F. F. T. Closes Successful Encampment Here Wednesday

151 ATTEND ANNUAL THREE DAY EVENT

The third annual Future Farmers encampment at Lake Cisco closed yesterday at noon after what was declared the best all-round encampment that has been held. Twenty-three schools were represented, an increase of seven. Attendance, however, was practically the same as last year. A total of 151 boys and their instructors were present for the three-day event.

The encampment opened Monday at 11 o'clock. J. B. Rutland, supervisor of vocational education with the state department of education at Austin, was present and pronounced it the best camp that has been held to date in Texas.

Schools represented and the number of boys sent by each are:

Ablene, 14; Brownwood, 4; Breckenridge, 8; Bradshaw, 9; Chillicothe, 20; Cisco, 11; Colorado, 10; Coleman, 4; Granger, 3; Proctor, 5; Marquette, 2; Proctor, 5; Ranger, 2; Rising Star, 8; Rule, 3; Stephenville, 2; Santa Anna, 17; Throckmorton, 16; Taylor, 6; Williams, 3; Wheeler, 3; Winters, 1; Clyde, 2.

While most of the time was devoted to recreational events one business meeting was held each evening. During the day the boys engaged in contests and tournaments of various kinds, including swimming, diving, water polo, horseshoe and washer pitching, calf riding, donkey polo and play ground baseball. All contests were completed on schedule. The encampment program had been well organized and splendid cooperation among those in charge added to the success of the encampment.

The Eastland county committee of E. H. Varnell, Cisco; Ben Whitehouse, Ranger, and F. A. Lloyd, of Rising Star, were in charge of the arrangements.

PASTOR DENIES CHARGES IN DIVORCE SUIT

CAMDEN, N. J., July 23. — Rebuttal to charges ranging from claims of rotory gin and petting parties with nurses and choir singers to paternity of a "love child," was offered today in the hearing of the divorce suit of Dr. Camille Estornelle, resigned pastor of fashionable S. Johns Episcopal church.

The charges were made yesterday by witnesses for Mrs. Estornelle. Anne McKenna, 23, blonde choir singer, offered the most sensational testimony, that involving parentage of her own child, in the court room at the time and identified by the physician she said had refused to perform an illegal operation urged by the minister.

The relationship, the girl claimed began when she was 15, she said. Dr. Alfred E. Jones testified he had several reasons for remembering Dr. Estornelle.

In the St. Johns rectory party, Dr. Jones said, Estornelle "put more and more gin in the girls' ginger ale glasses and delighted in telling unsavory stories."

At another party in the home of Carl R. Evered, Jones testified Dr. Estornelle had his hostess sit on his lap.

Once after 20 members of a nurse said held special service at the church the girls threw their arms about Dr. Estornelle, the witness said.

Thomas Davis Given Ten-Year Sentence

ALBANY, July 23. — Thomas Davis today was under a sentence of 10 years in the penitentiary for the murder of Leon Shook in Eastland county in 1928. A verdict of guilty was returned by a jury here last night after four hours of deliberation. Davis was previously given a five year suspended sentence for the murder of Lucian Shook, Leon's brother.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Secretary of State Stimson reported to the state department today that the London conference had agreed on relief measures for Germany. He said he would go to Berlin tomorrow for a close-up view of the situation there.

ARDMORE KILLINGS BLAMED AS AMERICAN FACES DEATH BEFORE FIRING SQUAD IN MEXICO

Fight to Save Texan Sentenced on Same Day Rubio Slayer Was Acquitted.

By MARSHALL HAIL
NEA Service Correspondent
(Copyright, 1931, NEA Service Inc.)
CHIHUAHUA CITY, Mex., July 23. — Because of the slaying of two Mexican youths in Ardmore, Okla., one of whom was the Mexican president's nephew, an American youth is closer to execution before a Mexican firing squad.

At least that is what his friends, including a U. S. congressman, assert. The youth is W. J. (Jeff) Meers, 28, who shot to death Antonio Visconti, Juarez waiter, under the impression that Visconti was Manuel Villarreal, slayer of Meers' father.

Young Meers walked into the Owl bar in Juarez, across from El Paso, Tex., on June 18, 1930, and seeing Visconti, suddenly decided to revenge his father's murder.

"He looked like Villarreal," said Meers. "Villarreal killed my father in cold blood during a payroll hold-up."

On July 21, 1930, he was taken from the Juarez jail to the Chihuahua state prison for safekeeping.

On June 27, 1931, Meers was sentenced to death by the Chihuahua penal judge.

On the same day news of the acquittal of William Guess, Ardmore deputy sheriff, charged with slaying Emilio Cortes Rubio, nephew of President Ortiz Rubio of Mexico was broadcast over the world. Since the death penalty has rarely been given and never carried out before in Chihuahua state courts, Meers' friends blamed the Ardmore killings for his death sentence—they say he is the victim of international friction and prejudice.

"He ought to be assassinated," stated a Mexico City paper, editorially.

Since then the arrest in Chicago of a Mexican vice consul has renewed anti-American feeling which found outlet in denunciation of Meers.

Shows No Fear
The tall, blond American youth is calm.

"I have no fear that I shall be executed," he said, as he sat on a narrow cot in his cell in the ancient Chihuahua prison when he talked to interview him.

"The death penalty is never carried out in Chihuahua. It is always commuted to 20 years or less. My appeal now is pending. After that we have recourse to the governor, the president or the federal courts."

Meers is cheerful after more than a year in the Mexican prison. "But if it had not been for my wife I would have lost hope," he said. "She writes me every day. Her mother and she have done everything possible for me."

Meers is lodged in "murderers' row" with 50 other prisoners, all but a few convicted of murder.

The death sentence, coming on the day of the acquittal of the Oklahoma deputy sheriff, was the culminating misfortune. The Ardmore slayings already had fanned Mexican anti-American sentiment to a flame, and newspapers clamored for Meers' death.

Since then the arrest in Chicago of a Mexican vice consul has renewed anti-American feeling which found outlet in denunciation of Meers.

SENATE VOTES TO PERMIT BRIDGE SUIT

AUSTIN, July 23. — The Texas senate voted this morning to give the Red River Bridge company the right to sue the state on the contract dispute which has kept a raw free bridge at Denison closed by federal court order. The senate's action was taken as soon as Governor Ross Sterling asked it in a message outlining the need for the permission.

A bill was offered in the house when the message was read there but a vote was not taken immediately. If the house passes the bill, too, the injunction against opening the Denison bridge probably will be dissolved within 15 days.

MUST TRANSFER BEFORE AUG. 1, PARENTS TOLD

Parents living outside the Cisco independent school district who wish to transfer their children to the Cisco high school were notified today by Supp. F. N. Cluck that such transfers must be made before August 1 if they wish to avail themselves of state tuition. The state will not pay tuition on transfers made after August 1 under new regulations. This includes students who have graduated from one, two or three-year schools in the rural communities and wish to continue the higher grades in the Cisco high school, he said.

Those wishing transfers may secure blanks at the office of the business secretary, W. F. Walker, phone No. 152 or from Mr. Cluck himself. They will be glad to assist in making the transfers.

LINDBERGH'S TO START TOUR NEXT WEEK

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., July 23. — Cel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh will start their summer vacation aerial tour to the orient over the route beset with fog and storms via Point Barrow and Nome, Alaska, some day next week, he told the United Press today.

The Lindberghs will fly first to Washington to complete arrangements for papers they will need for themselves and their plane, then they will return to New York for a possible overnight stop before continuing their journey.

The trip over the "front yard of the north pole" to Japan and China will be made in a Lockheed-Sikorski equipped with pontoons in which the two have made several short trial flights.

Ciscoans Invited to Cream Supper

Cisco business men and their families are invited to Dothan Friday evening for the old fiddlers' contest and ice cream supper to be held under the auspices of the Friendship Home Demonstration club of that city. Old fiddlers of the section are invited to take part in the contests.

The club is sponsoring the program for the purpose of raising funds with which to send representatives to a short course at A. & M. college.

County Work on City Streets Upheld

AUSTIN, July 23.—The state supreme court today had reaffirmed the right of counties to spend road money on city streets where they form part of a county or state highway system. It took the action in overruling a motion for rehearing of a case brought by Stephens county against the city of Breckenridge. The court previously had held that the county must fulfill a contract made with the city for improvement of Breckenridge streets.

Husbands and Wives Exchange

Mr. Stevens and the new Mrs. Stevens, formerly Mrs. Spotswood.

Trading wives and children as casually as an ordinary business transaction, F. L. Stevens and George E. Spotswood, friends of Pomona, Calif., exchanged their families to the satisfaction of all concerned. Each couple has two children, a boy and girl, the eldest being 19 years of age. While Mr. Spotswood and the new Mrs. Stevens were in Nevada fixing things up, Mr. Stevens and Mrs. Spotswood took care of the four children. The two couples, as things stand now, are shown here.

GUARD OPEN WATER BOARD ASKS CITIZENS

Declaring that the present warm weather is ideal for wiggletails to hatch, the Cisco board of health today issued a statement requesting citizens to notify the board of the presence of any unguarded pools of water near their premises. Upright tin cans, buckets and so forth which can catch and retain water should be carefully looked after, the board warned. Seepy cellars, up-ground, unsealed cisterns and uninhabited fish ponds are sources of innumerable mosquitoes.

"If you fail to guard against these things we can promise you a fresh supply of nice, large mosquitoes that will entertain you for the remainder of the summer," the board said.

Swimmers and divers are invited to take part in these contests while the public is assured of good entertainment, said Mr. Hunt.

SHOTGUN AND KNIFE USED ON VICTIMS

MERCER, Pa., July 23. — Five people were killed and three others injured near here today by Marko Demofonti, who ran amuck with a shotgun and a knife.

The dead: Mrs. Marco Demofonti, wife of the man.

Mrs. Alfonso Focetti, Demofonti's sister-in-law.

Gaston DeLuqua, a shoemaker. Mrs. Frank Yakelo.

Mrs. Peter Pisciella. The injured were Mrs. Mike Beman and Florra Beman.

Demofonti had been adjudged insane by a medical commission and was returned to his home awaiting removal today.

Waiting until the men had left today for work, he seized a shotgun and shot his wife and sister-in-law and then dashed wildly out of the house, brandishing the gun.

DeLuqua, the shoemaker, was the first met and the demented killer leveled the gun at him. In quick succession he killed DeLuqua and Mrs. Yakelo, who was walking along the street.

His ammunition exhausted Demofonti seized a knife and dashed to the Beman home where he stabbed Mrs. Beman and her daughter. He ran shouting to the next house where Mrs. Pisciella and her son, Tony, lived, adding them to his victims before he was captured.

Pisciella died several hours after the multiple tragedy.

BAND GOES TO CROSS PLAINS FRIDAY NIGHT

The Cisco Lobo band will make the third of its series of goodwill concert trips when it goes to Cross Plains tomorrow evening for a program. Like the Rising Star and German concerts this will be given in the open air and arrangements for the event have been made by a committee from Cisco.

Merchants and their families have found these Friday night trips to neighboring cities occasions of enjoyment and the chamber of commerce is expecting a large delegation of local people to accompany the band.

The party will assemble at the chamber of commerce offices at 6:45 and leave from there in a body, according to plans. The trip will require less than an hour, the concert will occupy an hour and the party will be back in Cisco by 10 o'clock according to the arrangements.

DAILY BIBLE THOUGHT

SOLITARY IN FAMILIES:—God setteth the solitary in families; he bringeth out those which are bound with chains; but the rebellious dwell in a dry land.—Psalm 68: 6.

UNCLE SAM AND UNCLE ROSS.

Uncle Sam has a treasury deficit of $1,000,000,000. Uncle Ross has a treasury deficiency in the general fund of the state of $1,303,227. Uncle Sam will face his deficit and wipe it out. Uncle Ross will do the same. All the world knows just what the governor of North Carolina said to the governor of South Carolina in ancient days. Now the Texas world knows what Governor Bill of Oklahoma said to Governor Ross of Texas but it did not concern a mint julep or the passing of the bottle. It had something to do with free bridges and toll bridges and an injunction issued by a federal judge which made Governor Bill safe from the Oklahoma side and Governor Ross on the Texas side. Governor Bill was within his rights when he smashed the barriers. Governor Ross was within his rights when he restored the barriers. A toll bridge company has a little bill for something like $90,000 against the commonwealth. There is always a bill collector around clamoring for his rights and his money. Now the courts will say the last word. Litigation is an industry that isn't of the stragglings kind. It is growing by leaps and bounds. Those who are engaged in it and profit the most never need a moratorium.

"If you want the bridge opened we will open it," wired Governor Murray to Governor Sterling. "If not, I bow to your authority over the state of Texas." By the way young Joseph Weldon Bailey is attorney for the toll bridge company in Denison. He threatened to cite the highway employes of Oklahoma for contempt of court. Governor Bill was on his mettle. This is what the governor said to the Texas attorney: "Just try that and I will call out the national guard to stop them." Governor Bill is high feathered. An assistant attorney general of the United States rules that Murray could not be made party to an injunction in a federal court in Texas restraining the opening of the Red river bridge. State Highway Commissioner, Cone Johanson throws light on the issue: "The new free bridge is a joint enterprise of Texas and Oklahoma, aided by the federal government, and I think it a sound proposition that each have equal rights in using the structure. I urged at the hearing before Judge T. M. Kennerly that no injunction be granted closing the Texas end of the bridge to deprive Oklahoma and the traveling public free use of the bridge since Oklahoma was not a party to the suit." It is a big tempest in a little teapot. Free bridges are coming and toll bridges are going. Uncle Ross has intervened. The wire tells the story. He is for peace.

THE ETERNAL QUEST

Old men observe their birthday anniversaries expounding the secret of their longevity, while old ladies usually spend theirs telling their granddaughters and social editors how they preserved their complexion and protected their girlhood beauty against the ravages of time. A Philadelphian of 103 years retained her smooth complexion by steaming her face and eschewing rouge.

Feminity is little different in real life than in myth and legend. Apuleius, in the story of Cupid and Psyche in his "Metamorphoses," recounts how Psyche had wounded Cupid with one of his own arrows and Venus had lost her freshness while nursing her son. She ordered Psyche to go to Persephone in the underworld and bring back to her a small box containing enough beauty for one day. The box contained nothing but a night's sleep.

This mythical tale probably inspired the Shakespearean line about sleep, "nature's sweet restorer which knits up the raveled sleeve of care."

Though there is no aid to beauty as efficacious as sleep, it is probably the hardest to get in this day and age. The women of the United States spend many millions a year for cosmetics and beauty treatments but can find little time for sleep. They must depend upon poor substitutes for the beauty recipe of Venus.

THE FARMER IS PAYING

Drouth victims who appealed to congress for aid and got it are proving their honesty and self-reliance by repaying their government loans with their first crop money. They did not ask for charity and are not treating the drouth relief loans as charity.

The borrowing farmers are not even awaiting the marketing of their major crops to begin paying back their loans. The farmers' seed loan office is receiving checks in amounts ranging from less than a dollar to $500, most of them representing earnings from farm products sold in small quantities at retail. But when the government loaned them the money it did not expect even partial repayment until the first major crops had been harvested.

Crop failure, disaster, death and, in rare instances, dishonesty will prevent the prompt repayment of a small percentage of these loans, but when the government or private lenders extend the farmer credit or financial help they know that the chances of default are small.

Sometimes politicians coveting the agricultural vote ask alms for the struggling farmer, but the real dirt farmer neither expects nor asks charity and takes the blows of adversity—and they have fallen upon him with crushing frequency in the last decade—standing up and fighting back.

AN APPEAL TO THE LAWMAKERS.

Governor Ross S. Sterling on the eve of his departure for Mineral Wells to review the 56th calvary brigade of the Texas national guard in annual encampment there made an-

FIVE TEXAS FARM WOMEN TO BE HONORED AS WINNERS OF MASTER FARM HOMEMAKER TITLES

Mrs. Herman Schulze, Kerrville, Texas

Mrs. Noah Stagg, Weatherford, Texas

Mrs. John P. Impson, Beville, Texas

Mrs. Andrew R. Hanna, Floydada, Texas

Mrs. Edgar Lumpkin, Buffalo Springs, Texas

THESE five women, representing the rural homemakers of Texas, will comprise the fourth group to receive the title of Master Farm Homemaker conferred annually by THE FARMER'S WIFE, national farm women's magazine of St. Paul, Minn., in co-operation with the Extension Service of the A. & M. College of Texas.

other plea for the members of the legislature to get down to business and do something substantial in the way of legislation for the important industries of their commonwealth. This is what he said: "I sincerely hope that all members of the legislature will forget and lay aside all personal, political, and factional considerations in deliberating upon the problem of conservation of natural resources, and that they will approach the matter from an unbiased standpoint, looking only to the best interests of state and give a program that will give the needed relief."

A very modest and a very sincere appeal to say the least for beneficial oil and gas legislation that will rescue or drag out of the ditch the petroleum industry in Texas. Conservation of natural resources is a paramount issue and will continue to be a paramount issue in Texas and this includes all natural resources.

TEXAS SUGAR HAS THE CALL.

"If all the sugar consumed by Texas was produced in this state, approximately $6,000,000 would be kept here each year," remarked Roy L. Tennant, member of the board of control, to press representatives. The state uses approximately 532,000 pounds yearly for its institutions. Sugar to be used in the institutions next year will be Texas sugar. Mr. Tennant told the reasons why and furnished the main one: For each hundred pound sack of Texas refined sugar bought in Texas, $1.23 remains in the state, while for each hundred pound sack of out of state refined sugar used in Texas, only 28 cents remains in the state. Well, why not the Texas product? Why not keep Texas money in Texas?

OTHER OPINIONS

INDUSTRY'S OUTCASTS.

Industrial America of 1931 is profoundly unlike pioneer America of a century ago. Yet there are still many Americans who seem unable to realize that there has been any change; and they are still trying to make conditions of 1931 conform to standards and rules of a vanished era.

Here is an example. A very prominent and influential industrialist the other day issued a pamphlet discussing unemployment. In it he remarked:

"There seems to be a growing tendency to try to shift to the shoulders of each industry the burden of providing for those improvident individuals employed by that particular industry who are unable to care for themselves in times of need. In certain circles apparently serious consideration is being given to the paternalistic proposal that big business, or the government, assume many of the obligations formerly recognized by the individual as his own personal burden and his own responsibility."

Here we have an attempt to approach problems of 1931 in the manner of 1831. For the one thing that makes this depression unlike those of the old days is the fact that millions of men are out of work through no fault of their own. It is not only the improvident who are needing relief these days; sober, industrious and thrifty workmen are, in thousands of cases, existing on the very edge of utter destitution.

In the old days things were up to the individual. In a pinch he could always go back to the land and support himself. Except in rare cases, only the shiftless and the spendthrift ever had to depend on charity.

Today it is different. Men who obeyed all the rules of thrift and hard work are very badly up against it. There is literally nothing for them to do but wait for things to get better. Their sobriety and steadiness have not kept them from poverty.

Times have changed, and industrialists will not enhance their reputation for all-seeing wisdom by chanting the outworn slogans of a century ago. — Brownwood Bulletin.

Most of your suffering from common every-day aches and pains is unnecessary and unwise. Unnecessary, because Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve quickly and without unpleasant after effects; unwise, because pain makes your physical condition worse instead of better. AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION NEWS

From the Office of the County Agent and The Home Demonstration Agent.

Rabbits Damage Crops. Reports continue to come to the County Agent to the effect rabbits are doing a great deal of damage by eating the growing crops.

From time to time this column has carried suggestions for the poisoning of rabbits but these suggestions need to be reviewed at this time for the benefit of those who failed to read prior recommendations.

Another method that is now being tried put successfully around Rising Star and other points is the salt lick or salt block, wherein one ounce of strychnine is mixed with one pound of salt and a small amount placed in approximately five-eighths inch holes in short 2x4 blocks.

Communities interested in making up a batch of the poisoned corn will be given assistance in making up a supply. Several neighbors might well go together and make up a bushel of corn and thus have an adequate supply of rabbit bait available for all in that section.

ANY TIRE manufacturer or dealer who tells you a "breaker strip" is a "ply"—or that tire performance depends on weight—deceives you.

BEWARE THE MAN WHO TELLS YOU THIS IS A PLY

It is NOT A PLY, it is a breaker strip! The National Better Business Bureau defines a "ply" as follows—

"A ply is one of a number of layers of rubberized cotton fabric, either cord or square woven, extending from bead to bead, and forming the body of the tire."

Four or six plies form the carcass or the body of the tire. If the fabric does NOT extend entirely around the tire from BEAD TO BEAD, IT IS NOT A PLY. The illustration points out the difference between a ply and a breaker strip. It also points out the "beads."

Certain manufacturers and dealers, jealous of Ward's commanding position in the tire industry, have made misleading statements about Ward's tires. They have published and displayed misleading charts—they have shown sections of obsolete tires—they compare their "second line" tires with our "first line" tires—and now in advertising and selling talks, "breaker strips" are being called "plys." These misleading statements, however, are cleverly worded and the breaker strip is called "a ply under the tread." No twisting of words, however, can turn a BREAKER STRIP into a PLY. Every tire manufacturer and dealer knows it, AND WE BELIEVE THE CUSTOMER, TOO, IS ENTITLED TO KNOW THE FACTS.

BEWARE THE MAN WHO SAYS WEIGHT DENOTES SUPERIORITY

Many readers are familiar with the recent Firestone ads which compare Firestone tires with unidentified mail order tires. Weight has been given prominence as one of the items of comparison. Montgomery Ward & Co. maintains that weight is NOT AN INDICATION OF TIRE QUALITY.

We recently purchased five Firestone Oldfield tires and five Firestone High Speed tires—the High Speed tire is more expensive than the Oldfield. These tires were carefully weighed by Dr. Ellery H. Harvey, and the results are shown in the statement at the right.

In the first place, note that there is a variation of five ounces between the heaviest and the lightest Oldfield, and that there is a six-ounce variation between the heaviest and the lightest Firestone High Speed. MOST IMPORTANT OF ALL NOTE THAT THE AVERAGE WEIGHT OF THE OLDFIELD IS ONE POUND FIVE OUNCES HEAVIER THAN THE AVERAGE WEIGHT OF THE HIGH SPEED TIRES. If weight denotes superiority, why is the cheaper Firestone tire heavier than the more expensive Firestone tire? Surely this should convince any unbiased person how ridiculous it is to consider weight an indication of tire quality. Again we say, WE BELIEVE THE CUSTOMER IS ENTITLED TO KNOW THE FACTS.

On June 20, 1931, I weighed five Firestone Oldfield tires on a tested Howe scale. Immediately after on the same scale I weighed five Firestone four ply High Speed tires. All ten tires were size 4-50-21. They weighed as follows:

Firestone Oldfield	Firestone 4-Ply High Speed
17 lbs. 11 oz.	16 lbs. 2 oz.
17 lbs. 8 oz.	16 lbs. 5 oz.
17 lbs. 9 oz.	16 lbs. 1 oz.
17 lbs. 6 oz.	16 lbs. 7 oz.
17 lbs. 7 oz.	16 lbs. 3 oz.
17 lbs. 9 oz.	16 lbs. 2 oz.
Avg. wt. per tire 17 lbs. 8 oz.	16 lbs. 3 oz.

Variation between lightest and heaviest tire 5 oz. 6 oz.

Here Is THE TRUTH About Ward's Riversides and Trail Blazers!

The RIVERSIDE is our first quality tire. It is made by one of the largest tire companies in the world. It is built to one of the most stringent sets of specifications in the tire industry. It has been sold by Ward's for 19 years. Millions are in use today. Riversides are backed by a guarantee without limit as to time or mileage. Other famous nationally advertised tires that are equal to Riversides are much higher priced than Riversides.

The table at the right gives you the sizes for size price comparison. Having studied the price comparison with other makes, the only question for you to ask is: "Are Riverside tires really as good as these other tires with which they are compared?" Well, Montgomery Ward & Co. is one of the largest and oldest merchandise institutions in the world. It is the originator of the "Satisfaction Guaranteed or Your Money Back" guarantee. It depends for its business not only on tires but also on some 40,000 other items of merchandise which it sells to you. Certainly it is reasonable to believe that Ward's is maintaining the truth in making these statements.

Prices are even less when bought in pairs.

FREE MOUNTING SERVICE AT EVERY WARD STORE

The TRAIL BLAZER is our second quality tire. It is equal to any of the "second line" tires offered by well known tire companies. As you no doubt know, close to 90% of all newspaper advertising of the big tire companies is devoted to their "second line" tires, and it is these tires with which Trail Blazers compare. However, Trail Blazers SELL FOR LESS than other second line tires.

This combination of quality with lowest price which is offered by Ward's seems to have made some of our competitors very envious, so they are making and publishing misleading and incorrect statements about mail order tires. But they do not compare their first quality tires with our Riversides and their second quality tires with our Trail Blazers. They know to do so would immediately indicate how much lower Ward's tires are priced. So they have cunningly priced their "second line" tires at exactly our Riverside prices, and they print comparison tables which are intended to make people believe that their prices are the same as ours. Well, they are not. The chart at the left is a true comparison, quality for quality, and price for price.

Heart of Liane

by MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Cass Barrett, stock company actress, is glad to get out of the city for the summer to play at a fashionable Long Island colony. Liane, her 18-year-old daughter, helps in the box office with Muriel Ladd, debutante. At a party Liane meets Van Robard, handsome man of the world. Cass begs Liane not to see him again. Muriel is said to be in love with Chuck Desmond, debonair reporter, but plays around with other men. Elsie Minter tells Liane there is gossip about Robard and Muriel's mother.

Cass goes on tour in the autumn, leaving Liane with Mrs. Cleespaugh. When she is taken gravely ill Liane rushes to her. Cass recovers. Van's engagement to Muriel is announced. When Cass returns to the Cleespaugh home Clive Cleespaugh asks Liane to marry him—a marriage of convenience. She accepts although she does not love him.

Tressa Lord and her sister, Mrs. Amberton, come to visit the Cleespaughs. Tressa dislikes Liane and begins a plot against her. At a night club a sinister fellow threatens blackmail to Liane. She goes to her friend, Shane McDermid, police officer, for advice. Shane settles the blackmailers and warns them to let her alone. Plans for the wedding go forward. Shane warns Liane she has an enemy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXV

The word went from mouth to mouth. "The Prince! The Prince is here!"

No one had been sure he was coming. The great hunt ball had been an annual affair in Willow Springs since the first fur kings and railroad barons had built their Victorian palaces there back in the 'nineties. It was always a gala event even in the rarified atmosphere of that gilded township. That its date coincided with the visit of His Royal Highness was pure chance. No one had been certain he would actually be present. But here he was.

Liane, in a frothy frock of petal chiffon cut demurely low to show her young shoulders was staying close to the kindly Mrs. Cleespaugh. There was about this atmosphere something definitely intimidating. The clipped voices, the assured manners which were in vogue at all but subtlimated rudeness, the massaged, scented and exquisitely dressed women frightened and chilled her. She thought, "Is it possible I am ever to enter this circle really as an intimate?" The idea vaguely terrified her.

Clive, at her elbow, said, "Dance this?" She looked up at him, grateful for his nearness, for the sense of rightness and security his presence afforded her. As she gave herself, quite impersonally, to his embrace she thought that life would not be such a bad thing with this young man by her side. They threaded their way through the mazes of the music.

Clive's arm tightened around her. How well he danced! He said, "Sorry," and steeled her deftly around a cruising pair, a plump matron in sea green velvet and her languid escort. Liane thought for an instant that the tightening of his arm had been an impulsive movement. Her pulse had quickened a little at the thought. With disappointment she realized he was only being instinctively gallant, trying to avoid a collision which had seemed imminent.

Strang, strange young man, she reflected. A little piqued she was that he had never tried to "make love" to her. Did he think her so unattractive? Well, she mustn't quarrel with her fate. He had asked her to marry him and she, for reasons of her own, had agreed.

The murmur ran along the line. "The Prince!" A discreet, polite murmur. And after an instant, in the suddenly cleared doorway, he appeared. A tall, very thin, rather supercilious looking young man with pale brown hair and a monarchic glazing of one of his sharp brown eyes. He was in a dress uniform of silver and blue.

The orchestra in response to a hidden signal struck up the young notable's national air. He smiled. He clicked his heels and bowed from the waist. Liane heard the plump, green velveted matron murmur "Adorable!" in swooning accents. The Prince put out his arm to one of the ladies in his party and the dance began again as suddenly as it had stopped.

"Getting tired?" Clive wanted to know. Liane shook her head. She danced dreamily, casually. The throbbing of the music was in her blood. It was like an enchantment. Abruptly she felt her partner's arm about her loosen. She looked up into the grinning face of Chuck Desmond, who had said "Cut?" to Clive.

"You!" she gasped, startled. "The kid himself," Desmond acknowledged. "I crashed this party with His ribs. Used to be a correspondent in Slavaria when his father was in power. He makes me drag along wherever he goes and the boss doesn't mind. It gives me the inside track."

"It's nice to see you," Liane told him. And indeed this young man whom Muriel had once described as "devastating" seemed more than ever like a friend and brother tonight.

"You're pretty easy on the eye yourself, Lovely," he told her admiringly. "Nice doodads you're sporting."

"I fear you are not thinking what you say, Tressa," she admonished. Tressa bit her lip. "Sorry, I was just trying to cheer you," she said lightly. "Clive will find her. Don't worry."

Little groups began to gather at the end of the ballroom. The orchestra leader lifted an authoritative baton and a great crashing of jazz ensued. Most of the dancers danced, thus assured, joined in the fox trot.

Meantime Clive, after a frantic questioning of a sleepy footman or two, elicited the information that an unrecognized car had left the ranks a few moments before driving (the man thought) west. He was not positive of the direction.

"And it's a dry, clear night. Not a chance of ruts or tracks," muttered Clive. The Prince's car was being brought around. With two men of the box, it was an imposing vehicle of slate gray and chromium plate. His Highness sprang within, beckoning Chuck Desmond to follow.

"You chaps go along," Clive said. "I'm driving my own car." He felt he could not bear to be shut up with this stupid young man who had left Liane alone and unguarded at the mercy of the unseen enemy.

Clive sprang into his own car and wheeled it around. Picking up speed it soon passed the big motor with the London license plate.

"Though where I'm going exactly I don't know," the young man admitted to himself, setting his jaws ominously. "Only—well, there may be a few necks broken tonight in this business!"

At the first gas station he drove up with an unholy screech of brakes.

"See anything of a dark blue sedan with Jersey plates?" he wanted to know. The club attendant noted that much about the ghost car.

The man in jeans shook his head slowly. "Been inside," he returned. "Slate, I was catching a nap. You in trouble?"

Chuck said shortly, "We're after some fellows. Heard they went this way."

Lubbock Anxious for Football Team; "Chap" Has Reputation to Sustain

"This town is surely anxious for a football team," wrote Coach W. B. "Chap" Chapman shortly after reaching Lubbock where he will direct the destinies of the Lubbock high school athletic teams. Lubbock material could look worse, he said.

The former Lobo coach and Mrs. Chapman reached Lubbock a few days ago and established themselves in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Spencer, pending permanent arrangements for a residence. Mr. Spencer is a former Ciscoan and a brother of J. E. Spencer, of this city.

"Have seen several ex-Ciscoans around here," "Chap" wrote. "Plenty of rain and fine, cool nights greeted the ex-Cisco coach and his wife."

"Chap" will attend the Wade and Fielan coaching school at Texas Tech, he indicated. The school is expected to attract more than 300 coaches. Wade, it will be remembered, is the famous coach of the Alabama university Crimson Tide which has enjoyed several undefeated seasons and has never been defeated by a west coast team in the three times he has taken his Crimson Tide to Pasadena for the Tournament of Roses engagement.

Rather, he was the coach of the Crimson Tide. This year he goes to Duke university.

Fielan, who is associated with Wade, is coach of the Purdue university teams and has likewise enjoyed remarkable success.

Chapman goes to Lubbock with a reputation to sustain. His friends, which include not merely Ciscoans but coaches and fans of rival cities, have no doubt that, if given half a chance, he will sustain that reputation very creditably. The danger confronting him is that Lubbock will expect too much and Cisco athletic fans realize that "Chap" did not build a team by magic but by hard work. He labored with the Lobos two seasons before he was able to produce a team that threw a monkey wrench into the oil belt district set-up. Those two years are not recognized in the publicity that followed his startling victories of 1924 and later years. So far as the public is concerned they had no part in the victories of those seasons. But 1924 would not have been possible but for 1922 and 1923. Football teams do not grow on trees and they are not produced by coaches alone. Chapman knows that and every other coach knows that. If a new coach turns out a winner his first season it is either pure luck or someone had prepared the ground well in front of him.

The best wishes of Cisco go with Chapman to his new job. They are confident that he will produce and they also know that a cleaner, finer youngster isn't to be found in the coaching business or elsewhere.

PERMANENCE

More than five thousand years ago, the great rulers of Egypt erected as monuments to their vanity, the obelisks and pyramids and Sphinx that may still be seen standing nobly and eloquently in the sands of the desert. These baffling phenomena have withstood the ages and the elements because of the engineering genius, the patient workmanship, the boundless wealth that created them. Today, man believes in another kind of permanence. Today, an institution endures because of its ideals, because of its desire and capacity to serve. The First National Bank is such an institution. Its present building may give way to another, and still another, but the institution will endure, a credit to its community and founders.

Goodyear Wheels on "Winnie Mae"

"Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, who completed their round-world flight in eight and a half days were assured safe landings no matter what kind of airport they selected in their thirteen intermediate stops," declared S. H. Nance local Goodyear dealer, "because their red and white monoplane, Winnie Mae was equipped with Goodyear Airwheels those big, rubber pillow-like tires that are the last word in safety and comfort in happy landings and speedy takeoffs."

"In this field of tires for aircraft, as in other tire fields,—of equipment for trucks and buses, Goodyear has done the pioneering," continued Mr. Nance. "For instance, we owe to Goodyear the early development of the straight side tire, the pneumatic cord truck tire as well as balloon tires, and of course Superwrist Cord which is in the sturdy carcass of every Goodyear tire made."

"The Goodyear Airwheel permits the pilot of a plane to set down in a rough field cushioning otherwise unpleasant jars and jolts, not to mention possibility of damage to his craft. The Airwheel practically eliminates the danger of ground-looping and also enables him to take off from a muddy, sandy or soft field which would mire in a plane equipped with high pressure tires."

Mr. Nance, manager of Blessie Motor Co., station has been operating as a Goodyear dealer for 10 years.
