SENATE FARM BILL REVOLT BREAKS Interscholastic League Meet Opens Today At Olden

TRACK FINALS WILL BE HELD ON SATURDAY

The Eastland county interscholastic league meet is being held in Olden today and tomorrow, except for some of the special events which have already been decided.

The Cisco schools were dismissed at noon today in order that pupils might go to Olden for the preliminaries in the track and field preliminaries and the finals in some of the literary events, according to Supt. R. N. Cluck.

A checkup shows that Cisco has already won 55 points toward the all-around championship and has clinched at least a second place in the girls' debate with a strong chance for first. Cisco has won first in boys doubles in the tennis meet, a first and a second in playground ball, first in junior track, and second in volley ball.

Tomorrow's program includes preliminaries in the senior track and field events, picture memory, declamations, 3-R contests, extemporaneous speaking, essay contest, and finals in the debates at 7:30.

Good Prospects. Tomorrow the spelling contests will be held at 9:30, arithmetic at 10, story telling at 10:30, and the finals in track and field at 10 o'clock.

Coach Elkins has indicated that he has some good prospects for points in the Cisco track team, it was said this morning.

Winners in the literary events will go to the district meet later in the spring. All who place among the first four in the track and field events will qualify for the district track meet held at the same time. From the district contests will be chosen those qualifying for the state meet held at Austin.

Only in the senior division, however, is there a district athletic meet, the county contest being the final one for junior tracksters. Bayard McMahon and L. A. Harrison will represent Eastland county in the boys' tennis doubles, the net titles having been decided here Tuesday.

Gifts Transform Randolph Campus

Hundreds of trees and shrubs, gifts of nurseries and private citizens, are being transplanted upon Randolph hill. Within a short while what has been a bare knoll, topped by lonely college buildings, will become a veritable garden of ordered greenery if the planting of these gifts is successful.

One hundred and fifty small cedars, dug up by students and members of the faculty, are being re-set on the rocky slope which descends toward town, to break the drear monotony of this descent.

One hundred pecan and walnut trees, gifts of various nurseries, have been set out and others are to be planted. The Burkett nurseries at Clyde contributed 20 fine Burkett trees as well as 50 arbor vitae plants. Philpott nursery, here, contributed six Japanese cyprus trees. An Austin nurseryman sent 30 blooming shrubs.

There are other contributions Dean E. B. Esacks said.

SUBSTITUTE OFFERED IN COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, March 24 — The expected senate revolt against the Roosevelt farm relief bill broke out in the agriculture committee today. A substitute for the administration bill would allow the secretary of agriculture to lease land from producers in order to reduce crops.

The substitute program would apply a processing tax on wheat, cotton, corn, hogs, cattle, sheep, rice, tobacco and dairy products.

The committee remained in executive session this afternoon and as far as could be determined no immediate action was taken on the new plan.

CLAYTON WARNS AGAINST BILLS

GALVESTON, March 23 — The Texas Cotton association convention today heard Will L. Clayton, generally recognized as the "king" of the world cotton trade, utter a warning against President Roosevelt's farm relief bill.

"The enormous significance of this act," he said, "lies in the fact that it would launch us on a vast and complicated scheme for the nationalization of agriculture."

"The executive is to be given broad general powers over practically every phase of agriculture production, distribution and processing. This industry employing many millions of people would henceforth take its orders from Washington."

With ten million unemployed in the United States, Clayton said, and with millions of city dwellers unable to buy sufficient food and clothing at present prices, the government proposes to tax these people to compensate other people for abstaining from work.

HOME BEAUTIFICATION.

The Cisco Garden club has undertaken a worthy cause. The club would make Cisco a city beautiful. It would make every home a place as attractive as opportunities permit. The inspiration for the campaign might be said to be the contest that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring, but that is not the real reason for the interest which these women are showing. The real reason is their innate love of the beautiful, their desire to improve their surroundings in accordance with the principles of the fine and the aesthetic. It is hoped that their example will be heeded, their leadership followed. Every touch of attractiveness that is added to Cisco will make for better living conditions. The thought might be argued from the standpoint of what advertising it will bring, but the greater ideal is contained in what attractive homes will mean to Cisco people themselves. Nature has provided this city with wonderful opportunities for its physical adornment. These can be realized only through an active concern for our homes, a concern that translates itself into the effort necessary to cultivate beautiful surroundings.

Under the auspices of the club an expert upon the subject of landscape gardening will appear here tomorrow afternoon for a lecture at the city hall. There will be much of value in what he has to say for every person, no matter how humble the premises upon which he or she lives.

"Only God can make a tree," sang the poet, but thanks be to Him, he left it within the power of his greatest creation to plant the tree.

THE JUDICIARY BILL.

The state legislature accomplished its first major piece of economy work yesterday when it passed the judiciary appropriations bill reducing the allowance for operating the state's court system 31 per cent for the ensuing biennium. This means reductions in the salaries of the judges all along the line as well as economies in court costs generally. The cut was higher than the figure originally fixed by the house and lower than the figure approved by the senate. The bill was a compromise between these two extremes.

It will be difficult, of course, for those whose salaries are affected to accept these reductions, but the reductions are in line with the times and with the democratic platform which pledged a cut of 25 per cent in the state's expenses. It is unfortunate that the legislature did not deal with their own salaries as they dealt with the judiciary expenses, since such an evidence of fair dealing would have made their zeal in the tax-payers' behalf the more logical, and left no room for criticism. However, nothing is perfect in this old world, not even legislatures, and the foibles of human nature and legislators cannot be weighed against the fact that the bill is a step in the right direction, a step that should be consistently followed through other departments of the state government.

A LAW AGAINST WAR!

Sen. Frazier, of North Dakota, a republican, would pass a law against war. He has introduced in the senate a resolution for a proposed constitutional amendment which would declare war illegal.

Sen. Frazier like many of his contemporaries believes in the error of law. He takes the position that all the country has to do to get rid of an undesirable thing is to pass a law against it. In the fundamental analysis a law never did accomplish reform. It is simply the concrete expression of a will against, but the will must exist as a positive factor in the warp and woof of the citizenship. Otherwise the statute,

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—The most astonishing tip-off on the "Washington mind" if such a term may be used, has been supplied by the current deluge of rumors involving the Hoover administration and, to a lesser extent, the death of Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana.

There would be no object in bringing this up if the yarns were not one of the most astonishing things that has ever appeared in the national capital. A check indicates the impossibility of locating anyone here who hasn't heard one or more scandalous tales of a type calculated to excite the whole world. Not many intelligent persons place credence in the stories, but the most common topic of entertainment here has been the repetition of the event, most absurd versions and excited speculation as to how all these tales ever got started.

ONE of them was the wild tale that Andrew Mellon, who has been ambassador to England, had moved $5,000,000 in gold across the sea and wasn't ever coming home. Senator David Reed of Pennsylvania, Mellon's friend, dragged that one out in the Senate for the purpose of ridiculing it and assured the country that Mellon was about to take off for America on the high seas.

Another of the most persistent absurdities is that $90,000,000 in gold is missing from the treasury and that all members of the Hoover administration are being watched pending an investigation. Apparently that sort of thing has spread rapidly over the country and if this brief note helps convince anyone that such rumors are cockeyed and crazy, so much the better.

CONGRESSMAN O'CONNOR of New York, one of the most active beer proponents, was explaining that wine wasn't included in the House beer bill because, as he understood it, 3.2 per cent wine was "not very interesting."

"It may be," spoke up Congresswoman Florence Kahn of grape-growing California hopefully, "we might be able to find a percentage that would make it interesting but not intoxicating."

SECRETARY OF LABOR FRANCES PERKINS sits at her desk facing two huge oil paintings of James John Davis and William Nuckles Doak, the two Republican secretaries who preceded her, which just about cover the entire opposite wall. Betting is brisk in the Labor Department as to just how long she can stand it.

The feud between Madame Secretary and the American Federation of Labor, which began when President Green of the A. F. of L. denounced her appointment, will bear watching. The department and its bureaus are full of ex-labor leaders, backed by the federation, and current gossip is that many of those boys are likely to get the ax.

Various units in the labor movement already have protested Green's assertion that the department must be the A. F. of L.'s own garden. Miss Perkins, meanwhile, has been pleasant about it. "If he won't come here to see me when there are things for us to talk about," she said, "then I'll have to go to see him."

MOM'N POP.

constitutional provision or whatever legal form the pronouncement takes, is merely so much surplus wording in the code of the land. The Versailles treaty, the League of Nations pact, and the Kellogg treaty, a collection of the most ambitious international resolutions against the shedding of human blood that ever existed, are fluttering in the war currents now drifting across the armed camp of Europe. Nobody wants war, but talk that conflict is inevitable is already filling the newspapers, coloring the reports of frantic conferences of statesmen who are trying to curb the drift in that direction. The war spirit is an intangible something that crystallizes out of an absurd nationalism. That nationalism must be directed from its inception in the masses before it can be steered from channels of jingoism and chauvinistic thought. A law isn't going to accomplish it.

Lubbock Meat Show Unique in 2 Points

LUBBOCK, March 24 — Unique in two respects, that it is the largest exhibit of home-cured and canned meats in the United States and that it is the largest calf show in Texas, the Lubbock Quality Meat show opened here today.

The entry list of between 225 and 250 calves and 150 pigs are the product of 4-H club and Vocational Agriculture class boys in West Texas. Prize money exceeding $250 will be to the calf division winners and to exhibitors in the pig division will go $180 in prize money.

Following the judging of exhibits an auction sale will be held, Earl Garten, stock show auctioneer, will handle the sales.

Farm women from all parts of West Texas have sent 400 cans of home-cured meats which are on exhibit. In the beef classes there were roasts, steaks and chill and in the pork classes roasts, sausages, mince-meat, scrapple and liverpaste. Canned chicken and other farm meats were exhibited. Prize money totaling more than $50 will be divided among the winners.

Menfolk, not to be outdone by their womenfolk, have entered home grown, killed and cured hams and bacon. To them also will go cash prize money.

Each of the 12 counties entered in the show has a two-girl team which will compete in the 4-H canning demonstration contest.

H. L. Dyer can dig post holes. He learned the gentle art on the black, waxy soil of south central Texas. Now he is devoting it to tennis. It is a question in my mind whether the fruits are worth the labor, but Dyer and certain of his compatriots in healthful living are devoting living enough energy to the project to wave aside all doubt.

J. B. Pratt cannot dig post holes. Pratt's experience in that line is vicarious and concerned with oil wells. Not that he ever dug any. His association with the oil well digging industry is similar to his association with the holes over which Dyer grunts. He is profuse with advice but short on elbow grease. Dyer accepts the advice to the same extent that the oil well digger accepts it.

W. P. Thompson is the "jack-of-all-duties" in this triumvirate of tennis bees. It is his lawn that is being remodelled and he takes a hand in everything to see that the remodelling is carried out according to Hoyle and W. P. Thompson.

Glancing northward from my own residence last night I saw a battery of automobile lights turned on the site as the energetic group stretched the day far beyond its natural boundaries in their zeal for tennis.

Roy Huffmeyer is another member of the club. It is his job to smooth out the seven loads of chat which has been dumped upon the court, eliminating the rocks that might cause stone bruises.

This zeal for outdoor exercise does my heart good. I see where I shall have some fruitful recreation just as soon as the boys complete the court.

That is if I can borrow a racket.

An Industrial Necessity

A dependable and adequate source of electrical energy is not only a vital convenience to your home and business life — but a definite advantage from an industrial standpoint.

Major industries contemplating changes in location (as many now are doing) are looking toward the progressive small city as the ideal factory site.—And those cities which are assured an adequate and constant source of electric power — distributed over an interconnected transmission line system from strategically-located main generating stations—will be the choice of industrial engineers.

The West Texas Utilities Company is aiding industrial growth, through the rendering of this dependable and inexpensive power supply, in 161 progressive West Texas cities, towns and communities.

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule . . . and adds only a small amount to your total bill?

YOUNGSTERS TO GIVE PUNCH TO INDIANS NINE

By GEORGE B. ROSCOE
United Press Staff Correspondent
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., March 24.—A group of hustling youngsters who made a good account of themselves last year in the Western league will represent the Oklahoma City Indians in their debut in the Texas league this year.

Re-inforced in a few vital positions, the Oklahoma City team began spring practice here March 15. Rudy Jones, southpaw hurler, was the only member not present at the start. Jones had refused to sign a contract at the salary offered.

Even at his early stage, Manager Fred Luderus could almost name his line up for the opening game of the pennant race here April 11. His team battled its way to the second half flag in last summer's Western league race.

The only important loss from the 1932 Indians is Ray Schaw, sensational second baseman, who was sold to the New York Yankees.

Three important additions have been made to offset Schalk's absence. Second baseman Tom Holley was bought from Beaumont to fill Schalk's shoes. Red Harvel, hard-hitting outfielder, was purchased from Wichita and Pitcher Vernon Kennedy from St. Joseph.

Allowing for the optimistic possibility that one or more of the promising group of rookies may crowd into the picture the team which takes the field against Dallas in the initial game probably will look something like this: Tesmer; Kennedy; Benton or Matuzak; Choler; Thiel; Holley 2b; McIsaac; ss; Thiel; 3b; Sloan; cf; Harvel 1f; Johnson 3f.

The outfield packs a real punch. Johnson batted .373 last year and Harvel .343. Sloan is a speedy 18-year-old Oklahoma City youngster, who made a sensational debut in professional baseball last year. His batting average was not very hefty but he appears to be a natural hitter and both Owner Jack Holland and Luderus think he is a real find. He has a natural swing, is a fleet fielder and has a good arm.

Summers, another holdover from last year, and several rookies will try to break into the outfield trio.

It appears certain the infield of Cholcher, Holley, McIsaac and Thiel is set to go. Cholcher was the most improved ball player on the team last year and developed into a good fielder and a dangerous hitter. Hansen, who played short-stop until McIsaac was bought late in the season, will try to take the second or third base job from Holley or Thiel.

There is little likelihood of his displacing McIsaac, who was one of the best shortstops in the Western league for several years.

The catching staff does not appear particularly strong although Tesmer is a heady and experienced receiver. His aid will be Chadwick and the latter may take over the No. 1 job because of his heftier hitting ability. Chadwick was handicapped by injuries last year.

Holland is particularly proud of his pitching staff. All hurlers are youngsters and several of them flashed last season. Benton, Matuzak, Kennedy, Rudy Jones, Taylor and Boyles seem almost certain of regular births. There are a dozen or more others on the roster about whom little is known but one or two may come through to oust one of the regulars.

The entire team practically is made up of players who got their first taste of Class A baseball last season. They developed rapidly, as they should expect their team to be a pennant-winning record show.

Holland expects his team to be a pennant contender. He has assured fans that if a weakness shows up in any part of his young machine, necessary replacements will be made.

"Keeping the Trail" Is Gospel for Present World Says Rotary Speaker

The following are excerpts from an address, "Keeping the Trail, or Just Horse Sense", delivered before the Cisco Rotary club a week ago by Dr. C. Q. Smith, presiding elder of the Cisco district of the Methodist church. At the conclusion of his address the club voted unanimously that a synopsis of the address be given the Daily News for publication:

I grew up out at the foot of the plains, "where the prairie dog kneels upon the back of his heels and fervently prays for rains". We rode on horse back twelve miles down to the community for the mail and to attend church. Father had plenty of saddle horses, but he would never permit us boys to go to the community unless one of us would ride a certain ugly, sway-back bay horse we called Old Stout, because father knew that Old Stout would keep the trail the darkest night.

I have ridden Old Stout home when it was as dark as a blind negro on a stormy night in a cellar with an unlighted lantern looking for a black cat. The storm might be blinding, and Old Stout might be a bit off the trail when the lightning would flash, but with that flash of light he would make for the trail. He might cross the trail in the blinding darkness that followed the flash of lightning, but with the next flash of light he would again make for the trail. That is GOOD HORSE SENSE. By the light he had Old Stout KEPT TO THE TRAIL.

If there was ever a time in the history of the human race when men needed to stay in the middle of the road with faces forward it is now. No man can drive his car safely, run a good race or plow a straight row while looking over his shoulders.

I will never forget my climb out of the Grand Canyon of Arizona. We were slowly making our way up Bright Angel Trail, a narrow, one way path, winding around the rim of great cliffs and over breathing-taking chasms, when suddenly we met a winding rattle snake who challenged our right to the trail. After some careful reconnoitering followed by a volley of rocks, we succeeded in sending the dangerous reptile over the cliff for a fall of more than a thousand feet. From there on out of the canyon that night every crack of twig or rattle of leaf was to us another rattle snake.

Often in the path of life dangers fierce and terrible lift their heads and challenge our right to the trail, and we succeed in overcoming them, but the greatest difficulty is to keep from the fears aroused by the cracks of twigs or rustle of leaves as we trail from Manitou Colorado to the top of Pikes Peak. Some two hundred of us left the little city about sun rise and climbed along that narrow path until we reached the top of the first foot hills. Looking back we could see only a narrow strip of the country below. We continued to climb over huge boulders, up steep cliffs, and around rushing waters until we reached the Half Way House, which is surrounded with giant trees, which even at noon almost exclude the sun's rays. Here was added to our vision richly colored walls of granite, rent and broken with the never ending battle with the elements. Our company had begun to decrease, but we continued to keep the trail until we had gone thru the clouds and above timber line and out into the glorious sun-lit peaks.

As I stood there "where all nature wrappeth in stillness sings her lullaby" and looked upon that indescribable, unending panorama of nature's most stupendous effort, I said the climb was worth while. But our company had decreased to less than a dozen.

"When the load is heavy And the pull is all up hill And we have to fight to conquer, If we get the finest thrill,"

How true of life, most of us quit the trail, "When the load is heavy And the pull is all up hill And we have to fight to conquer, If we get the finest thrill,"

As man rises superior to his limitations and turns them into elements of strength and power he grows strong for the next difficulty.

"When the day looks gloomy, And the chances slim, And the situation puzzling, And the prospects grim, And perplexities keep on pressing, 'Till hope is nearly gone, Just bristle up and grit your teeth, And keep on keeping on"—Announ.

"When you are up against a trouble, Meet it squarely, face to face, Lift your chin and set your shoulders, Plant your feet and take a brace, When it is vain to try to dodge it, Do the best that you can do; You may fail, but you may conquer, See it through."—Guest.

"JANET HILL breaks her engagement with ROSE CARLYLE after learning he has been going out with BETTY KIDDALE, a society girl. Janet is secretary to BRUCE HAMILTON, advertising manager of the city. Magazine, and Rolf is employed in an advertising office.

She does not see Grant again for some time. Then on a stormy March evening she walks down a street that is unfamiliar and almost loses her way. Coming back she sees a child crying in a doorway. She goes to the door and GRANT, young engineer who has recently moved to the rooming house where she lives, takes her home.

She is a dark street when a man catches Janet's arm and demands her purse. Rosie screams and suddenly Jeff Grant appears. The holdup man runs and Grant takes Janet and Rosie to the little girl's home in his car. They talk to PAT SILVANI, Rosie's father, who has been out of work for nearly two years. The family is almost destitute.

On the way home Janet and Jeffrey decide to "adopt" the Silvani's. They drive to the home near the river, where the family has found temporary work for Pat and gives Mrs. Silvani money to take her son and Janet to the city. Coming home he says to Janet, "I should have asked you sooner, of course."

He talked about other things until they reached the rooming house. He left Janet there, smiling as he called good-by, and drove away. Janet went in the house and up the stairs to her own room. There was no other engagement, of course. Nothing but dinner to be cooked over the two-burner gas stove and eaten alone. Nothing but the book from the library that so far hadn't interested her.

She tossed aside her hat and coat and sank into a chair. Well, it was better to be alone than to go out and pretend to be having a good time. She had tried that. The disastrous evening with Mollie Lambert and her friends!

Memories of other Saturday evenings came back to torment her—dinners here in this very room with Rolf across the table, dancing with Rolf at the Chinese restaurant, bus rides, walks in the moonlight, the time they went to Riverside Park and rode on the roller-coaster—

Presently Janet arose and began to prepare the meal. After she had eaten she washed the dishes, read two chapters in the library book and went to bed.

Whatever her worries may have been about Jeffrey Grant repeating his invitation, they proved groundless. She saw him several times the following week but always it was to consider the problems of the Silvani family. Jeffrey did not ask her again to have dinner with him. It was Janet herself who brought about their first social engagement and it happened in this way:

"Swimming" of the Head

From Constipation
"I used to suffer from spells of swimming in the head," writes Mrs. Carrie Brown, of Meridian, Miss. "Everything would go round and round. When I stood upon my feet, I would be almost blind with dizziness. My stomach was upset. These spells, I suffered, came from constipation. I believed torture from the effects. "My mother had taken Thedford's Black-Draught for a long time, and she suggested to me that I try it. While I was feeling so bad, I took half a teaspoonful, put it in some water and took it. I found it was just the thing to relieve the suffering from constipation. Now I always keep it in my house. I take it whenever I need a laxative.

"I have used Black-Draught in my home now for twelve years, and feel it is a great help in keeping my family in a healthy condition."

her over the wire Janet said, "Mr. Grant? Oh, I'm so excited! I think I've found a job for Pat Silvani. Yes—a steady one! I want to tell you all about it. Do you suppose I could meet you somewhere at noon?"

Grant said, "Why yes, of course. How about the Tavern Coffee Shop? Could you be there at 12:15?"

She could. She was waiting just inside the door of the restaurant when he swung into view. They found a table for two at the side of the room and Janet began to pour out her story breathlessly. She was so excited she could scarcely take time to order lunch. Could they drive out to the Silvani's home tonight? It was something—the job—that had to be settled right away!

Finally Grant got the straight of it. Janet had told Bruce Hamilton about their "adopted family" and he had been interested. Hamilton had made inquiries, carefully and thoroughly in the Hamilton manner. One of the men who had been an officer in the building corporation employing Pat Silvani two years before happened to be a member of one of Hamilton's clubs. He knew nothing of the workman but knew someone who did. It had taken very little effort to establish that Pat Silvani was a skilled, intelligent workman, that he was trustworthy and reliable.

Bruce Hamilton laughed about it. "I had to do something for the fellow," he explained, "to get my secretary's mind back on my affairs. She hasn't been thinking or talking about anything else for a week!"

What Hamilton had done was to find out that the Channing store was about to hire another watchman for their warehouse in the block next to the Every Home office. It was a steady job, for which the main requirements were honesty and reliability. The pay would be $22.50 a week and Pat Silvani could have a chance at it if he would report to the employment office of the store next day.

Jeffrey Grant heard all this enthusiastically. "Why, sure!" he exclaimed. "We can drive out there right after work and tell him about it. Say, that's great! Swell of you, boss to take such an interest. I'll get the car and stop around at your office for you—"

It was settled next day that Pat Silvani was to have the job. He went to work that very night. Pat's voice choked up when he tried to tell Janet how grateful he was. Rose could stop going nights to scrub. She'd need to be home with the children and with $22.50 a week—regularly—they'd get along famously.

In fact the Silvani's seemed so well cared for, so settled in their new security that Janet and Jeffrey Grant might have had little reason to pay them another visit soon, except for one thing. The circus came to town.

It was Jeffrey's idea but Janet instantly fell in with it. There were to be two Saturday performances in the afternoon and one in the evening. They made all the plans, even to consulting Mrs. Silvani, before Tommy and Rosie heard the news.

County Judges Meet at Wichita

WICHITA FALLS, March 24. — Business sessions of the West Texas County Judges and County Commissioners association, in annual convention here, opened today with Judge A. O. Newman of Coleman presiding.

The delegation was welcomed to Wichita Falls by Mayor Walter Nelson. Judge Newman spoke in response for the visitors who arrived yesterday for a social program.

"Pending Tax Legislation Affecting Counties," was the subject of an address by Judge E. L. Pitts of Lubbock, secretary of the organization. Judge J. M. Simpson of Potter county spoke on "Problems Confronting New County Judges and Commissioners." Two speakers, Judge Joseph McGill of El Paso county, speaking on "Ways and Means of Economizing in County Government," and G. W. Whitfield, county commissioner of Hale county, speaking on "The Most Economical Way to Maintain Lateral Roads," stressed in their addresses public economies.

Otis Miller, president of the Judges and Commissioners association of Texas, brought the message of the state group. He spoke on the subject, "A Plan of County Government."

commerce as an active, definite, permanent factor in reaching highest possible development.

"The zoo is a good advertising medium, and is an interesting and instructive place for our children, and worth the small amount it would cost."

"The band is a great credit to our town. It is one of our best means of advertising Cisco; it gives our boys and girls an opportunity to use their talents; develops their citizenship through service to the community; and furnishes wholesome entertainments for our citizens; and makes a definite contribution to our cultural life."

"It deserves our cooperation and as it is for the welfare of the entire community, it should be supported by taxation."

J. B. PRATT STANCH FOR AMENDMENTS.

"It is a pleasure to express myself as being wholeheartedly in favor of the chamber of commerce, the zoo and the band," said J. B. Pratt in speaking of the first three of the six proposed amendments to the city charter, which are to be voted on in the city election, April 4. "By all means, lets vote for those amendments. Really, I would be embarrassed if I were forced to tell outsiders that our chamber of commerce had been voted out of Cisco," he said.

Mr. Pratt further stated that he was in favor of the chamber of commerce for what it had already accomplished, as well as for what it would accomplish in the future. As a source of authentic information, it is very valuable and could not be dispensed with for that fact alone, but there are many, many other reasons that render it indispensable to a city that hopes to carry on, he said.

The zoo is a great drawing card, bringing visitors each Sunday from a scope of one hundred miles away, he declared.

"The band is worth all it costs as an adjunct to the chamber of commerce in advertising Cisco," he added.

DEAN ISAACKS GIVES UNQUALIFIED SUPPORT.

"If it had not been for the chamber of commerce, I know Randolph college would not be in Cisco," said Dean E. B. Isaacks, of that institution, in declaring his support of the three proposed amendments to the city charter which have to do with the further existence of the chamber, band and zoo.

He said he was for the three amendments without reservation, because each of them is a concrete expression of civic energy which is instantly available whenever the opportunity to do good arises.

Cotton Men Meet At Galveston

GALVESTON, March 24 — Action looking to solution of many current problems will feature the 22nd annual convention of the Texas Cotton association to be held here March 24 and 25.

Will L. Clayton, Houston, one of the nation's foremost cotton men, will deliver an address on "Farm Betterment." The other principal speaker, Walter Parker, New Orleans, will speak on some aspects of foreign trade.

The first session, to be held on the opening day and at which the Clayton and Parker addresses will be delivered will be the only open one, Harris Kempner, local chairman for arrangements, has announced.

Resolutions stating the organization's attitude toward the tariff, the domestic allotment bill and other legislation concerning cotton are expected to be presented at the executive sessions.

Approximately 400 delegates and visitors from all sections of the state are expected to attend. At the closing session the 1934 meeting place will be chosen and new officers elected, including a successor to E. D. McCaa, Houston, outgoing president.

LAWBREAKERS LESSEN

NILES, Mich., March 24. — A decline in juvenile lawbreaking is due to unemployed parents spending more time in the company of their children, Probate Judge Malcolm Hatfield believes. Since January 1, no cases of juvenile begging or drunkenness have appeared in his court.

LEGAL BEER TO BE PROBLEM TO ADVERTISERS

AUSTIN, March 24. — If beer is legalized in Texas, quite a problem will be faced by newspaper publishers, sign painters and others in determining if they are privileged to advertise it.

Consensus of opinion is that if beer of certain content is declared non-intoxicating, advertising it will be legal.

All the liquor penalties are grouped in one section of the Dean dry act, providing that violation of any of the matters prohibited calls for a two to five year penalty.

Attorney John Boyle, of the state organization for change in the liquor laws, contends the simplest way to legalize beer is just to add a provision to this penalty statute saying that the penalty shall not apply to transportation, sale, possession or any other of the now prohibited actions in connection with beer of the specified alcoholic content determined upon.

The existing provision against advertising liquor is sweeping. It says: "It shall be unlawful to advertise anywhere, on land or water, by means or method, intoxicating liquors, or to advertise the manufacture, method of manufacture, sale, keeping for sale or furnishing of the same or where, how, from whom and at what price the same may be obtained. The manufacturer of alcohol or wine and wholesale druggists having a permit under this law shall be allowed to send price lists to those to whom they are lawfully permitted to sell alcohol or wine. It shall also be unlawful to permit any sign or billboard containing such prohibited advertisement to remain upon one's premises or to circulate any prohibited price list, order blank or other matter designed to induce or secure orders for such intoxicating liquors. Any advertisement or notice containing the picture of a brewery, distillery, bottle, keg, barrel, or box or other receptacle represented as containing intoxicating liquors, or designed to serve as an advertisement thereof, shall be within the inhibition of this article. It shall be unlawful for any newspaper or periodical to print in its columns statement concerning the manufacture or distribution of alcoholic liquors directly or indirectly, for which the said newspaper or periodical receives compensation of any kind, without printing at the beginning and at the close of said statement in type of the same size used in the body of the said article the following statement: "Printed as paid advertising."

MIAMI, Fla., March 24. — Sec. Lieut. Charles Stouff, 24, and Staff Sgt. Gale Lester, 30, were killed today when their plane went into a spin at a height of 300 feet and crashed.

Stouff and Lester took off with a group of 13 other planes for maneuvers. They were forced to return here by bad weather. Both were dead when field attendants reached their wrecked plane.

ELECTRA, March 24.—Mrs. J. E. Walker, 44, died here today of burns received when gasoline in which she was washing paint from her hands ignited. Practically all her clothing was burned from her body.

CANADIANS PLAN TOURS

HAVRE, March 24. — A group of Canadians, descendants of Norman families, will make several pilgrimages in France from May 24 to June 6. The tours will be to Dieppe, the birthplace of Vaughan; Rouen, birthplace of Cavellier de la Salle; Honfleur, from whence so many ships set sail for the "Islands," and Caen, Bayeux, Coutances and Mont Saint Michel.

New Way Ends Body Odor At Its Source

Famous chemists have discovered the effective answer for body odor—deep-pore cleansing. A new kind of bathing made possible by Kirk's Coco Castile soap.

Ordinary soaps, with their thick, sluggish lathers, are being rapidly replaced by this 100% pure vegetable oil soap, made by America's largest soap makers. Even in hard water, Kirk's Coco Castile breaks instantly into a searching lather that cleans deep into the pores, actually removes stale perspiration beyond reach of ordinary soaps, then rinses out in a flash. Thus body odor is ended in the only effective way—by removing the cause.

Kirk's Coco Castile is delightful to use and stimulating to the skin. Free from offensive M. S. (medicine smell), it ends body odor the odorless way. A big bargain, 50 per cent. larger than ordinary toilet soaps, it is sold everywhere at the lowest price in history. Be sure to ask for Kirk's Castile by name—at your grocer's.
