FARM BOYS' SPECIAL TO GO ON LONG TOUR OF NORTH AND EAST

One Hundred and Twenty-Five Prize-Winning Boys Will Enjoy the Trip Which Will Prove One of Education; Where They Will Stop; What They Will See.

Special to the News. DRYAN, Aug. 6.—One hundred twenty-five prize winning farm boys of Texas will roll out of College Station tomorrow at noon aboard the Texas Farm Boy Special, which is being conducted through the north and east by the Texas chamber of commerce and the A. and M. college.

Walton Pettee, manager of the agricultural department of the Texas chamber of commerce, and T. O. Walton, director of the extension service of the A. and M. college, will be in charge of the train. Besides these there are aboard the train ten supervisors of the boys from A. and M. college, and a physician and a nurse detailed from Red Cross headquarters at St. Louis to accompany the train throughout its itinerary and look after the health of the boys.

Max Bentley of the Houston Chronicle, accompanied by Mrs. Bentley, is aboard the train, also G. H. Alford, editor of the Progressive Farmer, accompanied by Mrs. Alford. Mrs. Bentley, Mrs. Alford and Mrs. T. O. Walton will act as matrons of the boys throughout the trip.

There will be six other newspaper men aboard the train and a publicity man from the state chamber who will superintend the distribution of 25,000 pieces of literature descriptive of Texas and its resources throughout the middle west, north and east.

The train will make its first stop in this city, where the entire town will be closed to give the boys a rousing send-off, after which the train will run to Fort Worth, where supper will be served under the direction of the county agricultural agent of Tarrant county.

At Fort Worth the boys will bid good-bye to Texas and get into their berths to be awakened the following morning at Wichita Falls, Kans.

The tour of the Texas farmer boys has attracted widespread attention throughout the north and telegrams are being received every day offering new forms of entertainment. Yesterday a wire was received from the Armour Packing company of Chicago, offering to give the boys a boat ride on Lake Michigan in addition to their completed plans to show them through the big packing houses and give them a picnic at Lincoln park.

During the last few days arrangements have been made for lengthening the stop in New York City, where J. S. Cullinan, president of the Texas chamber of commerce; Beverley Harris, vice president of the National City bank; and Henry D. Lindsay, formerly mayor of

DARING NAVIGATORS CROSSING THE OCEAN IN VERY SMALL BOAT

Associated Press. NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—William Washburn Nutting, a motorboat publisher of Beachhurst, L. I., who recently departed from New York aboard his ketch "Typhoon" for Cowes, England, took with him a crew of amateur sailors. "Typhoon" is a new yacht built at the laboratories of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, Bedford, Cape Breton Island, Nova Scotia, Canada from designs by William Atkin. She is a 45-foot craft with a beam of 14 feet and auxiliary powered for use only in case of calm weather.

The crew consists of Nutting, F. W. Baldwin, the head of Dr. Bell's laboratories, "Jim" Dorsett, Baldwin's right hand man, and Guy Matheson, who joined the Canadian expeditionary force as a private and came back an acting colonel with the distinction, it is said, of winning every military decoration with the gift of the British nation except the V. C.

The yacht will sail approximately the course taken by Alcock and Brown in their famous airplane voyage from Newfoundland to the British Islands. This is far north where there is plenty of wind and usually plenty of sea with it. Mr. Nutting expected to arrive at Cowes in time to attend the races for the British international trophy, for which an American team of three boats has challenged and which will take place starting August 10. Later the "Typhoon" will cruise about the British Isles, then down the French coast and into the Mediterranean. Before snow flies the party will sail for the United States via the southern course, stopping at the Azores and Bermuda.

WAR ON FOREIGNERS FIVE KILLED WHILE FLEEING FROM MOB

Four Thousand Driven Into the Woods—Fifty Homes Burned and Inmates Clubbed as They Tried to Escape Incineration; Militia Now on Guard—Two Killed in Denver.

Associated Press. WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., Aug. 6.—Following a night of rioting, when five persons are believed to have been killed, and scores injured, comparative quiet was restored. Approximately five thousand foreigners, against whom the rioters directed their attack, have left town, and this, together with the arrival of one hundred and fifty militiamen, tended to bring about order.

A number of homes were burned and a pool hall wrecked. The mob numbered about four thousand men. The foreigners fled in all directions. The mob at times split and it is reported that some divisions drove foreigners into the nearby woods. It is not learned what followed.

Many homes were burned and the residents clubbed while trying to escape incineration.

KILL TWO IN DENVER

Associated Press. DENVER, Aug. 6.—Denver is quiet today, following a night of rioting by the street car strikers, their sympathizers and the strike-breakers, in which two persons were killed and thirty-four injured.

Thousands of dollars worth of property was damaged. Two thousand men have volunteered as policemen to prevent a recurrence of last night's trouble. Fear is expressed in official circles that rioting will be resumed. No attempt was made during the morning to operate cars. The Post issued today as usual despite the damage.

BOLT OF LIGHTNING REPRIEVE FOR NEGRO IN THE DEATH CHAIR

International News Service. COLUMBUS, S. C., Aug. 6.—Because of a stroke of lightning during a recent storm here the electric apparatus connected with the death chair at the state penitentiary would not work to its full strength and at the last minute the death sentence of John Maxwell, negro, charged with the brutal murder of an old citizen, was reprieved for two weeks. The state electrician requested the reprieve, preferring to postpone the penalty rather than have the man tortured to death.

It was reported unofficially that the current would have killed the negro, but that he might have suffered during the killing, and the electrician preferred not to take such a chance.

Maxwell was sentenced in July for having killed an aged Charleston county farmer and chopping his body to pieces.

BELIEVE COX WILL SPEAK PLAINLY ON PUBLIC QUESTIONS

Associated Press. DAYTON, O., Aug. 6.—The Democratic clans are gathering today for the great quadrennial event, the presentation tomorrow of the nomination to Governor Cox. All is in readiness for the affair.

Speculation has increased regarding the brief but important insertion, it is announced, will be forthcoming tomorrow. There was continued secrecy today.

Speculation centered on three subjects. A possible challenge to Senator Harding for a joint debate on the League of Nations, a specific statement on Article X, or a definite announcement regarding the prohibition issue, which is announced will be so plain that school children could understand.

The people will speak so plainly to compel a final settlement on the league and treaty controversy that the Governor's friends claim he will say what he believes, regardless of the actual partisan lineup of the senate.

Democratic leaders seem to be agreed that the league undoubtedly will be the great campaign battle ground and await with keen interest the address of Governor Cox.

S. P. BROOKS SPEAKS AT CITY HALL FAVOR CANDIDACY OF NEFF

Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor University, spoke at the city hall at 2:30 this afternoon to an audience numbering probably more than 250. He is a pleasing and entertaining speaker, and always interests his audience.

He devoted most of his time to "scorching" former Senator J. W. Bailey. He said Bailey was opposed to prohibition, to woman suffrage and the Wilson policies, and said he would never support anybody who was in favor of these policies and he wondered how he (Bailey) was going to be able to vote for Governor Cox. But, he supposed, on election day, he would be in Washington trying one of his great legal cases.

In conclusion he made a strong appeal for votes for Pat Neff.

BAILEY WILL SPEAK FOR COX IN SEVERAL OF THE CLOSE STATES

DALLAS, Aug. 6.—The claim that Joseph W. Bailey's services as a speaker in the Cox-Roosevelt campaign will not be accepted, has been finally and definitely disproved by statements from the headquarters of the democratic national committee.

The following story has come out of the camps of the committee: Washington, July 31.—Announcement by former Senator Bailey that, regardless of the outcome of the Texas runoff primary, he will offer his services to the democratic party in the presidential campaign, was received with pleasure at the headquarters of the democratic national committee.

Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, floor leader for the Cox forces at San Francisco, who has just been appointed in charge of the speakers' bureau, was especially glad.

"Senator Bailey's help will be welcomed and very much appreciated," he said. "He will be of great help to the party because the Texan has such a reputation as an orator."

Senator Harrison indicated that Bailey will be regarded as one of the democratic oratorical heavyweights, to be used at important democratic rallies in the large cities of the North, East and Middle West.

Senator Harrison does not intend to permit Bailey's differences with the administration to interfere with the effective service it is thought he can give the Cox candidacy.

Senator Harrison indicated also that other Texans will be drafted for the campaign.—Fort Worth Star Telegram.

COTTON SITUATION IN SOUTH RELATIVE TO LOANS BY BANKS

Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The federal reserve board has not advised member banks what loans they should make against the current cotton crop. Governor Harding informs the department of agriculture.

He acted in answer to reports reaching the department that "due to the existing financial stringency, stocks of cotton are being forced on the market at sacrifice prices."

The department intimated the action was prompted through a ruling or other form of instructions from the federal reserve board, which limited loans on cotton to that only which was in process of shipment.

Governor Harding said the law provided that for a period of six months, not any consecutive twelve months, national banks may loan individuals, firms or corporations up to twenty-five per cent of their capital and surplus, where it is in excess of ten per cent, secured by warehouse receipts.

Commenting on the accumulation of lower grade cotton, Governor Harding, in his letter, states it was due partially to the difficulty of making the financial arrangement necessary to sell it to mills in Central Europe, adding "member banks in the south, no doubt feel reluctant to carry too large a volume of loans on collateral which is not readily saleable."

FRIENDS OF JUSTICE HAWKINS ARE MAKING HARD FIGHT FOR HIM

A very warm campaign is being waged by the legion of friends of Associate Justice William E. Hawkins, of the state supreme court, for his re-election. Mr. Justice Hawkins just announced his candidacy and let it go at that. He confined himself to his duties and made no campaign, with the result that another candidate in the recent primary election secured a sufficient number of votes to make a run-off necessary, and now Justice Hawkins' friends are getting busy. He has made such a fine record on the bench, is a man and lawyer of such exceptionally fine character and ability and has so withstood the assaults of the "interests" and in defense of the law and people that the latter do not want to see him defeated. In a recent editorial the Austin Statesman said:

"Probably no man in Texas has had a more intimate or extensive experience with regard to legal questions affecting the practical operation of the different departments of state, county and city governments. Few men have a more comprehensive and accurate knowledge of Texas, and of our people, and of the spirit of our institutions and laws.

"Judge Hawkins is in the prime of life and in full physical and mental vigor. All who know him concede that he is an inveterate and conscientious worker. Even those who disagree with some of his decisions admit that they show entire familiarity with the legal questions therein treated and disclose an honest effort to reach and announce correct conclusions."

CISCO'S GROWTH

Cisco takes a high place among the cities of the United States showing the greatest ratio of increase, it being reported as having a population of 7,422, an increase of 3,012, or 208 per cent.
 It must be remembered that the census enumerators did their work in the month of January, more than six months ago, and the rate of increase marked by this report has been well maintained since that time.
 The greater part of the increase in population came within the last year preceding the taking of the census. It was during that year that the city took on new life, began to grow and expand. It was in the latter part of last year and the first half of the present year that many of its best buildings were erected, its large supply houses and stores established or enlarged to meet the great demand of the increasing trade of this section. It is during the present year that it has constructed a railroad to the northeast and the many other extensive improvements made.

 Still, all of this is but the beginning and the work of development and progress goes on. The many new enterprises under way and being undertaken will, when completed, far exceed all that has already been done and the increase in population, great as it is, promises to be largely exceeded in the immediate future.

SHIPPERS CAN AID

Circular letters, issued by leading railroads, show how both consignor and consignee of freight may aid in relieving the car shortage which prevails throughout the entire country.
 One of these letters stresses the necessity for loading cars to capacity, and an accompanying statement of results, based on the weights of loads in more than 5,000 cars, shows that had the cars been fully loaded, the use of an additional 2,000 cars and more would have been had.
 Added to this fault on the part of shippers, there is the one of delay in loading and unloading cars. A car standing idle is making no money for either carrier or shipper, but is a loss, not only to them, but to the whole country.
 With conditions as they have been since the war, how much greater is going to be the suffering from this car shortage following the increase in freight rates, can be imagined if everything possible is not done to relieve the situation.
 The want of proper distribution of the products of the country is now the greatest factor in the high cost of living. The country is teeming with the products of the field and the ranges, but until these great crops have reached the consumer, the price of food is going to remain high and the buyer is at the mercy of the profiteer.

Government has proven its inefficiency in its pretended efforts to reduce the cost of living. The only way in which relief may be expected is getting to market the bountiful crops and in order to do this the railroads, hampered as they have been since the beginning of the year, must have the hearty co-operation of all the people.
 Light is said to be dawning on the situation. The roads are putting forth every ounce of energy they possess and the situation is improving, but this is coming slowly. The desired end can be materially hastened by the patrons of the roads economizing time in the loading and unloading of cars and in placing in cars for shipment, every pound up to the limit capacity. If a car is started off only half loaded, that is the same as using two cars and keeping another shipper from having any.
 Suffering from the want of food and fuel is expected in many quarters next winter by reason of the inability of the railroads to meet the demands which will be made upon them. A condition of this kind in prospect should have the attention of every shipper and they should show the greatest willingness to co-operate with the railroad people in conserving space in cars and in keeping the cars moving.

CITY vs. COUNTRY

The recent inquiry of the Manufacturers' Association to the leading farmers' organizations, if they would agree to the employment of Chinese labor on the farms in this country, brought, as might well have been expected it would, a most emphatic answer that they would not.
 The question in itself was an insult to the American farmer. The object of the employment of coolie labor on the farms, as viewed by the Manufacturers' Association, could have but one explanation. Its members desired to see food produced at the minimum cost, with a hope of lowering wages where organized labor dominates, as is the case in the centers of population.
 As modern farming is conducted, ability on the part of the farm worker is in as great demand as it is in the factory or office. The farmer is not depending upon the coolie or other cheap labor. As it is, he is paying a wage for labor that is greater, in proportion to the return he receives, than is that paid in factories by reason of the fact that manufactured articles are sold at a greater profit than are the products of the farm.

 Referring to the request made by the Manufacturers' Association, the Kansas City Star charges that "it comes not alone from the manufacturers, but from the officers of labor unions, as well." Considering the war organized labor has waged on the importation of cheap labor, it is difficult to believe that its leaders would lend themselves and the weight of their organizations' influence to further anything of this kind.
 But the Star adds that "apparently all either of these groups is interested in is lowering the cost of living and the effects of such a movement upon the standards of living in the country are apparently of no consequence to them."
 The cities, the centers of population, employes in all manufacturing plants, are not producers, in the matter of food; they are simply consumers and when manufacturers or heads of labor organizations, or others, undertake to force upon the farmers of the country a condition unfair and unpleasant to them, they are arraying themselves against the men who feed them. They not only insult the farmer by this kind of proposition, but even the suggestion of such a condition can only tend, in turn, to array the farmer against the city and promises nothing favorable to either side of the controversy which thus might forcibly arise.

If the farmer shall be forced to the use of coolie labor in order that food may be produced cheaper, why in turn may not the farmer complain and say that if coolie labor is employed in the factories and shops that he might buy his plows, his tractors, his harvesting machinery, his clothing and all articles not produced on the farm, at much less price than he is now compelled to pay?
 The very request in itself carries with it an insult to every self-respecting farmer in the country and should meet with the rebuke it deserves.

MEXICO'S HOPE NOT IN ELECTIONS

If General Villa doesn't find private life too dull, and if the recession movement in Lower California doesn't stir up too many embers, Mexico may manage to have its election next month and make a fresh start toward constitutional government.
 Those, of course, are not the only ifs involved. Probably they are not even the most important. The rebellions, and disorders in Mexico are all but the symptoms of a complication of national ailments. The government may crush rebellions or be crushed, revolutions may succeed or fail, banditry may flare up or be fairly well kept down, all without essential change in the fundamental situation. And the trouble in Mexico is fundamental.
 From the fall of Diaz to the fall of Carranza Mexico has been in upheaval and there really isn't much reason to suppose another election will end the condition. If it brings a strong man to the front, Obregon or another, there may be a period of tranquility. But Mexico's ailment is not the sort to be permanently cured by elections. In fact, it takes a pretty strong, healthy and well-disciplined people to stand elections, and the Mexican people are none of these things. Popular institutions are no fit playthings for backward countries. Mexico playing at elections and with presidents, representative assemblies and a law code is rather absurd. These things exist only in name. They will remain names until the Mexican people are politically educated and in all other ways fit for self-government.

Mexico's experience the last ten years shows the futility of trying to make democratic institutions work with nothing but the symbols of democracy present. The Mexican leaders caught at these and waved them. Some of these leaders may have had a tinge of idealism. Probably Madero had. Carranza made great play with the word "constitutionalism" and may even have deceived "himself with it. But most of them have been military chiefs, or become such in the end, who took and held power by the only means the Mexican people know anything about. All identified themselves with "popular" causes. All professed to be overflowing oppressors and correcting evils in government. They even drew up constitutions, promised reforms, guaranteed free elections and unpurchased justice. But all alike, the well meaning and the ill-

COME WEST, YOUNG MAN; COME WEST!
 In writing to a Cisco friend the other day, C. A. Tunnell, publicity man for the East Texas chamber of commerce, penned the following paragraph:
 "You are now in West Texas, but you must remember that the Great Light comes from the East."
 In replying, the Cisco man wrote:
 "It is an indisputable fact that the Great Light comes from the East, but it is also true and should ever be remembered that after serving a busy world all day, the Great Light retires into the West to recharge its batteries and prepare for another day's service."

mening in their various degrees failed to produce any change in Mexico. They could change the government, or the personnel of it, but that was all. The Mexican people remained what they had been, and as such a fruitful and ready soil for new disorders, new chiefs with new promises and new revolutions and dictatorships.
 There is little chance that the coming election will change this condition. Republican forms can survive in Mexico only through unrepentant means. Their salvation may lie there if the right man comes up. Such a man might rule with a strong hand through popular forms for the good of Mexico, until Mexico was sufficiently educated and disciplined to be ruled through popular forms without the strong hand. Until this change in the condition of the people is brought about popular government, in any real sense cannot exist in Mexico.—Kansas City Star.

KEEPING THE SABBATH

No thoughtful person laments the passing of the Puritan Sabbath. But the modern Sunday, with no attention paid at all to religious matters, seems almost as bad.
 Rest is the aim of the seventh day's freedom. But an idle Sunday following a week in which one has worked little or half-heartedly is not a day of health-giving and joy giving repose. An idle Sunday filled merely with ministering to the pleasures of the body, after a week devoted to purely materialistic interests, is not really restful at all. Certainly it has no healing properties.

But after six days of honest, earnest, effective labor, a Sunday in which a little time is given to the things of the spirit and the rest to wholesome recreation, outdoors or indoors, is a Sunday of real mental, physical and spiritual investment.
 Going to church is a fine and useful practice, viewed from any light. It provides an hour of quiet, of reflection, of an upward pull of the soul. The man or woman who makes it a habit finds that the hour of devotion is never wasted.
 In these days of the automobile there is a temptation to omit church because its hours interfere with the day's pleasuring. This may at times be justified. "The groves were God's first temples," and if one approaches the out of doors, be it grove or stream, seashore or open road, in the reverent spirit which recognizes the divinity of these forms of nature, which allows them to exert that upward lift of the spirit toward its Maker, the purpose is at least partially served. And it may likewise be served by a little time taken out of the day, early or late, for quiet reading or meditation on some theme of spiritual significance.

Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," ran the ancient rule.
 The generation now growing up is one which seems to lack respect for things either of God or Caesar. It runs after the false gods. The easy dollar and the good time seem to be its goal. These are not ideals which make for wise parenthood, nor for fulfilling the ideals of America.
 This is no plea for Pharisaical puritanism. It is merely a plea for a little quiet, a little consideration of spiritual values, a little time given out of the many hours of each week to the beauty of holiness. Without this there can be no well-balanced life, nor any life of real or lasting happiness.—Santa Rosa (Calif.) Press.

BITS OF HUMOR

Life's Little Mysteries
 "I don't understand," said Miss Cayenne, "why a girl who is perfectly willing to be photographed in a bathing suit should be so annoyed when she discovers that there is a little hole in the back of her stocking."—Washington Star.
A Super-Genius
 So you don't believe there is such a thing as genius?
 "Not nowadays," replied Mr. Dustin Stax.
 "What is your idea of a genius?"
 "A man who can think of some way to help the railroad business without raising rates."—Washington Star.

Modern Heroism
 She romantically—Oh, Dick, I wish you'd do something brave to show your love for me.
 He—Good heavens! Haven't I asked you to marry me despite the present high cost of everything?—Boston Transcript.

Tank Town Names
 "I'm going on a railroad journey. Suggest something to read."
 "What route are you going to take?"
 "One of the branch lines where the trains stop at a station about every twenty minutes."
 "Then why not read the names painted on the little red and yellow depots? You'll find it a liberal education in sacred and profane history, as well as Indian lore."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Cruel Words
 "It's unkind to treat me like this."
 "Why, Archibald?"
 "You kissed me good by when I went away to war."
 "When you left you told me you were going to be a hero, but judging from the buttons, helmets and other things you brought back, you were only a souvenir hunter."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

COTTON OPENING FAST IN GULF COAST COUNTIES

CORPUS CHRISTI, Aug. 6.—Warm, dry weather has caused cotton to open with such unexpected rapidity that even though there is more labor in this district this year than ever before so early in the season, farmers are in great need of pickers. In the Gulf Coast district rainfall would result in material deterioration of the staple. The advertising campaign begun several weeks ago by the rural land owners association is being continued throughout Texas and adjoining states in the hope of getting enough pickers to save the entire crop and overcome the losses of the two previous years. Farmers are paying $1.50 a hundred pounds for picking.

TAKES POST GRADUATE COURSE AT WORLD'S GREATEST SCHOOL OF COSMETICS

Mrs. H. L. Paul just got back from Chicago where she has been the past two weeks taking a Post Graduate course in Beauty Culture at the National School of Cosmeticians (affiliated with Marinello), his is the largest institution of its kind in the world—and it is the place where the big shop owners of the greatest cities go to learn all that is new and worth knowing in Beauty Culture. Mrs. Paul states that there have been many wonderful discoveries made during the past year. New ways of improving beauty of hair and complexion never before used. All of which were demonstrated and taught by the most eminent Cosmetic Authorities. Mrs. Paul is to be heartily commended on her progressiveness which brings to the women of this city and vicinity services that can not be excelled any place in the world.—Adv. 150

Farmers Buy Gin
 Associated Press.
 EDINBURG, Aug. 6.—The Farmers' Equity union at Edinburg has purchased a gin to be operated by the organization, paying $17,000 for it. This, according to J. W. Patrie, acting president, is the first gin in the United States to be owned by a farmers' union.

BUY LAND IN FRANCE TO PROTECT GRAVES OF AMERICAN DEAD

Associated Press.
 PARIS, Aug. 6.—In order to prevent any commercial encroachment upon Romagne cemetery, where 23,000 American soldiers are buried, the French government has been asked by the American army graves registration service authorities to purchase the gentle slope facing the front of the cemetery, and the entire crest of the hill occupied in part by the cemetery, as well as plots on both sides.

The Romagne, Suresnes, and Belleau Woods cemeteries have been approved by the secretary of war as the permanent resting places of more than 30,000 soldier dead who will continue to sleep in French soil. Suresnes, which is on the slope of Mont Valerien, one of the forts build to defend Paris, is already protected against encroachment of any sort, and the same is nearly true of Belleau Woods.

The extra ground to be purchased at Romagne will not only safeguard the cemetery against any encroachment, but will provide areas which will be used by American horticultural experts to surround the hallowed spot with trees and shrubbery. At the present time the cemetery is surrounded only with a long wall, and there is no available space for planting.

The beautification of the cemetery will not begin for some months as most of the bodies in the cemetery now are to be removed to America, and this work will not start until mid-September and cannot be finished until sometime next year. After this work is finished bodies from other cemeteries will be moved in.

TO LIVE LONG, TAKE LIFE EASY AND DON'T WORRY, SAYS PRIEST

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 6.—You would live beyond three score years and ten and enjoy full strength and vigor, take life easily and, above all, don't worry, is the advice of the Right Rev. James F. Mackin, pastor of St. Paul's Roman Catholic church here, who is eighty-two and hale and hearty. For fifty-two years Father Mackin has been a member of the priesthood, though as a young man he was a sailor before the mast on a New Bedford whaler and roamed the seven seas with the many varied experiences which attend such a life, including shipwreck on a desert island.

"Take life as it comes," says Father Mackin. "Never worry about anything. Don't fret because things are thus and so. Try to improve them if you can, but don't be perturbed if you don't succeed. I believe this philosophy has had much to do with my long life and good health."

It was in 1887 that Father Mackin's ship was wrecked and he was cast upon a coral reef, there to remain until rescued by a British cruiser.

Just now Father Mackin's interest is centered in the "Father Mackin Children's Playground," which he is making one of the most popular institutions in Washington.

JAPS TAKE TO FROGS

TOKIO, Aug. 6.—Frog meat made its first appearance last month in the menu of one of the most popular restaurants of the city. Frogs had never been considered as a food until very recently by the Japanese. In 1918 Dr. Watanabe brought some edible frogs from the United States. They were kept at the Infectious Disease Experimental Station where experiments were made in breeding and raising. The government has taken steps to encourage the raising and eating of frogs.

MOVE OVER, FAMOUS, MAKE WAY FOR HORN

International News Service.
 CLEVELAND, Aug. 6.—Enter in the all of fame alongside the many dogs that have proved faithful to their masters even unto death, one vigilant little stonable horn.

Recently an automobile drove up in front of the Eleventh precinct police station and stopped. Inmates of the station heard a horn blowing. It kept blowing.
 One of the men sauntered out and nudged the driver unconscious at the wheel. His body had fallen across the seat and tooted the horn and the fifth mechanism had summoned aid. The man was revived by medical attention and told physicians he was subject to fainting spells.

CISCO'S GROWTH

Cisco takes a high place among the cities of the United States showing the greatest ratio of increase, it being reported as having a population of 7,422, an increase of 100 per cent in the first half of the present year that many of its best buildings were erected, its large supply houses and stores established or enlarged to meet the great demand of the increasing trade of after which they were seated by Mesdames L. L. Dingle and Robert Manell. After an hour spent in getting acquainted, refreshments of brick ice cream with chocolate custards were served from decorated tables by Mesdames Francis Haugh, Bettie Mae Hominger, Bessie Shelton and Minnie May Pettit. Perrywinkles being the leading decoration, each guest was given a corsage flower. Many tables were crowded with guests, and not until the last moment that told the time of departure did the guests feel they could leave this delightful assembly.

This occasion was marked with honor, the young women from New York having been among the many thousands who met the soldier boys when they returned from overseas and gave them a cordial welcome, and many good things to eat. Carl Williams, a brother of Mrs. Holcomb, being one that met the young women. In appreciation of their welcome to him he invited them to visit his home in Cisco. Each of the visitors expressed themselves as being highly impressed with the south and may return to live with us. Miss Adams is one of Cisco's products. She lived here when a child. All will remember her mother as Miss Addie Graves. Miss Adams is a charming young woman and the old-time friends of her mother are delighted to meet and greet her again.

This reception will go down in history as being one of the most delightful given since progressive Cisco took its place on the map.

R. F. Weddington, who spends most of his time on his ranch four miles from town, was given a surprise Tuesday by his wife and son, Robert, and daughter, Miss Theresa Weddington, who came to inform him he was passing another mile stone in his life. When told Mr. Weddington said: "I thought I had been living too long to have another birthday," but when the big cake was uncovered and the yellow-legged chicken appeared, with many other good things to adorn the ranch table, Mr. Weddington was ready to have birthdays. When the war broke he immediately volunteered his services. He has made an efficient soldier officer and his visit home, we hope, will be prolonged. Young minds, active and knowledge of what it takes to lead a town is what is needed at this time, and we trust that Mr. Winston will remain with us.

Mrs. Ida Kennon of the Exclusive Hat Shop is away at market for fall and winter millinery. Her daughter, Miss Helen Gould, who has been spending her vacation here, accompanied her to Kansas City. She will resume her studies at a young ladies' academy with the commencement of the fall session.

Mrs. J. E. Rainer and daughter, of 1185 West Ninth street, have gone to Fort Worth for a week's visit.

F. B. Cloud of Albany, and M. E. Gooding of Durant, Okla., spent a few hours in Cisco as guests of Mrs. J. E. Rainer. They are enroute to California to join their wives at Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Agnew and little son are visiting in Lubbock.

Miss Lee Thompson has returned from a two weeks' vacation in Waco.

Miss Myra Buckner of Waco is visiting Miss Mary McCarty.

Miss Verna Adams of Fort Worth is the guest of Mrs. Cowan Holcomb.

Mrs. A. Mayo is here from Fort Worth, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Roy Hamill.

T. Shaw, formerly of Cisco, but now of Salome Springs, Ark., is in the city on business.

Mrs. Henry Rogers of Sweetwater is the guest of her sisters, Mesdames Leon Mainer and Dick Starr.

J. G. Hamill, and grandson have returned from a week's stay in Salome Springs, Ark.

Mrs. E. D. Mathis and little Blanche Mathis have returned from Grandfield, Okla.

Miss Gilbert Walker is on an extended trip to California and Utah, visiting friends and relatives.

The board of directors of the chamber of commerce and production will meet tonight with County Judge Davis and County Engineer Dickerson of Coleman county, to discuss work on the Eastland county section of the Coleman-Cisco highway.

A. Spears, cashier of the First Guaranty State bank, is in Fort Worth on a business trip.

The early northers remind you that it is time to think of your fall hat. The most stylish patterns are shown at Mrs. Kennon's Exclusive Hat Shop. They are different. 150

D. J. SMITH RECEIVES NEWS OF BROTHER'S DEATH
 D. J. Smith, residing at 610 Avenue L, an employe of the News, received a telegram this morning from Lampasas announcing the death, at that place, of this brother, W. G. Smith, aged 58 years. Deceased was a native of Camden, Ark., at which place he was engaged in merchandising for many years and 35 or 36 years ago came to Texas, settling at Lampasas, where he has resided since, with the exception of about six months he lived in Cisco. He was a member of a large family, being the second son, the elder son having died some years ago in California.

Acting Secretary Bedford of the chamber of commerce and production was at Rising Star yesterday. He said a heavy rain fell there and over the Hilburn field. At the latter place, he said there was much activity and rumor has it there are four more wells which are expected to be brought in within a very few days.

Secretary Bedford said the people down that way have large gangs of men at work improving the road from the Hilburn field to Rising Star, as well as the one to Cross Plains. He said they are pushing the work vigorously.

AMUSEMENTS

Victory Theater

Atmosphere is the principal thing that moving picture actors and directors are striving for today. This makes features real and players artists. In several of the scenes a number of elderly men were used. They represent old settlers in a small town—the type that congregate around the stove in the village store and discuss the destinies of a nation while munching a large chew of tobacco.

Judith Theater

"The White Dove," the Robertson-Cole special, in which H. B. Warner will be seen at the Judith theater Sunday and Monday, teaches in a most convincing fashion that the older a man grows the more inclined he is to excuse
