DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF CISCO HIGH SCHOOL

HARD WORK.

Work is a wonderful thing. Bob Taylor has said, "Work is the Anti-Toxin of Woe." School life requires hard work. Hard work is essential in athletics. Hard work is to be found in all things that are worth while. That which we give by hard work is of much more value to us than that which we receive without working for it. For example of this let us take a part of our school work. What is your Algebra worth to you if Henry works all the problems for you? Not very much. We often have to work against our wills, but being forced to do things we don't wish to do breeds in us virtues the idle never know.

All who have really attained greatness have done so by hard work. Hard work has given them well trained minds. Let us notice a few of these great men. Kipling is a strong believer in the doctrine of hard work. Edison, the great inventor, attributes his own success to 99 per cent hard work and 1 per cent genius. Roosevelt said, "I am just an average man with the habit of hard work." If we would be successful, let us remember that hard work is essential to success.

1923, A SHAKESPEARE YEAR.

1923 marks the three hundredth anniversary of the first publication of Shakespeare's collected plays and yet Shakespeare is as vitally a part of the dramatic world today as he was then. In New York this year, two of his plays, Hamlet and Romeo and Juliet have had the longest consecutive run in their history.

Why is this? Why do the same plays which appealed to the crowds centuries ago appeal to those of the present day? Romeo and Juliet is almost impossible as far as plot is concerned—the action is most too swift even for this "rapid age." Hamlet is far too violent and unreasonable to be dared by a modern playwright; and yet these plays broke the record of the 1922-23 season.

Another strange thing—Shakespearean plays are the only plays of former years that are tolerated by New York theatre goers and every actor or actress of any note, has for his pet ambition, the playing of some part in one of these dramas. For years, David Warfield, the great music master had for his dearest dream the working out of a new presentation of "Shylock" in "The Merchant of Venice."

Again, we ask, why? These plays are very difficult to present; they were written neither for our modern day speech, nor our modern indoor theatres—and yet, men and women are bridging the centuries conquering the difficulties and taking us back to the atmosphere of "The Globe" and the language of the Elizabethans.

A partial answer to these questions may be found in Shakespeare's knowledge of human life, his understanding of the human heart, and his supreme artistry of expression. His characters live today, fighting the struggles of life as we do. Hamlet, Portia, Romeo and Juliet are not participants of impossible fiction who think our thoughts, dream our dreams, experience all the emotions that sway our hearts and lives; and so faithfully does Shakespeare present these characters and so vividly does he depict these emotions, that we are thrilled and enthralled by his poetic genius, by his artistry of expression, by his "witchery of words." Never will he be forgotten, never will his characters die—as long as men and women of earth live and love and dream, just so long will live the plays of the universal poet, the mighty master, William Shakespeare.

OUR LATEST ADDITION.

All last week great excitement prevailed in C. H. S. The scenery for the stage of our auditorium had come and many were the Ohs and Ahs! as the students peeped through the doors (we were not allowed inside) to watch the workmen putting everything in shape.

At last all was complete, and on Monday morning when we assembled in the auditorium for the first time in five days, the entire student body and teachers, too, were enthusiastic in their manifestation of approval and appreciation.

The setting is lovely!! First of all, a dark blue velvet curtain in striking contrast to the cream-tinted walls produces a most artistic effect. This curtain when parted in the middle and drawn to each side of the stage, discloses a room harmonious in coloring and suitable for almost any indoor scene. When occasion demands, a street scene may be had, by the dropping of a curtain. And then last and most beautiful is a garden scene where trees and flowers and running brooks are found with the moonlight streaming over all. A very enchanting picture—romantic?—Well, I should say!

Are we proud of our new auditorium and stage? We haven't words to tell you! And now we are wondering what organization will have the honor of christening it with a first performance.

LA TERTULIA AGAIN.

Yes, the Spanish club, "La Tertulia," is still growing. Thursday, October 18, 1923, at 7:30 it met. Spanish songs were sung and a play was given by members of the club. After initiating new members tamales and coffee were served. The club will meet again Thursday, November 1, 1923, at the high school building. All Spanish students are invited to be present.

SALLY ANN AT BAYLOR.

Well folks, it's been awfully long since I had any chance at pestering You. I was weeping about it when I got a letter from Mrs. Irby saying, "Please write and pester us some more. Tell how you like Baylor." I like it swell, but I haven't yet got used to it. It's a peachy place, I am wild about it. There aren't any He-students here, so watsa Use of rollin' my own? Mrs. Reeves (my matron) says that Isn't nice to say, so I will add that I was referring to my Nightly practice of rollin' my Own hair up. Prexy's little boy is now Leaning over my shoulder offering Suggestions. No, he is just Seven years old. Don't Worry. We have a mighty Pretty campus, but the Sophs almost Spoiled everything pretty in my Life, when they made Me eat molasses, gravy, and Chili sauce on my apple Pudding. I Am still in The hospital. Hoping you are the Same,

SALLY ANN.

The philosophy which affects to teach a contempt of money does not run very deep.—Henry Taylor.

SEVEN OF OUR LOW SENIORS

(The others will appear from time to time in this column.)

Mal Rumph.
 If a student is judged by his ways By the trustworthiness he displays In being right on the job When the rest "flunk" or "sob" Then to "Editor Mal," highest praise.

Doris Hunt.
 Now Doris, our athletic star, Is loved and sighed for, from afar. Cheeks like roses so rare Lovely black glossy hair Are enough to give all hearts a jar.

Ira Lauderdale.
 One handsome young gentleman, Ira, Has a kankering kind of desire—a To turn the lights low, Whisper, "I love you so," As he sits holdin' hands by the fire-a.

Helen Holmes.
 Our beautiful Helen—not Helen of Troy Nor anything like her—oh, what a joy! In spite of the curl on her forehead She never, no never, is horrid— But genuine gold, with no ounce of alloy.

Edward Lee.
 Now "Red," our young senior esquire Has a fondness for brilliant attire, His lovely green ties And the socks that he buys Cause all the young ladies to look and admire.

Linouise Campbell.
 So charming is fair Linouise She has all the boys on their knees But little she wrecks Of their knees or their necks, She's working for A's, if you please.

Laurence Keough.
 To the editor-in-chief of the Quill I offer this toast with a will: "Worthy, modest and true, May you win all your due And your dearest ambitions fulfill."

DEBATING CLUB.

The Debating Club met at the usual time, Oct. 17. The meeting was opened with a short parliamentary drill. Carl Olson and Marvin Boyd gave an impromptu dialogue entitled "Bobbed Hair Improves Girl's Looks." The debate of the evening was upon the subject, "Resolved, That a commercial course is worth more than a course in domestic or mechanical art." Myrtle Tomlinson and Paul Latch took the affirmation, and Ed Browne and Chesley Kilborn the negative. Several new members were initiated.

Quantity production tends to cheapen almost everything, including laws.—San Francisco Chronicle.

THEY SAY THAT—

Anita is fond of football, especially of fleet runners.

Finders are keepers and losers are weepers. Sweetwater lost Roberta, Jack and Catherine Moss. Let her weep, we are the finders.

Paul Latch knows all about the flirtatious ways of women.

Ed Browne says, "the greatest question of the day is how to keep a husband."

Joe Carrothers thinks cough syrup was one of the main pine products of Carolina in the year 1680.

Theresa Eddleman and the three Yarborough girls have been absent from school on account of sickness.

Mr. Wells was absent from school most of Monday.

Coach Chapman, Phil Berry, Edward Lee, Quincy Lee, Porter Myrick, and Chesley Kilborn were visitors at the Texas State Fair at Dallas.

Louise Smith and Vera Hyatt, P. G.'s of '23, are planning to attend the University of Texas at the opening of the second term. We are happy to state that Wallace Britain, who was injured in an automobile accident two weeks ago, is back in school and feeling "fit" again. The state inspector visited C. H. S. last Wednesday. We trust that she was as well pleased with our looks and behavior as we were with hers, and that her report will be made in rainbow colors. Wonder what she will say?

CISCO DEFEATS GORMAN.

The Lobos defeated Gorman Hi Friday afternoon by a score of 35 to 7. The Lobos outclassed their opponents, and the game was never in doubt although the Gorman team fought the entire game and made a creditable showing.

Cisco scored in the first quarter on a series of line bucks and end runs. Stubblefield and Brown were the chief ground gainers for the Lobos. Moore carried the ball across for a touchdown on a line plunge. Wilson kicked goal. Cisco launched a forward pass attack and completed several passes for long gains putting the ball close to the goal. Stubblefield then carried it across for a touchdown. Wilson again kicked goal.

Gorman started a lively rally which ended when Wilson recovered a fumble and ran across the goal line. He was called back, and Cisco then penalized for holding. Cisco then started an attack which led to another touchdown with Brown carrying the ball across for the marker. Wilson again kicked goal.

In the second half several new men went in for the Lobos. Morse at half showed up well and did some good line plunging. Two more touchdowns were added during the period. Gorman scored when a half back got through the line and someone blew a whistle causing several several Cisco players to stop. The half ran across the line and the referee ruled it a touchdown.

Cisco's line up at the start was: Grist, center; Lee, left guard; Mobbey, right guard; Smith, right tackle; Westerfeldt, left tackle; Berry, right end; Wilson left end; Morse, quarter; Brown, right half; McCrea, left half; Stubblefield, full. Substitutes: Morse for McCrea; Strickland for Lee; Cearley for Grist; Sheppard for Strickland; Winston for Berry; Lauderdale for Sheppard H. Browne for Sherrill; Carrothers for Petty.

Cisco's next game is with Breckenridge, Friday at Chesley Park. This should be one of the most interesting games of the season.

Last weeks results left only Cisco and Abilene in the district undefeated. DeLeon was beaten by Strawn, 25-0 and Breckenridge by Ranger, 7-6.

OUR NEW GUSHER BOX.

Thanks to Terry.

This year's Gusher has, so far, been a great success except for one thing—we needed a box in which to put our news. It was rather troublesome to chase all through the building for someone to give a report to, but we needn't worry anymore about that, for Terry Turner has made a real nice "Gusher box" and nailed it at the door of room 112. We of the Gusher staff, wish to thank him very, very heartily.

All of you who doubt Terry's ability at carpentry, please just glance at the "Gusher box" next time you pass room 112; then when you see that box overflowing with news, you'll understand the why of the name, "Gusher."

If you have a thought that's clever, Drop it in:
 (the Gusher box)
 It may be the finest ever!
 Drop it in.
 (But please)

Make it short and crisp and snappy. Be it wise, or sad, or happy—Then, our Gusher won't be "gappy."
 (We thank you.)

HI-Y CLUB.

The Hi-Y Club was entertained by Mr. Wells at his home Saturday night. Everyone exhibited his ability to play 42 or checkers and eat fudge at the same time. After the games the club held its regular business meeting.

WHY NOT A STRAWBERRY BED THIS FALL?

Strawberries are raised by many in Eastland county on a small space and very successfully, too. A little care is all that is necessary for a few strawberries. A little care and proper time will produce some choice fruit, that will be great, and the more so, because you have grown it yourself.

When the market as they do in the spring strawberries take an important place in the diet when one has a craving for fresh fruit that is not satisfied with the what have been on the market. Science gives many reasons why fruits are necessary to our well being. The salts and contained in fresh fruits aid digestion, are natural laxatives and purify and refresh the blood. The food and medicinal value of fruit is so great that we do not consider it a luxury to eat occasionally, but as a very necessary article of the daily diet. A person, especially housewives, should realize the importance of this and should not consider a diet unbalanced unless it contains fruit which is always preferred.

In the Southwest, strawberries are the fresh fruit to be had in the fall, but usually the price is prohibitive and the majority of housewives refrain from buying till later in the year when the price is reduced. Strawberries are easily grown and, with a little expense and trouble, many can grow their own berries. They have a wide adaptation to soil and climate and may be successfully grown in any soil suited to the ordinary crops. A wide row across the garden will produce all the berries a family can use; and, if one is fortunate as to possess a garden of strawberries in the back yard, it will do wonders toward reducing the grocery bill next spring. A few beds and borders of strawberries in the front yard will be just as pretty as beds of pansies or geraniums. On the south side of the house is an ideal place for a strawberry bed. Being protected from the north and having plenty of sunshine will cause them to bear earlier in the spring.

Now is the proper time to set out berry plants in order to have a good crop of berries in the spring. If you plant them in beds or border your flower beds with them, spade up the soil thoroughly and mix in a liberal amount of barnyard fertilizer. Cut the roots of the plants back just a little and remove most of the leaves. Set them twelve or eighteen inches apart each way in beds or borders they will spread out and cover beds entirely. Keep them well cultivated till severe weather comes, then mulch with hay or oat straw. Do not remove this mulch in the spring unless it is too thick and heavy. The plants will work up through the mulch and the berries will be protected from the dirt. Do not cultivate after they are mulched till they quit bearing. Give frequent cultivation through next summer and fall to conserve moisture and keep free from weeds.

Did you ever stop to think that your porch and window boxes would be just as pretty with strawberries growing in them as with geraniums, nasturtiums, etc.? The foliage of the strawberry plant is pretty and sprigs of wandering Jew could be set among the plants to trail down the sides of the boxes; and, with lark, red, luscious berries peeping from among the foliage, you could have window and porch boxes that would be envied by your neighbors and be furnishing all the berries you could use besides.

Green Feed in the South
(Charles M. Brown)

There are thousands of back-lot men in our Southern cities. They have no grassy free range to supply their chickens with green stuff from the markets. Lettuce, cabbage, turnip leaves, or else sprouted oats, is a known fact that poultry, young and old, must have the vitamins contained in green feed.

Years ago in Fort Worth I had a poultry house 100 feet long and 10 feet wide divided into eight pens. This ran through the center of the 100x100 feet with runs in front and rear. In the latter, which was the north, I sowed oats, and each daily flock had access to the green stuff necessary. That way.

My runs in my new plant are 100 feet, houses and runs facing each other and I must supply each one with green feed the year around, and I have solved the problem. Presently, to wit: For each pen I built a bottomless box 4x8 feet, covered the top with inch-mesh wire and nailed three 1x4 boards lengthwise across the box which was from 1x10 common. The pens which I have placed each have been deeply spaded up and covered with hen droppings and the pens covered three inches in four weeks after sowing. The pens are coming thickly through and the hens are having a good figure that all winter long will be supplied with green feed. Anyone can see the sense in this and common sense in this is to have green feed for the South where free range is not available. The plan for spring could be utilized by all breeders.

A new brooder house, 8x56, has been 50 feet long. These I am sowing to oats for the young chickens fall and winter. My two houses are 8x56 with yard to 50 feet long. These I am sowing as well which will supply feed all fall and winter to my chickens.

Who has any better plan for raising chickens?

W. T. Gurney, of Moran, stopped off in Cisco Friday on his way to the Dallas Fair. Gurney says he can't go through Cisco without stopping off. He has been coming to Cisco to trade for so many years that he always feels at home when here.

Mr. Gurney is in the shallow oil district and has a number of good wells. He is one of the oldtimers here, however, and does not forget old friends. He invites all his old Cisco friends to stop in with him and eat with him when they are in his neighborhood.

Postoffice Department. Expenditures during the last fiscal year were $556,893,000 with revenue of $532,828,000, showing an apparent deficit of $24,065,000, it was announced on October 9 by Postmaster General New. There was an increase over the previous year in the volume of business, which was handled at an additional cost of 3.3 per cent. The deficit for the year ending June 30, 1922, was about $60,000,000. The figures were compiled by Comptroller General J. R. McCarl. Mr. New in a statement accompanying them, however, said that while they conformed to the method of stating the deficit which has been followed in the past, they gave a misleading impression of the business of the postal service, including more than $15,000,000 in undischarged obligations carried over from previous fiscal years, and failed to take into account nearly $21,000,000 of such obligations incurred last year which will be paid later.

3,021,454,000 bushels. This would make it rank as the country's fourth largest corn crop and make the fourth time it has passed the three billion figure. Wheat was estimated at 7,490,000 bushels less than a month ago, production being estimated at 781,737,000 bushels. Oats production declined 9,234,000 bushels and tobacco showed a severe reduction of 89,005,000 pounds. Potatoes improved to the extent of 11,750,000 bushels more during September, the hay estimates increased 4,667,000 pounds more than a month ago. Frost damaged crops in practically all North Central and Northeastern states, but while the damage was severe in a number of sections it will not affect the yield so much as the quality. Indications were that the quality would be below that of last year, the report said.

THE AIR FLIVVER IN ENGLAND.

England has been having a contest of what she calls "war babies." The planes competing were limited to seven and one-half horsepower and the ability to pass through a ten-foot gate and fly not less than 50 miles on one gallon of gasoline.

Numerous plans met these conditions and made marvelous records of speed, economy and safe control. Some do more than 60 miles an hour. Some make 80 miles or more to a gallon. Prices are as low as $1,000.

In one of these machines a man becomes a veritable human swallow. Or perhaps he might be better likened to a bumble bee, except that he can fly faster, straighter and farther.

Nothing of the kind has been developed yet in this country, which created the airplane. Soon, no doubt, there will come a deluge of air flivvers of the British type—eventually a plague of them. Anyone with enough skill to ride a motorcycle and enough money to buy a small automobile can command one of these baby planes and fly all over creation.

They will afford the cheapest transportation ever devised. They will also make baffling traffic problems and fill the hospitals.

American business is temperate, anyway. You never hear of prices taking a drop too much.

RESTORING THE GERMAN HONOR.

Dictator Von Kahr of Bavaria in announcing his policy tells the press of the world that Germany has "lost her national honor," and the problem now is to regain it. His plan for that purpose is a curious one.

How is Germany to regain her honor? By shouldering her war burdens and trying faithfully to do the best she can with them? By making an honest effort at reparation, according to her ability? By asking France and the other Allies only to give her suitable co-operation in the working out of her penalty and her own salvation?

Nothing like that. Von Kahr proposes to begin a great propaganda campaign to prove to the world that the French are robbers and that Germany was not responsible for the war and its horrors.

That cannot be done. It has already been tried and failed. The world still holds Germany responsible for planning and launching the conflict and thereby bringing on its manifold horrors and the privation and misery that followed. Nobody wants any more propaganda from Germany. Nobody will pay much attention to it if it comes.

The Bavarian dictator is making a strategic mistake. What the world wants of Germany is what it has wanted all along—first signs of understanding and repentance, and then only such demands as are within her power to make. A penitent state of mind would enlist the immediate sympathy of everyone. After that, perhaps even the "French robbers" could be persuaded to modify their demands.

PEOPLE SHOULD EAT MORE FISH.

Canada's fisheries in 1922 showed a gain in output of more than $6,000,000 over that of the previous year. This is an increase equivalent to slightly over 17 per cent. The fish industry in the United States also is increasing its output, though exact figures are not available. Pollution of sea water by oil has done much to exterminate the fish in centers once considered rich, but new grounds have been found and the volume of fish increases with the development of the fresh fields.

The department of agriculture in a recent announcement urged greater fish consumption on the theory that fish contain large portions of iodine, which prevents diseases to the thyroid gland. The old theory that fish is a brain food seems to have been dispelled, but inquisitive science has found at least one advantage which replaces it. The supply is perhaps unlimited, and people should take advantage of it while meat prices maintain a high level.

MANY AUTOGRAPHS BUT NO FRIENDS.

Twenty-one years ago a young man set out from his home in Hungary to travel over the world collecting autographs of famous persons, and his life was to be full of big things.

This man is now in the United States, where he hopes to locate permanently. He has traveled more than 200,000 miles—a good deal of the distance on foot—and has met kings, queens, presidents, governors and notables in many different lands. He has met scores of people every day. The book in which he keeps his autographs now weighs 67 pounds and has to be carried around in a little wagon. He expects it to bring in a fortune when he sells it. With the money he plans to purchase land and a home where he will start raising vegetables and cultivating friends and neighbors. For in all his travels he has found no real companions. He has merely met new people and passed on.

His heavy book of autographs may net him a goodly sum of money, and it may not. Many men have made a fortune in less than twenty-one years without paying for it by sacrificing human companionship.

PRIVILEGED AMERICAN INCOMES.

"Privilege" in this country is usually taken to mean some kind of monopoly protected, intentionally or unintentionally, by public authority. There is not so much of that as there used to be. There are, however, two new types of privilege now under fire. One is the immunity of capital from income taxes when invested in public bonds. The other is the immunity of public office-holders from income taxes.

Sentiment has definitely set against tax-free securities, because they allow the very wealthy to escape federal taxation and take money from constructive enterprise. Little attention has been given to the exemption of federal, state and local office-holders from the federal income tax, but murmurs of discontent are beginning to arise on that score. This, because of the evident injustice of a system which makes private incomes pay all the taxes.

NEW YORK DIVORCES.

The census bureau shows that last year there were fewer divorces in New York in proportion to population than anywhere else in the United States except South Carolina, where divorce is prohibited, and in the District of Columbia.

The New York courts granted only forty divorces to every 100,000 persons. The average for the whole country was 136 divorces per 100,000. The worst state in the union, matrimonially speaking, is Nevada, with 1,325 divorces per 100,000 inhabitants, but the showing is of course explained by the fact that Nevada has laws directly favoring the easy granting of divorces. Texas also has a bad record.

The average ratio of divorce to marriage in the United States is one to 7.6. The supposedly wicked metropolis has only one divorce to 22.6 marriages.

It may be argued that New Yorkers go out of the state for their divorces, especially to Reno and to Paris, because their own divorce laws are strict. But that doesn't explain the whole thing. Why does New York have strict divorce laws? Presumably because she wants them.

The city fathers did a big, far-reaching thing when they municipalized the Cisco chamber of commerce. This body will now operate under the direct supervision of the city commission—men elected by the people—and the carefully scrutinized expenses incurred by the chamber of commerce in constructive work—work of actual value to all property owners—will be paid for by property owners in proportion to their holdings. Could a more sane or sensible plan be devised? However, it is not a new or untried plan, by any means. Among the West Texas cities thus functioning are Amarillo, Plainview and Sweetwater.

POOR OLD TOWSER!

Why doesn't some poetic sharp rise up and smite his old tin harp and sail through high Olympia's fog in honor of the faithful dog? Not like the doleful houn' dawg wail that makes a real pup tuck his tail, but something of the uplift sort. Why can't some high-brow sing and snort and with his trusty lyre defend man's truest, best and noblest friend? The Saint Bernard on rocky heights that helps the traveler in his plight, the Collie of the Scottish hills that herds the sheep and pays the bills, that runs the farm and milks the cow and hoes the oats and guides the plow; the Newfoundland with fuzzy fur, the Mastiff and the Yellow Cur. Oh, what a great and noble theme for highbrow flight and poet's dream! When Towser guards our lonely house or saves the children and the spouse, we put a garland on his brow and phonograph his sweet "bow-wow." But when he droops his poor old jaw we drive him from his bed of straw, the neighbors come with shouts and groans and batter him with sticks and stones, and black his eyes and pull his hair and start another mad dog scare.

An arresting thought for women entering politics—job holders often grow fat in office.

Chicago bootleggers are getting so disorderly the police are threatening to close the saloons. — Nashville Southern Lumberman. — Nashville (Wash.) World.

Memory is a wonderful thing. It is all that stands between Europe and another great war. — Wenatchee (Wash.) World.

OF A PERSONAL NATURE

LADY BANDITS.

Now the headlines in the papers tell us daily
That the "weaker sex" is learning how to shoot;
And the ugly mug who holds us up so gaily
May just as well turn out to be a beaut.
From coast to coast the little bullets patter,
And they do not always have the aim so pat,
But they generally pull a line of chatter—
You can always tell the woman gun by that.

When a gentleman is held up by a lady
On a lonely country highway late at night,
And she aims an automatic at his cady
And stops his car and tells him to alight;
When she swings him for his watch and chain and boodle
(And this may happen any night to you),
If he does not want a bullet through his noodle,
Pray, what is any gentleman to do?
For you cannot best a lady even slightly,
And if you strike a woman you're no gent,
You must stand and take your medicine politely
And with a genteel protest be content.

Mothers' Council.

The members of this order met June 6th., and the following letter was, by vote of the council, presented to the city council:

To the Mayor and Hon. Board of Aldermen of Cisco, Texas:

We, the Mothers Council, believing it to be our first duty as parents and citizens to encourage the promotion of facilities for the moral and intellectual development of our children, realizing the inadequacy of the present building to accommodate the needs of the community, in the cause of education, and believing it to be a hindrance to the best growth and development of both mind and body that children of all ages should be so crowded together, and furthermore believing that a chapel for daily chapel exercises is necessary for the proper discipline of the school and moral training of the children, and to furnish an auditorium for the public entertainment of the school.

We therefore beg you to consider the feasibility of issuing bonds for the erection of a public High School building; and pledge you our sympathy and encouragement in any measure you may inaugurate for the relief of present conditions.

Thanking you in advance for favorable consideration, we are,

Respectfully yours,

Committee: Mesds. Langston, Holcomb, Rose, LeVaux and Luse. Members: Mesds. Neel, Ammerman, Kinsey, Shrupp, Parish, Mason, Davenport, Wilson, Williamson and Eppler.

We hear that Ben F. Townsend, of Gunsight, met with an accident early in the week which may cost him his eyesight. He was endeavoring to clean a paint can, and placed it on the fire, when the contents of the can exploded, burning him terribly about the head and face. We trust reports have been exaggerated.—Breckenridge Democrat.

The Brownwood ball team arrived in the city yesterday and the line up for today will be as follows: Jeff Clark, Jess Wesmorland, Ed McGee, J. B. Moore, H. Lawson, Fay Looney, Bert Hise, Bob Rousky and Lee Hall. Joe Hall is the manager, and Tom Bell, Will Price and several others accompanied the team. The entire party are registered at Hartman Hotel and appear to be a nice, clean set of hearty ball tossers, and we hope that their stay will be made pleasant. Cisco's line up for the ball game today: Love, J. Sizemore, Cahoon, Thomas, W. Sizemore, Pace, Stanton, J. Eddleman and Anderson, Hartman, manager.

Later—The above teams played three games—Thursday, Friday and Saturday—all on the Cisco grounds. Brownwood won the first game, a ten-inning affair, 6 to 5; Cisco the second, 6 to 4; Cisco the third, 9 to 5.

Dan Hamilton of Moran Country Been Trading Cisco Too Long to Quit

Dan Hamilton and family, of Moran, were shopping in Cisco Saturday. Mr. Hamilton is a well-to-do stock farmer of the Moran country. He was unfortunate in being in the grasshopper district and will make very little cotton or feed this year, but men like Hamilton will be able to get along very well, even if they should miss a crop or two. He raises Poland-China hogs and Barred Rock chickens on his home place. However he owns land in Stephens and Eastland counties as well as in Shackelford county.

Hamilton says he has to come over to Cisco to shop. He has been trading in Cisco too long to quit now. He can find what he wants here and the merchants seem to appreciate his business.

Eastland County Fair Will Be Popular Gathering Place For

Stockmen, Poultrymen and Agriculturists---November Eight, Nine and Ten---Don't Forget

The first annual meet of the Eastland County Fair Association—Cisco, November 8, 9, 10—will undoubtedly be a great success if the weather man does not develop a contrary streak. Nothing else can interfere, according to the officers and directors of the association, made up of the following gentlemen: P. W. Campbell, president; R. Lee Poe, vice president; Frank Harrell, treasurer; G. C. Richardson, secretary. Directors: R. L. Clinton, Frank E. Harrell, Minter Womack, R. Q. Lee, R. L. Poe, F. D. Wright, P. W. Campbell and R. H. Bush.

Each day there is some new development indicating increased interest on the part of the people who are to make this event a success. More people are signifying their intention of making entries in one or more of the various departments, and the fact that poultry men, live stock men and agriculturists are enthusiastic over it is sufficient evidence that the fair will not only be of unusual interest, but of great benefit to the county in general, as well. It should be the means of bringing a number of interests closer together and thus result in a long step forward along improved marketing lines. (For, be it thoroughly understood by all, correct marketing methods is the only key that will unlock the many golden opportunities now just beyond the reach of Eastland county farmers, poultry men and merchants.)

Below is a list of the men and women who have already signified their intention of entering in one or more of the departments:

Poultry Department.
E. B. Isaacks, Cisco; S. V. Parker, Gorman; H. T. Johnston, Eastland; W. H. Stephenson, Cisco; Ruth Huestis, Dothan; Bob Williams, Gorman; Mrs. N. W. ### Carbon Man Says Merchants Of Cisco Should Strive To Solve Marketing Problems

G. N. Nabors, who lives near Carbon, was in Cisco Friday. He says that digging sweet potatoes is the order of the day in his community. Almost every farmer in the sandy land section has a patch of potatoes of varying dimensions, ranging from one-fourth to several acres.

The potato crop is good; the yield runs from one hundred to four hundred bushels to the acre. He says the paramount lament is a cry for a sure market. Every one is seeing the need for a marketing association, and look to the business men of Cisco to solve the problem.

Drying plants are needed so that the crop may be sold slowly. Many people are drying out their potatoes as best they can and are "hilling" them, so that they may be marketed gradually and thus not force the market too much at one time.

CLASS "B."

The continued exodus from the south of the colored population, although a matter of concern in industrial centers, is not without a bit of humor now and then, remarks Everybody's.

At the terminal station in Macon, Georgia, a party of adventurers was entraining recently for points north, and one of the party bidding good-bye to another of his color, said: "Well, Sam, when you comin to Detroit?"

"I belongs to de 'B' class," replied Sam.

"How's dat? What you mean de 'B' class nigger?"

"What I means," said Sam, "is dat I be here when you's gwine away an' I be's here when you come back."

OUR NEW MASTER.
 "Time and tide wait for no man;" must necessarily keep pace with time. This is being done in High School by an up-to-the-minute recording system. The system is composed of two clocks, a ball and a master which controls all. The two clocks are not clocks at all, but faces whose hands are electrically controlled by the master time. One of these clocks is in each hall. The bell is hign upon the wall of the corridor and faces the entrance to the first floor. It rings at the opening of each morning and at the close of each period. The bell is controlled by the master-clock. The master clock, situated in Mr. Wells' office, is an excellent piece of work. It is a gilded pendulum swaying backwards and forwards forward and backward seems to shape the lives and actions of men.

NEW ORGANIZATION.
 The society for the study of Engineering met in room 114 at eleven o'clock, Thursday, October 18, 1923. Hazelwood acted as temporary president. On motion of Glen Roberts was voted to elect officers. Eugene Shockley was elected president; Eugene Shockley was elected vice president; Lucille Roberts was elected secretary; Ruth Eddleman, and Ruth Clark were elected. Lola Bower, Lucille Roberts, and Malcolm St. John were elected. On the motion of Glen Roberts, society adjourned whenever a call came from the president, or the sponsor, Hazelwood.

H. S. WILL HAVE A PART IN THE PAGEANT.
 During the second week of November, the 8th, 9th, and 10th, a fair will be held in Cisco. C. H. S. is going to have a part in the fair, although the particulars are not ready to be given to the public. There will be there to back the town and assure the public in general that we do not hold a minor part in the pageant. Everyone who takes in the pageant will not only see what the pageant is to offer, but also that C. H. S. is among the first and best of the fair. You have heard of our football wonder-team—watch our part in the pageant.

Spick and Span Pantries
 Like a spick and span pantry. The place where I keep my utensils, my groceries and all the things that usually clutter up the kitchen, to fairly shine with cleanliness all the time. But until very recently the pantry in such a spotless condition was a difficult thing to find. For something was always on the clean white paper of the shelves, or the paper itself was torn or growing grimy or dusty. Soon after I had renewed it simply could not keep up with a year ago I painted my shelves. I painted every shelf I had, not only on the upper surface, where the pans and baking-powder are, but on the under surface. And it was not just an ordinary coat of paint I gave the shelves, but a very thorough, painstaking coat of the-corners covering. First,

C. H. S. EXES.
 It will be of interest to many to hear that:
 Harrell Reagan formerly of C. H. S. has returned from a three years absence and has entered the John Tarleton College at Stephenville. While Harrell was away, he had many interesting experiences. One and a half years were spent abroad in Germany.
 Florence Maxwell, '23, now has a very nice position with Montgomery Ward of Fort Worth.
 Joe Britain and Tom Johnson, the Damon and Pythias of the class of '23 are working 12 hours a day with only one purpose in mind: to save their money and enter the University of Texas next year. These young gentlemen deserve our respect and admiration and they certainly are receiving it. On with the good work, boys, "there is no defeat except from within."

LOOKING FORWARD.
 Sixth street, just north of the high school has begun to take on a new and pleasing appearance. Sidewalks and gutters are being laid and gravel hauled preparatory to paving the street. Students and faculty members are looking forward to its completion with much pleasure and great enthusiasm not only because it is a needed improvement, but also because it will add largely to the pleasing appearance of our beautiful building which is so magnificently situated.
 As soon as the work on this street is done, we are hoping that the short streets east and west will receive due consideration. Then—
 Fancy, if you can, our campus all field in, levelled, trees and flowers set out in an artistic manner, and a broad cement walk on every side. What a picture!

HONOR ROLL.
 The report cards for the first month were given out Oct. 17. Thirteen students were on the Honor Roll. To gain this position one must receive three A's. The following were the fortunate:
 Seniors.
 Linouise Campbell.
 Margaret Lauderdale.
 Roberta Moss.
 Irene Quinn.
 Mal Rumph.
 Juniors.
 Vina Gould.
 Edna Hall.
 Sophomores.
 Bessie Swindle.
 Carl Johnston.
 Jack Moss.
 Freshmen.
 Ruth Clark.
 Eugene Shockley.
 Bessie Olson.

I painted the shelves with a flat white paint, giving it time to permeate the wood thoroughly; then I applied two more coats of this plain white, good substantial paint; and last of all I used a finishing coat of white enamel.
 When this was thoroughly dry I rearranged my pantry, placing brass hooks for everything that could be hung up neatly and out of the way, and making a place for everything else, so that it could always be put back in its place conveniently. Now I never find it necessary to clean my pantry at all. Even at the house-cleaning times the old bugbear of rooting out the utensils and other things, scrubbing the shelves and covering them with fresh paper, which would only remain fresh for a few days, is relegated to the past. My shelves are wiped with a soapy cloth whenever they seem to need cleansing, and they are as glistening and neat and satisfactory today as they were at first. It is such a comfort to have a pantry that simply stays clean all by itself.

Baby Chicks Profitable

L. W. Mayfield.
 I sent in an order for baby chicks in March and the party that I ordered from could not fill it at that time. He was behind with his orders, so I never secured my chicks until April 26. It was cold and cloudy and by the time I got them to the house it was getting dusk. They were then about forty-eight hours old. It was so dark they could not see how to eat, so I lighted the lamp and gave them some grit, and after they had eaten this I gave them hard-boiled egg and put them back into the box they came in. After an hour or so I put them under a hen that was nearly ready to hatch her eggs, and next morning took them and the hen into the house and fed them as before, only I gave them some oatmeal with this. About two or three hours later I gave them a small feed of prepared chick feed composed of maize, kaffir, wheat and other small grains. I fed the baby chicks feed for a few days. Then I fed kaffir and wheat. They seemed to do better on wheat and a small amount of kaffir than they did on the prepared feed. Two of the chicks took diarrhea and one died. The other recovered, but it was badly stunted.
 They were about a week old at this time and when they were about two weeks old an old hen killed one of them. I only got seventeen out of twenty that were healthy and I raised fifteen until on June 30, when a big rain came late in the evening, and the hen had weaned them. Some of the other chicks crowded that night and two were killed. This left twelve, so I still have seven nice cockerels and five pullets, and they are looking fine. They are Buff Minorcas—the all-purpose, none-setting fowl, about two pounds heavier than the other Mediterranean breeds. They are five months old and the pullets look like they may go to laying soon.

 "The Man's Store"

E. M. Williams and Son Will Enter Hogs, Cattle And Chckens at Fair

E. M. Williams and son, Wyley, of Moran, were shopping in Cisco the latter part of the week. Mr. Williams and his son are substantial farmers, who have become interested in good blooded stock and have on their farm, north of Moran, some fine Holstein milk cows, Duroc hogs and White Leghorn chickens. The elder Williams says he pays little attention to the raising of either corn or cotton as he finds there are too many failures to make either of them profitable. These men have a fine farm and some good grass land and they find that the raising of good stock is more congenial then spending so much time trying to raise other crops. They were in the grasshopper district which swept the county north of Moran and the small acreage they had in cotton produced very little. They plant large crops of maize and manage to have feed for their stock. They have a comfortable home and plenty to eat and so they say, "what else do we want?"
 These men intend to enter some hogs, chickens and cattle in the Eastland County Fair, to be held in Cisco, November 8-9-10. They say they are in Cisco trade territory and hence should patronize the Cisco Fair.

A TAX FREE INVESTMENT

The 7 per cent Cumulative Preferred Stock of the American Public Service Company is free from all taxation in Texas, and is also exempt from the normal Federal Income Tax. Dividends are payable quarterly on the first day of January, April, July and October.

THE AMERICAN PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY HAS NEVER FAILED TO PAY WHEN DUE THE QUARTERLY DIVIDEND ON ITS PREFERRED STOCK.

For the quarter ending August 1, 1923, the output of electrical energy by the operating companies of the American Public Service Company, of which the West Texas Utilities Company is one, was 31.5 per cent larger than for the corresponding quarter of 1922. This fact speaks most emphatically of the progress and prospects of the Company.

There is practically an unlimited field for the successful development of the electrical light and power industry. The Preferred Stock of the American Public Service Company, which is engaged in this business, is an attractive investment offering safety of principal and regular dividends.

Stock may be purchased for cash, or on the part payment plan, the liberal features of which will be explained upon application at any office of this company.

Dingler Making Good Cotton and Pecan Crop

With his cotton making more than a quarter bale-per acre and a heavy pecan crop on his mile front of the Sabanno, U. A. Dingler, about fifteen miles south of Cisco, is "setting pretty" this year. This is the way it looks to the X-Ray editor who accepted an invitation to visit the Dingler home last Sunday. We have known Mr. Dingler for twenty years but had never before had the pleasure of visiting in his home. We found him and his good wife well fixed in the home with many modern conveniences. In the parlor they have a player piano to furnish music for them in the evenings. Mr. Dingler has installed a modern water and sewer system for his home and premises. He even has a hydrant with a short hose in his garage so that the hose hangs just above the radiator of his car. This is working convenience out to a fine point. He has the modern water fixtures in his kitchen so his wife is saved many steps. In addition to his water system he has an underground cistern that has the best water we have ever tasted from a cistern. When asked why the water did not have the regular cistern taste Mr. Dingler said that the walls are not cemented but laid with rock against the natural soapstone earth. This lets any poisonous matter in the water soak out into the earth and leaves the water pure and tasteless.

The visit into Mr. Dingler's pecan orchard was very interesting. The Sabanno creek runs through his farm and with its windings gives him about a mile of very fine pecan orchard. The trees are all thrifty and are loaded this year with a good crop. On some of the trees we noticed clusters of seven pecans, and he has one tree that bears natural paper shell pecans. He will get buds from this tree in the future to grade up many young trees. He has already killed two other trees near it so as to give it plenty of room. He prizes it very highly. As rapidly as he can dispose of the wood he is cutting out all the oak and other timber along the creek to give the pecans plenty room. Mr. Dingler says the pecans have made a crop on an average of every other year since he has owned the place during the past eight years and the four crops have brought him a total of about $2500.00. Each of the four crops has brought from five to seven hundred dollars. He is enthusiastic for the pecan industry in this section and hopes the time will soon come when there are enough pecan orchards to attract big buyers so better prices can be gotten.

Mr. Dingler wants it known that he will this year prosecute all trespassers in his pecan orchard.—Rising Star X-Ray.

Fine Woman Passes To Her Reward After a Long, Eventful Life

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Vernon died Sunday night at her home in this city, following a short illness. The funeral was held at the First Presbyterian church Monday morning, conducted by Rev. Gaines B. Hall, after which the remains were taken to the old home at Sipe Spring for burial.

Mrs. Vernon was born in Missouri, in 1845, and had lived a long and eventful life. With her husband, William Vernon, she came to Texas in the early days. They settled at Sipe Springs, at that time an outpost of a very thinly settled state, where they endured all the hardships and privations of pioneer life. About fifteen years ago the family moved to Cisco, William Vernon, the husband dying about three years later.

Frank Vernon, a son of this union, who was editor of the old Cisco Round-Up and founded the local telephone company and the Cisco library, died in 1901. The mother took up her son's library work, kept it alive and developed it and was librarian at the time of her death. Mrs. Vernon was deeply attached to the church of her choice, the Presbyterian, and was one of the most unselfish of women in her devotion to her friends.

Besides a brother, C. L. Taylor, of Denton, the good woman leaves a grandson, Frank Vernon, of Dallas, who is the son of Mrs. Wm. Reagan of this city, and a great grandson, Frank Vernon, Jr.

MITCHELL.

Because of rain the singing convention didn't meet with us the second Sunday of October. However, it will meet here the first Sunday in November, so everyone is invited to come.

O. N. Lasater and family have moved back on his home place in our community.

Will, Joe and Jack Starr visited the Dallas fair last week and report some sights.

Eulala Hazelwood and Esta and Eura Mae Austin are at Dallas this week attending the fair.

Spurgeon Parks and family, and Will Lasater and family were dinner guests in the Dave Speegle home Sunday.

Bro. J. E. McDermott and J. B. Harris and family visited at Loren Parks home Sunday.

Our B. Y. P. U. programs were fine Sunday evening. Both Junior and Senior had a fine program.

J. W. Kilgore was with us Sunday, but will leave again soon for his work at Lamesa.

Quite a number of singers from Cisco were out Sunday afternoon and we were glad to have them with us. Don't forget the date of the convention.

L. A. Parks and son, Alford and G. L. Baily and wife, and Mrs. O. M. Abbott, left Wednesday for Dallas to attend the fair.

Merwin Wasser and wife and little daughter, Aneta, of Putnam, visited Mrs. Wasser's mother, Mrs. J. N. Rupe Sunday.

Grant Daniels of Cisco visited neighbors in our community and attended the eleven o'clock services Sunday.

The first Sunday in November is the time for the singing convention. Everyone is invited, so be there.

Baxter Burnett and family of Eastland, visited Mrs. Bennett's brother, L. R. O'Brien Sunday.

SEBE BOYD IN CITY.

Sebe Boyd, who lives six miles northwest of Cisco, was in the city Tuesday and called at the American office. Mr. Boyd is deeply interested in pure-blooded cattle and is the owner of eight registered Holsteins. He will have two head on exhibit at the Cisco fair, he said. Mr. Boyd has been devoting some time to blooded cattle for the past three years. His first stock was purchased from the Maple Lawn Farm, Courtland, N. Y., and the entire herd is in excellent condition at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Southern are visiting Mr. Southern's brother and attending the fair in Dallas.

WANTED:

All the old ones and lots of new customers who pay twice a month. We appreciate the good business our friends have given us the past month, and we solicit a continuation of the same.

We pay a little more for chickens and eggs from the farmers. On that basis we get a big farmer trade which we appreciate. Just a first class suburban store with guaranteed satisfaction and service, is our aim.

THE SCOPE OF BANK SERVICE

Some people think of a bank as merely a place for the safekeeping of money.

A bank is more than that; it is an association of experts who have made a study of money—its care, its uses and the way to make a profit from it.

The right bank connection is an indispensable adjunct to your business.
