STERLING ASKS LONGER SESSION

Water Minimum Raised to 5,000 Gallons by Commission

PAVING IN BELMONT TO BE FINISHED

The city commission, in session yesterday afternoon raised the water minimum from 3,000 gallons per month to 5,000 gallons. The new regulation will be effective June 1 on May readings. Motion to raise the minimum was made by Commissioner Clements and seconded by Commissioner Burnett.

The commission met in a called session at 1:30 p. m. with Mayor J. T. Berry and all commissioners present with the exception of George D. Fee, water commissioner, who is ill in a Temple hospital.

Representatives of the auditing firm of Ernst and Ernst, which has the contract for auditing the city books, were present. They are due to start work on the audit immediately.

The commission, on motion by Commissioner Clements, seconded by Commissioner Elliott, voted to provide accident insurance for members of the fire department while on duty. Contract of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company for this insurance, carrying a premium of $187.50 was accepted by the commission.

On motion of Commissioner Elliott, seconded by Commissioner Donovan, Street Commissioner Clements was authorized to proceed with the completion of paving in the Belmont addition under terms of a previous agreement between the city and the developers of the addition by which the developers would furnish the materials and the city would do the paving.

Tax adjustment matters and other routine business occupied the remainder of the session.

RACKETEER IS IN HOSPITAL, BADLY STABBED

NEW YORK, May 21.—Vannie Higgins, one of New York's most powerful beer runners and racketeers was taken to the Polyclinic hospital today in a critical condition from knife wounds.

Higgins' assailant was unlocated as he refused to tell police who had stabbed him. The racketeer, who heads a widely feared gang in Brooklyn and who formerly was associated with Jack "Legs" Diamond, was taken to the hospital in a taxi cab from Long Island.

Although suffering intensely from three deep gashes in the chest Higgins consented to talk with detectives long enough to say he had been stabbed in Flushing, L. I.

"My wife knows who did it," he said. Police immediately began a search for the racketeer's wife but learned at the Higgins' home that she had not been there since 7 o'clock last night.

Moore Drug Stages Two-for-One Sale

The Moore Drug company is staging its first annual Nyal 2-for-1 sale Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, advertisement of which is featured in today's Daily News.

These 2-for-1 sales of standard quality items always attract attention as it is an opportunity to cash in on better than prewar prices on every-day needs.

This store extends its invitation to take advantage of these savings during the three days, beginning today.

GIVEN 5 YEARS.

C. Thurman, charged with swindling, was found guilty by a jury in Judge Geo. L. Davenport's 91st district court and sentenced to serve 5 years in the state penitentiary.

Thurman was alleged to have given a worthless $55 check in payment of cattle purchased from M. A. Hollis.

CASE RESET.

AUSTIN, May 21.—After sustaining exceptions of the state to the answer of the Texas and Pacific railway in the suit to prevent the railroad company drilling for oil on its right-of-way, Judge J. D. Moore, of the 98th district court here, has reset the case for May 28.

Army "Hornets" Preen Wings for War Games

Greatest air maneuvers in U. S. history began at Dayton, O., where 670 military planes concentrated for mimic warfare before an aerial "attack" on New York. The group of ships pictured above at the Dayton base are among the fastest in the army, capable of going around 200 miles an hour. Giant bombers, observation planes, and fast pursuit and scout ships from all parts of the nation converged on Dayton, from which they will conduct maneuvers to Chicago and Detroit before flying to New York and other eastern cities.

ROTARY CLUB NAMES ENVOY TO CONVENTION

The Cisco Rotary club today elected a delegate and alternate to the convention of Rotary International at Vienna, Austria, as the principal item of business on its program. Leon Mauer, who retires as president of the club at the first July meeting, was chosen delegate, and J. J. Collins, incoming vice-president, was chosen alternate.

Mr. Collins, as chairman of the program, introduced J. E. Spencer, member of the club and chairman of the county chapter of the Red Cross, who devoted the program period to an explanation of the international relief organization and a narrative of its history since its organization in the early 1860s in Geneva, Switzerland.

The program was presented in connection with the observance of the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Red Cross in America. Report of Edward Lee revealed that members of the Rotary club had contributed more than $100 toward the fund for sending the high school band to the national high school band contest at Tulsa, Okla.

R. N. Cluck, Rotarian and school superintendent, reported upon an expenditure of approximately $29 to provide necessary articles for children attending school and unable to provide these things for themselves.

Among the visitors present for the program were Robert Holloway, former Cisco attorney now of Brownwood; P. W. Campbell, of Abilene, and A. B. O'Flaherty.

Minister Will Be Ordained Tonight

Ordination of the Rev. Martin Agnew will take place at services tonight at the East Cisco Baptist church. Dr. M. E. Davis, of the Bible department of Howard Payne college, Brownwood, will assist in the ordination.

A number of visiting ministers will be present for the service and a cordial invitation is extended to the public. The services will begin at 8 o'clock.

New Trial to Be Asked for Harmon

FORT WORTH, May 21.—Motion for a new trial for S. K. Harmon, convicted and given 10 years in prison for the murder of W. S. Kueker, will be filed Thursday or Friday, Albert Baskin, one of Harmon's attorneys, said Thursday.

If the motion is overruled the case will be appealed, he added.

Cisco Girl Is Degree Candidate

SAN MARCOS, May 21.—Among the candidates for degrees from Southwest Texas State Teachers college at the end of the spring term is Miss Louise Snoddy of Cisco, Texas. Miss Snoddy is a member of Pi Gamma Mu, Allie Evans Literary society and has served as adviser of the Girl Reserves. She will receive her B. S. degree.

BARRED FROM DRIVING

AUSTIN, May 2.—Persons convicted of drunken driving in Texas after August 20 will be barred from driving for a period not to exceed two years under terms of a bill signed by Gov. Sterling today.

Length of the ban on driving rests with the trial judge.

ANOTHER CHARGE

Hershey McMinn, given a five year suspended sentence in the 88th district court last Friday on a theft charge, is facing another charge.

McMinn, it is alleged fired several shots from a pistol on the streets of Olden Friday night, following his conviction in the Eastland court. He is also facing a number of other charges.

NO WORD FROM COMM'R GEO. FEE

No report has been received from City Commissioner George D. Fee who has been in a hospital at Temple receiving treatment for the past week.

METHODIST CONFERENCE CLOSED TODAY

The annual conference of the Cisco district of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, was to come to a conclusion at an afternoon session today. Originally scheduled to close with a sermon by Bishop Sam R. Hay, of San Antonio, the conference was extended into the afternoon for a business session at which a place for the meeting next year will be chosen.

Delegates elected to this morning the annual Central Texas conference at Waco in November are: Mrs. T. Edgar Neal and George Winston, of Cisco; B. E. McGlamery, of Eastland; Mrs. A. E. Turney, of Ring Star; H. B. Furr and J. R. Banc, of Breckenridge; Walter Harwell, of Ranger. Alternates chosen are G. P. Mitcham, of Cisco; Mrs. E. W. Kimble, of Gorman, and Judge and Mrs. J. E. Hickman, of Eastland.

"Jesus Only" was the theme of the sermon of Bishop Sam R. Hay to a large audience at 11:30. About 150 delegates and ministers attended the business session prior to the sermon.

Following the preaching services the women of the First Methodist church, where the conference took place, served lunch to the delegates and ministers.

Dr. Lee Preaches

An audience that filled the auditorium of the church heard Dr. Umphrey Lee, pastor of a Dallas Methodist church, preach last night. Dr. Lee is a former pastor of the church. He told his hearers that the duty of the church is not only to provide shelter but to shed that light which makes possible growth and development.

The vested choir of the First Methodist church, of Breckenridge, directed by Mrs. John Ward, presented a program of sacred music and Paul D. Farling, of Cisco, sang "My Task". Mrs. B. A. Butler accompanied Mr. Farling.

Appearing before the business session of the conference this morning were: Dr. C. Q. Smith, of the Methodist hospital at Fort Worth, speaking in the interest of the institution; the Rev. W. E. Andrews, speaking in the interest of the superannuate endowment fund, and the Rev. J. W. Shuler, of Itasca, speaking in behalf of the board of missions of the church.

CHURCH DEBT PRACTICALLY RAISED.

The concerted drive to raise $3,000 for paying off an installment of the building debt on the First Methodist church today had resulted in securing $2,900 for this purpose, it was announced. Several members are yet to be seen and it was considered certain that the remaining $100 would be raised without difficulty.

The campaign began with a luncheon Monday noon. At a luncheon Tuesday noon approximately $2,300 had been raised.

WILL CONDUCT BASKET BALL COACH SCHOOL.

Coach H. R. Garrett, of Randolph college, one of the most successful basketball coaches in the state and particularly so of girls' teams, will conduct a coaching school in conjunction with the college curricula for the summer session, it was announced today. Both boys' and girls' basketball will be taught. The school is being planned particularly for the benefit of rural instructors.

Mr. Garrett has had outstanding success with girls' teams in the national and sectional A. A. U. tournaments.

Laugh and Sing as Death Threatens

MAN CHARGED IN BURGLARY OF OKRA STORE

EASTLAND, May 21.—G. W. Samuels, arrested by Ranger officers Wednesday night, May 13, after citizens of Cheaney were said to have caught him at the Blackwell store in Cheaney, is facing another charge of burglary. Perry Burns of Okra has identified Samuels as the man who burglarized his store about a month ago.

When Cheaney citizens found Samuels at the Cheaney store with a quantity of groceries in his possession they took charge of him and held him until officers arrived from Ranger and arrested him, officers said. He was brought to Eastland, where complaints were filed against him. A few days ago Perry Burns was in Eastland and went to the county jail to see Samuels. He identified him as the man he had seen in his store on the afternoon of the day it was robbed that night.

Samuels gave the county attorney a statement in which he admitted taking some groceries from the store at Cheaney, but denied he knew anything about the burglary of the Okra store. He said that he was hungry and needed groceries when he went into the Cheaney store.

Eastland officers, accompanied by Burns, went to Samuels' home in Comanche county, taking with them a search warrant for the house. In the house they said they found concealed a quantity of groceries, etc., which Burns identified as a part of those stolen from him when his store was burglarized.

Pool Is Made Ready for Formal Opening

In preparation for the formal opening of the swimming pool at Lake Cisco was washed out again last night by members of the fire department following the heavy rain of Monday.

Mr. Garrett has had outstanding success with girls' teams in the national and sectional A. A. U. tournaments.

New rules in girls' basketball will be explained and illustrated. Other branches of coaching may also be taken up.

Although the pool has been open to swimmers since about May 1 the formal opening was delayed until the coming of warmer weather. Manager Albert Hunt is inviting the people of Cisco and the surrounding section to swim free in the big pool during the day.

The festivities will be concluded with a dance at the Lake Cisco pavilion for which a nine-piece orchestra has been secured.

NO ACTION IS TAKEN IN LEGISLATURE

AUSTIN, May 21.—Future course of the session of the Texas legislature was uncertain when the senate recessed until afternoon without acting on a recommendation from Governor Ross Sterling that the session time be extended. Friday noon is the scheduled adjournment time unless changed. By turning back the clock the session likely will run far beyond noon.

Governor Sterling's suggestion for an extension of the session with a possible recess for members to go home was met with "boos" when it was read in the house of representatives. The house took no action upon it prior to recessing to 2 p. m.

Senator Grady Woodruff has proposed a week's extension of the session. Senator W. R. Poage offered an amendment to recess for a month.

Senator Thomas Pollard declared a recess will only keep the schools, business and the state generally in an unsettled condition.

Senator B. F. Berkley declared the thing to do is extend the session long enough to pass out the matters now in conference committees adjourn and "let the future take its course."

LIE DETECTOR RULED OUT OF MURDER TRIAL

VALPARAISO, Ind., May 21.—The "lie detector" today was definitely ruled out of the second trial of Virgil Kirkland on charges of murdering Arlene Draves, his sweetheart.

Most of the morning was spent questioning expert witnesses regarding the accuracy of Leonard Keeler's instrument which he claims detects falsehood by gauging the blood pressure of the subject.

Following the testimony during which the jury was excused, Judge Grant Crumpacker overruled two defense motions, one asking that results of a lie detector test on Kirkland be admitted into evidence and the other that the instrument be applied in the court room.

Depth Gauge for Cisco Dam Suggested

A number of citizens, interested in Lake Cisco and the impression the big reservoir and vacation center makes upon visitors, have suggested that the city have a depth gauge painted on the dam so that the depth of the lake may be readily known by visitors.

It was suggested that the city, with practically no expense, could sound the lake and paint a correct gauge on the sloping face of the dam. This would be of value, not only in providing visitors with an idea of the magnitude of the lake but in making it easy to keep accurate statistics on the fluctuation of the water volume in the reservoir, it was pointed out.

First Conviction Under New Law

John Boney, charged with the possession of a still, was found guilty by a jury in the 91st district court and punishment was fixed at two years confinement in the penitentiary with a suspension of sentence.

Boney was the first man in the state to be tried under a new law passed by the Texas legislature and recently signed by Governor Sterling whereby a man, over 25 years of age and charged with a violation of the state liquor laws, may receive a suspended sentence.

FIEND MURDERS AID SCOTLAND YARD'S START

By ARTHUR F. DEGREVE
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON, May 21.—Scotland Yard followed a trail of blood to fame.

In 1888 a maniacal slayer who slashed his victims to death had terrorized the slums of London. He sent a letter to police smeared thereon and blazily informed them when his next crime would be committed.

The public was panicky. Women and children lived behind closed doors.

"Jack to Ripper," as the fiend signed his letter, was on every tongue. The press bitterly criticized the police and especially Scotland Yard, organized 10 years before, for its failure to capture the man.

Force Augmented
Using this as an example that crime was increasing, police officials demanded and received additional men to augment the detective force.

This proved to be the vital spark needed to raise the "Yard" from an ordinary group of plain-clothes men to an agency which has grown to be feared by the worst criminals in the world. A series of sensational murders which were promptly solved "sold" Scotland Yard to Great Britain.

The detective story, the popularity of which has so increased in recent years, has made a super-Sherlock Holmes out of a plain, business-like man who spends as much as science to bring criminals to justice, according to officials.

Lieut. Andrew Oliphant, who retired after serving two score years on the force, in commenting on this phase of the situation said:

No Sherlock Holmes
"No detective possess uncanny powers such as Sherlock Holmes."

And, another shock to thriller readers is contained in the statements of other police heads that detectives rarely use disguises but dress in such a way as not to attract attention.

All are excellent marksmen but do not carry guns. The chief value of the Scotland Yard agent is his keenly developed powers of analysis and observation which, aided by every modern invention of science, gives him the advantage in coping with the modern criminal, authorities say.

Sherlock Holmes, they say, wouldn't search in dust bins for discarded cans of lobster but Scotland Yard did and convicted a gang of defaulters.

Also, the famous Doyle detective probably would await a call from the mysterious woman in red, but Scotland Yard solved a robbery of a Catholic church by photographing a foot print on a window ledge and arrested the thief a few days later, although these officials point out, there are thousands of criminals in England who wear shoes.

Chief Constable Frederick Wensley who retired recently was known as the world's cleverest detective. He was offered a position to reorganize the Chicago police department but declined. His tenacity and shrewd deductions led to the arrest of "Peter the Painter," a dangerous anarchist in 1910.

Trace Bottle
It is doubted here that Sherlock Holmes would have followed the same steps as a Scotland Yard man assigned to investigating a murder of a woman, committed on the docks. The face and head had been badly beaten. The officer was convinced a bottle was used and later thrown into the water.

A force of divers was employed and fragments of broken glass brought to the surface. The number of the bottle was traced to a public house where the possible purchaser's name was revealed. A few weeks later the man was hanged on the gallows. One murderer was traced by a picture and one by an insurance policy.

Scotland Yard doesn't shout but knows there is no such thing as a "perfect crime." They always look for the minor details which the slayer in anxiety to cover his crime has overlooked. Some crimes may still be unsolved but Scotland Yard never sleeps and never forgets.

COMPLAIN OF UNFAIR FILM ADVERTISING

Following Mr. Eugene W. Castle, of Castle Films, who has sent a complaint to the Federal Trade Commission charging Paramount-Public and Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc. with unfair trade practices by showing "sponsored" advertising films in their theatres without labelling them as such so that the public might know that they are paid advertisements, P. S. Harrison, editor and publisher of Harrison's Reports, a moving picture publication, devoted exclusively to criticizing moving pictures and unfair trade practices within the motion picture industry, has led a similar complaint against Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

Mr. Harrison calls the attention of the Federal Trade Commission to the resolution, that was introduced by the independent theatre owners at the Trade Practice conference of the motion picture industry, which was held on October 10, 1927, under the auspices of the Federal Trade Commission. This resolution, which was adopted unanimously by all the branches of the motion picture industry, declared that the inclusion in films of advertisements for which compensation is received is an unfair trade practice.

The introductory title of every film produced by Warner Bros. and by its subsidiaries, Vitaphone, Inc. and First National, Inc., carries a line informing the public that a certain brand of radio is used. In most such pictures no radio of any kind is used. But the line is there just the same, because Warner Bros. owns this company, and is taking advantage of the independent theatre owners, who are compelled to show this advertisement on their screens without their consent, and against their will. Mr. Harrison calls the attention of the Federal Trade Commission to this unfair practice and demands that it issue an order enjoining Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc. and its subsidiaries, First National Pictures, Inc., and Vitaphone, Inc., from continuing this unfair trade practice.

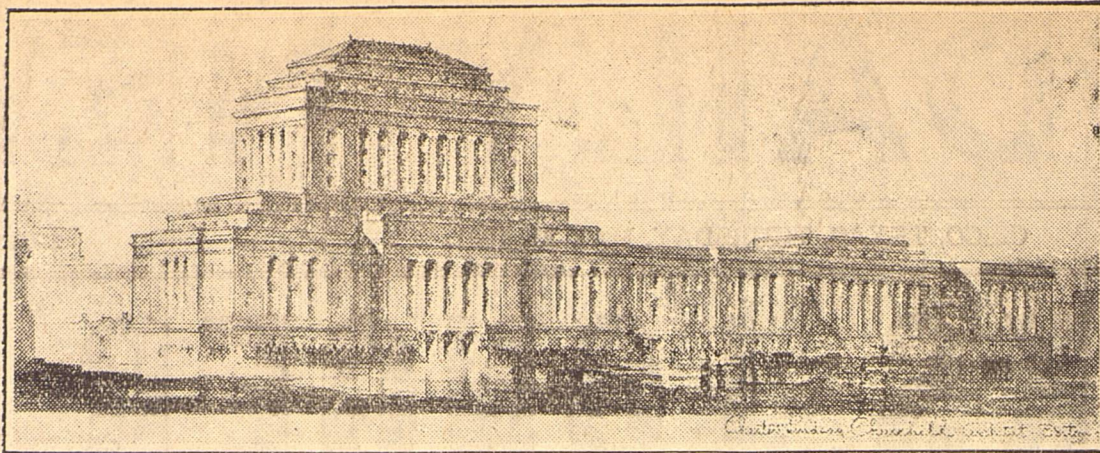

TOTS ATTACK THUGS.
SEATTLE, May 21.—Three children, ranging in age from 3 to 8, jumped to the defense of their mother, Mrs. Ruth Bodle, when a thug sprang onto the running board of her parked car and began beating her and snatched at her purse. The children put their tiny fists into action and the thug escaped, with the purse. Charles, 8, and Jeanne, 3, pursued him for a short distance.

New Christian Science Publishing House

BOSTON, Mass. — Continued growth of the activities of The Christian Science Publishing Society has necessitated expanded facilities. To meet this condition The Christian Science Board of Directors of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston, Massachusetts, will erect, as soon as plans and arrangements are completed, a new Publishing House.

Here provision will be made for the needs of The Christian Science Monitor, The Christian Science Journal, The Christian Science Sentinel and all other literature published by the Society.

The new building, which will cost in the neighborhood of $3,000,000, will occupy approximately 58,000 square feet of ground bounded by Massachusetts Avenue, Norway, Falmouth and Clearway, Streets, Back Bay, Opera-catch. Both are puzzled over how the fish found the bait in the muddy water.

OLD JAIL NOW KENNEL.
NEWTOWN, Conn., May 21.—Vagrants passing the estate of Mrs. Edith C. Parker may recognize the cage in which she displays choice breeds of dogs raised in her kennels. It is the old town jail.

CATCH EYELESS FISH.
HOMER, Neb., May 21.—Leo Biede has a good fish story to tell. While angling in a lake near here he caught an eyeless bullhead. The fish had a perfectly smooth head. A fellow fisherman vouches for the an all-stone building of the Italian Renaissance type, the lower story to be of granite and the upper stories of limestone.

Special attention will be given to the installation of modern heating and ventilating devices. The central plant will be housed in a building adapted to it, with an ornamental tower inclosing the stack, the tower to be of brick and stone conforming with the beauty and symmetry of the main building.

The building now occupied by The Christian Science Publishing Society, completed in 1908, will be used for the administration offices of The Mother Church.

The architect is Chester Lindsay Churchill, and with him is associated Lockwood-Greene Engineers, Inc., of Boston, which will have charge of the plant layout.

The structure will have a varying height. The Massachusetts Avenue end of the building, which will be used for offices, will be nine stories in height, while that part which is opposite The Mother Church edifice will be three and four stories in height and in scale with this edifice.

The publishing building will be related in architectural style to The Mother Church, and its design has been influenced by the fact that in the future it probably will become one of a group of buildings which will surround and form a fitting architectural setting for the Church. It will

AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION NEWS

From the Office of the County Agent and The Home Demonstration Agent.

Pecan Schools Held.

Over 100 pecan growers attended the pecan schools last week and learned how to insert pecan buds. The patch budding method was advocated by Jim Kelley of the state department of agriculture. Mr. Kelley explained that there were many fads in pecan budding due to the various methods of cutting buds and the different protective materials used. He recommended that beginners stick close to the patch bud while experimenting with any fancy short cuts. The method used is immaterial just so long as the buds are made to grow. After care is very important with budding as well as grafting since the successful growth of the new shoot depends on correct pruning back at the proper time. All grafts should be tied to a brace to prevent blowing off and some buds will need the same attention. Many buds that start off fine are lost because of neglect. It is a great mistake according to Mr. Kelley, to place buds and grafts and expect them to do well with no additional attention.

Mr. Kelley was impressed with the large amount of native timber in the county and the number of owners who have started to clean out the foreign growth and give the pecans a fair chance. He urged all owners of native pecans to cut out or poison foreign growth giving the pecans more room and sunlight.

Ten demonstrations were given during the week with the county agent, vocational teachers and state department of agriculture cooperating. An effort had been made to select the place for each demonstration where no pecan improvement had been done so as to get as much new work started as possible. Mr. Kelley distributed copies of the bulletin, "The Pecan in Texas," bulletin No. 95, which may be had free of cost by writing the state department of agriculture at Austin.

When the Thousand-Acre Pecan club was being promoted for the purpose of getting small pecan groves planted from native nuts all over the county it was proposed to give a pecan budding demonstration within reach of every member of the club. It was partly for the purpose of meeting this agreement that the pecan schools have just been held.

WOMAN MAYOR GOVERNS WITH DIRECT ACTION

PACIFIC GROVE, Calif., May 21.—Mayor Julia B. Platt, 73, oldest woman mayor in the United States, may rule this seaside community with scientific logic and she may rule it with a crusading axe.

She smilingly admitted today that though she regards the task of city government as just another scientific problem, she has known the expediency of direct action and would not hesitate again to employ it. She referred to two occasions: Once when she protested against an attempt to aggrandize public beach property for private gain by smashing a bathhouse barrier with an axe; another time when she urged beautification of a scenic spot and failing to get quick action, led a crew of volunteers with spades and wheelbarrows until the jittersed spot was cleaned and planted in flowers.

Practical Biology

Miss Platt was a practicing biologist in Germany and Naples before settling here 31 years ago. "My training in the laboratory," she said, "gave me a fondness for a problem. I find this training very valuable on this new job. I hope to work out this town's problems as I would any arising in the laboratory. Sometimes that can't be done; then we'll try something else." She laughed.

She ran for mayor, she said, because politicians were threatening to undermine her favorite reform, the city manager form of government, established here four years ago, mainly through her efforts.

Staunch Humanitarian

She doesn't mind seeing anyone take a drink, but hates to see anyone get drunk. She doesn't object to women smoking, though she feels it is unhealthy in excess. She is a staunch humanitarian and her arch-hate is the "eye-for-an-eye" theory of punishment. She believes that many are thus penalized for hereditary and environmental accidents beyond their control. She believes, instead, in correctional and educational methods, which are, she said, in their infancy.

She is a New Englander, born in Burlington, Vt. She was graduated from the University of Vermont in 1882.

To this end Mr. Martin declares that "400 county and home demonstration agents, district agents and specialists are rapidly developing farm men and women, boys and girls, into demonstrators who are tackling every phase of farming and ranching and money-making with better and bigger ideas. As these demonstrators achieve success in one activity the turn to new fields in a self-education process whose end is a self-reliant, independent, fearless, thinking, rural constituency capable of its own leadership in the struggle for a

SECTIONAL GROUPING OF STATES SEEN

By HENRY MINOTT
United Press Staff Correspondent
BOSTON, May 21.—Division of the United States into "family" groups of states such as New England as a means of organized promotion of sectional development along economic lines appears a probability of the not distant future.

The first step in this direction was taken in 1925 when the New England Council was created as a permanent organization to promote industrial, agricultural and commercial growth, to stimulate more effective economic service, and to promote a healthy regional consciousness among the people of the six states.

Recent and current developments in various parts of the nation point to the grouping of other states, under economic covenants, after the fashion of the New England unit.

Praise from President

Concerning the New England Council, President Hoover has said: "Your steadfast application of research methods to the economic needs of New England, your encouragement of a more business-like agriculture and a more effective industry, and your patriotic efforts to help stabilize employment deserve hearty commendation."

And the idea of other states with kindred interests banding together after the New England pattern has the endorsement of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Seven states in the southeastern section of the country have taken steps toward forming the Southeastern Council, an organization with purposes similar to those set up by the New England Council.

Southwestern States

Governor Harry H. Woodring of Kansas recently invited the governors of eight other states to a conference to consider the formation of a compact in the interest of their economic welfare. Besides Kansas, the states included Colorado, Texas, Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, New Mexico and Wyoming.

In calling the meeting, Governor Woodring pointed to the success of the New England Council and asserted that states interested in the development of agriculture and in the preservation of the oil industry "must form an economic compact which has for its purpose the establishment of a parity with other sections in the matter of national legislation affecting their economic welfare."

Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania recently sent a representative to Boston to study the New England Council's plan of operation with a view to incorporating some of the ideas in a state development organization.

Interest in the New England Council's work has extended even beyond the national borders. A Manitoba development organization has studied the activities of the local group.

The New England Council, whose president is Harry C. Knight of New Haven, Conn., has 72 active members—12 from each New England state—and 1,300 associate members, individuals, firms, corporations and associations, that contribute financial support.

Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

Now! Please!—Actually put your finger on your Adam's Apple. Touch it—your Adam's Apple—Do you know you are actually touching your larynx?—This is your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. When you consider your Adam's Apple, you are considering your throat—your vocal chords. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants—Reach for a LUCKY instead—Remember, LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette in America that through its exclusive "TOASTING" process expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. These expelled irritants are sold to manufacturers of chemical compounds. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE, and so we say "Consider your Adam's Apple."

DAILY BIBLE THOUGHT

Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass.—Psalm 37: 3, 5.

A GREAT PRAYER:—Let not them that wait on thee, O Lord God of hosts, be ashamed for my sake; let not those that seek thee be confounded for my sake, O God of Israel.—Psalm 69: 6.

'ALL DRESSED UP AND NO PLACE TO GO'

"Since the close of the World War the colleges and universities of the United States have been turning out graduates at an unprecedented rate," writes William C. Beyer in the magazine Public Management. "From 1920 to 1928 a period during which the population of the country increased less than 16 per cent, the number of men and women emerging annually with degrees from our higher institutions of learning more than doubled. It may be safely assumed that today a larger proportion than ever before of the youth of the land who are seeking employment for the first time are college graduates. Almost equally safe is the assumption, in the present business depression, that an unusually large number of these graduates find themselves educationally 'all dressed up and no place to go.'"

William C. Beyer is the director of the bureau of municipal research of Philadelphia. He reminds the American people that never before has the public service had such an opportunity as now to enlist the graduates of higher institutions of learning. He asks the question: "Will the public service improve this opportunity by putting its house in order for their reception? To city managers who have already done so much to professionalize the public service we must look for leadership in this house-ordering process."

College graduates are not seeking jobs in police and fire departments. They are not seeking jobs as typists. They are not seeking jobs in the department devoted to public works. Texas is without a civil service law. How will it be possible for a college graduate to enter the public service unless he offers as a candidate for an office or has the ear of a powerful politician who plays practical politics all the time?

NEW PENSION LAW FOR VETERANS.

A new pension law for Confederate veterans, soldiers and sailors and their widows is on the way. It carries $50 for the soldier and $25 for the widow. Soldiers and widows must have resided in Texas five years prior to their application for pension except those over 88 years of age who have resided here one year and are otherwise pensionable. And why not?

WILBUR UPHELD BY HIGH COURT DECISION.

Secretary Wilbur's policy of refusing permits to prospect for oil and gas on public lands was declared valid by a decision of the United States supreme court. His right was challenged by prospectors in many states. They said it deprived them of revenue which might result if the search was permitted. Justice McReynolds of Tennessee, who delivered the opinion, said: "Having examined the act we cannot say that by any clear and indisputable language it refutes his (Secretary Wilbur) position." Furthermore, Justice McReynolds said that it is unnecessary now to declare the precise meaning of the relevant provisions of the act; that it was passed when, according to a widely accepted view, decline of petroleum production in the United States was imminent—in fact there had been an enormous increase and consequent troublesome surplus.

All the while the flow of foreign crude continued to these shores and then the wildcaters brought in the East Texas field, now declared by veteran oil producers "to be the most potential petroleum territory in the civilized world."

All this calls for a repetition of the question: "Why foreign crude on the free list—if protection is a good thing?"

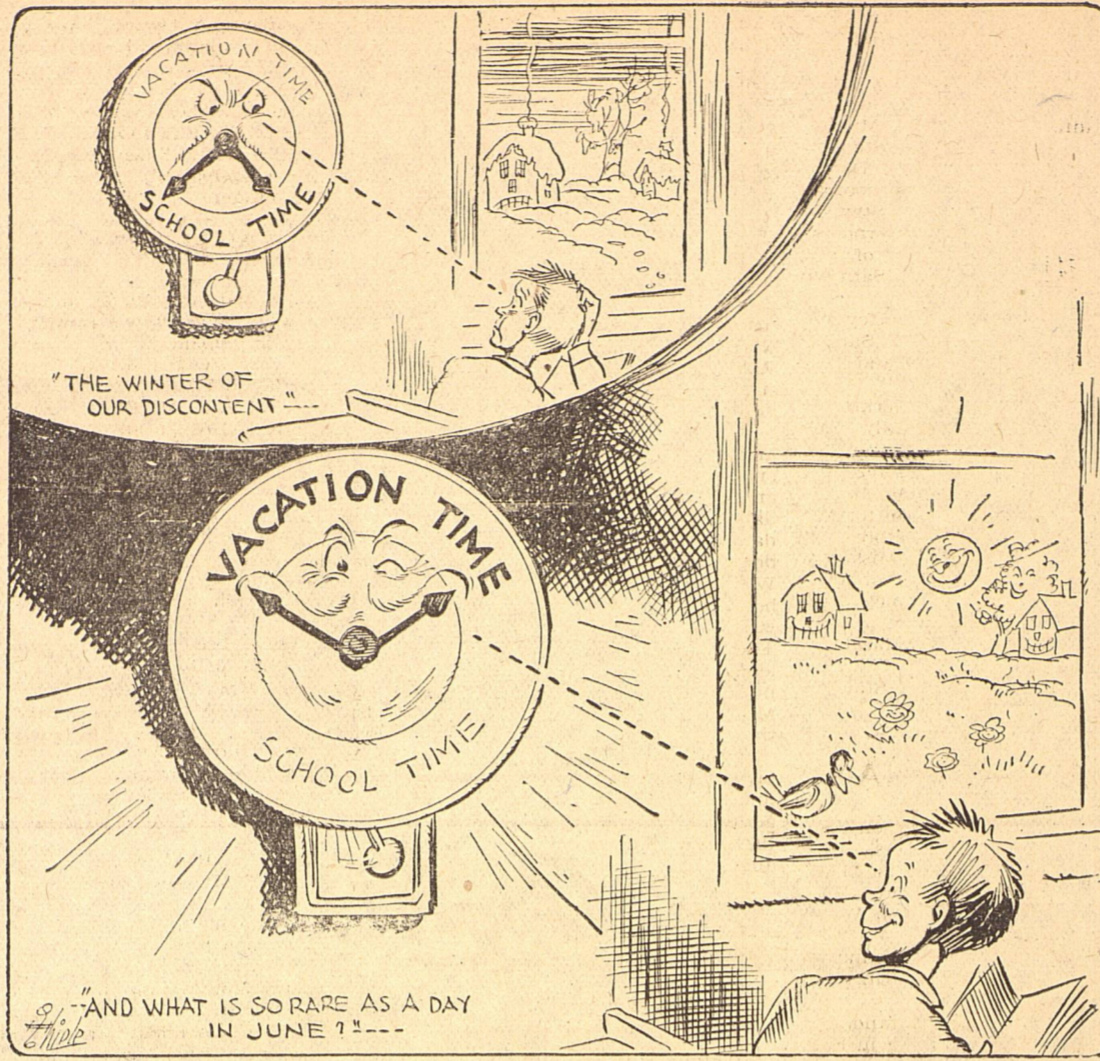

CHAIN STORE TAX HELD VALID.

Another five to four decision has been handed down by the supreme court of the United States. This decision upheld the validity of the chain store tax law of Indiana. This law was passed at the 1929 session of the Indiana general assembly. It was designated to raise money for the state aid school fund and, according to an Indianapolis correspondent, it will produce approximately $500,000 annually for this fund. It provides a fee of $3.00 when one store is operated; $10 for each additional store when from two to five are operated under a single ownership; $15 on each from five to 10; $20 on each from 10 to 20 and $25 for each in addition to 20. Lafayette A. Jackson, operating a chain of 225 stores in Indianapolis, challenged the law as invalid. The Indiana statute was attacked on the grounds there was no proper relation between the number of stores and the business conducted in applying the tax and that it had no real relation to public health and safety.

The state, speaking through its attorney general, claimed it was a rational tax, operated equally and evenly and was valid. Justice Owen D. Roberts, widely known as a corporation lawyer before his appointment to the bench and chief prosecutor in the Teapot Dome cases, in rendering the opinion said that the court held the classification was good and the tax was valid. Justice Sutherland, Van De Vanter, McReynolds and Butler were the dissenters. They believed that the decision of the lower courts holding the tax invalid should have been approved. Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, Justice Brandeis, Justice Holmes and Justice Stone joined with Roberts in the majority opinion. According to the Washington correspondents the case held unusual interest because of the growth of chain stores during the last 10 years "and protests from independent merchants and others who contended that the ultimate affect of the stores, if allowed to spread unchecked, would be bad."

Laws placing a heavy tax upon chain stores have been proposed in a number of other states, including Texas, and at present North Carolina's tax on chain stores is pending before the supreme court for a decision on its validity. Lest we forget Former United States Senator Earle B. Mayfield, in his primary race for the office of governor, declared for the taxation of chain stores and pledged his efforts for the enactment of the statute necessary if called to the high office of governor of Texas. It was another of the fancy planks of Farmer James E. Ferguson and his newspaper Forum which is also a reminder that Ferguson and the Forum away back in 1924 advocated a five cent tax on cigarettes regardless of the fact that the federal government imposed a tax of six cents a packet and its highest item of revenue comes from the sale of cigarettes to American and foreign smokers of the fanciful weed. Now, Texas has imposed an additional tax of three cents a packet and the supreme court of the United States has declared valid by a five to four vote the Indiana law taxing chain stores to provide additional revenue for the Indiana school fund. It is well to keep the record straight in order that all the people who read and think may realize just how fast the big procession is passing by.

OTHER OPINIONS

ALL IS NOT GOLD

Reno is discovering, with something akin to amazement, that its new divorce isn't all beer and skittles.

Under the old law requiring three months' residence merchants and apartment house owners reaped a neat profit on the visitors. Under the new law, requiring only six weeks' residence, the divorce-seekers come and go so fast that trades languishes and rentals are cut in half. The wealthy woman who found it necessary, under the three months' clause, to replenish her wardrobe is now able to live out her "sentence" without that necessity. Apartments that would yield the owner a nice profit when taken for three months, hardly pay the six weeks' regime.

So it may come to pass that Reno will have to depend more and more on a quick clean-up. Houses of vice, gambling dens and other sources of community revenue may be expected to redouble their activities.

If Reno goes flat broke it will leave the rest of the nation cold. In spite of gangster movies, indecent stage plays, talk of gin parties, loose sex relations, the heart of the nation is still fundamentally sound. The decent people are still in the majority, and public opinion is still something to be considered.

Reno has undertaken to flout the innate sense of decency of the American people, and she may find to her sorrow and financial distress that it doesn't pay dividends. —Big Spring Herald.

In the Political Arena

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD
There is a wave of so-called liberalism — or is it modernism? — sweeping over the southwest. It has a lot to do with the freedom of the individual, justice for all concerned, a touch of humanity which is a touch on the side of mercy, and it has found lodgment under the big dome of the state capitol.

On Mothers Day Gov. Ross Sterling issued 23 pardon paroles to youthful offenders confined behind the prison bars of the commonwealth. All 23 had creditable prison records. All had bowed to prison rules. All had won the extra good marks which are entered into the prison books by managers or keepers. Flowers for the living. Flowers for the governor. His heart beats were right on Mothers Day. He planted happiness at the fireplace of 23 mothers whose boys were restored to their arms. If he erred on the side of mercy, but did he err?

There are Texas judges who were known as suspended sentence judges. These judges kept records of youthful first offenders who had been given their freedom on parole. It is a remarkable fact that a very large percentage never returned to the haunts of criminals or were branded as malefactors for a second time.

Rep. F. C. Weinsten is the author of the suspended sentence and parole laws of Texas. He is the author of the indeterminate sentence law. He is a Christian gentleman as well as a Texas lawmaker with a record behind him of public service that has ever appealed to those who knew this humanitarian and leader of his people. He is nearing his 80th milestone. He was a representative when James Stephen Hogg was governor and he fought the battles of Hogg — which were largely the battles of the common man of the period. He was a state senator for many terms. He has been a student of penology for 60 years.

All the reform prison laws have had his support and many of them were written by this aged and yet brilliant son of Comal county. His latest is an amendment to the Dean law. It provides for a suspended sentence for first offenders for violation of the state prohibition law. His bill was enacted by the house and the majority for it was substantial. It was sent to the senate where it received the approval of that body. Now, it has gone to the governor.

Why not mercy for first offenders — if not convicted of heinous crimes? This was the gospel preached by the Nazarene when he walked the earth. It is the chief tenet of the Christian religion as it was handed on by the Saviour of mankind. "For-speaker by unanimous vote. There have been but two appeals from his ruling since the beginning of the session. He has enjoyed the confidence of the administration as well as his fellow lawmakers and should congressional redistricting come he may give Guinn Williams a race for place in 1932.

Speaker Minor is a master of his own tongue. He never loses self-control or tongue-control. He never loses his head. He never permits passion or prejudice to direct the handling of the gavel. At times this has been a very strenuous session. It may be more so before the curtain falls.

Col. Bill Lea, the Bakers and other leading citizens of Orange county are happy. Their tax remission bill was enacted by the senate 17 to 3. It originated in the house where it received a large majority. It would provide for the remission of approximately $32,000 a year in taxes to Orange county, beginning in 1933 and continuing for 25 years. Proponents of the tax remission measure declared salt water had ruined rice crops in the county, that part of the farmers' land had been over-flooded and the tax money remitted would be used on levee and drainage projects. Before the coming of flood disaster to the rice growers and farmers Orange county was one of the most progressive in Texas. It is only 11 feet above sea level.

In prosperous times the property owners of Orange were the first to vote road bond issues. They were highway builders. They have a record as builders. A reminder that the forests were stripped of timber, that overflows came from the rivers as well as the gulf and that flood overflows disasters piled its miseries high on the shoulders of taxpayers.

Is Texas a white spot on the map? State Banking Commr. James Shaw reports surplus of state banks running high. There are 642 state banks and the commissioner reports a most flourishing which is a healthy condition. A white spot? Yes.

Finds An Effective Treatment For Arthritis

A Pasadena man who had been bed-ridden with Arthritis (stiff joints) for three years reports that he secured a prescription which restored him to an active life. He then supplied the formula to a number of others who were afflicted with Arthritis, Neuritis, Lumbago, Gout, Sciatica and various forms of Rheumatism, and they reported their first relief. Now he wants all who suffer from any form of Rheumatism caused from excessive uric acid to know about this wonderful prescription, and says he will gladly send a trial supply of the treatment, with full particulars, to anyone who writes him. GREAT BRITAIN RAIL, MOTOR LINES TO WAR

By KEITH JONES
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON, May 21.—Out of the guerrilla-like warfare which has been running on for several years between the railways and the motor-coach services of Great Britain there has suddenly loomed the prospect of one of the greatest financial fights this country has ever seen. This has suddenly been precipitated by the publication of the report of the Weir Commission which proposes an expenditure of 386,000,000 pounds (approximately $1,872,100,000) on the complete electrification of all railway lines in Great Britain.

Aim to Regain Traffic
Although not so stated in the report, it is widely understood that its proposals are primarily aimed at checking the losing war the railways have been waging against the motor-coach companies, and by faster, quieter and more comfortable services win back the huge volume of passenger traffic that in the last five years has been lost to the express motor services.

Since its appointment in September, 1929, the committee under the chairmanship of Lord Weir has been studying the practicability of the complete electrification of all railway lines in this country. Such electrification the report finds practicable and draws up a tentative program for the complete electrification of the country over a period of twenty years and at a cost of 261,000,000 pounds to the railway companies, 80,000,000 pounds to the Central Electricity Board, and 45,000,000 pounds for suburban electrification. The scheme if adopted will result in the electrification of approximately 32,000 miles of track.

Britain Far Behind
At present Great Britain possesses only 487 route miles of electrified railways and is far behind the electrified package of other countries which are given in the report as:

United States	1,870 miles
Switzerland	1,542 miles
France	1,048 miles
Italy	1,113 miles
Germany, Sweden and South America	are also reported to have a greater electrified mileage than Great Britain.

Great Savings
The report estimates that from the point of view of the railways this development would result in an annual saving of 10,000,000 pounds on locomotive wages; 6,000,000 pounds on repair to locomotives; 1,000,000 pounds on fuel, and 5,000,000 pounds miscellaneous savings.

In support of the plan the following merits are enumerated:

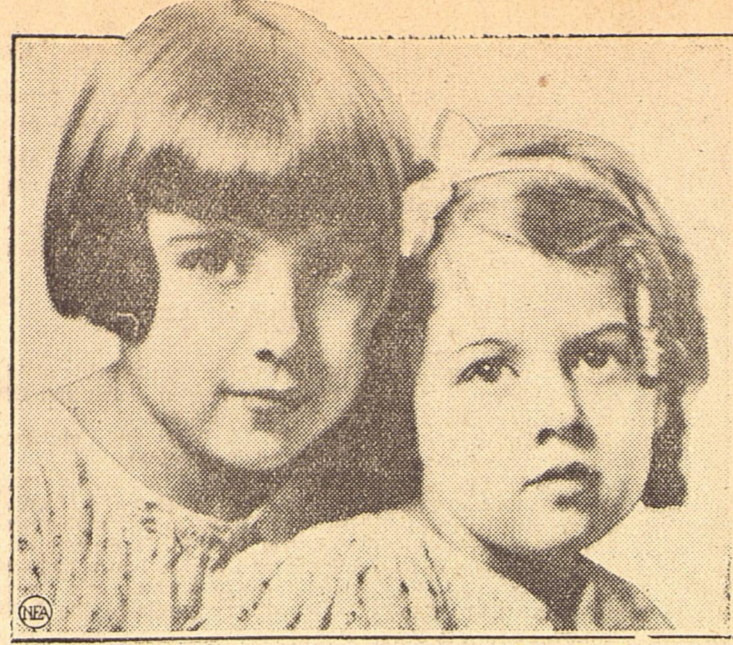

- 1.—The continuous employment of 60,000 men over a period of 15 to 20 years.
- 2.—Advantages to industry in general resulting from a cheaper supply of electrical power.
- 3.—More trains over the shorter distance hauls and faster services over both the short and long-distance services.
- 4.—Greater convenience to the general public and cleaner and more satisfactory travel owing to the absence of smoke and quieter running.

Meanwhile the motor-transport companies are aiming to meet the railways' attack on their growing power by extensive amalgamations at the same time improving the speed and comfort of their buses coupled with still lower fares. They declare they have nothing to fear even from an electrified system of railways, as promising tests with motor-coaches driven by Diesel type engines operating on very low-price fuel oil hold out expectations of exceedingly low operating costs in the future.

On the other hand present indications are that the railway companies will try to get a bill through parliament compelling the motor-coach companies to charge the same rates per mile as the railways charge.

Let's have a SHOWDOWN on this matter of TIRE COMPARISONS

WITH all the conflicting claims published about tires, it is obvious that misleading statements are being made. The only conclusion that you as a tire buyer can draw is that either we, as Firestone Dealers, are misrepresenting Firestone products, or that a certain mail order house is not telling the truth about theirs. Both can't be right—one or the other is misleading the public by their comparisons.

Firestone, in their advertising, only make comparisons that can be easily verified by the customer before buying tires. To attempt to substantiate the comparisons made by this mail order house, it would be necessary to go into a laboratory and employ experts.

The very reason that the comparisons made in Firestone advertising enable you to get the facts yourself, makes it unnecessary for Mr. Firestone to make affidavits on the truth of his statements or to file any complaint with the Federal Trade Commission, and then advertise it, in an attempt to lead the public to believe his statements were true.

Mr. Firestone doesn't ask you to accept comparisons about Firestone Tires and special brand mail order tires until you see the facts yourself. Neither do we. All we ask is that you make your own comparison.

We have cross sections cut from special brand mail order tires purchased from stocks of mail order house and from Firestone Tires—no "tricky" or misleading comparisons—come in today and make your own comparisons for Quality, Construction, and Prices. YOU and YOU ALONE be the judge!

*A "Special Brand" Tire is made by a manufacturer for distributors such as mail order houses, oil companies and others, under a name that does not identify the tire manufacturer to the public, usually because he builds his "first line" tires under his own name. Firestone puts his name on every tire he makes.

DAILY NEWS AMERICAN AND ROUNDUP

THE MELODY GIRL

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Beryl Borden, secretly in love with Tommy Wilson, delays his elopement with her half-sister, Irene Everett, but fails to convince him that it is his duty to finish college.

Later, Irene postpones the marriage believing she is to become a radio singer. Securing an audition, she permits Beryl to go to the studio with her. While waiting Beryl sits down at a piano and croons melodies. One of the directors hears her and gives her a private test. He promises a contract later. Irene fails and is furious when she hears of Beryl's success. Time passes and no word comes from the studio. At last a letter comes and Beryl slips away for the interview. She is elated when presented with a contract. Her victory is bitter-sweet for her family and Tommy believe she robbed Irene of her chance. Beryl's debut is a success and she returns home laden with floral tributes.

Burning with envy, Irene decides to marry Tommy immediately but his aunt dies and again the wedding is postponed. Mr. Hoffman, Tommy's uncle, wants a new housekeeper and offers inducements for an early marriage.

Success does not kill Beryl's love for Tommy, but she accepts invitations from young Prentiss Gaylord. When he calls, Irene greets him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XIX

After the first flash of dismay in which Beryl realized that Irene had entrapped Prentiss' admiration she wanted to laugh.

Wasn't it funny that just when she made up her mind to encourage him he should follow in Tommy's footsteps and succumb to Irene's shell of beauty?

Driving to the South Shore beside Prentiss in his black and chromium roadster Beryl pondered the effect of this new conquest upon her sister's attitude toward Tommy.

She could ponder undisturbed, for her companion had fallen strangely quiet. Was he thinking of Irene?

Beryl sighed, unheard against the wind that rushed against her face. There would be no problem for her to settle if Prentiss should transfer his attentions to Irene. She could slip back into her hopeless passion for Tommy. But did she want that? Perhaps a little effort on her part.

She moved closer to Prentiss. Beryl did not know exactly what she was doing. She'd never vamped a man. What would it lead to? How far did girls go and still have a retreat? What if she did not want Prentiss to care for her, to make love to her? What if he should do it and she found it abhorrent? Wasn't it cheap to lead a man on and then draw back? Hadn't he a right to feel offended when a girl did that?

All at once Beryl drew away from the man beside her. She was out of her depth and knew it.

"I'm a little rotter," she said to him. "I was trying to vamp you."

"Yes, I know," Prentiss said. "Was I that crude?" Beryl asked.

Prentiss did not answer at once. Beryl was a new kind of girl to him. Not nicer than any girl he'd ever known, but astonishingly different. She brought new thoughts to his mind.

"No," he said slowly, "I wouldn't say you were crude unless one judged you by crude standards. I should say that, without knowing it, you were being extremely subtle."

"I'm afraid," Beryl admitted, "that I don't understand."

"I'm not sure that I understand myself," he told her. "There's an idea among certain girls that they've an obligation to live up to all the things that have been said against the youth of today. When they go after a man it's something more than hammer and tongs, teeth and nails. It's... well, never mind."

He paused and Beryl said: "Go on. Scold me. I deserve it."

"They'd laugh at you," Prentiss declared, "but I've a notion that none of them ever get near the real thing, that thing that figured in the history of great loves. There must have been subtlety in that."

Beryl, embarrassed, attempted a joke. "Slow, but subtle," she said with an awkward little laugh. It was coming to her now, the reaction of her behavior. Fighting impulses had been a life-long habit with her. She wondered why she had given in to them two—first to act as she had and then to confess her error. Couldn't one be a fool about honesty?

Prentiss spoke, as though he had read her mind. "The queer part of this is that you did it," he said. "Why did you?"

The honesty in her nature, which Beryl had just been questioning, was still in control. It dictated her answer. "Because I often want to do things that I won't let myself," she said.

would be to him to trace her impulse in question to its source and find that it began with another man! He was far too attractive to be without all conceit.

Prentiss' next remark gave her a jolt. "Of course you're struggling with obstacles between yourself and some man you're interested in," he asserted calmly. "If you thought necking a pleasure you'd have begun it long ago—when you were five, say."

"My goodness!" Beryl gasped. "You're not mercenary," he went on, ignoring her exclamation. "I looked for that at first. You won't after Dad's money and I'm sure you're not in love with me. You don't even need me as a stepping stone to success in a career. You had a good start before I met you. That leaves only a man."

Beryl wanted to grizzle. She thought of him talking like this to Irene. She did know something of psychology—at least that it was the science of the human mind. But Irene, who never read a book! Irene had received a carnival doll as a gift once with a card that read: "Because you have a book."

She looked at Prentiss and announced: "You're a lucky boy. No girl will ever fool you."

"It could be done," he said dubiously, "but I don't think it will be."

Beryl settled back in her seat, a strange smile upon her lips. Tommy wasn't quite a fool, either, she thought.

"Life itself is something of a jokester," she said softly. Prentiss, whose thoughts had been far afield, started. "What?" he asked.

Beryl did not answer. They had arrived at the cottage on the South Shore and some of Prentiss' friends had come out to greet them. Beryl was welcomed, literally with open arms. It was known she would sing for them. She had no more private conversation with Prentiss that night. When they left they had another girl with them, a girl who lived on the North Shore. Something had happened to her escort. Beryl didn't know exactly what. She only knew that their hostess had asked Prentiss if he would mind dropping this other girl at her home. The girl was quiet on the drive and Beryl sensed that she was emotionally upset. Beryl was glad of her presence.

Had Prentiss forgotten Irene? Beryl wondered because when they had danced together at the party he had seemed just as he was before seeing her sister. She had rather dreaded the drive home with him. It might be that second thoughts on her conduct earlier in the evening would give him a new set of ideas about her. He might attempt experimentation.

All that had been in her mind when she dressed that evening was gone, gone for good. In its place was a high, fine feeling of escape. Better to be again living only for Tommy. There, in the world that she had created for just the two of them, dream world though it were, she was safe. Going back to it she felt that she had new faith in herself. She didn't like having her mind cluttered up with changing emotions. It was painful to be hopelessly in love, but it was familiar pain, a dear pain, if there can be such a thing.

She was glad not to have to talk about herself with Prentiss and glad to have a third person present. She wondered what would happen when the other girl left them. Would Prentiss follow up whatever had come into his mind at the party and try to make love to her?

No, it seemed that he had been never caught in the feeling of the moment—which was one of adulation and flattery toward her. He had liked being the one who brought her—a celebrity—to the party.

This he told her on the way home. Beryl felt a touch of scorn toward the young man. Still his was a natural attitude and he had been honest as well as extremely decent not to take advantage of her own letdown.

When they reached her home and Prentiss said he was thirsty she felt that it was not a ruse to stay with her longer, so she let him come in.

There asleep on the sofa was Irene.

"Oh, then I'm a case!" "You'd make a dandy study. You're so darned honest. Oh no, you wouldn't either. You're as clear and definite as a blue flame!"

NEW RECORDS IN VEGETABLE SHIPMENT SEEN

AUSTIN, May 21.—New records will be hung up this year for shipments of government-inspected fruits and vegetables from Texas to eastern markets. W. A. Canon, marketing chief in the state department of agriculture, said today.

More than 10,000 cars already have moved to market under inspection and before the end of the year the total may be more than 30,000 cars, Canon said. The 1930 total was 13,046 cars—only slightly in excess of the total for the first four months of 1931.

Rapid expansion of the areas devoted to commercial fruit and vegetable production, and a growing recognition of the advantages of government shipping point inspection were held responsible

LOANS DEFINED

This Is the BANK that SERVICE Is Building

Webster defines "loans" as follows: "Anything furnished for temporary use.

When we pay back what we borrow we make progress . . . we build up . . . we acquire.

When we merely pay interest on what we borrow we mark time. We all have a certain unsound feeling about a loan that runs on and on—never getting any smaller.

Obviously a loan is something that should be repaid . . . otherwise its usefulness has been destroyed.

Cisco has spent thousands of dollars for you --- has spent it in better streets, better homes, better schools, better civic improvements, --- better everything than any previous generation ever enjoyed. Summing it up --- it presents the big difference between the home-spent dollar and the dollar spent elsewhere.

Life becomes more and more interwoven---interdependent --- the dollar spent in Cisco today keeps on working here in Cisco --- eventually working its way back to you --- in profits, in wages, in improvements --- in any one of a hundred different ways. But how about the dollar you spend away from Cisco? It purchases no more and usually less than it would at home---and it ceases forever as an active factor in your greater comfort and well-being.

Every dollar spent in Cisco is a cooperative dollar --- likewise the dollar spent for home products. Every dollar spent out of Cisco or for foreign manufactured products is a disinterested dollar. Think it over. Support people who support you. Be loyal to those who are loyal to you.
