ROCKNE KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Warm Weather Welcomed as March Blizzard Ends Course

FIELD CROPS SUSTAIN NO GREAT INJURY

Clear skies and rising temperatures today forecast a return of the pleasant spring weather which was interrupted by the worst cold wave that this section has experienced since Christmas.

Fair weather DENVER, Colo., March 31.—Fair weather and rising temperatures prevailed throughout the Rocky mountain region today.

The forecast was for continued fair weather except in western Montana and northwestern Wyoming where rain or snow was expected.

Communication with towns isolated by last week's blizzard was restored in all sections of the region.

temperatures steady at 32 degrees from 10:15 last night until 6 o'clock.

At 8:15 this morning a gradual rise began which lifted the temperature to 40 degrees at 11 o'clock from which point it continued to climb rapidly.

The lowest point reached by the mercury during the wave was 22 degrees at 1 o'clock Thursday morning. At the same time Friday morning it was 24 degrees.

Twenty-one degrees was the lowest point reached at any time during the year. That temperature was registered during the cold wave just before Christmas.

Rain yesterday afternoon measured one-half inch. It was of great benefit, local farmers said, since the soil was in need of moisture after the recent high winds.

Hail which accompanied the rain in some areas adjacent to Cisco, particularly south, west and north, merely brushed the southwest and northwest sections of the city and did comparatively no damage.

Damage to Fruit. Farmers report that the freeze has done great damage to fruit and vegetable crops but has had no great effect upon field crops.

Most of the fruit and garden stuff has been killed although some varieties are expected to produce. Strawberries, blighted, will likely put out again and make a crop while there may be some early peaches.

Late peaches, which bloom first, according to growers, will probably not make. Apples and grapes and similar fruits are not thought to have been seriously damaged.

The fact that the ground was well saturated with moisture was responsible for small damage to the field crops, it was declared. Small grains were not affected to any serious extent, they report, while corn, frozen above the ground was not generally killed in the root and should put forth again. In some cases it will be necessary to replant, however.

With a few days of warm weather the full extent of the damage done by the freeze will be realized. But outside of the fruit and vegetables, crops are expected to survive the low temperatures with a minimum of damage. Vegetables can be planted over and, though late, can still make abundantly.

How "Most Dangerous Man Alive" Sought to Disguise Self

Wearing his "disguise".

These pictures show graphically how Fred Burke, accused as a professional killer and described as "the most dangerous man alive," managed to dodge police throughout the United States for two years by growing a mustache and changing his haircut.

Here are four of the Missouri officers who captured Fred Burke, wanted in 18 states for a long series of bank robberies, murders, holdups and professional killings. Left to right are...

WILL CONSIDER CITY INTEREST SAYS CRAWFORD

E. P. Crawford, candidate for city commissioner subject to the action of the voters at the general election to be held Tuesday, April 7, today made the following statement:

In announcing as a candidate for the office of city commissioner I made the statement that I did so at the solicitation of numerous citizens, and friends who convinced me that they thought I could render a service in that capacity. Since I am not the candidate of any group or faction, and am not committed to any preconceived policy of conducting the various departments of the city, I will face each problem with an open mind, and an earnest desire to assist in solving it to the best interest of the entire citizenship.

Being a citizen myself, and with all my interests here, I am affected by the acts of the commission in like manner as other citizens. Therefore, if you believe in my integrity, and that I have the interest of Cisco at heart, your vote and influence will be appreciated. If I can not be elected without casting aspersions and insinuations at the other candidates I prefer not to have the office.

NO INCREASE WASHINGTON, March 31.—President Hoover said today there would be no increase in taxes at the next session of congress if congress would hold expenditures down within the budget limitations.

CROSS PLAINS SLAYER STILL IS MYSTERY

Callahan county officers were still at loss to account for the slaying of Bob Ensor, 56-year-old Cross Plains farmer, who was shot to death from ambush near his home Saturday evening.

A man, arrested on another charge dated a year ago, and who, it was thought, might be able to throw some light on the shooting, was not believed today to have any connection with the case, officers said.

Sheriff R. L. Edwards, of Baird, and his officers were carrying their investigation into neighboring counties, particularly Brown, where officers were cooperating in the search for the slayer.

Ensor, former deputy sheriff and resident of Callahan county virtually all of his life, was shot by a hidden gunman who cleared underbrush to make a target of Ensor as he opened a field gate about a quarter of a mile from his home.

The man arrested at Cross Plains and held last night at Baird is not believed the slayer but officers suspect he may have knowledge of the killing. Tollett told the News over telephone. He is being held on another charge, filed some time ago, Tollett said.

Ensor's body was found in front of his field gate, 32 steps from a clump of bushes which formed an ambush for his slayer. His body had been pierced by five bullets fired from a shotgun. One shot entered the mouth, crushing the upper teeth, and the others entered the right side.

Alarmed because her husband did not return from town after an absence of three hours, Mrs. Ensor started a search and found the body at the gate, near the Ensor car.

Mrs. Charles Kent a neighbor of the Ensors', and her small daughter, who had ridden from Cross Plains with Mr. Ensor, had gotten out of the car a quarter of a mile north of the scene of the killing, at a road leading from the highway to their home.

Officers said footprints found about the clump of bushes were traced for some distance across the Ensor field and that automobile tracks were found some 600 yards north of the scene of the killing.

Vets to Visit Health Center

AUSTIN, March 31.—Plans for the annual pilgrimage of members of the American Legion in Texas to Legion hospital, Legion, Texas on Sunday, April 5, with combined exercises dedicating the Child Health center, have been worked out at state headquarters of the organization.

The Child Health center was erected at a cost of $10,000 by the state organizations of the Legion and auxiliary, and will be a center for child welfare work among the children of veterans who are patients at the hospital.

Provision was made by a resolution adopted at the Legion state convention held in Austin last year for an annual pilgrimage to this shrine of the Legion, construction of which was one of the activities of the organization early in its history.

WATER RATES EXPLAINED BY COMMISSIONER

The following statement was issued today by Geo. D. Fee, commissioner in charge of the water department of the city of Cisco:

To the citizenship of Cisco: Since the matter of water rates in Cisco has been injected into the present political campaign I feel it my duty, as water commissioner, to make the following statement simply for the purpose of correcting misimpressions which the citizens may have gained through statements by some of the candidates both through the press and by word of mouth.

Since the question arose I have visited a number of cities in the neighborhood of Cisco for the purpose of collecting accurate data in the comparison of our rates with those charged elsewhere and also with a view to discovering, if possible, any means of further reducing service costs to our own people. In this connection I want to say that we are endeavoring to supply this public service at the lowest possible cost consistent with the greatest efficiency. Of all the cities visited Cisco was found to have the lowest rates.

For your information I present the following facts: As a basis for comparison of individual bills I took my own water bill for August 1930 and asked each of the cities visited to figure a bill upon its own rates for the same amount of water used during the same month. It was charged $3.70 in Cisco. The same amount of water used in Eastland at that time, I found, would have cost me $7.25; at Ranger, $9.50; at Breckenridge, $10.25, and at Big Spring, $11.60, the lowest rates being figured in each instance.

Rates for Beautification It has been said that the people of Cisco cannot afford to pay for water under the present rates to keep lawns, trees and flowers. This is incorrect. Under current rates each Cisco consumer is allowed 2,000 gallons, above the domestic minimum of 3,300 gallons, for each 50 feet of parkway (lot frontage) free of charge each month. This is done to encourage beautification and the water is available to every citizen who is entitled to it and makes application at the water department office.

In addition a customer is given a rate of 12 1-2 cents per thousand gallons (one third the regular rate) for watering lawns, limited to 2,000 gallons for each 1,000 square feet of lawn per month. A rate of 18 3-4 cents per thousand gallons (one-half the regular rate) is allowed for water used on garages likewise limited to 2,000 gallons per 1,000 square feet, or two gallons to each square foot, per month.

Taking for example, a home with a 30-foot parkway (or lot frontage) which is about the minimum, it will be seen that the actual gallonage allowed for all purposes under our minimum of $1.25 per month is much higher than the 3,300 gallons allowed for house consumption. The lawn for such a home may be estimated for easier computation, at 1,000 square feet. The domestic minimum of 3,300 gallons, plus the 2,000 allowed for parkway beautification, equals 5,300 which is the actual gallonage allowed per month for a minimum charge of $1.25. For 25 cents additional, making a minimum charge of $1.50, the consumer secures 2,000 more gallons per month.

DEFENSE OPENS CASE IN TRIAL OF BROTHERS CRIMINAL COURT, Chicago, March 31.—Counsel for Leo V. Brothers, charged with the murder of Alfred J. Lingie, opened the St. Louis gunman's defense today by challenging the testimony of state witnesses that Brothers ran from the subway where the reporter was killed.

The defense's second witness, Lawrence O'Malley, a switchman, testified that he saw Lingie shot last June and that Brothers was not the slayer. O'Malley was the first witness produced by either side who testified that he saw the actual shooting.

QUAKE, FIRE LEVELS PART OF MANAGUA

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, March 31.—A severe earthquake lasting only four to six minutes shook Managua at 10:02 a. m. bringing down nearly all buildings, especially the higher ones.

Fire started in the market in the central part of town which was crowded. Women and children were in the throng. It was reported one section of the market fell in. It held approximately 35 people who were burned to death.

The Lupone, the largest hotel, was down all but one wall. Dead and injured could be seen from the streets. The street was lined in many sections with other wounded and dead.

Fire and earthquake today destroyed a major part of Managua, capital city of Nicaragua. Advice to the state department in Washington which caused President Hoover to order military, naval and Red Cross aid to the stricken residents and messages to the Tropical Radio at New Orleans and Boston said fire continued to rage in the city of 33,000 population.

The central part of the city was destroyed. Fire started immediately advised to Tropical Radio said the fire is sweeping the central district of the city now towards the west and is entirely out of control. Major General Preston Brown, commandant of military forces in the Canal Zone, reported to the war department that Managua had been destroyed.

Early devices mentioned nothing concerning casualties.

TRACK MEET IS POSTPONED TO THURSDAY

Second postponement of the Eastland county interscholastic league track and field meet at Gorman, this time until Thursday, was made yesterday afternoon when the track was found to wet.

The meet, first scheduled to be held last Saturday evening in connection with the literary events, was delayed until this afternoon because of the cold wave which struck the section Friday.

NO CONCLUSION IS REACHED ON OIL PRORATION

AUSTIN, March 31.—I have not reached a conclusion on what amount of oil production should be allowed and I know the commissioners have not," R. D. Parker, chief of the oil and gas division of the state railroad commission, said this morning.

The commission was expected to hold a conference today on the topic. Present proration orders, fixing the state total at 645,000 barrels a day, expire tomorrow.

Legislature Aids

For more than a year, Dave Goodwin, above, illiterate backwoodsman, sat in cells in Dallas, Tex., and Texarkana county jails, reciting a battered fiddle, singing crude ballads and hoping for justice. Now, after all other efforts failed, the state legislature has ruled that he may have a new trial because the jury which convicted him of murdering Lloyd Elliott in a quarrel over a hog, and fixed death as the penalty, was intimidated by a mob.

ANCIENT SKULL FOUND. CHEHALIS, Wash., March 31.—A skull of a human being, which lived anywhere from 20,000 to 50,000 years ago, was found in the Big Bottom district by Bert Purcell of Randle, Wash. The top of the skull was caved in, as if struck by a blow. The skull shows the man had a very short neck, large, protruding jawbones, small eyes, flat nose and wide, large lips. Dr. U. M. Lauman plans to send the skull to the Smithsonian institution.

PET ROBIN TRAINED RIFON, Wis., March 31.—Emil Badtke, farmer, living west of Ripon, has a pet robin which he keeps in a cage during the winter. The bird will shake hands with the farmer and leave or enter the cage at his call. In summer, Badtke permits his robin to live outside, but it never leaves the premises. He has christened the pet "Babe."

CONVICT SCHOOL GROWS. JACKSON, Mich., March 31.—The school for prisoners at Michigan state prison here soon will be enlarged to permit room for two more classes—those of the seventh and eighth grades. There are 1,400 prisoners enrolled for classes up to the sixth grade, and 400 are taking "advanced work," according to Warden Harry H. Jackson.

STUDENTS ARE INVITED TO STATE CAPITOL

Eastland county school teachers, patrons and students who attend the annual interscholastic league meet at Austin this year are invited by Rep. Tom J. Cunningham to visit the capitol building while in that city.

"When you have come to Austin I should be glad while you are here to render you what services I can and to show you through the capitol," says Rep. Cunningham's invitation. "I am sure that some of the students have not yet had the pleasure of going through our state capitol and might enjoy such a visit. You may feel free to call upon me and I shall take great pleasure in giving to the students especially, what information I am able to, and incident of history which may be found here as well as to explain to them, should they desire, the operations of the legislature. It may be that some of you can visit us while we are in session and this will be of much interest to the student body."

RACKETEERS "BOMB" MOVIE DALLAS, March 31.—Declaring racketeers are seeking to injure the patronage of his theater, Paul B. Scott, manager of the Varsity theater here, has offered a reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person who broke a "stick bomb" in the showhouse and drove his audience to the street.

PORT WORTH, March 31.—Dorothy and Helen Clark, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Clark of Plainview, granddaughters of Randolph Clark, one of the founders of Texas Christian college, are enrolled in the institution this year.

FAMOUS COACH IS ONE AMONG NINE VICTIMS

BAZAAR, Kansas, March 31.—Knute Rockne, noted Notre Dame football coach, and eight other men were killed in an airplane crash near here today.

The plane, operated by the Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., was en route to Kansas City to Los Angeles. Rockne was listed as a passenger on the plane when it left Kansas City earlier in the day.

Persons who reached the wreckage of the craft said there were no survivors. The plane crashed on the farm of Steward Baker, near here. It was a combination passenger and mail plane and was delayed 15 minutes in its departure from Kansas City.

The delay was caused by late arrival of mail. Edward Baker, farmer, was feeding the stock on the Steward Baker farm and was watching the plane as it flew over. Suddenly, he said, there was an explosion and the ship crashed to earth. It was flying low, he said, probably because of cloudy weather.

First check of the debris showed there were nine bodies in the plane. The ship did not burn. Members of the Baker household heard the explosion and rushed to the scene a mile and a half away. The passenger list was reported here to include Knute Rockne, J. H. Chestnut, F. Goltzwaite, an unidentified man from Chicago, two pilots and Robert Frye Steward.

MRS. ROCKNE ON WAY TO SOUTH BEACH SOUTH BEACH, Ind., March 31.—Mrs. Knute Rockne wife of the famous Notre Dame coach, who was killed in Kansas today in an airplane crash was reported today to be recovering from Miami Beach, Florida where she spent the winter to South Beach.

Notre Dame officials said she was scheduled to leave early today and that they had not been able to get in touch with her by the middle of the afternoon.

PROMOTION OF COTTON USE IS UNDERTAKEN

AUSTIN, March 31.—Aid of every chamber of commerce in Texas will be enlisted as the first step toward enrolling the state in a nationwide movement to increase uses of cotton, J. E. McDonald, Texas commissioner of agriculture, announced today.

McDonald was just returned from a meeting of southern commissioners of agriculture in Atlanta, Ga., where plans were laid for organization of the association for the increased use of cotton on a nationwide scale.

He said non-cotton growing states will be invited to join the movement on the theory that if the purchasing power of the agricultural south is expanded the manufacturing and industrial north will be benefited.

FARMER JOHN N. GARNER OF TEXAS.

Farmer John N. Garner is back in his Uvalde home. He has big interests in his section. He is a farmer and a ranchman. He owns herds of sheep and flocks of goats. Most of the time he is the minority leader of his party and hopes to be speaker of the house some day. He deserted Washington after the lame ducks got away and, according to a Uvalde correspondent, "he has doaned his brogans and cotton overalls and returned to the soil." He has planted five different kinds of vegetables and all were out before the recent frost. He is going to fish, he is going to work in his garden, he is going to chop down some live oak trees, he is going to make himself fit physically as he is mentally for the opening session of the 72nd congress in December. His legislative friends are doing their best to give him an ideal district. Hence he is at peace with the world, keeps a weather eye on his old and his new fences and is planning to make life interesting for his republican brothers on his return to the capital of the nation early in December. Garner is more than an individual. He is a Texas landmark and a national institution.

WHERE THE GAMBLERS ARE PLACING THEIR MONEY.

Chicago is more than the Windy City of America. It is one of the fast growing cities. It is one of the most progressive cities. It is one of the very wealthy cities of the world. Gamblers bet on their judgment and never for sentimental reasons. They are betting six to one that "Big Bill" Thompson will be defeated by Anton J. Cermak in the mayoralty election battle April 7. King George is not the paramount issue in Chicago politics this year. "Big Bill" and his herd of burros are the principal issues. "Big Bill" is a colorful individual; Cermak is a colorless individual with a fine record. He is not an Alexander Hamilton or a Theodore Roosevelt. He is a plodder of the Calvin Coolidge type and he takes his time in ascending the ladder and now he has his eye on the top rung in Illinois.

SAFETY FIRST CAMPAIGN SHOWS RESULTS.

During 1930 ten states conducted Save-A-Life motor vehicle inspection campaigns. Close to 3,500,000 cars were examined as to brakes, lights, horns, steering mechanisms and the like. More than a million of these had defective brakes, 2,000,000 had unsafe headlights, 219,000 had defective steering, and thousands more had other defects of smaller importance. The faulty equipment was corrected, with the result that during the month in which the campaigns took place and the month following, most of the states enjoyed a decrease in accidents.

The value of inspections, like the value of laws requiring examination of drivers, is not open to doubt. There is every reason to believe that a large proportion of automobiles using the highways are defective, and that brakes, steering or lights might fail in an emergency.

It may be that the most hopeful sign in the automobile accident firmament at present is the vast amount of scientific attention being given the problem. The entire nation is observing those states which, in spite of a rising national accident record, are reducing fatalities and injuries. The near future should bring us a long way toward solving the highway accident problem.

RUINOUS "ECONOMY."

A primary reason for the magnitude of fire loss in the United States is the inadequacy of building laws in many communities, coupled with a false sense of economy on the part of builders.

The sort of "saving" that builds without employing the most fire-resistant construction and materials, really amounts to waste. Second-rate construction may save a few dollars here, a few more dollars there—and it may be the means of destroying property valued at thousands of dollars and invaluable lives.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters has created a building code, most of whose provisions should be incorporated in the codes of all cities and towns. It is said that the success achieved in holding down fire waste in a number of European cities is largely due to the strictness and adequacy of their building codes. America has the money and skill to build homes and buildings that come as close to being fire-proof as is possible—but the fallacious idea of economy often stands in the way.

There are few American communities which do not house one or a thousand fire-traps—buildings whose very existence is a constant menace to all property in the neighborhood. They may even—as the Chicago and San Francisco fires demonstrated—menace an entire city. Likewise, there are few communities, aside from half a dozen metropolises, which are free of dry fields such as that which was responsible for the great disaster in Berkeley, California. Conditions like these show why our half billion dollar annual fire waste is almost a thing to be expected.

OTHER OPINIONS

THE SLOW PACE KILLS

The pace that kills is the crawl. Dr. A. L. Goldwater of New York City, who made a survey among American leaders of industry announced as a result of his investigation.

The inquiry disclosed that men who work the hardest with consideration for the laws of health, not only live the longest, but they get greater enjoyment out of their period of labor. The man who relaxes in middle life is found to be most susceptible to the ailments of life. The conclusion, gathered from replies of several hundred business men, is that "constant activity is productive of longer life, better health and greater happiness than early retirement to passive indolence."

It is always gratifying to see a man or woman who has passed the allotted years of life take an active interest in current events and in the affairs of the community. Such a person may be afflicted with physical infirmity, but he seems to have the knack of living in spite of the efforts of Father Time to make him succumb. One of the biggest mistakes any person can make seems to be to quit work at 50. Some of the finest accomplishments of men and women have been given to the world after they had passed the limit which so many regard as the limit of useful activity; the age at which leisure should be permitted to dominate: the life.

John Burroughs was fine example of a man who retained his interest in the active affairs of life until the last hour of his existence. Other men, like Thomas A. Edison, appreciate the benefits of work after they have passed the period when most men think about retiring and abandoning all pursuits that savor of labor. The man whose ambition is to "die in the harness" nearly always has the advantage of years of service over the one who relaxes at 50.—Paris News.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON E. WAITE
Shawnee, Oklahoma.

We often wonder how many there were whose high hopes of fortune were dashed in a few minutes of fleeting time in the stock crash.

"If only"—how often is the exclamation heard when to pay court to the sweet goddess, sweet but tantalizingly elusive, it is too late, the die being cast, the stocks so low, the certificate between nervously twisting fingers bringing ruin. And yet there were some upon whom fortune smiled. Even as there must be losers, there must be winners.

That is why the hope of man who plays the stock market is that he will one day be among the company of the favored! That is why, with hope eternal tucked beneath his vest, he attempts again the thankless task of courting riches. Often now they peruse the market prices, mute and cold upon a board of black and white, or cold in print within the pages of a newspaper. And then they contemplate the might-have-been for them, or what might be in store.

Chance, lottery, playing the stock market, or whatever you may care to call it, is always accompanied by fevered excitement. Men cast aside their shells and emerge in answer to a common impulse to win wealth.

There are not views expressed in the spirit of knocking, or in criticism, but based on knowledge of actual distress to many families by reason of ill advised speculation. In many cases matrimonial peace has been threatened, and want, and even hunger caused by losses.

But we are of the opinion that with proper guidance and example gambling on the market may be made limited in its appeal.

Arena to Be Finished by Fall

BROWNSVILLE, March 31.—In defiance to a jinx that has pursued bull fighting here and in Matamoros, negotiations are being made by a group of promoters for the construction of a $10,000 arena in Matamoros, just across the Mexico border from here. The last arena in Matamoros was destroyed by fire seven years ago, the third to be burned in about 10 years. Present plans provide for the completion of the new arena before Sept. 16, when a mammoth celebration and bull fight is scheduled to be held in commemoration of Mexico's national holiday.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 31.—The headless body of a Hindu college student, found in the Sacramento river weighted down with a tractor wheel, has furnished authorities with one of the strangest murder mysteries in California history.

The victim was Sant Ram Pande, son of a high police authority in India, and himself a secret investigator for California's state bureau of criminal investigation.

There have been 14 Hindu murders in the Sacramento valley since 1927. Pande was investigating one of the most recent, in which N. Ram Dhami was slain while walking on the river front.

Hindu Murder Cult
The slaying led authorities to suspect the presence of a Hindu murder cult, and several arrests have been made. According to Clarence S. Morrill, chief of the state bureau of criminal identification, "if we don't stop these people from killing each other, we won't be able to stop them if they should start killing Americans."

Behind the murders is a story of Oriental mysticism and intrigue, involving the present political strife in India, and followers of the goddess, Kali, whose greatest pleasure comes at the sight of a headless body.

There are three active groups of Hindus in California, said Morrill. "There are the Pro-British who are willing to take sides with England; the Gandhi followers and the Gadhars, a branch of the Gandhi organization comparable with the communists in this country."

Thuggee's Methods
The method used to kill Pande is similar to that used by the Thuggee, as they are sometimes known. Before setting out on an expedition they always presented themselves before an image of Kali.

"They destroyed their victims by means of a cloth drawn tightly around the neck and pressed with the hands at the back of the neck, not unlike the practice of garroting which was common in England a few generations ago."

"The bodies were often cut into pieces and buried in loose sand near the roadside, cast into streams or wells or with stones tied around their necks, thrown into the rivers."

The shrine of Kali is sometimes called the Monkey temple, on account of the multitudes of repulsive monkeys that swarm there. Within the temple is the goddess whose hideous black figure with distorted face and open mouth, is worshipped by Hindus of all castes.

Goddess Pleased
According to Morrill, the goddess Kali is greatly pleased by human blood or flesh. The blood of a fish or tortoise will please her three months; that of certain wild animals, nine months; a gnu's, a year; an antelope's, 12 years; a rhinoceros or tiger's blood, a hundred years, but the blood of a lion, or a man, will delight this goddess for a thousand years.

Of this teaching and worship, Thuggeeism was the natural results, combining theft with religion, the service of their goddess with love of plunder, the human life for her, and the booty for themselves.

The British government took steps to suppress the Thuggee's activities, but it is believed that the cult still exists and has spread to California. There are now more than 2,000 Hindus in the state, and in order to prevent further outbreaks, the United States has ordered deportation of every one who cannot produce evidence of having been legitimately admitted to this country.

CATTLE FOOD IN AIR
MADISON, Wis., March 31.—James C. Garver remodeled a large building here to manufacture cattle feed. Friends were invited to witness its first production. Garver pushed a button. Wheels turned. Workmen poured great sacks of grain into hoppers, but nothing came out as the finished product. The building was searched from top to bottom without discovering where the grain and molasses was going. Garver went to the roof. There out of a ventilator spouted the mixture, and the wind scattered it afar. A workman had diverted the ground grain into the wrong pipe.

GIRLS FORGE CHECKS
STOUGHTON, Wis., March 31.—Two fourth grade school girls bought candy here, cashing a $5.75 check which they said a woman gave to them. Encouraged by their success, they tried to cash another at a bank where the fourth grade penmanship was obvious. The bank turned them over to authorities. The authorities turned them over to their parents.

NEVADA SEEKS PROSPERITY BY GAMING LAWS

By EARL H. LEIF
United Press Staff Correspondent
RENO, Nev., March 31.—The restoration of wide open gambling in Nevada under sanction of a newly-enacted law brings to the heart of the Nevada, a new promise, a new hope, of early prosperity and good times.

Nevada was in its greatest heyday when gambling flourished. High stakes and affluence have always been synonymous to natives. The entire history of Nevada is interwoven with games of chance in all its forms, faro, roulette, poker, klon-dike, and mining stock speculation—the greatest gamble of all in the hectic boom era. One of the largest, very real fortunes in the state had its inception over the green felt of a poker table.

Lured Adventurers.
Gold, silver, hot liquor and gambling provided the lure that attracted the wanderer and adventurer to this territory in sufficient numbers to admit Nevada into the union. They brought into existence such towns as Tonopah, Goldfield, Virginia City, Rhyolite, Bullfrog. Scores of old-timers still recollect when hundreds of thousands of dollars exchanged hands without the flicker of an eyelid.

Gambling houses were often the only permanent structures in mining camps providing a haven from the harsh desert elements. Courts have held sessions, weddings have been performed, babies have been born, dying men have spent the twilight hours of life, in their warmth.

No Opposition
When the state legislature was considering the wide open gambling bill, which it later passed, there was no concerted opposition.

The "unwritten code" of Nevada has prevailed in recent years tolerating all honest gambling, despite the stern laws of statute books which make it a felony. Anything is permitted under the new law, with astoundingly severe penalties for dishonesty.

The press, public and business men were generally favorable to lifting the lid on gambling. Now the revenue from its licensing will go to the state, counties and cities, to care for their poor and aged, to educate children, to build good roads and support the government.

French Women Shan Marriage

PARIS, March 31.—Marriages in France are becoming less numerous because women are reaching a state of economic independence, according to the newspaper "L'Œuvre."

The majority of women questioned declared they could see no point in becoming the "domestic puppets of a husband" when they can enjoy much more freedom earning their own living. Very few women admitted that they enjoyed rearing families, or doing household work.

It also was brought out that the traditional French dowry is becoming a thing of the past with the masses. Nowadays it is limited mainly to the more wealthy and aristocratic classes.

Marriage among the working people appears to be entirely a question of affection. Although the number of marriages is on the decrease, the number of true-love matches are more numerous than before.

"What Do They Do in New York?"

AUSTIN, March 31.—The Texas senate was in the midst of a debate over whether it would allow a blind man to re-establish a cold drink stand in the general land office building.

Sen. George Purl of Dallas had the floor. He was telling the senators about 42 replies he had from letters to 47 governors as to how cold drink stand in the general public buildings.

He waved a letter above his head.

"Now, what do they do in New York?" he demanded, and paused.

Sen. Pink Parrish, jovial ex-mayor of Lubbock and senate wag, rose.

"Mr. President, Mr. President," he shouted. "Will the gentleman yield?"

The gentleman yielded.

"They elect Al Smith in New York, senator," Parrish informed Purl, and sat down.

The debate went on, but the senate and gallery roared with laughter.

Senator Purl was the Texas delegate to the Democratic national convention at Houston in 1928, who held to the Texas standard and refused to allow its being carried in the parade which followed the nomination of Smith for president.

Shooting Galleries Cater to Dissatisfied Women

PARIS, March 31.—Montmartre is about to introduce another novelty into its famous network of streets. The novelty is to be a series of new shooting galleries for women only with the slogan written above them, "Homicide Made Easy," or "Every Wife Her Own Sharpshooter."

It is reported that, instead of revolving balls, the rows of pipes and rabbits, and the little jet of water on which an aluminum fish is balanced in the old shooting galleries at fairs and city amusement parks, the new galleries will be equipped with the silhouettes of men, standing, sitting, lying down, and in every conceivable pose both relaxed and tense.

There will also be silhouettes which will have a superficial resemblance to practically every type of husband so that the woman may take her choice as to the one that most resembles her spouse. Vital spots are to be marked with the letter X for sure aim.

Learning to handle a pistol has become the vogue in Paris and the women are going at the business of a perfect aim with seriousness. The new shooting galleries are fitted out with a complete assortment of firearms, including rifles, revolvers, and a section labeled "Target American," is a sub machine gun set up on a tripod at the level of a woman's shoulder.

The manager of one of these establishments says that he does not anticipate much rifle and machine-gun trade because the French woman is conservative. She does not readily take to novel methods.

"Later perhaps," he added, "she will take up the machine-gun and grenade. Today the revolver is her favorite."

There will be a professor of shooting in charge and several methods of husband-potting will be taught including the premeditated murder, with long careful aim, or the more snappy "crime passionne" which requires a quick shot and unsteady hand. The professor will teach the use of the Maxim silencer for rare cases and an extra charge will be made for the instruction. Fees are reported to be reasonable, however, and the length of the course, according to one professor, "depends on the temperament of the pupil.

Also on the number of bullets fired." Dipolmas will be awarded those who pass their final examinations, stamped with guarantees to unmarried as well as married women, for success in their enterprises. In round figures, the cost of the course will amount to $10.

San Benito Seeks Municipal Building

SAN BENITO, March 31.—Resolution recommending to the city commission immediate construction of a municipal building costing about $125,000 has been endorsed by the Kiwanis, Lions and Rotary clubs of San Benito and by committees representing nearly a half dozen women's clubs.

The proposed building would include a public library, city auditorium, city administrative offices, and woman's club room. Location has been tentatively set as a portion of the city park which will also afford site for San Benito's new $125,000 postoffice, money for which has already been appropriated.

Houston-Texas oil output totals about 726,000 barrels per day.

COMMUNITY PROVIDES FEET MENDMINEE

MENOMINEE, Mich., March 31.—New incentive to live was offered Joseph Northcliffe, 24, today after a friendly community had raised more than $450 to provide him artificial feet, clothing, and a ticket to his home in Coarsesold, Calif. The youth's feet were frozen by exposure here while hiking across the country. His relatives were unable to assist him and physicians reported that his recovery was being retarded by despondency.

SPARE WHITE MEN

NAUGATUCK, Conn., March 31.—Although cannibals of the African jungle place little value on a human life, they will never kill a white man, J. E. Wendes, Naugatuck rubber manufacturer declared after three years among the savage tribes. Kind treatment and a government check on all whites entering the jungle assures their safety, he said.

FIRE FAN ON JOB AGAIN

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 31.—Dave Dickinson, long known to Cambridge firemen as a "spark", is happy again. There was a time when every local fire of consequence had him as an enthusiastic spectator. During the past nine years he has been kept at home by infantile paralysis. Now, however, he is able to answer alarms once more. He has bought a motorized wheel chair capable of carrying him to fires at the rate of seven miles an hour.

MADISON, Wis., March 31.—For the first time in more than 50 years the University of Wisconsin's student loan fund is completely exhausted and temporary aid to worthy students is being doled out in "hand to mouth" manner. Outstanding loans now amount to $150,000.

WILLIE ROBOT HAS PREMIERE AT EXHIBITION

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 31.—Willie Robot proved himself a remarkable man in his world premiere here. He obeys the human voice and does many routine tasks. Willie is the latest tin man born of science. His parents, a nationally known electrical manufacturing company, visions 2,000,000 jobs for him.

Just at present Willie, the only one of his kind, is on an exhibition tour, but eventually he and his tribe—as they increase—may perform tasks of million of factory workers who now do routine tasks.

He operates vacuum sweepers, answers the telephone, turns electric lights, fans, talking machines and radios off and on. He has ambitions to become a traffic policeman.

Willie works by spoken syllables only. Each syllable spoken into his telephone produces a momentary light. The light shines on a vacuum tube, starting an electrical current through his "nerve center"—a series of electrical coils.

The coils are so arranged that Willie completes his tasks one at a time, while he calmly smokes a cigarette. Three syllables starts the robot, four stop him. Different numbers of syllables are the signal for various tasks, each task having its particular number.

U. S. Will Buy Czar's Library

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The Library of Congress has announced it will purchase part of the library which was once the property of the former royal family of Russia.

No mention was made of the price involved. The books will be obtained from Israel Perlsstein, of New York, who acquired the Russian collection a few months ago from a State concern dealing in books in Soviet Russia.

The collection is said to embrace about 1,700 volumes. It includes books that belonged to Alexander II, Alexander III, Nicholas II, the Count Alexis and the Empress Marie Feodorovna, wife of Alexander III.

The collection formerly was in the Winter Palace at Leningrad. The purchase includes numerous secret documents embraced in more than 50 volumes which had belonged to the general staff of Russia and related to military preparations of various countries adjacent to Russia.

The books are printed in Russian, French, German, English and other languages.

for lawn upkeep, making a total charge of 7,300 gallons per month for $1.50.

Rates Compared

Comparing Cisco's rates with those of other cities visited we have the following:

Cisco: No charge for tapping main for connection. Deposit of $3 required. No charge for transferring meter. Minimum of $1.25 for 3,000 gallons, plus 25 cents meter rental, plus 25 cents for garbage service, plus 50 cents for sewer, equaling total monthly charge of $2.25.

Lastland: Five dollars for making tap, plus $1 service charge. Deposit of $5. Minimum of $2 for 4,000 gallons, plus 75 cents sewer charge, plus 25 cents filter charge, equaling $3 total monthly minimum. Transfer charge of $1.

Range: Ten dollars for making tap, plus $1 service charge. Five dollars deposit. Minimum of $2 for 2,000 gallons, plus 50 cents for sewer, making total minimum of $2.50. Transfer charge of $1.

Breckenridge: Minimum charge of $1.50 for 2,000 gallons. Sewer charges range from $6 to $90 annually. No information was obtained relative to other charges.

Eg Spring: Seventeen dollars and 50 cents minimum tap charge. Five dollars required for deposit. Rate, 49 cents per 1,000 gallons straight, up to 350,000 gallons. Sewer charge of 25 cents.

Effect on Revenues

Now let us consider the effect of the suggested revision in our water rates would have upon the revenues of the department. The proposed revision is a $1 minimum allowing 5,000 gallons with a maximum cost of $3 per month to domestic consumers.

Statistics covering the past 11 months show that during that period 709 customers did not exceed the minimum. There are 70 commercial concerns which during that time paid an aggregate average of $1,356.95 per month for water. There were 628 customers who, one or more months during the period, did exceed the minimum.

With a minimum rate of $1 the 709 customers who did not exceed the minimum would pay $709 per month. Assuming that the 628 who did exceed the minimum would pay under the proposed rates, $2 per month, this group would pay into the department a total of $1,256 per month. Keeping the revenues from commercial users at the same figure as under the present rates, a total monthly revenue of $3,111.95 would be provided, which equals $39,743.40 as the annual gross revenue from the water. Compare this with the present gross revenues of between $65,000 and $70,000 and you will readily see that a large difference in the city's income will have to be made up from another source.

It is easy to see, from these facts alone, that the small consumer will not be benefited under this plan, which reduces his minimum. If he desires to buy from 7,300 gallons to 5,000 gallons per month. On the other hand the large domestic consumer, regardless of the quantity of water he uses, will pay a maximum charge of only $3 per month.

This would dissipate the revenues and benefit the man who is least in need of it.

We have plenty of water and, as one of the commissioners I am in favor of giving the public more water for their money if it can be done without damage to the revenues or the efficiency of the service.

GEO. D. FEE,
Water Commissioner.

T. C. U. TRACK TEAM ELECTS TWO CAPTAINS

FORT WORTH, March 31.—For the third time within a period of three months, Texas Christian athletes have chosen two leaders to captain Horned Frog teams. The third double captaincy was voted when the track team elected Don Nugent, Mayspear, and Dan Salkeld, Abilene, co-captains of the 1931 track squad. Richard "Red" Cliver had been elected to the honor, but after scholastic difficulties prohibited his participation, another election was held.

Nugent is serving his third year for T. C. U. as a dash star and will be captain of the track men. Salkeld, in his second year and has been the mainstay of the T. C. U. representation in the weights since he became eligible. Salkeld will captain the field men.

Just three days previous to the election of the Nugent-Salkeld combination to captain the track team, the championship basketball team elected Ray McCulloch, stellar forward, and Wendell "Doc" Summer, sensational scorer, to captain the 1932 cage team.

The 1931 football eleven will also be captained by two men. Earl's Green, senior fullback, and Johnny Vaughn, junior guard, were voted the honor.

The idea of electing two captains was initiated in T. C. U. at the close of the 1929 football campaign, when the champions elected Noble Atkins and Cy Leland as leaders. With the ice broken by the football champions, the idea has increased in popularity until every major athletic team in T. C. U. with the exception of baseball, has two captains.

Not an Accident

During the cold wave of last Friday and Saturday followed by rain in many sections, you had a plentiful supply of gas. This stinging blast of winter came suddenly, the temperatures dropping as much as fifteen degrees an hour. The cold followed several days of spring like weather.

The demand for gas jumped by leaps and bounds in a few minutes. Every stove in every home was suddenly turned wide open. During the peak of the cold, more gas was consumed in an hour than would be used in an entire day in summer time. Your demand for gas was more than four times what it was on the warmest day of the same week. But the gas was there the instant you needed it.

This service was not an accident, but represented the sum total of a large financial expenditure, an adequate gas supply, and a corps of well trained employees. This organization and these facilities had to be ready when you needed them, and the significant fact is that the facilities and organization necessary to serve you in these emergencies must stand by for a considerable portion of the year waiting your instant call for this vital service.

What would the city have done in such an emergency if it had depended on only a few wells in one gas field? How could it have given the necessary service with the pipe line owned by one group, the distribution company by another and the gas wells perhaps by still another, with divided responsibility all around? What would you have done without a well trained and thoroughly equipped organization back of your gas service—an organization which has learned through many years of experience how to serve you and how to anticipate your every need in keeping your homes warm? This organization is coordinated as one unit from the gas wells to your gas burner, and this coordinated effort is absolutely necessary to a dependable fuel service.

This is the difference between raw fuel at the well and a complete gas service at your burner. These emergencies are the real test of a dependable gas service.

Please remember when you go to pay your gas bill for the service rendered during this cold wave that the bill covers a good sized March blizzard.

MAD MARRIAGE

BEGIN HERE TODAY Gypsy McBride, 19-year-old typist in a New York office, meets Jim Wallace at the home of her wealthy cousin, Anne Trowbridge.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXII

Once before Gypsy had seen Jim Wallace angry but that had been nothing like the white-faced fury with which he turned on the group at the table.

"I'll tell you what I think of you!" he cried. "I think you're a bunch of snobs, small-minded snobs. Do you hear that? Trying to turn up trouble, that's what you're doing!"

Harriet, coming from the kitchen, heard the last words and dropped a tea cup. There was the sound of crashing china.

It was less than a block to the Wallace home. They turned when they came to the brick sidewalk and walked up to the porch.

She was sure he was eager to get the car out. "I'd rather drive," she said.

The roadster shot forward with a jolt. Gypsy snuggled low in the seat, turning the fur of her collar up about her cheeks.

They met few travelers. The roadster lunged powerfully against the ribbon of pavement.

"Just a little," Gypsy admitted. "Time to be turning back," said Jim. When they reached the next cross-roads he swung the roadster to the right.

"Hello, Joe," Jim greeted him. "How's the coffee?" "You can't get better. You know that," the man said, smiling, and offering the menu.

"Smells good," Jim said, sniffing the fragrant aroma. "Didn't know I was hungry but I guess I am."

The blue eyes snapped angrily. It was almost as though she were looking at a stranger, Gypsy thought. This was not the kindly, considerate Jim she had become accustomed to.

They left the restaurant soon afterward. The drive home was shorter than Gypsy had expected even though Jim kept the car at lower speed.

Upstairs in her own room Gypsy reverently laid aside her new coat. She had forgotten about the expensive costume until the reflection in the full-length mirror reminded her.

It was a long while after she had put out the light and crept into bed before Gypsy fell asleep. When she awoke next morning the room was flooded with sunlight.

TROUBLE WITH WORLD IS SIN, SAYS PASTOR

"There are a lot of world doctors today who are trying to diagnose the world's ills when the trouble with the world is sin," Rev. H. D. Tucker said last night in the revival service at First Methodist church.

The weather was very disagreeable but 85 people were present at the service, the pastor reported. The text was Matthew 17:16 "And I brought him to thy disciples and they could not cure him."

Mr. Tucker announced that he would preach tonight from the subject: "The blackest thing, the reddest thing and the whitest thing." Grady G. Morton will lead the song service preceding the sermon.

"It is not popular to preach on sin today," Mr. Tucker said. "But sin is just as destructive as ever in the history of the world."

"Sin is back of every tragedy, every broken home, the destruction of all character. Sin is no respecter of persons but comes into any home. Sin is dangerous and destructive and has men bound down with terrible force."

"The text is an indictment against the church," Mr. Tucker declared. "Its tragic when unsaved people come about the church and we haven't power enough to get them saved," he said. "Our trouble is the same that Jesus told the disciples. We lack faith, and prayer. You must convince men that you love their souls before you can influence them to come to Christ," Mr. Tucker declared.

Something like 20 names have been given for membership in the church next Sunday and many others are deeply interested. The revival will continue through Sunday. The public is invited to these services.

HEN SETS RECORD

TRACEL, Cal., March 31. — A white leghorn hen owned by Ernest G. Dobney set a new record by laying eggs at 9 months of age. But the size of the eggs is still more astonishing. The largest measures 6 by 8 inches in circumference and tipped the scales at exactly four ounces.

Merkel — Improvements being made at Merkel Sanitarium preparatory to reopening.

Gruber — Water and gas system completed.

The hands of the clock on the bedside table pointed to 10 minutes of nine.

She was out of bed instantly, pulling on her clothes. It was the first morning since Aunt Ellen's departure that she had failed to breakfast with Jim. She hurried out into hall. The door of Jim's room was open, revealing covers thrown back on a tumbled bed.

Matilda was clearing the table when Gypsy reached the dining room.

"Has Mr. Wallace gone?" the girl asked.

"You can bring me my breakfast," Gypsy said. "All I want is fruit and toast and coffee."

There was a full day ahead. Miss Christopher was coming that morning. Gypsy reflected to bring samples of material for draperies and to talk about the furniture for the living room. She had forgotten to notify the electrician about the trouble with the kitchen light. She must manage to get the marketing done and be home again by 11 o'clock.

Matilda returned with the tray. As she set the dishes before Gypsy she said: "Cora can't come tomorrow. She sent word by Sam."

Saturday was the usual cleaning day. "Why can't Cora be here?" Gypsy asked.

"Sam says her mother's awful sick. Cora's gone over to take care of her."

"Remind me to telephone the agency," Gypsy answered. "Will you bring me my notebook from the desk, please?"

The coffee had been boiled too long. Gypsy hoped Jim's had been better. As she ate the toast the girl listed tasks for the day and wrote out the dinner menu. Then she went to the kitchen and consulted Matilda about supplies to be bought.

It was nearly 10 o'clock. Gypsy hurried upstairs and put on street clothes. When she came down again she saw the postman coming up the walk, and went to meet him.

"Any letters?" she asked. The postman smiled. "Yes, Ma'am," he said, "Lots of letters." There were several envelopes and a folded magazine in the assortment he handed her. The postman touched his hat and turned away.

Gypsy stood glancing through the letters. There were bills and an envelope addressed to Jim that probably contained a circular. A postcard announcing a sale of shoes. Gypsy came to the last envelope and as she recognized the handwriting her heart seemed to stop beating.
