she was married in 1902 and came to Texas with her husband when the family located at Caddo, near Breckenridge, where they lived till their removal to Cisco in 1913.

The remains were laid to rest beside the grave of her husband in Oakwood cemetery at the conclusion of the funeral service. The active pall bearers being Alex Spears, Guy Dabney, J. E. Spencer, F. D. Wright, E. P. Crawford, Cisco, and Marshall Cook, Strawn.

The honorary pall bearers included many friends of the family, former business and congressional associates of Mr. Lee, among which were the names of the United States senators from Texas, Hon. Gwinn Williams, of Decatur, and others.

The survivors are Edward A. and Quincy Lee, Cisco; three step-children, R. Stein Lee and Mrs. Leonard Simon, of Fort Worth; Mrs. Ada Oehler, of Houston, and a sister, Mrs. Carradine, of Memphis, Tenn.

NIMROD BAPTIST MEET CLOSED SUNDAY NIGHT

The series of meetings which have been held at the Nimrod Baptist church came to a close Sunday night following the ordinance of Baptism administered to two Sunday afternoon. The scene of the ceremony of immersion was in a tank in the pasture of Mrs. John Brown, according to T. L. Lasater, of the Nimrod community.

"It was a very interesting meeting," Mr. Lasater said, "and one in which the people of our community manifested much interest. The preaching was by Rev. Dick O'Brien, of Colorado, Texas, and large crowds attended the services every night. Many from Cisco were seen in the congregation nightly.

"The services terminated rather suddenly and unexpectedly," Mr. Lasater stated, "as few knew that the meetings had come to an end until it was announced that Mr. O'Brien had departed for his home.

"Rev. Mart Agnew is pastor of the Nimrod church, who, with Rev. Boise, of Cisco, a recent arrival, assisted in and attributed much to the success of the meeting."

LICENTIOUS WAVE

By J. B. F. WRIGHT

This is a brief reply to the statement of Major A. V. Dalrymple, federal prohibition administrator, to Mrs. Claud D. Van Watts, state president of the W. C. T. U., in which he said no money was being spent for repeal, adding that a "repeal sentiment was sweeping the country that no power on earth could dam." We wonder if Major Dalrymple will think this any change in argument by a champion of the cause?—J. B. F. W.

There is a mighty sweeping wave
That's spreading far and wide;
Licentiousness, the masses crave,
Break in on every side.

That criminal wave is surging on,
Like billows of the sea;
Their aim before the tide is gone
Is to envelop you and me.

This mighty wave of sentiment,
For legal wine and beer,
Has flashed across the continent,
From realms from beyond somewhere.

Imagine Jesus standing there,
The pattern of the world,
With a foaming glass of lager beer,
To give your boy or girl!

Could you behold the Lamb of God,
The spotless, sinless Christ,
With staggering footsteps homeward plod;
Please think just once or twice.

They say: oh no, there is no harm—
For times have changed, you see;
Don't get excited—sound no alarm—
We need no modesty.

Where is that timid boy or girl,
Who blush at vulgar scenes?
Licentious waves now sweep the world
Flashed forth on all the screens.

Why blush or cringe at anything?
Let's join the merry throng;
We'll miss the joys that passions bring
These rights to us belong.

They don themselves in nature's dress
All garments lay aside;
To satisfy licentiousness
Virtue is crucified.

Oh, modesty, thou priceless jewel,
The seat of chastity;
Is sacrificed as passion's fuel,
To feed carnality.

The underworld is working hard,
With imps their holes are jammed;
With direct currents they are wired,
With regions of the dammed.

They touch a wire with lightning flash,
Their waves sweep o'er the world;
Their goal, the mighty morale crash,
Of every boy and girl.

The above poem was handed to the Citizen as a protest against the repeal of the 18th amendment. However, as the conditions described (mostly true) are the product of the times since national prohibition went into effect, one need not be surprised if the advocates of repeal adopt the poem as a battle song.

Burt Karkalits New Perry Store Manager

The Perry Bros. store has announced the appointment of Mr. Burt Karkalits recently of Mineral Wells, to succeed Mr. Clifton Smith as manager of the local store. Mr. Karkalits was formerly of Cisco and has been associated with the Perry Bros. stores for some time.—Albany News.

Burt is a Cisco boy, being a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Karkalits, well known Cisco folk, and the deserved promotion of this young man will be of interest to many here. Burt has been with the Perry stores only a comparatively short while, being with the store here for a few months, then being transferred to Mineral Wells, and now he is store manager.

Burt was here Sunday attending the regional meeting of the Perry managers, who were guests of Manager Woods, of the Cisco store, at Sunday dinner at the Mobley.

KENT COUNTY MAN DIED HERE SATURDAY NIGHT

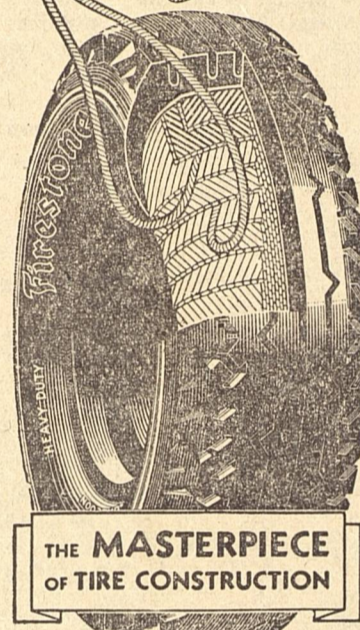

The body of George R. Rucker, about 45 years of age, of Girard, Kent county, was conveyed to that place for burial by the Wipperrn Funeral Home here Sunday afternoon. Rucker died while he and a friend from Hico were stopping at a local tourist camp, last Saturday night. The friend, a Mr. Elkin, had met him here by appointment with the intention of Rucker visiting a brother at Hico. During the night he was stricken, and a local physician and a Wipperrn ambulance were summoned. The medical man and ambulance crew attempted, without avail, to resuscitate him by artificial respiration. The attending physician gave the cause of death as diabetes.

Prize Winners

As Miss A-G Motor Co. Miss Laura Rupe was awarded first prize, a diamond ring presented by the Lake Cisco Amusement Co; as Miss Laguna Hotel, Miss Lucille Clements was second, a wrist watch; the third prize went to Miss Betty Jane Brown, as Miss Albany, who was presented a bracelet.

Starling was Original Partner in Forming Home Furniture Co.

"That was a nice story the Citizen carried last week regarding the Home Furniture Co.," said W. E. Brown, senior partner in the business. Already we have received many inquiries directly traceable to the write-up. But there was one inaccuracy. Mr. Fleet Shepard was never interested in the Home Furniture Co., but A. D. Starling helped me finance the business while he was school superintendent of Haskell. Starling invested his money in the business, which was operated by me alone until his term of office expired, and he joined me here as a partner in the business. Shepard and I were on a deal but he never became interested. Starling has been from the commencement of the business a full partner, and is today equally interested with myself. I would like this fact to become generally known as many of my old customers are somewhat backward in regard to negotiating with Starling, thinking he may not have authority to take all responsibility. Any deal Starling makes is equally as binding as if made with me," Mr. Brown concluded.

Monday the state board of education set the apportionment for the 1933-24 school year at $16 per capita. The scholastic population was estimated to be 1:570,365.

the shrubbery that was used for the base of the stage, and other courtesies.

Credit for this wonderfully successful aquatic event must be given to Mrs. Albert Hunt, who designed, planned and decorated the stage and coached the entrants. Mrs. Hunt was assisted by Mrs. Ray Judia.

Pays to Patronize Home Industry One Cisco Party Knows

The Citizen has been informed that some of our people have been the victims of itinerant mattress makers who have been soliciting work from people here. Recently one Cisco man, the Citizen was told, was threatening to file a theft charge against a mattress maker, who secured two beds from him to work over, and the owner had not seen or heard of him since. This out-of-town man claimed to have a factory in Graham, and as he offered to do the work some cheaper, and on easier terms than the home factory, he was given the job. But, the owner said, the beds had not been delivered to him yet. The Citizen has not been informed whether the theft charge was filed or not, nor have we heard whether the man ever got back his beds.

Another report came that strangers solicit orders from Cisco people by telling them they are soliciting for the home factory, and their beds are not returned. One lady from Eastland was here hunting a lost bed, and told John Cameron, manager of the Independent Factory, that the solicitor said he was working for the Cisco factory, but admitted no one she saw at the factory was the solicitor that took her order.

The Independent Mattress factory is located on East Broadway, and it is easy to find, so why not be safe and have your work done at home and save your beds?

BABY GIRL BORN TO MR. AND MRS. WEISER

Mrs. Henry Stroebel has returned from Del Rio, where she visited her daughter, Mrs. Paul Weiser and Mr. Weiser, for the past two weeks. Mrs. Weiser will be pleasantly remembered by her numerous friends and acquaintances as Miss Freda Stroebel, for several years the popular office stenographer to Cashier Alex Spears, of the First National Bank. While Mrs. Stroebel was with her daughter a baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Weiser, their first.

PLAINVIEW MAN BOOSTS WHITE STAR PRODUCTS

Mr. J. K. Stone, of Plainview, was a pleasant caller at the Citizen office Thursday evening. Mr. Stone is an uncle of J. A. Dill, who accompanied him on this visit. Mr. Stone is distributor for White Star products in the Plains country, and is most enthusiastic in his praise of the White Star gas and oils. He was here with his son for a supply when he was in Cisco.

CITIES' RIGHT TO FIX UTILITY RATES UPHELD

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 2.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals Wednesday reversed a decree of the Northern Texas District Court enjoining the city of Seymour, Texas, from enforcing minimum rates ordinances for light and power.

The Texas Electric Service Company, which furnishes light and power to Seymour and 65 other Texas communities, originally brought the suit. The company alleged that in 1928 the city constructed a $125,000 municipal power plant, then drew more than half of the company's customers, through civic appeal and a 10 per cent cut in rates.

The power company then cut rates an additional 10 per cent and the city adopted an ordinance setting its rate as a minimum. The city's contention that it was empowered by State law to enact such a minimum rate was upheld by the Circuit Court.

SERMON SUBJECT TONIGHT WILL BE "PRODIGAL SON"

Services are being held by the Fundamental Baptist Church at the corner of 13th street and Avenue E. All are cordially invited.

Subjects: Tonight (Friday), "The Prodigal Son;" Saturday night, "Who is your Neighbor?;" Sunday night, "Trust ye in the Lord."

The people of Cisco have been responding well in attending the series of meetings which are being held. The organization of a Fundamental Baptist Church was perfected last Friday night, beginning with ten members "The Lord hath given the Increase." Now we have 19 members. We are praying earnestly for a permanent location where we may worship the Lord and teach his holy word. The Bible is our only text book.

The meetings will continue through August 20th, if the Lord is willing. Come out and hear us.

Lake Gisco Hospitality Enjoyed By Baird Folk

The Baird Star last week said: Sunday July 23, was Baird Day at Lake Cisco and judging from the number of tickets issued at The Star office Friday and Saturday there was a good crowd from Baird there. Mr. Hardin, the courteous manager of Lake Cisco Amusement Company, left sixty tickets at The Star office to be given those who wanted to go to Cisco and all of these tickets were handed out in a very short time and we wrote something more than two hundred passes.
