If you are the kind who just must have a letter every day, you'd better make arrangements to have that letter come by special delivery tomorrow. There will be no rural or city delivery Friday, post office officials said today, but regular mail dispatching and special delivery service will go forward as usual. At the same time, the banks of Cisco will observe a holiday, employees attending the bankers' convention at Fort Worth.

Three More Indicted In Post Slaying

IMPEDING OF U. S. JUSTICE CHARGE MADE

DALLAS, Feb. 21.—Indictments alleging conspiracy to impede justice and conspiracy to defraud the United States by obstructing administration of justice were returned by a federal grand jury today against N. C. Outlaw, attorney, G. M. Loe, and E. R. Braddock, all of Post.

Outlaw was charged Wednesday before U. S. Commissioner Leo Smith, with making false statements.

Loe said Outlaw had offered him $500 to testify that he saw the slaying of Spencer Stafford of Fort Worth, federal narcotics agent. Loe said he offered such testimony to the grand jury but later retracted it. He admitted he did not see the shooting.

Braddock said Outlaw had induced him to sign a written statement that he had seen the shooting. In his retraction he said he was running away from the scene when the shooting occurred and did not see what occurred.

Bond for the three men was set at $5,000 each.

Income Tax Deputy To Be Here March 5

In view of the fact that many important changes effecting the filing of income tax returns are embodied in the revenue act of 1934, several of which are likely to be confusing to income taxpayers, the Dallas revenue service office is sending a deputy collector to Cisco March 5, to assist taxpayers in filing their returns.

Deputy Collector A. E. Brooks will be at the First National bank from 3:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. on that date, to confer with or assist anyone who wishes to avail himself of his help.

Farmer Discovers Two Machine Guns

DALLAS, Feb. 21.—Mystery in the origin of two army machine guns a farmer found hidden under a culvert near Dallas, engaged the attention today of local and federal officers.

Markings on the guns, left under a culvert not far from Dallas, indicated they had been stolen from the army. A check of numbers showed the guns had not been issued to any National Guard unit in Texas.

Officers held a theory that the guns either were left by a thief or a gun runner, intending to smuggle them to a foreign country.

Townsend Defends His Pension Plan

Decrease In Number And Increase In Value Shown By Report On Livestock

AUSTIN, Feb. 21.—A decrease in the number and increase in value of each species of livestock on farms on January 1, compared with January 1, 1934 are shown by the annual inventory estimates of livestock on farms made by the crop reporting board of the department of agriculture. This is the first time on record when there was a decrease in every species in the same year. The decreases on January 1, 1935 in percentages of the January 1, 1934 numbers were as follows: horses 1 per cent, mules 3 per cent, all cattle 11 per cent, hogs 35 per cent, and sheep 5 per cent. When the numbers of all species are converted to animal units, which allow for differences in size and feed requirements of the several species, the composite decrease was about 13 per cent. This decrease was more than twice as large as had occurred in any other year of record (since 1890) and the number of animal units on farms January 1, 1935 was the smallest in the present century.

The total value of all livestock on farms January 1, was $3,102,136,000. This was an increase of $295,292,000 or about 8 per cent over the value on Jan. 1, 1934, and the highest Jan. 1 value since 1931. The value per head of each species on January 1 this year was higher than a year earlier and the increase in value per head this year in all cases more than offset the decrease in numbers, with a resulting total value for each species larger than on January 1, 1934. The increase in the value per head was most marked in the case of hogs and mules and least in the case of sheep. These inventory values of livestock on farms as of January 1 should not be confused with the value of livestock production or with the income from livestock which will be determined later.

2 GIRLS LEAP OUT OF PLANE NEAR LONDON

LONDON, Feb. 21.—Two young American girls, broken hearted over loss of two British aviator friends in a Royal Air Force crash, committed suicide today by leaping hand-in-hand from an airplane over the British countryside.

June, 20, and Elizabeth DuBois, 23, daughters of Coert DuBois, U. S. Consul general at Naples, pushed open the plane door and stepped out, plunging about 4,000 feet to the ground.

They had bought all eight seats in the plane at a cost of $135. They persuaded the pilot to close the door, and cover the windows between the cockpit and the cabin, so that he could not see them when they leaped. He was out over the channel before he discovered they were gone and turned back.

Building construction workers and others at Uppminster, about 20 miles out of London, saw them hurtle to the earth. They found the crushed bodies of the sisters side by side.

"Their hands were still clasped when we found them," said A. D. MacGregor, Uppminster builder.

COUNSEL FOR YOUTH WEEPS IN LAST PLEA

PAWNEE, Okla., Feb. 21.—The jury in the trial of Phil Kennamer for murder filed into a bare little room in the Pawnee county court-house today to decide the fate of the 19-year-old confessed killer of John Gorrell, Jr.

The case was given to the jury at 11:44 a. m.

Ring in the ears of the 12 farmers and villagers was an emotional plea for mercy from venerable C. B. Stuart 78-year-old defense attorney and Kennamer family friend; and an impassioned demand for death in the electric chair from young W. F. Gilmer, assistant prosecutor.

Gilmer's demand was a surprise, as the state had said the death penalty would not be sought.

"On behalf of the state, we are going to ask that you inflict the extreme penalty of the electric chair with the same calm, cool deliberation that he sent the soul of John Gorrell hurtling into oblivion. Send him there and rub him out," Gilmer said.

Stuart was the last of the defense staff to argue for the son of the United States Judge Franklin Kennamer. He wept and shook his white-haired head as he begged the jury to decide that he youth killed Gorrell because he was crazed by futile love for pretty Virginia Wilcox, Tulsa oil heiress, believing her life was threatened and his own in danger.

SCHEDULE FOR COWBOY TEAM IS ANNOUNCED

ABILENE, Feb. 21. — Two games with Southwest conference teams, one interschool tiff and seven engagements with some of the minor conference competition in Texas compose the 1935 football schedule of Hardin-Simmons university.

The interschool altercation is with Morningside college at Sioux City, Iowa. Morningside will repay the visit in 1936, on Thanksgiving day. Baylor and S. M. U. are the Southwest teams playing the Ranchers. A new opponent will be the Texas A. & I. powerful squad from Kingville, which has lost but four games in the last five seasons.

As the schedule stands, the Cowboys will not be contenders for the Texas conference title. They play but three members of the conference, whereas the championship requirement is six games.

TCU ATHLETIC FIELDS SWARM IN ASPIRANTS

FORT WORTH, Feb. 21. — Athletic fields at Texas Christian university are crowded just now. Track, basketball, baseball and spring football practice are all on the calendar and nearly a hundred wearers of the Purple and White are working out.

Coach Raymond "Bear" Wolf is making his first appearance as varsity baseball mentor, a job that for 10 years past had been in the hands of Coach Leo R. "Dutch" Meyer. Just how the baseball squad will line up is now certain this early. The infield appears to be fairly strong, the batteries about average, and the outfield a doubtful issue.

Coach Ross Clark, whose track squad is also somewhat of an unknown quantity, has plucked his men into heavy work-outs in preparation for their first meet — the Southwestern Exposition affair in Fort Worth March 22 and 23.

In spring football practice special attention is being given to the quarterback situation and to the tackles. The coaches feel that these two departments are likely to cause the most concern next fall.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR RETURN OF 'EMPEROR OTTO' TO AUSTRIA

VIENNA, Feb. 21. — Prospects for the early return of "Emperor Otto" to the land of his ancestors are brighter today. No one, who is following European developments, would be surprised by his arrival before summer.

That this return will be as emperor, or king of even part of the former Hapsburg domains is, however, doubtful. It is more likely that he will return first as a private citizen.

In both Austria and Hungary the atmosphere for at least a partial rehabilitation of the exiled Hapsburg is becoming more favorable each day. Also, indications are not lacking that the more powerful of the foreign states which have it within their power to prevent a return, are beginning to doubt the advisability of continuing their obstructionist policies.

"His Majesty in Exile, Emperor Otto," already is honorary citizen of more than four hundred Austrian towns and villages.

The governments of the member-states of the Little Entente view the possibility of the return of Otto with misgivings and a certain amount of alarm.

A bitter campaign has been conducted for years against Otto's return even as a private citizen. Such a return will be a signal for war, according to recent declarations of the foreign ministers of this Little Entente. That the governments in question thus would dare to pre-empt another European war, however, is doubted by many.

These threats are believed to be more of a bluff than anything else. If and when France and Italy agree between themselves that it is advisable for Otto to return to Austria, Otto will return. Not a minute before because he is a young man

Japanese Report In Birth Census

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 21. — Determined to establish their identity as California citizens, Japanese are most zealous in answering a birth registration campaign being undertaken by the state department in co-operation with federal officials.

In this state, where race controversies many times have become serious enough to demand the use of the National Guard, the influx of Orientals has constituted a major problem in farming communities. Although Orientals are not permitted to become citizens, they are anxious to assure the welfare of their children in becoming land owners as born citizens, according to the public health department.

"Among 1,200,000 questionnaires sent to families, 25,000 were returned with 1934 birth information," said Walter Carter, special agent of the Federal Bureau of Census working in co-operation with state authorities. "Japanese have made almost 100 per cent return to the queries."

Carter said the greatest difficulty was encountered in obtaining birth certificates of Mexican parents.

for SAFETY . . . . QUALITY . . . . EFFICIENCY

Few industries maintain a laboratory for research and testing such as the American Gas Association Testing Laboratory. In this laboratory every kind of gas appliance is tested by trained engineers. For instance, a gas range is subjected to about 250 separate tests. These tests are grouped under such headings as: lighters, leakage, burner operating characteristics, combustion, fire hazard, thermostats, oven heat distribution and capacity, and many classifications pertaining to construction and strength. In every detail, a gas appliance, before A. G. A. approval is given, is made to comply with nationally indorsed standards for safe operation, durable construction and satisfactory performance. When buying gas appliances look for this seal.

You can trust advertisements . . . and the companies that advertise. Because written selling is a pledge of faith. No established business can afford to put a wrong in writing. To advertise an inferior product is simply to hasten its failure.

Make the hard part of your shopping easy — as you sit in a comfortable chair at home. This newspaper reviews the shopping news of the day. Advertisements point the way to genuine bargains. They recommend variety for menus . . . they present the honest merits of products you need.

A few quiet moments, spent with the advertisements, will save you many hectic hours of shopping around. And when your buying is done, you'll find that you have reliable things, bought at fair prices and giving genuine service as promised.

Chauffeur Claims Record For Safety

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., Feb. 21.—Possessing letters from all parts of the world recommending him as a chauffeur, Joseph LaCrosse claims to be the champion safe automobile driver of Michigan and, perhaps, the United States.

LaCrosse said he had driven 37 years without an accident and offers credentials from all over the world in proof. He became claimant to the title on noticing that a Massachusetts man put in similar claims after 35 years of driving without any reported mishaps.

One of the letters highly praising LaCrosse as a chauffeur is signed by Prince Joseph de Chimay, of Belgium.

"I have driven in nearly every country in Europe, all over the United States and Canada and parts of Africa," LaCrosse asserted. "My credentials show it, and they prove I never have had an accident."

He is all in paying attention to what you are doing. You can't argue with your wife or look at the scenery while driving an automobile.

Montevideo A City of Flowers

With the tourist's mind turned toward Mexico as the next step in travel, and this leading on in a not very distant day, to South America, we naturally become very interested in knowing just what kind of countries these Latin-American countries really are, and what one might expect to find there to lure the traveler, or even one who might expect to pioneer the country as a place to live.

With the prospect of Cisco becoming a pivotal point on a great international highway, leading from the Great Lakes region to Mexico City and thence on to Latin-America and its beautiful cities, we are intrigued with a desire to study these countries more closely as places we may see on a vacation at no great distant date.

Montevideo, Uruguay, is an example of what may be accomplished when a municipality unites with a garden society to encourage the cultivation of flowers, and to keep up the name of their capital as "The City of Roses."

From the reserves of the municipal parks, the people secure seeds and plants and even pots if they are without the means to buy them. There are five parks with public gardens, five of them bordered by the sea. Each year 30,000 cuttings are given to those who request them, with the exception of professional flower-growers and owners of floral shops.

"THE MUNICIPAL GARDENS" One of the projects of this garden is to provide enough potted plants to transform the gardens at the appropriate seasons of the year, and to keep the city always colorful and blooming. Pots of zinnias, asters and other flowers are sunk into the ground close to one another and faded ones constantly removed, so that there is a complete change of color for the garden and in the parks.

"From our balconies are trailing carnations, velvety geraniums and pelargoniums," helping us to visualize the flowering beauty of Montevideo, "and flowers grow profusely in our garden, says a writer of that country.

One may buy for almost nothing great bunches of lilies, irises, daisies, asters, geraniums, violets, camellias and carnations from huge crocks on the sidewalks. Yet the florists do a thriving business and it is not uncommon to find as many as seven shops on one block. Oleanders, lilacs, pomegranate blossoms and others of the common varieties are used freely in our homes."

"The climate of Uruguay makes it possible to have all flowers in open air gardens and roses are especially wonderful. They are grown in patios also, the glassed roofs to these patios roll on and off according to the temperature and weather. Beautiful specimens of colored leaves and creepers are used around door frames."

THE ROSARIUM

In the Prado of the city is the famous Rosarium with every kind of rose imaginable, from the white Lady Banksia which creeps over the beautiful iron-grilled pergolas to heights of 60 and more feet, to the beautiful pink Holland rose of such magic perfection. It is from the Rosarium that the city distributes thousands of cuttings gratis to the people, and also plants of roses. These gifts encourage them to care for flowers as well as enables them without cost to adorn their homes and take part in the yearly exhibits. It is said that 35,000 rose bushes grow in this Rosarium.

In the northern section of Uruguay the more exotic flowers abound; orchids, hanging flowery parasites in yellow and magenta, begonias and ferns of all descriptions, cacti, ceceus, all of which are wild, and the cultivated caladiums. Farther south these also exist, but all the European flowers as well. The cactus are so common that natives scarcely appreciate the wonder of their bloom. Hydrangea (Hortensia) is used to beautify the banks of canals in some sections.

The southern states of North America may well plant the coffee tree as a decorative accent, for it is an evergreen and waxes white flowers and scarlet berries or cherries are most decorative.

In all, 19 states of the Republic of Uruguay, the help of the government in co-operation with the garden societies has resulted in creating public and private gardens of such unforgettable loveliness that they are a source of amazement to visitors and a constant joy to all the people, rich and poor alike.

Irish Donkeys Have Part In Smuggling

DUBLIN, Feb. 21. - Even jackasses have turned smugglers in the hectic guerrilla smuggling "war" on the frontier between the Irish Free State and Northern Ireland. Free State customs patrols discovered that convoys of donkeys now are being used for smuggling bags of meal, tobacco and other suitable goods over the border into Northern Ireland. The smugglers apparently bought up all available donkeys in the frontier districts of County Fermanagh and County

Donégal and drove them under cover of dark over unfrequented country tracks into the Free State. By doing this they stood less risk of capture than if they had carted the contraband goods in larger quantities over more important roads.

This discovery was made at a time when the Free State government was planning an intensive drive against smugglers along the whole border. Recently the customs authorities purchased 16 fast chaser automobiles to combat the high-powered automobiles which many smugglers were known to be using. Previous to this the Free State patrols were equipped with nothing faster than bicycles.

AUTOMOBILES ARE DUE TO AID INCOME TAX PAYERS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Income tax headaches of American motorists should be eased by eight possible deductions pointed out by the American Automobile Association.

- 1. All sums paid during the calendar year for registration fees, driver's license fees, state personal property and municipal taxes, are deductible from gross income. 2. The gasoline tax is deductible in all cases where it is a "consumer's tax" under state law, but not where it is enacted specifically as a "distributor's tax."
