School Board Elects Teachers for Term of 1932-33

REDUCTION IS MADE IN FACULTY LIST

The school board in a lengthy session Wednesday evening elected the faculty of the Cisco public schools for the 1932-33 term, reducing the number by six.

Reduction in the faculty, the board announced, was made mandatory by the financial condition of the schools and the prospect of a lesser enrollment last year. It was imperative, the board said, that the faculty be cut and in doing so an effort was made to make the economy affect those who could best stand it.

Names withheld. Names of the faculty members elected were not made public today. Announcement of these will be made within the next two or three days, Supr. R. N. Cluck said.

New Champ Clark Eyes Capitol

Assured the sage advice of a "Champ Clark," though he's only 9 years old and the help of curly-headed twin boys like those pictured above, it's little wonder that Bennett Clark, St. Louis attorney, has no trepidation about handling the job of a United States senator. Clark is a candidate for the Democratic nomination in the Missouri primaries. Pictured here with Mr. and Mrs. Clark are their three sons: Marsh, 3, beside his mother; his twin brother, Kimball, between his daddy's knees, and behind them, Champ Clark, 9, namesake of the late picturesque Champ Clark, long speaker of the house of representatives.

POLICE SEEK TO QUESTION CURTIS AIDE

HOPPEWELL, N. J., May 19. — New Jersey state police and their colleagues of national and metropolitan forces followed today in the Lindbergh kidnaping case trails many of which had grown cold with time.

Their most helpful aid, Dr. John F. (Jaisie) Condon, rested in his home fatigued by the strain of many hours in the search of an identification to help trace down the murderer of Col. Lindbergh's baby, Charles, Jr.

John Hughes Curtis, whose fabricated story of "contacts" with the "kidnapers" had landed him as prisoner No. 13 in Flemington town jail after waiving hearing, was still a subject for examination, and his colleague, the Very Rev. Dean W. Dobson-Peacock, of Norfolk, is likely to undergo sharp interrogation at his home.

Gov. Harry Moore, of New Jersey let it be known to day he is anxious to have a New Jersey authority cross-examine Dobson-Peacock who has virtually defied the state police in their efforts to bring him here to confront Curtis. The latter, remorseful over the hoax he played in the hope of gain, has bitterly denounced Dobson-Peacock as a publicity-seeker.

WAS BRIGHT YOUTH AT 12 FORT WORTH, May 19. — John Hughes Curtis, held in connection with the Lindbergh baby hunt was "brighter than the average" as a 12-year-old boy, S. G. Dickerson, Fort Worth railroad official, recalled today.

Dickerson was a next-door neighbor to the Curtis family in Portsmouth, Va., when Curtis was a child, Dickerson said. Curtis frequently played with Dickerson children.

DAILY BIBLE THOUGHT

A SECRET RETREAT.—Hear my voice, O God, in my prayer; preserve my life. Hide me from the secret counsel of the wicked.—Psalm 64: 1, 2.

A TEMPEST IN A TEAPOT.

Cisco high school is credited with having set a number of precedents in interscholastic league football. Although the school has never won a state championship, it has gained as much publicity from its activities in the league as any other school, champion or not, with the possible exception of Waco high, which was the big frog in the pond during the formative days of the league football division.

Especially in its own district, a district whose importance in league football has been largely the fruit of Cisco's example, has that intense rivalry been manifest. Within bounds it has proven an invaluable factor in producing a type of high school competition that maintained the district in a place of leadership. But unchecked the spirit promises to escape the proportions of true sportsmanship and degenerate into a baseness that threatens not only a decent regard for the league but the value and influence of athletic competition upon the boys and girls of the schools affected.

The mess that district No. 3 has gotten itself into certainly does not reflect credit upon the school men who are responsible for the government of the educational institutions that are represented. The whole situation convinces the unbiased observer that these gentlemen are straining at a gnat. A study of the history of the controversy appears to show that the responsible parties have figuratively sat upon an egg until it has hatched a serpent. The committee, impelled by influences alien to its own better judgment and to the principles that should govern the activities over which it holds control, has simply allowed itself to be spiraled into a position which it earnestly wishes it could abandon.

Viewing the question dispassionately one is struck with the utter triviality of the entire situation. The question of Cisco's guilt or innocence has ceased to be the prime factor in the case. It has become a premise upon which to argue for the justification of the committee's all too hasty action and, on Cisco's side, for the stubbornness with which the Cisco officials refuse to bow to the ultimatum of the committee. The accusation which brought about Cisco's suspension and this unfortunate state of affairs is not a new or heinous offense. It is technical in the extreme and concerns the mere letter of the rule. One punishment was assessed when Cisco was deprived of the victory that it won by the alleged violation of the rules. If it was a violation in fact and intention Cisco should be punished. But it does not appear to be justice to permit power placed in governing hands to become an instrument of retaliation simply because someone's emotions got the better of good judgment.

The suit that the Cisco school board has ordered brought in this matter is an unfortunate precedent. If carried out there is no telling where the question will end, what disaster may be wrought and what harmful and permanent influences will be released to react not only upon Cisco and the oil belt district, but the entire state. The litigation should enable the authorities to get to the bottom of the question. They will no doubt discover what a "tempest in a teapot" they have created and when that is done the results may not be altogether pleasant in view of the regard that the public and the rest of the state will have for the principals.

The wisest course for all concerned is to come about a board, cast prejudices aside and get this question straightened out in a sane and sensible way. Otherwise all of us who have had anything to do with the question are apt to hang our heads in shame later on.

COLLEGE AT SEA.

Another "floating university" is planned for next fall. A transatlantic liner, equipped with lecture rooms, study hall, science laboratories, library, gymnasium and auditorium, is to be buildings and campus. There will be 600 students and 55 faculty members. The plan calls for stops at 61 ports in 43 countries, traveling in all a distance of nearly 40,000 miles.

Students are to be selected on the basis of character. Everything will be so well planned and provided for that any mistakes made in the first floating university experiment a few years ago may be avoided this time. The men and women listed as directors and patrons comprise a distinguished and well-known group.

There is every reason to hope for the success of this enterprise. The travel should enrich the students' experience and broaden their world outlook. They ought to be able to do routine college work as satisfactorily on the ship as anywhere, with the added advantage of the health benefits supposed to attach to sea voyages.

Truth, they used to say, is hidden at the bottom of a well. And the wells are nearly all gone.

The criminal life isn't all ransom money, either. Once in a while the police kidnap a gangster.

That Little "Forgotten Man"!

In the Political Arena

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD

Texas democrats will hold their state convention in Houston May 24. There will be a conference of the leaders of the organization known as the National Association of Young Democrats of America. This movement was born in North Carolina, its president is a North Carolinian, and he is booked to attend the Texas conference. In North Carolina there is said to be 30,000 members. Texas has a state organization a very moving and aggressive concern and the recent upheaval in the larger cities and the counties of Texas may be credited to these Young Democrats who took the bit in their mouths, tossed aside the moss-covered leaders and declared for a new program under the skies of the Lone Star. It is said Gov. Joseph D. Ely of Massachusetts has accepted an invitation to attend the Houston conference and will be the chief spellbinder of and for the function. Of course, the burning issue will bob up in the state convention in the making of the platform. At least this is the announced program of many of the new leaders who played star parts in the precinct conventions and the county conventions which followed in their wake. John N. Garner will be given a rousing endorsement and 46 instructed delegates.

Bowie county Texas, is the home of Rep. Wright Patman. He is the idol of the democrats of Bowie county, the city of Texarkana and a lot of other places. In their county convention the Bowie democrats went all the way. They instructed for Garner for president and Patman for vice president, showing their enthusiastic desire to take both places on the ticket and to tell it to the American people that Texans are the stuff of which leaders are made as in the days of Sam Houston and Andrew Jackson and all the other heroes of romance and bloody conflict.

If the sales tax proposal had been put over by the house there are leaders of the country over who say that it would have led to the certain nomination of John N. Garner. It had the backing of thousands of leaders of the country over in the world of commerce and finance. William Randolph Hearst was one of the big voices. Well, the sales tax was incorporated in the original bill reported by Chinn, Crisp and his house ways and means committee. Democratic representatives bolted. They were joined by many republican better. They tossed aside the speaker, Majority Leader Rainey, Minority Leader Snell and Crisp of Georgia. They defied the democratic house organization. They voted the sales tax proposal out of the billion dollar revenue measure and all this led to countless excise and nuisance tax proposals in the new bill which was sent to the senate. Now the senate is hammering into shape a billion dollar revenue measure and the Hoover-democratic coalition senators are groping around in the dark to invent ways and means or methods which will lop off $300,000,000 from governmental expenses in order to wipe out the deficit and preserve the credit of the nation.

Sen. Huey Long of Louisiana has changed front. He resigned from all his committees. He heeded Minority Leader Joseph Taylor Robinson in his den. He fired a broadside at the democratic leader which must have been gall and wormwood for the democrat and joy unconfined for the administration forces. Then Long cinched his argument or rather his relay of wild charges and denunciatory trimmings by making the announcement that the 26 delegates from Louisiana would be cast for Franklin D. Roosevelt for democratic standard bearer. Thus it appears that Louisiana must be removed from the column of states alleged to be controlled by the stoppers.

Huey P. Long has had a remarkable career. He came out of the ditch of poverty, and he fought his way to a seat in the United States senate after conquering all the efficient leaders of Louisiana democracy, forcing the New Orleans regulars to eat out of his hand, naming his successor in the office of governor, and lastly, cleaning out one of the leaders of the old guard who had ruled for years and taking the vacant place and toga himself. Will the senate tame him? Those who know him best say that he is untamable and will die in the last ditch.

Ben Tillman of South Carolina was nationally known as "the pitchfork" when he entered the senate. Tillman was a man with tremendous ability and as wild as the wildest bronco on the range. He was tamed. He became a regular. He bowed to senate traditions and rules. He became one of the popular members of the so-called house of lords in the period in which he served.

West Virginia is the native state of John W. Davis, said to be close to Alfred E. Smith and for the nomination of Newton D. Baker. Well, West Virginia in the preferential balloting gave Roosevelt some 65,000 votes and Alfalfa William Murray of Oklahoma less than 8,000. Roosevelt bagged the 16 delegates. Wyoming democrats led by Sen. John B. Kendrick, a native Texan, handed their delegates to the New York governor. Arizona and New Mexico resolved and instructed along the same line.

As for the republicans, they are having their own troubles. Sen. David A. Reed of Pennsylvania, deserted the dry cause for the wet. He is for the Swedish system if a change comes, and the Swedish system is absolute government control with all the profits placed in the general revenue fund of the government.

Ohio republicans nominated a wet governor, a wet senator, two wets for congressmen-at-large, and all repealers of the 18th amendment which Washington considers one of the real political surprises of the age and political prophets are predicting that the republican platform makers will insert a platform plank declaring for a nation wide referendum as advised by George W. Wickersham with nonpolitical state conventions in an off year to point out the road for the American people to travel in the future handling of the liquor problem.

As for Bishop James J. Cannon, Jr., speaking for the ultra-drys, he has scolded the warning that should the two major political parties take a new departure in the making of their platforms then it will be for the drys to organize a national prohibition party and go it alone. The fire alarm has been sounded. Let loose the battlers.

Fork-Tailed Lizard Presented Museum

SAN ANTONIO, May 19. — Witte Memorial Museum here has been presented with a fork-tailed lizard which grew a second tail from a point on the original tail where it was injured.

The lizard, which was captured by Miss Margaret Dees, is about six inches long. Its original tail was injured, and the accessory tail grew from the injured place. The vertebral is not reproduced in the accessory tail, but a cartilage growth makes its rigid. It, along with the Tanguid lizard, blind worm, and grass snake, is capable of breaking off a portion of its tail by muscular contraction when pursued so the pursuer will be diverted from his chase by the wriggling portion long enough for the lizard to get away.

While others maintain that in order to bring back normal times we must redouble every energy in every direction toward getting better markets and more money in circulation.

$12,000,000 ASKED FOR FARMERS OF THIS STATE

Setting aside of $12,000,000 of the $20,000,000 funds of the Reconstruction finance corporation as a revolving fund for the financing of deserving farmers and livestockmen of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona is advocated by the Dallas Agricultural club.

"If the principal purpose of the reconstruction finance corporation is to reconstruct prosperity," declared Frank P. Holland, of Farm and Ranch, in addressing the club, "why not go back to the soil which is the real source of all wealth. I believe for the first time in the history of the United States business men are making that statement and believing it. Much more can be accomplished in restoring prosperity by helping the farmer than by loaning huge sums to railroads, insurance companies, banks, etc."

Congress is considering doubling the $2,000,000,000 appropriation for the reconstruction finance corporation and increasing its effectiveness.

Mr. Holland pointed out, and he emphasized the necessity of congress recognizing the justice and wisdom of having loans made available to farmers through the farmer loan division of the reconstruction finance corporation so long as the corporation is authorized to grant loans to commercial institutions.

Entitled to $12,000,000, Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, in proportion to their relative agricultural production as compared with other states, are entitled to $12,000,000 of the $25,000,000 made available by congress for assistance in the reconstruction of agriculture, Mr. Holland said.

Farmers of North Dakota alone have borrowed more than $8,000,000 while the little more than $3,000,000 loaned farmers of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona during the brief loan period ending April 30 almost exclusively to small farmers hardly real source of all wealth. "I believe for the first time in the history of the United States business men are making that statement and believing it. Much more can be accomplished in restoring prosperity by helping the farmer than by loaning huge sums to railroads, insurance companies, banks, etc."

Feed can only be marketed in the form of livestock, Mr. Holland pointed out, and loans longer than six months are necessary to enable farmers to realize on their livestock. Building of fences and other improvements are essential to help farmers adapt their farms to advanced farming methods and there is urgent necessity for extending credit for such purposes, he declared.

The Dallas Agricultural club officials are requesting all farmers and friends of agriculture to write Secretary Hyde and members of congress appealing to them to recognize the needs of the farmers of the Southwest.

A Court of Honor was held at the First Methodist church in Eastland last Thursday night with K. B. Tanner acting as chairman of the court and the following came for various awards: John Hart, Raymond Pipkin, Fred Downport.

Another court of honor will be held one month from that date.

Judge Eugene Lankford presided at the court of honor held in Cisco last Friday night at the First Presbyterian church. He was assisted by George Irvine, Sr., and Frank Heid. A beautiful candle ceremony was presented by the higher rank scouts to 14 new Tenderfoot Scouts at the beginning of the program. A number of mothers and fathers were in attendance. The following scouts came up for various awards: Billy Wallace, Mackie McCowen, Wagner Fields, Victor Lawson, Enders Huey, L. B. Campbell, Melvin Lawson, De-ward Boyd, George Robert Winston, Kesler Thomas, Coleman Williams, and some others that we failed to get their names.

Nine Dublin Scouts received their second class badges at a court of honor held at the First Methodist church last Tuesday night. Rev. J. M. Bradford, chairman of the court of honor presided, assisted by Andrew Urban, W. E. Sparks, Ray Franks, and R. S. Vestal.

This is a splendid showing for troop 23, it having been organized only three months. J. R. Fraley was presented with the scoutmaster badge. Each member of the court of honor made a short talk, congratulating the scoutmaster and the scouts on the progress that the troop has made.

Since this was the first court of honor to be held, G. N. Quiri, scout executive acted as secretary of the court. Mr. Franks is secretary of the court and will act in this capacity from now on. The next court of honor will be held at the First Baptist church along with a special program on Flag Day and will be followed by a special church service in the auditorium.

Summer Camp.

Plans are now under way for moving the mess hall from Camp Martin to Camp Billy Gibbons so that all will be in readiness for the annual summer camp July 19-26. A number of scout leaders have offered their services gratis, to help carry out the project. The mess hall seats some 140 scouts and the camping committee hopes to arrange the hall to accommodate about 350 at one time. The water will be piped from a spring some 600 or 700 yards from the camp site so the scouts need not worry about having to carry water this year.

Mother's Day Observance.

Troop 15 of Rising Star, Texas, observed Mother's day in a most unusual and appropriate manner. The same method of paying respects to the mothers of the scouts was employed by the troop some four years ago. Much favorable comment has been received about the novel way in which the scouts of the troop observed the day.

Through the courtesy of the local Western Union, Scoutmaster Otha W. Venable required a number of special Mother's Day telegraph blanks and envelopes. An appropriate inscription was typed on each blank and Sunday morning the scouts gathered at troop headquarters for the purpose of delivering the telegrams. Each scout delivered a telegram to some other scout's home and accordingly, most of the mothers were pleasantly surprised.

Overnight Hike.

Scouts of troop 15 in company of Otha Venable, scoutmaster, Senny Gayle Busbee and H. H. Jones, member of the local camping committee, had an overnight camp at Blake Friday, May 6th.

After the usual procedure of making the camp had been followed, most of the scouts went swimming in spite of the only mildly warm May afternoon. According to camping committee member, H. H. Jones, the nearest he ever came to being an iceberg was when he went in swimming here.

After 4 a. m. a gentle rain began to fall, which soon developed into quite a shower. The scouts all made a break for the truck and when they arrived home, they were a bedraggled looking lot.

the MAN HUNTERS BY MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY Susan Carey, 20 and beautiful, has become engaged to marry Ernest Heath 45, her former employer.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLI

The man's eyes, staring at Susan from beneath the powdered wig, were stern, almost accusing.

"Yes, it's I," said Bob quietly. "Why are you so surprised? You came here to torment me, didn't you?"

It was her turn to be angry. Why was he so stupid, spoiling everything the first chance they had to be together?

"I think you could be a little mad," she said coldly. "I hadn't the remotest notion I should see you here. Will you let me go now?"

"No, I won't. I've been wanting to talk to you and by the lord Harry I'm going to do it."

Susan assumed a look of proud recognition but inwardly she exulted in his masterfulness.

"Very well, but can't we sit down some place?" Her smile vanished and with it the pretty, pouting manner.

"I'm not going to lodge," she informed him. Her contemptuous glance surveyed Susan.

"I don't know what this is all about," she said icily, "but perhaps you will be good enough to tell me."

"You don't ch? You haven't the remotest suspicion, I suppose." He frowned over her, his brows black with anger.

"What sort of a girl?" She gave him a look all innocent candor. "You know what I mean."

"You'll have to speak more plainly than that, I'm afraid," Susan informed him. "I don't understand riddles."

He folded his arms and regarded her wrathfully. "When I saw you that night at the theater — when I heard what it was all about — I couldn't believe it."

"What was it you heard?" He made a vague gesture, stumbling for a graceful way to say it.

"He's not old," said Susan. "Lots of successful marriages are made with just such difference in ages."

"Marriages!" He was frankly taken aback. "Of course," Susan drew herself up with hauteur.

"I beg your pardon," the boy muttered. "No, I don't either. That's just as bad as what I thought at first. Even worse, in fact. What right have you —"

Susan rose. "I think you've said quite enough. I can't imagine what made you think you could tell me how to run my life. You've shown little enough interest in it up to now."

"Shown little interest! Oh, that's good! That's very good!" He laughed bitterly. "When I've been combing the town for you for every crowd I passed."

Her hands flew to the laces at her breast. "Did you — did you do that too?" she asked with awe.

Dumbly they stood for a moment regarding each other, these two young things. The fury of their quarrel dissolved like snow flakes in the sunshine.

"What are we thinking of?" she cried. "I must be losing my mind. 'You can't go back now.'"

"You know it's all up. You can't go on with this monstrous notion. 'She was trembling but her eyes were stary. 'Whatever happens,' she murmured, 'we've had this mixture of knowing we care for each other. That's a lot.'"

"Stop that idiotic talk," the young man growled. "You know there's no use pretending."

They had not noticed that the music had stopped and couples had begun to drift toward the supper room, so absorbed were they in each other.

"You're not going to lodge," she informed him. Her contemptuous glance surveyed Susan.

She Reduced 38 Pounds The Safe Way

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for 4 months and I think they are wonderful. I am 32 years old and 5 ft. 2 in. tall. I was very fat. I weighed 185 lbs. and now I weigh 127 lbs. and feel fine. If I let up taking the Salts one morning I feel lazy and heavy." Mrs. Florence Loftus, Boston. This is just one of hundreds of letters we get every month. Kruschen not only causes you to lose fat but while you are losing it you gain in health — in vivaciousness — you lose fat where fat is most prominent and at the same time keep stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels functioning naturally. Moore Drug Co. or any drugstore in the world will sell you a jar of Kruschen for a trifling sum — take one-half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning — go light on fatty meats, potatoes and sweets. But for your health's sake demand and get Kruschen Salts — imitations are numerous. It's the little daily dose that does it.—Adv.

UPON TRIZKY IN CYCLOPEDIA

By EUGENE LYONS
Special Press Staff Correspondent
CISCO, May 19. — A vitriolic book on Leon Trotsky has been placed in a place in Soviet scientific literature with the publication recently of the final volumes of the "Small Soviet Encyclopedia."
The ten closely-printed volumes of this first complete encyclopedia summarizing all history and all knowledge from a Bolshevik standpoint were prepared under the guidance of leading Russian scientists.
The exigencies of the political situation, however, have worked havoc with historic facts.
The eighth volume, for instance,
includes articles on both Trotsky
and Stalin. A reading of the two,
to a young Russian who does not know the true history creates the distinct impression that Stalin was the great military hero of that period with Trotsky a minor and negligible figure.

Four Words to Role
The encyclopedia devotes exactly four words to Trotsky's role in creating and leading the Red Army.
In listing his positions after the revolution, the article merely includes a mention of his position as Commissar of War. Stalin, however, has a long list of specific military achievements listed to his credit.

About one page is given to Trotsky, and most of that is taken up by a learned character analysis showing him as a chronically counter-revolutionary. He is not even granted the dignity of a portrait in connection with the biography although the volume is woven through with portraits of minor Communist figures.
Indeed, as though to emphasize Trotsky's lack of importance, the encyclopedia found space on adjoining pages for pictures of such things as a tombstone, a triton and Trojanian pottery.

Full Page Picture
Stalin, of course, has a fullpage portrait in color set into the several pages devoted to a superlative biography. He is described in the opening sentence in the following modest terms: "An old Bolshevik, professional revolutionary, nearest and truest pupil and disciple of Lenin, distinguished theoretician, outstanding leader and head of the Communist International." The tone remains at the same high-pitched level throughout nearly four pages.

The character analysis of Trotsky
is written and signed by the editor-in-chief himself, Prof. N. L. Mescheryakov.
The professor goes on to claim that Trotsky was never able to understand the new working-class psychology after the revolution and therefore could never become a real Leninist.

A larger encyclopedia, running to perhaps a hundred volumes, is in preparation. The Communist theory denies the existence of abstract objective knowledge. All knowledge, including sciences like mathematics,
are colored by the economic class which controls society.

FAMOUS JUNGLE TALE COMES TO PALACE SCREEN

"Tarzan the Ape Man", based on the hair-raising story of jungle adventure by Edgar Rice Burroughs,
will be the attraction at the Palace theatre for the next Sunday and Monday. Johnny Weissmuller, world's champion swimmer and considered to have one of the finest physiques
of any man living, plays the title role of the strange white man who lives in the jungle like the apes.
Prominent roles are also played by Neil Hamilton, Maureen O'Sullivan,

JOHNNY WEISSMULLER and MAUREEN
O'SULLIVAN in "TARZAN The Ape Man."

C. Aubrey Smith, Doris Lloyd, Forrester Harvey and Ivory Williams.
The picture was directed by W. S.
Van Dyke who achieved such sensational results with "Trader Horn."
Seek Burial Ground

The story, laid for the most part in the beautiful Lake Alberta region of Africa, concerns the attempt of a handful of English adventurers to find the mysterious
"Elephant's Burial Ground" where they hope to secure a fortune in ivory. The daughter of the leader of the safari is abducted by Tarzan the Ape man, who lifts her bodily from the ground and then carries her away beyond reach of human hands by swinging through the tops of trees at dizzying heights. Their continually exciting and oft-times thrilling adventures with wild beasts, pygmies and other jungle terrors make this a picture which is said to contain even more hair-raising episodes than the celebrated "Trader Horn."

Among these are numbered the attack upon the safari night camp by starved lions; a fight between Tarzan and a bull ape; the rescue of an elephant trapped in a pit; the charge of elephants through a pygmy village and the escape of the safari from death in a man-eating gorilla pit.

Geo. Metcalf, Palo Pinto; Lon E.
Shew, Strawn; Dr. A. K. Wier,

Putnam; B. E. McGlamery, Eastland; M. G. Scott, Trent; Herbert Fatter-on, Merkel; Dr. P. T. Quast, Sweetwater.

Dr. Hunt of McMurtry college and Dr. Sandifer of Simmons university conferred with Williams while he was in Abilene and offered him their support in choosing a chairman for that city.

Williams left this morning for a two weeks' tour, making a swing
through North Texas, the panhandle and extreme east Texas,
during which he will organize more
"Erskine Williams for Congress" clubs to add to the 53 which are already functioning.

DO YOU INHALE?

...wonder why
cigarette advertising generally avoids this question?

ONE of the mysteries in cigarette advertising has been the apparent fear of the word "inhale." It seems rather foolish—for everybody inhales—whether they realize it or not... every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

Think, then, how important it is to be certain that your cigarette smoke is pure and clean—to be sure that you don't inhale certain impurities.

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question... because when you smoke Luckies your delicate membranes get the protection no other cigarette affords. All other methods have been made old-fashioned by Luckies' famous purifying process.

Luckies created that process. Only
Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? Of course you do! So truly this message is for you.
