

EMBEZZLEMENT OF PAY CHECKS MAY AMOUNT TO $50,000

Charges Filed Against R. W. McDonald, Bookkeeper of the Sun Company's Branch Office Here, Who is Missing—Complaint Filed Charging Val Harris With Complicity.

Embezzlement of pay checks, the total of which may run into thousands of dollars, is charged against R. W. McDonald, missing bookkeeper of the Sun Company's branch office in the Judia building, here, in a complaint filed in the office of Justice of the Peace M. Taylor yesterday.

A similar complaint also charges Gerald Byrne, alias Val Harris, with complicity in the theft, which has wide-reaching ramifications and is one of the cleverest pieces of work that have come to the attention of the local authorities, they say.

Byrne, who was not an employe of the Sun company, is also charged.

Checks Out Cisco Office.

The checks for the Sun company's employes in this section are mailed out from Dallas to the Cisco office. From there they are distributed to the men in the leases, teaming contractors and others.

McDonald is alleged to have held the pay checks upon their arrival and to have sent them to Byrne in Fort Worth. Byrne is alleged to have moved from hotel to hotel, at each one registering under the name of the employe of one of the checks until he was able to cash at that hotel.

The total amount of these speculations will not be known until all checks have been returned through the bank. The Sun company's office was closed today and no information from that source was available up to late afternoon.

According to the constable's office, it is known that Byrne cashed one check at Fort Worth for $426.00 at a jewelry store, where he bought two small diamonds and received $159 in change.

Says Loot $50,000.

Byrne's own statement, contained in correspondence in his possession, is believed to have shown receipts for the Sun company of more than $50,000," said Justice of the Peace Taylor this afternoon.

The matter first came to my attention when a man named J. M. Cash came to my office and told me that a fellow named Byrne was attempting to induce him to join him in disposing of stolen checks," continued Taylor.

Cash said that Byrne showed him a check on the American Exchange National Bank of Dallas for $649.78, made out to Frank Easter, a contracting contractor at Albany, and signed by L. Hopkins, cashier of the Sun company at Dallas. He wanted Cash to go with him to Fort Worth to cash it and promised him a share of the spoils.

Cash is said to have shown reluctance to the proposition in order to induce Byrne out and report the matter fully to the authorities.

Woman Involved.

According to Justice of the Peace Taylor, Byrne was living at a hotel here with a woman. On the evening of June 3, Cash was supposed to go to Fort Worth with Byrne, but Cash backed out of the scheme, he told local authorities, whereupon Byrne suggested an alternate plan that they take the woman out in an automobile and rob her of $750, which Byrne said she had taken through the sale of bootleg liquor.

According to the constable's office, a plan fell through when the woman was arrested by the authorities in charge of bootlegging and taken to a hotel where she was released on cash bond.

Cash's next suggestion to Cash, it was that both of them meet at a certain spot that night and make a big robbery. Cash is said to have gone to the appointed meeting place south of town to find that had become alarmed and fled. He checked a quart of whiskey and several personal letters and papers clump of bushes.

When he was last seen of him here when he jumped from a moving automobile in front of the Huey garage.

Notifies Dallas.

Justice of the Peace Taylor says he notified the Dallas headquarters of the Sun company by long distance that a check for $649.78 belonging to the constable's office here had been evidently stolen had been already summoned McDonald, McDonald bookkeeper, and McDonald missing in his office when he was in Dallas, he said.

McDonald was in custody when he was the general superintendent at the circumstances of the case and he was not sure whether or not he suspected the bookkeeper of the embezzlement or whether or not he wanted to charge against him. He told the office force here had been such a short length of time that he did not think that any of the men connected with the affair would be released McDonald and he would be in from Dallas to state the matter.

McDonald Gave Instructions.

McDonald gave instructions to meet the train upon which the constable was to arrive and to go up to my office. McDonald would do this. He left my office here has seen him since.

REPUBLICANS SETTLE DOWN TO THE WORK AHEAD

HIRAM JOHNSON TAKES CHARGE AND IS DIRECT- ING OWN CANDIDACY.

HITCHCOCK MARSHAL.

Will Direct From Field the Campaign In Behalf of General Wood.

Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 7.—Definite action among republican presidential candidates are today for the first time beginning to come out of the nebulous atmosphere of the preliminary period.

The arrival of Hiram Johnson to take personal charge of his candidacy and an agreement among Wood leaders to have Frank H. Hitchcock act as field marshal, are the outstanding developments.

With the arrival today of Ogden L. Mills, chairman of the executive committee on policies and platform, final conferences on the platform as it will be submitted to the convention are expected to begin.

The uninstructed delegations from eight districts in Mississippi were scattered today and counted among the Wood forces.

Sub-Committee Busy With Platform Planks

CHICAGO, Ill., June 6.—Two of the most important planks to be incorporated in the republican party platform of 1920 will be constructed during the convention here, and the candidate to be nominated will be the boss carpenter of the job. These are the planks dealing with foreign relations and Mexican policies.

This became evident today when Chairman W. H. Hays announced that when the platform committee begins building the 1920 instrument it will have at the outset complete data and expert advice on nineteen planks. Only the two that deal with foreign relations and Mexico will have to be built from the ground up.

Foreign Relations.

The foreign relations plank is by far the most important of the party declarations, and if Hiram Johnson is nominated it will be one thing, if Wood or Lowden is nominated it will be another. Thus the committee cannot well act until the clouds that now surround the nomination of a standard-bearer are cleared somewhat.

Hearings on the platform will begin early next week, it was announced today. Representatives of labor and of women's organizations have been given assurance they will have ample opportunity to state their cases.

Women and Labor.

This assurance was given specifically to Harriet Taylor Upton of Columbus, Ohio, president of the League of Women Voters, and to Charles S. Darratt of Georgia, president of the Farmers' Union, representing some 4,000,000 agriculturists.

The American Federation of Labor will send special representatives from its convention at Montreal to put labor's demands before the committee.

The advisory committee on policies and platform embracing republican specialists and experts in various lines, split into nineteen sub-committees, each having one issue to deal with. These sub-committees, it was announced here today, have now completed their work and will send to Chicago next week unanimous conclusions bearing on every issue which may be involved with the exception of foreign relations and Mexican problems.

Statement by Hays.

Many of the delegates who are to serve on the resolutions committee have been members of these sub-committees.

"It should be made clear, however," said Chairman Hays today, "that no part of these activities directly or indirectly usurp the functions of the resolutions committee of the convention itself; they are simply an aid to the resolutions committee in its work."

"It is obvious that the resolutions committee of the convention which will write the platform and to which the production of the work of the advisory committee will come as suggestions only, can do fuller justice to the needs of a wide and broad platform with the material furnished them by some of the best brains of the party working for five months in the evolution of suggestions.

"Full public hearings before the resolutions committee will be held on all important subjects and interested parties given every opportunity to present their views. The platform will deal, of course, with the great fundamental and when adopted it shall be the evidence of a sacred conviction that a trilateral obligation between the party and the people."

RESIGNATIONS OF SUE AND WILD ARE ACCEPTED

Become Effective After Appointment and Qualification of Successors.

The resignations of Commissioners Sue and Wild have been accepted by the city commission.

Following the filing of these resignations, a special session of the commission was called Thursday afternoon and immediate action taken. With but little discussion, the resignations were accepted, to become effective after the appointment and qualification of their successors.

The commissioners sitting with the mayor at this session were: W. J. Dopovan, D. E. Hittson and A. L. Mayhew.

Under the present charter it is said that the selection of successors to fill vacancies on the commission rests with the commission itself. It is not yet given out how soon such action will be taken in this case.

TRADE EXTENSION GETS ACTION FROM RETAIL MERCHANTS

Committee Named to Recommend Plans for Extending Cisco's Trade Territory.

Trade extension, trade relations, good roads, publicity and advertising were the principal topics discussed by the Retail Merchants' association at their regular meeting Thursday night.

They are for the extension of the retail trade of Cisco, and would promote this by trade excursions, trade days, and other special inducements to attract people to this center. A committee was named to work out plans along this line.

Trade relations between retailer and wholesaler was a matter talked over. Good roads were deemed essential to a healthy trade, and these retailers are all good roads boosters. They want to see Eastland county's roads built as early as conditions will permit.

Publicity and advertising were two topics that evoked much interest. They claim to be harvesting some benefits from their system and committee work in this field.

Benefits of the association to its members is already being manifest in many ways, was the general expression.

Outside of routine business and the usual committee reports, they had one report of special interest to them. It was that the city commission, sitting in another room of the city hall, had passed what is known as the peddler's ordinance.

This ordinance was asked by the association as a protection to the merchants who are permanent, pay taxes, and contribute to the city's welfare and progress. It prohibits the peddling of general merchandise and store articles carried by business houses, except under license, which is fixed at $100 per day. And for each violation the fine is from $25 to $100.

This ordinance is aimed at transient peddlers, principally, who contribute nothing, but take away from the city. "Neither does it affect the farmer peddling his products in this city," said President Fisk. "We want these farmers and their products."

In the ordinance there is nothing either to prevent the peddling of cold drinks and ice cream in the city. "These are the children's friends in the residential districts," they hold.

Members of the coal commission are: William O. Thompson of Columbus, Neal J. Perry of Rockledge, and William L. Collins of Reemont.

GALVESTON IS UP IN ARMS AT HOBBY'S ACTION

MASS MEETING TONIGHT TO PRO- TEST SENDING TROOPS TO THAT CITY.

Associated Press.

GALVESTON, Texas, June 4.—City officials met today with Adjutant General Cope, who arrived this morning to investigate the longshoremen's strike situation, which prompted the governor to order national guardsmen to this city.

A mass meeting has been called by the city commissioners for tonight to protest against the action of the governor.

Strike leaders insist they have been orderly and law abiding, and have no intention of resorting to anything unlawful to gain their ends.

The city commission last night adopted a resolution protesting against the governor's action, asserting that nothing in connection with the dock workers' strike had developed which the police could not handle, and under the circumstances, martial law, the resolution states, is an insult to Galveston's citizenship.

National Guard Awaits Orders.

Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, June 4.—Notwithstanding the protests of the city commission of Galveston, twenty-nine units of the Texas National Guard are in armories today awaiting orders to engage for that city to assume control of the dock strike situation.

Officials declared today that an effort will be made to rush through the legislature a bill appropriating $100,000 to defray the expenses of the National Guard to Galveston.

The boxing bills were scheduled to come up in the house today, with their passage very doubtful.

CISCO BAND NEEDS PLAYERS: TO TEACH 30 YOUNG MEN FREE

So badly hampered is the Chamber of Commerce band here by the lack of players of reed instruments, that its leader, Harry Schaefer, has sent out a standing offer to teach, free of charge, any thirty young men of this city who are ambitious enough to learn one of these instruments.

Each of the thirty will have his choice of clarinet, saxophone or alto. All that is required of the beginner is that he purchase himself an instrument. Any young man who wants to avail himself of this opportunity may reach Schaefer by calling at the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the city hall, or writing to that organization.

The band will give weekly concerts. It is announced, as soon as the band stand behind the Mobley hotel and the union station has been completed.

SIX MILLIONS FOR SCHOOLS IN BILL PROPOSED

INTRODUCED IN SENATE FOLLOW- ING GOVERNOR'S RECOMMEN- DATIONS FOR EDUCATION.

Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, June 4.—An appropriation of $6,000,000 emergency aid for the public schools and higher educational institutions of Texas is proposed in a bill offered today, following the governor's recommendation introduced in the senate.

The senate finance committee reported favorably the bill proposing an appropriation of $2,500,000 for available school fund, with an amendment increasing the appropriation to $4,000,000.

The governor today recommended to the legislature the leasing of public school lands by withdrawal of unsurveyed lands from the operation of the law and providing for issuance of mineral permits to prospect for oil on unsurveyed lands.

Other recommendations proposed increasing the salaries of county commissioners in counties of populations 25,000 or less; authorizing issuance of bonds for the construction of macadamized gravelled paved roads.

A memorial tribute to the late Lieutenant Governor A. B. Davidson was adopted.

TYPES OF DAM FOR RESERVOIR CONSIDERED

CITY COMMISSION IN SPECIAL SES- SION LISTEN TO REVIEW OF PLANS SUBMITTED.

Associated Press.

The city commission held a called session Thursday night to listen to a review of the types of dam best suited to the Cisco Reservoir by their expert engineer, H. E. Elrod of the Elrod Engineering company of Dallas. Accompanying Mr. Elrod was David Brennan, a member of the engineering firm.

Many details were gone over, and explanations made of many intricacies embodied in the bids of the construction contractors.

Mr. Elrod made a talk in which he explained the differences in the types of dam, and stressed his remarks on the essentialness of proper foundation. That the greater per cent of dam failures come from defects in the base.

He said that tests had shown that the base rock at this dam site was not of the character to support properly the heavier or solid types of dam, and recommended the hollow concrete as being the best dam, if constructed on modern and scientific plans. The earth here, he said, is not suitable for forming a wall that would resist the pressure, without concrete reinforcement that would make it too expensive.

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Elrod said:

"I have been over the terrain, and will say that no other in this section has so good a drainage as this site selected by Cisco for her water reservoir. It is one of the best sites I have ever seen. Few cities have the opportunity to build a monument so valuable to mankind and of so great a utility to the city constructing it. In fact, there are very few such sites. And a dam here constructed along the most scientific and modern construction methods, will stand as a lasting monument to the builders. A small body of deep water is more valuable than a large body of shallow water, and this is one of the great features of this reservoir site."

"This is the place in Central West Texas for a big city; and water is essential to the life and industry of any city. No town is more advantageously located, and with good home influences surrounding. With this water source at its door, there is no limit to the possibilities and growth of Cisco."

The commission is still considering the different types of dam and the bids on same.

While the commissioners were waiting on the arrival of the engineers from Dallas, they took up the peddler's ordinance and discussed it. It was thought justice to the merchants that they be given protection from this class of competition, who pay nothing in but take all away from the city. Accordingly, the proposed ordinance was read and passed as an emergency measure.

It fixes the license for peddlers operating in Cisco at $100 per day. The penalty for violation is $25 to $100.

MANY EXCITING EPISODES OCCURING DURING THE RECENT MEXICAN REVOLT REPORTED

Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, June 4.—The revolution which overthrew President Carranza and culminated in his death, was attended by many interesting or exciting episodes which could not be reported to the outside while the coup was in progress.

Some of the discoveries which have followed the installation of new authority in the capital city, too, have been entertaining.

Notable was that revealed by an interim official of the treasury department was announced they had found evidence of a fraud which had netted somebody an amount estimated at about 1,000,000 pesos. The papers here say that, when the infallible (paper money with which the country was flooded during the last previous revolution, were burned, about one-quarter of the amount officially reported to have been destroyed had been previously extracted and sold at the current rate of 10 centavos on the peso. The Carranza government had been taking the old paper money in as a sort of surtax on import duties and other taxes. Later it was supposed to be burned.

While no disorders occurred in the capital during the evacuation by the Carranza government and the occupation by the liberal revolutionary forces, nor did public services cease functioning for an instant, the inhabitants of the capital were victims both of inconveniences and profiteers. Food prices increased and change, which has been the bugbear of everybody since silver began its sensational rise months ago, sold at a 15 per cent premium.

The Indians who sell produce in the markets demanded metal currency and got it. Many foreigners fearing a protracted struggle and a food shortage, laid in ample supplies. One American housewife bought 30 chickens, which she put to roast in the bathroom of her apartment. She was too excited to heed the advice of the Indian woman who sold the fowls that she should buy ducks.

The spectacle of a city of 100,000 inhabitants absolutely cut off from communication with the world for almost nine days was not the least interesting phase of the evacuation by Carranza. Both cable and telegraphic communication ceased about 9 p. m. on May 6. Until May 15 the cable lines were useless. An unreliable line was set up by the government to the American border in the afternoon of May 8, but it was devoted exclusively to military and outgoing business. Nothing was received from the outside world until the cable lines were restored.

Because of numerous relays and other wire troubles, those sending messages from the capital could not learn if their messages reached their destination. The same conditions obtained more or less throughout those parts of the republic distant from the border and the coasts.

Foreign press correspondents filed stories on the national lines, trusting to luck that part of them might see print. As safeguards they left summaries with the military authorities for possible transmission by government wireless, filed other summaries with the cable company and still others with travelers leaving in attempts to reach the border.

MANY IMPORTANT SUBJECTS TO BE DISCUSSED BY CLUB WOMEN

Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Iowa, June 4.—Ways of bringing out more neighborliness in the cities will be discussed at the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, opening here June 16. Mrs. George W. Plummer of Chicago, chairman of the community service department of the federation, will be in charge of this part of the week's program.

This is the 15th biennial convention of the federation. Its sessions will last until June 23. Clubwomen from all over the country will be present. The federation's membership exceeds 2,000,000.

The keynote of the gathering is announced as Americanism. Many other subjects of national importance will be taken up. Among them are thrift, national aid for education, art, conservation and municipal markets and prices.

NEWSPAPER SAYS GERMANY CANNOT PAY INDEMNITY

Associated Press.

BERLIN, May 19 (By Mail).—Whatever may be the size of the indemnity to be demanded from Germany by the Entente, the newspaper Germania says Germany cannot pay it.

Taxation, it adds, has already reached its utmost bearable limits and further burdens would be tantamount to confiscation.

The paper asserted there was danger that German delegates to the conference at Spa would be forced to sign undertakings which they knew could not be carried out.

Huge Amount to Watch Booze.

Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 4.—Approximately $229,400 a year will be paid in salaries to watchmen of whiskey warehouses and distilleries in Kentucky out of the $1,500,000 the U. S. Commissioner of Internal Revenue has estimated will be needed to enforce the federal prohibition law in the coming fiscal year.

This fact was learned when Elwood Hamilton, Collector of Internal Revenue for Kentucky, said he has almost completed organization of a staff of 153 special guards, who will be stationed at liquor storage places in the state.

RUM AND RIOT CAUSED BATTLE ROYAL ON SHIP

NO ONE KNEW WHAT FIGHTING WAS ABOUT, BUT ALL JOINED IN.

BALTIMORE, June 4.—Two members of the crew were in irons, some were badly cut and bruised and Captain Stodden and the officers of his ship were moving about the decks with revolvers constantly in their hands when the British ship Tregantle arrived at quarantine yesterday. As the police boat Robert D. Carter, with Lieutenant Wellner in command, drew up beside the vessel and the lieutenant, with a squad of policemen, climbed over the rail, Captain Stodden plainly showed his relief. All yesterday afternoon and for a time after nightfall some of his seamen fought up and down the decks, he said, first with their fists, then with knives and razors. They previously had broken into the hold, where eighty cases of whisky from England to Chilean ports were stored and after liberal libations, had begun to fight all over the Tregantle's decks, jeering at the master when he tried to restore order. Fire Room Force Starts II.

Because of this condition, approaching mutiny, Captain Stodden, sent a wireless yesterday to the agents of the steamer, asking that a physician and policemen be sent to the Tregantle. The fire room force started the trouble, according to Captain Stodden and for a time he could hardly get any steam in his boilers and the Tregantle was just drifting along with the stokers clawing each other.

It began at about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, said Captain Stodden, just after the Tregantle had passed into the mouth of Chesapeake bay. Captain Stodden and his officers attempted to quiet the men but failed.

It was a close-up, rough and tumble affair, which only lack of firearms prevented from degenerating into murder. Much of the fighting was so close up that the combatants did not have a chance to use their razors and knives freely and feet and teeth were used. Razors and knives were scattered over the decks.

As one group was exhausted and rolled out of the mixup, another group took a hand. Nobody knew much about what he was fighting over but all seemed bent on getting into it. He laid out thirteen others.

John Smith, a rawboned Englishman, 27 years old, is said to have fought like a mad man, taking on one, two and three opponents at a time, laying out thirteen men before he quit. He finally went to Captain Stodden and asked to be locked up, saying he was afraid he would kill someone if he stayed in the hold.

Most of the men, suffering from the headaches of the morning after, were submissive enough when Lieutenant Wellner and his policemen went aboard and straightened out affairs, sending the wounded to hospitals and putting the chief offenders under arrest.

England Faces New Crop Labor Demands Because Jealousies

Associated Press.

LONDON, June 4.—Labor conditions still are unsettled in England, not so much because of dissatisfaction with wages, hours, or working conditions between skilled and unskilled labor, says the American chamber of commerce here.

A crop of new wage demands from other unions is declared to have resulted from the settlement of the demands of the longshoremen by granting them a minimum wage of 15 shillings a day.

The railway men are demanding an advance of $5 a week in disregard of an agreement they had made with the government, which provided for an automatic adjustment of wages according to cost of living. The engineers and firemen also have presented demands for large increases.

The cotton operators who had threatened to strike on May 1 to enforce demands for a 50 per cent wage increase, have not accepted government arbitration. The employers offered them an advance of 22 1/2 per cent, which was rejected.

Garment workers have demanded wage increases, more holidays and overtime pay. These would affect 100,000 men. The miners have voted to accept the government's offer of a flat increase of 20 per cent in wages. This advance is expected to cost $160,000,000 a year.

Owing to this, the price of industrial coal has been advanced to two and one-half shillings a ton, and of household coal 12 1/2 shillings a ton.

The price of a loaf of bread has been advanced from 8 pence, one penny to one shilling, owing to the decision of the government to reduce its subsidy on bread.

No, this is not a nature faking or unnatural history tale; it is just plain facts. Within twenty feet of this snow-white Igloo village gorgeous roses are blossoming beneath the semi-tropical California sun. The village, and here's the secret, is a set at the Louis B. The dogs, however, are the real arctic product and were brought to this country to appear in "The Trail's End." The set is built on a stage and the dressing rooms may be seen at the right and some property at the right.

13-YEAR LOCUSTS APPEARING IN LARGE NUMBERS NOW

COLUMBIA, Mo., June 4.—The 13-year locust, or "periodical cicada" and which already has appeared in various sections of the South will be more abundant this summer than ever, according to Dr. Leonard Haseman, the state nursery inspector and professor of entomology at the University of Missouri here.

The visitation will extend from the southern border of Iowa to the Gulf, Dr. Haseman says, and will appear in swarms from June 13.

"These pests," Dr. Haseman adds, "are absolutely harmless to crops and vegetation, but they do attack young orchards."

PLATFORM CONTEST ROUSES WIDE INTEREST AMONG YOUNG AMERICANS

Thousands of young men and young women participants in the $10,000 contest for the best platform suggestions submitted to the Republican National Committee, will soon be notified of the award of prizes according to an announcement from National Republican Headquarters. The prizes, $5,000, $3,000 and $1,000 respectively, were hung up by Truxton Beale, of Washington, D. C., who named the contest in honor of his son, Walker Blaine Beale, who fell in France.

All persons twenty-five years of age and under were invited to submit platform suggestions. The idea of the contest as expressed by Will Hays, Republican National Chairman, was to interest young people in politics, rather than to secure actual suggestions for the Republican platform. The contest, just closed, is reported to have been highly successful, manuscripts having been received from every peak and corner of the United States.

The judges are Dr. David Jayne Hill, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler and former Senator Albert J. Beveridge. They will award the young winner $5,000 in cash. Pennsylvania Leads. The young people of the rock-ribbed Republican State of Pennsylvania led in the number of manuscripts submitted, with New York, Illinois, Ohio and Indiana following closely in succession. Even Texas, South Carolina, Virginia, Arkansas and Louisiana had participants. The contest indicates that Americanism is strong in the minds of the young people. That note runs through practically all the manuscripts. The contest has developed many human-interest features. One Wisconsin country girl, who writes that she will cast her first vote at the next election, says she is especially interested in the contest because she hopes to get the $5,000 and buy a thoroughbred herd of Friesian-Holstein cattle. Some contestants are so far removed from a typewriter machine that they said they could not follow the rule requiring typewritten manuscripts, so they appealed to Chairman Hays, who gave orders that such manuscripts be copied and the contestants entered.

Many Soldiers Contestants.

Many American soldiers are entrants. One contestant who submits a platform that has attracted the attention of those in charge of the contest, signs himself as only sixteen years of age, yet he discusses the questions of the day with clear insight.

Members of the Committee say that Mr. Beale's idea has awakened more interest in politics among young people than any other plan of the kind in the history of party management. Suggestions have been made that there should be a similar contest every four years.

HOBBY'S STRIKE ACTION GETS O. K. FROM SENATE

APPROPRIATION OF $100,000 TO PAY EXPENSES OF SENDING TROOPS

Associated Press. AUSTIN, Texas, June 4.—The Texas senate today endorsed Governor Hobby's action in ordering the National Guard to Galveston, when it voted down an appropriation to defray expenses of the move and passed the bill.

An amendment proposed cutting the appropriation to $50,000.

Senator McNealus said the governor had been misinformed relative to the situation at Galveston. Senator Hopkins voiced the opinion that not so many companies were needed.

The house passed under suspension of the rules a bill proposing exemption of dairy cattle from compulsory dipping, unless they are found to be infested with ticks by an authorized inspector.

"Whereas, The special advisory committee on educational matters appointed by Governor Hobby, has made a thorough investigation of the educational situation in Texas and is bringing these conditions to the attention of the special session of the legislature, and

"Whereas, The results of this investigation indicate that the condition of the educational system in Texas is of so serious a nature as to demand immediate action; and

The committee attempted to avoid the race issue but failed. Aroused by the number of contests from the southern states in which it was shown that district conventions were held in hotels and other places where negroes are not admitted Charles B. Warren, committee man from Washington moved to have the committee "issue a warning to the South" that contests on similar grounds must not be permitted to come up at the next national convention.

Southern committeemen, headed by W. H. Jackson of Georgia protested that the resolution as formed was a slur on the south and contended that specific mention of the southern states should be eliminated and its terms broadened to refer to the entire country. Colonel Warren accepted an amendment to that effect and it was unanimously adopted.

SNOW ON BOTH SIDES MOTOR ROAD TO PIKE'S PEAK

Associated Press.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., June 4.—Early visitors to the Rocky Mountains this summer are finding the motor road to the summit of Pike's Peak banked on either side with snow above their heads.

In clearing the cog road to the summit, a flat car with an inclined plane of heavy iron was backed into the snow by an engine. When the car was filled the engine pulled away and the snow was shoveled from the car to the side of the road.

From the motor highway, however, laborers and shovels had to do the heavy work. It took several weeks, the work starting early in May, some of the drifts were fifteen feet deep.

PUBLIC SENTIMENT.

The discussions in the city commission are unfortunate for Cisco, particularly at this period of her city formation.

And it is perhaps unfortunate that the opposing members both acted so hastily—the one in resigning, and the other in accepting the resignation.

Public sentiment should guide; and the individual citizens mold public sentiment.

You may fool all the people part of the time, and part of the people all the time, but you can't fool all the people all the time.

This was good in Lincoln's day, and it is good today.

Sentiment of Cisco citizens should have been sounded in some public expression.

It might have been the solution to have held a mass meeting for discussion of policies and measures, and then to have been guided by the sentiment manifest.

The commissioners resigning were of late choice by the people, while the newly-promoted were the people's choice more than a year ago.

A referendum to the people as a mass meeting would have brought out whether sentiment in Cisco had changed in regard to municipal affairs during this lapse of time.

It would be for Cisco's welfare for some sensible adjustment to be reached, without further agitation of these discussions.

The city commissioners have spoken their sentiment for a plaza at the depot.

Now if only early action will follow there may soon be one little breathing spot in Cisco—and one inviting scene to visitors and passers.

PAT M. NEFF

Cisco is to be honored tomorrow with a visit from one of Texas' favorite sons.

Hon. Pat M. Neff, of Waco, now aspiring to be governor of the state, will be here and will address Cisco citizens.

Mr. Neff has served as county attorney of McLennan county, where he made a reputation as an aggressive and fearless prosecutor.

Later, when in the legislature, he was made speaker of the house, and made an able and popular one.

He has been a leader in politics, and as a politician bears an unsullied character.

He is a clean gentleman and citizen, an able statesman, and a very eloquent speaker.

Cisco citizens should give him a most cordial greeting and audience at his address.

It is worth while to hear him, whatever may be the views, or the personal choice of the individual citizens of Cisco and vicinity.

When the city commissioners and the Chamber of Commerce view conditions around the passenger depot Saturday, they will see some mudholes there that should be eliminated.

But the railroads' section of the paving district should be inaugurated soon, and that doubtless will care for these.

NARROWING SIDEWALKS.

The property owners on Broadway have a broad conception of shopping thoroughfare. They have a move on foot to narrow the sidewalks to 14 feet, instead of 20 feet, and thus add another 12 feet to the motor traffic way.

They wish a street on which automobiles may park and still have traffic room in the center of the motor drive. A capital move. Automobiles have become to be a part of the shopping equipment of very many ladies, and they wish to shop where they can park their cars.

It has been demonstrated in Los Angeles, California, that rigid parking laws have driven trade from certain streets—and even from the city. They would go where parking was permissible to trade.

This is a splendid civic and a fine business move on the part of Broadway property owners. Automobiles have grown to be a part of both social and business life, and provision must be made for their care in public driveway and business places.

William J. Bryan predicts a single standard of morals for both men and women in the near future. There is no argument against such standard.

The double standard has just been observed because of the lack of courage on the part of the people, and especially moralists, to seek to interfere with an old custom.

The single standard would doubtless go far toward eliminating immorality. Mr. Bryan may be right in his prediction; he has been far-seeing in the past, and the world has moved up to some of his standards.

In the rebuilding of the Main street sidewalks the little Indian mounds, or the apparent volcanic bubbles that have been pushed up into turtle backs, should be removed—even though the commission permit the old brick paving to remain, and be patched out with cement.

In other words, the Main street sidewalks need ironing out. There are some steps up and down that would put a country village of a thousand population to shame.

Modern Cisco can hardly afford this condition. There are 1600 enrolled school children in the Cisco public schools. This gives a guide to the population Cisco may expect when the census for this city is announced.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 20. We moved here from New York about a year ago. I was very popular there in society, belonged to many clubs and went to receptions, etc.

When I moved here I went to clubs, and the people snubbed me just because I came from out of town and they did not know my whole history. I guess the people of this town want to know where you were born and everything I never was treated so terribly in all my life. I have gone to other cities and have been treated respectfully.

My dad is in business here and he will know all over. I am not stuck up or think myself beautiful or the best dresser as some do, although I have everything I want. I have all the gentlemen friends I want, but don't expect many invitations because I don't go with one I know quite well. I don't believe in going with any one that asks me—it never pays.

I treat everyone the same, always have a smile on my face and am cheerful. I can hold any kind of a conversation and it is interesting, they say. I have a car of my own also can have my father's any time I want it.

(1) Could you tell me what is the matter with me? I would like to improve if I can.

(2) Do you suppose I ought to try my whole history out to the people? Well, I am not ashamed of it.

(3) Why are people in such small towns so important to new people that come?

(4) Why is it that money buys those people? I could buy myself in and be considered the whole thing, but that isn't honest, is it—Moyflower.

(5) Your attitude antagonizes. Even your letter has made me feel resentful and in sympathy with my own people. You must love and admire the people about you in order to receive admiration from them. In your last question you ask, "Why is it that money buys those people?" That statement is thoroughly mean and unfair and reflects on you for thinking such thoughts.

(6) The people are far less interested in your history than you realize. When they see your eyes and your mouth and your manner they know more your history than you realize and they feel your unkindness toward them. Probably from the fact you felt you would be very popular because you came from a big city.

(7) I do not understand what you mean in the third question. It is a failing of human nature to feel of great importance in the universe.

(8) Most people feel flattered by attention from a moneyed person. Money, however, is not enough to retain admiration. The moneyed person must forget her own advantages and love and be interested in her friends if she is to enjoy popularity and genuine friendships.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: There are four girls in our crowd and we walk to school together and read and play together after school. One of the girls is always saying mean things to me. She is so mean that I have left like dropping out of the crowd, but the other girls like me and I hate to give up all my friends.

Do you think I ought to stay with the crowd or drop out?—Heben.

Do not let one person spoil your good times. Perhaps you take offense too easily. Try to feel that nothing unkind is meant. Very often a person has an unkind disposition and cannot help being sharp at times. Your friend will find that she hurts herself most in the end.

WHEN WILL PRICES DROP? When people refuse or are unable to buy at high prices—A. Barton Hepburn.

When public officials purchase and consumption of things they can do without—H. K. Eskine, president Student Corporation.

When buyers refuse to pay unreasonable prices—George P. Johnson, president Endicott-Johnson Corporation.

AS A WOMAN THINKS

MORE BLUE LAWS TO GO.

By Edith E. Moriarty.

According to a statement made recently by the Rev. Dr. Edmund M. Mills, acting secretary of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, there probably will be a revision of the ban on amusements which have long been a subject for discussion.

Now that the clergy themselves are considering lifting, or at least, modifying, this ban, some laymen will have to pass through a period of strenuous readjustment.

It surely will be hard for people to change their ideas concerning dancing, playing at games of chance, attending theaters, horse races, circuses, dancing parties, patronizing dancing schools or taking part in such other amusements as are obviously of misleading and questionable moral tendency, as the book of discipline puts it.

Those who have always considered these things morally wrong will not be able to change their standards with the striking out of that clause.

Even though they have a hard time embracing such pleasures as dancing and circuses, the effort will be worth while, for the next generation will not be cheated out of the enjoyment of those great national institutions, the theater and the circus.

That is not the only advantage of this proposed reform in the "blue laws" of the church. Surveys in many of the largest cities have shown that amusement and recreation of all kinds are sadly lacking in most communities, even in the largest cities, which are supposed to furnish amusement and recreational facilities without end and are not equipped to take care of the large populations.

Most of these surveys recommend more dance halls of the proper kind, community theaters and picture shows, dancing entertainments, which may be held in the parks or in the open, and home talent circuses, dancing, especially folk dancing and dancing games, are strongly advocated as the best kind of recreation for they promise grace, poise, muscular development and the spirit of play.

With communities in need of more recreation and amusement the church could not pick a better time to abolish its prohibitions than today. Here is a chance for the church to take a place in modern life which no other institution can fill. Those churches which are recognizing this fact are already great forces to be reckoned with in their communities. They have become community centers and are filling a big place.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

Occasionally a manager rounds up some music and some comedy at the same time and has a musical comedy—but not often.

Occasionally we like to scoop the news columns. Here's one:

Long Island potatoes are celebrated the world over and the crop is usually abundant. New potatoes of this variety are now selling for $24.50 a barrel, or 15 cents a pound. Old potatoes are selling for 19 cents a pound in grocery stores.

Some time ago, long before the seed potatoes were planted, speculators went the length and breadth of Long Island and bought up the entire potato crop for the coming year. They bought potatoes which had not yet been planted, for $10 a barrel, paying a $1 option on each barrel.

If you are a good guesser sit down and try to think how much potatoes are going to cost when these birds get through with them. They are $24.50 a barrel now.

DINNER STORIES

The new superintendent of a lunatic asylum was strolling round the grounds a few weeks after his appointment when one of the inmates came up to him, and touching his hat, exclaimed: "We all like you better than the last one, sir."

"Thank you," said the new official pleasantly. "And may I ask why?"

"Well, sir," replied the lunatic, "you see, you are more like one of us."

At the workmen's institute there arose a fierce discussion as to whether or woman should be given a chance of filling the high appointments.

"Wouldn't do," said a youthful newly married firebrand. "Just think of a woman as a secretary of the treasury. What do they know about finance, anyway?"

His effective pause was spoiled by an older man, who said, solemnly: "You just go home to your missus next Friday night $5 short in your pay and you'll soon find out!"

"What's worrying you, Jim?" asked a collier, as he met a mate at the club.

"These women!" replied the other, a newly married man. "They are queer cattle!"

"How do you mean?"

"Well," said the young husband, "this morning the missus chased me out of the house with a frying pan, and when I went home tonight she was crying her eyes out because I hadn't kissed her when I went out!"

GIL'S GLEANINGS

Flagg made a peach of a catch on Hahn's fly in the seventh yesterday.

Harding didn't get going right in that first inning. He just couldn't locate the plate after his strenuous game at short the day before.

Neely carried his hunting stick with him yesterday. Although he is a left handed hitter and Robertson is a southpaw pitcher, that made no difference to Neely.

Dockery, new right fielder for the locals, made his debut in Thursday's game, but since he has had little practice, it would be unwise to judge his merits by his showing in the first performance.

Gorman is using Gressett in the box lately, and by the way he worked yesterday, it looks as though the big centerfielder will take care of the Buddies' pitcher troubles until dependable hurlers can be obtained.

Max Flack, the Cubs' gardener, is playing great ball in all departments of the game this season.

Report has it that Christy Mathewson will resign as coach of the Giants and devote his time to newspaper work.

All of the National league teams, with the exception of Boston, Brooklyn and Cincinnati, have new players at first base this season.

Games postponed because of bad weather means more than a dozen doubleheaders to be enjoyed by Boston fans later in the season.

Pitcher Virgil Barnes, brother of Jess Barnes, the Giants' twirler, is making good with the Rochester team of the International league.

Bull Penn, of the Greenboro team, is the Nick Altrock of the Piedmont league. His comely coaching has made a big hit on that circuit.

Pets Kiduff fits nicely in the Brooklyn infield. He has been playing great ball since getting back into the regular line-up of the Dodgers.

'Lefty' Williams, the White Sox pitcher, who started the season like a world beater received several mad beatings during the Six invasion of the East.

Another Miller has come into the big show. Connie Mack has taken on outfielder Ed Hiller, who played with the Reading Internationals awhile last year.

Portland, seemingly shy of capable players, wasn't figured very strong, but when the Pacific Coast league opened, the Beavers lost no time in getting into the running.

The J's are tearing the cover off the ball in the American league. Johnston of Cleveland, Jacobson of St. Louis and Judge of Washington, are hitting all kinds of pitching.

The Cleveland Indians have a high school pitcher under cover, who is said to be a strike-out wizard. He comes from Hudson, Wis., and in a recent game he struck out 22 batsmen.

The directors of the St. Louis National league club having decided to issue $100,000 more stock, the final payment of $75,000 will be paid to Mrs. Britton-Bigby, formerly owner of the Cardinals.

Bob Bescher, Terry Turner, Sherwood Magee, Grover Hartley, George McQuinn and Cy Barger, all former well-known big leaguers, are playing with Joe Tinker's Columbus team of the American association.

Pitcher Joe Oeschger of the Braves must hold the record for pitching extra-inning games against the same team. Joe has twirled a 26-inning, a 15-inning, and a 11-inning game against the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Richie Mitchell Will Go Ten Rounds With Tendler Wednesday

Associated Press. MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 4.—Richie Mitchell, the Milwaukee lightweight, will attempt to do what his brother, Pinkey, failed to accomplish when he clinches with Lew Tendler, the Philadelphia southpaw, in a 10-round contest here June 5.

Tendler shaded Pinkey Mitchell in a recent match, but the margin was clear.

Richie Mitchell, with a quick knockout on his credit over the hardy Jimmy Hanlon of Denver, hopes to be able to stop the flashy Philadelphia. Richie is declared by critics to be a snappier puncher than his brother and a better boxer although Pinkey is said to be the harder hitter. Tendler is one of the 'rights' of the ring, facing a foe with his right hand extended instead of his left.

The match is expected to draw between $35,000 and $40,000. Tendler has been guaranteed $10,000 while Mitchell will draw down the same amount or more as he has accepted percentage privilege.

SPORT SNAP-SHOTS

By Jack Keene. A capable New York boxing critic who has watched Carpenter in action several times since the French king arrived, and who has studied him carefully, has this to say of Georges:

'So many European champions have failed to make good over here that boxing followers discount most of the advance stuff sent out about a new comer. Carpenter has proved to be an exception, for it is plain that he is as fast and clever a boxer and as effective a hitter as reports have made him out to be.

There is no doubt that if Dempsey lands squarely on Carpenter's body or jaw he will not have to repeat the blow, but it never has been said of Carpenter that he is an iron man when it comes to taking punishment.

'Carpenter looks like a better man than Billy Miske, and Dempsey could not hit Miske squarely, although they met twice. Georges is much faster and a much better boxer than Miske. He is also a far better hitter, but he is not as rugged as the man from St. Paul.

'Carpenter will require plenty of training to put him into fighting condition. His wind is surprisingly poor for a man who looks so fit in other respects. It is certain that months of show work and one night stands will not help him to any extent. The circus ruined Willard as a fighter and it may do the same for Carpenter.

'Signs are not wanting that Georges will eventually suffer in another way from so much show work. Already boxing fans are beginning to write in asking questions that might embarrass Georges to answer.

'One fan wants to know what they would say in Europe if one of our boys went across and demanded a fortune for exhibition work at the same time refusing to fight, although challenged from all sides. Would he receive the freedom of the city or a Laurette Taylor welcome? he asks.

'Another fan thinks he can name at least 15 men who can beat the French ring idol, and he calls upon Georges to fight and prove his worth before posing as an all conquering hero. Prominent among the men the letter writer names as sure to take the measure of Carpenter are Mike O'Dowd, Ray Smith, Gene Tunney, Bob Martin and Fred Fulton.

He adds that as O'Dowd, Smith and Tunney have war records they are as much entitled to the respect of boxing followers as Carpenter is and that the latter should be forced to fight one of them before he goes any further.

'Carpenter may blow up quickly if he ever faces Dempsey, but so far as O'Dowd and men of his own size are concerned he has nothing to fear. If the Frenchman were satisfied to stick to his own division he would be able to win the world's championship without much trouble. No man of his weight can match him in speed, skill and hitting ability, while he is rugged enough to take what punishment would come his way.

'With a little more experience Tunney might beat him, but O'Dowd is too small, while Smith and Martin are not experienced enough to have a chance. But whether Carpenter can beat Dempsey or Fulton there is some reason to doubt.

GALVEZ WELL REPORTED GOOD FOR 450 BARRELS

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, June 3.—Another good well has been brought in on acreage just east of the town of Breckenridge, bringing production much nearer the town. It is the well of the Galvez Oil company, just north of the Ward well of the Plateau Oil company which came in last week. The new well is good for 450 barrels at the usual depth for this territory.

Both the Galvez and the Plateau companies have made additional locations in the immediate vicinity of these new wells and are erecting rigs.

VIRGINIA GREEN GILL OYSTER OF MARENNES TYPE

VIRGINIA BIVALVES SAID TO CORRESPOND TO THOSE OF THE COAST OF FRANCE.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 4.—How Virginia oystermen profited by the discovery that green-gilled oysters which had always been discarded as worthless were identical with the famous Marennes green oysters which are considered a great delicacy in France is one of the interesting facts disclosed by Professor Philip H. Mitchell, of Brown University, in an informal resume of his researches in oyster culture.

In the joint efforts of the federal bureau of fisheries and the Rhode Island state shellfish commission to determine the causes of a decline of the oyster industry and to devise remedies, the aid of Brown University was sought. Professor Mitchell has been observing the oysters of Narragansett Bay for five years partly while he was serving as director of the federal fisheries biological station at Woods Hole, Mass. The explanation of 'green-gill' in oysters was one of the things which he sought and found.

'Practically no part of the animal' said Professor Mitchell, 'except the gills show any unusual color, and this is a pale greenish-gray. The condition seldom appears in American oysters. Occasionally, however, sporadic outbreaks lasting one or two seasons appear among the Virginia oysters. They correspond exactly to the descriptions of the famous green oysters of Marennes on the coast of France. I was able to show that they are exactly the same thing and produced it in the same way.

'When it was shown during the recent outbreak of green-gill in Virginia that they were of the genuine Marennes type, what previously had been a loss to oystermen became an asset and green-gills from the Virginia beds were sold to leading hotels in New York and Washington,' said Professor Mitchell.

He explained that all oysters feed on microscopic plants called diatoms and that when a certain species of diatom is abundant in the water the oysters absorb its peculiar and characteristic pigment and store it away in the gills, which gives them their greenish tint. Such oysters he described as 'extra fat and very luscious.'

Another problem attacked was the cause of the bluish color sometimes seen in oysters. This he found to be due to the presence of copper which the oysters absorb from seawater. Professor Mitchell said that amounts of copper small enough to escape detection were not dangerous to health and that discolored oysters never were marketed until after they had been transplanted to a region where they could slowly free themselves from the copper. 'If any one should attempt to eat them,' he remarked, 'he would probably never manage to swallow the first one. The pronounced taste of the copper compounds is, to say the least, unpalatable.'

'With a little more experience Tunney might beat him, but O'Dowd is too small, while Smith and Martin are not experienced enough to have a chance. But whether Carpenter can beat Dempsey or Fulton there is some reason to doubt.'

NEW YORK TURF MEN PLAN COUNTRY CLUB OF GREEN HILLS MANSION

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 4.—A syndicate of New York turfmen, headed by Edward F. Sims, who recently paid $250,000 for Prince Palatine, the great English sire, is negotiating for the purchase of Green Hills Mansion from Pearl V. Haggin, widow of the 'Copper King,' according to current reports. The New Yorkers, it is said, will use the property for a country club. The house is five miles from Lexington and is the most palatial in Kentucky. Nearby are the race horse breeding farms of August Belmont, Harry Payne Whitney, of New York; J. B. Widener, Philadelphia; John E. Madden and Edward R. Bradley.

SOLDIER BROUGHT TWIN SISTER OF HIS WIFE FROM FRANCE

Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 4.—His English bride, eighteen years old, told him she was not his wife at all, but was the twin sister of the woman he married while with the American Expeditionary forces abroad. Arthur J. Eller set forth in a suit for divorce he filed here recently.

Eller's complaint stated that he married Nellie Lenehan, a hospital worker whom he met in France, in Liverpool April 10, 1919. He returned to the United States with his contingent and his supposed bride followed. Soon after joining him here, she told him her twin sister was his real wife, and left with another man for New Orleans.

World Famous Youngsters in the Public Eye

LOUIS SARGENT

MARIAM BATTISTA

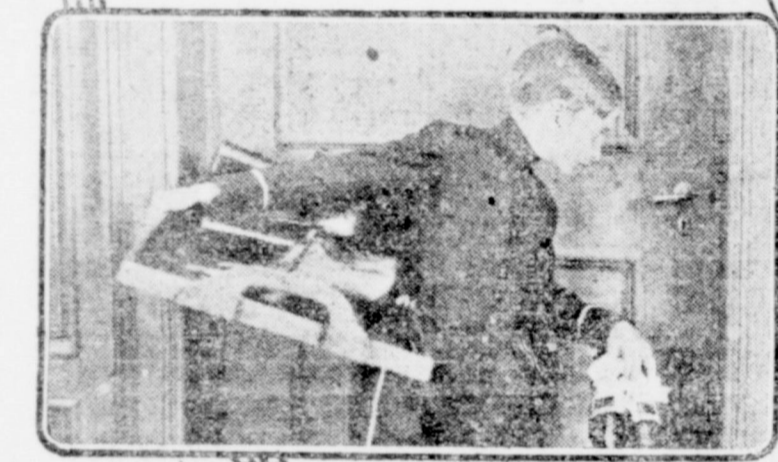

WHEN Shakespeare declared that some men were born great, some achieved greatness, and others had greatness thrust upon them, he cited a truism particularly applicable in the world of motion pictures. In most cases, as in every field of human endeavor, the motion picture actor achieves fame through his own striving, but in the cases of the children of the screen their world-wide popularity is often the result of circumstance; they have become famous without any personal intent or knowledge.

Take for instance young Don Marion who, at the age of two and a half years, is a leading player in Mack Sennett's comedies with an enthusiastic following in every corner of the globe. Because, at the psychological moment, his mother brought him to the studio on a visit to his uncle, a well-known comedian, today he is perhaps the best known child in the world.

Interested in Custard Pies and Broken Dishes.

It happened that the day he first appeared at the studio the director was having trouble with a youngster who absolutely failed to see the humor of slap-stick comedy and who voiced his disapproval in no uncertain terms. Young Don, on the other hand, was fascinated by the custard pies, the broken dishes and the bushy whiskers of the burlesque and loudly crowded his delight. In his interest and his shouts of joy the director believed he heard the cry of genius. Dragging him from his mother's arms he placed him before the camera, where, quite unconscious of the fact that he is performing for millions of eyes, he has remained ever since.

Another child, whose popularity is steadily increasing, is Lawrence Johnson, favorite of many stars and always in great demand with them whenever their pictures require the services of a youngster. All boy, Lawrence has occasionally been cast to play girl's parts, much to his disgust and injury to his pride. He will tell you quite favorite of many women stars. He also appears with Dorothy Dalton in the picture, "This Woman—This Man," in which he plays the child around whom the action centers. He is a sturdy little chap and his greatest pleasure, between scenes, is playing games with the other players in the cast with which he is acting.

From Office Boy to Starry Heights, Lewis Sargent, whose success in the name part Artcraft version of Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn" was little short of a triumph. Freckle-faced, happlaying the leading role in another feature which has been temporarily titled "The Boy," in which Judge Ben B. Lindsey will appear as the judge of a juvenile court.

Kiddies Paving Way to Future Success.

Playing Tom Sawyer to Lewis Sargent's Huck Finn was Gordon Griffith, another boy whose future in pictures is of the brightest. The two lads will tell you that the filming of the picture, with its scenes on the raft and its adventure, was the most fun they ever had. Gordon is also slated to appear in a new production in the near future.

Whether these children will continue in their present work after they reach more mature years is a difficult question to answer. The remarkable talent which some of them have already shown indicates that they will be the screen stars of the future, but the chance which put them in the films may turn their paths in another direction.

AVE ET VALE

THE great clock in the courthouse struck the mystic hour of twelve. The city was as silent as the age-worn column of Karnak or the sad-eyed lion that keeps constant tryst with the immortal dead upon the sand-strewn plains of Troy.

Hushed was the plaint of traffic; mute the voice of discord and stilled the clamor of golden commerce. Policemen stood upon the streets as motionless as the marble caryatides that forever guard the pulseless sleep of the great Napoleon.

A shower was falling, such a rain as chilled the ardor of the noble Ten Thousand ere the glad cry, Thassala! Thassala! The sea! The sea! burst from the home-hungry hearts and sand-parched lips of the followers of Thucydides. Still the rain fell! It was Niobe, the great Nature-mother, mourning over the death of her loved and lost. All earth felt the solemnity of the hour: the halcyonic calm, for the great photoplay actress had lost her wad of chewing gum and nothing could be done in the studio until it was found.

"DUCKING" AROUND THE KITCHEN.

frankly, however, as he catalogues the various roles of his career, that he is an actor and that, as an actor, playing a girl is merely an incident—a step towards greater things.

His favorite star is Marguerite Clark, with whom he appeared in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," because, as he says, she is so much fun. He is also devoted to Mae Murray, with whom he appears in "The Right to Love." Other stars whom he has supported are Elsie Ferguson and Dorothy Dalton. His mother had been an actress in Sweden and it was his innate talent for dramatics that first persuaded her to take Lawrence to the studio. His really thoughtful interpretations of some of the parts entrusted to him has proved the wisdom of her act.

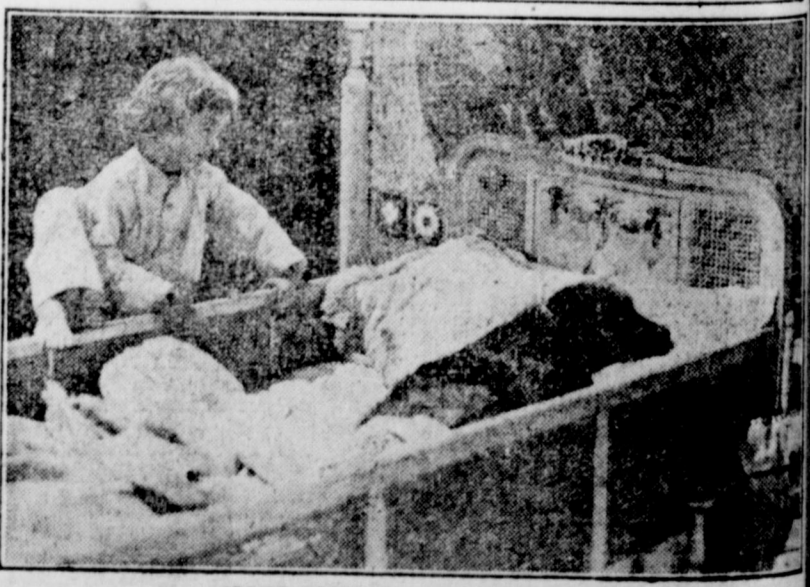

"Borrowed" Youngster Makes Good.

Little Ben Alexander has an enviable record for his screen performances, although he is but seven years old. In "The Little American," he played Mary Pickford's little brother; in "Hearts of the World," he appeared with Dorothy and Lillian Gish, and in "The White Heather," he was cast in a prominent role. His entry into pictures was another case of circumstance; his parents were great friends of a director, who "borrowed" Ben one day for atmosphere and found he screened so well that he was made a permanent studio employee.

It is several years since Bobby Connelly first made his bow in motion pictures but he has always held his place with the public. Recently he found a "leading lady" whose popularity is destined to equal his own. She is little Miriam Battista, who plays opposite him in the film version of Fannie Hurst's story, "Humoresque," and who, in addition to her screen work is also

Fifteen British Ships Diverted to Galveston to Relieve Congestion

Associated Press.
 GALVESTON, Texas, June 4.—Traffic congestion at this port will be broken through the diversion here of fifteen British steamships, according to word received by Porter J. Bailey, Interstate Commerce Commission representative at Galveston, from the Wheat Export Corporation, Inc. In addition to the British vessels already routed via this port, Mr. Bailey said, six others have been diverted here. All of them were due to arrive during June. This announcement followed close issuance of the Interstate Commerce Commission's order for the immediate unloading of 3700 carloads of grain now in the Galveston terminal yards. This order recited rule No. 31, Texas lines tariff, I. C. C. No. 66, as follows: "Property not removed by the party entitled to receive it within the free time allowed after notice of its arrival has been duly sent or given, may be kept in car, depot or place of delivery of carrier, subject to a reasonable charge for storage and to carriers' responsibility as warehouseman only, or may, at the option of the carrier, be removed to and stored in public or licensed warehouse at the cost of the owner and there held at the owner's risk and without liability on the part of the carrier, and subject to a lien for all freight and other lawful charges, including the charges essential for storage."
 Despite the wide powers conferred by this rule, officials of the carriers here are confronted with a lack of sufficient store room to care for the great quantity of grain. Some of the wheat, it was intimated, might be reshipped by rail to other Gulf ports, where limited storage facilities are available.
 Approximately 3,000,000 bushels of the grain in cars here is consigned to the British government, rail officials said. Failure on the part of Great Britain to allocate ships to transport the grain, it was pointed out, caused the present traffic congestion at this gateway.

BREWSTER WELL REPORTED
 STANDING IN 300 FEET OIL

ALPINE, Texas, June 4.—The Wilson well of the Presidio Oil and Gas company, the first Brewster county test to have a good showing of oil, is now reported standing 300 feet in oil, with the casing set and everything in readiness to drill in the well as soon as storage is set and flow lines connected.
 The Presidio company is showing its faith in the project by buying additional acreage in the county. The company now owns nearly 50,000 acres of leases.
 The Uncle Sam Oil company has just spent $500,000 here, buying the land in fee, with the expectation of developing the oil resources. It is announced this company will put up a building in Alpine at once.
 "Some time ago the Fort Worth Securities company purchased 75,000 acres of leases in the county. The Mohawk Oil corporation also has about 50,000 acres. This acreage adjoins Green Valley. Geologists report an excellent geological structure in this section.
 The Brewster County Chamber of Commerce at Alpine has been receiving additional subscriptions from various sections of the county. The additional money is to be used in road improvement and advertising.

A youthful patron enjoying a ride on the pony while getting his hair trimmed.

A Chicago department store has hit upon the novel plan of turning its children's barber shop into a veritable nursery. The ordinary barber chairs have been replaced by dashing hobby-horses, on which the children can ride while getting their hair trimmed. The walls are papered with massed pictures and nursery patterns are worked on all linen used.

RECENT METHODIST CONFERENCE IS SAID
 THE GREATEST HELD

DES MOINES, Iowa, June 4.—The greatest conference of the Methodist Episcopal church ever held is the characterization given the recent conference here by Bishop Joseph F. Berry, senior member of the board of bishops.
 It passed more far reaching legislation than any previous conference. The sessions lasted from May 1 to May 27.
 A vigorous stand on many moral and international issues was taken in resolutions adopted. Chief among these were declarations against recognition of an Irish republic; in favor of relief to the destitute nations of Europe; in favor of the United States accepting a mandate over Armenia; against conditions of alleged vice and immorality on the border between the United States and Mexico; against race-track gambling and the dissemination of racetrack gambling odds and bets through agencies of inter-state commerce; and in favor of strict enforcement of the constitutional amendment establishing prohibition.
 A fuller recognition of women in the church by permitting them to become local preachers was granted. The way was opened whereby women will probably, it was felt, be admitted to ordination as ministers of the church within a few years.
 The matter of unification with the Methodist Episcopal church, south, did not result in the union of the two churches, but negotiations will be continued with the possibility it was said of a union being effected before the next general conference in 1924.
 Other matters of importance acted upon included the famous amusement question, affecting dancing and theatrical-izing, the decision being to make no change at present; a strong endorsement of action looking toward systematic week-day religious education;
 plans for a constructive program of social and recreational life in every local church; and the formation of a council of the benevolent boards of the church, so that the work of these eight boards may be closely coordinated. Official recognition of the work of the hospitals and homes for aged and orphans was accorded and a board of hospitals and homes to sustain an advisory relation to all such institutions within the church was authorized.
 The conference just closed was composed of 360 delegates from all parts of the world and was the largest of the denomination ever held. Future conferences will be smaller. This was effected by a decision to cut in half the ratio of representation for all annual conferences.
 Early in the session the office of missionary bishop was eliminated and missionary bishops took their stand with general superintendents of the church.
 To meet the increased needs in mission fields, six additional bishops were or-

GAIN 9,000 BBLs.
 NORTH CENTRAL TEX.
 FIELDS PAST WEEK

There is a gain of approximately 9,000 barrels in the average daily production of the North Central Texas oil fields over the output of a week ago.
 The principal gains were in Stephens county and in the Burkburnett field.
 Other fields remained practically unchanged.
 Stephens county showed another big gain of about 5,000 barrels daily over last week, boosting the production column of this field to more than 49,000 barrels daily. The output at Burkburnett climbed from 80,000 last week to more than 34,000 barrels daily for this week. Iowa Park is now showing a substantial output and is also on the gain. Strawn is rapidly gaining a place among the substantial producers.
 The average daily production for each of the districts now is:
 Electra 13,375; Burkburnett 34,140;
 Iowa Park 2,790; Holiday 235; Petroha
 475; Desdemons 15,400; Brown county
 300; Coleman county 240; Ranger 30,870;
 Moran 130; Stephens county 49,370; and Strawn 2,520.
 The total production for the entire field is 194,835 barrels daily. Of this 96,250 barrels come from the southern and 98,005 barrels from the northern or Wichita Falls division.
 There are as many new residences abroad. These include two in Europe, two in India, one in China and one in Africa. Two negro bishops were elected.
 One of them will be located in the United States and the other in Africa.
 Although eggs of different species of birds greatly differ in shape, the yolks

NORTHWEST AND WEST TEXAS CROP CONDITION BEST

Associated Press.
 HOUSTON, Texas, June 4.—F. N.
 Gray of the bureau of crop estimates, in a statement here today, said the May record in Texas in the lowest ever known. The worst conditions are shown to be in the northeast parts of the state, while the northwest, west, center and east are in the best condition.
 According to the statement, labor is ample at the present time, but late cotton chopping in the north is expected to conflict with the small grain harvest.
 It is predicted that possible dry hot weather will be of benefit to cotton. It is added that there is no danger of the summer being too dry.

WOMEN TO HAVE BIG SAY IN G. O. P. CONVENTION

PLAN CONCERTED ACTION IN DEMAND FOR EQUAL POLITICAL STANDING.

CHICAGO, June 4.—Amid a tumult of shouting slogans and the droning hum of thousands of voices in hotel lobbies discussing politics and predicting the outcome of next week's republican convention, the women voter today was slowly but surely emerging to the fore.

As political chiefs today planned here to capture the presidential nomination for their candidate, leaders of G. O. P. women were quietly organizing their strength and preparing to launch it at the psychological moment to gain for women a standing of political equality with men.

With more than a hundred women delegates, including alternates, elected to the convention, the feminist movement in America is to be given a great push forward, it was believed here today.

Plan Concerted Action.

With that in mind, women delegates and republican women leaders will caucus here Sunday to plan for concerted action in the convention. The call was issued today by Miss Mary Garrett Hay of New York, one of the two women who attended meetings of the republican national committee.

What women desire in the way of planks in the G. O. P. platform and the best way of obtaining it, will be discussed. Women may seek a definite expression from the party presidential candidate on prohibition and suffrage. Expect a Deluge of Trunks.

Chicago will be the baggage room for more visiting trunks than any city in the nation the week of the convention. The problem of the baggage is a natural consequence of the entrance of femininity into politics and political conventions. Women delegates from the four corners of the country have to doubt been planning convention toilettes every since there has been a remote possibility of their attending and the more so because it is inevitable that rumors of the grand affairs Chicago is planning for the visitors have reached their ears.

Those women who are instructed, and who know exactly to which faction they will devote themselves upon arriving, are really in luck, as regards the question of apparel. For indeed, the necessary costumes are dependent more upon their presidential affiliations than even upon fickle Chicago weather. Mannish Attire for Lowden Delegates.

For example, consider the Lowden women's announcement that pink ties and social functions are taboo and that things will be conducted in a mannish fashion! That would lead the delegates to believe that tailor made and street frocks were the only important apparel to bring along. On the other hand, the Wood and Hoover fans must have afternoon and evening gowns, with white gloves in abundance and feather hats, jinking from the list of teas and luncheons and receptions planned for the visitors. And the Johnson people—well, perhaps, gingham frocks and garments that are distinctly reminiscent of back-to-the-soil propaganda.

And, bewildered indeed must be the woman who has formed no affiliations previous to her arrival. A wardrobe trunk is all that will do, or undoubtedly welcome rumors of yachting parties on the lake, luncheons at the homes of Chicago's millionaires, teas at clubs where the cream of society gathers, have drifted to her ears.

Woman Mayor Now Rules Once Notorious Jackson Hole Country

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 4.—A woman mayor, Mrs. Grace Miller, now rules in Jackson, the population center of the Jackson's Hole country which long was famous in fact and fiction as the resort of outlaws, cattle rustlers, horse thieves and other bad men of the west that once was. For what is said to be the first time in history, there is not a man in the city hall of an American municipality; for a city administration composed entirely of women has been sworn into office as a result of the election in May. There is not a man in Jackson's city hall.

Jackson is a diminutive city—with a population of not quite 300. Perhaps no other section of the United States is so far isolated from the railroads and from all-year traffic. The nearest railway station is 75 miles away and from November until May the highway to that station is virtually impassable. Surrounded by the high mountains in the range south of Yellowstone National Park, the residents of Jackson make little or no attempt to travel during the winter months.

It was in Jackson's Hole that the bad men made their last stand against the advancing wave of civilization 20 or 40 years ago. There they flocked after stealing cattle or horses or other robberies of hold-ups and banded themselves together for mutual protection.

Today Jackson, itself, has surrendered to the feminist movement and made a clean sweep of every male officeholder. The only explanation thus far given for the overturn comes from the editor of The Courier, the city's sole newspaper, who says in his paper: "It is thought the novelty of being the first city on record to be governed entirely by women helped them to secure such a complete victory." The editor who was himself a candidate, accepts the results without repining but says the women surprised even themselves by the result.

There was no unusual campaigning, no special issues at stake, nor was there an unusually heavy vote. Mrs. Miller defeated Fred Lovejoy for mayor by a vote of 56 to 28. Four women were elected members of the city council over four men candidates by about the same relative vote.

LOVE IS BLIND ROMANCE AND TRAGEDY OF A JUNE WEDDING

CENSUS FIGURES DISCLOSE SOME LARGE GROWTHS

36 CITIES WITH 25,000 POPULATION IN 1910 SHOW LARGE INCREASE.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Population announcements of the 1920 census have been made for more than half of the cities of the country, which in 1910 had 25,000 or more people.

Some remarkable growths have been shown during the last 10 years, which will make many changes in the rank of the larger cities.

Perhaps the most notable growth thus far shown is that of the two Detroit suburbs, Hamtramck and Highland Park, ranking 1622nd and 1393rd respectively in 1910. Hamtramck now is slightly larger than Winston-Salem, which in this census advanced to the position of metropolis of North Carolina.

More than three dozen cities having less than 25,000 people in 1910 have gone beyond the 25,000 mark this year, while upward of a dozen have gone into the 100,000 class.

There were 50 cities of 100,000 or more people in 1910 and 179 having 25,000 or more people.

Cities thus far announced having populations under 100,000 and over 25,000 with their rank in 1910 and their 1920 population, arranged in order of size, follows:

CENTRAL AND WESTERN TEXAS WHEAT IS LATE

STATE'S DONATION TO WORLD'S CRY FOR BREAD WILL BE DELAYED.

Associated Press. FORT WORTH, Texas, June 4.—Texas, always the first state of the nation to respond to the world's cry for bread each summer, will delay her contribution this summer longer than ever before, according to reports reaching the Grain Dealers association here. Usually the first hum of the reaper heard in the United States comes from down about Waco, and it is always echoed in the grain markets and exchanges of the world, for it marks the advent of a new crop of wheat. Starting at Waco in Central Texas, the great threshing gangs proceed slowly northward until late in the fall when they cease work far above the Canadian border. In normal times the first wheat is cut about June 1 and Brownwood and Waco share the honors for the early harvest. North Texas fields are ready for the harvest by the middle of June, and Oklahoma wheat ripens by July 4. But Central and West Texas wheat is late this year, the average being about two weeks. The delay is due to weather conditions entirely, according to reports. The fall of 1919 was very dry and consequently, planting was delayed. In some instances fields were replanted several times. The continuing bad weather through the winter and spring held wheat back until estimates are now that the first cutting will be about June 20.

The labor problem, according to reports to the Grain Dealers' association headquarters, will not be as serious this summer as it was several years previous. The slowing down of work in the oil fields, according to reports, has released many good harvest hands who are eager to join the labor gangs. Most of these men will follow the harvest through Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and into the Dakotas. Already, employment agencies in this city have begun to recruit men for the threshers and they report that the supply of labor will meet the demand. Wages are expected to remain as high as last year, they said. According to early estimates by the county agricultural agents in Texas, the state's yield in wheat will be around 12,000,000 this year, which is several million bushels under normal. A decreased acreage, they said, is responsible for the shortage, it being impossible to plant many fields last fall because of excessive rain. Queen Victoria of Spain declares one of the greatest regrets of her life that she has never been able to visit America. As Princess Ena of Battenberg, she once planned a trip across the Atlantic and had gained the consent of her uncle, King Edward, to make the trip, but all her plans were set awry when the young King of Spain came to England to ask for her hand.

On the occasion of her recent visit to Spain, ex-empress Eugenia made a special trip to Andalusia to spend a night in the Chateau de Teba, where she was born 94 years ago. More than 40 American millionaires crossed the Atlantic on the same steamship recently.
