Quick Senate Passage of Beer-Wine Bill Is Assured

AMENDMENT ADOPTED IN 14 MINUTES

WASHINGTON, March 16. — Whatever may have happened to prosperity, legal beer and wine are just around the corner today and will be on sale next month. The senate began consideration of the 3.2 per cent beer-wine bill at noon and in 14 minutes adopted the finance committee amendment including wine and fruit juices among the beverages to be legalized.

The house voted Tuesday to legalize beer alone. There may be some house objection to the wine amendment inserted by the senate committee.

"I expect the bill to pass the senate by a two to one majority by tomorrow evening and it may pass today," Senate Majority Leader Robinson told the United Press.

An American Federation of Labor survey reports there are 23 states, with an aggregate population of 72,000,000 persons, in which the legalized beverages may be sold as soon as the Volstead act is modified.

Eleven states prohibit the sale of beer or wine by statute and a change of state laws would be necessary to legalize the beverages. Amendment of the state constitution would be required in 13 other states.

The situation in Texas is uncertain. The state law prohibits sale of "intoxicating" beverages but sets no definite alcoholic content. If Texas courts held 3.2 per cent beer non-intoxicating as does congress, then the beer could be sold there.

BILL WOULD CHANGE DEAN ACT PENALTIES. AUSTIN, March 16.—Substitution of $25 fines for the one to five year penitentiary sentences now provided for liquor law violations and a proposal for a one dollar a ton tax on salt were put before the house of Texas legislature here today.

The house voted down an attempt to have the homestead tax exemption extended to home property owned by single men or women after a member shouted from the floor that old maids and bachelors should wed.

Resolutions were offered for constitutional amendments to permit both tax assessors and tax collectors in counties of more than 125,000 population and to make future legislatures be made up of a senator and four representatives from each of the state's 21 congressional districts.

Cisco Teams Win In County Contest

The Cisco playground ball teams won a first and a second place in the county interscholastic league contest held yesterday.

The Cisco boys took the county title over Ranger. Gorman was third. The Cisco girls, however did not fare so well and lost in the finals to Rising Star, Eastland winning third place.

Chicago Pays Farewell Tribute to Slain Mayor

DEATHS EXCEED BIRTHS BY ONE REPORT SHOWS

Cisco's population ended the month of February with a net loss of one on the basis of vital statistics reported by City Health Officer Dr. W. P. Lee to the city commission Tuesday evening. There were six births seven deaths during the month, he said.

Anticipation of the spring clean up, for which a period was set apart yesterday by proclamation of Mayor J. T. Berry, resulted in much of the health officer's time being devoted to work upon the outskirts of the city, he said. A number of health hazards existing in unkept vacant lots, alleys and residential premises were located and ordered cleaned up, the report said.

Following it the report in full: To the Honorable City Commission:

A considerable portion of my time during the past month has been taken up in looking over the outskirts of the town, also the alleys and vacant lots for health hazards, in anticipation of the spring clean up. Some were found untidy and some were found unsanitary and promises were made by the owners to correct the conditions.

A few complaints have been made of unsightly rubbish and littered alleys. These have been looked into and, as an evidence of the cooperation extended, before I left the occupants had begun to rake and burn the trash.

During the past month many calls have been made upon me for medical attention, more than in any previous month. None of these have been turned away regardless of race, color or financial condition. All have had such attention as the conditions warranted.

The general health of the town is reasonably good. No epidemic and only three homes quarantined, two for scarlet fever and one for diphtheria.

As far as I have been able to ascertain, no case of diphtheria has occurred among the five hundred or more children given the toxoid in the summer. The toxoid, you will remember, was furnished by the state and given by the P. T. A. and the physicians of the town.

The state food and drug inspector visited the town the past week, inspecting the stores, cafes, markets and slaughter houses. These were found in excellent condition with two or three exceptions. With the approach of spring and warm weather we should be watchful of all health hazards, as well as breeding places for flies and mosquitoes.

There are more cow and horse lots in the town than there have been in several years, and unless these places receive daily care they are likely to become unsanitary.

There have been six births and seven deaths during February. A receipt for health certificates written accompany this report. Respt. submitted, W. P. LEE.

"LET'S SPEND CISCO'S MONEY TO AID CISCO"

Asserting that an active chamber of commerce is an essential agency through which civic initiative can exert itself for the promotion of the commercial welfare of a city, Judge J. R. Burnett today issued a statement in which he declared his support of a municipal chamber of commerce.

"Once upon a time," he said, "I was uninformed of the work that the chamber of commerce does and of the activities that it carries on in the public's behalf, and I was opposed to it. Since then I have informed myself and have studied Mr. Spencer's reports without bias, and since I know what the chamber of commerce has done and is doing, I am strongly in favor of a municipally supported chamber. I believe that any fair-minded man who has Cisco's interest at heart will be in favor of it."

"Of course, I believe that the chamber of commerce should be administered economically and within the limits of the appropriations that we are able to make for its support. We have had occasion to talk with a great number of bondholders and they have expressed themselves as much in favor of a municipally supported chamber of commerce, and believe it to be one of the things that will help Cisco out of its troubles."

"If we cannot get out of our troubles as we should like to, there is no use in piling up money for the bondholders to fight over. Let's spend it for something that will help Cisco and make our city a better place in which to live."

"SAY FOR IT," TMS ED HUESTIS. "I'm for the chamber of commerce," said Ed Huestis, Cisco business man this morning. "A chamber of commerce is the only thing through which we business men can work to build Cisco and a municipally supported chamber is the most equitable kind because it distributes the costs of supporting it equitably. If the average tax-payer would figure what percentage of the taxes he pays goes to support it he would find that what it is costing him would hardly keep him in chewing gum. We've got to have a chamber of commerce so why put all the burden of supporting it on local people when we can assess a proper share of its cost against the outside property owners who get the benefit of what is being done as much as the local people. I'd rather pay for the chamber of commerce through my taxes because I'm going to pay just so much taxes anyway. If we kick the chamber off the municipal budget we're just kicking ourselves into the extra contributions that will have to come out of our tills and we won't be getting a thin dime of reduction in our taxes, either. I'm out for saving all I can and I, for one, am not going to vote myself into a situation where I've got to put out five or ten dollars extra every month on top of the taxes I

NEW MEMBER SPEAKER FOR ROTARY CLUB

"Keeping the Trail" was the subject of an inspirational talk delivered to the Cisco Rotary club at its meeting today noon by the "baby" member of the club who is nevertheless a Rotarian of long standing. He is Dr. C. Q. Smith, presiding elder of the Cisco district of the Methodist church who recently transferred his membership from Fort Worth.

A synopsis of Dr. Smith's talk will appear in the Daily News shortly.

He was presented by P. P. Shepard, program chairman for the day and his address occupied the entire program period.

President J. J. Collins announced at the beginning of the program that the club had made a percentage of 96 per cent in attendance last month and had received the commendation of Rotary Gov. Andy Anderson, of Ranger.

BILL PROVIDES PENALTIES TO AID OIL CURB

AUSTIN, March 16. — By unanimous consent a bill was introduced in the senate today to strengthen oil proration enforcement in Texas.

The measure introduced by Sen. Walter Woodul, would place a penalty of 50 cents a barrel on over-produced oil and penalize pipe line companies, loading racks and refineries for handling illegally produced oil.

Failure to make affidavits concerning the amount and origin of the oil would be punishable by from two to five years imprisonment.

The house today was to receive both majority and minority reports on a seven-weeks investigation of attempts to enforce oil proration.

The majority report severely criticized the state railroad commission and its forces in the east Texas oil field.

The minority report drafted by Reps. O. F. Chastain and A. L. Rogers, blamed the failure of proration on injunctions. It takes issue with the conclusions of the majority report that men of insufficient experience were used and that men had been hired for political purposes.

In submitting the minority report, Rep. Chastain said that though he formerly had favored proration he now is opposed to it. Under it in east Texas, he said, the large companies are getting the "cream" and the little companies are starving to death.

CONGRESS IS READY TO ACT ON MESSAGES

WASHINGTON, March 16.—President Roosevelt will send special messages to congress late today on agriculture and unemployment relief, it was learned at the white house.

The messages were expected to reach the house and senate before 5 p. m.

The house democratic leadership made plans to jam through President Roosevelt's farm relief program in time for adjournment Saturday.

Majority Leader Byrns said the farm relief bill would be referred to the agriculture committee immediately on receipt of the president's message. It would be reported promptly to the house under a special rule limiting debate and forbidding amendment.

ENACTMENT OF ECONOMY BILL NEAR REALITY

WASHINGTON, March 16.— President Roosevelt's $500,000,000 economy bill was given final approval in the house today and sent to the president for signature.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—President Roosevelt's $500,000,000 economy bill, cutting war veterans' benefits nearly in half, neared final enactment today.

Swept through the senate last night by a 62 to 13 vote, the emergency measure went back to the house today for action on senate amendments. Senate leaders believed that body would accept the changes and rush the bill to Mr. Roosevelt.

Final enactment of the bill would put the democratic administration well along its goal of a balanced budget.

HOUSE PASSES LAND BILL AUSTIN, March 16.—The Texas house this afternoon passed finally its bill giving west Texas land owners 20 years to pay the state half of the bonuses paid by oil companies for leases. The debt will carry four per cent interest. The bill now goes to the senate.

LOCAL BANK DEPOSITS SHOW GAIN OF $61,000 WEDNESDAY

The First National bank yesterday, at the close of the first day's business since the lifting of the banking moratorium, registered a gain of $61,000 in deposits. Clearings through the institution at the end of the day totalled $152,786.86. Of this $66,159.94 were local clearings and $86,626.92 were outside.

The difference between this figure and the total of withdrawals represents the gain in deposits.

"We can never express sufficiently our appreciation of the confidence that our depositors have shown," said Alex Spears, cashier.

Bales of checks shipped by the bank to the clearing houses at Fort Worth and Dallas would have weighed at least 25 pounds, said Mr. Spears.

No Restrictions The bank opened without any restrictions. All deposits, both old and new, are subject to unlimited withdrawal. Loans are being made as usual. At the conclusion of the day's business the bank had made 27 different loans putting thousands of dollars of credit into circulation. Incidentally, it was explained, the only method by which the new currency issued by the federal reserve banks and shipped over the country to meet the expected demands for funds, can be put into circulation is through loans to bank customers. The loans made by the local bank yesterday, of course, represented an unusual single day's business due to the fact that credit needs which had been accumulating during the holiday were met.

Too Much Money In anticipation of the resumption of business the bank had ordered a large amount of the new currency and a considerable quantity of change. None of it was needed and today it shipped back a surplus to the Dallas federal reserve.

The personnel of the bank, increased to handle the abnormal volume of business which descended upon the institution, worked unremittingly until 11 o'clock last night to clean up the mass. The doors of the institution had been opened at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, an hour earlier than reported in the press, so as to take care of the flood. Within the first hour deposits had exceeded $23,000. So efficiently was the great volume of business handled that by nine o'clock the bank was able to make the final mail with its shipments of checks to the clearing houses, and by this morning the personnel had disposed of the first day's work and were ready for all who came.

College Debaters Will Be Selected

The debating teams of Randolph Junior college will hold their try outs to determine which team shall represent the school in the junior college public speaking contest at Gainesville on April 14.

The first preliminaries for boys will be held on the night of March 24. Louie Swink and Charlie Lee Garrett will meet Sterling Drumwright and Francis Bruce. The winner of this debate will meet Livingston Reed and Fred Jennings in the second preliminaries to be held here on the night of March 31. The winner of this debate will then go to the district meet at Gainesville on April 14, to represent the college.

Miss Nina Smith and Miss Bessie Pearce will represent the college for the girls' debating team at Gainesville. Saturday the preliminaries in the oratorical contest were held to determine the one that should represent the college in the district meet. Final Travis McCary was chosen to represent the college. Those entering the preliminaries were Travis McCary, Mack Statham, and Bevington Reed.

LARGE GAINS ARE MADE BY COMMODITIES

NEW YORK, March 16.—A roaring stock market sensational cotton markets and an excited Chicago wheat pit today answered revived confidence of the American people.

About $80,000,000 was added to the value of America's available cotton supplies today when prices skyrocketed $2.50 to $4.50 a bale on the country's leading exchanges.

Pent-up enthusiasm broke out on the New York Cotton Exchange when trading was resumed after a suspension since March 3 and prices soared 48 to 92 points.

At New Orleans where a limit on price fluctuations had been established at 222 points upward and 178 points downward from the closing of March 1, prices drove up 81 to 93 points or more than $4 a bale.

The violence of the advance in all centers took most cotton traders by surprise.

Heavy Opening. Buying orders, accumulated overnight, brought another heavy opening on the stock exchange today with prices up substantially from the previous close.

The deluge of buying orders clogged stock exchange machinery. Twenty minutes after the opening the high speed motor tickers were six minutes behind the actual market.

An avalanche of buying orders struck the wheat pit of the Chicago Board of Trade, signaling the end of the first enforced stoppage of trade in the history of the world's primary grain market.

May wheat opened at 53 to 53 1/2 or four and one-fourth cents a bushel above the closing quotation of March 3 and almost the full five cent advance allowed under trading restrictions. Similar price increases were reflected on the Fort Worth grain market.

MUTTERING OF WAR DRUMS IN EUROPE HEARD

Copyright 1933 by United Press LONDON, Eng., March 16.—Europe again is an armed camp.

War drums are not sounding yet but in the midst of the greatest tension since 1914 many are talking war. Everybody is fearing it and nobody wants it.

As before the World war Europe is splitting into two factions—France and her allies against Germany and her allies. Britain is desperately anxious to remain neutral but fears she cannot.

The post-war peace machinery, especially the League of Nations and the Kellogg pact, is badly weakened by the unimpeded Japanese occupation of Manchuria and Jehol. Europe fears the machinery will break down completely.

As in 1914 the Balkan "powder barrel" needs only a spark to set off a dangerous explosion despite the lesson of the World war. Secret treaties and military alliances divide Europe.

Cisco Post Office Pleases Contractors

H. W. Underhill of the H. W. Underhill Construction company and W. A. Shrum, electrical contractor, are in Cisco today.

They have just come from Wichita Falls, where they are building a new post office which will be ready for occupancy April 1. They came to Cisco to look over the work on the post office here and each expressed himself as being pleased with the progress made.

SUPREME COURT SHOWS HOW.

The supreme court of the United States, says a Washington dispatch, has reached its goal. "After years of hard work it has prepared to hear cases as rapidly as counsel can present them and when it convenes Monday, March 13, only 21 cases will await hearing." Moreover, it is pointed out, in its ordinary procedure the court could hear all of these cases in one week. The late Chief Justice Will Howard Taft did not preach and toil in vain.

Pass the example of the highest tribunal of the land on to all the minor judges of the country, the lawyers and the litigants. A seat on this august bench is not a sinecure. It is no swivel-chair distinction, but a commission to a weighty responsibility and unremitting labor. The supreme court has shown the way to deal with the jam of litigation that has swamped the judiciary. It has demonstrated that the only solvent for this jam is hard work. The judge who is not willing to work should not have applied for a commission. No public official unwilling to work at the public business as he would work at his own is entitled to seek the preference of the ballots. More thorough consecration to duty among officialdom would open the way to the economy that is demanded of the government. It is not large salaries that are clogging the public ledgers with excessive costs. It is unnecessary salaries.

CHAMPIONS OF SILVER ARE BUSY.

Silver is bobbing up again. It may bob up very aggressively in the near future. Silver champions plan to place before President Roosevelt their plea that the white metal be used to get more hard money into circulation as part of the administration's permanent banking statute. Sen. Dill of the state of Washington has re-introduced his bill authorizing the government to buy in the open market $250,000,000 in silver "to remove the surplus known to be in the metal marts of the world." Sen. Dill is very clear about the purpose of his bill: "It is but the first step in an immediate proposition to restore silver; that when this is done then we will be in a position to say to England and India and the other silver countries that they must help us maintain silver and hold up its price through international agreement prohibiting dumping of the metal and debasement of silver currency."

Sen. Key Pittman of Nevada is the president pro tem of the august body known as the upper branch of congress. He is a champion of silver and will go all the road. Those who know the plans of the Lone Eagle of Idaho predict that he will speak for the white metal and its partial restoration as the running mate of gold as a stabilizing medium—intended for use in the silver using nations of the Orient and Latin-American nations.

THE LIVING-AT-HOME PLAN.

Director O. B. Martin of the A. & M. college of Texas is launching plans to enlist 40,000 farmers who have received federal crop loans and the 60,000 farmers who are clients of the Federal Farm Loan bank to cooperate in the living-at-home movement for 1933. He is responsible for the figures: "More than 16,000,000 quarts of food were canned and more than 3,000,000 pounds of fruits and vegetables dried and preserved by Texas families in the 1932 live-at-home program. Texas farmers butchered and cured 53,044 hogs in 1932 or three times as many as in 1931. They carried on the same

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—The new Congress will be full of new faces, some of them shielding heavy brain power and others falling to indicate the vacuum that lies behind them, but the old-timers will be running the show.

While the happy new arrivals are getting into their offices and waiting for the reporters to come and be told what will be done for their congressional districts now that the people have at last put their friends in office, the old Democrats—nearly all southerners—whose home folks have been sending them here year after year, will be deciding what committee jobs to give them and how to use their votes during the coming session.

For seniority is still the chief ruler in both the Senate and the House. Some of the men who will be making the wheels go around played rather important roles when the Democrats were in power during the administrations of Woodrow Wilson.

The House leadership wouldn't be changing at all if Speaker Jack Garner hadn't been prevailed upon to accept his party's vice presidential nomination last summer. The only man in a major position there who lost out in the election was Chairman William Collier of the Ways and Means Committee, who became involved in Mississippi's redistricting deal.

But Henry T. Rainey of Illinois won the speakership, moving up from the next highest step on the House ladder, the party floor leadership. That meant that various other men would each move up a peg. The way voters in the various congressional districts can get their representatives into the most powerful positions is to keep on electing them over long periods of years. Rainey's constituents first sent him to Washington in 1902, and the fact that Rainey was the one northern Democrat who had been favored to anything like such an extent resulted in his advancement.

In the Senate, which hasn't been Democratic for years until just now, the minority leadership simply becomes the majority leadership and the presiding officer, Garner, is a Democrat instead of a Republican.

RANKING minority members of committees become chairmen, since in the organization of the Senate the Democrats give themselves majorities on each committee. Some important new Democratic figures have just entered the Senate, such as William G. McAdoo of California and Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri. But no matter how brilliant and experienced they might be, men who have been here for years will get all the chairmanships.

McAdoo used to be secretary of the treasury, but he will be nothing more than the lowest man on the list of the Banking and Currency or Appropriations Committees if he happens to land on one of them. There is much chance for individualism in the Senate—witness Huey Long—but the Democratic majority will be so strong that the leaders are expected to exert more control than the Senate has experienced for some time.

How Not to Get Out of a Hole type of work with 16,620 beeves. All told 2,122,603 quarts of meat were canned on Texas farms last year.

Moreover, Director Martin says the records show that in the year of the greatest depression this country has ever known Texas farm tables "offered meat in quantity and quality not equaled even in our best years of prosperity."

It goes without saying that the depression taught many valuable lessons to people in the rural as well as the urban sections of Texas. They should keep the home fires burning. To be exact, they should supply their own tables.

HEAVY RAINS PARTLY OFFSET COLD DAMAGE

Low temperatures during the first half of February caused deterioration in range conditions over the state, says the March livestock report of the federal and state bureaus of agriculture at Austin. Following is the report in detail:

Low temperatures during the first half of February caused considerable deterioration in range conditions. However, heavy rains in all of Texas with the exception of the north half of the "High Plains" have partially offset the freeze damage. The north half of the "High Plains" still needs moisture, and local areas in the extreme south district are reported dry; all other sections have received an abundance of moisture during the past few weeks, with excess moisture being reported in most of the eastern half of the state. The south half of the "High Plains" and other areas south are reporting that green feed is getting started again, and that only warm weather is needed to supply an abundance of green feed.

Small grain pastures were killed back by low temperatures the first part of February, and are not of much value for pasturage at the present time. Some areas are reporting that new growth has started, but it is doubtful if ranchers will be able to utilize grain pastures before grass comes. Feed supplies are holding out well, and most areas still have sufficient supplies to last until spring. Prospects are very good for early spring grass, except in the "High Plains" area. The condition of ranges on March 1 at 78 per cent of normal is 3 points below the condition reported a month ago; 4 points below a year ago and 4.1 points below the 10-year average condition on March 1.

Cattle have started to mend following the shrinkage caused by the February cold-wave. Cattle were in very good flesh prior to the February freeze and withstood the low temperatures with only slight shrinkage. Since the middle of February, temperatures have not been severe, and most ranchers were able to supplement range feed with concentrates; consequently, the loss in flesh was held at a minimum. The condition of cattle on March 1 is reported as follows:

HAD NARROW ESCAPE

PITTSBURGH, March 16 —The recent death of Col. George C. Richards, war-time commander of the 112th Infantry, recalled his narrow escape from death or injury from one of the last shots of the World War. Ten seconds before firing ceased, the shell, last of an hour's barrage, landed 25 yards from his headquarters. It proved to be a dud.

Keeping Up With The Boy Scouts

Court of Honor at Goldthwaite

An excellent out-door court of honor was held recently by the Goldthwaite scouts with Professor Stringer presiding. The meeting was held around a big camp fire out in the woods. Although the weather was quite cool, everyone seemed to enjoy themselves. After the court of honor and camp fire program, chili hot dogs were served. Troop 16 is making splendid progress under the leadership of Judge James O. Marberry. Scoutmaster Marberry states that some of his older scouts are lending much aid and showing the real spirit of scouting by assisting the younger boys in developing into real scouts.

Ranger Scouts Attend Church

A report comes from the troops of Ranger that they have most completed a visitation as a group to each church in town where a special message has been delivered to the scouts.

Concord

A request comes from Concord for the organization of a troop in that community. The scout executive and C. E. Winebrinner, Chairman of the troop organization committee will meet with interested men at Concord next Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m.

Stephensville Scouts Hear

Judge Oxford
At a meeting recently held by the troop in Stephensville, a very interesting account of the early history and foundation of Stephenville and Erath county was given by Judge W. J. Oxford.

Summer Camp

Although it may seem a little early to start talking of summer camp, it is a wise scout that starts his saving account so that he will not be disappointed when the time arrives for him to attend.

New Troop

George D. Henshaw heads a new troop at the First Baptist church in Breckenridge as scoutmaster, assisted by Sterling Bunkley, John F. Bailey, L. H. Welch, W. C. Lockett, J. C. Burkett, and P. B. Glenn. A number of scouts will remember Mr. Burkett as directing the band at the summer camp last summer. Three big HOGS for this new troop.

Eagle Application

Hercie M. Conley, scoutmaster of troop No. 103 of Eastland has his sixth scout applying for Eagle rank in the person of Horace Horton. Mr. Conley has enjoyed being the scoutmaster of this troop since its organization some five years ago and says he expects to always have a scout troop.

Troop 5 Invests Candidates

A beautiful tenderfoot investiture ceremony was presented at troop 5 at the First Presbyterian church in Brownwood recently.

The scout assembly around an cut-door fire place which was located on the back of the church. Scoutmaster Rev. Wm. H. Foster gave the charge using candles and a first class badge wand. Troop Committeeman Roscoe Hallum presented the badges. The candidates were Jess Love and Frank Hall. They also report an excellent one-meal hike Saturday out on Willis Creek. Although it rained considerably, they all reported a happy time. The hike was under the supervision of Scoutmaster Rev. Wm. H. Foster.

STUDY IS MADE OF SHIPMENTS OF LIVESTOCK

AUSTIN, March 16. — Laying the fundamental basis for future analyses of profitable market outlets for Texas livestock and livestock products, which are among the most difficult problems the industry has to meet, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research has prepared a study of livestock shipments in Texas for the past eight years. Necessarily this survey has been divided into sections, both in order to facilitate the gathering of material and to make the study more applicable to the various phases of the livestock industry. The first of these sections, dealing with shipments of cattle and calves, has been published in bulletin form, copies of which may be obtained from the bureau.

For a number of years, Dr. F. A. Buechel, statistician and associate director of the University Bureau, has been engaged in tabulating livestock shipments in Texas as recorded in the United States Division of Livestock Estimates. These figures have for years been reported to the Federal division by railroad agents but due to lack of funds and other facilities, little effort has been made to place the figures in a form which would make them valuable or even usable to the livestock industry.

Tabulated Shipments
Dr. Buechel has tabulated cattle and calf shipments according to markets, to feeding states and to grazing areas; according to proportions of cattle and calves to markets, feeding states and grazing areas; according to interstate and Fort Worth shipments of cattle and calves by districts; and according to percentage of the state total shipped from each district annually. Other bulletins are in preparation giving similar data on shipments of sheep and goats, wool and mohair, hogs, and poultry and eggs.

According to Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the Bureau, the significance of this type of data and a set-up to give the figures continuity are invaluable to a wide range of business interests.

"Producers will be given a better understanding of their markets and marketing problems and thus can more effectively adjust their enterprises to meet changing demands," Dr. Cox said. "These data present the basis for the intelligent, gradual adjustment of plant equipment and location to serve shifting production on the one side and changing market outlets on the other. Such data will be extremely valuable to wholesale and retail distributors in the selection of merchandise as well as in determining the place and size of markets. These figures combined with others of a similar character and then applied to comprehensive price data are now being used by the Bureau of Business Research in working out a monthly index of buying power by these homogeneous districts.

"The interdependence of all phases of the livestock industry requires complete understanding and close cooperation between the livestock producers, market agencies, mat packers, meat distributors, and bankers in order for each branch of the industry to prosper as it deserves."

Most Difficult

"Problem relating to profitable market outlets for Texas livestock and livestock products are among the most difficult the industry has to meet," Dr. Buechel said in his introduction to the bulletin. "But before it is possible to study these marketing problems most advantageously there must be available detailed statistical information on shipments and receipts of Texas livestock.

"Only a limited amount of space has been devoted in this bulletin to a discussion of the natural forces responsible for the preeminence of Texas as a commercial livestock producing state. This study is restricted to the presentation of the statistical facts which reflect these natural forces.

"Since shift in production are constantly taking place and market outlets are always changing, it is not enough to present the facts merely for past years. On the contrary, historical data are useful primarily as a basis for interpreting current data and of forming judgments as to probable future trends. Because of this fact, the bureau has set up facilities for compiling and organizing current shipments and receipts of livestock in such form and detail as to make future data directly comparable with the tabulations and charts contained in this publication for the years extending back to 1925.

"After a slight upward tendency between 1920 and 1922, the number of cattle, including calves, declined rapidly between 1922 and 1928 from a total of more than eight million head to less than six million head. Since 1928 there has been but little change in the number of cattle. There are about 6,500,000 head at the present time.

"From 1925 to 1932 Texas consistently produced from about 10 to 11 percent of the nation's cattle. During that period there was but little change in the actual number, for either Texas or the country as a whole.

Small Proportion
"Only a small proportion of the nation's hogs are produced in Texas—2 per cent from 1925 to 1927; 3 per cent from 1928 to 1931; and 4 per cent at the beginning of 1933. Since the actual number of hogs in the country increased considerably during this eight-year period the actual number of hogs produced in Texas increased more than the percentage increase indicates. However, the number of hogs was not as large in 1933 as it was in 1920.

"The greatest increase in the different classes of livestock, whether expressed as a percentage of the total in the country or in actual numbers, occurred in the number of sheep. In 1925 Texas sheep represented only 9 per cent of the total for the country, whereas in 1933 about 15 per cent were produced in this state. Moreover, the absolute number of sheep in the country increased from about 55,000,000 to 52,000,000 during the period.

"Feeding and finishing of livestock is taking on increasing importance on Texas farms. Greater attention is also being given to the coordination of ranching and feeding activities as between the range and crop areas. Contracts are often made between ranchmen and livestock feeders according to the terms of which the former provide the feeder animals and the latter the feed and labor for preparing the animals for market. Upon the sale of the livestock, the returns are divided between rancher and feeder according to the terms of the contract. These terms may vary considerably, as between different periods of time and different localities, partly because of the relative newness of the practice and partly because of changing conditions which make readjustments necessary. As production costs of finishing livestock are lowered and more profitable market outlets for finished animals are secured, the foregoing activities may be expected to increase."

WHAT HAS HAPPENED
"Big Joe" Rierdon, political boss, sees that Tony Pasqual, an honest man who has recently become a powerful figure, is well on the way toward becoming a powerful figure. Rierdon plays up to Tony's better senses, helping the poor. Tony is impressed with the kind of support Rierdon takes a liking to Grace Chester, widowed sister of Roy Richards, who was killed in a gambling house run unobtrusively by Rierdon. Tony is in love with the girl, Dickie, Grace's son, is lured into a crap game while playing on the street, and shows phenomenal luck—although he doesn't play for money. Two of the gambling ring men see him and, after giving him a half a dollar, persuade him to accompany them. One of the other children runs to tell Grace about it.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
Grace was alarmed at the information given her by the youngsters. She went about the neighborhood inquiring, "Did you see Dickie?"
Everywhere she received a negative reply, until she met two individuals in front of a cigar store. "Are you looking for Dickie, Mrs. Chester?" one of them inquired.
"Yes, where is he?"
"The individual pointed into the cigar store. 'I saw two men take him in there.'"
Grace rushed into the store and past the counter. "Where's Dickie? Where's Dickie?" she cried. She went through a door into the back room. There she saw her son on a pool table, throwing dice against the money laying before him. She grabbed her boy up and took him in her arms. Then turned and went to the door.
"You should be ashamed of yourself, teaching a young boy like that to gamble!"

"It's all in fun," the croupier replied. "He's lucky."
"I'm going to complain to the police," Grace retorted.
"Now, look here—"
Before he could finish his sentence the woman rushed from the store, carrying her son with her. That evening, when Tony came to call, Grace asked: "Where do you think I found Dickie? In a gambling place down the block."
"It is that," Tony declared, and walked out, determined that Joe Rierdon should hear of it and stop gambling in his district.
A meeting of the club was in session when Tony arrived.
"Hello, Tony," Rierdon greeted him with extended hand and a broad smile.
"Hello, Boss. I come to tell you something. There's a gambling place a block from me."
"Ain't that a surprise!" said Rierdon.
"It was a surprise to me. Two fellows took Dickie into it."
"Tony, you're always bringing me surprises!"
Everybody laughed.
"This is no laughing matter," Tony declared, trying to hide his anger. "If children can be taken into gambling houses, they're dangerous to the morals of our district."
"Forget it," cautioned Rierdon. "I can't forget it. Boss, you like the neighborhood. You did things for it. Why don't you close the joint?"
The group laughed again. Tony commenced to understand.
"I said forget it," Rierdon laughed. "We got something else to talk about. We just nominated Klein for Alderman."
"Klein!" Tony exclaimed. "Ted Klein! Why, I just found out he runs all the gambling places. We can't run him for Alderman."
Rierdon was emphatic. "We? Who's we? I can run him for Alderman—and I said he runs."
Tony was just as emphatic in his reply. "And I say I'll not vote for him. And nobody I know will vote for him! Anybody that supports him is a gambler, a crook and an enemy of his people—a common thief!"
Rierdon grabbed Tony by the lapel ferociously. "Listen, you four-flushing loud speaker. Where do you think you get all the money you give away? Where does that jack come from that pays the fines for your peddler friends? Who put up for those shoes you gave away? I—I—Joe Rierdon, and I'm no sucker. I got to be paid back. I want protection. I want votes, and you're getting them for me. You double cross me and I'll break you like I made you!"
Rierdon threw Tony down into a chair. The Italian arose, grabbed his hat and walked over to the door, where he turned and said: "Sure you'll break me, but not until I tell them about the real Joe Rierdon, Joe Rierdon, the cashier of every gambling place in the neighborhood. Joe Rierdon, the buddy of vice and the pal of the devil. Break me, Joe Rierdon! Break me before I crush you, because I'm going out of here to shout from the rooftops. Beware of Joe Rierdon!"

Tony rushed from the room. Rierdon turned to his henchmen, "That garlic smelling peasant! I'm running this place, and I'm running this district. If that son of a ditch-digger tries anything, I'll get him and this time we won't miss."
"Boss, I got some nice fresh pineapples," suggested one of the boys.
"Great!" Rierdon exclaimed. "Make them nice and juicy and deliver some to his barber shop with the compliments of Joe Rierdon."
Tony returned to his shop and ordered a sign made which appeared on the front of it early next morning. It read, "Tony Pasqual will tell all at Lincoln Hall." A few hours later there was an explosion in the shop which set the place afire, and destroyed the Italian's business, but failed to frighten the American patriot, who stood for clean politics. Tony was more determined than ever to expose Joe Rierdon and his machine.
The boss, feeling that the way to a man is through his sweetheart, tried to impress Grace with the folly of Tony's threat. He succeeded, too, for that night when Tony called, (in fact, after the explosion, Tony had sought temporary shelter at Grace's home), she said:

DEAR MOTHER O' MINE

I have just sent you by mail a package of Crazy Water Crystals. A friend of mine told me these wonderful natural mineral water crystals had brought great comfort to his own sweet mother by helping her to rid her system of toxic and uric poisons which were causing her torturing rheumatic pains. If Crazy Water Crystals will help you, they will be worth their weight in gold to us—to you, in comfort, and to me in satisfaction that I found them for you.

My friend tells me that people everywhere are drinking Crazy Mineral Water, which you can prepare easily at home from Crazy Water Crystals. It seems to relieve them of such troubles as rheumatism, arthritis, neuritis, stomach disorders, constipation, etc. Hope it does as much for you as it did for Joe's mother.

Your loving son,
JACK.

Crazy Water Crystals is not a drug or patent medicine. It is a natural mineral water—nothing added. It will produce thorough elimination without the slightest irritation. It is not habit forming. Let us tell you about this wonderful natural product today.—Adv.

BAPTISTS HOLD 2-DAY MEET AT BRECKENRIDGE

Baptist churches of district 17 will hold their B. T. S. and Sunday school convention at the First Baptist church in Breckenridge Thursday and Friday of this week, it was announced by Rev. E. S. James, pastor of the First Baptist church here.

Burl King, district B. T. S. president, will call the meeting to order at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. The general theme of the first session will be "entirement," it has been announced.

The convention will be divided into four sessions, three on Thursday and one on Friday. The Harvard plan of entertainment will be used.

The first session will begin with a song service followed by a Sunday school address by Andrew Allen, Dallas. At 10:40 B. T. S. conferences will be held with the following in charge: Primary, Mrs. O. B. Lawrence; Albany Junior, Miss Ione King; Sweetwater, Intermediate, Mrs. T. R. Carter; Breckenridge; Seniors and Adults, Grace Conn, Dallas. There will be a general assembly for reports and appointment of committees at 11:25, after which Rev. J. D. Brannon of Rotan will address the group on home missions.

Second Session.

The second session, at 1:30 Thursday afternoon, will be under the direction of Max Lanford, district Sunday school president, and will have enlargement for its central topic. After the song service and the get acquainted program, Grace Conn will give a B. T. S. address. At 2:05 there will be a conference on the district B. T. S. revival, led by Rev. J. H. Littleton, Hamilton.

Following are the names of those presiding at the Sunday school conferences, which will be held at 3:15 Cradle Roll and Beginners, Mrs. C. C. Stewart, Abilene; Primary, Mrs. C. P. Tower, Cadde; Junior, Mrs. Joe Smyrl, Breckenridge; Intermediate, Miss Dora Yeager, Cisco; Young People, Andrew Allen; Adult, Rev. J. M. Joslin, Albany; Six point record system, Rev. H. H. Stephens, Ranger. The group will reassemble at 3:15 for music and reports, and at 3:30 Rev. C. A. Powell, Abilene, will speak on foreign missions.

Burl King will preside at the third session, at 7 o'clock Thursday night, which will have as its theme enlightenment. Dr. D. M. Wiggins of Simmons University will deliver a Sunday school address. Special music will be given by Simmons University. George J. Mason of Dallas will speak on "An Adequate Church Budget and the Cooperative Program," and J. J. Kellam will speak for Buckner Orphans' home.

Max Lanford will call the convention to order at 9 o'clock Friday morning for a session on evangelism. Rev. J. Perry King of Rule will deliver a Sunday school address and T. C. Gardner, Dallas, will speak on the B. T. S. and Andrew Allen will have charge of the general Sunday school conference, and T. C. Gardner of the B. T. S. conference. Rev. W. C. Ashford, Abilene, will deliver an address on state missions.

The Week in News

News events selected from the columns of issues of The Daily News during the past week appear on this page.

99-Year-Old Pioneer Dies Here Sunday

Mrs. Frances Sue Johnson, 99, for more than half a century a resident of this part of the state, died at 1:30 Sunday afternoon at the home of Charles Nosek, near Cisco, where she had been living for some time.

Mrs. Johnson's daughter, Mrs. Pearly Kilborn, died in 1920. She has a nephew, Bob Pressley, of Sulphur Springs.

Mrs. Johnson had been an invalid for some time before death occurred yesterday.

The funeral was held from Wippermans funeral home Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with interment in Oakwood cemetery.

Zangara to Die Week Beginning March 20

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., March 16—Gov. Dave Sholtz Monday signed the warrant for the execution of a sentence of death against Giuseppe Zangara, slayer of Mayor Anton J. Cermak, of Chicago, and set the date for some time during the week of March 20.

The day and hour of execution must be set by the state prison superintendent.

LEGION PLANS PROGRAM FOR CONVENTION

The John William Butts post of the American Legion is stepping out with its plans for entertaining the convention of the 17th district of the Department of Texas here in May. Five hundred visitors are expected to swarm into Cisco for this session which assumes relatively more importance because new officers will be named and nominees offered for state officers when the state convention meets in Wichita Falls.

At a meeting Monday evening the post named committees to handle various arrangements and chose Rex Moore and W. C. Clough to be in general charge of all preparations.

Tentative plans for the entertainment of the visitors include a barbecue either in the Legion park or at Lake Cisco. Inasmuch as the delegates will represent practically every town in the expansive 17th district the post is eager to have the barbecue at the lake for the beneficial publicity to be gained.

Convention headquarters will be at the Laguna hotel where a dance will be given on the roof garden Saturday evening.

ANNUAL PIANO TOURNEY TO BE HELD MAY 11-13

ABILENE, March 16.—Under the auspices of the National Bureau for the Advancement of Music, the first annual All-Southwestern Piano tournament, inaugurated in 1929 by Irl Allison, dean of music Simmons university, will be held this year in eleven different units on May 11, 12, and 13th.

These eleven units will be held in localities as follows: West Texas district at Abilene; North Texas at Dallas; Central Texas at Waco; East at Tyler; Southeast Texas at Beaumont; South Texas at San Antonio; Southwest Texas at El Paso; Texas Plains at Lubbock; New Mexico district at Albuquerque; Oklahoma district at Oklahoma City; and Louisiana district at Shreveport.

Piano students of all ages of grade school, high school, and college rank from Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Louisiana are eligible to enter their entire repertoires and receive a fair rating on each selection played. Rewards will be blue, white, and red ribbons, and gold and silver seal certificates signed by the supreme judge.

Contestants do not compete against each other, but against the National standard of excellence, embracing three honor ratings, superior, excellent, and good. It is therefore possible for any number of talented students to share the highest honors and be equally rewarded.

Dr. John Thompson, of Kansas City, famous teacher and composer, will be the supreme judge of the tournament. A uniform standard of judging will prevail in each unit, making a final elimination unnecessary. District and Southwestern winners will be chosen from the reports of all units. A board of competent judges to assist Dr. Thompson has been appointed.

For the first time, piano teachers will also be rewarded with gold and silver seal certificates, signed by Dr. Thompson on the collective blue ribbon rating attained by their pupils.

Bernard Richards, Abilene, is the general secretary of the tournament.

BANK OPENING FINDS PUBLIC IN FINE MOOD

The First National bank Wednesday opened to a period of feverish activity unexceeded since the boom days after having remained closed for almost two weeks in obedience to government proclamation. Within the first hour of business it had received almost $24,000 in deposits. Long lines of customers, laden with money and checks accumulated over the closed period, waited before the windows throughout the day and additional clerical help was mobilized from business offices in the city to keep the records of business done moving properly into the bookkeeping system.

By afternoon the personnel had gotten the jam of business moving along in systematic, orderly fashion, and the institution was well on its course of normal business.

There are no restrictions upon the opening of business. Deposits were accepted, previous balances were subject to unlimited withdrawal and loans were being made as before.

Alex Spears, cashier, expressed himself as mightily pleased with the events of the day.

R. L. Poe, president of the bank, was equally enthusiastic. "This has increased our confidence in the people of Cisco," he declared. "The spirit demonstrated by the public gives us a confidence in the future that won't be shaken."

SHOW ISSUES REOPENING ORDER

AUSTIN, March 16—A proclamation reopening state banks generally was issued here Wednesday by State Banking Commissioner James Shaw.

It applies to all state banks, bank and trust companies, trust companies and private banks in Texas, except as otherwise ordered by Shaw. Until further notice they may declare restrictions on withdrawals as heretofore permitted.

REOPENING OF BANKS GENERAL

(By United Press) Reopening of Texas banks assumed wholesale proportions Wednesday.

Throughout the morning a direct leased wire from the treasury department at Washington brought authorization for the resumption of business to a large proportion of the 575 federal reserve member banks in the seventh district.

At noon approximately 98 per cent of the total 1,175 national and state banks in Texas had opened their doors.

GOVERNOR ASKS HOLIDAY LAW ON JUDGMENTS

AUSTIN, March 16—Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson Monday afternoon submitted to the legislature as emergency legislation the question of a moratorium on all trial courts in Texas in rendering judgments on mortgages, deeds of trust and other liens.

In the same broad spirit of humanity which has brought about the cooperating powers of the government to aid the financial institutions of the state, I think that equal attention should be given to protect real estate and other property owners of the state from being made the victims of those who would exact a pound of flesh in the time of stress," her message said.

FERGUSON'S ROAD SUITS FOUND MOOT

AUSTIN, March 16—Former Gov. James E. Ferguson's suits seeking to enjoin the state highway commission from the expenditure of funds were dismissed by the state supreme court here Wednesday.

The cases already decided in favor of the highway commission by the lower courts, had been appealed by Ferguson. The supreme court held that his application for a temporary injunction had become moot. The court ruled itself without jurisdiction in the application for a permanent injunction.

WILDCATS INCREASE

FITTSFIELD, Mass., March 16—Thar's wildcat, too, in them thar hills. The annual report of County Treasurer Angeline S. Martin shows that wildcats are increasing in number in the Berkshire Hills. Last year bounties were paid on 25 cats killed, compared with 20 in 1931 and an average of 16. The favorite lairs of the cats are the rough and dismal crags of Mount Hunger.

FACTORY WILL BE HOME

PHILADELPHIA, March 16—A vacant factory building is being converted into a shelter for homeless boys of Philadelphia. The building will contain a gymnasium, dormitory and classrooms under the charge of an instructor.

PLANES TO WARN JAPS

EASTLAND CO. BOOTH GIVEN FOURTH PLACE

Eastland county's booth in the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show at Fort Worth took fourth place. E. H. Yarnell, Cisco vocational agriculturist who assisted in preparation of the booth, reported Tuesday on his return from the show. Randall county took first place and Ellis county second.

The car of lambs sent to the show by the F. F. A. chapter here also took fourth place in its division, he reported.

NEW PROGRAM TO BE URGED BY PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, March 16—A two-point program calling for the immediate employment of at least 200,000 men in the national forests and experimental farm relief will be submitted to congress by President Roosevelt, it was announced at the White House Wednesday.

Mr. Roosevelt was expected to send a message to the capitol today on the unemployment relief feature.

Reduction on farm acreage and production is the central point of the relief plan advocated by President Roosevelt.

The government would be empowered to lease farm lands and retire them from production. As in the allotment plan funds would be obtained by a processing tax which would be paid in the end by consumers.

The administration also would have wide powers to invoke other measures to raise farm prices.

Rome Burns Again In Gigantic Film

History's most famous conflagration was repeated recently when a man turned on a gas valve.

Before the fascinated eyes of hundreds of workmen, flames burst out among a group of buildings, great billows of smoke rolled skyward, and a multitude of men, women and children ran screaming through streets.

Rome was burning again, 2000 years after the famous blaze during which Nero fiddled.

The British Navy lost a potential admiral when Charles Laughton turned to the stage.

Such, at least, is the modest admission of Laughton himself, London and Broadway stage favorite who made a sensational movie debut with Tallulah Bankhead and Gary Cooper in "Devil and the Deep" and who appears on the screen for the second time in the role of Nero in Cecil B. DeMille's "The Sign of the Cross" which comes to the Palace theater Sunday and Monday.

Frederic March, Elissa Landi and Claudette Colbert play other major roles in the picture.

The English actor has appeared in many successes abroad, but it was not until he came to America and appeared on Broadway in "Payment Deferred" that film producers saw in him a man whose talents were admirably suited to the screen.

Laughton has made a long struggle against being classed as a "type" which automatically would limit him to one or two kinds of roles. He likes to play comedy, is genuinely modest, of a somewhat nervous disposition, and has won success in parts ranging from effete fop to madman.

"The Sign of the Cross" presents him as the Nero whose reign was nearing a fateful climax. The picture is a colorful cross-section of Roman life of the period.

pay. Some people can remember what happened when we didn't have a municipally supported chamber, and any fair-minded person will know that Cisco will not get along without one. If the present chamber is killed, as sure as you live the business men will organize another when things begin to get better, and it will have to be maintained by donations solicited from the citizens.

If it hadn't been for the chamber of commerce how much relief money do you think we would have gotten from the R. F. C. and the Red Cross? We wouldn't have gotten a dime, because what's everybody's business is nobody's business. We got it because we had a live chamber of commerce that went after it. "I'm for the chamber of commerce as is."

CIRCLE 3 MEETS WITH MRS. SHEPARD.

Circle 3 of the Baptist W. M. S. met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Floyd Shepard, 307 West Tenth street. A lesson study was conducted and a business session held. During the social hour a delightful ice cream social was served to twelve members and two visitors.

D. A. R. CHAPTED MEETS IN CALLED SESSION.

The Charles Crofford chapter D. A. R. met in a called session Tuesday morning at the home of the regent, Mrs. Philip Pettit, to discuss plans for beautifying the D. A. R. park at Lake Cisco. It was decided to plant shrubs and flowers. Donations of plants will be greatly appreciated, it was announced. Anyone having a surplus, who would like to donate them for this purpose, are asked to get in touch with any of the D. A. R. members, who will gladly call for them.

Those attending the meeting were Mesdames A. Spears, F. E. Harrell, C. R. West, J. A. Bearman, W. C. McDaniel, Homer Slicker and Lea Owen.

MRS. THOMAS HOSTESS AT CIRCLE MEETING.

Mrs. J. W. Thomas was hostess on Tuesday afternoon to Circle 4 of the W. M. S. of the First Methodist church at a meeting at her home in Humboldt. Mrs. Owen had charge of the devotional, and Mrs. J. T. Fields gave an interesting prayer subject. During the business session over which Mrs. Wm. Reagan presided, plans were discussed for a turkey dinner to be given at the church in the near future. A St. Patrick motif was attractively used in the refreshment course, consisting of lime salad, cake iced in green candy, nuts in shamrock shaped cups, and tea.

Present were Mesdames C. C. Newton, Oliver Thomas, W. R. Reagan, J. T. Fields, N. W. Noell, John Shertzer, Lee Owen, H. V. McCorkle, T. W. Hendricks, Jimmie Allen, and Miss Maud Martin.

THREE-ZIEHR NUPTIALS.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Threet, 1000 N. avenue, announce the marriage of the daughter, Miss Birdie, to Walter Ziehr. Rev. James L. Smart officiated for the marriage ceremony, which was conducted at the parsonage of the East Cisco Baptist church on March 4. Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. James R. Cagle, Miss Emma Leiske, O. B. Threet, and Bob Dunning.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Threet, well known Cisco couple, and the groom is a member of pioneer Eastland county family. He has lived in Cisco since boyhood and is an employee of the C. & N. E. railroad. The couple will make their home at 301 West Ninth street.

CITY FEDERATION HAS MEETING.

The City Federation of Women's clubs met Monday afternoon in its regular monthly session at the clubhouse, 400 West Seventh street. The business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. G. B. Kelly. The revised constitution was read and approved. A new provision requires each club to have a representative at every meeting. A fine will be assessed for failure to comply with this provision. Mrs. Wm. Reagan and Mrs. J. D. Barker gave a report on the organization of a new study club for colored women. It was reported that $50 has been paid on the clubhouse indebtedness, thus reducing the debt to $250.

Following the business session, the following program was given: Dr. J. A. Bowen, who was introduced by Mrs. J. D. Barker, read a very interesting paper on "Causes and Prevention of Cancer"; Mrs. Coe McLeRoy delighted those present with two vocal selections, and Mrs. Theresa Weddington McMerrill gave a talk on "The Art of Profession! Acting." The attendance was very good, with every club represented except one. The First Industrial Arts club had the most representatives. Among the visitors at the meeting were Mrs. O. O. Milligan, who has recently moved to Cisco, and Mrs. C. D. Hibbard of Ohio, who is visiting her brother, Rev. E. L. Miley.

CIRCLE 6 MEETS WITH MRS. MANCILL.

Circle 6 of the Baptist W. M. S. met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. J. W. Mancill, Mrs. R. Q. Lee gave the devotional from the 13th chapter of 1st Corinthians, which she stated is her favorite chapter. It was pointed out that this was the chapter read at the inaugural ceremonies in Washington recently when Franklin D. Roosevelt became the president of the United States. Mrs. Lee also led in prayer. Mrs. P. P. Shepard read the minutes, gave a report on the week of prayer, and announced that the circles activities are to be the making of visits in the interest of the mid-week prayer meetings. Mrs. Shepard taught the lesson on "Nigeria." A letter from Miss Lucille Reagan, who is a Baptist missionary in Africa, was read by Mrs. Mancill. Mrs. P. L. Ulton, president of the W. M. S., reported on a regional "launch out" program, which is to be carried out at a meeting at the church on the second Tuesday in April. Mrs. Jack Jones, Mrs. M. M. Tabor, and Mrs. R. Q. Lee were new members at the meeting. Mrs. O. G. Lawson will entertain the circle at the next meeting.

The hostess served a delightful refreshment course during the social hour to Mesdames R. Q. Lee, Leora Maner, P. L. Ulton, M. M. Tabor, Jack Jones, G. Lawson, Allen Crcwover, W. F. Walker, and P. P. Shepard.

MRS. BRADSHAW IS CIRCLE HOSTESS.

Mrs. A. J. Olson conducted the devotional at a meeting of Circle 1 of the Freshlyetern auxiliary on Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Bradshaw was hostess to the circle at her home on West Eighteenth street. A lesson study on the history of the church was led by Mrs. Bradshaw. During the afternoon members sewed on garments to be sent to the orphans home at Itasca. Misses Esther and Grace Bradshaw assisted in the serving of delicious home made ice cream and cake at the social hour.

Present were Mesdames J. A. Lash, A. J. Olson, Mose Johnson, S. E. Steward, C. Blumberg, E. P. Crawford, B. S. Huey, O. W. Shepherd, and Homer McDonald. The circle will meet again on Tuesday at 1 o'clock in the ladies parlor at the church to quilt.

ALTAR SOCIETY MEETS WITH MRS. RUPPERT.

Spring violets and pot plants were used in a profusion for decorations for entertaining rooms on Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. George Ruppert was hostess to the Altar Society at a meeting in her home on West Seventh street. Rev. M. Collins of Ranger gave the devotional. Dur-
