MOTHER OF P. W. CAMPBELL DIED TODAY

Mrs. Carrie Campbell, mother of Prosper W. Campbell of Abilene and Lucian Campbell of Paris, died at her home in Fayette, Miss., at 1:45 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Campbell, who would have been 80 years old July 24, suffered a stroke April 24, but was conscious until death came and knew her five children, six sisters and one brother—all of whom were present—to the end.

She was a native of Mississippi and a consistent member of the Presbyterian church throughout life. The funeral will be held at the Presbyterian church in Fayette, tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, with interment in that city.

A. D. REAGAN IS DEAD AT BRADY HOME

A. D. Reagan, prominent Brady citizen, died at his home in that city last night at the age of 74. He had been ill for some time and death was not unexpected.

Funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from the Christian church in Brady and the Knights Templar will probably be in charge.

Survivors include the wife, two brothers and four sisters. Brothers are William Reagan, Cisco; B. Reagan, Big Spring. Sisters, Mrs. J. E. Elkins, Cisco; Mrs. Lula Elliott, Donna; Mrs. Quill Nance, Duncanville and Mrs. Lina Nix, Washington, D. C.

Deceased was a native of Dallas county and a school teacher in early life. He was in business at Brownwood at one time, but located in Brady later and was a business and civic leader there for many years. He served as postmaster at Brady during the administration of Woodrow Wilson and was reappointed when Franklin D. Roosevelt first became president, serving until about two years ago, when he retired.

MEMORIAL SERVICE.

The Nimrod Cemetery association will sponsor a memorial service at Nimrod Baptist church next Sunday. A short memorial and mother's day program will be given and there will be an address by an able speaker at 11 o'clock. All who have friends or relatives buried in this cemetery are invited to bring their dinner and spend the day. Following the meal, an inspection tour of the cemetery will be made, then all will return to the church for the business session and enjoyment of old-time songs.

BEAUTY—"Four Star Beauty" was title awarded by the enlisted personnel at Lowry Field, Denver, Colo., to Peggy Eisenhower, 20-year-old niece of U. S. General Dwight D. Eisenhower, North African commander. She is daughter of late Roy Eisenhower, one of General's five brothers.

LET'S KEEP NURSERY SCHOOL

The advisory board of Cisco Nursery school, which has been functioning for the past two months minus federal aid, will meet at chamber of commerce at 10 o'clock Thursday morning to discuss plans for the future, said Mrs. H. J. McArdle, secretary, who is hopeful that a way may be found to continue the school.

At present the school is caring for from 45 to 50 children between the ages of two and five years, between the hours of 9 and 3 o'clock, daily.

When the kiddies arrive at school the daily program starts with a bath—then comes breakfast, story telling, lunch, nap, refreshments, a dose of cod liver oil and back to play until closing hour.

All Ciscoans will probably join the Daily Press in the opinion that this is a great work and that the nursery school should continue to function, with or without federal aid.

Officers and board members are as follows:

Mrs. W. C. Hogue, president; Mrs. Bob Carswell, treasurer; Mrs. H. J. McArdle, secretary; Mesdames Homer Ferguson, A. D. Anderson, A. E. McNeely, J. B. Pratt, J. J. Porter, Leslie Seymour, L. S. Jenkins, G. P. Mitcham, Ralph Glenn, R. L. Ponsler, Sam Kimmell, Joe Clements, E. E. Morehart, Sutton Crofts and Messrs. Charles J. Kleiner and J. E. Proctor.

OLD-AGE PENSIONS.

AUSTIN, May 5.—Back in the senate's lap today was a house bill raising the ceiling on state payments for old age pensions. If the $1,900,000 figure should be finally adopted, federal matching funds would permit a total monthly expenditure of $3,000,000 for pensions. Present state top is $1,750,000.

INFO ON THE ENEMY—Yank soldiers at advanced observation post in El Guettar Valley, Tunisia, look far ahead to see what moves the enemy is making. They report back to the battalion headquarters by field telephone and 155 mm. guns get into action.

JR. COLLEGE REPORT WAS A FINE ONE

A number of reports were heard by the chamber of commerce directors at the semi-monthly meeting last night, among which were the excellent financial report by W. J. Armstrong, president of the school board, of Cisco Junior College from the time of its inception until now, and a report from Secretary P. R. Warwick regarding the circular on control of peach and plum parasites, which has been mailed out to all farmers and many citizens of Cisco by M. D. Fox, teacher of agriculture in the high school.

Mr. Fox also reported on the 42-acre plot of ground north of the T. & P. tracks, now being prepared for use by the high school and college students in connection with their agriculture pursuits. This ground has been recently acquired by the school board and will be used as a demonstration farm for agriculture and kindred subjects. A. E. McNeely and C. E. Hickman were appointed a committee to keep in touch with the agricultural project and to report its progress and needs.

A resolution was adopted commending Cisco's school board, mentioning all members during the period involved in the Junior college report, and which especially commended the work of W. J. Armstrong, president, who took the lead in these accomplishments.

By unanimous vote the work of Co-chairmen Cyrus B. Frost and R. L. Ponsler was commended in putting over the Second War Bond drive, which placed Eastland county and all towns of the county well over the top, with the magnificent total of $1,100,000, although the county quota was but $628,168.

R. N. Cluck, president of Cisco Junior college, made a report on the passing of the Junior college aid bill which granted state aid to the junior colleges for the next two years. Various and sundry correspondence regarding the passing of this bill was read by the secretary.

STEAK FRY.

The Loyal Women's class of the First Christian Sunday school will have a steak fry at Lake Cisco Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. Mrs. L. Smart is president of the class and Mrs. Minnie Hill is teacher.

NEW OCEAN RECORD.

MONTREAL, May 5.—Less than a week after announcing a new North Atlantic flying record, the Royal Air Force Transport command came up today with another one—a landfall-to-landfall mark of six hours and 12 minutes from Newfoundland to Britain in a fully-loaded Liberator bomber.

NEGLECTED CHILDREN.

CHICAGO, May 5.—Chicago launched a new wartime campaign today—to find foster homes for 5,000 neglected, dependent children.

CHIROPRACTORS.

AUSTIN, May 5.—The bill licensing chiropractors in Texas has now been passed by both houses and is up to the governor for his signature.

ANDREWS' DEATH A BLOW

LONDON, May 5.—The deaths of Lieut. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, commander in chief of American forces in the European theater, and possibly a number of high-ranking members of his staff in an airplane crash in Iceland were regarded today as a blow to Allied preparations for an invasion of western Europe.

U. S. war department disclosed that Bishop Adna Wright Leonard, 69, resident bishop of the Methodist church for the Washington, D. C., area and chairman of the general commission on army and navy chaplains, also was killed in the crash.

The only survivor was believed to have been an unidentified private, the war department said. The names of the other persons aboard the plane were not available in Washington, the war department said. Leonard arrived in London April 17 for a tour of army posts in the European zone.

The 59-year-old Andrews was on the final leg of an inspection tour of all the bases under his command when his four-motored B-24 Liberator crashed in an isolated section of Iceland late Monday, his headquarters announced early this morning.

AVIATION RECRUITERS HERE FROM DALLAS

Lts. Charles Trigg and Roy Greenhill, naval aviation recruiting officers from Dallas, were in Cisco last night and this morning. They made talks before some 40 interested boys at high school and later spoke to the boys at Cisco Junior college, eight of whom are already in the naval reserve and wish to transfer from VI to V5.

The visitors were guests of Monroe Sweeney last night, who showed them Lake Cisco and the amusement facilities at the lake. Mr. Sweeney also arranged for the visitors to use the tennis court on the First Methodist church property.

UP TO SENATE.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Undismayed by two defeats in the house, and unsatisfied by the house-approved measure to wipe out 75 per cent of 1942 individual income tax liabilities, Ruml plan advocates today carried their battle to the senate—which they predicted would pass the full tax year abatement bill.

JOY RIDERS HIT.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The OPA today invoked a nationwide pleasure-driving ban against 10,000,000 motorists holding "B" and "C" gasoline ration books.

HOSPITAL SHORTAGE.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The War Production Board estimated today that hospital facilities for civilians in the nation's war areas are inadequate by more than 14,000 beds.

SPACING BILL OUT.

AUSTIN, May 5.—The senate has refused to consider Senator Chadwick's bill validating well spacing orders under Rule 37 of the railroad commission dated before May 6, 1942.

BRITISH ARMOUR - PIERCING GUNS WRECK 17 COUNTER-ATTACKING GERMAN TANKS

NORTH AFRICA, May 5.—American infantry and tanks have hammered to within easy 10-mile artillery range of the great naval base of Bizerte after United States and British forces smashed two desperate Axis counter-attacks at key points on the Tunisian front.

Advances on all important sectors of the last enemy-held mountain barriers west of Tunis were reported, with the French gaining two miles in the area southeast of Pont Du Fahs and the British First Army only about 20 miles from the Tunisian capital after knocking out 12 more Nazi tanks and probably destroying two others.

The heaviest fighting on Tuesday centered in the Djebel Bou Aoukaz sector, 11 miles northeast of Medjez-El-Bab, where British armor-piercing guns wrecked most of 17 counter-attacking Nazi tanks, including giant Mark VI vehicles.

But the swiftest gains again were on the northernmost sector near Bizerte, where the U. S. 2nd Corps and French forces were fanning out from captured Mateur in drives northward toward the naval base and southeastward toward Tebourba and Tunis.

A five-mile advance was scored by the Americans on the road to Ferryville, which lies between Lake Achkel and Lake Bizerte and forms part of the naval base installations.

North of Lake Achkel, American and French forces pushed advance elements to within 10 miles of Bizerte, while east of Mateur the Americans repulsed weak but desperate enemy counter attacks in the hills beyond the River Tine.

On the road southeast of Mateur—where the American thrust threatens to flank the main Axis hill defenses west of Tunis—the 2nd Corps unit advanced five miles toward an important pass.

The Americans were not yet meeting intense opposition in their efforts to close in on Bizerte, although it was regarded as certain that a hard battle for the naval base was in prospect. One U. S. column, aided by French Goumiers, swung around the west shores of Lake Achkel, through heavy scrub, to Djebel Chemti, on the north side of the lake, where they took up positions about noon Tuesday.

It was at this point that the Germans made a moderately strong counter-attack, which was repulsed. The Americans continued to advance up a nearby hill, which dominates the crossroads northwest of Ferryville.

As a result, enemy positions at Ferryville were threatened from both the south and the northwest.

JAP LOSSES.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Six more Japanese ships, including two destroyers, have been sent to the bottom of the Pacific by United States submarines, raising to 222 the number of Nipponese vessels sunk or damaged by American undersea craft.

TERRIFIC AIR BATTLES.

MOSCOW, May 5.—Ground fighting northeast of Novorossisk mounted today keeping pace with the terrific air battles in the Kuban Valley in which the German air force is reported to have lost more than 125 planes in the last two days.

COERCION.

There are two basic facts about such labor strikes as have lately interrupted domestic peace and threatened the safety of this nation.

The first is the domestic danger that comes from forcing up wages arbitrarily, instead of holding them even by sound economic policy. Such procedure starts a movement in which prices and wages may spiral up together, each trying to keep on top, until the contagion spreads, money standards are wrecked and millions of people are ruined.

The second danger is closely allied with the first. It is the placing of great power in the hands of men, whether of capital or labor, who acknowledge no public responsibility and no allegiance to the government, but plunge ahead recklessly with their own policies.

These are times when government, labor and private enterprise all have to stand together, lest they all fall together.

It can be said that, in these recent domestic struggles, government and capital have been acting rather fairly on the whole. The economic boat-rocking has been done by labor representatives. Not by all, or even by a majority, but by haughty minority groups, who would recklessly pull down the economic structure over their own heads if they had their own way.

Undoubtedly there are wage inequities to be remedied, but it should be accomplished by legitimate procedure, not by arbitrary compulsion.

WORKERS.

A woman complained to the Tacoma News-Tribune about her experience with renting rooms to war workers. She rented a room with kitchenette but no separate bath to a young couple who worked in a defense plant. In a few days they brought the boy's "parents" for a "visit." Then came three others. Sometimes there would be five people, two women and three men, sleeping in the room, which had one double bed and a narrow davenport. The other roomers objected. When she protested to the original couple they said: "You can't do anything to us. We work in a war industry. If you complain too much, perhaps your things won't look so good when we leave." She finally got them out by withholding clean linen. In revenge they let the water run till it soaked the plaster below and it came off.

This may be an extreme case. But there is no question that abuses occur when housing is short. Authorities, trying to protect tenants against unjust gouging by landlords, left landlords unprotected from gouging tenants. Difficulties caused by free enterprise are many. Difficulties caused by efforts at too strict controls often prove as great. In this case the basic difficulty is shortage of housing. Unless the building trades, after the war, will permit the building of homes at prices which factory workers can afford to pay, there will be no end to housing troubles of one sort and another.

HUNGER.

What do shipwrecked people talk about when they float for weeks on life rafts, as so many are condemned to do in these evil times? It may easily be imagined that their discussions are not very poetical or intellectual. At first they may center keenly on thoughts of rescue. But this phase doesn't last long. Hunger drives them to its antithesis, and they talk endlessly about food. They discuss what they have eaten in happier times, and what they would like to eat in their present plight. They canvass all the possibilities of getting something to eat. Nature, in its timeless effort to maintain life, concentrates thought and feeling in that one quest, the common pursuit of all living things.

And it isn't only at sea that this phenomenon is seen. As the war devours human resources, nations and races more and more concentrate on this common quest for food. Already perhaps three-fourths of mankind, if not poignantly hungry, are suffering from continuous lack of proper nourishment and the ailments that it breeds. It will be so until the universal war ends, and longer. And the marks of this want will be left upon the bodies and souls of mankind for a generation. Happy in this situation is America, which in its plenty is able to divide so much with hungry friends.

IMPERIALISM.

There is some interest, but not much excitement, regarding the expansionist policies now preached by Henry Luce's magazines and Col. Robert R. McCormick's Chicago Tribune. The former advocate more general control of the world by the United States, and the latter seems to want actual ownership of a large part of it. It has suggested starting that process by absorbing the British Empire.

This is still a free country, where everybody can have his say within reasonable limits. But it is odd to see such expansionist policies breaking out again. At the end of the last war Americans were glad to come home and settle down to the enjoyment and development of the territory they had, without seeking any more. And it has been generally supposed that this attitude still prevailed. There is little or no expansionist talk at Washington, and the American troops sent abroad show no indication of wanting to settle down and live there.

What this nation is engaged in now is a police job, not a real estate venture nor even a missionary enterprise. There seems to be a tacit feeling that Uncle Sam will continue a reasonable amount of foreign policing in the reconstruction period that must come. But aside from that, the boys want to "come home to Becky" and ask nothing abroad but peace and trade.

LIONS ENJOY MUSICAL PROGRAM TODAY

A musical program and reports from the delegates attending the Lions district conference at

Wichita Falls, May 2-3, were features of the program brought to the Lions noonday luncheon today. Lion F. B. Clappitt had charge of the musical feature. Rev. Judson Prince, former pastor of the First Baptist church here, and now pastor of Riverside church, Fort Worth, was a guest of the club today, in order to make up attendance lost while holding revival services at Albany. Personnel of the musical numbers which were encored were Betty Jean Gallagher, Francis Hanrahan and Yancey McCrear, Jr. This group were recent guests of the club and their program was enjoyed to the extent that a repeat program was asked. Those reporting on the convention at Wichita Falls were C. M. Nevill, Harry Schmidt, O. L. Stamey and M. D. Fox. President Huston announced that the district governor's report showed that despite the great defense drain on the membership of Lions clubs over the district, membership had increased 20 percent during the year, and Huston displayed a victory membership certificate given the Cisco club because of its increase in membership from 37 at the beginning of the year to 41 members at present. The club ordered the certificate framed.

On motion, Mrs. Charles Sandler was asked to write mothers of all Lion members on May 9, the customary remembrance from the club. The club expressed its appreciation of the former work of Mrs. Sandler in this service and insisted that she continue in this capacity for this year.

EXCELLENT POSTURE FOR WAACS IS CHALLENGE TO ALL WOMEN

"Fitness For Victory" also important to women in home, defense and war plant jobs

Fresh from Civilian Life—This WAAC recruit, before receiving military training at First WAAC Training Center, Fort Des Moines, Iowa, is careless of graceful posture as she slouches over an Army Captain's desk to deliver the papers she has brought from her home Recruiting Station.

Chin up, girls. You're running into a new type of competition these days. With thousands of your sisters in the trim uniforms of the WAAC, the Navy and the Marine Corps, you'd better take stock of your own appearance if you don't want to be lost in the crowd.

For there's that something about a uniform that does things for the wearer. In the first place, you're wearing it because you're proud of it. You are expected to live up to it and every detail of your appearance suggests the mental and physical alertness that the military forces demand.

Starting with the first day of training, perfect posture becomes the rule. If you could see the new recruits as they report for duty, then again after a short period of training, you would appreciate what good posture alone can do. But remember that the army demands good posture for reasons other than a smart military appearance alone. Women, as well as men, in uniform must go through routine physical fitness programs daily. They must learn flexibility, strength and coordination. Only in good posture can their bodies function with maximum efficiency—abdomen pulled in and up, shoulders back, head up and hips tucked under. The body is then in perfect balance with all parts aligned.

And if good posture is important to women in uniform, it should be doubly so to you equally busy workers on the home front. You haven't a drill sergeant hammering good posture into you daily; it's a job you must do yourself. National Posture Week—May 3rd to 8th—sponsored by S. H. Camp Institute for Better Posture, urges you to start your own physical fitness program at home. Check every detail of your posture when standing, sitting and walking, then start correcting any bad habits acquired. Pull yourself into good posture a dozen, two dozen times a day. Stand tall, sit tall, think tall. Remember, "Fitness For Victory" is the slogan for all of us today. Good Posture Week and what it can mean to you in the conservation of energy and increased efficiency, should be observed every week in the year.

This locomotive, operated on the Duluth, Missabe and Iron Range Railway which serves the iron ore district of northern Minnesota, has a pulling power of 140,000 pounds and with its tender weighs more than 1,000,000 pounds. America is very familiar with the General Sherman or M4 tank which is turning in such a fine performance. ### Making Them Last

TO KEEP THEM BEAUTIFUL . . . Floors, walls, furniture, appliances and all household articles, many of which cannot be replaced for the War period, must be shined up to save them from deterioration. Margaret Johnson, New York housewife, demonstrates the convenience of glassed floor wax, as she pours it from its handy bottle before spreading it evenly about with an application. She waxes frequently in places that receive hardest wear to prevent floors from being marred by clogging heels and heavy furniture. It's first-class Conservation work.

As long as civilization stands and womanhood is honored in the minds of men, mothers will be placed on that high pedestal as typifying all that is grand in mortal beings.

Continual service seems to be her mission in this life, and serve she must, as long as she has the strength of body to continue her mission.

Most mothers — yes, the millions of mothers of America will be thinking of the son or husband absent in army camps or in foreign fields of service, and she cannot be completely happy unless she has done some deed to let them know that she still loves them — still thinks of them and prays for their return to her in safety after they have discharged their duty to their country.

What can be better for her than to know that they are getting their HOME PAPER TO READ AND RE-READ the local news of their home community.

Cisco mothers will want to send them the Cisco Daily Press so that they will be tied onto their home by the ties of local home interests, knowing that loved ones at home are safe and doing their part for victory.

That soldier will read with joy the Cisco Daily Press each time of arrival. He and his buddies will read every bit of news, recalling each familiar face as they see some personal mention of their names.

So if you have not arranged for that soldier to get his home paper regularly do so at once. In this way mother will feel she has done something to bring joy and remembrance to that son or husband.
