

EASTLAND WINS BANK CASE

Federal Circuit Court of Appeals Reverses Judge Wilson in Suit of County vs. National Surety Company

EASTLAND, Nov. 25. - Information has just been received of the decision of the United States circuit court of appeals that Eastland county was awarded a decision by the court reversing the decision of Judge Wilson in the cause styled Ed. S. Pritchard county judge, vs. the National Surety Company of New York. The amount in controversy being the principal sum of $18,291.27, which together with interest, constituted the sum of $20,000, the amount sued for as surety for the First National Bank of Ranger, the principal being the balance on deposit by the county in the First National Bank of Ranger, at the time that institution closed its doors.

The decision is a victory for the county, and if there is no further litigation Eastland county will recover from the National Surety Co. the sum of $20,000, as part of its losses of the highway bond funds, due to losses by the suspension of Eastland county banks, in which the funds were deposited. Judge Pritchard, as appellant, was represented by Grisham & Grisham of Eastland.

The case was tried before Judge James C. Wilson of the United States court for the northern district of Texas at Abilene. Judge Wilson rendered judgment in favor of the county against the receivers of the bank for the $4,000.00 admitted to be due by the bank, but rendered judgment against the county and in favor of the bonding company. The case was appealed by the county to the United States circuit court of appeals at New Orleans and was recently argued before that court in session at Port Worth.

The United States circuit court of appeals reversed the verdict rendered by Judge Wilson in the following opinion of Judge Bryan: "This is a suit by the County of Eastland county, Texas, for the benefit of that county on a bond of $125,000, in favor of his predecessor in office, executed July 14, 1920, by the First National Bank of Ranger, Texas, as principal, and the National Surety Company of New York, as surety.

"The American National Bank was the designated depository of county funds, but was unwilling to furnish the statutory bond to secure county deposits derived from a large bond issue for roads; and because of this situation the First National Bank of Ranger furnished the bond sued on, after which quite a large sum was deposited with it. Withdrawals from time to time were made by county warrants endorsed by the county treasurer. During January 1st, 1921, the bank requested the county judge to notify it in advance of county funds being withdrawn in large amounts. About February 1, 1921, the county judge advised the bank that it was his purpose immediately to withdraw the balance of the county funds, amounting to $18,291.27, inasmuch as the bond would expire on February 10, following. The vice president of the bank, who was in control of its affairs, thereupon replied that the bank could not and would not pay the amount then on deposit with it, that the only result of presenting a warrant or check for the deposit would be the closing of the bank, and if the bank became able to pay the amount of the county's deposit it would advise the county officials. On February 17, 1921, the bank closed its doors, and a receiver of its affairs was appointed.

"The evidence being undisputed, the district court instructed a verdict against the bank for the full amount claimed, but in favor of the surety company; and entered judgment accordingly. "If the bond had been executed by the depository of county funds, liability thereon would not have been extended for sixty days beyond the time limit of February 10, 1921. Vernon's Statutes Texas Civil Stat., 1918, Sup. Art. 2444. But in the view we take of the case, it is immaterial whether defendant surety company assumed the obligation of the depository bank assigned by statute, and therefore became liable. The bond sued on not only secured the payment of all checks, but also rendered the surety liable for the further undertaking that all funds of the county shall be faithfully kept and accounted for by the principal. According to the undisputed evidence, the principal was unable during the period admittedly covered by the bond to pay over the county funds protected by the bond. It was just as much a violation of the conditions of the bond to fail to keep the money on hand, as it was to fail to pay warrants or checks presented over the bank's counter. When the bank notified the county that it would not and could not pay the balance of the deposit, it was unnecessary, because unless, for the county formality to present its warrants or treasurer's check. "The judgment in favor of the Surety company is reversed, and the cause remanded for further proceedings not inconsistent with this opinion."

I. C. C. HEARING ON R. R. SWITCH AT BRECK. TODAY

President R. Q. Lee, Attorney J. J. Butts, General Manager J. P. Flynn and General Freight Agent G. F. Floyd of the Cisco & Northeastern railroad, are in Breckenridge today attending the interstate Commerce Commission's hearing on the question of establishing switch terminal connections of the three railroads entering Breckenridge. There was a large array of counsel of the contending interests, and witnesses and spectators at the hearing which opened yesterday, many of whom were shippers, who were the direct interested parties, as it is this class that are more vitally interested than others.

The Breckenridge chamber of commerce are the plaintiffs in action, and the hearing seeks an order from the I. C. C. compelling the three railroads to make physical connections at their Breckenridge terminals. The only road that objects to making such connections is said to be the Hamon road, which is contesting the application. This road is represented by Hawkins, Hawkins & David and J. L. Goggans of Breckenridge, while J. J. Butts is looking after the interests of the C. & N. E. Besides those mentioned others interested who are in attendance are J. P. Mitchell, receiver, W. H. Larsen, assistant to the receiver for the Hamon line, both of Fort Worth, F. L. Canbie, superintendent of this road, B. C. Morgan, general freight agent for the Hamon line at Ranger, and C. W. Kirberg of Breckenridge, commercial freight agent for the Hamon.

The entire day and this morning was consumed in the introduction of testimony by the plaintiffs, F. W. Shaw, secretary of the Breckenridge chamber of commerce, being the first witness, who testified concerning the freight tonnage. Following Shaw, G. F. Floyd of Cisco, general freight agent for the C. & N. E., Ollie Wooten of Abilene, secretary and buyer for the Wooten Wholesale Grocery company, and W. H. Rucker of Abilene, an officer of the Radford Grocery company, were other witnesses, all testifying that there is delay and expense caused shippers because of the lack of a track connection between the Cisco & Northeastern and other roads entering Breckenridge.

From the line of questions and objections raised by the attorneys for the Hamon road it is evident that the hearing will be appealed on the ground that the I. C. C. is without jurisdiction, as all the lines are intra-state. Judge Burton Fuller of Washington, D. C., is sitting as examiner for the Interstate Commerce Commission and C. R. Fry of Houston, official reporter for the United States district court and the Interstate Commerce Commission is here reporting the case.

CORONER BLAMES CHICAGO POLICE FOR RUM DEATHS

CHICAGO, Nov. 25. - Wholesale indictments of police chiefs, captains, lieutenants and patrolmen was threatened here as Coroner Oscar Wolff invoked a new method of application of the Volstead act in connection with the inquest into the death of Eddie Taniel, ex-pugilist, shot and killed in his Hawthorne Park inn.

"There is no so-called dry saloon operating anywhere in the country that the chief of police or the captain of the district does not know about," Coroner Wolff said. "If it can be shown that the two men who killed Taniel got their liquor in Taniel's saloon, I shall recommend that the coroner jury hold Stephen Svoboda, chief of Cicero police, as an accessory before the fact.

"Furthermore, if it can be shown in the future that a drunken driver of an automobile which strikes and kills anyone, secured his liquor in a certain district, I shall recommend that the captain of that district be held as an accessory."

PROPOSE CHANGE IN ELECTION OF SCHOOL BOARDS

The survey staff of the educational survey commission has formulated the following brief summary of the principal recommendations that it has to offer relating to the educational system of Texas:

"There should be an increase in the term of office for which school trustees are chosen. This applies to common school districts, independent districts, and county trustees. "Provision should be made for an appointive state board of education. This should have nine or eleven members of the members should be arranged so that only two expire each year. The state board of education should elect the state superintendent and on his recommendation appoint the members of his department.

"The ex-officio county superintendent should be abolished. Provision should be made in each county for a full time or a part-time superintendent as the situation may demand. In either case, however, a superintendent with professional training, and with teaching experience should be required.

"The selection of the county superintendent should be placed in the hands of the county board of education. It should be free to select any qualified individual. As one evidence of possession of the necessary qualifications, he should be required to hold a superintendent's certificate. The standards for this certificate should be placed higher than the minimum now required for the office of county superintendent.

"The county board should have increased powers over common school districts and independent districts of less than 500 scholastics. Direction in which they should be given new or increased power are: Consolidation of schools, changes in district boundaries, and in the classification of schools. "In the financing of the schools some changes are believed to be desirable. Local taxation should be basic, and provision should be made for a county tax for the support of schools.

"In the apportionment of state funds to communities, recognition should be given to their differences in ability and willingness to support the schools. There should also be state aid in the development of more adequate means for the supervision of rural schools than generally attained at present. It is believed that a thorough study by taxation experts should be made of the present provisions for raising funds for state expenditures.

"Legislation should be enacted providing for a state board of higher curriculum. This board should have eleven members appointed for a term of eleven years each. It should have power to employ a research secretary and to gather and publish facts with reference to the status of higher education in the state. This board will not take from the existing boards of the higher educational institutions their present administrative powers. Its purposes will be to provide for closer coordination of the activities of the institutions of higher learning by placing facts and recommendations relating to them before the legislature." In the judgment of the survey staff, longer terms should be provided for the board members of the higher educational institutions.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 25. - Blood stained articles of clothing found in the home of Rev. C. V. Sheatley, is the latest development in the strange death of Mrs. Sheatley, whose charred remains were found in the furnace of their home here. The blood stains on the clothing are to be analyzed to determine if the stains were made of human blood. The prosecution has announced that he will question the woman who was said to have lunched with Rev. Sheatley on the day his wife died. This is the first time "the other woman" as come into the case.

PIONEER PASSES WHILE LABORING IN HIS ORCHARD

The passing of W. C. (Uncle Billy) Horn removes one of Eastland county's pioneer citizens, and one who enjoyed the confidence and esteem of all who knew him. And his acquaintance was not confined to his immediate community, for he was a citizen of Eastland county when it was yet a wilderness—he was here before the coming of the Texas & Pacific, and before the town of Eastland was.

But the days of this good man's usefulness is gone, for he was found dead about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, between his plow handles—laboring to the last. Death came while plowing his orchard in the Dan Horn community, where he has resided, on the same farm, since settling in what is now the Dan Horn community. His exact age is not known, but it is stated that he was near 80 years old when the summons came.

Friends recall his telling of the time when his post office and trading point was Red Gap, where there was a store, blacksmith shop and post office. One of his reminiscences was telling his first cotton crop raised on his farm. He stated he raised two bales of cotton, and wagoned it to Weatherford. The two bales brought him $50 in cash. That being more money than he needed, he stated he loaned half of it to one of his neighbors.

But he lived a quiet, righteous life, and leaves a heritage of an honored name to the large family he reared on his farm, hewn out of the wilderness by his own hands.

Funeral arrangements are awaiting information of his son, Talmadge, who resides in Arizona. Besides his widow he is survived by his brother, Squire Horn of Eastland, and several children, who are Chas. Horn of Ixey, T. T. Horn and Mrs. Carrie Hull of Dan Horn community, George Horn of Reich community, and Talmadge Horn of Somerton, Arizona.

GUNS TAKEN IN STORE RAID IN BRECKENRIDGE

BRECKENRIDGE, Nov. 25. - After trying the other doors and windows, as evidenced by abrasions on the facings of the opening, burglars succeeded in prizing off one of the windows in the rear of the store of N. T. Harper Hardware and Furniture Co. some time Sunday night and carried away loot to the value of about $150. They evidently came with the intention of getting the guns as nothing else was disturbed and they went to the gun racks and then made their exits by the same window. In leaving, one of the prowlers ran into a ladder and dropped four or five guns he was carrying out, and another gun was dropped at the window, and in their hurry to get away they did not stop to pick any of them up. The burglars got away with three guns, a Remington pump, Winchester pump, and a Remington 30-30; also a scabbard. The value of the guns is about $150.

N. T. Harper said that he would give a $50 reward for the arrest and conviction of the thieves and $25 for the return of each of the guns.

KINDERGARTEN CLASS WILL BE CLOSED FRIDAY

It is regrettable that the Cisco kindergarten class will be discontinued after this week. This announcement is made by the school officials on account of there being no room available to teach the class. It was thought they could secure the basement of the First Methodist church, but it was ascertained that the building could only be used for religious purposes. Until the Baptist church burned the class was taught in the old parsonage, then the room in the old Presbyterian church was tendered the class by the Church of Christ denomination, but this was inadequate, as it was without proper ventilation and sanitary conveniences for the children. Now, it is announced that the class will have to be discontinued unless a suitable room can be secured before the end of this week.

The election of officers and the report of the international relations committee, will feature the final hours of the convention. The committee is to recommend adherence to the league of nations and the world court. Samuel Gompers, who has been president for forty-four years, will be re-elected without opposition. He will close the convention a day earlier because every issue has been settled amicably. Atlantic City will probably be chosen as the next convention city.

WRESTLING CITY HALL TONIGHT; LADIES IN FREE

The wrestling match at the city hall tonight promises to be one of the most interesting matches witnessed in many a day. Patterson and Zimmer, both weighing around 180 pounds, are in the pink of condition and both expect to win the match. One from Canada and the other from California, these two wrestlers have never matched strength and skill before, yet the victories of each would indicate they are well matched. Tonight's contest is under the auspices of Cisco Elks and the general admission has been placed at 75 cents, but ladies will be admitted free.

The Elks desire to make it clear that the very best of order will prevail and that ladies are cordially invited to witness this clean physical contest. "Be sure your sins will find you out." So will your creditors.

LOBO QUEENS TO PLAY BAIRD AT HI SCHOOL GYM

The Lobo Queens, Cisco's crack basketball aggregation, under the coaching of Miss Sammie Mae Trigg, is developing into the stellar class of basketball players, and if their present form continues championships loom in the distance. The Lobo Queens have played two victorious games so far this season, with no losses. The first game was with the hard players of Parks high school, which were defeated until they met the Queens, who took them to a trimming by the score of 17 to 13. Last Saturday the Queens took to the Putnam team, and trimmed the shallow oil field girls by a score of 25 to 9. Wednesday night the Queens will play the high school team of basketballers of Baird at the high school gym, and it is predicted will again carry off the winnings.

All Cisco is requested to come out and boost for the Queens Wednesday evening, and witness a most interesting game, as the news comes from Baird that the Callahan cagers are well coached and seasoned players. They will at least be worthy of the metal the Queens have displayed.

FORD DONATES A NEW LANDING FOR AIRPLANES

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 25. - A new airplane landing field, the donation of Henry and Edsel Ford, which was recently completed at Dearborn, Mich., will be known as "Ford Airport," according to an announcement just made. The donation is purely in the interest of commercial aviation, for it is understood there is no intention on the part of the Ford motor company to go into the airplane business, other than to watch its development.

All pilots will be welcome at the field and it is large enough to take care of the largest types of ships. It also is expected that the field will be the terminal for airline companies now being formed to operate between Detroit and other large cities. Gasoline, oil, and before long a stock of parts, will be available for visiting fliers. The field has two 300-foot runways, one 3,700 feet and the other 3,400 feet long, both in the direction of prevailing winds. More than twenty miles of draining tile was laid for quick drainage in wet weather in order that the field might be suitable for year-round operation. In the center of the field the name "Ford" appears in letters 200 feet high, made of white crushed stone. This is visible from an altitude of 10,000 feet. When conditions warrant arrangements will be made for illuminating the field at night. There is an ample hangar and in the same building airplane manufacturing operations are being carried on by the Stout Metal airplane company and the Aircraft development company.

It's real love case when she believes she knows even his telephone ring.

THE RULES OF LIFE

Preserve yourself, instruct yourself, moderate yourself, live for your fellow men, that they may live for you.
That is the essence of the philosophy of Volney, Frenchman, whose book, "Ruins of Empires," has been called a complete education.

Man's obstacle is his ignorance which misleads him in the means and deceives him in causes and effects, he observed.

Education, moderation, combined with unselfish interests in other men, will indeed accomplish the true work of civilization, he believed.

"Man will enlighten himself by experience; he will become right by dint of errors; he will grow wise and good because it is his interest to be.

"Individuals will feel that private happiness is allied to public good. The weak will feel that, instead of dividing their interests they ought to unite them, because equality constitutes their forces.

"The rich that the measure of enjoyment is unbounded by the constitution of the organs, and that lassitude follows satiety.

"The poor that the employment of time and the peace of the heart compose the highest happiness of men."

Volney begins his study of men's minds with this invocation:

"Hail, solitary ruins, holy sepulchres and silent walls. You I invoke, to you I address my prayer. While your aspect averts with secret terror the vulgar regard, it excites in my heart the charm of delicious sentiments, sublime contemplations. What useful lessons, what affecting and profound reflections you suggest to him who knows how to consult you.

"When the whole earth, in chains and silence, bowed the neck before its tyrants, you had already proclaimed the truths which they abhor; and confounding the dust of the king with that of the meanest slave, did announce to man the sacred dogma of equality. Within your pale, in solitary adoration of liberty, I saw her genius arise from the mansion of the dead; not such as she is painted by the impassioned multitude, armed with fire and sword, but under the august aspect of justice, poising in her hand the sacred balance wherein are weighed the actions of men at the gates of eternity."

The human race will become one great society, one individual family, governed by the same spirit, by common laws, and enjoying all the happiness of which their nature is susceptible.

That is Volney's philosophy.

REFORM THROUGH LAWS

The State Federation of Women's clubs in session at Amarillo made the same old mistake of seeking reform through enactment of laws.

The public is told through the press of the state that the state convention went on record as favoring more stringent laws regarding pistol toting. This is just an instance which impresses forcibly the fact that reforms are not obtained by way of the law.

There is not a criminal in Texas today who has not in his or her possession a pistol. There is not a person in Texas contemplating a criminal act who cannot get a pistol from some unscrupulous dealer within the next half hour.

And this despite the fact that Texas has more stringent laws against the carrying of a pistol and the sale of a pistol than any other state.

Texas also has a greater number of homicides than any other state, population considered—and the carrying of pistols is not the cause.

If the women of Texas want to discover the real cause of the disregard of laws in this state they may well look for it in the homes of the state; and among the mothers of the state. They may search out those homes where the mother spends hours each week with her daughters and her sons and her Bible—and they will not find many such homes producing the criminals of Texas.

BUYING THINGS WITHOUT LOOKING

The average housewife is given to shopping around to find a good quality of goods at a reasonable price. But, according to the Department of Agriculture, she is strangely careless about the relation of quantity to price.

A buyer who may count his or her change carefully frequently fails to look at the scales as the retailer weighs the article bought. Few persons know the difference between the legal quart for liquid measure and that for dry measure. The external appearance of a carton, can or bottle frequently is not true indication of the amount it contains. The law now requires that the quantities in food packages must be stated plainly on the label, but very few persons note those labels or compare one package with another.

It is said that a popular breakfast food was originally put on the market in a large carton. When the manufacturing company found it necessary to raise the price of this product it did so by slightly decreasing the size of the package. No one saw the difference. A similar decrease in size occurred again, the contents of the package being correspondingly diminished. Empty cartons kept over a period of years could be fitted into one another like a nest of boxes. But since the appearance of the packages was always exactly the same, the decrease was never observed.

Uncle Sam is doing all he can to protect the public against false weights and measures, but it is a difficult job when the average buyer is so unobservant on his own behalf and fails to take advantage of the labels required by law.

INCOME TAXES IN GERMANY

The German national budget, for the first time since the war, shows an excess of revenue over expenditures. So the government restrains a natural temptation to spend more, and decides to reduce taxes, as this country has done. Here is practical evidence of German recovery, more convincing than any previously given.

The tax reductions are regarded as rather drastic. All the "brackets" seem to benefit. In scanning them, there are some surprises for America. For instance, a married couple with an income of not over 2,000 marks a year will be exempt from the income tax if they have eight children. Two thousand marks is a little less than $500. In such a case—and there are plenty of them—the government reluctantly admits that the children need the money more than it does.

Here is a good problem in practical arithmetic. Ask school children how large an income would be exempt from taxation in an American family of eight children.

DINNER STORIES

Blinks was a supreme optimist; nothing ever worried him. One day, during a flood, he was seen by a neighbor lucky enough to possess a boat, sitting peacefully on the roof of his house as the water rose.

"Hullo," Blinks, cried the neighbor. "Hullo, Sam," responded Blinks, cheerfully.

"All your poultry washed away, I suppose?" inquired the sympathizer.

"Yes," said Blinks, "but the ducks can swim."

"Apple trees gone, too eh?"

"Yes, but the crop would have failed, anyway."

"So will you," retorted the other, "if you sit there much longer. Why, the water's covered your ground floor windows already."

"I know," asserted Blinks, "and a good thing it is, too. Them windows did need washing."

The head of a large business house noticed that one of his clerks had been looking off color for some months, and one morning, when he was looking rather paler than usual, he tackled him on the subject.

"You look tired this morning, Jones," he said kindly. "Don't you sleep well?"

"No, sir," was the reply. "The fellow I share a room with and I suffer from alternate insomnia."

"Alternate insomnia? What is that?"

"Whichever gets to sleep first keeps the other awake all night!"

BANDITS USED BUDDHIST TEMPLE FOR CAPTIVES

SHANGHAI, China, Nov. 25.—The chance arrest of a small bandit gang near Fukow, in Honan province, has just revealed that the bandits were using a famed old Buddhist temple, on the road between Fukow and Yenling to hold captives prisoner while negotiating with their families for ransom.

Police raided the temple immediately after the arrests and took a number of other members of the gang, including the chieftain, a wealthy citizen of Yenling, into custody and released a score of prisoners at the same time.

The wealthy Yenling Chinese had been contributing money for the repair of the temple during the last year and had his own workmen on the job, so that nothing unusual was suspected. While making slow progress in the repairing, the kidnapper-workers also constructed cellars, where they held their prisoners until the required ransom was paid.

ENGLAND'S CRACK TRAIN SPEEDS 78 MILES HOUR

LONDON, Nov. 25.—An English railway has just put in operation a train de luxe which compares favorably with any of the boasted American fliers. It is the Flying Scotsman, called a "£42,000 hotel on wheels." It is capable of making 78 miles per hour.

MAY MAKE PARK AT BIG NATURAL BRIDGE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 25.—Natural Bridge, a great rock arch on the dividing ridge between Wolfe and Powell counties, in the Red river valley, in eastern Kentucky, is favored by Dr. Willard R. Jilson, state geologist and chairman of the state park commission, as a state park site. The commission will recommend a number of sites of natural beauty to the 2926 legislature. Natural bridge is of outstanding importance because of its size and accessibility. In an air line, it is about six miles northwest of the town of Campton and nineteen miles northeast of Irvine, the center of the Estill oil fields. The bridge is within a few hours' ride of the populous Bluegrass district, whose good roads and well-known country places attract many tourists.

TWO HUNDRED PLUTOCRATS DINE TOGETHER IN LONDON

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Two hundred of some of the world's richest men sat down to a banquet at the Savoy hotel here recently. The occasion was the farewell banquet to Senator Don Augustus Edwards, retiring Chilian minister to Britain, and the company was composed almost entirely of members of the Latin-American society. Lincoln N. de Rothschild, one of the wealthiest men in England, presided, and of the assembled guests at least twenty of them could have written checks for $20,000,000, while a hundred of them could have done the same for a quarter of that figure. The total of the wealth assembled at the banquet was estimated to be $1,000,000,000. The menu at the banquet was an elaborate one of fourteen courses.

HE MUSN'T KILL SELF FOR WHOLE YEAR NOW

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—For a whole year Thomas Adams, twenty-five, must not commit suicide. This is the condition on which he was placed on probation by Judge Schulman. Adams was arrested with a revolver in his possession. He was hurrying to the park to kill himself, he told the court. Mrs. Adams, with a year-old child in her arms, stood beside him weeping as he told the judges he was despondent.

TROOPS TRY TO STOP IRISH SMUGGLING

BELFAST, Nov. 25.—Smuggling of dutiable goods into the Irish free state from the Ulster side of the border is reaching enormous proportions, according to the customs authorities. In an attempt to check this smuggling, detachments of free state troops have been drafted to Londonderry, for service on the Donegal border, where the smuggling is most rife. Further drastic action is threatened, including the closing of certain roads by means of barbed wire entanglements and a complete curfew on the borders after 5 p. m.

AUTOIST ASKS DIRECTION, THEN ROBS HIS DIRECTOR

PARIS, Ind., Nov. 25.—A motorist called at the residence of Ray Baird to inquire the road to Clifton, Ind. He gave up $25. The autoist then fled.

CANDY NOT CAUSE OF TEETH DECAY

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 25.—Dr. George B. Parker of Watertown, president of the fifth district dental society, says if you like candy, eat it. Dentists no longer consider the eating of candy the cause of tooth-decay. A good stiff brushing, after one has eaten sooty fudge and "pully" caramels, is all that is necessary to save the teeth from showing that they have been badly used.

EXPATRIATES TO HAVE REAL THANKSGIVING

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Last year's tragedy, when a 140-pound pumpkin sent from France to provide pies for the Thanksgiving dinner of 500 lonely Americans in London, exploded just after it was landed from an airplane, is to have a happy sequel this year. Five pumpkins, one weighing 170 pounds, grown from the seeds saved from last year's debacle, are to be made into tempting "tarts"—as the English call pies—for the great feast.

Another treat will be wild turkeys, to be shot in Norfolk a few days in advance and shipped to London especially for the occasion. The American ambassador and Mrs. Kellogg and the prince of Wales will be among the principal guests at the dinner, which will be under the auspices of the American society.

TEXAS FAMOUS LIBRARY TO BE OPEN THANKSGIVING
AUSTIN, Nov. 25.—For the benefit of the thousands of visitors who will be in Austin on Thanksgiving day, the University of Texas will keep the library building open from 10 to 12 o'clock. During this time, not only the special collections, but every part of the building will be open to the students and their friends and relatives. It is pointed out that this will be an unusual opportunity for the people of Austin to show their friends the resources of the greatest library in the southwest.

Pie counter patriots will now mobilize for the quadrennial Washington raid.

Science Says Glands Are Responsible for Health and Strength

Activity of certain glands is responsible for the strength, courage, fighting power and nerve force of men, is the latest opinion of science. Berman has gone so far as to analyze and classify the various types of ring favorites and famous fighters of history, and shows that such men as George Dixon, Bat Nelson, Jack Dempsey and Napoleon were possessed of unusually active glands.

It is the function of the glands to pour into the blood their vitalizing secretions which stimulate vitality and energizing force.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, prepared in tablet form provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Glandogen for men and women, is obtainable at Corner Drug Store. Mail orders accepted.

AMUSEMENTS

BROADWAY THEATER

Film fans will be more than interested in the announcement that the Herbert Brenson Paramount production of "The Side Show of Life" is coming to the Broadway theater today and tomorrow. The picture is an adaptation of William J. Locke's justly famous novel, "The Mountebank," and Ernest Torrence, featured with Anna Q. Nilsson in the production, has the principal role. Having a reputation for truth we cannot truthfully say that when William J. Locke wrote his famous novel "The Mountebank," from which the screen play was adapted, he had Torrence in mind for the title role, but it's dollars to doughnuts that he could not have written a part more suited to Torrence's talent and temperament if he had. The story of the clown who joins the army as a private during the war, rises to the rank of brigadier general and finds himself at demobilization in love with a titled English woman, but after all, just a clown—can you just picture Torrence in such a role? Every bit of the comedy and pathos that has made so many thousands of people laugh and cry over the book has been put on the screen with all the mastery of Herbert Brenson. Better see this one!

TEXAS AUTHOR C. I. A. GUEST DENTON, Nov. 25.—Miss Ruth Cross, Texas author, whose rise to fame dates from the publishing of her first book, "The Golden Cocoon," was a guest of students at the College of Industrial Arts last week-end. She appeared as the guest of honor at a luncheon in the college cafeteria in company with Cecil Roberts, noted English poet. Mr. Roberts lectured in the auditorium last Thursday evening.

AMPLE GROUNDS FOR DIVORCE

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 25.—That his wife made him get his own breakfast and supper, and that she insisted he turn over his pay check to her in full every month, are claims made by John Engelhorn, of Crestline, in support of his application for a divorce.

Engelhorn further averred that his wife "imported" into their household her mother, her step-father, her brother, three step-sisters and an uncle for him "to support"; that several of his wife's relations made purchases at local stores, charging them to Engelhorn's account, with the result that his "wages were twice garnished."

When he and his wife separated, Engelhorn declared, Mrs. Engelhorn "stripped the house of the furniture bought on the installment plan and not fully paid for."

MAN POINTS WITH PRIDE TO HIS PRISON RECORD

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Nov. 25.—One prisoner in the Bucks county prison points with pride to what is believed to be close to a state record. He is Thomas McConomy, of Bristol, who was committed to the county prison for the thirty-third time in the past fifteen years. As on previous occasions, McConomy was charged with being drunk and disorderly, with a new charge of being a nuisance. His latest sentence is for thirty days. McConomy usually makes an appearance in prison about Christmas time.

Old-Time Cough Remedy—Pine Tar and Honey—Still Best

According to specialists, there is really nothing better or quicker-acting for coughs, chest colds, bronchitis, spasmodic croup and throat irritation than good old pine tar and honey. No matter whether the cough is dry and tight, or loose with much mucus, the pine tar quickly aids in the removal of the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing, also relieving soreness, while the honey both soothes irritation and gives a pleasant taste.

The original compound, which has been used in thousands of families for many years, is Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey. It has had many imitators, but still remains the best, as it is scientifically compounded of just the right proportions of pine tar, honey and other healing ingredients which the best doctors have found to aid in giving quick relief. It contains absolutely no narcotics or harmful drugs, so can be given to young and old alike. If you want the best, be sure you get the original Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey and no other. Only 30c. at any good druggist.

ORIGINAL PLAN FOR INAUGURAL BALL OBSERVED

AUSTIN, Nov. 25.—"Original plans for an inaugural ball and reception to be held at the state capitol in honor of Mrs. Ferguson, the next governor of Texas, will be carried out in full unless we are enjoined or the militia is called out to stop us," said M. A. Wroe, prominent Austin banker, University regent and Mrs. Ferguson's campaign manager in Travis county. He said no attention would be paid the protest against the ball by the general Baptist convention.

Handsomeness and costly steel engraved invitations and dance programs have been prepared and the invitations soon will be sent out.

The invitations refer to Mrs. Ferguson as "Her Excellency," the first time in Texas' history that such a term has been used in an invitation. Following long established custom, the ball will be given in the hall of the house of representatives and the reception in the senate chamber.

To accommodate those guests who may be crowded out of the capitol there will be dancing in the ballrooms at two of Austin's leading hotels. Prediction is made by committee on arrangements that Mrs. Ferguson's inaugural ball will be the most brilliant affair ever held in the Texas capital.

S. M. U.-BAYLOR MAY PLAY POST SEASON MIX-UP

If Baylor and S. M. U. finish their season, still tied, then football fans over the state may have a chance to witness a real championship battle. In case of undefeated seasons, both S. M. U. and Baylor intend claiming the championship, but if athletic authorities of the two schools can get together and reach an amicable agreement then the matter will be fought out either in Dallas or at Waco sometime, early in December.

Under the existing rules of the conference, post-season games, between conference members are prohibited, but faculty members of the Methodists have informed Baylor Athletic authorities that they will be willing to play a post-season game in case both teams come through the season undefeated. This was learned when Dr. Russell McIntosh, faculty chairman of athletics of S. M. U., wired Dr. S. P. Brooks of Baylor, proposing the post-season game.

Despite the fact that S. M. U. has three ties and only two victories, possibly three victories after Thanksgiving, they intend to make the conference stand by the rule. Baylor, with only one tie, and three decisive victories, is equally determined to claim the championship over the Methodists. Based on the precedent established last year, when the Mustangs were awarded the victory over Texas U. in a similar case.

Since such an award, would probably cause much argument and bad feeling, the conference will, in all probability, not give either one the title, so if a post-season game could be arranged between the two, it would satisfy everybody concerned, in case neither meets defeat in their last game of the season, Thanksgiving day.

It will take a vote of the entire conference to set aside this rule barring post season games, but only five affirmative votes are needed to carry the proposal. With S. M. U. and Baylor agreeing, then T. C. U., Texas, A. & M. and either Arkansas or Oklahoma A. & M. are expected to vote in favor of putting aside the rule, according to S. M. U. authorities.

In 1921, Texas A. & M. was added by S. M. U. in setting aside the rule, so that they might play Centre College. They are expected to return the favor, in case Baylor agrees. Both Johnny Maubetech of Oklahoma A. & M., and Francis Schmidt, of Arkansas, have expressed themselves in favor of a playoff in case of a disputed championship.

Pete Wright, although not a voter in the conference, is director of athletics at T. C. U. and is highly in favor of the plan. He expressed the opinion that such games were for the best interest of the sport for there would not be any quarreling throughout the next season as to "who was who."

It is rumored in Dallas that in case Baylor does not agree to play off the game, then S. M. U. will put a resolution before the conference that teams tied for first place be compelled to play for the championship in a post-season game. According to well informed authorities enough votes are assured to carry the resolution.

Interest in the conference race is now turned toward the Baylor-Rice and S. M. U.-Oklahoma A. & M. game Thanksgiving day, and if both teams come through with a victory, then the state interest will be forced on the Southwestern athletic conference, at their annual session December 6.

Bridges, Baylor coach, left the impression that the Bears would be willing to play the Mustangs if they win from Rice. To quote from his telegram: "Baylor must first defeat Rice—then it will be time enough to talk. That's Baylor's job now."

MRS. RUFUS MITCHELL RECOVERING AT HOME

Mrs. Rufus Mitchell, who underwent a serious operation Sunday, November 16, was able to be moved to her home at 1009 West Seventh street last Sunday, and is reported this morning to be doing nicely. The surgeons were compelled to perform three operations at the time to remove the cause of the trouble, and considering the complications, the surgeon stated that she was doing remarkably well, and with no further trouble would be out in a few days.

LIONS HUNT THE OPEN WHEN FAKE FRACAS STAGED

RECKENRIDGE, Nov. 25.—Possibly in search for more business, Jess Warren, local undertaker, staged a fight with Mayor T. B. Ridgell, a knife being drawn, and several shots fired during the fracas.

The mayor was making a speech at the Lions club, when he made reference to a political matter. Warren leaped to his feet and challenged the statement. Heated words followed and when Warren hurled a missile at the mayor, the latter dodged and drew out a long, murderous looking knife. Warren drew a pistol and fired twice.

The affair was a frame-up, for fun at the Lions club, but was so realistically staged that those not on the "inside" stampeded.
