KINSMAN REVEALS KELLY THREATS

Wiley Post, Round-the-World Flier, Crashes in Winnie Mae

PLANE LODGES IN TREE WHEN MOTOR KILLS

QUINCY, Ill., Sept. 21. — Wiley Post, round-the-world flier, crashed shortly after he took off here today for Dayton, Pa. His plane, the Winnie Mae, fell in a tree. Post was found sitting in the plane, blood streaming down his face. He was taken to a hospital where it was said his injuries were not serious. The crash occurred after Post reached a height of several hundred feet. His motor went dead and the plane crashed into the tree where it was lodged. Post was expected to be able to leave the hospital in a few days. The plane was badly damaged.

Minor Role Stressed By Oakley Defense

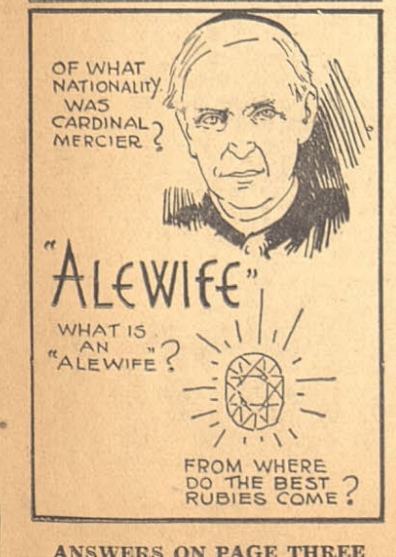

SULPHUR SPRINGS, Sept. 21.—The defense of Coy Oakley, self-styled healer on trial for murder in connection with the slaying of Bernice Clayton, 3-year-old afflicted child, today continued to stress his minor role in the religious rituals which brought death to the little girl. The child's mother, Mrs. Sherman Clayton, a cousin of the defendant and his brother, Paul, now under sentence of 50 years for the child's death, testified that she and her husband adhered to Paul's religious beliefs and participated in the ceremonies. When she saw her little daughter lying motionless after the "healing" service, she said, she thought the child was "under the power." Later she felt Bernice, found her cold and knew she was dead.

GOV'T COTTON BUYING PLAN URGED ON FDR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—A government cotton purchasing program involving the expenditure of $350,000,000 was urged on President Roosevelt today by a delegation headed by Sen. Bankhead, of Alabama, and representatives of the cotton growers of nine states. Bankhead explained that the group came to the white house to urge government buying of one-half of the present cotton crop at 15 cents per pound coupled with a contract for the farmer to take the same number of bales out of production next year. Such a plan would involve the acquisition by the government of about 5,000,000 bales of cotton. "Mr. Roosevelt was very sympathetic," Bankhead said. "He has taken our proposition under consideration and there is every indication that we will receive a definite answer within a few days."

GRANTED PAROLE. AUSTIN, Sept. 21.—Herman Turner, convicted in Stephens county last December and sentenced to two years on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property, was granted a general parole today by Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson.

Principals in Urschel Kidnaping Trial

Judge Guarded

Federal Judge E. S. Vaught, above, is presiding at the trial of Harvey J. Bailey and 11 others at Oklahoma City on a charge of kidnaping Charles F. Urschel, oil millionaire. The federal building was under heavy guard as the trial began.

Aided Bailey?

Federal charges of aiding Harvey Bailey to escape from the Dallas jail have been filed against Tom Manion, above, jailer who last visited the notorious outlaw before he fled, only to be recaptured a short time later. Bailey is accused in the Urschel kidnaping.

Part of Amarillo Is Dry in Randall

AMARILLO, Sept. 21.—Although every precinct in Potter county voted to legalize sale of 3.2 beer in the recent plebiscite the paradoxical fact remains that a portion of Amarillo, county seat, will continue dry. The explanation for this seeming inconsistency lies in the fact that the portion of the city extending south of 29th avenue is in Randall county, which voted dry. All the other Amarillo precincts voted 2 to 1 for beer with the exception of one, in which no local option election was held, it having never voted dry. Incongruously enough El Taos, Amarillo's most celebrated night club, and other amusement centers are situated in the part of the city which lies in dry Randall county. Amarillo by its vote for beer became the only college town in the Panhandle in which sale of 3.2 beer will be permitted. Canyon, home of West Texas State Teachers college, and Plainview, site of Wayland Baptist college, voted strongly against beer. The vote was closer at Lubbock, where Texas Technological college is situated, and at Clarendon, home of Clarendon junior college. With class rooms in the Amarillo city auditorium the Amarillo junior college will be situated in the very heart of the Panhandle's only beer distributing point.

East Texas Hopes For Higher Price

LONGVIEW, Sept. 21.—Higher prices were anticipated today for east Texas oil. It was reported the Sinclair-Prairie company contemplated a 15-cent rise to $1.05 a barrel for east Texas oil. Further basis for optimism lay in the belief Sec'y of Interior Ickes will establish fixed prices for all crude.

MURDER CHARGES.

FORT WORTH, Sept. 21.—Murder charges were filed against Joe Robinson by Assistant District Attorney Stanley Bransford in connection with the fatal stabbing last night of W. E. Pool, 43, a car salesman. Pool was found fatally stabbed on a used car lot. Police were told the altercation arose over a woman.

ALLRED FEARS PARTS OF NRA ARE INVALID

AUSTIN, Sept. 21.—Att.-Gen. James V. Allred today coupled with his "unalterable opposition" to repeal of Texas anti-trust laws, a desire to cooperate fully with President Roosevelt in his reconstruction program. He spoke at the invitation of the Texas senate, sitting as a committee of the whole with the house judiciary committee to consider bills revising anti-trust laws to conform with NRA codes. Allred expressed doubt of the validity of parts of the national recovery act, and doubts also whether the state legislature has the constitutional power to promulgate business codes and penalties for violation, or to delegate to the federal government power to do so.

TEXAS IS NOW IN US VITAL RECORDS AREA

The state of Texas, last of the 48 to be included, has been admitted to the federal registration for births and deaths, Cisco Health Officer Dr. W. P. Lee today was informed by State Health Officer Dr. John W. Brown, he announced.

The state's registration of vital statistics during 1932, when a determining effort to meet federal area requirements was made, were found satisfactory by the federal department. This inclusion for 1933 brings all of the states of the union within the registration area. Registration of 90 per cent of the births and deaths in the state is required for inclusion of the state in the federal area. In 1910 Texas passed its vital statistics law requiring this registration. At that time 22 states had met the federal requirement. Between 1910 and 1933, 25 other states reached the standard necessary, leaving Texas alone out, Dr. Lee explained.

In 1932, at the request of the state health department, the federal census bureau conducted a test of the efficiency of the state registration and it was upon the results of that that Texas was admitted to the federal area. Proper registration of vital statistics is important for numerous reasons connected with legitimacy, inheritance, questions of citizenship and so forth, it was explained. In order to maintain the standard that Texas has reached, Dr. Lee pointed out it is essential that the state vital statistics law not merely be enforced but that it be observed by every citizen who should see that every birth and death is properly reported to the authorities.

N. Y. EXCHANGE OFFICERS GO TO NEW MART

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The New York stock exchange today agreed to make Wall street a "branch office" instead of the world's major trading center when governors and officers accepted an invitation to head the New Jersey stock exchange, formed to avoid New York city taxes.

Mrs. Stevens Is in Shreveport Hospital

FORT WORTH, Sept. 21.—Mrs. O. D. Stevens, wife of a man alleged to be the brains of a ring accused of the $72,000 mail robbery here last February, is under guard in a Shreveport, La., hospital it was revealed here today. Mrs. Stevens was indicted in connection with the mail robbery along with 12 other persons by a federal grand jury at Amarillo. She makes the seventh person now under arrest in the case.

Murray Sends Army To Stop Oil Well

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 21.—Gov. William H. Murray invoked his executive military powers today and ordered out a one-man army to prevent drilling of an oil well near the state capital. The fiery governor's order directed the adjutant-general to use all of the force of the national guard that is necessary to prevent the Russell Petroleum company from drilling a well in northeast Oklahoma City. The well is only about 3,000 feet from the executive mansion.

Quadruplets Enter College

They may not look it, but Roberta, Mary, Leota and Mona Keyes, left to right above, are quadruplets — said to be the only living quadruplets in the United States to reach maturity. The 18-year-old sisters of Hollis, Okla., dressed identically, are pictured as they entered Baylor university at Waco, the other day.

TEAM EMERGING FROM LOBO SQUAD IN TIME FOR GAME

What had the appearance of a football team, with some of the characteristics of past Lobo elevens to boot, began this week to emerge from the raw material with which Coaches Shelley and Hodges have been struggling, at Chesley field since September 1. The problem of a line seemed nearer solution. The forward wall, bolstered by three veterans of last year's "outlaw" eleven, including Capt. Leonard Latch, has been the object of a great deal of offensive drill during the past few sessions. It has the promise of being a good line. Even "Red" Timmons, last year ineligible, seemed to be discovering that there are certain things which, if he does at the difficult center assignment, will make a fairly good pivot man out of him. The line is powerful enough and it appears, mean enough, to serve well at the post. The rest of the question concerns his ability to supply the necessary smartness. A Good Game, Perhaps. It begins to look as if the team will be able to give the Gorman eleven a warm afternoon here Saturday. That game, which promises to be what no recent Cisco-Gorman clash has been—an honest-to-goodness high school football contest—will put a severe test to the Cisco youngsters. Out of an array of backfield talent that is gratifying, if not excellent, the coaches will have opportunity to select a combination on the basis of actual service. There is enough reserve material to make this process comparatively easy. The line is the sector where the most trouble promises to arise. But at that, with the will and the snap that the prospect of playing in Interscholastic league district competition this fall has put into the team, things promise to look well on Chesley field within the next few weeks, or at least before conference competition gets under way.

Methodists Have Supper Friday Night

Members and friends of the First Methodist church are invited to a churchwide supper at the church Friday evening at 6:30 when the climax of the church Loyalty campaign, continuing through the month of September will be reached. Dr. C. C. Smith, presiding elder of the Cisco district, will speak on the subject: "Foolish Philosophy of Failure and Funny Folks." There will be music. No subscription will be taken, but a period of good fellowship, with an entertaining program, will be indulged, the Rev. O. O. Odom, pastor, announced.

TELLS JUDGE VISIT MADE DURING NIGHT

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 21.—The terrified uncle of Katherine Kelly, fugitive defendant in the Urschel kidnaping case, told U. S. Judge Edgar S. Vaughn today that George (Machine Gun) Kelly threatened the lives of his entire family on their farm near Stratford, Okla., last night. This revelation came at noon today as the climax of a dramatic scene in the heavily guarded court room where Harvey Bailey and 11 others are on trial, accused of conspiracy in the kidnaping of Charles Urschel, Oklahoma City oil millionaire.

Fred Coleman, 40, confided the death threat to Judge Vaughn after he was arrested following his voluntary appearance in the court room with his 72-year-old father to demand five minutes speaking time. Two hours later, after Coleman had refused to tell federal agents anything, the judge gave him a private interview during a recess.

"He Was Scared." "Kelly came to my house last night and scratched on the window and threatened to kill the whole family if anything was said about this case." Coleman's father, and his son, Gay, both had testified Kelly, Mrs. Kelly and Bates plotted the kidnaping and stopped at the Coleman home near Stratford on their way to North Texas with Urschel.

GOVERNOR REVEALS KIDNAP PLOT. TOPEKA, Sept. 21.—Gov. Alf Landon today revealed a plot to kidnap his pretty 16-year-old daughter, Peggy Ann. The governor said he had received reliable information that members of the Bailey-Underhill gang of desperadoes, had planned to kidnap the girl in an effort to effect the release of several life termers in the Kansas penitentiary. Harvey Bailey now is on trial at Oklahoma City in the Charles Urschel kidnaping. Wilbur Underhill, with Bailey and nine other convicts, escaped from the Kansas prison last Memorial day. Peggy Ann was to have been kidnaped from the executive mansion here, and held until the governor issued 10-day paroles to six convicts, Landon said. One report by the governor was that the girl was to have been kidnaped as she returned from school last Thursday, but nothing occurred.

CUBAN GOV'T PREPARES FOR NEW OUTBREAK

HAVANA, Sept. 21.—Cavalrymen patrolled the streets today and soldiers sat behind machine guns at the presidential palace in anticipation of a revolt against the San Martin government. The situation at Havana was matched by that in the eastern provinces. New revolts and new strikes were reported. A condition approaching anarchy was apparent at many places. Danger to American lives was feared at some points. Four revolts of minor proportions were known to be in progress. The government claimed it had halted a fifth pending negotiations.

THE KATY'S ADVERTISING.

M. H. Cahill, president of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad, reporting increases in traffic on his company's lines during August and the first half of September, credits a newspaper advertising campaign which the Katy is conducting. That campaign, with a base motif of aggressiveness that is a surprising, but agreeable, departure from the usual formality of railroad advertisements, embodies some radical features from the traditional viewpoint, but the big fact for consideration by all concerned is that the campaign is proving a success. Mr. Cahill and the Katy are thereby justifying the newspaper argument that advertising is the best economy for a business, depression or no depression. Proving that doctrine to the satisfaction of its advocates, we trust that the Katy is also proving it to the conviction of its competitors and the business world in general. A competitive advertising campaign at this stage of the American game of recovery will do more to spur the lagging steps of the return than any other single thing, we believe.

It is encouraging to note the portion of Mr. Cahill's report to his board which says:

"Business generally is showing a healthier tone, and all through the Katy-served territory there are evidences of marked improvement."

Surely, if slowly, the country is struggling back from the depths.

EASIER TAXPAYING.

If Gov. Ferguson submits the subject to this legislature, Sen. John W. Hornsby has ready for introduction a bill that will take a lot of the slack out of delinquent tax collection, and make taxpaying easier by extending the installment paying feature.

Sen. Hornsby's bill will require, instead of graciously permit, the county attorney to file delinquent tax suits. It will give the county commissioners court discretion to extend the time for payment on good cause in individual cases.

The bill will offer a 2 per cent discount to taxpayers who pay their entire state and county taxes in advance of the due date, Dec. 1 of each year. It will abolish the heavy penalties, all accumulating at once, and provide for installment paying, without interest; but if started after Jan. 31, with 1 per cent penalty, after Feb. 28, two per cent, and so on, up to 8 per cent after August 1. Where installment payments are started within time, no penalties will be charged, as long as the installments are kept up.

Another phase of the law is that the state and county will not longer be required to pay the county tax collector six per cent as a redemption fee on taxes paid, even under remission of interest and penalties, after the taxes become delinquent. Counties now are being taxed that six per cent as fees on delinquent taxes paid under the present remission law.

BREAD BONDS.

The title of "bread bonds," coined in support of the $20,000,000 state bond issue, has come back for attention as the channel for spending the bond proceeds is to be selected.

The Houston Post has protested editorially that taking all the bond proceeds and applying it to highway work, and employment of labor on the highways, would fall short of the objectives for which the bonds were approved by voters Aug. 26. The Post pointed out the bonds were for relief of the destitute, and not alone for paying such limited few heads of families as might find work on highways.

Besides, it was pointed out, money already has been assigned to highway work in every county, leaving the state bond proceeds free for other forms of employment and relief.

There will be demands that the relief money be held in readiness to save Texas women and children, Texas families, from hunger and want this winter, to provide medical attention and housing, where necessary. Arbitrary assignment of the money only to those picked out by some bureau for highway work would fail to meet the whole responsibility.

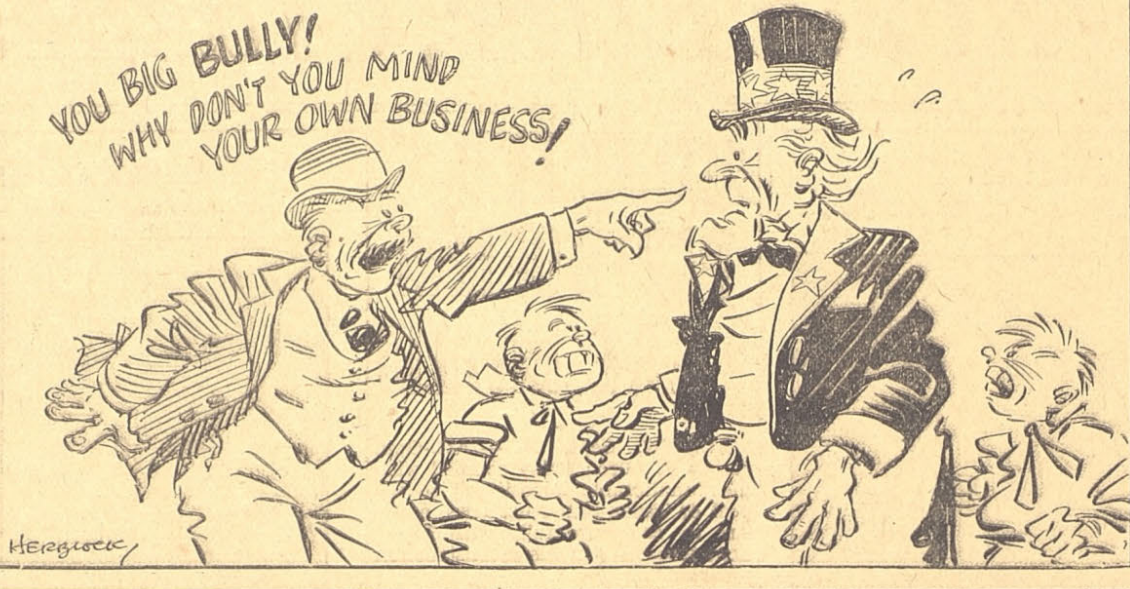

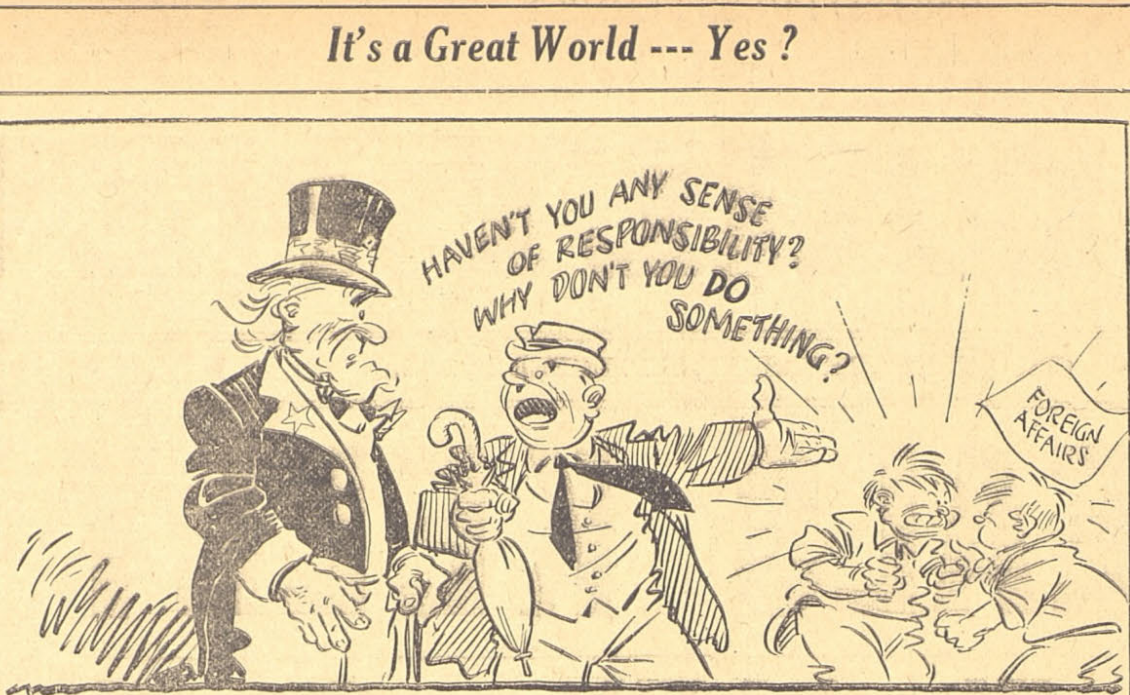

Another shortcoming was indicated in the Panhandle highway program, where the relief agencies, picking out the most needy workers, limited these jobless heads of destitute families to about three days' work a week or from $15 to $20 a month at the outside. Men without families, if they found work at all, would get about $8 a month of employment.

That would do nothing to lift such families out of utter dependency and want.

THE WAGE-EARNER WOULD PAY.

The argument for cheapening the American dollar to increase purchasing power cannot evade the fact that there must be what, for want of a readier term, we shall call a "big push" to set the prosperity wheel to turning, and that some portion of the cycle must bear the drudgery of this "big push." The question of getting circulation to flowing, which means purchasing power in action, is a question of starting from an inert standstill. The question is, will recovery be the quicker if this "big push" is distributed over a period of gradually rising costs or will it come sooner to immediately inflate currency to a desired point and let the situation work itself out as best it can?

Laborers and others of fixed pay and the farmers would bear the brunt of a program of outright inflation. The NRA labor provisions are designed to do in exactly the reverse order what has been the course of recoveries in the past—in other words it is designed to prevent the working man being forced to pay the cost of recovery. Profits first and wages afterward has been the rule in the past, neglecting the fact that wages create profits. The present campaign would switch ends with that process, not—truthfully it may be said—with so much emphasis on the essential rightness of the social factors involved, as upon the belief that it will mean a faster recovery and a more permanent prosperity through crystallization of important social reforms. That program runs counter to so-called natural directions and it is as difficult to keep adjusted in all its essential relationships as it is difficult to hold water in cupped hands. One may readily see what a mess an inflation program, which would follow a reverse course by practically nullifying the minimum wage provisions and generally elevating the NRA program above its restrictive influences, would make of that program. Unless an inflationary program keeps all things equal it would be destructive; if it keeps all things equal it wouldn't help the situation very much. The critical stage in the recovery drive is no place to desert it. The fact that recovery is taking place is reflected in increasing employment, increasing domestic buying, increasing foreign trade and negotiations for large purchases of American goods. At home we may be feeling the grind of the process, but the grind itself is evidence that improvement is occurring. Rising prices reflect growing demand and growing demand reflects new employment and increases in purchasing power. There may be instances in which these evidences are artificially created, but they are present and the very fact of their presence is contributing to spontaneous factors of recovery.

The Texas Rehabilitation and Relief commission to RRC is surprising. Generally it is referred to as the relief commission. Frequently it is incorrectly called Texas relief and rehabilitation commission. Though relief comes first in its work and rehabilitation second, the order is reversed in the official name.

The famous law firm of Hogg & Robertson, of which former governor James Stephen Hogg was a member, is not forgotten here. The law library of Moody & Robertson, Austin law firm, contains many of the books once in the possession of Hogg & Robertson.

Former governor Dan Moody is a member of the firm. J. B. Robertson, who recently came to Austin from San Antonio is associated with Moody. Robertson is a descendant of Hogg's partner. When Moody left the governor's office to resume law practice he bought the Hogg & Robertson library. He and his partner are cousins.

are even inclined to tolerate it. The reason is simply a case of the laziness so common to the species.

I was interested Tuesday evening in an illustration of the extent of economic dependence upon a single firm. One does not stop to think very often of the social importance (speaking of social in the sense of human relationship and not entertainment) of a business concern. Fifty persons, all of whom directly depend upon the Nance Motor company, attended a company picnic at Lake Cisco.

There are other firms in Cisco, of course, which have as many or more dependents, but this instance was an apt experience. One can quite readily appreciate that the success of that firm is a vital matter not merely to S. H. Nance, but to 50 or more other persons, and to the community at large, including all who transact business with the purchasing power that is created.

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER, United Press Staff Correspondent. AUSTIN, Sept. 21.—Ed Husson, Houston printing establishment proprietor, is the "big man" of the present state administration.

He represented Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson in Washington conferences with administration leaders. He is secretary of the state democratic executive committee and is a member of the Texas Rehabilitation and Relief commission. With associates, he has the Houston territory permit for a licensed race track. He and associates also have one of the three boxing and wrestling promotions for Houston.

His printing firm has the contract for the state cigar stamps. All of which show Husson is a hustler.

Prominence has not gone to Husson's head. He is an affable, cheerful, smiling little man, who will offer you a lift in his 16-cylinder automobile and genuinely want you to ride with him.

The cigar tax printing was won on competitive bidding. The stamps are now manufactured in Chicago because the state requires a special decalomania stamps to prevent reuse.

Speaker Coke Stevenson still enjoys his "wise cracks." He established a reputation at the regular session of the 43rd legislature for witticisms.

At the opening of the special session he was overrun with applicants for jobs on the house staff of employees.

"After great difficulty, I have succeeded in finding enough people to take the house jobs," the speaker gravely announced to the house as the opening session ended.

The speaker's political intentions still remain in doubt. He may run for governor, congress or attorney general. He has been urged for all these places.

Recently it has been announced the administration would support C. C. McDonald of Wichita Falls for governor. McDonald smiles broadly when queried about it but remains silent.

McDonald and Stevenson had a chat at the opening of this session. It was not about the governor's race. McDonald was recommending an applicant for a house position.

The house of representatives' request that bills affecting the state anti-trust act be referred to its judiciary committee was really a test of strength between those advocating greater freedom for corporations and those who are reluctant to throw off restrictions.

Rep. T. H. McGregg, one of the governor's recent ambassadors to Washington, fought to have the bills sent to the state affairs committee. The liberals backed him.

Rep. Weaver Moore was joined in his fight to have the judiciary committee get the bills by those who are unwilling to let any suspension affect litigation already pending.

McGregg, it is known, has appealed to President Roosevelt for a direct request to the Texas legislature on anti-trust law amendments.

NANCE MOTOR CO., Incorporated, CISCO, TEXAS

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TODAY
EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bixby's department store, met a young man named DICK RADER, a construction superintendent. Dick is sent to take charge of a construction job in the Adirondacks. It will require at least a year to complete but Dick is determined to give up her work and go with him.

MONA ALLEN, copy writer, dislikes Eve and is constantly causing trouble at the office. She is responsible for several mistakes for which Eve is blamed. Mona is friendly with THERON REECE who continues to force unwelcome attentions on Eve.

Unknown to Dick, Eve has been playing the stock market, borrowing money from her mother and sister. She loses this as well as her own savings. Dick leaves in the boat.

MONA ALLEN, copy writer, then comes to Eve's office to a roundtable where Dick Reece appears. Eve dislikes Reece. She leaves the office, becomes lost and spends the night at a farm house. Next day Reece telephones and frightens Eve by declaring he is in love with her and intimating that Dick has been carrying on flirtations.

Eve is lonely and misses Dick. She begins to wonder if she should not give up her work and go with him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XL
The night before Thanksgiving Day Eve ate dinner in a downtown restaurant and then went to the library where she selected two of the newest books to read over the holiday. It was one of the evenings when she missed Dick dreadfully and wanted to put off going home. But when she finally arrived at the apartment she found a letter from Dick waiting for her on the hall table.

He wrote that he and some of the others had driven to Old Forge for the Thanksgiving turkey for Mrs. Williams who kept the boarding house. They had attended a movie, the first Dick had seen since he left Lake City. He added that there would be 20 at the boarding house for Thanksgiving dinner—the men from the construction camp and a number of school teachers who took their meals there.

Was it jealousy that Eve felt when she read that sentence? She had pictured Dick as living in a man's world entirely. This was his first reference to the school teachers. Eve hoped fervently that all of them were middle-aged and unattractive, and not in any way like Dorothy McElhinney.

Eve spent Thanksgiving day with Mrs. Penney. They attended services at the Little Stone church together and then boarded a trolley which took them to the artist's home. Mrs. Penney had rented the second floor of a two-family house near the college her daughter attended. Eve could not refrain from complimenting her on the attractiveness of the rooms.

"Dick made those hooked rugs," Mrs. Penney said proudly. "And she made the draperies for the windows, too. Those pictures are some of my work, done before my marriage."

but he died when Jean was a baby."

EVE refrained from asking questions and busied herself preparing salad for the dinner. Jean and a young man who was a classmate joined them after the football game and Mrs. Penney set the boy to work mashing the potatoes. Another girl and boy soon arrived and Mrs. Penney assigned them tasks. It was a merry dinner and the young people were so amusing that not once did Eve feel a pang of homesickness.

The boys washed the dishes. "I'm glad they've got a little more to do," Mrs. Penney said. "They are all from out of town," she explained to Eve. "And I mother them a bit. But they understand I must give most of my energy to my job and if they want to play here they must help with the work."

Jean and her friends left late in the afternoon to attend a tea dance. Mrs. Penney invited Eve to curl up on the davenport while she pulled a small Windsor rocker closer to the fireplace.

"It must be a great satisfaction for you to have Jean!" began Eve. "I don't know what I would have done without her!" nodded Mrs. Penney. "She is all I have lived for these last 17 years. And she looks so much like her father. That is my greatest joy. I believe she has inherited his ability too. If he had lived I am sure he would have become one of our finest artists. His work at the time of his death was beginning to attract wide attention."

Eve was interested. She had wondered about the little woman with the brave, smiling face and gentle manners. Eve had always thought there must be an interesting story concerning Mrs. Penney. She encouraged her to go on.

"Jean's father studied in Paris and when he returned to this country he taught art classes in Chicago. I had gone there to study, and was one of his pupils. Perhaps we would never have been more than acquaintances if we had not attended an artists' ball where fate or chance sent us together in an old-time circle two-step. We danced in perfect harmony and my heart as well as my soul took wings. Jean comes naturally by her love for dancing."

"After our marriage I continued to study art, but in private. We were extremely happy and when little Jean was born it seemed life could hold no greater happiness. Jean was just learning to say 'Daddy' and watch for him in the window at the close of day when he became ill. It was pneumonia and he was gone within the week."

Mrs. Penney's voice broke. "And she raised her chin in the manner Eve had noticed was characteristic of her and said calmly, 'This is no subject for a holiday, Mrs. Rader. Shall I turn on the radio?'"

"Jean has a great deal of artistic talent," Eve commented. "Yes," answered Mrs. Penney. "Her father was an artist, too. It was twilight and the room was lighted only by the flickering glow from the fireplace. Eve's nestling among the pillows on the comfortable davenport, begged her to go on with her story.

Mrs. Penney continued. "That is life, Mrs. Rader. Sometimes we get our greatest joys when the skies seem brightest. But sometimes, too, when it seems we cannot go on, things suddenly make a right-about turn and the path is cleared ahead. Always there is something left to make it worthwhile for us to go on. Usually it is some other person."

"Little Jean and I have known hard times. For more than eight years I met defeat at every turn. It was not so bad while I had my health. But when my health broke it was extremely hard to earn enough for us to live on. I let myself believe only the encouraging reports of those who had suffered similarly and determined I had not yet reached bottom. Each night I prayed that I would be able to get up next morning and to do the housework and take care of Jean. It seems a small boon to ask but it was a very important one. My recovery was complete and I shall try never to complain about anything again so long as I have health and the opportunity to earn a living."

WHAT was it the minister had said that morning in church? "You ask for some living manifestation of God in our midst. Can you not see for yourself the sacrificing mother who forgets self in the interest of her child?"

There had been more, of course, but that one sentence of the Thanksgiving sermon stood out in Eve's memories, coupled with Mrs. Penney's story. What an infinitesimal thing the loss of dollars and cents seemed compared to the obstacles this little woman had had to battle alone! What a triumph over adversity was hers. Eve felt her own aims trivial after Mrs. Penney had finished her story.

When Eve reached home that night she wrote a long letter to her husband.

"And so," she wrote in conclusion, "after my talk with Mrs. Penney I've decided to give up work here and come to Pine Forest if you want me to and if there is a house available. I don't suppose there is such a thing as an apartment to be had there."

Slowly, with unsteady fingers, she folded the pages and placed them in an envelope. Tomorrow she would tell Earle Barnes that she was through at Bixby's. She would sacrifice the dream that had been hers so long—the dream of seeing her name on the door of a private office above the words "Advertising Manager." She would sacrifice all that for Dick.

Yes, Eve told herself, she was willing to forget her ambitions if Dick wanted her. "If he wanted her!" The words seemed to form themselves into a litany which sang itself over and over again in her mind.

Keeping Up With The Boy Scouts

Five Years Old

The council office received charter troop 2 this week which indicates that troop two has had five years of successful scouting receiving five-year veteran charter. This charter has a large water mark "V" on the face of it. R. D. Sallee, Ivan Ellis, and M. J. Flowers are members of the troop committee and Dan Gill is scoutmaster. This troop is sponsored by the volunteer fire department of Brownwood.

There will be a court of honor Friday night the 22nd for the troops of Cisco. A number of scouts are expected to appear for advancement.

Life Scouts Horace Horton and Richard White appeared before the Eastland court of honor and made application for their Eagle badges, which, if they are approved for that rank by the national court of honor they will receive at the next court of honor. Scout Fred Davenport also made application for life rank and others for lower ranks.

Now is the time for troops to plan "Good Turns" which they may be able to render this following winter. A number of "Good Turns" were reported done by the different troops last year in the way of baskets to the needy during Thanksgiving and Christmas, repairing or broken toys, and collecting and helping to deliver same. Those who understand the scout program realize that there are numerous individual good turns that are done every day that no record or report is made. The Boy Scout slogan is "Do a Good Turn Daily."

Gain in Membership

The council office has just received a communication from the regional office stating that the Comanche Trail council has gained 7.7 percent in membership since the first of the year. The regional objective set for the year was 10 percent. Local officials believe that this council will go over the mark.

Following is an extract from the address of President Roosevelt as given on August 23rd, incident to his visit to the New York Civic Boy Scout camp:

"This spring, because of my scout training, I took a leaf out of the notebook of scouting in order to take care of a lot of boys who are a bit older than you are—boys who had graduated from high school and some of them from college, but who had not been able to get work for a year or two or three years.

"And we started in this country, modeling it to a large extent after scouting, a civilian conservation corps, and today there are two or three hundred thousand older boys in various parts of this country in these civilian conservation camps, taking care of forests, preventing fires, stopping soil erosion and doing a thousand other tasks that the country needs.

"And I am told that in these camps—of course, when you get a camp of 200,000 boys together some of them naturally develop into leaders—and I'm told that the boys who have had scout training are coming forward more rapidly than any others and are becoming the leaders of a great many of these civilian conservation camps.

"It is a pretty fine tribute to what scouting has done throughout the country.

"I am glad, to see that you have adopted the NRA insignia. We are going to number about 130,000,000 people before we get through.

"And when you come right down to it, the NRA is based on the same fundamentals that scouting is based on. In other words, trying to do something for the other fellow and not trying to do somebody.

"It is based on cooperation—you know what that means. It is based on the spirit of service, and it is going to work just as scouting is working."

"Floating" Gardens Planned in Park

OTTINE, Gonzales county, Sept. 21—A rival for the floating gardens of Xochimilco, Mexico, on the San Marcos river in Texas is being planned.

The gardens will form a part of the Ottine State Park for which land grants are being secured by State Park Chairman D. C. Colp of San Antonio.

A 500-acre tract is planned with gardens as a central feature.

"There is vegetation at Ottine that cannot be found elsewhere on the North American continent" Colp said. "Many people travel to Mexico to see the floating islands of their national park. Should this park be developed, we can offer them something as strange in floating islands."

The park site is being offered as a landscaping project under the national recovery program.

Tells How She Lost 15 Pounds of FAT

Rheumatism Gone

Here is a woman who was putting on weight and who troubled with rheumatism too. Her letter:

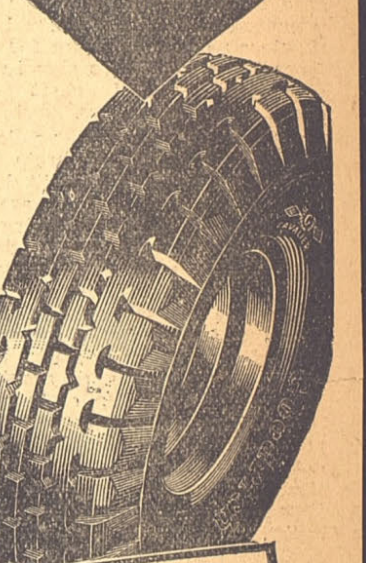

"I started taking Kruschen Salts because of the good it had done for a friend of mine who had been crippled with rheumatism. At the end of the second bottle I was weighed and find I am now only 148 pounds (original weight 163 lbs.), at which I am so pleased. But I have also felt my rheumatism much less, which has been so troublesome in my knees. I must say I think Kruschen a splendid weight reducer."

(Miss) E. L. P. Overweight and rheumatic poisoning often go together. The six salts in Kruschen assist the internal organs to perform their functions properly—little by little that ugly fat goes; slowly, yes—but surely. You feel wonderfully healthy, youthful and energetic—more so than ever before in your life!

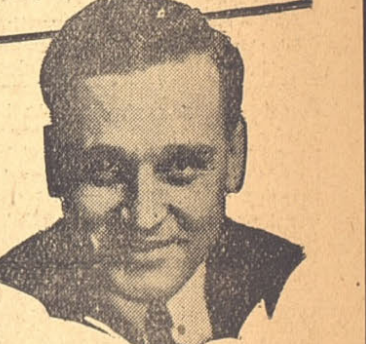

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at Moore Drug Co.—a jar lasts four weeks and costs not more than 85c.—Adv.

A Texas "Old Timer" Needs a Temporary Lift ...and the people of Texas, as Always, Will Heed the Call

THE people of Texas stick together. It's born in the blood. The concern of each individual in the common welfare grew out of the early days of Texas history when the pioneers, like the signers of the Declaration of Independence, to quote Benjamin Franklin, "had to hang together, or hang separately."

That intense feeling of pride, sympathy and common responsibility for the institutions of Texas glows more brightly than ever in the present generation, because the old, loose-knit fraternalism has crystallized into an almost sacred tradition.

It is to the pride and loyalty of Texans that this appeal is frankly addressed. And why not? For the plea is made in the vital interest of one of the oldest and most honored institutions that Texas can boast—the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Lines.

Our railroad has fought its way through this worst of all depressions without borrowing any of the people's money from their government. Service and facilities have been continuously improved—with heads up and eyes front, the whole Katy personnel has put forth a supreme effort, and with the wonderful cooperation of the people of Texas, stands in sight of the goal.

Now, one final drive is needed, one more sustained effort is required and victory shall rest with the Katy and the loyal people she serves. An "Old Timer" is calling. The people of Texas will not stand idly by in such an emergency, when they can so easily lend a hand, by merely specifying Katy routing on all shipments, and riding our trains.

People of Texas!—The unvarnished facts are here—the appeal is before you—an "Old Timer" who pioneered beside your forebears is calling to you! Texans! To the front!

INFLATIONARY TALK SPURS FARM PRICES

AUSTIN, Sept. 21.—A revival of radical inflation talk has featured the news releases from Washington during the past two weeks and has served to "bull" stock, grain, and cotton prices considerably. Dr. J. C. Dolley University of Texas economist pointed out in his monthly analysis of financial conditions for the Texas business review.

"In the foreign exchange market the dollar reached an all-time low price on September 16 being quoted at a discount of 33 per cent in terms of gold," Dr. Dolley said. "It is no secret that the administration is very anxious to raise prices further, particularly farm commodity prices which have tended to lag during recent months. If the threat of inflation does not shortly accomplish definitely higher prices, it is quite probable that the president will make actual use of his inflationary powers before congress convenes in January."

"At the recent meeting of the American Bankers association in Chicago, the administration strongly urged the commercial banks to extend credits freely to business concerns operating under NRA codes. New credit and in considerable volume must soon be forthcoming in order to finance the material increase in operating costs incident to the 'shorter hours-higher wages' program. From the bankers viewpoint, much of this new credit would undoubtedly be poor risk which would either involve losses or tend to freeze and thus would endanger the solvent banks and the safety of deposits."

The Banker's Reply

"To the administration request, the economic policy commission of the American Bankers' association replied: 'Even in these times each loan should be considered on its merits, and only granted when the credit of the borrower justifies it. The objectives of the recovery campaign justify all the support that banks can rightfully give, but just so long as that support involves only banking. This laudable pronouncement, if adhered to, will constitute an open invitation for the federal government to step in and supply the needed short term credit to NRA members.'

"The small banks, in particular, can be expected to cooperate very little in extending new credit during the next few months as they are now vastly concerned with achieving sufficient liquidity to qualify for deposit insurance protection. Failure to qualify, they feel, will involve loss of deposits to insured banks. On the other hand, large banks are greatly worried for fear many weak banks will be insured which will eventually involve them in heavy insurance losses. It is quite likely that qualification requirements will be made sufficiently lenient to permit practically all banks to come in the field, thus realizing the fears of the larger banks."

PRICE PROBE TO COVER 400 CITIES, TOWNS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—The most ambitious investigation of retail prices ever undertaken was being planned as a part of the NRA program.

Protection of consumers against runaway prices and the setting up of a wholesale supervision of price trends were the objectives.

The research will be extended to some 1500 items sold daily in cross-roads stores and metropolitan markets. More than 400 cities will be covered by the survey, with emphasis on a true representation of what is happening in the retail field.

For the present, the undertaking will be on an emergency basis. The long range aspects of the plan contemplate a permanent organization in from 12 to 20 key points, with every one of the more than 400 representative towns and cities reporting retail price trends at least once a month.

$5,200 IS TAKEN FROM RANCHER AT FT. WORTH

FORT WORTH, Sept. 21.—Police were seeking two confidence men as the perpetrators of a robbery here Tuesday in which Ed Marlan, Throckmorton rancher, was robbed of $5,200, all in $100 bills.

Detectives listed Marlan on the records as the victim of a confidence game and said that what had at first been described as a daring daylight holdup was a coup by which the fleecers obtained the money.

Officers found a fake money making machine in a hotel room in which Marlan said he talked with the two men yesterday. After talking with the men, he went to a bank Marlan told officers, to withdraw the money to close a deal. One of the men accompanied and waited outside. As he emerged from the bank, he said, the man threatened him with a pistol, took the money and fled.

BUS CONTRACT FORMS HAVE BEEN MAILED

By B. E. McGLAMERY, Supt.

During this week transportation contracts have been mailed to all schools that operate school buses. These contracts should be filled out at once and returned to the office of the county superintendent for approval by the county board and later by the deputy state superintendent in this district. Reimbursement by the state will be made for the buses for which contracts have been filed. Where individual transportation is furnished by private conveyance as arranged by the county school board the county board will make the application for the state aid and the county superintendent should be notified as early as possible of all such arrangements.

It is the plan of the department of education to get the first report on transportation about the last of October and then make payments on the first half of the school year. After January 1, other payments will be made on transportation according to reports sent in.

Applications for state aid are now being made and are supposed to be finished and in the hands of the deputy superintendent by October 15. The deputy superintendent for this district, Miss Sue Mann, will be in this office October 9 and 10 for the purpose of working on the applications for Eastland county. If there are special problems in your district that should have her attention, trustees should keep these dates in mind. Trustees are urged to come in and sign the applications for the state aid as early as possible after receiving notice that they are ready for them. The state board of education made a ruling at its June meeting at Lubbock that all teachers teaching in rural aid schools in 1934-35 will be required to have a minimum of two years college training. The board recently met in Austin and passed a resolution modifying that requirement to the extent that all teachers teaching in rural aid schools in 1934-35 will be required to have a minimum of two years college training, provided that teachers now teaching in rural aid schools may continue to do so even though they do not have two years of college training, provided they attend summer school each summer until they have reached this standard.

The board also recommended that, in so far as it is possible, teachers in state aid schools should secure special preparation in the subject or grades wherein they are employed to teach.

Blanks for making application for the library aid under the new law are in this office and schools expecting to secure this aid should make application for same at once.

HUGE PARADE FOR CHICAGO LEGION MEET

By HARRISON SALISBURY
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—The greatest parade that America ever has seen will swing down Michigan boulevard when the American Legion meets, Oct. 2.

The annual parade of the Legion is unique. It is so vast that it will virtually tie up traffic in Chicago all day long.

There will be 138,000 marchers, with 500 bands and bugle corps. Marching 16 abreast, the marchers will require 10 1-2 hours to pass a given point.

It will be the biggest parade the Legion ever has had and probably the largest in the Legion ever will have. Because of the tremendous attendance at the convention, attracted by Chicago's central location and the Century of Progress Exposition, thousands more will march than ever before.

Only members of the Legion and uniformed members of the auxiliary will take part. The march will begin at 9:30 a. m. The Legion marches by state delegations in alphabetical order. At the head of each group are massed all the flags of the posts of the particular state.

The entire day will be occupied with the parade.

 Chuck Regan, building wrecker, because he is the most successful in the business on the West Coast. He marries beautiful Mary Wilson, and they have a two-year-old son, Sam Shapiro, and Tom Cummings, good friends of Regan, rise to the heights with him on his way of success. Shapiro in a rage; Cummings in contracting, Cummings is in love with Regan's wife, and one night Regan returns home to find her in his arms. This causes Regan's downfall, as his whole life has been centered about his wife and child. He goes to ruin and is missing for several months after his divorce from Mary and her subsequent marriage to Cummings. Shapiro, ever faithful, finally locates him in a flop-house in the slums of San Francisco. He almost drags Regan from the sordid surroundings and gets him new clothes and takes him to a Turkish bath. He makes Regan promise to come to his house for Christmas dinner, telling him that his son will be there. Mary refuses to allow the child to go to Shapiro, so Shapiro kidnaps the boy and brings him to the diner. Detectives, sent by Mary, arrest Shapiro on a kidnapping charge.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
 Shapiro spoke over his inter-office phone. "Is Cummings still there?"
 "Yes, sir," came the answer.
 "How long has he been waiting?"
 "Half an hour."
 "I guess that's enough. Send him in."
 The door opened and Tom Cummings came in, his face wreathed in a jovial smile, his manner completely friendly.
 "Hello, Shapiro. How do you feel this morning?"
 Shapiro shrugged. "Pretty good for a fellow who is out on bail on a sex charge."
 "That's what I came to see you

Shapiro came tearing up to Regan. "Do you think you can save 'em?" (Posed by Jack Holt and George B. Stone) about. After all—we've known each other for a long time. And there's your wife and family to consider. I've persuaded Mrs. Cummings to withdraw her charges against you. But I don't want any favors from Mrs. Cummings. Ven I needed a favor she wouldn't do it. Now I wouldn't do it. I insist on my constitutional rights to stand trial."

 "Do you realize what might happen to you?"
 "Do you realize what will happen to you?" answered Shapiro. "Tomorrow they dedicate that new school building you've finished. And when you're on the platform taking a bow, I'll be on the witness stand in court talking back to the District Attorney. You cheated on those city contracts, Cummings, just like you've cheated on everything else. You cheated on the school building they're going to open tomorrow. You paid out graft. It'll be a rotten salvage job ven they tear that school down because it's junk already."
 "What are you after?"
 "Whatever I got in the world I owe to Regan. And that goes for you too. Only maybe you forget. Shapiro never forgets. Shapiro's a committee of one to bring Regan back to life. And there's only one way to do it. I'm a family man, I understand, and I got six children. Regan's only got one. And because he loves you too much of a man to put up a fight in that voice case—a fight that would've smeared that kid's mother with dirt—they took his kid away. If he had that kid back—even one day a week—he'd have gone ding. I've got. That's your son, your boy I kidnapped. It was Regan's. Give him back his son."
 "That's impossible," answered Cummings. "No power on earth could make me do it. My friend, you've been reading dime novels."
 "Sure. But once in a while I read the Old Testament, too. And in it there's something about an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. You'll see. Good-bye."
 He walked to the door and threw it open.

Mary revelled in the flowery speeches that were made in honor of the new school building and its builder, Thomas Cummings. Thousands of people filled the vast auditorium in which the dedication ceremonies were being held. Music, speech and cheers echoed and re-echoed around its high dome. And then the ceremonies were over. The last of the long line of people filed out to the street. Only Mary and Tom were left in the eye foyer of the building. She came up to him and looked into his eyes.
 "I told you, Tom, I told you. I'm just bursting with pride."
 "And it's only the start," replied Cummings. "I'm in with the right people. I've got my hooks in the right places. I'm going to control the construction business of the whole state and make millions before I get through." He stopped, startled, for the great chandelier above their heads had suddenly gone ding. They flickered for a moment and the many-crystalline hanging swung from side to side. An ominous rumble saturated the air.

Then, like the gaping jaws of some prehistoric monster, the great cracked open. Cement and mortar fell to the splitting floor with a crash.
 Mary screamed, her shrill cry barely heard above the increasing roar.

They started up the stairs, but just as Cummings reached it, a huge block of mortar crashed down, blocking completely their exit. Mary looked wildly about for some other means of escape. There were none. All the doors had either caved in or were blocked with pieces of fallen wall.
 The roar increased, as the rending and twisting of the steel added to the din. Girders, brick and mortar fell about the entrapped pair like rain pellets.
 All Southern California felt the quake as the bowels of the earth erupted and retched. Some towns were affected worse than others; some had more deaths than others—all were terrified.
 Regan—the Regan that Shapiro had found in the flop-house, with unkempt clothes and scraggly, unshaven beard, found his way to the thousands intent on viewing the demolition of the school house. An announcer's voice belted from a nearby radio.

line plunger of power; McMahon (Bill) stubby and bullet-shaped and driving; Barker, shifty and elusive, ace ball carrier of the club; Harrison, another of Barker's characteristics and really shifty; Steffy, hard-driving full back and blocker. There may be others. If so they can count on a chance to show themselves worthy. In the line there will be Latch, broad-shouldered, powerful, and not dumb, captain and tackle; "Big Red" Timmons, useful at center who may also see service at guard; Bill Rutledge, end, veteran of last year and certain of a place; Claude Blackburn, also a last year's veteran and, like Rutledge, certain of a place if he tries; Merrett small fast, one of the sort who make great guards from the ground up (this district has heard of them—so had Rockne); Johnson, who may make Timmons wish there wasn't so much competition at center; Moffett, whose form is reminiscent of "Chuck" Van Horn at end, and Page, also making a showing at a wing position. There are some holes, and a dearth of reserves. What prospect there is for these deficiencies to be taken care of will present itself when the Loboes meet the Panthers Saturday afternoon at Chesley field. The game will start at 3 o'clock.

Rules for Church School Are Strict

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Sept. 21.—With the opening of Walla Walla college for the 1933-34 school year, college students about to enter foreign missionary fields for the Adventist church, come under the same discipline as those in the high school and grade departments. The union educational board adopted the following rules governing the church schools: Pupils above the fourth grade shall not wear rolled stockings. Sleeves shall cover the upper arm and reach at least to the elbow. The boyish bob should be discouraged by church officers, teachers and parents. The free use of cosmetics destroys the simple beauty of girlhood and the use of lipsticks and rouge will not be permitted upon the school grounds. Jewelry worn or otherwise displayed, shall not be tolerated. Use of tobacco by students cannot be tolerated on the school grounds. The privileges of the church school shall not be granted to those who attend movies, dances, or other questionable places of amusement. Proper friendship and good fellowship are conducive to normal school development, but sentimentalism and courting among church school pupils thwart the purpose of Christian education.
