The final performances of Cisco Junior College's production of The Marriage-Go-Round will be presented this weekend. The evenings of dinner and entertainment are held in the Roof Garden Theater of the Laguna Hotel in downtown Cisco.

The Marriage-Go-Round is an extremely popular and witty play about the joys of monogamy, and the problems to be conquered in marriage. The cast includes Jay Hatler as Paul Delville, Tracy Freed as Content Delville, Kathy Powell as Katrin Sveg, and Rex Graham as Ross Barnett.

Performances begin at 7:00 p.m. Ticket price during the school year is only $7.50 for dinner and the show, a bargain price for an evening's entertainment. Call (817) 442-2567 for reservations.

Cisco Centennial Celebration Meeting Set For Thursday

A Cisco Centennial Celebration meeting will be held Thursday night, October 16, in the Community Room of the First National Bank at 7 p.m., to discuss Cisco's upcoming Centennial year.

The Centennial Celebration activities, and those of Cisco Junior College, are to be coordinated for a city-wide celebration. Mrs. Betty McGinness is acting as coordinator of the activities for CJC, the Chamber of Commerce and Cisco Civic League. She said interested persons may contact her for any information about the celebration, or to volunteer help, at 442-1080.

Chamber of Commerce representatives and all committee members will be present at the Thursday meeting. The general public and interested persons are urged to attend the meeting.

Mrs. McGinness said it would be very helpful for a representative from each club in Cisco to be present at the meeting. She said some clubs have already obligated themselves to help with the activities of 1981.

She stated the Centennial Celebration is being planned to have "something for everybody" in all age groups. She stated it is for all citizens of Cisco, not just a certain group, since "without Cisco's citizens there would be no celebration."

College Opens Bids On Office Building

A contract for the construction of an office building for Cisco Junior College will be awarded at a special meeting of the board of regents at noon Thursday at the college, it was decided at the regular monthly meeting Monday night.

Nine bids ranging from about $44,000 to $61,000 were opened and college officials will analyze them before the Thursday meeting. Roy Cozart, Cisco, submitted the low bid with Lone Star Construction Co. of Abilene the new low bidder.

The office building will be built on the site of old Britton Hall that was destroyed by fire last year. The $45,000 in insurance money collected after the fire will pay for the new structure. Dr. Norman Wallace, college president, reported.

In other action, the board approved plans to sell the vacant lots back of the Laguna Hotel to the First National Bank. It was decided to buy new carpeting for the executive offices that were flooded last week. The present carpet had been in use since 1966.

The board passed a resolution opposing collective bargaining for teachers and sent a copy to State Representative Joe Hanna.

Dr. Wallace reported that the coin machine in the Student Union Building have netted a total of $17,000 for the CJC Scholarship Fund since January, 1979.

Two board members, Wm. E. Austin and J.D. Yardley, and Dr. Wallace have accepted invitations to attend a meeting of the Association of Texas Junior College board members and administrators in Austin on October 27-28.

Cisco Jr. High And Jr. Varsity To Play Thursday

Cisco Junior High's seventh and eighth grade football teams will play against Dublin Thursday night at Chesley Field in Cisco. The junior varsity of Cisco High School will also play Thursday, following the junior high games.

The seventh grade game will be a controlled scrimmage because Dublin will not have enough players. They will kick off Thursday night's football schedule at 5:30 p.m.

C.H.S. Loboes Go To Dublin Friday Night For 10-AA Battle

The Loboes of Cisco High School will be on the road for the second week in a row Friday night as they travel to Dublin to take on the 10-AA Lions at 7:30 p.m.

Following last Friday night's 23-0 win over the Early Longhorns, the Cisco Loboes are now 3-2 for the season and have one win and one loss in district play.

The Dublin Lions, picked before the season began to be the 10-AA District Champions, are now 0-2 in district play and 3-2 for the season. Their last defeat was in Eastland where the Mavericks won 26-21 in a controversial last minute call by the game officials.

Cisco Coach Rick Calhoun stated both of Dublin's district losses have been on controversial calls. He went on to say Dublin has a good football team and throws the ball well. He said they have an excellent quarterback and receivers.

Cisco will have to go to Dublin prepared to play

"ball control offense" and not give anything up on defense, according to Coach Calhoun. He said Tracy Owens broke his collar bone so he will be out (probably for the remainder of the season). He said Kory Wallace will replace Owens and play center on offense, as well as playing on defense.

The Lobo starting lineup will probably be as follows: Randall Rattan, quarterback; Forrest Starr, I-back; Robert Caraway or Gary Speegle, halfbacks; Brian Fleming, fullback; Chuck Cannistraci and Leslie Agnew, ends; Kory Wallace, center; Kenneth Preston and Bubba Eaker, guards; Jeff Cathey and Manuel Marquez, tackles.

Defensive starters will probably include Danny Garcia, Starr, Blair Boyd, Caraway, Speegle, Agnew, Wallace, Preston, Mike Sherman, Marquez and Tommy Thackerson.

Taylor, Gracie Lee Hanks, Audra Wheeler and William Whitehead. These addresses may be sent to Frances Fees, 2860 Medina Highway, Kerrville, Texas 78028.

By Bill Roberts

If the North Texas State University junior varsity coaches are smart, they'll take a good close look at the TCU-Cisco Junior Varsity game films-especially the "porous" part.

That's the part where TCU quarterback Kyle Clifton picked apart the highly-acclaimed CJC defense which had limited its opponents to only 57 yards a game passing through four games.

Of course, in the final analysis, it didn't really help as CJC quarterback Bill Bayless came in and coolly guided the Wranglers to a final touchdown and a 47-46 victory.

It was almost unbelievable to watch, as the Wranglers had built a 41-16 lead with 7:45 left in the third quarter, but that's where Clifton went to work.

The TCU signal caller, who was called upon to play the position after the TCU varsity quarterback was injured and the JV quarterback was called up to run the "big leagues," completed 12 of 22 passes for 175 yards and four touchdowns from that point to give the Wogs a 46-41 lead with 2:52 left in the game.

Bayless had it all figured out, however, as he came in, completed six of eight passes of his own for 64 yards and the final touchdown. He hit Barrett Douglas for the final three yards and the one-point victory.

Overall, CJC quarterbacks completed 22 of 36 passes for 339 yards while Clifton connected on 22 of 40 for 295 yards and six touchdowns.

CJC quarterbacks, Bayless and John Farris, combined for five passing touchdowns of their own. Bayless finished with 10 of 14 for 124 yards and three TDs while Farris connected on 10 of 16 for 191 yards and two TDs.

TCU receiver Greg Arterberry pulled in 13 of Clifton's passes for 154 yards and four of the touchdowns, but CJC's Matt Ligon came out with the most yards, 157 on six catches and one touchdown.

Running back Brad Eblen gave the Wranglers a big plus in the rushing department, finishing the game with 62 yards on 11 carries and scored the first CJC touchdown by going the final 13 yards off-tackle with 11:54 left in the first quarter. The point after was blocked.

TCU came roaring back as Clifton hit Arterberry for 19 yards and Henry Jacot's PAT boot gave TCU its first lead of the game, 7-6 with 7:03 left in the opening

Qualls Family 1980

By Viola M. Payne
Magazine pictures of family "togetherness" usually show parents and children loading in their car for a trip, or picnicking in the woods. But for the Lou Jane Qualls family of Cisco, "togetherness" has a different meaning. It consists of family members closing ranks and battling together for a brighter future, with young people shouldering heavy responsibilities. And speaking of "togetherness" - how about three members of this family graduating from various schools in 1980, all with Honors?

Tarleton University Aug. 17, 1980, with a B.A. in English, a Teaching Certificate, and Highest Honors. Two weeks later she began work as a 6th Grade Language Arts Teacher in the Cisco City schools.
Attractive, dark-haired Charla graduated from Cisco Jr. College in May. Sharla was on the Dean's List for three semesters, worked in the College Library, and sang alto in the Choir. Now she is a Junior at John Tarleton University, majoring in Elementary Education.
Greg was an Honor Graduate of Cisco High School this spring, with a number of leadership and academic credits. He was President of the National Honor Society, and received a D.A.R. Award for Citizenship. He was given the Rotary Citizenship Award for 1980, and the Chamber of Commerce Award for Scholastic Achievement.

Greg was also a Drum Major, a Photographer on the Annual Staff, and a Photographer and Editor for the High School paper. With his exceptional tenor voice, he reached All State Choir Finals during his Junior year in High School.
During his High School years Greg had a paper route, worked for Dean Drug, and then took a position with Kamon Petroleum Co. in August 1979.
At this time he is enrolled in C.J.C., and has not fully decided what his profession will be. He will take general academic courses, work on the College Annual Staff with Instructor Bill Roberts, play the trombone for the Stage and Marching Bands, and serve as a member of the Student Government Association.
Thirteen year old Patrick is not quite ready to make heavy decisions about the future. But he likes golf, enjoys fishing and Boy Scouts, and helps the family with chores. The other members of the family are hoping he develops a bass voice to go with Lou Jane's soprano, Sharla's alto, and Greg's tenor.

My parents urged me to get more education. But I don't think society in general stressed the need so much then.
"But the world is so different now, and we have all changed. I think we're in some kind of Future Shock! These are especially hard times on marriages. Only the really sound ones are going to survive. People expect so much more from life now."
"For one thing, I didn't even know what I wanted to do when I entered C.J.C. I had some romantic idea I wanted to be a nurse. I was always a big reader, and I got that from novels." She laughs. "Now I know I have few of the qualities needed by a nurse, yet I took Chemistry, Biology, and all those things. I'm glad some great teachers like Mrs. Camfield, Mrs. Hazelwood, and Olga Faye Parker tried to steer me to my real field - English Literature and teaching."
"I worked a short while for The Cisco Press when Jerry Sitton was Editor. I loved every minute of it - going after stories and writing them in the correct format. I learned I would rather work with people than things, and that's what teaching is all about."
Not long after her graduation from C.J.C., Lou Jane married. Like the ending of all movies of that era, she expected to live happily ever after.
"I was twenty years old," she remarks, "and considered mature. Actually - none of us were really prepared to face the life we stepped into."
The first hard reality came when her husband was laid off from his job with an Oil Company in Winters, simply because they were cutting back and he had less seniority than others.
The young couple returned to Cisco, where they worked at various things. Lou Jane alternated outside employment with three babies and baby-sitting for other people. Her father died in 1967, the year Patrick was born.
The family, bright and energetic, had an anchor in the Methodist Church. Lou Jane always sang in the Choir, and when the children were old enough they joined her there.
Lou Jane's return to College in the summer of 1977 was a culmination of a number of things, including her growing desire to teach. At age forty she had the feeling of unused capabilities.

"I had to make a wild try for something better than most routine jobs I had done," she comments.
"It was hard, especially the working out of family responsibilities. I, who enjoyed activities in the evening, had to get up at 5:30 a.m. and drive to Stephenville for 8:00 a.m. classes."
"The family had to help on housework, and sometimes prepare their own meals. Sometimes I felt guilty for leaving them."
"My first English test was the worst part. I almost panicked - threw everything away. I stared at the questions, and my mind was blank. Then I thought: What am I doing here with these young people, when I can't possibly do this kind of work?"
"But I pulled myself together, did the Essay part first, and managed to finish. The teacher took ages to grade that test. I had to go to class for two weeks before she gave back my paper - afraid to open my mouth, certain she had graded it and knew how dumb I was."
"But when the grades came in, I found that mine was high! After that first hurdle, I was never so scared again."
Lou Jane mentions that the Professors at Tarleton were generally understanding and helpful. In 1977 there were few Adult students in school, but when she graduated there were many more - indicating that the trend is moving toward more education for persons of all ages.
"During my studies at Tarleton, the business people and other friends of Cisco were wonderfully supportive of my family and project," Lou Jane says. "Without them, I simply couldn't have made it."
But in spite of all her planning, Lou Jane had a number of crises erupt during the Tarleton years. She lists them calmly now.
"Greg was in a car accident, and my car was always breaking down. My Mother became ill and died, and there was a divorce." She looks away for a moment.
"My kids have had to face problems. But that's what life is about - problems. By facing reality now, they will know how to deal with it later. Maybe they will even learn how to avoid some problems."

And what does this family plan for the future? More education for the young people, with teaching for Lou Jane.
"I hope to always live in Cisco, where people have been so kind and friendly. Teaching is creative something new every day."
"I know I gained a feeling of accomplishment from my further education - and a self-confidence I never had before. And, of course, more skills and higher pay for the work I love."
"I want to remodel our comfortable, roomy, 1920's house." Then her eyes sparkle. "And Sharla, Greg, Patrick and I are going to have a real vacation next summer! We are going to visit relatives in Dell City and El Paso - just go away and rest and have fun!"
So there will be a lighthearted "togetherness" picture of this family after all!

Grand Jury To Get Report On Friday Incident In Eastland

An Eastland policeman is hospitalized at Eastland Memorial Hospital where three other Eastland people were treated and released following an unfortunate incident in Eastland Friday night following the Eastland-Dublin football game.

An extensive investigation is underway, Eastland Police Chief Bobby Arriola reports, and results will be turned over to a 91st District Court Grand Jury.

The incident happened on East Main St. and coincided with the moving of safe-deposit boxes to the new Eastland National Bank facilities, where virtually the entire Eastland Police Department was assisting with security.

According to Chief Arriola, the police were dispersed as follows, prior to the end of the ballgame: Patrolmen Eugene Lindsey and Terry Harbin were at the old building on S. Seaman St., and Chief Arriola, Patrolman David Sancillo were at the new building. Patrolman Dale Seago came on duty about the time the ballgame ended and traffic began moving on to Main St.

Arriola went to the red light at Main and Seaman, and Sancillo went to the corner of Seaman and Commerce to assist with the flow of traffic following the game. The other officers remained at the two bank locations to help provide security.

The chief at his red light location, said he first heard "a loud noise" and "a lot of screaming" down Main St. toward the new bank, and first thought that there had been problems at the new bank building. He yelled up Seaman to Sancillo to follow him and they ran east on Main St.

When they arrived, Arriola said, he saw that a Dublin bus was stopped in the west-bound lane, and that six or seven people were gathered near the bus door and "scuffling was going on". Officer Seago had run over from the new bank, where bank officers and employees gathered on the front porch to watch what was going on, and he and Arriola and Sancillo were the first at the scene.

"A man dressed in green was hitting a man with his fist, and pushing him around," the chief said. I ordered him to stop, and told him he was under arrest. The man turned around and headed for the bus, he grabbed a hold of me, and dragged me toward the bus too."

"He pulled me inside the bus began pounding me with his fists and kicking. They knocked my glasses off and broke them," the chief said.

Meanwhile Patrolman Seago was confronted by another man who later left. As for me, the chief said, I was about half in and half out of the bus, down in the step well, and after I lost my balance and glasses, couldn't get up, and I could tell that the bus was in the process of moving forward.

I later learned from Lindsey and Seago that Patrolman David Sancillo had ordered the bus driver to stop two times, but he refused, and the young patrolman ran round in the front of the bus, and drew his pistol, but the bus driver still refused to stop. Finally, Lindsey pulled his pistol and through the bus door, order the driver to stop, which he did.

By this time a number of other Dublin citizens had gotten out of their autos and were converged around the bus and joining in the hollering and shouting.

Sheriff John Morren and I put three of the Dublin men from the bus and another citizen into my patrol car to take them to the County Jail.

Meanwhile Patrolman Lindsey was instructing another Dublin man to go on, but the man refused, and in attempting to arrest and handcuff the man, who refused, Lindsey was thrown to the ground and injured. However, after a struggle, the man was subdued, and Lindsey and Sancillo brought him to the jail. Lindsey went on to the hospital from the jail. It took six or seven men to subdue the man.

During the incident, law enforcement officers came from Cisco, Ranger, Gorman and Rising Star, to assist as well as The Sheriff's Dept., Department of Public Safety troopers as well as Volunteer Firemen and others, the chief said. Patrolman Jack Petree of Cisco suffered what was first thought to be a broken leg, but was treated and released at the local hospital.

D.P.S. Sgt. Jerry Mathews and others circled the square instructing citizens and visitors to clear the area, and announcing that there would not be a victory pep rally on the square as usual, in an effort to prevent other incidents.

At the County Jail, where the five were booked, Judge David Weise, set bond at $500 each for four of the men and $1000 for the fifth. All were released on their personal recognizant.

Chief Arriola Monday had collected statements from approximately 25 persons, all stating that they had witnessed some or all of the incident, and without exception, all stated that they had not seen any acts of police brutality, and that only force necessary to subdue the resisters were used. The statements were from a multitude of citizens, including bank officials, volunteers and others who had witnessed the incidents.

"I will not apologize to anyone for my acts or the action of my patrolmen," Chief Arriola stated, and added that he intended to press for prosecution under the law because of the seriousness of the act leading up to the unfortunate affair. "Someone could very easily have been killed," he emphasized.

Chief Arriola and Sheriff Morren both stated that the man in green had told them, after he had calmed down, at the jail: "This never would have happened if we hadn't stopped the bus."

This sentiment was echoed by Criminal District Attorney Emory Walton who stated: "If the bus had not stopped, there wouldn't have been any trouble."

Only one or two Dublin players got off the bus, it was noted.

One Eastland woman had an un-asked-for view of the entire proceedings. Her automobile was between two Dublin buses, and she could not move in any direction. She just locked the doors, watched, prayed and hoped that it would soon be over.

There reportedly were minor confrontations between the man in green and D.P.S. troopers on East Main, as the visiting buses moved out of the parking lot and onto the highway.

Publicity concerning the event has mostly come from the Abilene Reporter-News who quoted a few Dublin residents and an attorney from Comanche who reportedly is representing the board, who stated that he plans to file charges of police brutality against the Eastland Police Dept. Over the weekend, Eastland Police Dept. officials were busy with the investigation and did not respond to out-of-town reporters request for statements, and the resulting stories and headlines were most uncomplimentary of the Department of Eastland.

Monday mornings Reporter carried the first near balanced account the other side when it quoted D.A. Walton in detail.

Officer Lindsey was reported in satisfactory condition with a bruised kidney and spleen.

The Monday Reporter headline stated charges would hinge on Eastland "Cop." Charges, Walton said, will depend on the policeman's condition.

Arriola has stated that apparently shouts from non-school connected citizens on a grocery parking lot on East Main St. as the Dublin bus went by angered passengers on the bus and the man; already angry at the spectacular final play which resulted in the loss of the game for Dublin and the confrontation with the highway patrolman the "man in green" reportedly "emerged with fists swinging when the bus stopped." (Arriola stated that witnesses said that passage in front of the bus was clear, and that it did not stop due to stop-and-go heavy dubgame traffic.)

Only the walking nightwatchman on the Eastland Police Force uses any kind of stick, the chief said, and he uses it to turn business window lights off late at night.

BALL SPOTTED ON 4

Everybody hates to lose a ballgame - and certainly when one has an outstanding team and when chances are good that it could be a championship entry.

Friday night's spectacular duel between Dublin and Eastland was a spectator's delight: there were hard-fought performances on both sides and a lot of scoring,

Prices Up Due To Marketing

COLLEGE STATION -- Marketing costs, led by labor, continue to boost food prices, which may be up 10 to 12 percent by late 1980 compared to a year ago.

"Labor's share of the retail food dollar will be more than that of the farmer in 1980," points out Dr. Richard A. Edwards, economist in marketing and food distribution with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Our estimates show that 32 cents of every dollar spent for food items this year will go to labor costs while only 30 cents will go to the farmer, the producer of those items."

Labor makes up a big part of the marketing bill or food price spread—the difference between the retail price and the farm value of the commodity, notes Edwards. Other items contributing to the marketing bill are packaging, transportation, pretax profits and costs such as taxes, depreciation, rent, energy and interest.

"About 9 cents of every food dollar goes for packaging, a nickel goes for transportation, almost another nickel goes for pretax profits, and 20 cents covers other costs," says the economist.

While the farmer's share of the food dollar in 1980 will be below that of a year ago and pretax profits are also expected to drop slightly, other parts of the marketing bill should show sharp gains. Edwards estimates that labor costs will be up 10 to 12 percent, packaging costs up 12 to 14 percent, transportation up another 14 percent, and other costs up about 20 percent, due mainly to skyrocketing utility costs.

"A major reason that the marketing share of the food dollar continues to increase is the increasing popularity of convenience foods," points out Edwards. "The time and work involved in manufacturing these products is shifted to the manufacturer from the consumer, a service which means higher prices."

What does the food picture look like in the months ahead?

"Generally, supplies of most food producers will be tighter through the remainder of the year due to drought conditions which have lowered production," notes the economist. "This means that such products as poultry and eggs, beef, pork, milk and vegetables will cost consumers more. However, beef may be the exception for a short while due to increased marketings caused by the drought, which could build supplies. In the long run, though, beef supplies will be tight due to reduced cattle feeding and low cattle numbers."

with the lead changing constantly.

But there can only be one winner -- and according to the official records, Eastland won. It's understandable that Dublin team members, Dublin school officials and fans were disappointed. It's happened to every team at one time or another.

But most agree that the game ends when the final whistle blows. But the white-hot fever that surrounded the ending of the game, which saw a would-be winning Dublin touchdown called back because of a rule infraction, certainly makes it harder for the visitors to accept.

The Dublin coach was quoted in a Monday Reporter-News article as stating that the Lions moved the ball in the final seconds to the three yard line, and that the Lion quarterback took the snap on about the ten, and that he was not across the line of scrimmage when he passed to a man in the end zone.

Officials ruled that he was across the line of scrimmage and nullified the T.D.

A member of the chain crew who worked all evening on the Dublin side, and who was lined up with the down marker squarely on the scrimmage line, said Monday, that the play originated on the four yard line, and that the quarterback was somewhere around the two-and-a-half or three yard line when he tossed the pass.

Of the "pass interference" penalty called against Eastland, the down-marker man said that the Eastland man was in front, reaching for the ball, and perhaps the officials had ruled because the Eastland man might have brushed the intended pass receiver with his hips, which would have been an interference.

The down-marker man also said that the language was not good all evening along that sideline.

IWU Reflections In Perspective

ANOTHER LABOUR STRIKE

Mention has been made of the labour "troubles", to use a British expression, on Das Island. Much later, early the following year, in fact, we moved back to Jebel Dhanna for the second phase of the construction of a tanker loading facility. Jebel Dhanna was the site where we'd done the pioneer work the year before, and where the Arab had been caught in the act of bathing in the kitchen water supply... and was whipped for his trouble.

Meanwhile, after doing quite a bit of C.I.D. work we had been able to single out the principal character in "the troubles". His name was Suliman, and he was from the Oman. Known as "Suliman the Omani", he was well trained in subversion and was suspected of having been sent by outside forces to Abu Dhabi for the express purpose of stirring up unrest which would impede the progress of the development work there.

Stopping off at Jebel Dhanna for the commencement of the work of enlarging the camp, I proceeded the 200 miles down the coast to Abu Dhabi for the purpose of paying my respects to Sheikh Shakbut and discussing the proposed project with him. He liked to be kept in the picture. He indulged in a highly complimentary observation in the course of our conversation when he stated... "Bill, Sahib; we are friends. You always tell me what you are going to do, and you do it. You work my people. You make them work hard, and you pay them well and treat them with fairness. We are men of our word. You are my brother, and the father of my sons." I learned that this was the highest compliment and expression of faith that can be expressed by an Arab.

Anyway, Suliman the Omani had turned up on the labour payroll at Jebel Dhanna. We would keep a close watchful eye on him. Following my session with the Ruler, I went to dinner in the quarters of his young son, Sultan. Having learned that ones does not discuss unpleasant matters with a head of state, I told Sheikh Sultan of Suliman's being at the Jebel, and that he was suspected of being there for the purpose of making trouble. "This cannot happen. My father will not allow it". Was Sultan's comment.

Returning to camp the following day, it was discovered that the work was going without disruption. Perhaps I was wrong. Maybe Suliman had been won over. Not so. Three days later a general strike erupted. And quite literally erupted. Cars were overturned and burned, the police couldn't handle the mob, one Englishman was killed when his Land Rover overturned as he was trying to avoid a road block... and everything was at a standstill, with no one on the staff daring to leave the camp.

Word was sent to the labour camp that a discussion of their grievances was in order. Suliman the Omani came forward as the spokesman and head of their delegation. Again; they wanted to talk to Sheikh Sayed. They would discuss nothing until they'd seen the Crown Prince. Word to that effect was passed via short wave radio to Abu Dhabi. Sheikh Sayed would come, forthwith.

The next day, while sitting inside by "Porta-Kamp" which served the dual purpose of accommodation and private office there was a loud, rough knock on the door. Without waiting, Sultan burst into my quarters and without any preliminaries stated... "My Father! You are much wiser than I. You are even wiser than my father, the Ruler. You told me this would happen. I did not believe you. Sayed is camped in the sand a couple of miles down the coast. He wants to talk to you. We shall have dinner with him."

Toward sunset, Sultan and I proceeded in his sand-tired Cadillac to Sayed's camp, consisting of two tents erected atop a white sand dune overlooking the Gulf. His Cadillac was parked alongside one tent, the floor of which consisted of Persian carpets spread on the sand.

Following some conversation consisting largely "of shoes and ships and sealing wax..." dinner of kabob and Barbary coffee was served to us, sitting flat on the carpets. Following the dinner, Sayed opened the talk with the comment that Sultan had told him that I knew who was responsible for the troubles. I agreed that I felt quite certain that Suliman the Omani was the culprit. Sayed knew Suliman's background.

Did I know where the Omani could be found? I did. I knew his tent in the labour camp which he shared with three other men. "Well, then; we shall go now, take Suliman from his tent into the desert and shoot him". Simple as that. A man had caused trouble against the State. The sentence was death. Swift and certain.

Not none of me! I argued the matter and won. Leave Suliman to me. I'd see that he was removed from the camp...now that I had official approval...and would make every effort to see that he did not return to the state of Abu Dhabi.

"Good. Suliman will be your problem, for one day. If he refuses to leave, or if you are unable to remove him and he is here when the sun set to-morrow we shall then take him into the desert and you will shoot him". I felt a pale queasiness creeping over me. I had to see that the Omani left the camp.

Return to camp, I got on the radio to Bahrain 300 miles away and the base of the charter airline which served that part of the Coast. Yes, they would have a DC-3 on our landing strip at daybreak. Only one passenger? No; two. I'd go along. And would they please pass the word to Major Greene, Director of Immigration to be on hand? They would do.

Then to the tent of Suliman the Omani. With only a flashlight, I entered the tent and located Suliman. Awakening him, I turned the flash on my face. He called me by name, and I told him that he was to be prepared to leave camp at daybreak. He declined, and I debated, giving him the option which had been given to me. Bill Sahib; I think you would do it. I shall be ready."

With a feeling of considerable relief I stepped to find a member of the police guard standing with his rifle at the ready. I was grateful for the backup, although it had not been needed. The guard would see that Suliman did not leave his tent during the little that was left of the night.

Major Greene met us at Bahrain airport, took Suliman in hand, and later informed me that he had lifted the Omani's passport and had shipped him by next charter to Muscat. The camp was a beehive of activity when I returned a few hours later. The strike was over. Their spokesman and leader lost, the labourers couldn't quite remember why they were striking in the first place.

The saga of Suliman the Omani ended sometime during the following year. There had been no further occasion to visit Abu Dhabi for the remainder of that year. The next year I occasion again to be in Abu Dhabi. Sheikh Shakbut had begun to departmentalise his government, and had made Sheikh Sayed Minister of Labour. I called on him in his mud brick, dirt floored office to pay my respects.

After the ceremonial three cups of cardamon-flavoured coffee, Sayed, with a twinkle in his eye asked if I remembered the incident of Suliman. I did. Vividly. "You did a great favour for me, for my father and for my country. There has been no labour trouble since that day. But you made a mistake, Bill Sahib. You told us that the Omani would not return to Abu Dhabi. Well; perhaps it was Suliman who made the mistake." Opening a drawer of his metal desk, he took out a "Kunjar", the highly decorated curved dagger without which no self-respecting Bedouin would leave his tent. Pushing it across the desk toward me he ended... "I thought perhaps you'd like to have Suliman's kunjar".

The dagger hangs on the wall of my den, a grim reminder of the differences that exist between countries, and peoples. There was never a mention throughout the entire incident of The Omani of "due process". It never occurred to me to read Suliman his right. I could only point out his options. It seems to me that his choice was very easy. And his choice certainly took me off the hook. It also pointed again to the very clear fact... Abu Dhabi is no part of America.

Incidentally, prior to the midnight visit to the tent of Suliman, I had packed my bags. Had he steadfastly refused to leave the camp with me, I would have been the only passenger aboard the flight. Not yet had I come to regard human life with such casual attitude. And most certainly I had not been able to see how I could avoid Sheikh Sayed's mandate... without perhaps taking Suliman's place. And I entertained not the faintest notion of being a participant in a murder.

UFO STUMPS CITIZENS

Three Jaycee members received strange phone calls this week and quite frankly there are stumped as to whether they were subject to a hoax or not. It seems that on Monday evening these men each received a call from someone with a strange broken sounding voice. Whoever was on the line stated that "a meeting should be held as soon as possible at a designated area."

It seems that since the "UFO" investigation began in September that the Jaycees have worked diligently to solve the mystery. The members seem to feel that whoever it was that called is responsible for the unidentified flying object which has been seen numerous times in the Eastland area. It is not known why the aircraft stays around Eastland.

JA time and place was arranged on the phone by Jaycee members but it will not be disclosed as the caller stated that if anyone else by Jaycee members arrived then the meeting would not be held. Local authorities were notified of the phone calls and the meeting, and have left the details up to the Jaycees until further notification. The authorities did state that they felt it would be best if all Jaycees club members should arrange to be nearby at the meeting in case of possible danger.

The news media has continuously covered the "UFO" story with all possible details being publicized as soon as possible. This meeting will be reported as soon as Jaycee members notify the local media. There is no cause for alarm to Eastland citizens as, perhaps, this is a hoax as stated above. Watch for more news concerning this and other related stories.

Lights From The Christian World

By Josephine Cleveland

Today you may have struck the lowest ebb you have ever experienced. You feel helpless. You struggled long to reach your goals, accomplish tasks, prevent misunderstandings. It was to do them your way without taking into account God's way.

Circumstances have come which overwhelm you. You have tried desperately to work them out in your life. Emotionally it seems to have literally destroyed you. You feel you are up against a wall and you do not know which way to turn.

The Palmist David was thrust into a similar experience. Out of his loneliness and despair he cried, "Why is my soul disquieted within me?"—Psalms 42:5.

Out of this experience

David was brought back to the place of giving up his way and asking God to work things out in his life.

Yielded to God, David experienced a renewal and a fulfillment. He penned "But know that the Lord hath set apart him that is godly for Himself: the Lord will hear when I call unto Him."—Psalms 4:3.

Beloved, God wants you for Himself. He will set you apart for Himself. He will hear you when you call. What a promise!

Through Ezekiel, he promised "And (He) will bind up that what was broken, and will strengthen that which was sick"—Ezekiel 34:16.

Call upon Him in your day of trouble. You will find "The God of peace will be with you"—Philippians 4:9.

Accidental Poisonings

COLLEGE STATION -- Help prevent accidental poisonings in the home, urges Mary Ann Shirer, a health education specialist.

Here's what you can do, she recommends.

Buy and use products with child-resistant caps and closures.

Make sure household plants are not poisonous.

Keep products in original containers with warning labels intact.

Make sure that drugs, cleaning products and other potential poisons are kept securely in cabinets and other locations out of children's reach.

Remember, if it's not food, it's probably dangerous to a small child, the specialist points out.

Dr. Shirer is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Adult carelessness is usually a direct cause of accidental poisonings. Detergents, cleaners and soaps rank second, and vitamin/mineral preparations rank third, Dr. Shirer reports.

Until the 1970's, aspirin was the substance most commonly involved in poisonings of young children.

However, since safety closures were put in use, deaths of young children from aspirin ingestion have decreased 76 percent, she adds.

Help On Community Problems Offered

Regardless of the type of problems a community might have, there is always one agency ready, willing and able to help—the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of the Texas A&M University System.

"Community leaders are encouraged to contact their county Extension agents for assistance with community problems," says Dr. James I. Mallett, state community development leader for the Extension Service.

County community development committees are now meeting with county Extension agents across the state to plan and conduct more than 40 different types of educational programs designed to "help people help themselves."

According to Mallett, the committees are using program ideas that have been developed by Extension's "Thrust for the '80s" program and by Extension specialists.

Among Extension's educational program development ideas are leadership, economics, real estate, parks and recreation, manpower, rural housing, industrial development, community improvement, community center development, community beautification, rural fire protection, and rural crime prevention.

New Booklet On Merchandising Tips Is Inflation-Fighter For Business

"Merchandising for Profit. A Guide for More Business" is a new eight-page tabloid publication that can help every businessman reap more profit in this inflation-ravaged age. The booklet is a storehouse of tips and advice on "getting the most of what you've got" and there's dollars and cents suggestions on merchandising, advertising, motivating employees, handling credit, housekeeping, and the section on meeting and beating competition could mean the difference between profit and loss.

Another tip worth dollars suggests taking advantage of the local newspaper's professional art services and layout expertise which can give any business, an extra edge in putting the best foot forward in advertising and promotion.

"Fantastic" is the way Lyndell Williams, Executive Director of the Texas Press Association, describes the tabloid.

As Emerson said, "This time, like all times, is a very good one if we but know what to do with it."

All in all, the little tabloid rounds up a lot of good advice for every business, large or small.

Copies are available for $1 from Merchandising, P.O. Box 29, Eastland, Texas 76448. ($5 will bring 10 copies for distribution to employees).

SOMETHING NEW began out at the Cisco Junior College this week: Powder Puff Mechanics.

This is a class for women and it covers automotive maintenance for females. The class runs five weeks from 2 to 4 p.m. on Mondays. Danny Claborn of the mechanics school faculty will teach this class.

Other new courses (at least, we hadn't noticed them before) include beginning cake decorating with Carolyn Hull as the instructor. David Cosby teaches beginning guitar on Mondays from 7 to 8:30 p.m. There are other courses on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays.

Understand they'll organize a class in just about anything if the interest is sufficient. The announcement schedules two one day courses - in microwave cooking and in energy conservation - with no charges to attend. See the community course schedule.

BOY SCOUT Troop 101 and two adult leaders, Kenneth Deitker and Lloyd McGrew, are getting organized for a big weekend. They go abroad canoes early Saturday and float down the Brazos River from just below the Possum Kingdom Dam to Dark Valley.

The 20-mile float will end Sunday afternoon and the boys will be met by parents for the return trip to Cisco. While they're on the river, the boys will fish, observe the scenery and perhaps get in a little swimming.

The river outing is something that the Boy Scouts enjoy several times each year.

GLAD TO HEAR that Mr. Leak Lane, who underwent surgery over at the Eastland Hospital on Monday, is doing nicely. Miss Marcia Glenn works for the University of Texas Medical Center, Houston, and not for Herman Hospital as one of our scouts told us the other day. The Marshall Jones visited relatives down Whitley way last weekend.

THE GOLF GREENS at the Cisco Country Club were planted with winter rye seeds the past few days and temporary greens will be used for about three weeks. Mr. Ed Wende, the greenskeeper, was in charge of the greens winterizing project.

The CJC Golf Team, captained by Mr. J.L. Stafford won 4th in a tournament at Temple last week. Mr. JLS believes that CJC will have a fine team by spring when they start playing seriously and get into league play.

WENT OVER TO Big D last weekend to take in the State Fair of Texas. Everything seemed about as usual with enough exhibits to keep you busy several days, a big rodeo, the midway with assorted shows and rides and games of chance.

Enjoyed looking at the big horses. Budweiser's eight-horse wagon team is on hand and parades daily. The Owens sausage people also have an eight-horse team and wagon at the fair. They also have eight miniature ponies that are identical to the big horses in everything except size.

The Royal Mounted Police of Canada is there with 25 or more of their horses for mounted drills at the rodeo and horse show. This is an outstanding performance

Obituary

Final Services For Clarence E. Knight Held Wednesday

Funeral services for Clarence E. Knight, 74, of San Angelo, were at 10 a.m. Wednesday at Johnson Funeral Home Chapel in San Angelo. Burial was in Lawnhaven Cemetery.

Mr. Knight died at 7:50 a.m. at his home.

He was born August 11, 1906, in Texas.

Survivors include his wife, Opal of San Angelo; two sons, Roger Spike Knight of El Paso and Tommy Knight of Dallas; two brothers, Dr. Marvin Knight of Muenster and Doyle Knight of Abilene; three sisters, Mrs. Jewell Hilland of Fort Stockton, Mrs. Alfa Bryson of Hurst and Mrs. Helen McCollum of Moran; and four grandchildren.

that you'll want to see if you get over to the fair.

There's a nice automobile show with the new Chrysler K cars, Ford's new world cars, GM's new entries plus all the others. Missing this year is the sky ride that circles the fair grounds. As you know, they had a bad accident last year and this ride has been closed down. Didn't hear if the closing was permanent.

They've raised prices a bit. Parking inside the fair grounds has gone up to $2 per car as compared with from $1 to $5 outside (depending on how close you get). Admission to the fair grounds is now $3. It costs about $2.50 for a hamburger and a drink.

As always, the football game between Texas and Oklahoma was a sellout and a battle royal. Wander through a commercial exhibit building, and they've got food samples to serve you - everything from a bite of sausage to an oatmeal cookie and a sip of cola. In the woman's building, they have a full-grown style show twice daily, featuring a dozen models and entertainers. You get a preview of the educational channel Cosmos programs at the museum building, and there are a lot of nice plants to see at the garden center.

We've been going to the State Fair every year for a good many years and it's always interesting.

Putnam News

By Mrs. R.B. Taylor

The weather at Putnam is ideal! Fall is my favorite time of the year. Charlie Jordan's correspondent said there are some scissortails here yet, but they must be talking about moving south or wherever they go for they sure are chattering every morning. We could use more rain, as the farmers are sowing grain. The winter grass and weeds are really growing.

The Community Club met at the school house Thursday night. They voted to sponsor a Halloween party at the school house on Saturday night, November 1. It will be a masquerade party. So all you goblins and ghosts get out your sheets and masks and come.

Jack Ramsey came home from the hospital at Baird Friday. He is doing pretty well.

Mr. Earl Jobe is on the puny list too. He is at home. Their daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Caraway of Abilene spends a lot of time with her parents.

Mrs. Ollie Burnam had eye surgery at Odessa this week. She is supposed to come home today (Saturday).

The country musical was held at the school house Friday night. A good crowd attended. We appreciate Mr. R.D. Weeks of Olden acting as M.C. for the musical.

Mr. and Mrs. John McIntyre and Mr. and Mrs. Snyder of Moran are vacationing in New Mexico and Colorado this week.

The Mobleys are still working at their house here. They are planning to move back to Putnam. Welcome home, I.G. and Jewell.

Mrs. Margie Shaw of Midland spent several days this week with her aunt, Mrs. Naomi Heyser at Baird.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bingham of Blanket visited her parents, the John Pettys Sunday.

Mrs. John Petty and Mrs. John Doyle Isenhower attended a meeting on family living at Baird Thursday. Jeon Holland of the County Extension Service conducted the meeting.

Mr. Grover Maxwell returned home Monday from a trip to Laredo, Hondo and New Braunfels where he visited his daughter, his brother-in-law and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaired Slinger of Milburn, Okla., visited Mr. and Mrs. Hulén Smith recently.

Mrs. John Sawyers and daughter Amanda are spending the week with her parents, the Grover Maxwells.

Mrs. Jo Ann Collinswood of Jacksboro is visiting her father, Burette Ramsey.

Mr. and Mrs. John Petty went to Brownwood Saturday to visit a cousin there.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brown and children of Fort Worth spent the weekend with her mother, Ollie Burnam.

Loboes Of CHS Defeat Early Longhorns 23-0

The Cisco High School Loboes won their first District 10-AA football game of the 1980 season as they soundly defeated the Early Longhorns 23-0 Friday night in Early.

Following two separate attempts by each team to sustain a drive, the Loboes started their first scoring drive at their own 47-yard line after a 14 yard punt return by Cisco's Forrest

Starr. With Randall Rattan at quarterback, Cisco's Gary Speegle took a handoff eight yards to Early's 45-yard line. QB Rattan then connected with a pass to Chuck Canistraci for the first down placing the ball on the 34-yard line. Two more handoffs, one to Speegle and the other to Starr, moved the ball downfield four yards while a five yard penalty against Early placed the ball on the 25-yard line. Starr took the next handoff around the line's left side for the touchdown with 3:06 left in the first quarter. The PAT kick by Robert Caraway was good making the score 13 to 0.

With 12 seconds left in the first quarter, Cisco's Canistraci blocked an Early punt and returned it 15 yards for a Lobo touchdown. Again the PAT kick by Caraway was good making the score 13 to 0.

Pleasant Hill Homemakers Club Meets

The Pleasant Hill Extension Homemakers Club held their monthly meeting October 9 in the home of Sandy Dennis with co-hostess Ruthie Keyes.

The months of October and November are full of Extension Homemakers activities. Some activities that may be of interest to many are: November 5th-Achievement Day at the First Baptist Church in Eastland; the 13th and 14th of November will be the Senior Citizens Bazaar in Eastland.

Extension Homemakers Clubs will serve homemade stew and beans, and of course, homemade pies and cakes. This will also be a great opportunity to shop early for Christmas. On November 18th there will be a hobby and craft day. The regular monthly meeting of the Pleasant Hill Club will be the 20th of November, after the meeting the club will serve the birthday party at the nursing center at 3 p.m.

The devotional was given by Betty Hastings. Mrs. Hastings also has a Bible class at the Cisco Nursing Center every Monday. The program was given by Ruthie Keyes entitled "My Plan to Get Organized."

Elected as Pleasant Hill Club woman of the year was Diane Carlile. She has been a member of this club for five years. The club women of the year will be presented at Achievement Day November 5th.
