Mass Trial of Accused Urschel Kidnapers Opens Monday

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 15 The way was cleared today for mass trial here Monday of 12 persons indicted in the kidnaping of Charles F Urschel, oil multi-millionaire.

Sweeping aside six last minute pleas of defense attorneys, Federal Judge Edgar S. Vaught blocked an attempt to move the trial from fedral court here and announced that selection of a jury would begin as scheduled Monday morning.

Meantime, with arrest here of three mysterious suspects, the feder-al government was believed to be closing in on the last of the fugitives the $200,000 ransom case —George (Machine Gun) Kelly and his wife

Harvey Bailey, Albert Bates and the other defendants were denied separate trials. Judge Vaught over ruled in quick succession a plea for abatement for Bailey in which the form of the indictment was attacked; a demurrer for Bailey similar to that for R. G. Shannon, his wife and son, of Paradise, Texas, and a motion for a seperate trial for Bailey.

A plea of "not guilty" was enter ed for Bailey.

PRICE FIXING.

The expedient of price-fixing is expected to get the next call by the NRA in its efforts to keep the recovery program moving forward under control. Inflation, for several reasons, is not apt to be tampered with. It is harder to control inflationary effects, and practically impossible to forecast them. Varying the dollar value at this critical stage might play unmitigated havoc with the whole program. The NRA will be anxious to get purchasing power in motion by a simpler and less erratic method.

Oil will probably be the first commodity upon which the price-fixing theory will be tried out. Provisions in the oil code endowing the recovery administration with the necessary authority have been rewritten to make their intent clear and unequivocal. The authority existed, but the manner in which it was stated was confusing. The problem of the recovery is a problem of equilibrium to a vital degree. Unless the program can move upon an upgrade in pari passu fashion, all its elements and effects maintaining a progressive mutuality, it will fail. Purchasing power, meaning wages, must keep step with prices or an unbalance will result to throw the entire program out of gear. For that reason, granting that there is a sound economic foundation for price advances, the arbitrary fixing of prices at a level commensurate with these economic realities may have a regulatory as well as stimulating effect. The recovery administration finds it necessary to keep prices and wages in a "guide right" formation. It must see that prices the same time assuring the manufacturer and the seller of a program functioning. price which will enable him to meet the higher overhead he has been required to assume.

SHALL ITS WORKERS PAY STATE'S BILLS?

The proposal for the state to pay interest on the warrants it gives its employes—whose salaries have been cut 25 to 35 per cent—will be before this session of the legislature, and deserves consideration.

The question is whether the state shall bear, or require its low-paid employes to bear, the burden for its failure to pay them in actual money, for its issuance of mere promises of compensation that cannot be cashed for nearly a year.

Discount on state warrants will run to probably 8 per cent by the end of the year. Bills will be offered in the legislature to require the state to pay enough interest on these due bills to make them worth their face value.

Such a plan would take a penalty of about $100,000 a destined for Albany. Its contents this month off the teachers, clerks, storekeepers, waiters, laborers, afternoon are probably dissipated all stenographers and other state employes in institutions and departments, and assume it on behalf the state where it be-

It would be advantageous to the state, as well as just to and N. E. for transportation to Breckenridge. state workers. It would enable the state to get that much better prices on the vast quantity of goods bought for state use each year. Bidders must take into account their losses on warrants, in bidding to sell goods to the state. One plan has been suggested of issuing the warrants in small fixed denominations, each bearing interest at a definite rate from issuance until called for payment. These small warrants, of $5, $10 and $20 denominations, would be expected to circulate, much as money, and at face value.

Whatever form, elementary justice and good business alike call for the state's paying its debts in warrants that are worth what they say they are worth, rather than six to eight or 10 per cent less.

If such a plan gives the state the equivalent of a year's grace to run as a cash-basis institution, so much the better. If it saves the state eight to 10 per cent on purchases, it will pay much of its cost.

From every point of view, the obligation seems to lie upon the state to make its warrants worth what they pretend to be worth. The state is better able than its underpaid employes to bear the financial burden of its debt in full.

PUBLIC WORKS LOG JAM.

Sen. Margie Neal will ask her colleagues, early in the session, to appeal to Pres. Roosevelt that he break up the log jam that is holding public works blocked in apathy and

The jam is up the line, outside Texas. Pres. Roosevelt already has expressed impatience with delays that held up this re-employment program, and prevent fulfillment of the main object of the public works act.

Texas cities and communities months ago filed applications for public works loans and the 30 per cent direct aid. These were filed with regional agencies and the state relief

Then the federal regional administrator, Clifford Jones, was named, and a state advisory board of federal functions was set up to work with him, with Ike Ashburn its chairman. Then R. A. Thompson was appointed federal engineer for Texas public works projects. The applications had to be transferred to the state committee and to Engr. Thompson. They had to be made over again. They have been given public hearings or individual review by this state committee. They have been checked and approved-many of them-and recommended by Mr.

Now it turns out that between Thompson's office and Secy. Ickes' final word, each of the detailed engineering and financial statements supporting each application must be puty county clerk. checked by some bureaucrat or official.

Meantime, thousands of Texans needing jobs hang on as the great impetus of enthusiasm and hope aroused by the half" between the county court public works act loses force in the delay. And thousands of other jobless have begun the yearly migration away from the cold states down to Texas and the South.

Still, none of the public works projects get final action eral years. She began her work at even those filed away back there with the R. F. C., before Eastland Tuesday. It's all right with this was taken over by the new national public works set-up. Specs for Mrs. "Mac" to go to East-

In other words, if public demand now breaks through the red tape and stirs action where apathy and the mass of projects now jam the program, it still would be mid-winter before very many men could be put to work.

We quote from his voluntary letter: "I had considerable trouble with my stomach. Digestion was out of the question. I got medicine which gave me only temporary

"Then I thought of taking ALL-BRAN. I started eating a cereal dishful two or three times a day.

"It has been over a year now since I ate that first dish of bran, but from that day to this I have had the pleasure of enjoying the proper functioning of the digestive organs.

"Thanks to ALL-BRAN. I still eat it regularly and like it better all the time."—Lester Bartholomew, Cadillac, Mich.

Constipation is usually due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to promote elimination. ALL-BRAN supplies both, as well as iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Certainly this food is more natural than taking harmful patent medi-cines. Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of consti-pation. With each meal in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

spend a brief vacation visiting Eve's parents. The day after their return a policeman comes to the store and asks for "Miss Bayless." Eve discovers that Mona Allen gave Eve's name instead of her own when she was questioned following an automobile accident. The affair is straightened out but Eve, humiliated by a trip to police headquarters, is resentful.

Eve is ungracious about Dick's enforced iddeness and they have frequent disagreements.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXV THE second week in September

Dick received his summons to return to work. He was to superintend construction of a group of hospital buildings in an eastern state. Work was to begin immediately and would last many months. A year at least-perhaps longer.

His departure left Eve dazed with as onishment and grief. She had not really believed he would go without her. Until the very moment when he swung aboard the train taking him away she had held steadily to the hope that he would yield to her wishes and remain in Lake City or else masterfully carry her away with him. Tears misted Eve's eyes as the train pulled out of the station. Blindly she made her way to a taxi stand. In the taxi some inner voice prevented her from yielding to the impulse to weep unrestrainedly. She was thankful for this restraint when, just as she had turned the to make a fourth at bridge.

Tasteful, adequate lighting ... more than any other single thing ... will add to the distinctive charm and cozy appearance of your home, and when electric service is the smallest item in the average family's household budget-surely you can't afford to stint its use.

Your Home Deserves

GOOD

A courteous representative will be happy to consult with you regarding your lighting arrangements. Perhaps the use of a larger lamp . . . the changing of some inexpensive fixture...the addition of a floor-plug ... or some simple rearrangement of the facilities you already have, will increase the effectiveness and attractiveness of your lighting. There's no obligation, of course; this service is free for the asking. Just telephone the Merchandise Showroom.

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule ... and adds only a small amount to your total bill?
