NAZIS NEAR MOSCOW, BUT REDS KILL MANY

Rev. Frank Norris Back From London Warns Americans

FT. WORTH, Oct. 14.—Predicting a long war, Rev. J. Frank Norris said on his return home Sunday from England that the United States, the arsenal of democracy, must "put Hitler down before it is over."

Rev. Mr. Norris spoke twice Sunday—to a capacity crowd during the morning in First Baptist church and to 12,000 persons in an open-air meeting Sunday night at Farrington Field.

He arrived home at 2 a. m. Sunday by plane after a stormy trip by clipper plane from Lisbon, Portugal, to New York City.

The Ft. Worth and Detroit pastor, who had an audience with Prime Minister Churchill, painted a gloomy picture of world affairs when he declared that Hitler is far stronger today than when the war began.

He said Italy is a vassal state of Germany with 750,000 German troops policing the country.

"Hitler now has 7,000,000 men under arms," Rev. Mr. Norris said. "There is a possibility America may have to face the whole world and stand alone. Hitler will turn on England with full fury when his campaign in the east is over."

"Lick Hell Out of Hitler."

"Instead of building 1,500 to 2,000 airplanes a month we should and could build 5,000 to 10,000 and send them to Britain to lick the hell out of Hitler. Then our boys would not have to go over there. Hitler is losing the Battle of the Atlantic."

"Hitler doesn't expect to defeat Great Britain and America combined. His plan is to fight the war to a stalemate, and with all Europe under his heel, he can go to work and put in his new order."

"If America should continue to sleep at the switch and Hitler takes all the territory of the Mediterranean, he will control three continents—Europe, Asia and Africa."

"The issue simply resolves itself down as to whether or not we will follow President Roosevelt as Britain is following Churchill."

Rev. Mr. Norris praised Senator Tom Connally of Texas, chairman of the foreign relations committee, whose name is front page news in English papers. The speaker said he had no quarrel with the sincere isolationists in America, adding "we have a bunch of Hitlerites over here and the sooner we put them behind barred doors the better off we will be."

"Tremendous Personality."

Rev. Mr. Norris described the bombed ruins of London and his visit with Churchill during a 45-minute conference. He said the prime minister, a man of tremendous personality, was dressed in a blue denim suit that would cost $3 in American stores.

Rev. Mr. Norris said he asked fifteen Britons, members of the British cabinet and editors, how long they thought the war would last. Their guesses ranged from three to ten years, with the average being five or six years.

Rev. Mr. Norris was invited by the British government to return to England for a three-months speaking tour. He is planning also to visit Russia.

"It is not a question as to whether we are going to war," the speaker said at Farrington Field. "We are already in it—the house is already on fire. The Neutrality Act should not have been passed, but it should be repealed immediately."

Mayor Pro Tem Evans spoke briefly in welcoming Rev. Mr. Norris back to his home town.

Mrs. J. A. McLain has returned from a visit with her mother in Oklahoma City.

"PETE" NANCE IS NEW MEMBER SCHOOL BOARD

The resignation of Mrs. Sam Kimmell, trustee, was accepted and Garland (Pete) Nance was elected in her stead. His term will expire in April, 1944.

Mrs. Kimmell retired from the board for the reason that her daughter, Miss Elsie Pulley, has accepted the position of home economics instructor in the high school.

Several routine matters were transacted and the board adjourned.

INTERNATIONAL PAPER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—International Paper Company, successor to International Paper and Power Company, Tuesday declared a dividend of $5 a share on its convertible 5 per cent preferred stock, wiping out the last of the arrearage which its stock inherited from the old company.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 14.—A boy, just past 16, goes on trial for his life Oct. 20—the first person of that age to face possible execution in Massachusetts in sixty-eight years.

Raymond Woodward, Jr., a curly-haired "problem child," is accused of the sadistic slaying of 15-year-old Constance Shipp, a Reading high school student who was described as a "typically American" girl. If convicted of first-degree murder, he faces a mandatory penalty of death in the electric chair.

It is not only because of age that the trial of Woodward recalls the case of Jesse Pomeroy, who was only 15 when he was sentenced to be hanged for murder in 1874. It is also because of the bestiality of the crimes of which they were accused.

Pomeroy, whose sentence was commuted to life imprisonment because of his youth, was convicted of two murders—those of a 6-year-old girl and a 5-year-old boy. Both victims had been hacked with a knife as had previous victims—none over five—who had been attacked, though not fatally, by Pomeroy.

In one of the attacks connected with Pomeroy, a 5-year-old boy, Johnny Balch, was brutally beaten and left in a field after the assailant put salt in the wounds.

Pomeroy spent 38 years in solitary confinement and then, a prematurely old man, was transferred to Bridgewater State farm, where he died after more than a half century's imprisonment.

The sadistic nature of Pomeroy's crimes was paralleled by the murder of Miss Shipp, whose attacker apparently took fiendish pleasure in mutilating her body even after she was dead.

She disappeared while enroute home from a store and her body was found four days later in a Baptist parsonage which was vacant for the summer. The groceries she had purchased were on a table and her hacked and battered body was sprawled on the kitchen floor.

The report of Medical-Examiner Roscoe D. Perley said the girl died of a skull fracture and cerebral hemorrhages after lying two days in the parsonage. There were 49 wounds on her body, many inflicted at different times, indicating the murderer came back several times to inflict more wounds on the tortured girl.

Her eyes were gouged out and there were cuts in the vicinity of them. There were seven deep wounds on and around the breasts. She was not criminally attacked.

Woodward, acting as caretaker at the parsonage, was charged with the murder after ten hours' questioning.

At the time of his arrest he was only 15 and already had been convicted in one sex case and was awaiting grand jury action on another.

CONTINENTAL MOTORS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Continental Motors Corporation reported today net profit for the nine months ended July 31 of $2,236,164, equal to 75 cents a common share, compared with $389,138 or 13 cents a share in the like 1940 period. Unfilled orders were reported at the highest level in the company's history.

94 PASSENGERS AND CREW OF 71 BELIEVED LOST

OPERTO, Portugal, Oct. 14.—The British steamer Avoceta, Gibraltar to Britain, was reported today to have been torpedoed. Ninety-four passengers and the crew of 71 men are believed to have perished.

PICKETS STONE WORKERS AND 33 ARRESTED

BENDIX, N. J., Oct. 14.—Stoning of workers by pickets and a flareup between a striker and a policeman brought three arrests Tuesday outside the strike-bound Air Associates plant.

Arrival of a group of workers by automobile brought the shower of stones. Police arrested two pickets as the instigators of the disorder.

A few minutes later a striker snatched a policeman's nightstick from his hands after the officer allegedly had struck him with it. The striker was arrested.

SCORE OF NAZI PRISONERS ARE SAFE IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Oct. 14.—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's former flagship, the Bear, now a naval patrol boat, arrived today with the Norwegian freighter, Rusko, and a score of Nazi prisoners seized while operating a radio station outpost in Greenland.

Almost five hours after the two vessels had slipped into the harbor, the prisoners, including a representative of the German gestapo, were taken to the East Boston immigration station.

The committee on dedication of the Cisco airport next Sunday—when airplanes from Brownwood and San Antonio are to be present to add to the interest of the occasion—report that interest is being manifested all over this area in the event.

Prospects are that visitors from surrounding towns of this sector will be present for the dedication ceremonies and to watch the arrival of the big fleet of planes.

The flying school conducted here by Reg Robbins and his corps of instructors is attracting attention by its success. Interest is being centered on the personnel for that reason.

Robbins, who is in charge of the school has had 18 years of flying—a total of 9,000 flying hours. He has flown all over the United States, Canada, Mexico and Alaska.

In 1929 Robbins entered an endurance flight in Fort Worth and was up in the air 172 hours.

In 1931 he attempted a non-stop flight from Seattle, Wash., to Tokyo, Japan, for a $30,000 prize. Refueling trouble in Alaska prevented continuation of the flight.

Over 200,000 people have been carried up by Mr. Robbins in short flights in various cities.

Mr. Robbins came to Cisco about one year ago to operate the flying school sponsored by the Cisco Junior college. About 75 persons have been trained to fly in this school.

IF REDS LOSE, WAR WITH JAPS IS CERTAINTY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Senator Norris of Nebraska declared Tuesday that an American-Japanese conflict in the Pacific might develop "quick as a wink" if Germany should defeat Russia, and he added he was "not so sure that war with Japan would be a bad thing for us."

The 80-year-old legislator, only remaining member who cast a senate vote against entry into the World War, said a German victory over Russia might lead Japan to interfere with American shipping in the Pacific.

The United States, he asserted, would not tolerate any such interference, and he disclosed that navy officials had advised him "they could sink the Japanese fleet within two weeks."

"Although they may be a little optimistic," he said, "I believe we could lick them (the Japanese). It would be a sea and air war, and it would not be a question of sending an army."

FLYERS NOT FOUND.

EL PASO, Oct. 14.—Major Wm. A. Cahill, commander of Biggs Field, returned here "very much discouraged" from an aerial search of the desert north of here, where an observation plane with three men aboard disappeared. Other flyers also came back after running down all the clues they had and finding them false. Ten ships took to the air and included the northern Mexico in their search.

SOVIETS CLAIM NAZI ADVANCE SLOWED DOWN

A great and perhaps final battle for Moscow is raging without a decision yet on a 300-mile arc before the Soviet capital, with the Red army fighting off all German attempts to decide the war on the snowy Eastern front.

"Hitler knows it is now or never," the Moscow Red Star declared as the battle lines surged along the Napoleonic road within 60 odd miles of the Kremlin battlements.

Berlin, London and Moscow all reported the most savage tank, infantry and artillery fighting of the war, but Russian dispatches said the German horde had been slowed or halted with tremendous losses on the four sectors defending the capital, and had been shoved back eight miles at one point.

London estimated German losses at 600,000 in the past 12 days.

A German spokesman asserted that encirclement, destruction and capture of Russian forces in the present offensive had raised the total of prisoners taken to above 3,000,000.

PHONE BILLS WILL CARRY FEDERAL TAX

It costs more to talk now—by telephone. The reason is taxes. This month's telephone bills will have the new federal taxes added to them. They amount to 15 cents on a $2.50 monthly bill, 21 cents on a $3.50 bill.

On long distance calls, the tax is 6 per cent of charges of 25 cents or less. On calls costing from 25 to 50 cents, the tax is a nickel. On calls costing 50 cents or more, the tax is 5 cents for each 50 cents or fraction thereof.

Report charges carry a tax of 6 per cent. On telegraphers, leased wires and other special services, the charge is 10 per cent. You can't avoid the taxes by sending a telegram. Telegrams are taxed 10 per cent, too.

FOR WIFE MURDER.

AUSTIN, Oct. 14.—Trial of Pinkie Erwin on a charge of murder of his wife started in District Court Tuesday after a jury finding that Erwin was sane at the time of the killing.

HITLER AS A GOD.

What news comes out of Germany indicates that a new state religion is in the making. Not merely the Jews, but both Catholic and Protestant churches are being persecuted. A new birth of paganism, under the auspices of Alfred Rosenberg, is in process. Now the admiration for Hitler has approached the point of turning him into a god.

There is nothing new in this. The Roman emperors were regularly worshipped as gods. Christians were persecuted not so much because of their religion and its teachings as because they refused to worship the emperor. In Japan, as all know, the Mikado is treated as a god. A dispatch lately came out of China announcing a heavy fine levied on a Chinese newspaper for stating that the Mikado was interested in botany. Anyone interested in botany, the Japanese argued, must be human, and it is blasphemous to think of the Mikado as a human being.

If much honor is given to a god, much is also expected from him. The higher Hitler is lifted above ordinary men, the harder will be his fall when things go wrong. Savages have been known to throw their gods into the river for not granting their wishes. Hitler might be lucky to end in the river.

SHIP REGISTRY.

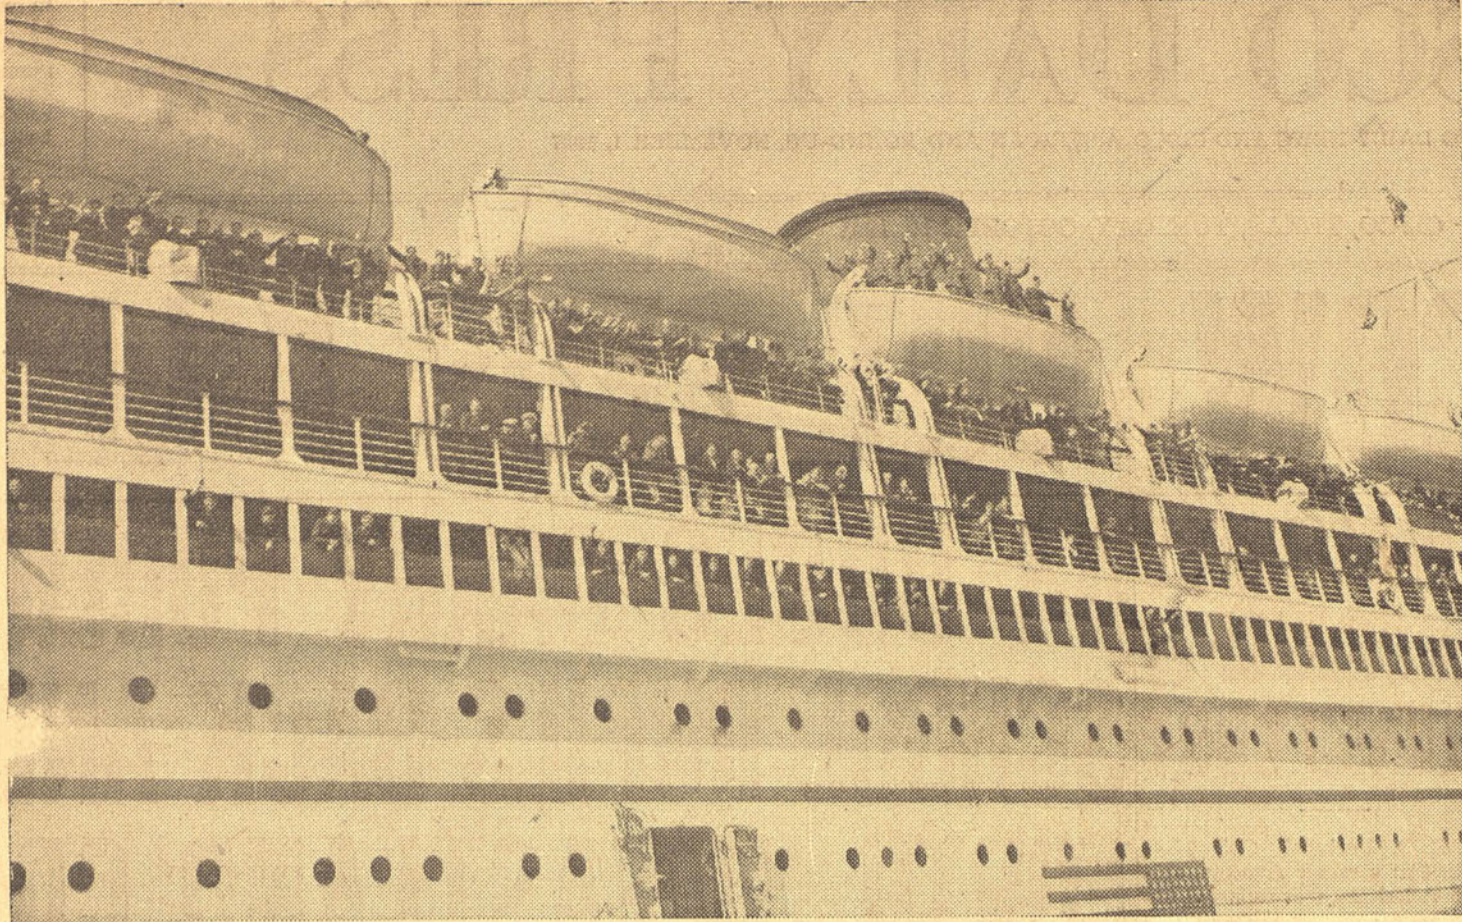

If Panama doesn't want ships flying her flag to arm themselves, all right. American owners can bring them back under the American flag and arm them just the same, with the sanction of congress, which seems about ready to follow the president's suggestion in this respect.

Putting our merchant marine under the Panama flag was a rather cheap proceeding, anyway, and Americans will be glad to see the fleet coming back home. With uniform American registry and adequate defense, we shall all feel more self-respecting, especially as all the new vessels slide down the ways in our shipyards. There will soon be a vast fleet of them, and such a noble merchant marine should not be handled in any picayune style.

As for Panama, we hope that uppish little country, or rather the politicians in charge of it, will not lend themselves unnecessarily to making trouble for us in the Canal Zone. Hitler would love to tie things up, and there seems to have been some meddling already. Any choking of that vital waterway would be intolerable—must not be permitted.

Educational experts make a mistake when they fit a school to the opinions of their students.

SOCIETY and CLUBS

By MRS. KATE RICHARDSON

Huestis-Stephens Marriage Rites Sunday at 6 P. M. in Local Church

The marriage of Miss Nadeene Huestis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Huestis to Clarence Blake Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Stephens, took place in the First Christian church Sunday at 6 p. m. Pre-nuptial music was played by Mrs. Troy Powell as Ellaway Abbott and Jane Huestis entered and lighted the candles at the altar and accompanied the cornet solo "I Love You Truly," played by John James Haynie. The bridal chorus from Lohengrin was then played by Mrs. Powell and sung by a trio composed of Misses Billye Cole, Marian Jacobs and Betty Lou Powell as the bridal party entered.

The single ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Judson Prince, which was concluded with a prayer by Rev. J. R. Wright, beneath an arch of green amidst baskets of white gladioli and daisies, interspersed with fern, with tall white candles on the chancel rail, giving completeness to the scene. Organ music was played softly during the ceremony.

Miss Fern Huestis, young sister of the bride and maid of honor, entered first and was followed by the matron of honor, Mrs. Weldon Ussery of Odessa, aunt of the bride. The maid of honor wore a pretty floor length frock of pink taffeta and Mrs. Ussery's gown was of royal blue taffeta. Other attendants were Mrs. Arthur Guierrez of Dallas and Mrs. Jack Stephenson of Ft. Worth, who wore gowns of pastel shades. All wore corsages matching their gowns.

Jack Stephenson of Ft. Worth served the groom as best man; ushers were Jack Lauderdale, Holland Nix and Gene Abbott. Little Bennie Pippen, cousin of the bride, was ring-bearer; flowers were strewn in the path of the bride by Mary Philpott and Julie Ann Sanford. The bride entered on the arm of her father, W. R. Huestis, who gave her in marriage. She wore a lovely floor length gown of white net over white satin made with fitted bodice, full flaring skirt and long sleeves. For "something old" she carried a lace handkerchief of her grandmother's; "something borrowed" was a string of pearls which has only been worn at weddings. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums mingled with tiny pom pom chrysanthemums tied with a white satin bow with flowing satin ribbon streamers. Her finger tip veil of illusion fell from an Elizabethan cap of lace and white feather.

As the newly weds were leaving, Mrs. Powell played the stirring strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

Reception Follows. A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Huestis immediately following the ceremony at which approximately 100 guests attended. The prettily decorated three-tier wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and groom, which centered the lace-laid dining table was cut by the bride and served to guests with punch by Miss Mary Louise Poe and Miss Marie Hunterman. The young couple left after the reception for a brief honeymoon trip. For traveling, Mrs. Stephens wore an R. A. E. blue wool costume suit with wine accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Stephens will be at home after October 20, in Cisco, at their residence, 902 W. Seventh street. Out of town guests attending were Mrs. Frances Little, Eastland; Mr. and Mrs. Britt Pippen of May; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Jenks of Wichita Falls; Miss Laura Lou Waring, Ft. Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lamb and daughter, Miss Lona Lamb of Iowa Park and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stephenson of Ft. Worth.

Mrs. C. P. Cole Is Honored By "Harvesters"

The Harvesters of the First Baptist Sunday school enjoyed a buffet dinner in the home of Mrs. Leon McPherson Monday evening. Floral decorations and all appointments carried a hallowe'en theme. Black bowls filled with orange cosmos and other seasonal flowers were arranged artistically about the room. The guests were served from the large dining table and were seated at quartet tables while eating.

After dinner, games and contests directed by Mrs. W. D. Brecheen entertained the group. The lights were then extinguished and a ghost with a single lighted candle in her hand appeared upon the scene. After searching diligently she found the one for whom her basket of gifts was intended and presented them to the honoree, Mrs. C. P. Cole. Mrs. Ora Parker made a presentation speech to the teacher, Mrs. Cole, in behalf of the class.

GERMANS CANNOT USE FRENCH COLONIES

U. S. WILL SEIZE THEM IF NECESSARY

Chairman Tom Connally of the senate foreign relations committee flatly asserted Sunday that the United States will seize and hold French colonies in the Western Hemisphere by force if Vichy permits their use by Germans.

The popular Lone Star senator addressed a rousing color-plotted Defense day rally in the Dallas Cotton Bowl.

A swarm of airplanes drifted lazily against the white thunderheads above the bowl as the eloquent, white-haired senior Texas senator endorsed aid to Russia and demanding repeal of the Neutrality Act.

NBC's Red network carried his words to the nation and a battery of sound horns strung along a goal post carried them to a large section of another record-smashing fair crowd.

His speech touched off a monster defense rally where two-score bands jammed one entire half of the playing field. Hundreds of soldiers and Texas Defense Guardsmen in khaki and a Bloc of naval cadets in shining white heard him declare that the United States will tolerate no foreign infiltrations or bases in the Western Hemisphere.

"We expect to see by armed might that there are none," he told his cheering listeners.

Attendance 175,701. A crowd of 175,701 packed the fair during the day, and officials estimated that more than 20,000 ducked in and out of the stadium during the pageant.

All during that speech, the senator spoke over the muttering of scores of motors in a sky-filling fleet that hung, diving and banking, above the Cotton Bowl.

The Texas defense guard and naval base planes had raised the curtain on the day-long show with maneuvers at 1 p. m., and during the address, the whine of power diving motors pulled eyes skyward away from the speaker's platform.

As a whole, the audience listened closely. They cheered Connally when he called the Neutrality Act a failure and demanded its repeal. They cheered his declaration against labor strikes and industrial slow-ups.

And the senator got both a cheer and a laugh for his endorsement of Russia.

"The Russians are gallantly fighting for their lives on their native soil," said Connally, pausing at the end of each word and letting it roll over the stands.

"We do not subscribe to Russia's political or social system, but when one fights in a common cause against a common enemy, an enemy to law, an enemy to freedom and an enemy to religion, I shall not challenge my comrade in the midst of battle by inquiring as to his politics. I will not argue with him the religious issue of whether baptism shall be by sprinkling or immersion."

Sunbrowned old men of Texas in big white hats rose in scattered spots of the crowd to wave and shout "Hello, Tom!" when Connally made his appearance.

A dozen huge banners were waving against the warm blue sky as Connally developed his declaration that the United States has law on its side for arming its merchant ships and sending them anywhere and for ringing the Western Hemisphere with a wall of steel against Europe.

A dozen other American flags flew at his right on the huge speaker's stand squatting behind the south goal posts. The Defense Guard and the Navy sat on opposite sides and the eye-brightening bands which were later to play a thunderous, skin-tlinging mass version of The Star-Spangled Banner, filled into the end zone seats between.

Connally pointed out that the United States had formed its Monroe Doctrine as an answer to the Holy Alliance, a clique of European powers bent on helping Spain put down the eighteenth century revolutions in her American colonies. In Venezuela's defense, the United States even challenged Great Britain herself.

Connally also added that freedom of the seas had been a doctrine of international law since the time of Croesus in 1608. The United States passed the neutrality act in the hope that it would keep war from America's shores. Its repeal will not be unneutral, merely a resumption of a neutral's rights under international law.

Neutrality Act Failed. The neutrality act failed of its purpose, and today the United States is building an army and navy to keep war from its shores, Connally declared.

"It requires no penetrating vision to foresee that if Nazi armies master the continents of Europe and Africa, their ambitions may soon leap across the seas to the Western Hemisphere," Senator Connally said.

"We arm to resist the tide of conquest. We arm to challenge the defiance of international law and the denial of freedom of the seas. We arm to resist the enthronement of the sword as the ruler of the world. For defense, we acquired Atlantic naval and air bases, stretching from Newfoundland to Trinidad. At the invitation of its government, our armed forces have occupied Iceland. If Vichy undertakes to permit Nazi control of Martinique or any territory in the Western Hemisphere, we shall seize that island or territory and hold it by armed might.

"I have always been an advocate of the greatest navy on the high seas. We are now building a two-ocean navy. That navy will be the finest and the most powerful in the world. Let me say that when it is once built, I shall never vote that one vessel of it Gets Ovation at End. The widely scattered crowd surged to its feet and gave Connally a thunderous ovation as he finished speaking.

A moment later the senator stepped back to the lectern and pressed a button which closed the current on the first dynamite blast for the new Guiberson Diesel tank motor plant at Garland, ten miles away.

Gov. Coke Stevenson, introducing the senator, notified the world that young Texans stand ready to march as gladly for freedom as their fathers did and that Texas industry will back them up. He praised the growth of the Texas Defense Guard, which had met at the band shell before it proceeded to the stadium.

"It is the great and good privilege of this commonwealth to bring gifts of great rarity to our national government," he said. "We place them gladly on the altar of America for the service of free men everywhere."
