U. S. WARNS ITALY AGAINST WAR ACTS

About Our Friends

By STEPHEN A. LONG

L. F. Mendenhall tells P. R. Warlock that Lloyd Hughes has actually provided a drop of perspiration and that it should be preserved.... Now Lloyd has been telling all his friends how hard he works.... Could it be that those fellows are a little hard on the young man? ...at any rate some one has done a lot of improving about the swimming pool and pavilion.

Mrs. Baby Miller and daughter, Miss Zona, enjoyed the ritual Tuesday evening...Miss Mary Rutledge answering softly at the telephone when you call R. E. Grantham to interpret a point of law...Charles Spears smiling very pleasantly at his window as he serves a customer...A. D. Starling trying to catch up with his work...Troy Powell sees no reason why a dog should be interrupted if it wants to act queer...we agree with you, Troy...Mayor J. T. Berry looking like he knew a good joke.

Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Graham looked very happy when all those compliments were being showered upon the musical performance of little Gloria...And well they might...The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Tunnell, of Ranger, also received many words of praise for her piano performance...and she acknowledged them so sweetly.

Lonnie Tullios says that only prosperous concerns can afford steam heat the year round...He and the First National Bank have always had that luxury but now Mr. Spears has substituted "Air Conditioned" for the summer, so it just leaves him to enjoy the steam heat...and he seemed to be doing it...great streams of enjoyment were pouring off his face as he stood at that new press.

Sterling Drumwright and W. H. Hays talking about installing an electric unit...must have had a hard time at it.

GLORIA GRAHAM PRESENTED FOR ROTARY SOLOS

Rotarians here today heard Miss Gloria Graham, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Graham, presented in violin solos. Miss Graham, well received by the club, was accompanied by Miss Wilda Drago of Eastland, her teacher. The program was in charge of O. J. Russell. He turned it over to Dr. Graham, who presented his daughter and Miss Drago. Miss Graham recently gave a violin recital here. O. J. Russell presided today for the first time as the new president. His term began last week, but due to the fact that there was no meeting, the change was delayed until today.

The new president announced that he had not completed appointments for several committees and that he would announce them next week.

Texas Swelters As Heat Takes 11 Victims

MERCURY HITS 104 MARK FOR SECOND TIME

While the rest of the state looked longingly at the skies for rain today, Ciscoans looked at their thermometers, wiped their brows, and looked at the skies also. The mercury climbed up to the 104 degree mark today for the second time in the present heat wave, and the weather man predicted "generally fair."

By UNITED PRESS
Texans looked with faint hope to prospective thundershowers for relief today from an oppressive heat wave which has taken a toll of 11 lives in the state.

Five convicts on Texas prison farms have died of sunstroke in two days. Another is in critical condition. Two men have been heat fatalities in Dallas, one near Sherman, and three at Texarkana. Lexie Jones, 42, San Antonio, who died today at the South Texas coastal area, was the fifth convict in Texas to succumb to the heat in a week. One white man died Tuesday and three negro prisoners the same day. A sixth convict, Clarence Simmons of Oklahoma, was in critical condition from sunstroke in the prison hospital at Eastham farm.

CLAIMS HOT WEATHER JUST STATE OF MIND

DALLAS, July 11 — It's all in the state of mind and you are hot only if you think you are, Dr. J. U. Yarborough, psychologist at Southern Methodist University said today. Thermometers ought to be set back at least 10 degrees and the weather bureau should do a little prevaricating, Dr. Yarborough believes, which course he avers would reduce suffering from the heat and everyone would be a lot happier.

He exhibited a check for $253,200 delivered yesterday as confiscation suits receipt.

Death of Five Prisoners From Heat Creates Excitement in Prison Board

HOUSTON, July 11. — A forthcoming report by Lee Simmons, manager of the Texas prison system, concerning the death of five convicts of sunstroke, was indicated today by W. A. Paddock, chairman of the prison board.

Simmons, it was believed, will make a tour of the prison farms and inspect working conditions and treatment of the prisoners in the field.

Deaths of the five prisoners raise the total of fatalities from sunstroke on the farms to 20 since 1930. Paddock said Simmons "probably will get behind this."

The prison board has taken no action to check up on convict treatment.

ROOSEVELT SCORES COMEBACK AS HOUSE APPROVES TVA MEASURE

WASHINGTON, July 11. — President Roosevelt's power program advocates today scored a smashing comeback when the formerly hostile house approved the controversial Tennessee Valley authority amendment, extending the scope of the president's "electric rate yardstick" project. Speaker Joseph W. Byrns announced the roll call vote at 277 to 100. The final vote came after the house rejected a republican proposal to recommit the bill to the military affairs committee to insert a provision which would have prohibited the government from selling surplus power below production cost after July 1, 1938.

LEGLESS BODY IDENTIFIED BY MAN'S FIANCEE

CHICAGO, July 11. — Police today raked through a tangle of clues in an effort to pierce the mystery surrounding the murder of Irving Lang, 28, whose legless garroted body was found in a marsh near Hammond, Ind., Tuesday night.

The mutilated torso, wrapped in towels and newspapers, was identified by the man's sweetheart, Miss Josephine McKinley, who was to have become his bride this fall.

Police said they believed Lang had been strangled in Chicago and his legs hacked off at the hips to facilitate removal to "gangsters' cemetery," the lonely swamp where four of Scarface Al Capone's gang were dumped after an underworld death ride in 1929.

Four persons were held in connection with the slaying today.

Total Eclipse Of Moon Is July 15-16

WASHINGTON, July 11 — Romance will have to do without the moon on the night of July 15-16, when that body is scheduled to disappear in a total eclipse.

Both North and South America, except the extreme northern part of North America, will be in the best position for observation of the "celestial show," described as "one of the finest astronomical events of the year."

The eclipse will start at 9:15 p. m. (E. S. T.) and will last about five hours. By 11:09 p. m. all of the moon's surface will have passed into the shadow of the earth and the total phase of the eclipse will start. It will last one hour and 40 minutes or within four minutes of the maximum possible duration of a total eclipse of the moon.

Near 12:50 a. m., July 16, the total phase will end and the moon gradually will emerge from the earth's shadow.

Cross Cut, in Brown county, is about 15 miles southwest of Rising Star.

She was swimming with two boy friends, racing to the other side of the pool when she was drowned according to reports. Racing across the pool and outdistancing her, the boys did not notice her submerging from apparent exhaustion until they reached the shore.

The girl attended Eastland High school and was well known. She was graduated from the Cross Cut school this year, relatives of the girl at Eastland stated.

Many friends of the daughter of the Root-Rhodes driller who lived at Eastland attended the funeral. While Mr. Smith and family resided in Eastland he was a driller for the company, which maintains its head office there.

AMBASSADOR INFORMED OF 'MISGIVINGS'

WASHINGTON, July 11. — The United States has informed Italy that this country would view with extreme misgivings any steps taken by Italy with reference to Abyssinia which would bring about actual war, it was learned at the state department today.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull orally expressed this government's views to the Italian ambassador, Augusto Rosso, when the latter called at the state department to inform the secretary of his plan to return to Rome for a brief visit.

It was understood Hull also repeated to Rosso practically the same sentiment expressed in the Hull's recent note to the Abyssinian Emperor Haile Selassie.

These were to the effect that the two countries should refer the dispute again to the League of Nations Council, and expressed this government's hope that Italy and Abyssinia would not meet in armed conflict.

BRITAIN ANNOUNCES NEW FOREIGN POLICY

LONDON, July 11. — In the most momentous speech since he assumed control of the British foreign office, Sir Samuel Hoare today disclosed a sudden change in policy toward the Ethiopian war crisis, admitted justification for certain Italian claims against Abyssinia, but promised "every effort" to avert war.

Sir Samuel also announced a secret move to end the war threat was under way.

Hoare's veiled reference to the peace plan was regarded as confirmation that Britain, France and Italy are preparing for a conference to avert the outbreak of hostilities as outlined by Joseph Avenol, secretary of the League of Nations.

The high points of the British foreign policy, as outlined by the foreign secretary were:

Points of Policy
1 — Great Britain admits Italy's need for expansion and supports Mussolini in some of his criticisms against Abyssinia.

2 — Britain will not maintain an isolated policy in dealing with the situation, but will accept any mode or means offered, whether under treaties or by League of Nations, to avert war.

3 — Britain has no aspirations in Africa and is not concerned from an imperialistic standpoint in East Africa.

4 — Britain has not asked and has no intention of asking France to join her in any blockade of Italy and all such rumors are without foundation.

WAY STILL OPEN FOR ARBITRATION

GENEVA, July 11. — The door is still open to resumption of arbitration in the Italian-Abyssinian quarrel, according to a memorandum published today by the League.

In the memorandum the Italian representatives at the lately deadlocked and adjourned Scheveningen conference declared they were willing to meet once more on July 20, and expressed the desire to give both parties to the dispute an opportunity to present their views.

Dictators Still Await Crucial Test

The lost liberties of the world have been lost only for a while, and not for keeps. So says Dr. Ellis Paxson Oberholtzer, Philadelphia historian, in an address before the University of Virginia Institute of Public Affairs.

It is Dr. Oberholtzer's notion that we are now progressing through a painful cycle in human affairs in which, distressed by the fix into which we have not ourselves, we are looking for miracles. Being unable to accomplish any miracles of our own volition, he continues, we tend to turn to dictators who promise that they can do what we cannot do.

We get, therefore, in one country after another, dictatorship.

Italy puts its fate in the hands of Mussolini, Germany follows Hitler, Russia clings to Stalin, and other nations find themselves turning toward similar men. And out of it all has grown a feeling that the democratic idea has been worked out, that people are not and cannot be capable of solving their own problems in a complex modern world, and that a regime in which there is a relentless driving power applied to the attainment of some simply and clearly defined goal is the only regime that offers mankind any hope.

It is precisely in this connection that Dr. Oberholtzer is worth listening to; for he insists that this is only a passing phase, and not a new, long-time trend in human affairs.

Eventually, he predicts, the dictators will demonstrate that they no more possess the magic password to a better world than the people en masse possess it; and when that day comes, humanity will shake itself vigorously and the dictators will go flying off like drops of water from the coat of an energetic spaniel.

"The new tyrant," he says, "will go the way of the old and take in the history of man's movements on this earth."

Perhaps the greatest danger we run nowadays is the danger of growing discouraged by the progressive failure, in one country after another, of parliamentary institutions and democratic processes. By growing discouraged we prepare the way for the destruction of such institutions and processes in our own country.

When we take the long view, and reflect that this reversion to dictatorship in the modern world is still approaching its crucial test, that in the long run it will stand or fall by the amount of plain human happiness it is able to bring to the ordinary citizen—when we do that, we are able to see that our own democracy is by no means discredited or outworn.

Martin Dies and American Dump Ground

Congressman Martin Dies of Orange in his address at Belton, where he faced 20,000 persons "depleted the use of America as a dumping ground for the populations of other nations." He said, in explaining his proposed plan for deportation of approximately 3,500,000 aliens, that he was "echoing the sentiments of George Washington when he said he wished an ocean of fire separated America from Europe." Well, America has to be separated from Africa as well as Europe. Secretary of State Hull, speaking through the President, has made it clear that Mussolini will receive scant re-

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Among the reasons NRA will be continued is the combined code authority budget of $41,000,000.

Spread around in salaries, as most of it is, this provides incentive for an earnest, hard-working lobby. A code authority executive secretary on $20,000 a year can frequently work up some gorgeous superlatives in preparing petitions to Washington for NRA's perpetuation. A dozen men are receiving $20,000 or more a year in code authority salaries approved by NRA and 397 receive $5000 or more. The highest code authority executive salaries approved are those of W. O. Crichton and W. A. Richards of the bituminous coal industry and W. H. Ferry of the hat manufacturers, each of whom draws $30,000.

Some of the biggest code authority budgets include: Lumber, $4,955,000; general contractors, $2,750,000; retail lumber, $1,801,000; general retail trade, $1,565,000; plumbing contracting, $1,259,000; commercial relief printing, $1,071,000; and baking, $900,000.

The figures given do not cover the code authorities supported on a voluntary basis, but only those where contributions are mandatory and NRA has carefully scrutinized the budgets in the hope of avoiding racketeering and criticism.

Both the budget and salary figures would be a lot higher if NRA hadn't slashed away at nearly all of them. Some proposed budgets have been cut 50 or 75 per cent and quite a few cents who were able to sell their industries on $50,000 or even $75,000 salaries found they couldn't make NRA see the necessity.

THANKS to the fact that there's a can monopoly, you pay more for the can than for the food inside it.

Anyway, we have the word of General Johnson for that. In a generally overlooked section of his NRA statement to the Senate, he took up the case of the two big can companies—American Can and the National Can Company. The latter, which sells about 41 per cent of the cans packers use and Continental Can, which does 26 per cent of the business—to show that price fixing exists in industries whose codes have no price-fixing provisions whatever, Johnson used NRA figures.

The tomato pack for 1934 was about $35,802,000, Johnson said, with raw stock estimated at $8,206,000; cans—including cases and freight for empty cans—at $14,200,000; direct labor, $4,949,000; and brokerage, overhead, etc., $5,805,000.

"In other words," the general reported, "the cans cost three times as much as labor receives in wages—and about 75 per cent more than the food itself."

SUPPORTERS of the Costigan Wagner anti-lynching bill in the Senate, after a recent poll, were sure they had enough votes to pass it in the upper house.

Since the impassioned outburst of Senators "Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina and Walter George of Georgia, they're not so sure.

Votes they counted on may be swerved by the bitterness of the fight or by filibuster threats such as that of the celebrated Bilbo of Mississippi.

Texas Topics

By Raymond Brooks

AUSTIN, July 11 — University of Texas regents a few years ago dreamed a hardheaded dream of practical achievement, and then set to work to make it come true.

The dream largely is a reality now, and the rest of it is coming true in pleasing fashion. This week, federal allotment to complete the fourth of a series of dormitories was made. Application for another is near the stage of final action in Washington. This makes 14 new buildings of the program envisioned by the regents when they began replacing old wooden shacks with a modern plant designed to serve 10,000 students.

Three important buildings are now under construction—the final unit of the main building-library, and its 328-foot tower; a men's dormitory and a women's dormitory. The new building for which funds have just been found should be started before either of these is completed. The first library unit, Hegg auditorium, the Union building, classroom structures, a new power unit, and the university junior high demonstration school are among recent completions.

The goal of 10,000 students has been reached, counting summer enrollment; but 10,000 students at one time will be a reality just as soon as the plant and faculty can care for them. Enrollment has absorbed all the new plant facilities as fast as they have been provided.

The dream of the greater university program was conceived when the late Judge R. L. Batts of Austin was chairman of the board; and it took form and reality under the leadership of Batts and then of Beauford Jester, recent chairman. It reaches fulfillment in the present biennium.

Different political writers have taken the same premises and reached precisely opposite conclusions. One has guessed that Gov. James V. Allred would become a candidate for the United States senate if the dregs defeat the prohibition repeal amendment this summer, on the ground it would show such a strong dry sentiment as to sustain his principles.

Now a writer in the Dallas News expresses the opinion that Allred would make the race only in case the wets win this summer, thus showing a theoretical repudiation of the dry sentiment led by the insubstantial Sen. Morris Sheppard. A third angle, which recently has seemed a good guess is that Allred has dropped the senatorial race idea from his mind and will seek a second term as governor, regardless of the outcome of the liquor contest so far led by General Apathy.

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Correspondent

AUSTIN, July 11. — Gov. "Jimmie" Allred is beginning to enjoy being governor. The legislature and its problems are off his hands. His major appointments have been made, or decided. He has things down to a routine that gives him time to go places, and he's supremely happy. "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown" apparently doesn't apply to governor.

He's found the answers to all the questions that put furrows in his brow from January to June and now he gets a kick out of this governor business.

Law enforcement by ranger methods was an early problem. Death sentences troubled him much at first. Taxes worried him.

Now that he has tested out his department heads and found them satisfactory, the governor has ceased to worry.

"The adjutant general is in charge of the rangers," Allred notified El Paso when inquiries came from there about rangers for a cleanup campaign. Legal problems are referred to the attorney general.

The board of pardons and paroles can sift out clemency matters more thoroughly than the governor can with his other duties, so he has decided to follow their advice.

The legislature gave a negative answer to his tax plans, and that is the legislators' worry.

So, all in all, the governor will find the second six months of office much less trying than the first six.

He has grasped quickly something that former Governor Dan Moody never did learn as governor. That is, to fill vacancies immediately.

When death removes an official, the successor's name is ready as soon as respect will permit. If there is a resignation, notice of the resignation and of the new appointment go out simultaneously.

The promptness relieves a governor of much importuning. It also keeps him from making enemies.

One of the state's best "mixers," the governor naturally likes to be in crowds. The summer picnic season, a national guard airplane, and the Austin office in the hands of secretaries who can be depended upon, the governor literally is soaring in the clouds these warm days.

Threats of next summer's political campaign have not become pronounced enough to disturb his enjoyment. Altogether he is having a much easier time as governor than he did as attorney general.

His trips this summer are keeping up valuable contacts so that next summer's campaigning—for whatever office—will be over prepared ground.

L. W. Kemp, Houston, chairman of the Texas Centennial advisory board of historians, gets a kick out of being congratulated upon his "quick recovery" from announced injuries in an automobile accident. It was somebody else, mistaken for Kemp, who was in the accident.

Back in Austin, Kemp said that full recommendations on expenditure of the $75,000 state appropriation for auxiliary centennial celebrations and observances will not be ready until September.

Some individual recommendations may be made earlier. One for Gonzales will be among the early announcements.

Gonzales plans to start off the centennial events with a re-enactment of the scene of Oct. 2, 1835 when the first shot of the fight for independence was fired there.

The expected tender of a responsible position in the federal relief and recovery set-up has been made to Adam R. Johnson, head of the state relief organization.

Like Claude Teer, chairman of the state board of control, also marked for a good federal place, Johnson prefers to continue in his state position.

Aside from the uncertainty of future federal recovery plans, both have a close-knit group of friends in Austin that would make it difficult for them to be happy elsewhere.

Texas who want to know the new state laws that they must obey can now find out for $1.75. Official copies of the laws of the regular session of the 44th legislature are ready for distribution.

Secretary of State Gerald C. Mann received them and started the distribution Saturday. The laws are in two volumes. No appropriation was made for furnishing copies free. The $1.75 covers the cost of printing and postage.

Places of interest along Texas are being listed for issuance in compact pamphlet form. Sights worth seeing will be noted; also something of the places of historic interest.

Thousands of motorists pass from Abilene into Brownwood without knowing that a 50 yard detour will give them a thrilling view of Brownwood and the surrounding country.

How many know the part the state has seen from between El Paso and Carlsbad Caverns, played in West Texas history? Information about this and similar things is to be collected for the motorist.

Names of Texas Towns Show That State Is Equipped To Suit Almost Any Taste

DALLAS, July 11 — Using the names of Texas towns as a standard, the Lone Star state is equipped for almost everything, the postal directory reveals.

For lovers of ease there is "Elysian Fields," "Comfort," and "Paradise," while for those who prefer a more rigorous life there is "Board House," "Bald Prairie," "Prost," and "Mud." Bee lovers are particularly well remembered. There is "Bee House," "Beeville," "Honey Grove," and "Honey Island."

Card fans will find an "Ace," and a "King," but no Queen.

Literary minded persons will find many characters they have known in fiction. Shakespeare's Othello must have made a big impression in the early days, for there is both a "Desdemona," and an "Iago."

Sir Walter Scott, also, it appears, was well read by the early settlers. There is a "Midlothian," and an "Ivanhoe."

Lovers of gaiety would do well to visit "Jolly," or "Joy," or "Polly;" flirt should find a big welcome at "Wink."

Star gazers might do well to visit "Venus," "Vega," or "Etoile."

Texas too, can have all of the advantages of travel along with the comforts of home. They can visit "Albion" or see the "Alhambra," go to "Dublin," "Jericho," "London," "Moscow," "Naples," "Nordheim," "New Ulm," "Paris," "China," "Tokio" — all without leaving the borders of the state.

Relief Next Year Puzzle to Johnson

AUSTIN, July 11 — State Relief director Adam Johnson, wondering today what Texas will do with her needy citizens after January 1, 1936.

After approximately 150,000 federal bodies persons are put on federal works progress jobs, some 200,000 Texans will have no visible means of support after next December. That date ends aid from the state's $20,000,000 breadbaskets.

"After that, we do not know what the answer will be," Johnson said.

TVA WILL FACE FINAL TEST IN HIGHEST COURT

NEW ORLEANS, July 11. — President Roosevelt's first "New Deal" Agency — the Tennessee Valley Authority — is headed for the United States Supreme Court for a final decision on its constitutionality.

Regardless of whether the United States Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals will sustain or overrule the decision by Federal Judge William I. Grubb, of Birmingham, Ala., that the government had no constitutional right to enter the business of selling electricity, the case will be taken to the county's highest tribunal.

Attorneys for the TVA and for the preferred stockholders of the Alabama Power company who brought the test case have declared they will carry the case to the supreme court if the decision of the circuit court goes against them.

Act Passed in 1933

Administration leaders sponsored an congress TVA amendments which would remove the objections raised by Judge Grubb to President Roosevelt's "yardstick" electric power program. Congress, on May 18, 1933, passed the act which authorized the TVA to take over the war-time "white elephant" of Wilson Dam and the nitrate plants at Muscle Shoals, Ala., to improve navigation, flood control and institute a program of cheap power that would serve as a "yardstick" for power rates over the country.

But Judge Grubb ruled the TVA's cheap power program constituted "illegal proprietary operations" beyond the power of congress to authorize. To the extent that TVA intentionally commits itself to sell in the market and thereupon produces electricity to fill the commitment, in known excess of any requirement and reasonable margin for governmental use, it cannot properly be said that TVA is disposing of a surplus unavoidably or reasonably produced in supplying a current government requirement.

Electricity Called Secondary

In arguments before the circuit court of appeals, sitting in Atlanta in June, attorneys for the TVA contended the sale of electricity is only one phase of the TVA's activity. The power it would sell is a surplus created as a mere incident by its work of improving navigation on the Tennessee river and providing for flood control and the national defense.

James L. Fly and John Lord O'Brien, TVA attorneys, argued that there is no constitutional guarantee against competition in business. They pointed to the recognized right of municipalities and state governments to operate electric systems, thus permitting the federal government to have the same right.

Death of Power Company Seen

Forney Johnston, attorney representing stockholders of the power company, predicted "certain annihilation" of the Alabama Power company if TVA is permitted to compete with private utilities. The TVA program is a "Congressional misapprehension" and there had never been anything like it before in this country, he said.

The question is whether the government, having overbuilt Muscle Shoals, can now dispose of the surplus power generated there," Johnston said.

Norris Dam near Knoxville, Tenn., is being rushed to completion, while Joe Wheeler Dam, 15 miles above Muscle Shoals, Ala., also is being hurried. Construction of Pickwick Landing Dam is being launched.

Grubb's Decision Sweeping

The present test case in the courts is the outgrowth of the TVA's effort to obtain a market for part of its Muscle Shoals electricity in north Alabama. The TVA had contracted to buy from the Alabama Power company transmission and municipal distribution systems in 14 North Alabama towns at a cost of approximately $2,000,000. TVA opponents contended the company "yielded" to threats of destructive competition.

A small group of the power company's preferred stockholders obtained from Judge Grubb an injunction annulling the contracts. Judge Grubb also enjoined the towns from borrowing PWA money to build their own distribution plans or from buying any current from TVA.

Because the Pan-American highway will bring the people of Mexico and the people of Texas in closer relationship than ever before, it is more than ever necessary for Texans to know Spanish, Vickers said.

One tank car of gasoline and 33 tank cars of fuel oil were moved under court injunctions while the other shipments were on tenders or shipping permits, the report showed.

Orders From Rail Company Show Drop

ST. LOUIS, July 11. — St. Louis firms have lost $75,000,000 a year in orders to railroad companies since the depression started, E. H. McReynolds, Missouri Pacific official, recently revealed. Payrolls have fallen $16,000,000 annually over the same period here.

Prior to depression, there were 53 St. Louis firms which yearly sold materials worth $81,000,000 to railroads. In the last five years their average has been only $5,500,000. Numbers of men employed have fallen accordingly.

Canada Increases Minting of Silver

OTTAWA, Ont., July 11.—Canada, third greatest silver producing country in the world, is increasing coinage in an effort to help other silver-producing countries to control the world market.

Canada is living up to that obligation by using its portion of silver in the reserves of the Bank of Canada and by the addition of a silver dollar in Canadian currency. In the past, Canadian silver currency has been limited to 5, 10, 25 and 50 cent pieces. The new silver dollar was issued in connection with King George's silver jubilee.

The first issue of the new coins totaled only 100,000 and were bought by souvenir hunters a few hours after being placed in circulation. Another issue is being struck at the Royal Mint at Ottawa.

The telephone goal of Europe is JUST A GOOD JOB here

The fast, clear, far-reaching telephone service of America has never been equalled by European nations. Differences in equipment, methods and policies have barred the way to such service among the many countries there.

In America, your telephone service has over-leaped state and regional lines. Here there are no telephone boundaries.

Your telephone is "first cousin" to each of 13 million other Bell telephones here. It is designed and manufactured to meet uniform operating standards.

Team-work

Every Bell telephone line, local and long distance, is built to conform to uniform tests of clarity and volume in carrying your voice.

Every Bell telephone operator, whether in New York, in San Francisco, or in the thousands of towns and cities between, is trained to use the same methods . . . the same team-work in operating the vast national communications network.

Organization

That these things are true is due largely to the Bell System form of organization.

American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the parent company, studies and standardizes better and more economical methods, apparatus and materials for the 24 operating companies of the System. Bell Laboratories carries on the research work. Western Electric manufactures, purchases and distributes.

Without this organization behind them, the Southwestern Bell men and women here who give your telephone service could not do their job so well. For many years it has materially helped us, as one of the group of operating companies, in holding the cost of good telephone service low to the user.

SOUTH INVITES VAST BUSINESS IN ALUMINUM

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 11.—Plans for founding a gigantic aluminum industry in the Tennessee Valley to give regular employment to 10,000 men has been laid before the Alabama Legislature by Rep. Cliff Almon, Morgan county.

An "Alabama Industrial Authority" to promote this and other projects is provided in a bill now before the senate. It was passed by the house recently.

The authority, if created, would function as a state agency to cooperate with the Tennessee Valley Authority and other federal agencies in bringing heavy industries into the Tennessee Valley to utilize the cheap electricity furnished by TVA.

Chicago Concern Interested
Almon said the Standard Aluminum & Alloy company of Chicago, which owns a vast aluminum ore field in Arkansas, is interested in building a smelting plant at Decatur, Ala., where it can use cheap current in the manufacturing processes and cheap water transportation in shipping.

He said the aluminum company is negotiating a contract with TVA for power, and intends to start work at once if details can be worked out. The company requests that the Public Works Administration furnish $30,000,000 for construction of the plant, this amount to be paid back with interest over a period of 10 years.

Cheaper Prices Seen
Such a plant would enable the company to market the aluminum at greatly reduced prices and thus enter the fields of locomotive, airplane and automobile construction. The plant would employ between 9,000 and 10,000 men, with an annual payroll of approximately $8,000,000.

The company states that it would guarantee complete security to its laborers by setting up retirement and unemployment insurance, and would serve as a "back log" for the TVA power system.

The Alabama Industrial Authority under the Almon bill, will be a "not-for-profit" corporation to apply for and secure funds from the federal government with which to develop industries whose principal activity is within the state.

It could give assistance only to those industries which could begin construction immediately, and which would pay 25 per cent of the loan annually in payrolls. It would issue bonds for a corporate purpose, but not against the state.

The authority would be composed of the governor, attorney-general and a secretary.

HEAT DODGING TERMED LACK OF CHLORIDES

DALLAS, July 11. — If you can't stand the hot weather and the only thing in the world that seems worth while is a long nap in a cool, shady spot, then probably you are that way because you are short on chlorides, according to Dr. J. Shirley Sweeney, former chairman of the Dallas public health advisory board.

"When, these hot days, you feel like you would rather miss a $100,000 deal than take your feet off the desk it is just nature's way of warning you that your cooling apparatus is not properly adjusted and over exercise and excitement will be dangerous," Dr. Sweeney said.

Chlorides, the doctor said are essential for the proper function of the blood stream and are gradually exhausted through the skin by excessive perspiration. Lack of this element in the blood causes a similar lack of acid in the stomach which often results in summer complaints.

Some relief from the loss of chlorides can be obtained by drinking salt in solution in orange juice, water or in some other fashion, according to Dr. Sweeney. Salt acts as a "pick-up" and is far better for you than sugar in warm weather.

But if you are really very susceptible to hot weather there isn't much you can do.

"Beyond all doubt," Dr. Sweeney said, "if you are very susceptible to heat, the thing to do is to keep your feet on your desk, dream of trout streams and not upset yourself by forced and sporadic efforts.

SUN-TAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JO DARIEN, finishing her first year in college, receives word that her father is out of work. Jo decides to look for a job instead of going home. She confides this to her roommate, TUBBY DAVIS, and to BRET PAUL, star athlete, to whom Jo is engaged.
Jo moves to a cheap furnished apartment. Her first day of job-hunting is discouraging but the second day she is hired for part time work in a small marine supply store.
She is alone in the store when a man enters and asks for the proprietor. He leaves, promising to return later and says, "Tell him Douglas Marsh was in." Jo is curious about this stranger whom she thinks the handsomest man she has ever seen.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER IV

WHEN he had gone, Jo reflected that she had never seen a man quite like this Douglas Marsh. There was some indefinable quality about him that stamped him as different, as a man among men. Naturally enough she could not help comparing him with Bret Paul. He was so much more certain of himself than Bret, so much more at ease with the world.
"But that's only because he's older," Jo told herself. "I'm used to being with college men. There's probably nothing unusual about this Marsh person at all. I'll probably discover that he's a salesman wanting to sell Mr. Brown an order of—of something or other."
Yet when Mr. Brown returned from lunch and Jo told him that Douglas Marsh had been in, he raised his eyebrows and said, "Marsh? Is that so? I wonder what he's got up his sleeve this time?"
"Is he a pretty good customer?" Jo asked. "He said he'd known you for a long time."
"I'll say he's a good customer! Haven't you ever heard of Douglas Marsh?"
"No, I'm afraid I haven't."
Mr. Brown chimed you wanting to know and do your best smiling. Young Marsh is the richest bachelor around these parts. I've sold him plenty of stuff since he grew into long trousers. Why, he buys a new yacht just about whenever the old one gets a little wet!"
"He must be a silly person, then," Jo said, laughing.
"Don't you think it. Plenty of young fellows would have gone absolutely crazy if they'd been left as much money as old man Marsh left Douglas. But young Marsh has kept his head, and he tries to spend his money where it'll do the most good. Trouble is, every time he invests in something it goes ahead and makes him some more money. He's like his old man that way."

"I had no idea it was so late," exclaimed Marsh, looking at his watch. "Won't you let me take you to lunch?"
Jo had the opportunity to ally his curiosity, for, in a few minutes Douglas Marsh returned. He walked in briskly and wrung Brown's hand.
"It's certainly fine to see you again, Walt!" Marsh exclaimed.
"I thought it was about time you came around again, Douglas. What kind of a ship is it to be this time? A 100-foot Diesel yacht for a South Sea voyage?"
Marsh laughed. "No yacht at all. I want half a dozen small sailing speed boats."
Brown looked at him incredulously. "What are you going to do now? Open an amusement park?"
"You've come near it, at that. Let's go back in the office and I'll tell you the story."
Jo was just putting on her hat when the two entered the little office.
"It's 12, Mr. Brown. Will you be needing me?"
Douglas Marsh turned to Brown. "I'm in a rush this morning, Walt, and I'd really like to place some orders. Do you suppose we might need the young lady to look up things in the catalogs?" He paused, smiling at Jo. "I know Mr. Brown dislikes to ask you to stay on your very first morning, but if—"
DOUGLAS MARSH took out his cigarette case and held it toward Jo. "This ogre of an employer

Pastor Will Read Bible to Thieves

QUANAH, July 11.—For the first Charles A. Chasteen, pastor of the First Christian church, has no money for thieves and burglars, but he offers to read the Bible to them and to pray for them, if they'll visit him in his study—in the daytime.

The minister expressed this attitude in an announcement in a newspaper after burglars had entered his study for the third time in recent months.

"To all thieves and burglars: In as much as the study of the First Christian church has been broken into three times in as many months, we wish to inform you that we keep no money there.

"If you will come to see us during the day we will read the Bible to you and pray for you."

King Boris' Brother Is Busy at Motors

SOPIA, July 11. — Prince Cyril, 36-year-old brother of King Boris, loves motors.

With the advent of hot days he is frequently seen leaving the palace of Euxinograd and dashing down the Danube to Varna, on the Black Sea, in his speedboat. He is mostly alone, but sometimes the king accompanies his brother.

On such trips the tall, handsome prince likes to stop his boat en route and to dive into the water for a short swim.

His second hobby is motorcycling. Bareheaded and dust-covered, clad only in motor boots, breeches and an open shirt, he likes to drive at top speed through the country. For many years he was president of the Bulgarian Motorcyclist Association.

Like his brother, he is also a good engine driver. He drives trains from time to time, although not as much as the king, although not as much as the king.

Cyril lives in the Royal Palace together with the king, Queen Iona and Princess Eudoxia. The brothers have been lifelong companions. The king particularly appreciates Cyril's witty tongue and keen sense of humor, inherited from his father, King Ferdinand.

Cuba Out To Regain U. S. Tourist Trade

A drive has been initiated to make a determined bid for increased tourist traffic from the United States. The Cuban government, heading the urging of the commercial and industrial interests vitally affected by the tourist trade, virtually has taken the Tourist commission out of politics. It has been placed in the hands of businessmen representing a diversity of Cuban interests.

Mammoth and Dixon Caves Same Cavern

WASHINGTON, July 11. —Proof that Dixon Cave, Ky., is a combination of Mammoth Cave and not a separate formation has been established by Dr. E. R. Pohl, Emergency Conservation Work technician assigned to the Mammoth Cave National Park Project.

A theory long had been held that the two caves were one. Both chambers have been known for almost a century and a half. Dr. Pohl's work revealed the practicability of opening the closed end of Dixon Cave, now cut across by Mammoth Cave Hollow, to permit passage from one cavern to the other.

Agas before the formation of the valley in which the old entrance to Mammoth Cave is located, it was pointed out that a subterranean gallery continued around the hill and met the chamber now known as Dixon Cave.
