COLD WAVE AND FREEZING RAIN FORECAST

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

Dean of insurance men in Cisco—and perhaps in Eastland county—is Connie Davis who has a fund of humor as youthful as his energy. If you are not feeling so badly now about the recession, I'll venture to repeat one of the stories which he told me yesterday en route to see what was happening to the Hickok Donovan well.

It illustrates pretty well what some of us will often do in the way of kidding ourselves while facing an adverse situation.

Some years ago, quite a number of years ago, in fact, a citizen turned real estate man during a rather depressing time, and set out energetically in quest of business. He contacted a number of people and found them quite willing to talk about buying homes or farms. Often he was up late in the evening, but his spirits rose with the volume of discussion and the great numbers of people who seemed just on the point of buying.

Every evening he would go home to his wife, tired but still optimistic, to tell her. "Well, honey, I've got lots of prospects."

This continued for a considerable time, and each evening he carried home the same hopeful message.

Finally his wife, who was hard pressed to find money to pay the groceryman and the other merchants, lost her enthusiasm completely.

"John," she exclaimed one evening when he had come home with a particularly hopeful report, "I wish you'd quit talking about prospects. They aren't worth a darn. You can't buy any groceries with them or anything else. You've got a pocketful of prospects but what we need is cash."

"A normal life close to nature" is a recipe for longevity given by J. B. Kelsey, father of the vice president of the Sinclair-Prairie Oil company of Oklahoma, when he celebrated his 100th birthday recently at Harlingen, Texas.

Mr. Kelsey at 98 was still driving his own car and he continues at his advanced years actively to oversee work on his farm, which he has tended for 15 years.

Hal Hughes Test in Callahan to Be Drilled Deeper

The Hal Hughes No. 1 Pointexter, ordvician test in southwestern Callahan county which yesterday picked up oil and gas showing of encouraging magnitude, will be drilled deeper in prospect of finding better oil saturation, operators indicated today.

The test was believed to be at least 70 feet above the water table in the present horizon. Gas showed from 4,369 to 4,380 feet and oil from 4,380 to 4,385 feet. Owners were of the opinion that the showing encountered is from a horizon above that found in the Drew Beams well, north of the Pointexter, which flowed an estimated 1,000 barrels daily.

Seven-inch casing has been cemented at 3,780 feet. Five-inch now in the hole will not be cemented but will be used as tubing. The well is three miles north of Oplin in the northeast corner of the George Hancock survey No. 350.

The test is of especial interest to independent operators because it is in country not dominated by major company holdings and therefore open to more play.

AFL REJECTS STALIN PLEA FOR SUPPORT

Official Says Soviet Deserves no Support of Labor

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor rejected the appeal of Josef Stalin, soviet Russia's leader, for the organization of labor throughout the world to support Russia in the event of war, Matthew Woll, vice president, said today.

"The soviet regime deserves no more support from organized labor in democratic countries than do the governments of Hitler and Mussolini," Woll said.

Veterans to Eastland for Meeting Tonight

Cisco Veterans of Foreign Wars, members of the American Legion and Spanish War veterans and ex-service men who are members of no veterans organization, will go to Eastland this evening for a county-wide get-together meeting commemorating the Spanish war and observing National Defense week.

John Lee Smith, prominent operator of Throckmorton, will deliver the address. Cisco veterans were directed today to assemble at Edwards cafe at 6:30 to make the trip to Eastland in a body. The meeting will be held in the court house beginning at 7:30.

The program will begin with music by the Harry Schaefer-Ernest Hittson orchestra. Dr. J. H. Caton of Eastland will pronounce the invocation. There will be songs led by A. E. Herring and salutation of the colors directed by Major J. W. Timmons.

Mr. Smith will be introduced by Carl Hoffman of Eastland. Following his address obligations will be administered to new members of the three major veterans organizations.

L. E. Vaughn of Cisco will administer obligations to new members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Troops Salute Hitler, Their Commander-to-Be

Giving no hint of the approaching politico-military crisis that would result in his taking "personal and direct" command of all Germany's armed forces, Chancellor Hitler, in automobile, at left above, salutes goose-stepping troopers as they march past in celebration of the fifth anniversary of their Fuehrer's assumption of power.

Lions Consider Sponsoring Soft Ball Games During Next Summer

Prayer Meeting at Presbyterian Church

Regular prayer meeting services will be held at the First Presbyterian church this evening at 7:30, it was announced today. The pastor, the Rev. M. H. Applewhite, who has been in Fort Worth on business for the presbytery for several days, will return today.

Humble Pipe Line Head Here For Inspection

President R. V. Hanrahan of the Humble Pipe Line company and H. M. Stevenson, head of the company's mechanical engineering department, were here today on a tour of inspection of the company's properties in the Cisco division of which J. C. Hanrahan, brother of the president, is superintendent.

This afternoon they will leave with J. W. Thomas, superintendent of the West Texas division, for a tour of properties in that area. Mr. Hanrahan and Mr. Stevenson arrived last night. In company with Joe Hanrahan, Mr. Thomas and J. E. Caffrey they were spending today in the field.

To Decorate for Mother-in-Law Day

James Haynie, proprietor of the Oil Belt Flag and Decorating company, has returned from Amarillo where he was awarded the contract for decorations for the annual Mother-in-Law day.

Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt, wife of President Roosevelt, will be guest of honor for the celebration. A float 135 feet in length—longest ever built—will be constructed for her, Mr. Haynie said. She will ride on a flower throne 24 feet in height, surrounded with masses of carnations of assorted colors. Five thousand of the blossoms have been ordered for the float. Around the float will be grouped 550 mothers-in-law, Haynie said. Amarillo anticipates 20,000 to 30,000 visitors for the event.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Humphreys and Miss Viola Humphreys are spending a few days in Dublin on business.

No Action Is Taken on Matter at Noon Today

Lions club members held a business session today and discussed sponsoring the soft ball field for summer games for business men, business teams, girls teams, boys teams and all-star teams. On a motion, no definite decision was made today but the discussion will be carried into next Wednesday's session.

It was explained that about $800 would be required to put the field in tip top condition as to fence and lights. It would also be necessary for at least 20 members of the club to pledge one night each week to assist in management of the field, it was brought out.

Those speaking on the subject were, Lions Smitty Huestis, Charles Sandler, Jack Anderson, Cooper, Stamey, LaRoque, Grantham, Smith, Streater, Wood and Patterson.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 16 (AP)—The house military committee approved today bills to reestablish the army reserve of enlisted men and to increase the authorized number of regular army commissioned officers to 14,659.

Two Women Given Life Sentences

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 16 (AP)—Ethel Sohl, 20, and Genevieve Owens, 18, were sentenced to life imprisonment today for the slaying of a bus driver in a $2.10 holdup. The jury found the women guilty of murder last night.

Supreme Court Will Review School Case

AUSTIN, Feb. 16 (AP)—The supreme court agreed today to review the decision of the Beaumont civil appeals tribunal that twelfth graders of the Port Arthur school could not be barred from football. The controversy between Beaumont and Port Arthur last season resulted in no football champion being declared in that district.

Caution Used in Completing Donovan Well

Tubing was being run today in the Hickok Donovan No. 1 ordvician prospect northwest of Cisco about 6 miles preparatory to acidizing.

With the drill having only scratched the surface of a saturated Ellenberger lime, operators were proceeding with extreme caution in their efforts to complete for a producer. Although it was believed that the saturated stratum could be drilled several feet further without running in to water, the company determined against this method because the possibility of striking water always exists, preferring to treat with acid first to determine the producing quality of the lime. It was pointed out that use of acid would have the same effect as drilling ahead, since it would eat down into the formation as well as to the sides, while it possesses the further advantage of slowing its action against the hard streak that is believed to exist between the oil level and the lower water level. It is still possible to drill ahead after acid treatment, operators said.

Widespread interest in the test was reported. One Cisco merchant, visiting at Lamesa earlier this week, said people there inquired of him concerning the well.

Senate Rejects Limit on Debate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The senate rejected today, 46 to 42, a motion for limiting debate on the anti-lynching bill. The action left unchanged the status of the filibuster now in its 28th day.

2,000 NAZIS ARE RELEASED BY AUSTRIANS

Amnesty One of First Results of Changes in Cabinet

VIENNA, Feb. 16 (AP)—More than 2,000 amnestied nazi political prisoners left Austrian prisons today as a reorganized cabinet with nazi influence assumed control.

Their release was one of the first results of sweeping changes wrought by Chancellor Schuschnigg at behest of Reichstueener Hitler and Premier Mussolini.

The cabinet change was represented as having brought "internal peace and amity abroad" to Austria after five years of strife.

BRITISH CABINET STUDIES GERMAN MOVE

LONDON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The British cabinet today considered Germany's new thrust toward the absorption of Austria, but there was no indication that it was planning steps to prevent such an outcome.

Austria's concessions to Hitler in the reorganization of her cabinet were interpreted here as a prelude to the eventual surrender of her independence and a more active Nazi policy through central Europe.

Methodist Laymen In District Meet at Eastland

Between 175 and 200 Methodist pastors and laymen of the Cisco district were present at the quarterly laymen's banquet at the First Methodist church in Eastland last night when Stephenville and smaller churches in the Stephenville area, recently added to the district, were welcomed into the group.

Delegations of ministers and laymen were present from Breckenridge, Cisco, Eastland, Ranger, Carbon, Gorman, DeLeon circuit, Desdemona, Dublin, Putnam and Stephenville. From the latter came the Rev. S. L. Caldwell, pastor; Ben McCollum, chairman of the board of stewards; Rufus Higgs, J. A. Barekman, Frank Herron, J. A. McMahan, O. R. Childress, Prof. E. W. Scott of John Tarleton, and the Rev. W. J. Herron, superannuated minister.

The Rev. J. B. Curry, presiding elder of the district, presented the district program for the next two months. Bert McGlamery, district lay leader, presided. The Rev. P. W. Walker, pastor of the Eastland church, was host, and the dinner was served in the church basement by the women of the church.

Mr. McGlamery spoke briefly, emphasizing the need of adequate salaries for ministers. Conference Lay Leader Hal Cherry of Brownwood discussed the laxity in preparing programs for law activities in the church, distributed literature furnishing material for such programs and emphasized the need for more active lay efforts in spiritual work as well as material support of the churches. Booklets which he distributed included, "The Christian Steward in His Church," "Spiritualizing Church Finances," and "The Miracle of Worship."

Only 13 attended the dinner from the Cisco First church, in contrast to 23 from Ranger, 14 from Rising Star and 11 from Dublin.

TO MEET AT RANGER

The Eastland County Federation will meet at Ranger Saturday, February 19, at the Gholson hotel at 3 o'clock. Mrs. M. H. Hagaman of Ranger is president of the federation. All members are urged to attend.

Alert-eyed, ruddy-faced, handsomely goateed Dr. Graeme M. Hammond, noted neurologist and athlete at 80, is seen above, as he jogs away on the three-mile run he takes three times a week. An all-round athlete in his youth, for years national fencing champion and Olympic team fencer when past 50, Dr. Hammond has never been out of condition.

M'GRAW TO SUE ON 9 LEASES

Suits to Be Filed Immediately

AUSTIN, Feb. 16 (AP)—Attorney General McCraw announced today that suits to cancel nine leases on submerged lands adjoining Jefferson county would be filed immediately.

The cancellation was requested by governor Allred, who charged that the state received inadequate consideration.

MCDONALD SUGGESTS TEST SUIT

AUSTIN, Feb. 16 (AP)—The controversy between Governor James V. Allred and Land Commissioner William H. McDonald over the latter's acceptance of low cash and high royalty bids on oil leases apparently headed for the courts today.

In a letter, McDonald suggested Attorney General William McCraw file a test suit to determine legality of leases made on low cash and large royalty terms and Scott Gaines, first assistant attorney general, said the suggestion would be followed.

Gaines explained his office had requested all records in connection with leases granted on the high royalty basis and from them probably would select a "typical" one as the basis of a suit.

McDonald's rejection of high cash offers and acceptance of large payments out of possible oil production on state-owned submerged lands drew the fire of Allred and resulted in an investigation, still incomplete, by a senate committee.

INTERLUDE OF WARM SEASON TO BE ENDED

"Wet Freeze" Lessens Prospect of Damage to Crops

A cold wave is definitely on the way to end the long interlude of near-summer weather which has made January and the first half of February one of the mildest winter seasons on records, according to forecasts of the U. S. weather bureau received by the Cisco Daily Press.

Prospect that the freeze would do extensive damage to blooming fruit trees and advanced grain crops was minimized by predictions for a wet freeze.

Freezing rain was predicted for this section with cold wave and a hard freeze tonight. Freezing rain Thursday and colder was the forecast for this section.

COLD WAVE ENTERS TEXAS

By Associated Press

Borger, Pampa and Amarillo reported below freezing temperatures and sleet.

Other sections of the state reported fog or rain.

The cold wave is expected to spread over most of the state by tomorrow.

C. of C. Thanks Jaycees for Tour Project

The board of directors of the Cisco chamber of commerce last night expressed approval and appreciation of plans of the junior chamber to sponsor a county motorcade tour advertising the Eastland County Livestock show here 25 and 26 and extended its facilities to assist in promoting and carrying out the parade.

Reports upon progress made in arrangements for the show and upon other projects which the senior chamber has underway were heard.

Discussion of a projected Fourth of July celebration at Lake Cisco resulted in this being made a subject for disposition at the next meeting of the board.

The meeting was carried through with dispatch under the direction of President S. H. Nance who adjourned it promptly at 9 o'clock.

Father of Mrs. W. H. Hayes Has Operation

Mrs. W. H. Hayes was advised this morning by telephone that her father, C. B. Long, who has been visiting in Gorman, underwent an emergency operation at the Gorman hospital. His condition was reported to be serious although he withstood the operation as well as could be expected.

Mr. Long makes his home with Mr. and Mrs. Hayes here.

A Community Stake Should Be Protected

ACCORDING to those who have driven over the route of the new approach of Highway No. One into Cisco from the east the approach gives a very favorable view of the city. This is, of course, an advantage, and one that should be utilized as well as protected. We venture a prediction: Unless some measures are taken to prevent it, what otherwise would be an attractive entrance into the city will shortly be cluttered with nondescript buildings, undesirable shacks and lurid signs. Such a character of construction scattered along a street certainly does not invite admiration for a community which permits it. No amount of favorable advertising can overcome the adverse impression which such a scene makes upon the visitor. Moreover, its presence is a positive discouragement to the better class of building and therefore represents a liability against real estate in the vicinity.

FORTUNATELY, it lies within the power of the community to regulate the character of construction which will occupy the route within the city limits. This can be done through the enactment of a municipal zoning ordinance which specifies what shall and what shall not be built. Through this means it is possible not only to preserve to the community the asset of an attractive approach but to insure to property owners in the area the opportunity for the best development of their property with resulting benefits to the community at large.

MOST of the western approach of Highway One to the city has been kept free of unsightly building through the refusal of farsighted owners of property to sell sites for such purposes. These owners realize that the appearance of ugly construction and undesirable businesses there would definitely ruin the value of the property for residential building and for the better class of business. This property lies outside the incorporation and but for the progressiveness and good business sense of its owners Cisco might also present an unfavorable aspect to the visitor from that direction.

WITHIN the incorporation the community can regulate. It can prescribe standards and rules based on what is appropriate to the demands of safety, preservation of property values and the best interests of all its citizens. If it is good business for owners of land outside the incorporation not to permit unsightliness and discreditable establishments it is equally good business for Cisco as a community not to permit such construction within its limits. The time to act in this instance is now. Once the building is done it cannot be removed by municipal regulation. The regulation must precede the fact.

OTHER OPINIONS

Five Common Fallacies

- 1.—That it is possible to "satisfy" a nation ruled by dictatorship. A dictator who admitted that he had no further "objectives" would promptly cease to be a dictator. 2.—That a modern war can be ended by "a short campaign and a quick decision." In modern war—i. e. war between nations—there is no such thing as a "quick decision," for "quick decisions" do not end a war unless followed by a really negotiated peace between victor and vanquished. No such peace is possible nowadays except possibly after a war in which all the combatants are exhausted and a complete stalemate results. Moreover, in such an event revolution everywhere follows the end of fighting. 3.—That democratic forms of government of themselves exclude dictatorships. Ninety odd per cent of German-voters voted Hitler into power. The French people by plebiscite called the Third Napoleon to rule them. People can vote themselves into slavery under stress of despair or under the seduction of glittering promises. 4.—That democratic governmental forms of themselves assure personal liberty. A majority can be, and has in the past been as despotic as any tyrant—and it cannot be assassinated. 5.—That government can take over and perform the job of building up the total national income, if private capital continues to refrain from action.

That is the one thing government cannot do. As a matter of fact the inevitable ultimate result of all attempts to do so is a breakdown of government credit, followed by currency inflation and a withering of the living standard for everyone after which we all start again from the bottom.—Wall Street Journal.

He hopes to have the bill ready to place in the hands of the legislators early in the fall, soon after the elections, so that time can be had for comprehensive study. Heretofore, too often, the appropriation bills have been hastily drafted, and more hastily passed in the dying hours of the regular session, with inadequate consideration resulting in inevitable waste and extravagance. By having a single bill, drafted after long and careful study, and finally approved by a single conference committee, instead of five different bills, handled by different committees, and agreed to by five sets of conferees, Redditt hopes to obtain a properly balanced appropriation schedule, and effect substantial economies in state operation.

Budget Officer Needed The bills will, of course, be based upon the budget estimates made by the board of control, which is the state's official budgeting organization. Incidentally, virtually every fiscal expert who has taken a look at the Texas "set up" has agreed that one of the first steps necessary to effect efficiency and economy in Texas government is the creation of the office of budget director, to be filled by a trained man, with budgets prepared sufficiently far in advance to give the legislators time adequately to study and consider them before passage. These experts have pointed out the incongruous situation of the board of control—which is the state's the tax burden from the counties on up, and the retention of Curtis Morris, Longview newspaper publisher, and research expert, to head up this important task, also offers promise of some effective achievement in reducing unnecessary expenditures or government. Tax committees of prominent citizens already are being set up by the East Texas C. of C. in the 100 counties it serves, who will interest themselves on a strictly non-political basis, in public expenditures and in analysis of old and new tax laws. Studies made by Hubert Harrison, manager of the C. of C., and others, have revealed that some wonderfully effective work has been done by use of a similar plan in several other states. In some cases, substantial reductions in state expenditures have been accomplished without cutting down on necessary governmental functions. Resource Taxes The east Texans, claiming 48 per cent of the state's taxable values within their territory, are naturally interested in the oil tax problem, since this is the source of most of their wealth. WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. — Without public announcement, Senator Capper of Kansas evidently has given up hope of putting across his plan for uniform marriage and divorce laws this session. The versatile Kansan, who knows more than one way of intriguing widwest sentiment, offered a constitutional amendment and a bill designed to abolish gin marriages, six-weeks divorces and child weddings in one swift blow. Many things have arisen to claim his attention, so that now it seems unlikely even hearings will be held on his legislation. Capper's principal interest continues to be agriculture and he has worked long and painstakingly on the farm bill in committee, in the senate and in conference. Also he has become a commander of the troops battling for the vote for Washington's voteless 500,000 residents, and with all the local newspapers whooping it up for the campaign he is busy no end.

Human and Other Nature

By W. F. BRUCE Sunday morning I drove past our city churches, some of them rather imposing brick edifices, and on out into the country to a plain frame structure sitting in the edge of the woods. The February morning was mild enough to allow open doors and the breezes sweeping through. If it had been colder the wood stove would have kept the gathering folk comfortable in all ordinary winter weather. The thirty and more people of the neighborhood, deploring the absences on account of sickness, assembled in classes somewhat to fit the ages from near infants to near aged. The Bethel church is one example of those rural churches that are trying to carry on in the face of difficulties such as changing methods of conveyance, congestion of interest in the city, and other tendencies of the times. Of course the church, like every other institution, must adjust to circumstances; in fact it more than any institution has an inherent adaptability put there by its Founder for the very purpose of meeting the needs of every generation "to the end of the world."

The question by which we may solve the problem might be stated something like this: who, or how many, of the folk served by the ministrations of a church would be deprived of convenient church privileges if it should cease to function? Every boy and girl, man and woman, child and adult is entitled to an accessible place of worship just as we feel that he is entitled to an accessible institution of learning. Our society should be so planned, since we are trusting so much to technologists and are subject more or less to the suggestions of our "brain trusts," that communities should have their institutions as community centers, without of course making it dictatorial. Our merchant-preacher, Mr. Meglason, brought a persuasive message on our calling, from the text, "Follow Me." I felt at home to be met at the door by our rural correspondent, Margaret Boatman. Others whom I have met in their homes, or fields, or yards were present to make up this Sunday morning assembly.

most effective in scuttling Capper's marital legislation was the anti-lynching filibuster. Not only was much time consumed which might have been given over to such issues as the marriage bill, but the southern senators picked out the marriage bill for incidental potshots as they worried through the weeks. Senator Ellender pictured it as likely to weaken southern marriage laws so there would be a wholesale commingling of the white and negro races. Senator Capper and his women's groups supporting his campaign never have contended it would be possible to enact uniform federal marriage and divorce laws without a constitutional amendment, but a bill has always been introduced right along with the amendment ever since the drive was inaugurated about 1923. The bill contains many provisions which would irritate patrons of free and easy marriage and divorce. No longer would marrying New Yorkers be able to speed into Connecticut's Greenwich, for the bill provides a two-weeks waiting period after the license is issued. The license must be obtained in the county the woman lives in, the bill provides, but once the license is obtained a couple can be married in any county in the country. But they must decide on the county in advance so it can be written on the license.

Capper Still Hopeful Parents must give consent for boys of 18 or girls 16 to marry, the bill provides, and none may marry younger. Exceptions are provided where babies are involved. For violations there is a penalty upon the couple, the license clerk or the parson, ranging from $100 to $500. Moreover, the license must list the names of all previous mates of either party and how the marriage was ended. As grounds for divorce, the bill sets up cruelty, abandonment, insanity, conviction of an infamous crime or adultery of one of the parties. If both are guilty of adultery, the marriage must go right on. No divorce trial may be held within two months of the filing of the suit, and a year must

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

AUSTIN, Feb. 16.—Two hopeful developments for the growing number of Texans who believe that something more is necessary than a mere general belief in "economy in government and abolition of useless bureaus" and "slaying of every aspiring politician"—if any real progress toward curbing wasteful expenditure of tax funds, have occurred recently. The first of these is the announced plan of Senator Redditt of Lufkin, chairman of the senate finance committee, to begin work within 30 days on the biennial appropriation bills for 1933-9. He heads a special senate committee to which this task has been delegated, including Senators Harold Beck of Texarkana; A. M. Aiken, Jr., of Paris; Vernon Lemens, of Rainbow and Morris Roberts, of Pettus. All are holdovers, not up for re-election. New Procedure The plan is a distinct departure, and holds promise of an intelligent approach to the vexing business of appropriating funds to operate the state's departments. Redditt favors a single appropriation bill to finance the departmental, educational, eleemosynary, judicial and rural school aid operations.

Innovations in Horned Frog Squad Hinted

FORT WORTH, Feb. 16.—Texas Christian university's football team underwent spring training today with the hint of deep-cutting innovations for the fall season.

Coach Leo (Dutch) Meyer's 60-man squad is rated one of the nation's strongest on the winter books with 19 lettermen, three of them all-conference, all-American nominees; 16 squadmen and the remainder freshmen. The Horned Frogs finished behind Rice in the 1937 Southwest conference race, but had an outstanding record and lost few important men by graduation.

The "mystery" maneuvers in spring practice were expected to be in the form of offensive innovations. Little David O'Brien, quarterback, was almost the entire attack last year. He did the passing, most of the running and much of the punting despite his 150-pound size. O'Brien was nominated on most all-American teams and was a unanimous choice for all-conference.

Meyer hoped to develop something to aid O'Brien next fall. Earl Clark and Spud Taylor, juniors, probably will perform with him and Taylor will be given running, passing and punting assignments. Clark specialized in block.

Lacy McClanahan, John Hall, Pat Clifford and Ward Wilkinson are the other veteran backs, but none generated the necessary scouring punch last fall.

The Horned Frog line, coached by Mike Brumbelow, should be one of the nation's best next fall. It includes two who were prominent all-American candidates in 1937—230 pound tackle, I. B. Hales, and 200-pound center, Ki Aldrich. The two are co-captains this year.

These stars will be aided by 10 lettermen and a fine crop of squadmen and freshmen, although Brumbelow said reserves must be

Deer Is Trained to Carry the Mail

WEIMAR, Feb. 16 — Billy, a three-point deer, carries the mail for Oscar Kohleffel, Weimar farmer.

But his job—or even keeping alive—is extremely difficult for Billy during certain winter months when deer hunters roam.

Kohleffel has taught the deer during the past 18 months to trek daily to his rural mail box to meet the carrier, J. T. Green, and then take Kohleffel's mail to his home.

The routine began when Green offered Billy a piece of candy and then tied the mail to the deer's neck. At the Kohleffel home, Billy received another piece of candy. The farmer found the deer lying helpless beside its dead mother two years ago. Hunters had killed the doe. Since then, Billy has been the Kohleffel family pet.

A year ago, although wearing a cowbell around his neck, Billy met a hunter and was wounded in neck. During the past deer hunting season, a bullet broke Billy's leg.

Nowadays, Billy stays close to the Kohleffel home.

Neches River Bridge Has "Beauty Queen"

PORT ARTHUR, Feb. 16—The $2,760,000 Neches river bridge has a beauty queen, a celebrating committee and a "guest list" of several thousand persons awaiting its completion about April 1.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Mills, daughter of Chairman H. O. Mills of the committee arranging for the celebration marking the opening of the new structure to first highway traffic, has been selected to preside as queen of festivities.

W. E. Lea of Orange, vice chairman of the general committee, already is predicting that 30,000 persons will attend the bridge-opening ceremonies. Mayor Frank Imhoff of Port Arthur has sent out invitations, and will welcome the visitors.

The huge bridge's main span is 650 feet long and towers 270 feet above the deep-sea channel, allowing free movement of ocean going vessels beneath it.

Laying of a 22½-foot roadway is nearing completion. The road will be 7,752 feet long. The bridge is one of the biggest engineering projects in the southwest.

Reveals Secret of Rejuvenating Battery

EL PASO, Feb. 16 — Fred S. Norton, retired railroad man, offered today the secret of rejuvenating a flashlight battery.

Norton said a worn-down battery could be restored very simply, and with utmost ease and would be as good as it was originally.

"Just put in in the oven of your kitchen stove," he said. "Don't bake it, but let it stay until it's so hot you can hardly handle it, then take it out and it's ready for use."

Norton said that he learned the trick while railroadng. "I sometimes used a flashlight as a lantern for signalling and when the battery became weak, I'd put the flashlight on a boiler-head, heat it up and go ahead with my work."

County Ministers Alliance Meets at Eastland

Dr. L. B. Gray, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Ranger, addressed the meeting of the Eastland County Ministers alliance at First Methodist church, Eastland, Monday, on the subject, "The Sources of a Rich Minister." The alliance is composed of Eastland county ministers of all denominations, with the Rev. Joe I. Patterson of Cisco as president. Discussing the contemplated call for a new county election on legalization of beer, the alliance expressed itself in three attitudes: 1—Regret that another election may be called; 2—Belief that with sufficient time for the people to face the real issues before the ballot is taken there will be a greater majority against beer than in the past election, "partly out of reaction against the tactics of the minority group, and partly because a larger number will think that the county is better off without the legal sale of any degree of alcoholic beverage," and 3—The alliance stands ready, should an election be called, to put forth at once its united and organized forces in taking to the people this "old and yet new issue of deciding the wisest course to follow on this civic and community property."

Sub-Committee Gives Jackson Okeh

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—A senate judiciary subcommittee voted five to two Tuesday in favor of the nomination of Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson for solicitor-general. The favorable vote came after Senator King (D-Utah) questioned Jackson closely on alleged "criticism of the fundamental doctrine" of the American form of government. King said he had observed this tendency to "complain" of the United States system in recent speeches given by Jackson. He questioned the propriety of a government official making use of "this kind of propaganda." Jackson answered that his allusions to the system of govern-

Pro-Nazis Added To Austrian Cabinet

VIENNA, Feb. 16 (AP)—The cabinet of Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg was revised Tuesday with the addition of two minister sympathetic toward Nazi Germany. Arthur Seys-Inquart, who enjoys the confidence of Adolf Hitler, was named minister of interior, a post in which he will control Austria's police forces. An exponent of Pan-German ideas—closer union of the two German-speaking peoples—Professor Ardampovich, was made minister of justice. A third German sympathizer, Dr. Edmund Glaise-Horstenaus, was reappointed to the revised cabinet as minister without portfolio. Another newcomer to the cabinet was Ludwig Raab, named minister of commerce, who was a long-time friend of the late Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss. Raab's appointment was considered in a measure to counter-balance Nazi influence in the new cabinet. It was explained that the chancellery concessions to the nazis had been made with corresponding advantages granted to Austria. It was understood Hitler himself had promised illegal Nazi activities in Austria would receive no support from Germany, thus settling one of Austria's gravest internal problems.

Roosevelt Says Price Level Is Too Low

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt said Tuesday the level of prices was still too low and ought to go up. The president told a press conference this did not mean that certain specified commodities should go too high, such as copper rising to 17 cents a pound which it did at one time. His observation was made when asked whether he was giving any study to the price question, in view of the fact treasury and other federal experts were meeting to discuss the subject. He said he expected to receive a report from the treasury research group Thursday and probably would have something to announce Friday. He said his price objective as enunciated in 1933 was unchanged. Touching on other subjects in his talk with reporters, the president said he was studying the question of building super highways across the country on the basis of tolls and the principle of excess condemnation under which the projects would pay for themselves. He said under the excess condemnation principle no land owner could be enriched by chance.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
POLLY CHELSEY, heroine; stranded in London when war breaks out.
JERRY WHITEFIELD, hero; the Yankee who sees her through.
CABELL BANKS, privateer captain.

Yesterday: Remembered something from the shock of losing Jerry, Polly starts for Dover, while at home in Connecticut her relatives face the crisis of her position.

CHAPTER XIII
THE young matron whose stage name had been Mazie Miller and who now served behind the bar of the Sheaf of Wheat Tavern, owned by her husband, was having a spell of nerves.

The reason was, she kept thinking of that pair of young lovers she had separated. It was the first time she had ever done a thing like that, deliberately.

So today she faced her own soul and said, "I've got to make it right!" She meant with the girl. When she reached the Unicorn and Crown Tavern (which she regretfully conceded to be much more respectable and pretentious than the Sheaf of Wheat) she called the landlord aside.

"Mr. Toby," she said, "you've got a young lady staying here I must talk to. I don't know her name, but she's the betrothed sweetheart, I take it, of one Jeremiah Whitefield."

The innkeeper scrutinized Mazie more closely. Though she was not wearing the sky-blue dress, he now recognized her. "Why!" he exclaimed accusingly, "you're the lady he went off with that night! What have you done with him?"

"They say he was a deserter from His Majesty's navy," Mazie explained briefly, "and I set a press gang on him. He didn't go off of his own accord. He was carried off. I'd like to explain that to the girl I saw him with."

"You mean Miss Polly Chelsey? Well, it's too bad you put off your explaining so long. She left for Dover yesterday. She hopes to get home to America by way of France & she can cross the Channel. She had no plans when she left here."

"SHE'S AN AMERICAN, you say? And she's gone? . . . Oh, my! What was her state of mind, Mr. Toby?"

"For several days, Miss, she seemed fairly crushed. Took to her bed and refused food. But all of a sudden, like, she recovered. As if she were tossed her head and acting like she hadn't a care to her name."

"Oh, the poor creature!" Mazie exclaimed. She could read Polly Chelsey's behavior very readily. It was prompted, she guessed, by a proud heart that seeks to hide its wounds. She asked anxiously, "Do you know where I could find her in Dover, Mr. Toby?"

"No, Miss. Though she'd doubtless go to a decent tavern. Yes, that's likely what she'd do."

"Well," said Mazie, "I must do what I can. I must write a letter and leave it for you to give the coach driver in the morning. He'll remember her—who wouldn't! He'll know where he put her off with her trunk. Here's four shillings to pay him for his trouble. Tell the coach driver, Mr. Toby!"

"Mazie paused and fixed the innkeeper with compelling eyes—"tell him to deliver this letter to Miss Polly Chelsey if it's humanly possible, because it will right a great wrong."

When Mr. Toby had fetched paper and ink and a quill, Mazie Miller sat down at a table and began to write.

JERRY WHITEFIELD and his companion, Cabell Banks of Boston, were in the small dark prison hold of the brig Sunrise, playing a game with hemp strands. It was a childish game, but it kept them from losing their minds. There was in the prison hold a great deal of massive coiled rope, an overflow from the cable tier. From this stout wet rope that smelled so reekingly of bilgewater and the sea they pulled hemp strands with infinite care, and these they pitted against each other in various ways. They were particular about the rules they made, and events were conducted very sportingly. Whoever lost an event paid two pence to the winner.

At times Jerry would interrupt the game with an outburst of nerves and would climb the ladder toward the open hatch. Always and at once a marine's bayonet would send him down again.

"If you keep that up," Cabell Banks complained irritably, "they'll close the hatch. A little daylight helps."

"Yes," Jerry agreed. "But it seems like I've got to keep trying. Something drives me to keep trying."

"Why?" Cabell asked. "What do you hope to gain?"

"My freedom," Jerry said. "Listen, Banks, I don't mean to boast, but I'm a good swimmer. I'm one of the best swimmers that ever came out of Gloucester. It would be nothing for me to swim ashore now. Tomorrow may be too late."

"I disagree. Tomorrow would be better, because your head would be better healed. You've got a nasty cut there, near the crown."

"That!" said Jerry disdainfully. "I tell you, Banks, tomorrow may be too late. I believe we're getting ready to sail. I know the signs. They're bringing on board. Sailors are coming on board. Listen, if you don't believe me!"

"I believe you. All right, we're getting ready to sail, and I've got this to say about it—it will be better for you when we do sail. If you get your chance and try to swim for it, you'll be shot. It's that simple."

"I wonder you can be so reconciled to this floating jail!" Jerry exclaimed bitterly.
Cabell Banks shrugged. "I can afford to bide my time. I've got no fiancee who thinks I've deserted her."

IN the long watches of several sleepless nights they had exchanged life histories; ill assorted though they were, these confidences had given them admiration and respect for each other. Jerry knew the rich man's son to be brave, loyal, and shrewd; Cabell had discovered Jerry Whitefield to be brave, loyal, and obstinate. Both had a streak of recklessness, but in Jerry it was far more pronounced; he was in love, and that state begets a special form of madness all its own.

They were confined in the prison hold continuously except for half an hour a day above deck for exercise. It had been so since their interview with Captain Steel. That irate officer had no sooner recovered from the shock of their insubordination than he had had them returned to prison quarters, with all privileges suspended.

He called them "the seagoing peasant and the rich Boston fool"; and when he thought of the Boston boy's insolent boast that he would outfit a privateer against England and make the Gloucester sailor his first mate, he all but had a stroke of apoplexy.

Yet that order of his for 20 whip lashes on Jeremiah Whitefield's bare back had not yet been consummated. . . . Not yet. . . . In the prison hold Jerry was looking upward toward the open hatch. "Listen!" he said to Cabell Banks. "Something's going on. They're climbing the ladder, part way, to catch the sudden snout in the fore-castle. It was Jerry who interpreted it."

"We're going out with the tide!" he said bitterly. "Bound for the North Sea."

Secrecy Lid Is Clamped Upon Naval Building

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The United States navy clamped a lid of secrecy upon its warship building progress last night—reversing a publicity policy of 13 years standing.

Whether the purpose was to keep certain data from foreign powers was not stated. Officials explained merely that the new policy was "in the interest of the public welfare."
Periodically, in the past, the navy had made public percentage figures showing how much progress had been made with the hull and machinery of ships under construction. Delays in construction were shown.

The monthly report issued Tuesday and dealing with three score men of war now being built, omitted these details.

The possibility has been discussed that the United States may join other powers in building battleships larger than the present treaty limit of 35,000 tons.

(Japan has refused to comply with a request from the United States and Great Britain that she disclose whether she is building ships larger than 35,000 tons.)
Today's navy report listed 63 warships and two auxiliaries under construction, five fewer than a month ago.

The January report had indicated that completion of 15 destroyers and the aircraft carriers Enterprise and Wasp would be delayed.

The navy now has building, today's report showed, two 35,000-ton battleships, the North Carolina and Washington, two aircraft carriers, the heavy cruiser Wichita, seven light cruisers, 16 submarines, three 1,850-ton destroyers, thirty-two 1,500-ton destroyers, a seaplane tender and a destroyer tender.

Canadian tobacco growers established a record in 1937 with a crop of 71 million pounds compared with 46.1 million pounds in 1936.

Beware Coughs That Hang On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm.
Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

Farm Families Have Supplies on Hand

EASTLAND, Feb. 16 (Sp.)—Farm families financed by the Farm Security administration still have from 30 to several hundred cans of last year's products on hand, it was reported by Mrs. Ila R. Parrish, home management supervisor. These supplies will last until the families begin to get new vegetables from their early garden, Mrs. Parrish said.

"Practically every farmer coming into the office reports some accomplishment in gardening," Mrs. Parrish said, noting that the first requirement of FSA is that families whom it finances shall grow their living at home. "Mrs. J. E. Carter had turnips and greens all winter. She has eight rows of Bermuda onions she set out last fall that are now about right to eat."

Other has made a quilt almost entirely of sugar sacks. "For the first time in years, these families will have an adequate supply of mattresses and bedding," Mrs. Parrish said.

Expect Largest Attendance on ACC Lectures

Largest attendance in the history of Abilene Christian college Bible Lecture Weeks is expected for the lectureship, which begins February 20 and ends February 25, it was stated today by James F. Cox, president of the Abilene institution. Fifteen speakers, including seven ex-students and graduates of A.C.C., will speak during the week to audiences gathered from various parts of the United States to hear discussions on the theme subject: "Jesus of Nazareth, the Christ, the Son of the Living God."

The lectureships, which were begun almost 20 years ago on the old A.C.C. campus and which are held each year during the last week in February, provide for the gathering of more members of the church of Christ from over a wide territory than any other event. President Cox said. A year ago between six and seven hundred leaders, elders, deacons and preachers of the church of Christ came from 12 states to hear the lectures. Correspondence with persons who plan to come from Colorado, California, Kansas, Oklahoma, and other states has already been received by college officials. The college and members of the church in Abilene are hosts to all visitors each year.
