3 POWERS TO PURSUE COMMON POLICY

ASK CENTRAL EUROPE TO BE AT NEW TALK

(Copyright 1935 by United Press)
STRESA, Italy, April 13 — Great Britain, France, and Italy have agreed to pursue a common policy for maintenance of European peace and inviolability of existing treaties. It was said authoritatively today.

They have agreed further to invite central European countries to a conference to be held in Italy at the end of the month to reach agreements for assurance of peace in the Danube area and guarantee the integrity of Austria.

Called in a grave international emergency that threatened war, started in dejected and semi-despairing mood, the Stresa conference appeared today to have developed into a near triumph.

So great was the promise that the statesmen concerned today postponed the end of the conference until tomorrow noon.

Then they plan to issue a joint statement announcing progress and indicating their policies.

It is indicated that the peace of eastern Europe will be worked out through a series of agreements for mutual aid against an aggressor in which France, Russia and Czechoslovakia will be charter members.

GERMAN'S OFFER MAY BRING BIG TALKS
BERLIN, April 13 — Germany's offer to sign non-aggression treaties supplementing eastern European security agreements may prove a basis for talk at a big political conference to be held soon, probably at London, it was said today.

Free Electric Cooking School Opens Monday

HOME MAKING EXPERT TO BE TEACHER HERE

The Happy Kitchen Cooking School, sponsored by the West Texas Utilities company and the Daily News will open for the first of its three days of classes tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Martha McDonald, noted home economist and kitchen expert, will conduct the school and will have charge of the demonstrations. Her first class, which will be at the city hall, will begin at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The classes will be in the city hall auditorium, where there will be plenty of seats and a large stage, suitably wired for the all-electric demonstrations.

The school will be free to everyone, and all women of Cisco are invited to attend and learn short cuts which will change kitchen drudgery to pleasure and at the same time enable the housewife to serve delicious, attractive, and nutritious meals.

Ciscoans Cooperate
Piggy-Wiggly will furnish the groceries used by Mrs. McDonald on Monday. Norvell-Miller will furnish the quality meats used for the day.

Skiles Grocery will furnish both groceries and meats used in the school on Tuesday.

Paul Poe's Grocery will furnish meats and groceries used in the school on Wednesday.

Cisco Lumber and Supply company will cooperate and display paints and wall paper during the school.

Exide Battery company will feature a new line of toiletries which it has installed. House dresses suitable for wear in a happy kitchen will be featured by Altman's Style Shop. Dishes will be furnished by Collins Hardware company.

Reimer's Cleaning Plant, Cisco Steam Laundry, and the Laguna Coffee Shop are new firms added to the list cooperating.

Dean Drug company will furnish the silver used by Mrs. McDonald. The Home Furniture company will send a dining room suite to the demonstration room. A G. Motor company will furnish a new Master Six Chevrolet for the home economist.

Mayhew Brothers have asked to have their ice cream used at the school. The Cisco Steam Laundry will help to carry out the cleanliness idea stressed.

Gladiola flour distributed by J. M. Radford Grocery company, K. C. Baking Powder, Admiralty Coffee, Mrs. Tucker's Shortening, Phillips Delicious products, and dairy products of A. Z. Myrick's Dairy are other products that will be featured.

The new administration, headed by Dr. H. R. Gilles, mayor, pledged its full support in the investigation which has been under way several days. The city council ordered the new police chief, Lee Petzel, to give full cooperation to the rangers.

Since the election several have resigned from the police force. The vacancies are being filled mostly with world war veterans.

About Our Friends

Well, a very sweet morsel of gossip was ruined for this column Saturday...one that would likely have stirred up much scandal...that is it had great possibilities....We saw our good friend, Frank Walker, buying a ladies handkerchief from Miss Ellen Bacon at Garner's.... Ah, here, we thought, is an item that will certainly stir up reader interest. We could just see the excitement caused by the item when Mrs. Walker read that, "Frank Walker buying a ladies handkerchief." But just at this moment Frank found that he needed an extra penny to complete the transaction and we being a good neighbor he asked us to supply the penny which we did. Then it suddenly dawned on us that we had become a party to the transaction, and therefore, couldn't say a word about it....Frank certainly is a diplomat.... "Daddy," said little Ramona James to the Rev. E. S. James after he had just preached one of his wonderful sermons and told some very startling stories, "were those stories true or were you just preaching?"...It seems that Homer Slicker was a little concerned over the report which he had heard to the effect that J. L. (Punk) Thornoth was scheduled to lead prayer meeting on Wednesday evening. When asked about the report, Punk is said to have replied, "Well, if they think I can't do it, they are just darn mistaken!"... Prof. W. P. Bruce getting ready for Randolph Day.... Coach H. R. Garrett also busy at the same job.... Rev. J. Stuart Pearce rejoicing over a very successful gathering of Presbyterians.... We congratulate Cisco in the arrangements for a permanent camp for this denomination.... Let's give them anything they want.... Now that C. D. Phillips has gone in for softball, poor Mrs. Phillips will have to be both father and mother to that garden.... Buck Harrison talking to Frank Hurrell.... Better be careful, Frank.... he's a mighty good salesman.... Oscar Clift, Leon Maner, K. H. Pittard and J. M. Bird in a huddle.... something about $1.60.

Making People Think

Some persons of a very cynical disposition deny that the majority of people do any considerable amount of thinking. They believe that the majority go about their occupations in a routine way, doing what they are told to do, but not putting their brains on their work. They feel that when all these folks have to act as citizens, they accept with little question the things that their leaders or their favorite newspapers tell them. Their amusements, it is complained, are too passive. They watch others do things while they sit inactive in grandstand seats and at shows, without developing their originality by doing things themselves.

There are many quiet people who do a lot more thinking than they get credit for. They are not good talkers, but underneath their reticence they have shrewd ideas.

Certain forces are stirring the mentality of young folks. They go to school longer, for one thing. Many who twenty-five years ago would have quit school very early, are now going wholly or part way through high schools. There they come in contact with the larger problems of the community.

The newspapers and the churches and the radio are three great forces that are helping people to think. They show people how they limit themselves when they move around in little narrow grooves. People should feel that their chances for success and self improvement are greatly improved when they form the habit of reading one or more good newspapers. Intelligence costs practically nothing in these days, except a willingness to give one's time. Those that are too indifferent to things that are going on to give that time, pay a heavy price for their neglect.

Hobbies For Everyone

Some questioner a few Sundays ago, asked Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, through his famous service at Brooklyn, New York, which is broadcasted by radio, "if every business man should have a hobby." Dr. Cadman responded "Yes," very emphatically, incidentally admitting that his hobby was his grandchildren.

The word "hobby" used to be thought to mean usually some notion which people emphasized in a disagreeable way. It has come to refer now to some diversion or incidental occupation by which people obtain relief from daily work. The questioner above referred to might well have asked if every-one should have a hobby. If such occupations outside of one's main calling are desirable, the benefits should not be limited to business men.

The hard working old timers, and some modern folks who cultivate strenuously, would not fully approve of hobbies. They have felt that people must throw their entire energy into their daily tasks.

Yet when a person does a day's work, and then keeps at it during the hours supposed to be devoted to rest, his ideas and energy lose something of freshness. He would do well to devote some of his time to some idea which brightens his mind and sends him back to work in better mental condition.

The housewife at her pots and kettles, the wage-earner at his machine, the clerk in the store, might well also have their hobbies. It should be rather active pursuit, not merely a passive amusement where they sit still and watch other people do things. The workman who develops a fine garden, the sedentary person who plays tennis or golf, the housewife who plays some musical instrument, have each gained something more than the power in that special line. They have developed consciousness of their own skill, which should help them take hold of their usual tasks with increased confidence.

They Ate With Knives

One of those interesting little contributions of general information which fill out the tag end of newspaper columns reminds us that "the first table fork in America arrived in 1633. It came as a curiosity to Governor Winthrop and doubtless caused considerable excitement. The fork is only some 300 years old, as an article of general use, although there are occasional records in history of some one or other inventing or employing a fork, to the envy, scandal and often indignation of the community.

Well, the fork may have found it hard to stick its prongs into polite society, but in the course of time it has developed a singularly vengeful satisfaction in multiplying its form and application for the confusion of mankind.

Even a conservative assortment can bewilder a hungry guest with dinner, dessert and supper forks; fish, salad, pastry, oyster, and ice cream forks; and some one recently told of a new fork for removing the marrow from marrow-bones, this being, it is understood, a rare and appreciated delicacy.

Money Awaits Many

The absent-minded professor of song and story seems to have a rival in the field of forgetfulness—the absent-minded investor.

It is announced at Washington that the treasury has $109,000,000 due to holders of matured U. S. treasury bonds. The holders of these bonds, who paid out their hard-earned money over a period of years, seem to have forgotten all about them.

Perhaps some of them labored under the delusion that in buying the bonds they were making outright contributions to their government. At any rate, treasury officials say that only a very small percentage of this money will ever be claimed.

Forgetfulness which costs the forgetters upwards of $100,000,000 is a form of absent-mindedness which makes the legendary professor look like an exponent of the most rigid efficiency.

The Labors of Hercules Had Nothing on This

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER

United Press Staff Correspondent. AUSTIN, April 13—House members are watching to find out who is responsible for voting irregularities in their body. They have discovered numerous instances, but so far the culprit has not been identified.

If caught, his penalty will be comparatively light. A member can be expelled; an employe discharged. There is no statutory penalty to punish the offense. Bribery of a member so that he changes his own vote is punishable by a penitentiary sentence; but it is not a crime to cast his vote for him.

What would seem to be a very difficult thing to do, undetected, is really very simple. The size of the house membership of 150 and the frequent votes taken, create opportunities for vote errors.

An average of 15 to 20 votes is taken on a dull day. On some days there are many more. The number has passed 100 at one day's session. To avoid calling a roll each time, the house has a voting machine.

Each desk is connected with it by direct electric wiring. The balloting mechanism on each desk is locked. Only the member who is assigned that desk is given a key to the mechanism.

This apparently cheat-proof arrangement fails because of two weaknesses. One is that members habitually leave the mechanism unlocked. The other is a practice of permitting voting simultaneously by machine and by floor signals.

The opportunity to cheat comes when a member is away from his desk and the voting controls are unlocked. Anyone can then operate the controls.

In order to avoid returning to desks to vote, members frequently send a page to press the "yes" or "no" buttons. Others ask deskmates to do so. Strict rules prohibit such voting but it is common. It is so prevalent that seeing a page or member cast a vote for another member attracts no special attention.

There have been numerous complaints about the voting this session. Once a variance of 11 votes was reported. Frequently extra votes appear when their only value is to show a quorum present. An apparent indifference to vote cheating has increased because no legislation has been passed. The irregular votes have not changed results.

On any close vote, members call for a record. The record discloses if any absences have been voted. It also shows if any member's vote has been counted both on the machine and by floor signal. If the record vote is close, there is still another check. Any member can call for verification by old-fashioned roll call.

The house has its own system of signal voting, just as the stock exchange has its sign language. One extended finger on a lifted hand means "yes"; two fingers, "no."

The signal usually is accompanied by an oral vote. Such votes are noted on a slip. Their totals then are added to the machine totals to get the result. Floor signals are used for two purposes. They permit members to wander about the house to confer or argue. They also give floor leaders an opportunity to "lead."

The Blue Eagle is a sorry substitute for the American eagle, in the opinion of Rep. Joe Greathouse of Fort Worth. "The American Eagle is the only one I know," he told the house. "There is no substitute for it." His particular Blue Eagle complaint was the NRA codes were being used to prevent competitive bidding on state work.

Expenditures of this legislature will set a new high mark at $10,000,000 more than those of the last preceding legislature, Rep. Alf Roark of Saratoga has computed. He compared old appropriations and those now proposed. With a warning to fellow members to become more economical, he cited numerous new state activities being fostered, as well as increases in expenditures of existing boards, bureaus, divisions, commissions and departments. Rep. Harry N. Graves of Georgetown, one of the legislature's uncompromising drags, was given a complimentary resolution in the house on his 58th birthday. Two leading "wets" introduced it.

report was spread upon the journal, so that it can be voted on at any time; but it has never been called up. It will probably lie there until adjournment. Sen. Ben G. Oneal, by a vigorous fight in committee, secured a favorable senate committee report on another bill in Tennyson, that to change the "not less than" 10 per cent earnings of utilities "to not over 10 per cent. The house had given this bill more than 120 votes.

Saving of $50,000 in the cost of printing Texas relief forms since the board of control took over relief work, as part of a $300,000 saving on the state's whole printing bill in 15 months, was announced by the board of control. The saving has been made by continuing on the old low-bill prices of contracts which expired 15 months ago, and has been possible through the extension of the old prices.

When new bids were to be taken at the end of 1933, uncertainty as to the printing code, then in process made new bids impossible. Later, as the code was matured, estimated increases in the proposed cost of state printing ran as high as 100 per cent. The board waited until after the code had been adopted, then began to consider calling for new bids; but was warned by the code authorities that any bidder for state work below the code price would be prosecuted. That meant that all quotations would be identical, and there would be no "lowest" bids.

Under terms of the law, the board of control had power to continue the existing contract terms on purchases, and the difference between the old prices and current prices represents the savings estimated by the board. The state's annual bill for printing, stationery and office supplies runs nearly half a million dollars.

She knew this very capable detective wouldn't be fooled by any casual falsehoods which Mr. Mahoney might think up in order to give her a fictitious background to account for her past history. She knew this detective would make a microscopic investigation and that, within a day or two, at the most, he would be able to pierce the secret of her past, but she tried to smile at him bravely and said, "I will give you my word of honor, Sergeant, that I never saw, heard from, or knew Harry Felding until the afternoon of the day prior to his murder."

TEXAS TOPICS

AUSTIN, April 13—Rep. Charles H. Tennyson's bill to make natural gas pipelines common carriers, and thus subject them to state regulation, has a chance to consideration by the senate, but to all practical effect, the bill is dead without consideration in the upper branch.

It was passed overwhelmingly in the house, and the strong impetus that shot it across the corridor aroused hopes of its author for action in the senate. But the bill was reported out adversely 10 to 3, in minority giving notice of a report in an effort to put the bill on the calendar. The routine motion to print on minority menacing fingers. The man followed slowly, matching her retreat by advancing step for step, his eyes glittering, his lips twisted back from his teeth. Suddenly Millicent's eyes fastened on the gun which Sergeant Mahoney had handed her and which still lay on the table by her bed. She jumped toward it, grabbed it in her hand and screamed, "Get back or I'll shoot!"

The masked man froze into immobility, staring at the gun. Millicent held it, not by the butt, but with her fingers clasped around the barrel, and she was careful to keep the muzzle pointed at the masked intruder.

"I mean it!" Millicent screamed. "I'll shoot!" Abruptly the closet door opened. Sergeant Mahoney's cheery voice said, "Well, I guess that's about all, Buchanan."

The masked man dropped his threatening attitude. Before Millicent's startled eyes he raised his hands, removed his mask and showed her Detective Buchanan's rather creditable countenance.

"I felt certain she didn't know how to use a gun when I handed her this one," Sergeant Mahoney said. Millicent felt her knees growing weak. She sat down on the side of the bed, staring dazedly from Sergeant Mahoney to Detective Buchanan.

Sergeant Mahoney put a kindly hand on her shoulders. His left hand took the gun. "I'm sorry," he said, "that we had to make such a test, but I felt certain you didn't know how to use a gun. The person who killed Harry Felding was an expert pistol shot. There were no powder marks on the body, indicating that the person must have been some little distance away, yet the single shot sped true.

"I handed you this gun a little while ago and the way you started to reach for it convinced me you didn't know anything at all about shooting."

"That's all right, sister," he told her, patting her back.

Millicent liked the feel of his arm about her shoulders. For a moment or two she gave way to tears. Then, as the tension was relieved, she straightened, dabbed at her eyes with her handkerchief, arranged her hair with the tips of her fingers, and laughed nervously. "What a baby you must think I am!" she said. "Indeed we do not," Sergeant Mahoney told her. "You're one of the gamest little trowsers I've ever encountered. Buchanan made a realistic job of that attack, and it was a terrific shock to you, coming on top of other things you've had to contend with."

She stood up, crossed to the mirror, dabbed powder on her face and touched her hair with a comb. "Now then," Sergeant Mahoney said, "let me give you my impressions, Miss Graves. I'm virtually convinced that you went out in Bob Caise's car last night. I think you ran out of gas and walked back come. I think your clothes got soaked in the rain. I think you found yourself unable or unwilling to enter the house."

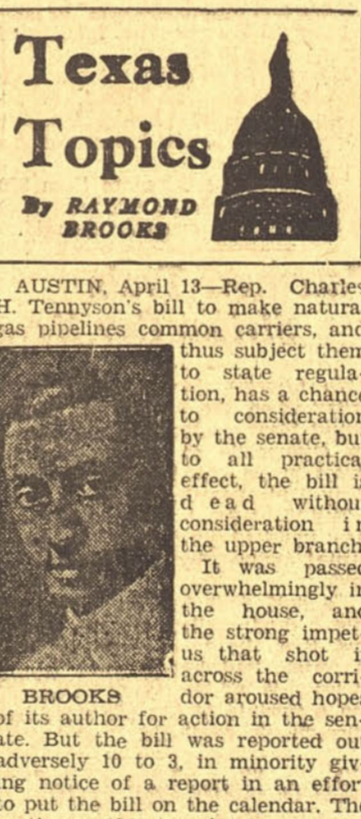

"Anyway, you went back to Harry Felding's room. Why you went there is something I've got to know. I don't know it yet. You heard what Detective Buchanan said about the mask being smashed. I saw the look on your face when the first mentioned the fingerprints and then again, when he said the mask had been smashed. I'm absolutely satisfied those were your prints on that flask and that you knew it."

"However, I don't think you had anything to do with Harry Felding's death. There's a possibility that you went to his room after his death. There's also a possibility that you were there before his death and that someone shot him while you were present. The more I think of the case the more I'm inclined to that latter theory. I am wondering if there wasn't something between you and Harry Felding—something in your past history that would account for a relationship between you. I am wondering if you didn't go into his room to see him; if, perhaps, you weren't either talking with him or perhaps embracing him when some other woman, actuated by jealousy, fired a shot and killed him."

"What have you to say to that?" She was fast recovering her self-possession. "I," she said, "have nothing to say to anything."

"Silence will be taken as an admission of guilt," Buchanan said and started to say more, but Sergeant Mahoney whirled on him. "Keep out of this if you please, Detective. I seldom interrupt another man's questioning and I don't like another man to interrupt mine."

He turned to Millicent. "I'm going to tell you something," he said ominously. "I'm going to check up on your past record. I'm going to dig into it and find out where you were and what you were doing every minute of the time during the past five years. I'm going to find out where you worked, where you lived, who your friends were, who wrote to you, and to whom you wrote. I'm going to put your life under a microscope, and when I do that, I think I'm going to uncover something that will point to an affair of some sort between you and the dead chauffeur. Does that mean anything to you?"

Softball Season To Open Here Officially On Monday

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Looking back over 1934, as is considered permissible at this season, one is struck by certain inescapable conclusions which might never occur to anybody who didn't take that look.

The lessons to be drawn from 1934 as it was lived in Washington are:

1. So many things happened so rapidly that one tends to date them way off back in some other year.
2. No end of things happened which seemed tremendously important and significant at the time, but now don't seem to have made the least bit of difference.
3. That second point, fortunately, doesn't seem to apply to everything.

To most of us here, the devaluation of the dollar to 59 cents seems to have happened back in 1927 or some such time, but it was really only last January. That was either going to bring us back to prosperity or plunge us over the brink of chaos, but Roosevelt is still sore at Professor Warren because so few of us were ever able to notice any effects.

Russia sent us an ambassador and Roosevelt obtained tariff treaty powers, both of which events meant a great expansion of foreign trade—for which we're still scanning the horizon.

Threatened steel and automobile strikes were settled and in the next two or three months they'll have to be settled again.

DR. TUGWELL made lengthy trips to Puerto Rico, the far west, and Europe and on each occasion his enemies spread the word around that he was being eased out of the New Deal.

Dr. Tugwell is in more solidly with the White House than ever and plans future trips, which will be the occasion for similar rumors.

Several crises arose wherein Roosevelt stood at the crossroads and was compelled to decide once and for all whether he would turn "right" or "left."

Other disappointments or fiascos included the housing act, which was going to put 5,000,000 men and billions of dollars at work; the $140,000,000 loans to industry measure, which still leaves small industrialists howling for credit; the Dr. Wirt Rod case; the airmail mess; and nationalization of silver.

GAME THE greatest drought in history, but where is it now? You're feeling the effects in some food prices, the government appropriated $525,000,000, and farm income leaped about a billion dollars for the year.

The bankers threw up a white flag to the White House in hope of avoiding central banking legislation. The "power trust" was spanked an average of once a week, with actual damage to profits.

General Johnson and Miss Robinson left the NRA, whereupon a pul motor squad undertook to rescue it from the stranglehold of greedy industries and the patient is given some chance to survive as an agency for supervising business.

ROOSEVELT appointed a "radical," Marriner S. Eccles, as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board and federal control over the banks was quietly expanded. Came November's elections which heartily endorsed Roosevelt while repudiating more conservative forces, gave Upton Sinclair a Democratic nomination and $50,000 votes, and won for such assorted "radicals" as Olson, La Follette, Cutting, Bibbo, and Huey Long almost as often as they contested against conservative Democratic opponents.

SCHEDULE FOR MAJOR LEAGUE IS ANNOUNCED

Cisco's softball season will open officially for the city major league Monday with Randolph playing the Loboes and the Daily News meeting the W. O. W.

The collegians and the Loboes will battle it out on the Randolph diamond, while the journalists and the Woodmen will open hostilities at Chesley park. Both games will begin at 6 o'clock.

The three other clubs of the league and Randolph will play Wednesday, when the college takes on the Nance club at Chesley park, and the City meets Garner's at the Grammar school.

There will be seven clubs in the league, it was announced today by Rex Page, league committee chairman, following certification to him of team rosters. The seven will be Randolph College, Nance Motor, Garner's, City, Daily News, W. O. W., and the Loboes, a club composed principally of high school boys.

The schedule for the first half of the season was worked out by the league committee, to run from April 15 to May 27. It will call for the use of three diamonds and three playing days a week.

Smoking Marathon Lasts Over An Hour

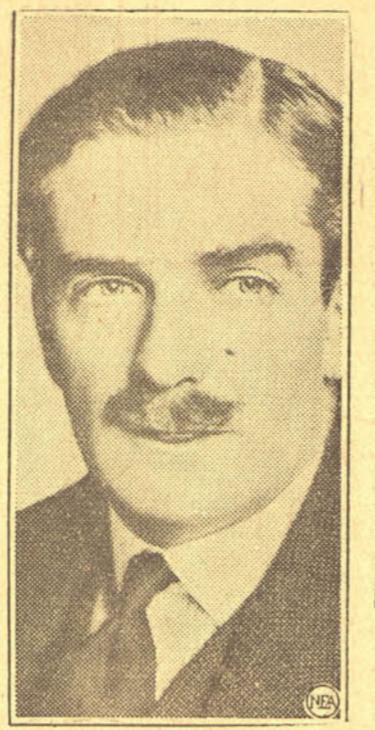

LONDON, April 13.—One heroic woman and 23 men grimly and cautiously smoked pipes in a competition here to see who could make one last the longest.

Rather self-consciously, the one brave woman and the 23 men ranged themselves before a thousand spectators in the Covent Garden Opera House, determined to make one-twelfth of an ounce of tobacco last as long as they could.

One-twelfth of an ounce just about fills an ordinary sized pipe, and the competitors were allowed just three matches with which to light it. Weird and wonderful were the pipes they used in an effort to make the smoke last as long as possible.

Delicate Puffing
Thin wisps ascended to the roof, more accustomed to catching some operatic sopranos' high C than whiff of "bacy, as the 23, not forgetting the solitary woman, puffed delicately.

Britain's Ace In Peace Game

Captain Anthony Eden, lord privy seal of Britain, is the youthful roving ambassador in whose diplomatic ability rests much of Europe's hope for peace. His rapid rise into the innermost international councils of Europe when not yet 38 years old is the sensation of recent political history, marked by his fight for an effective League of Nations and for disarmament.

THREE CATFISH COST $25
COSTONIA, O.—Three catfish Oscar Margo caught in the Ohio River cost him $25. He was fined that amount for catching 23 fish when 20 is the Ohio game law limit.

ALIMONY SHOWS PROSPERITY
CLEVELAND—Alimony payments here for March reach a three-year high, according to County Clerk John J. Busher. He said it was a prosperity note.

Sailors Come Into Contact With A New Type Of "Relief Racketeering" On Seas.

By SYL MACDOWELL
United Press Staff Correspondent

ABOARD S. S. SANTA ELENA, "Relief racketeering" has spread to the high seas. Many snips plying trade lanes past the Bahamas report that during the past year the inverted ensign—international signal of distress—has been sighted in these waters.

The "distress" ship usually is a banana schooner, or a sponge fisherman. Putting a small boat overboard and halting passing craft, the "spongers" refrain is usually the same.

His craft, short-provisioned for a short, inter-island passage, is becalmed. His crew, foodless for several days, is starving. The water butts are empty and there is not even tobacco aboard.

Investigation invariably proves the truth of such claim, shipmasters say. And age-old etiquette of the sea obliges the halted ship to break out stores for the "distress" mariners, without cost.

Returns to Port
When the mercy ship has passed the becalmed craft catches the first breeze and returns rejoicing to her port.

It is something new in piracy, British and American, have been distress-signaled, as well as men-of-war, under various flags. And the nice part— from the canny seamen's point of view—is that nothing can be done about it.

DESIGNED SCENERY
SANDUSKY, O.—Lloyd F. Weninger, a native Sanduskyan is the designer of the scenery to be used in production of "All's Well That Ends Well" in the Shakespeare Memorial Theater, Stratford-on-Aven April 23, Shakespeare's birthday. Weninger is scene designer of the drama department of the Carnegie School of Technology, Pittsburgh.

FINDS WATCH
PORT CLINTON, O.—A watch Carlton Taylor, of Toledo, had lost two years ago at Camp Perry, near here, seat of the National Rifle matches and National Guard summer training post, was found recently by Col. Harry Kerr, keeper of property at the reservation. The timepiece was on the firing line of the 1,000-yard range, where Taylor had dropped it while firing with the Toledo Rifle club.

PIPE CLUB POPULAR
WILSON, N. C.—The year-old "Smoke A Pipe" club has become a leading organization on the Atlantic Christian college campus. Strictly stag, its purpose, among other things, is to "develop that sense of tranquility that comes to every devoted smoker of the pipe."

ASKS "NO FUSS"
BELLAIRES, O.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt doesn't want "any fuss" when she comes here May 21. A visit to a coal mine is all she asks she wrote.

XXth Century Club Observes Texas Day With A Seated Tea

Featuring Mrs. Joseph Perkins of Eastland and Mrs. Foy Proctor of Midland, the Twentieth Century club observed its annual Texas day program with a seated tea Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. William Reagan, who presented them to the following ladies that formed the receiving line: Mrs. E. P. Crawford, Mrs. J. T. Anderson, Mrs. C. C. Jones, Mrs. P. F. Shepard, Mrs. Homer Slicker, and the visiting guests, Mrs. Joseph Perkins, Mrs. James Horton of Eastland, Mrs. M. H. Hageman, of Ranger, and Mrs. Meridith of Moran, and Mrs. Foy Proctor, Mrs. Rawlings Clark of Midland, Mrs. J. B. Cate directed the guests to the tea table where a yellow and white color scheme was carried out in all appointments.

The president, Mrs. E. P. Crawford, introduced Mrs. Foy Proctor, soloist, and her accompanist, Mrs. Rawlings Clark; and Mrs. Joseph Perkins, the speaker, who gave the following program: a group of negro spirituals, "Lil' Black Rose," "De Ole Ark's A-Movin'," by David Guion, and "Mah Lindy Lou," by Sally Strickland; "Ma Little Banjo," by Arthur Rutherford; a group Charles Wakefield Cadman's compositions, "The Land of the Sky Blue Water," "The White Dawn Is Stealing," "Far Off I Hear a Lover's Plute," and "The Moon Drops Low," all sung by Mrs. Proctor; the address, "Texas," was given by Mrs. Perkins.

Mrs. Proctor delighted her audience with her beautiful voice and winsome manner. Mrs. Perkins, is the capable president of the Sixth District of Texas Federation of Women's clubs. Her inspiring address with its appeal for emulation of the patriotism of our forefathers, was heightened by her charming personality. At the close of the address, Mrs. Perkins urged all loyal Texans and club women to attend the Sixth district convention of the TFWC to be held in Alpine next month. This occasion gave the 100 guests an opportunity to visit the library, and also enjoy the program in the club rooms.

American Legion To Have Buffet Supper

The American Legion and Auxiliary will have a buffet supper Monday evening at 8 o'clock and Tuesday they will celebrate the sixteenth anniversary of the American Legion with a musical program at the Legion hall. All Legionnaires and Auxiliary members with their families are invited to attend. The announcement was made by Leon McPherson.

Mrs. Roosevelt Ready for Easter

This exclusive pose of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt shows the First Lady of the land is ready for Easter. Her Milgrim frock is part of the wardrobe in which she will preside over

White House Easter festivities. It is made of a very fashionable small print, white on black. The triple-pleated collar is edged in red and the belt is of red patent leather.

Woman's Council To Observe Period Of Prayer and Denial

The Woman's Council of the First Christian church will observe the Easter week of Prayer and Self Denial, beginning April 15 through April 19.

The general theme is "Back of the Cross—God". Services as follows: Tuesday, "Jesus, The Revelation of God" will be the devotional subject at each circle meeting. Wednesday at 10 a. m. at the church, devotional subject: "Jesus Reveals the Supreme Law of Life," presented by Mrs. Frank Bond in the Hickok Camp at 3 o'clock. Circle Two will meet in the home of Mrs. Crawford, 1101 West Sixth street. Circle Three will meet in the home of Mrs. Sue Bradshaw at West Fourth and F avenue.

The W. M. U. of the First Baptist church will not meet in circles this week because of the District meeting held Tuesday and Wednesday.

The W. M. S. of the First Methodist church will meet at 3 o'clock with Mrs. Frank Turner, 1302 West Tenth street.

Back After Forty Years

Styles don't change so much after all, as this reflection from the past proves. The 1935 poke bonnet (left) has a brim on it but still sits on the back of the head like grandma's (right) did back in 1895.

Officers Named At Meeting of Fidelis Class Friday Night

New officers were elected Friday evening at the meeting of the Fidelis class of the First Baptist church at the home of Mrs. Asa Skiles. Those to resume office are: president, Miss Marie Pratt; first vice president, Miss Martha Bess Johnson; second vice president, Miss Lillian Caldwell; third vice president, Miss Wilma Masca; secretary-treasurer, Miss Blanche Matthews; stewardship chairman, Miss Ovell Lee; group captains, Misses Jennie Lee Matthews, and Ruby Lee Blanton.

The rooms were attractively decorated with white hydrangeas and red tulips. Games were played and an evening of conversation was enjoyed by the guests. Following a delicious salad course served by the hostess, Mrs. Skiles, the members left to go to the theater.

Mrs. Pratt Hostess To Cresset Members

Cresset club members were guests Thursday of Mrs. J. B. Pratt for a bridge party in her home on West Sixth street, where guests played games of bridge in rooms gay with a decoration of roses. Mrs. H. L. Dyer was awarded high score prize and Mrs. R. C. Hayes drew high cut. Soft Easter shades were revealed in a delicious refreshment plate and served to Mesdames George Atkins, K. N. Greer, R. C. Hayes, Vance Littleton, L. C. Moore, Oran Shackelford, H. L. Dyer, and J. B. Pratt.

Easter Theme Used At -8 Club Party

An Easter theme was beautifully carried out in all accessories for bridge Thursday evening when Mrs. Arthur Cunningham entertained members of the -8 club in her home. Miss Agnes Bearman won high score prize and Mrs. Dexter Shelley won low prize.

A delicious salad plate was served members, Misses Ora Bess Moore, Lucine Lewis, Laura Lou Waring, Ida Mae Collins, Ester Hale, Tilda Bell Simmons, Viola LaMunyon, Wilma Thomas, Agnes Bearman, Catherine Cunningham, Mesdames R. N. Chuck, and Dexter Shelley.

Tulips, Snapdragons Form Decorations

Forming a background for the three tables of contract bridge, lovely tulips and snapdragons adorned the home of Mrs. Charles Brown, 1009 West Sixth street, when she was hostess to the Pivot club Thursday afternoon.

High score prize, a silver compote, was won by Mrs. Rosell Daniel, and refreshments of olives, angel food cake and coffee were served to Mesdames Blanche Carter, K. H. Pittard, J. H. Brice, J. A. Bearman, Charles Trammell, James Moore, Will St. John, T. P. O'Brian, R. L. Fensler, Guy Dabney, A. C. Green, and Rosell Daniel.

Uncle Sam Bars Pretty Niece

American film fans may welcome charming Katherine De Mille, above, to their hearts, but the government itself seems a bit more technical. Since someone spelled her name "Lester" as "Letter" when she arrived from Canada 14 years ago, immigration authorities are withholding citizenship papers from the director's adopted daughter until she proves she entered under her own name.

Personals

Among those from other towns attending the Twentieth Century club tea Friday were: Mesdames Lexie Dean Robertson and William Tyler of Rising Star; J. D. Meriath of Moran, L. H. Hageman, O. D. Phillips, of Ranger Will Martin, Earl Conner, C. U. Connelley, Joseph Perkins, James Horton, Sam Butler, B. E. McGlamery of Eastland; and W. H. Green and W. G. Webb of Albany.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fee of Colorado City arrived in Cisco last night from a week's trip in Houston. They are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fee this weekend.

Homer Schrimsher of Abilene was a business visitor in Cisco Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Spears attended the funeral of Mrs. W. T. Reynolds in Albany Friday. Mrs. Reynolds was the cousin of Mr. Spears.

Mrs. Foy Proctor and Mrs. Rawlings Clark of Midland, who have been visiting Mrs. Charles Brown, returned to their home Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Jacobs of Rising Star visited friends and relatives in Cisco Saturday.

Frank Parks, R. A. Gresham, and Grady Owen of Eastland, were visitors in Cisco Friday night.

Dean Logan of Dallas was in Cisco Friday on business.

LeRoy Rushing of Brownwood is the weekend guest of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Olson.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Reiner, Mr. David Horn of St. Louis, Mrs. W. A. Myrick Sr., and Russell Myrick of Lubbock, E. H. Henderson and T. J.

SISTER MARY'S RECIPES

BY MARY E. DAGUE NEA Service Staff Writer

I've noticed that the women who have reputations for being fine cooks are the ones who have the best sense of fitness about what to serve for dessert. Probably because it's the dessert, being the last thing eaten, that's longest remembered, and if it doesn't fit the meal, even the finest effort may be a flop.

Contrast is essential in desserts. With rich main courses, something simple is always in the best of taste. With frugal main courses, a pudding or a cake with sauce suggests itself.

When I serve a square of fruit cobbler with plenty of good milk or light cream over it, I know it provides a lot of nourishment. Since it can be served hot for luncheon, I let the weather determine the temperature of the other foods in the menu. If the April shower ends and the sun comes out like summer, a salad and sandwiches precede the cobbler. If the weather reverts to March a cup of hot bouillon or a bowl of cream of mushroom soup is heartening and takes the place of the salad.

The luncheon cobbler uses up left-over fruit. Strawberries would be quite as good as cherries with the pineapple.

Cherry-Pineapple Cobbler Two cups canned cherries, 1 cup diced pineapple, 1-2 cup chopped nut meats, 2 cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup sugar, 4 tablespoons shortening, 1 egg, 3-4 cup milk.

Brain cherries. Put fruit in a buttered shallow baking dish and sprinkle with 1-2 cup sugar. Sift 1 tablespoon flour over nuts. Mix and sift remaining flour with salt, remaining sugar and baking powder.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Stewed rabbit, cereal, cream, crisp broiled bacon, prune muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Cream of mushroom soup, lettuce sandwiches, cherry and pineapple cobbler, milk tea.

DINNER: Larded calf's liver, rice potatoes, spinach in lemon butter, stuffed pepper salad, caramel ice, milk, coffee.

Cut in shortening Beat egg until light and cut into dry mixture with milk. Add nuts and mix thoroughly. Drop batter by spoonfuls over fruit and bake thirty minutes in moderate oven (375 degrees F.). Cut in squares and serve warm with sugar and cream. If the spoonfuls are dropped over the fruit about an inch apart the crust is easily divided for serving.

Cream of Mushroom Soup One-half pound mushrooms, 4 tablespoons butter, 2 slices onion, 1 cup boiling water, 2 cups milk, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons flour.

Wash mushrooms and chop very fine. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in sauce pan, add onion and simmer over a low fire for five minutes. Remove from butter and drop into milk until ready to make sauce. Add mushrooms and butter, cover closely and simmer ten minutes. Add water, cover and cook thirty minutes. When ready to serve, melt remaining butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Remove onion from milk before adding to soup. Add salt and pepper and bring to the boiling point. Add to mushrooms, boil up once and serve.

Most Of Hollywood's Directors Formerly Were Actors For Journalist Says Survey

By ALEXANDER KAHN
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD April 13 — What did some of Hollywood's most famous directors do before they entered the film industry? Most of them were actors or newspapermen, a survey shows.
Richard Boleslawski, now one of the film colony's best directors and a writer as well, was an actor, a stage director and a Polish army officer prior to coming to America.
George Cukor stepped out of the army in 1919 into a job as assistant stage manager of "The Better Ole." Jack Conway always has been associated with the stage or screen.

Roy Del Ruth a Philadelphia reporter and sketch artist. He covered the Willard - Johnson fight in Havana in 1913. He started in pictures as a writer.
Victor Fleming, always interested in photography, entered motion pictures as a cameraman and was graduated into the ranks of directors.
Tay Garnett was a newspaperman, artist and magazine writer before becoming a scenarist in 1920.

Leland Gowling is another who has been with the stage or films all his life. He made his debut on the London stage when he was 12.
E. H. Griffith was a playwright and actor before becoming a movie director. William K. Howard was a sales manager.
Robert Z. Leonard studied to be a mining engineer, but became an actor after singing in a college quartet.
Frank Lloyd, an orphan, drifted around the world working at dozens of jobs. He was a clerk, post-hole digger, stage manager, stage coach driver, farmer and actor.
Charles Reisner was a songwriter, and George Seitz a playwright.
J. Walter Ruben was a writer for papers, magazines and films. Richard Thorpe began as a vaudeville stock actor.
The career of W. S. Van Dyke has been the most varied of all. He has been a lumberjack, logger, stage driver, grocery clerk, express man, ranger, newspaperman and explorer.

SISTER MARY'S RECIPES

BY MARY E. DAGUE

NEA Service Staff Writer

DISCOVERED a whole flock of new ways to use horseradish the other day and was glad as glad! Because there's a kind of tonic tang to the seasoning that I like at this time of the year. Did you ever try horseradish sauce, hot or cold, with boiled fish? It's nice.

Horseradish helps certain veal, pork and ham dishes, too. And as for many of our best-known vegetables, you'd hardly recognize them with little grated horseradish on them. Try that with spinach for instance, or green beans.

Four tablespoons of prepared horseradish added to two cups of rich cream sauce does things for steamed fish. Make the sauce thicker than usually wanted for serving because the horseradish will thin it.

Horseradish cream and horseradish butter are delicious with roast beef, roast veal, baked ham and broiled fish. An attractive way to serve with baked ham for a party when the plates are served in the kitchen is to put it in a lemon cup. And sometimes I freeze the cream.

Horseradish Cream
One-half cup whipping cream, 4 tablespoons prepared horseradish, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1-4 teaspoon salt.
Chill all ingredients as well as bowl and beater. Whip cream until firm. Add remaining ingredients and serve or put in freezing tray and freeze.

Horseradish Butter
One-half cup butter, 2 tablespoons fresh grated horseradish, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1-2 teaspoon salt.
Mix fresh grated horseradish, lemon juice, sugar and salt. Work butter with a fork until creamy.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, cereal cooked with dates, cream, crisp broiled bacon, muffins, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON: New carrot puree, toast sticks, onion sandwiches, rhubarb tapioca pudding with custard sauce, grape juice.
DINNER: Baked cottage ham, horseradish cream, mashed sweet potatoes with marshmallows, broccoli, tomato and celery salad, cottage pudding with maple sauce, milk, coffee.

Beat in horseradish mixture and continue beating until thick and white.

Cottage Pudding with Maple Sauce
Four tablespoons butter, 1-2 cup granulated sugar, 1 egg, 1-2 cup milk, 1-2 cups flour, 2 1-2 tablespoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 6 halves of canned peaches.
Sauce: Whites 2 eggs, 3-4 cup maple syrup.

Cream butter and gradually beat in sugar. Stir in 1-2 cup sifted flour and add egg well beaten. Mix and sift remaining flour, salt and baking powder and add alternately with milk to first mixture. Put peaches in a well buttered shallow baking dish, pour over batter and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for thirty minutes. Cut in squares and serve warm with maple sauce.

To make sauce beat whites of eggs until stiff. Cook syrup until it forms a soft ball when a few drops are tried in cold water or if you use a thermometer it should register 238 degrees F. Add syrup gradually to egg whites beating constantly.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Pity the poor British ambassador! The specter of an imminent new European war and ghosts of the last great world conflict are worrying him simultaneously.

Investigators for the Senate Munitions Committee are closing in on the House of Morgan, chief wartime bankers and agents for England in this country. Certain committee members suspect that international bankers, their loans endangered by threat of allied defeat, were a factor in getting us into war with Germany.

The investigation began by approaching the "small fry." They sought wartime records of a big, nationally-known New York bank, one of the British government's minor fiscal agents.

The big bank stalled. It took the matter up with Britain's embassy here.

Sir Ronald Lindsay, the big six-foot-six ambassador, stormed down to the State Department for a secret huddle with Secretary Hull. He protested vehemently.

The State Department has advised the committee of the protest, but has brought no pressure to stop its activity. The bank will capitulate—or there'll be a hot, interesting fight.

Of course if the smaller bank can avert inspection of its files, so can the Morgan firm. And senators will still be left guessing as to what extent, if any, foreign governments pumped in war propaganda through their American bankers.

So many yarns have been told to explain the switch of certain senators—especially concerning Bob Wagner and Bob LaFollette and usually reflecting on their good faith—from eye to eye on the McCarran "prevailing wage" amendment to the works bill that it's in order to tell the inside story.

The amendment passed Feb. 21 by a one-vote margin, made possible by an absurd combination of progressives, who wanted the president's next-year four billion dollar work-relief program with the assurance that its proposed subsistence wages wouldn't break down wage rates in private industry, and conservatives—mostly Republicans—who hoped to wreck the program.

Four men who had voted for the amendment—Black, Wagner, and Costigan, Democrats, and LaFollette, Progressive—went into secret conference.

They agreed it was vital to pass the bill, that they had voted in concert with enemies of labor and the unemployed, who opposed the big expenditure, and that they must find some way out of the jam which left the program suspended in mid-air.

They called in Pat McCarran of Nevada and explained that the situation had played into the hands of anti-New Dealers.

Where did Pat stand on that? Well, it appeared Pat himself wasn't worrying about that.

President Bill Green of the A. F. of L. and John Lewis of the mine workers were called in as the quartet worked out a compromise amendment which provided "prevailing wages" for public building and certain other public work and left the rest to presidential discretion.

Administration Leader Joe Robinson was advised and took the compromise to the White House, where Roosevelt at first flatly refused to accept it. The group then prevailed on Robinson to prevail on Roosevelt, which he did—and the new amendment was introduced by Russell of Georgia and passed.

Are You Proud of Your Credit Standing?

This Is The BANK that SERVICE Is Building

Credit Standing?

Successful business men jealously guard their credit rating. They realize the tremendous value of promptness in the payment of their obligations, and of adequate bank balances.

Some men are thought to have a credit standing far beyond their financial ability to pay, while others with more capital are less favorable credit risks. The difference is not in capital but in character.

And credit, like character, is a matter of building. The young man should begin the building of his credit wisely by selecting a good bank and staying with it; by meeting every financial obligation promptly; by keeping well within his income, and by saving a part of every dollar he earns.

Stock And Ranges Of Texas Improve Slightly; Very Poor in West Texas

AUSTIN, April 13 — Texas cattle ranges improved eight points during March 61 per cent of normal on April 1. It was shown in the monthly range and livestock report of the bureau of agricultural economics.

This compares with 53 per cent a month ago, 74 per cent a year ago, and 81.8 per cent the 10-year average on April 1. On an average, cattle ranges improve 2.6 points during the month of March. Despite the better than average improvement during March this year, cattle ranges remain in poor condition due to a deficiency of sub-soil moisture.

Range prospects remain very poor in the northwestern and western portions of the state. Very little rain fell over these areas during the past month. The rain that fell consisted only of light, local showers. The cold dry winds and dust storms in these areas were very detrimental to ranges. Range prospects in the central, north central and eastern sections of the state range from fair to good. Conditions in south Texas were fairly good up to within the latter part of March, but overstocked ranges there need to be relieved now. Rains are also needed to prevent ranges from deteriorating in this area.

Sheep Ranges Better

Sheep range condition improved 9 points during March to 64 per cent of normal on April 1. This compares with 55 per cent a month ago, 71 per cent a year ago, and 82.0 per cent the 10-year average on April 1. The 9 point improvement was not general over the sheep producing area. The greatest improvement occurred largely in the extreme northeastern and eastern parts of the Edwards Plateau region, while the Trans-Pecos, Stockton Plateau, and major portions of Edwards Plateau regions remained dry. More moisture is needed over the entire sheep area to maintain ranges because sheep are dependent upon ranges on account of feed supplies being practically exhausted.

Cattle condition improved 4 points from 61 to 65 per cent of normal during the month of March. This compares with 74 per cent a year ago and 82 per cent the 10-year average on April 1. Cattle were holding up well considering the poor range conditions. Supplemental feeding was a great factor in maintaining cattle and accounts for cattle holding up so well.

Texas Sheep Improve
Sheep condition is rated at 71 per cent of normal compared with 68 per cent a month ago, 74 per cent a year ago, and 84.2 per cent the 10-year average on April 1. Sheep and late lambs made fair progress during the latter part of March when rains have fallen and they are considered to be in fair condition. In areas that have not been favored with rains, sheep condition ranges from poor to fair. Sheep have held up remarkably well in the dry areas because ranchers have kept them on feed. The situation will become serious where sheep are kept on feed if it does not rain soon, because the local feed supply is practically exhausted and shipped-in feed is too expensive.

Present indications are that this year's lamb crop will be small. The early lamb crop may fall considerably below 50 per cent of normal, while the late lamb crop will be about 60 to 65 per cent of normal. Indications are that the movement of sheep and lambs to market this spring will be small and late.

Goat condition improved 5 points during March from 69 to 74 per cent of normal on April 1. The condition of goats was rated at 70 per cent a year ago and 82.9 per cent the 10-year average on April 1.

Western Ranges Poorest
Range and pasture feed conditions in the Great Plains sections are the poorest on record. Ranges west of the main range are only fair, except that California and Arizona have the best feed in years. The Great Plains area covering eastern Montana, the western Dakotas, eastern two-thirds of Wyoming, western Nebraska, western Kansas, eastern Oklahoma, western Texas, eastern half of Colorado, and eastern two-thirds of New Mexico, have little feed and a serious shortage of moisture. This entire area has practically no old feed and no moisture to start new grass. Recent wind and dust storms have made the situation acute.

Feed conditions in eastern Kansas the eastern two-thirds of Oklahoma, north central and northeast Texas, are fair to good. In Utah, Nevada, eastern Oregon, and northwestern Colorado, feed conditions are fair, but late; in some places more moisture is needed. Feed prospects are good in western Oregon, western Washington, northern Idaho, the western half of Montana, northwestern and western Wyoming, western New Mexico, and southwestern Colorado. Hay and feed supplies are practically exhausted in the Great Plains area. The condition of ranges is 64 per cent of normal compared with 61 per cent last month, 78 per cent a year ago, and the 10-year average of 83.3 per cent.

Cattle Still Bad

Cattle continue in thin flesh in the dry areas, but there was some improvement in condition in California, Arizona, Oklahoma, and parts of Texas. The continued drought in the Great Plains area will make it necessary to move cattle. Some cattle have been shipped and owners are planning to move cattle to feed. Breeding cows are thin and calf crop prospects are only fair. Cattle losses will be heavy if storms are severe.

California and Arizona will have the largest supply of grass-fat beef in several years. More rain is needed for cattle ranges in south Texas. The condition of cattle and calves is 73 per cent of normal, compared with 72 per cent last month, 81 per cent a year ago, and the 10-year average of 85.5 per cent.

Sheep Thin

Sheep are in thin flesh over most of the range area except in California and Arizona. Mild open weather has resulted in light losses. Considerable supplemental feeding continued. Ewes are thin and there is little feed on spring sheep ranges, with short feed on trails leading to summer ranges. The lamb crop will depend largely on weather conditions but present indications are that the crop will be light in many areas. Early lambs made excellent gains in California and Arizona, but somewhat poorer gains in Idaho, Oregon, and Washington. Texas has few early lambs, with the yearlings and aged sheep in thin flesh, so spring shipments will be very light. Wool sales and contracting have been very limited. The condition of sheep is 79 per cent of normal, compared with 76 per cent last month, 87 per cent a year ago, and the 10-year average of 88.9 per cent.

No Berry Picking Work This Season
Persons from this area today were advised against migrating to southwest Missouri for the strawberry picking season. A short crop resulting from drought was given as the reason.

Following is a statement from County Relief Administrator H. E. Driscoll: "In regard to the berry picking work: 'Annually the strawberry growing counties of southwest Missouri give employment to berry pickers who migrate from nearby states. This year, however, on account of the severe drought, the strawberry crop has been seriously depleted, and those persons who migrate to Missouri, anticipating employment for strawberry picking, are doomed to disappointment and probable hardship.'"

"We are advised by Wallace Crossley, administrator of the Missouri relief and reconstruction commission, that such migration of itinerant workers should be discouraged in every way possible, to eliminate needless hardship."

HAPPY KITCHEN CHATS

By MRS. MARTHA McDONALD

There is one especially happy thing that every woman should know and consider about salads—often a salad will make a meal—and as a main course it frequently solves the menu problem on some particularly difficult day.

If the weather be warm, a crisp salad stimulates the lagging appetite, especially if you accent it with cold refreshment by serving one contrasting hot dish. This may be merely a cup of heated canned soup, a plate of hotbread, a toasted sandwich, a health-giving vegetable or an egg or cheese surprise.

Luscious salads are legion—and are to tempting the average appetite no matter what the weather or the season. Before suggesting some of my pet versions, I am listing some rules of general and great importance.

The first and most essential one is the chemistry dictum that oil and

TELESCOPE TO SEE SUNSPOTS BEING BUILT

PASADENA, Calif., April 13 — Astronomy's latest quirk, a new "4-speed" sun telescope is being assembled at the California Institute of Technology. It will magnify the sun's red disc in assorted sizes, big as a washtub or small as a saucer, each degree of magnification being suited to a particular kind of sun study. Scientists hope to have it ready to train on the sun during the approaching period of frequent sunspots, an 11-year occurrence.

Maximum Magnification
At its maximum magnification, enlarging the sun to 22 inches, the telescope will be the world's most powerful of its type. Other sizes available will be 12, 7-1/2 and 4 inches.

Magnified large, the image of the sun during the sunspot period, Dr. John A. Anderson, in charge of the telescope project, explained. For certain observations of the gaseous vapors billowing up from the sun, a bright though small image is desired.

Telescope Stationary
Unlike the 100-inch Mt. Wilson telescope and other instruments for star watching, the sun telescope will not be swung on a great swivel to keep pointed at its moving target. The four-story long tube, reaching from sub-basement to roof of a laboratory building, will be stationary, while a revolving mirror at the top follows the sun, keeping an image of it flashing into the telescope mouth.

Deep inside the telescope, a 26-inch concave mirror will catch the reflection and shoot it back, greatly magnified, to one of a battery of four interchangeable mirrors. These mirrors give the instrument its "4-speed" feature. Which one of the four is used to give the beam of light its final jump, determines the size of the sun shall take when shunted down into the darkened sub-cellar and flashed on a screen before the astronomer's eyes.

cost each component part. Be sparingly with sugar in any dressing. Use two implements in combining ingredients. Two forks are excellent. Remember to toss your salads, never to mix with pressure.

Don't cut meat to fine unless it is in a gelatin mold. Finely minced meat tends to become mushy when mixed with dressings.

Agent salads by adding canned accessories from your emergency shelf if last minute motoring guests arrive or remain until the dinner hour. Slices of canned corned beef are delicious additions to your mixed salad. A can of boned chicken can be used with your chicken salad. Canned peach halves are elegant, stuffed with mashed banana, mixed with chopped pecans.

Garnish every salad. Your guests' delight will reward you richly for such efforts. Sliced, hard-cooked eggs, radish rings, capers, sliced stuffed olives and cucumber rings add color as well as flavor.

No Pay, No Verdict Says Jury In Court

BIG SANDY, April 13 — A jury in Justice of the Peace John Wood's court here filed in after it had reached a verdict.

"What about our pay?" the foreman of the jury asked Judge Woods. "That's a matter for the Commissioner's court to decide," the judge replied. "Well, we've reached a verdict but we won't return it until we're sure of being paid," the foreman said.

And it wasn't until the Upshur county attorney personally guaranteed their pay that the jury announced its finding, that W. T. Minor, Dallas truck driver, was not guilty on a charge of driving without a license.

SHORTENING IN SCHOOL TO BE MRS. TUCKER'S

Mrs. Tucker's Shortening was chosen for the Happy Kitchen cooking school primarily because it is a 100 per cent cotton seed oil product. Being made exclusively from choice cotton seed oil, Mrs. Tucker's Shortening serves the southwestern housewives in two distinct ways. First cotton seed oil has been proven by government and scientific tests to be the best shortening agent known; also the most digestible. Second, every pound of cotton seed oil consumed helps the market for cotton and cotton seed produced in the southwest.

As it takes the cotton seed from about one tenth of an acre to produce a four pound ball or carton of Mrs. Tucker's Shortening, housewives in this section can readily understand the importance of Mrs. Tucker's Shortening to the southwest which produces more cotton than any other section of the world its size.

The Interstate Cotton Oil Refining company of Sherman, buys the choicest cotton seed oil from all parts of the southwest; refines it and super-refines it; then creams and triple creams it into pure, white and fluffy Mrs. Tucker's Shortening, which is easy to use in the kitchen and easy to digest. The triple creaming process appeals to housewives because it delivers Mrs. Tucker's Shortening so finely textured and silky-smooth that it does not have to be creamed unless the housewife desires.

Other qualities of this shortening which appeal to good cooks are the facts that its cartons are airtight inner-sealed with "Cellophane"; it will not pop nor spatter when used for frying; and it is economical because it goes farther.

Mrs. Tucker says that no matter how cheap inferior oils and fats may become, her shortening will never be adulterated—it will always be pure cotton seed oil.

YOUNGEST PASSENGER
SEATTLE — Youngest plane passenger of the Far North is James Henry Crowdy, who at the age of one month took small interest in such things. He was born in Seattle, March 6, son of James Crowdy, Sr., a Nacoe, Alaska, mine operator. On advice of physicians, his parents visited in Seattle until April 6, then went by boat to Anchorage, Alaska, and 300 miles by plane to isolated Nacoe.

Opera-tunity for Burlesque

Look at the most famous acrobats of the Metropolitan Opera Company, beautiful Lily Pons and ponderous Lauritz Melchior. Actually, they sing a lot better than they stunt. The act was the sensation of the annual Surprise Party of the Met, presented in New York before a packed house. With the assistance of other stars, they burlesqued suggestions for increasing attendance during the opera season.

JAIL SENTENCE ENDS STORY OF WIFE'S LOVE FOR HER HUSBAND

VIENNA, April 13 — The curtain fell on a moving human tragedy, when Clementine Lorenz, a 40-year-old secretary of the tax administration, was sentenced to eight months of hard labor.

The woman was found guilty of having violated her official duties solely out of love for her husband. Anton, the husband, was dismissed in 1931 by a coffee and tea firm, where he had held a minor position.

Since then the couple eked out a meager existence on the wife's monthly salary of $3.

Faced Operation
Then Clementine became ill and underwent an operation. She did not expect to live. Her own fate did not concern her, but her only thought was the future of her husband.

At this juncture she heard, in her official capacity, of a tax fraud investigation which was planned against the general manager of the coffee and tea firm.

Clementine informed the general manager. Simultaneously she requested that the firm re-employ her husband. The manager replied: "I will see what I can do."

Raid Tip-Off
When the authorities later decided to raid the manager's office, Clementine warned him in time, so that no evidence was found. In this call she repeated the request concerning her husband, but was put off again.

The conversation was overheard by the porter of the firm, who, as a hobby, was accustomed to tap the wires in the office.

When the porter recently was dismissed, he told his story to the police, and both the general manager and Clementine were arrested.

The general manager was sentenced to six months of ordinary prison.

Clementine, whose case was much more grave, was given eight months of hard labor although she had not drawn any benefit from her misdeed.

Landlords Asked To Help Relief Clients

AUSTIN, April 13 — Texas farm landlords are being asked to lend a hand to relief agencies in making tenant farmers on relief rolls self-sustaining.

Caseworkers are seeking waivers from landlords on their interest in the tenants' share of the crop so relief officials may secure first lien as security for loans made to put the farmer into a self-supporting position.

"We don't ask the landlord to waive his one-fourth share of a cotton crop," said State Relief Director Adam R. Johnson, "but we do expect him to permit us to take a first mortgage on the tenant's three-fourths in order that we may have a chance to come out even."

Landlords not in dire need are expected to continue financing operations of their own tenants, Johnson said. "The relief organization is not a dumping ground to be used as a means of reducing expenses and increasing farm income."

No responsibility is assumed for relief tenants whose landlords refuse to sign waiver agreements.

FREE COOKING SCHOOL

MONDAY, TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY

APRIL, 15, 16, 17.

The Cooking School Will Be Under The Personal Supervision of—
MARTHA McDONALD, Noted "Happy Kitchen" Expert

The event for which we have been preparing for weeks is almost here—your Cooking School. We have taken a long time to plan a superlative three afternoon program of cookery. New ideas, new food fashions, new time-savers, entertaining short-cuts—all will be combined in something we know you'll like—a real, practical "Happy Kitchen." And we know your kitchen will be a great deal happier, too, after you see it.

Every item on the Happy Kitchen cooking school program will be prepared and cooked before your very eyes, from start to finish. Each one of the three two-hour sessions is a complete unit in itself—yet the three afternoons are a combination which you shouldn't miss. Every single minute of the Happy Kitchen hours will brighten and lighten your household tasks for months. Each individual dish is built around the theme of less work—more fun. There are secrets old and new, keys to the most intriguing meals you've ever cooked or tasted. And most important—the key to the way your kitchen can be turned into a real Happy Kitchen.

There is no charge—no obligation whatsoever at the Cooking School. Your presence is the only thing that's required to get you the biggest batch of kitchen time-savers you ever imagined. Come early and bring paper and pencil, or you'll miss lots of marvelous suggestions.

REMEMBER — THE "HAPPY KITCHEN" SCHOOL IS YOUR COOKING SCHOOL — WE HEARTILY INVITE YOU TO MAKE IT SO

SISTER MARY'S RECIPES

BY MARY E. DAGUE NEA Service Staff Writer

WHEN my small son comes home for his luncheon, his first words after "Where's mom?" are "When do we eat?" He's one of those satisfying persons who love to eat, and then, too, he wants to be sure that he'll get all his eating done in plenty of time to keep from being late at school.

One thing I've discovered regarding men-folk, big and little, is that while they want hot foods hot they don't want their soup so hot that they have to wait for it to cool enough to eat.

Luncheon is a splendid time for surprises. Surprise baked potatoes are one of the standbys in our family, easy to do even on a busy morning and capable of infinite variation.

Here's the recipe for cocoonut dreams, a favorite luncheon dessert for children, easy to make and inexpensive.

Cocoonut Dreams One cup sweetened condensed milk, 4 cups (1-2 pound) shredded cocoonut, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons vanilla, 1-1 teaspoon almond extract.

Combine milk, cocoonut, salt and flavoring and mix well. Drop from teaspoon on a greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for ten minutes.

Surprise Baked Potatoes Four large potatoes, 4 eggs, 1 cup flaked salmon or other fish, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 cup milk, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon pepper. Bake potatoes until tender. Cut a slice off one side and scoop out potato leaving a shell. Put potato through ricer, season with butter, salt, pepper and hot milk and beat well. Line potato shell with mashed potato, making mashed potato about an inch thick. Drop an egg into each shell. Melt butter, add salmon and brown very slightly. Sift over flour and mix thoroughly with a fork. Stir in milk and cook and stir until sauce boils. Cover eggs with this mixture and pile mashed potato over the sauce. Return to a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for thirty minutes.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Diced mixed fruits, cereal, cream, bread crumb pancakes, honey, milk, coffee. LUNCHEON: Surprise baked potatoes, lettuce and mayonnaise sandwiches, canned strawberries, cocoonut dreams, milk, tea. DINNER: Slice of ham baked in milk, baked sweet potatoes, green beans in cream, endive with French dressing, apple fritters with maple syrup, milk, coffee.

Grated cheese can be beaten into the mashed potato. Ham or chicken can be substituted for fish in the sauce. Cold cooked fish can be used instead of the egg and a cheese sauce poured over the fish. A vegetable such as asparagus or cauliflower—cooked—might replace the egg or fish and a cheese sauce poured over. Mushroom sauce can be used in place of the fish and cheese sauce. Serve a surprise baked potato with lettuce sandwiches, canned or fresh fruit and cocoonut dreams.

Unusual Words Have Special Libraries

NEW YORK, April 13 — If you should want to know all about isotasy, there's a library in Washington on the subject.

And in Boston there's another library in which you can find out all about wolmesca, which isn't even in the ordinary dictionary.

There are 1,475 special libraries in the United States and Canada listed in a volume entitled "Special Libraries Directory," which has just been published. It is mainly for the use of librarians and researchers, its purpose being to enable one to find out where to find out whatever one wants to know.

Of these specialized libraries, 35 per cent are owned by corporations; 15 per cent are maintained by city, county, state or federal governmental bureaus; 27 per cent belong to associations of various kinds; 18 per cent are in educational institutions and 4 per cent are specialized departments of public libraries.

Decline Noted In Cement And Cotton

AUSTIN, April 13 — Sharp decline before March 1 marked activity of cement and cotton manufacturing industries in Texas, the University of Texas bureau of business research reported.

Cement production of 221,000 barrels in February was 25 per cent less than the preceding month and 21 per cent less than February, 1934. Stocks on hand were 717,000 barrels Feb. 28, one per cent less than in January, but 46 per cent more than for Feb. 1934.

Cotton manufacturing in Texas continued at a snail's pace. Consumption totaled only 2,652 bales, 18 per cent less than in January and 53 per cent down from February, 1934. Cloth production amounted to 3,598,000 yards, off one per cent from January.

Cloth sales declined 3.5 per cent in February and totaled 2,875,000 yards. Unfilled orders for 17,240,000 yards were 9.8 per cent below January's.

Modern All-Electric Cooking School

UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF

Mrs. Martha McDonald, Noted Home Economist

You Are Invited To Attend

Many women of Cisco and surrounding territory are looking forward with keen anticipation to the opening of the All-Electric Free Cooking School beginning Monday, April 15.

The cooking school will bring suggestions and methods to relieve long hours of housework. This is not a matter of learning how to cook or how to do housework, but the use of short cuts with appliances and tested methods to reduce time and labor. Many women feel that "Mother's housekeeping and cookery, the best in the world, are good enough for today," but mothers in those old days yearned, too, for new ideas and simpler methods.

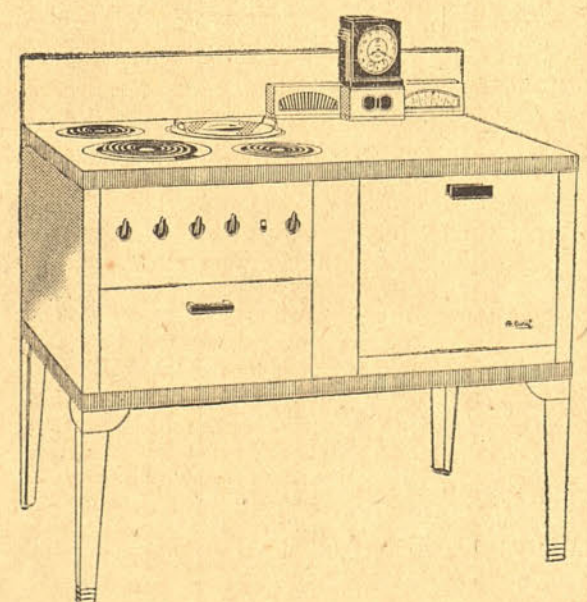

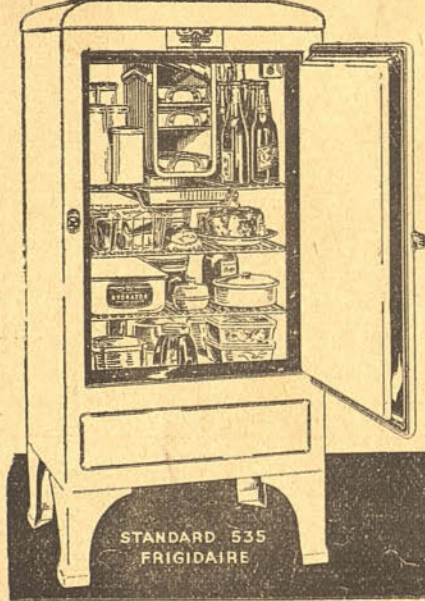

There is a modern trend to devise simpler methods in food preparation and housework. Such ideas are welcomed by women who have interest other than spending the day in housekeeping routine.

For many years Mrs. McDonald has been imparting scientific knowledge to homemakers and everywhere winning a host of friends by reason of her helpfulness, her ability and her pleasing personality.

Mrs. McDonald will delightfully entertain and instruct you with her many new ideas and recipes. At each session she will give a different lecture and demonstrate different menus. You won't want to miss a single session.

The Cooking School will start at 2 p. m. each day. Mrs. McDonald urges that every housewife, who possibly can, plan to attend each lecture as each will be different. Bring your notebook and pencil, take notes during the demonstration and feel free to ask questions regarding the demonstration or any household problem.

Miss McDonald extends a hearty welcome to every woman in Cisco and surrounding territory to share in the three sessions of instructions and entertainment.

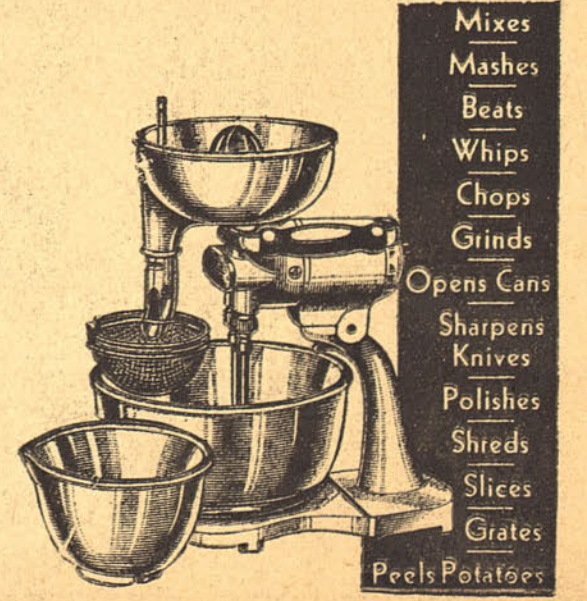

NOTE THESE ADVANTAGES

There are many advantages to the use of electrical appliances in the kitchen and home. Among these are safety, cleanliness, accuracy and convenience. Whenever an electric range, a Frigidaire or even a Mix-Master is employed in kitchen work, you are assured of the best in electrical equipment and many, many years of labor saving service. See these electrical appliances in actual demonstrations!

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule... and adds only a small amount to your total bill?

HELPFUL HINTS GIVEN FOR USE OF BAKING POWDER IN COOKING

Always sift flour and K. C. Baking Powder together at least three times. The more sifting, the lighter, finer texture the cakes, biscuits, etc., will be.

To mix a cake, first cream butter and sugar thoroughly, then add eggs if used. Then, to this mixture alternately add moisture and the flour that has been sifted with baking powder and stir until smooth and glossy, adding beaten egg whites after thoroughly mixing.

For cakes, have your oven slow to moderate at first, until the cake is fully risen; then increase the heat, so as to just brown lightly.

Here are a few choice recipes. You will like them.

K C Everyday White Cake
 1-2 cup butter (4 oz.)
 1 cup granulated sugar (8 oz.)
 1-2 cup milk
 2 cups flour (8 oz.)
 2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder
 Whites 3 eggs
 1 teaspoon vanilla extract.

K C Bran Muffins
 2 1-2 cups uncooked bran (3 3-4 oz.)
 2 cups flour (8 oz.)
 1 1-2 teaspoonfuls salt
 2 eggs
 1 2-4 cups milk
 3 1-2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder
 4 tablespoonfuls sugar (2 oz.)

3 tablespoonfuls melted fat (1 1-2 oz.)

NOTE: Permitting the bran to soak in the milk for 1 to 3 hours before adding the other ingredients, adds greatly to its palatability. Bake 35 to 40 minutes at 350 to 375 degrees.

K C Baking Powder Biscuits
 2 cups flour (8 oz.)
 2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder
 4 level teaspoonfuls shortening (2 oz.)
 About 2-3 cup milk or water
 1-2 teaspoonful salt.

K C Doughnuts
 3-4 cup granulated sugar (6 oz.)
 1 cup sweet milk
 3 tablespoonfuls melted butter (1 1-2 oz.)
 3 cups flour (12 oz.)
 1 teaspoonful mace
 1 teaspoon salt
 2 eggs, whites and yolks beaten separately.
 2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder.

VIOLIN MADE IN 1770
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — W. M. Legg, retired carpenter here, has a violin which was made in 1770. It is a German reproduction of a Stradivarius, a local musician said. Legg, who does not play the violin, has owned it for 20 years and only recently became aware of its age.

Stories in STAMPS

NEARLY 14 miles into the stratosphere rose the huge balloon, Sirius, manned by three Russians, Paul Fedoseenko, Andrey Vasenko and Ilya Ousinski. A record had been made. Then came the descent. Suddenly the spherical gondola broke from its moorings and crashed to earth. The three aeronauts were killed instantly.

In memory of these men, the U. S. S. R. has issued three stamps, each reproducing the picture of one of the flyers, with the balloon in the background.

PET DOE JEALOUS
GOLD BEACH, Ore. — A pet doe deer, thought to have become jealous because the two-year-old son of Charles Billings, farmer, paid more attention to his puppy than to it, trampled the child painfully. His mother killed the animal with a rifle when it chased her from the boy when she attempted a rescue. The doe belonged to a neighbor.

TRAINED SEA GULL
STEWART, B. C. — Dan Carroll, pursuer of the motorship Zopora has a trained seagull named "Mac", which he says is almost human in its actions. He has trained it since it was hatched, and it accompanies him wherever he goes. One of Mac's tricks is to dive through smoke rings that rise from a ship's stack.
