Fall's Release From Prison Today Blocked by Warden

FREEDOM NOT IN PROSPECT BEFORE MON.

SANTA FE, New Mex., May 7.—Albert B. Fall's release Sunday from New Mexico penitentiary at the conclusion of his term of a year and a day less good behavior time was blocked tonight.

BABY FOUND AT GALVESTON NOT LINDY, JR.

GALVESTON, May 7.—Positive proof that a curly-haired baby found in a hospital here is not the kidnaped Lindbergh child was obtained late today.

The child found here had red hair physicians said, and there were other positive identification marks which proved beyond a doubt it was not the Lindbergh heir.

The child did not conform, said physicians who examined it, in several respects with a description of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., which was rushed here from New York.

The child was brought here Wednesday night for treatment for bronchial pneumonia by a couple who said they were Mr. and Mrs. Will Moss. Moss left the child, saying he had no money. Today the man and woman were arrested and held in default of $10,000 bond on kidnaping charges.

Peace Justice Randolph Pierson revealed previous to definite refutation of reports that the child might be the Lindbergh baby, that he had been in communication with the Lindbergh home. He said he was informed prior to the arrest that the child "might be Lindbergh's."

FIVE STATE MEET LEAGUE RECORDS FALL

AUSTIN, May 7.—Five interscholastic league records were broken in the 22nd annual track and field meet which ended here today.

Sherman won the meet, scoring 13 points. North Dallas was second with 11 and North Side Fort Worth third with 10.

Bush, of Sunset High, Dallas, ran the 880 yards in 1 minute 56 and nine-tenths seconds. The record was nearly three seconds slower.

Reynolds, of Sherman, with 51 feet two and three-fourths inches added a quarter of an inch to the record for the 12 and one-half pound shot put.

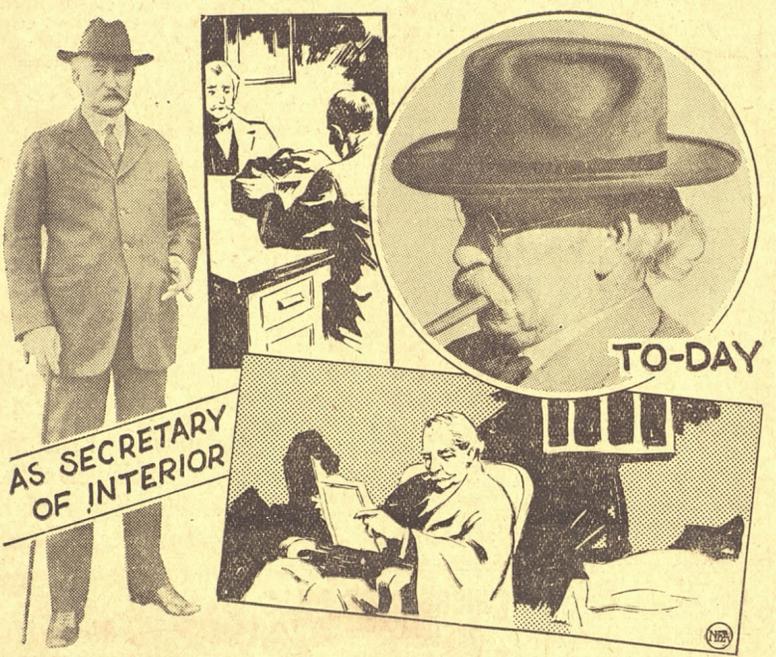

Abilene took the mile relay event in three minutes 25 1/2 seconds, cutting down the old record of a minute and four seconds more than that was set by San Angelo in 1929.

East Texas — Sunday partly cloudy, probably scattered showers Saturday portion.

Fall Scheduled to Be Freed

These contrasting pictures show how the events of the past 10 years have left their mark on Albert B. Fall, President Harding's secretary of interior, who is due to be released on May 8 from the New Mexico state prison after serving slightly less than 10 months for accepting a $100,000 bribe from E. L. Doheny, oil magnate, in 1921.

The money, in cash, was delivered to Fall in the famous "little black bag" by Doheny's son and soon thereafter Doheny got exclusive rights on the navy's vast Elk Hills oil reserve in California.

After years of fighting in the courts, Fall was finally adjudged guilty and on July 20, 1931, entered the New Mexico prison under a sentence of a year and a day, a term since shortened by the customary time off for "good behavior."

WOMAN PAYS FINE AFTER "WILD RIDE"

Miss Ruby Nell Moore, living near Ranger, yesterday paid a fine of $10 and costs in corporation court assessed after her plea of guilty to a charge of reckless driving.

She was charged in connection with a "wild ride" given W. L. Moore of the Red Front Drug store, Thursday evening when two men and a woman drove up to the store in a coupe, ordered two packages of cigars and drove off without paying for the merchandise and with Mr. Moore clinging to the door. Moore was thrown from the coupe several blocks down the street and painfully bruised.

Folice located the car in which the three were riding in Eastland and its owner was arrested and brought to Cisco. Miss Moore, claimed that he had borrowed the car from the Eastland man and told officers here that she had picked up the two men with her Thursday evening and had let them out at the edge of town after the incident at the Red Front. She admitted driving the car and paid a fine. The owner of the car was freed.

W. B. Statham Is Appointed Agent

W. B. Statham, former city secretary, has been appointed Cisco agent for the Texas Life Insurance company, oldest legal reserve insurance company in the state, it was announced Saturday by Mont, F. Owen, of Abilene, district supervisor.

New President of Medical Ass'n

WACO, May 7.—Dr. A. A. Ross, Lockhart, today was elected president of the Texas Medical association for 1933 and Fort Worth was elected for the next meeting place of the organization. Dr. J. H. Foster Houston, elected last year, automatically became president this afternoon.

Talked Officer Out of Ticket

SAN ANTONIO, May 7.—State Commissioner of Agriculture J. E. McDonald was weaving through San Antonio traffic in a small coupe of the Texas Agriculture department.

"Haul up over there near the curb," ordered a policeman. "Now what has this country boy done," thought the Commissioner. He stopped, bent his head and meekly awaited the lecture.

"Unless you tell me where I can get a No. 1 sweet potato slips to plant in my patch, I'm going to give you a ticket," declared the officer.

Commissioner McDonald spoke for ten minutes about the 500 sweet potato growers licensed by the state department to grow certified potato slips. No ticket was issued.

YOUTH, HELD BY KIDNAPERS, IS RELEASED

JOLIET, Ill., May 7.—Gustav Miller, 22, son of a wealthy local merchant held kidnaped eight days returned home safely early today.

He was unarmed and members of the family said no ransom was paid for the youth's release. Authorities believed, however, $10,000 was paid to the kidnapers.

AKRON POISED FOR FLIGHT TO WEST COAST

LAKEHURST, N. J., May 7.—The navy dirigible Akron will not begin her transcontinental flight until tomorrow and only then provided weather conditions are favorable, it was said at the naval air station today.

Ship officers studied atmospheric forecasts today with a view to determining the route to be followed.

There will be 81 persons aboard. The crew will number 79, including Commander C. E. Rosendahl commanding. Two officers are listed as passengers.

Alternative routes have been plotted out for the first half of the journey and the one chosen will depend on weather conditions after the Akron is in the air. The routes are:

1—Richmond, Va., Greensboro, S. C., Spartanburg, S. C., Atlanta, Ga., Birmingham Ala., Meridian, Miss., Shreveport, La., Fort Worth, Texas, Van Horn, Texas, El Paso, Texas.

2—Norfolk, Va., Charleston, S. C., Jacksonville, Fla., Mobile, New Orleans, San Antonio, and El Paso.

Red Cross Flour Burned at Breck

BRECKENRIDGE, May 7.—A bolt of lightning which set fire to the Russell Grain company warehouse here Friday evening destroyed with the other contents, 540 48-pound sacks of Red Cross flour stored there for distribution to needy families.

The flour was the remainder of the first car received by the Stephens county chapter of the Red Cross. Another car is en route.

BURGOO KING IS KENTUCKY DERBY WINNER

CHURCHILL DOWNS, Louisville, Ky., May 7.—With a driving burst of speed that left 19 horses struggling weakly in his wake, Burgoon King, bay colt owned by Col. E. R. Bradley, swept to a smashing victory in the Kentucky Derby today before a crowd of 45,000.

Coasting along with the leaders all the way Burgoon King started his victorious finish rounding the last turn into the stretch and steadily increased his lead until at the end he was five lengths out in front of Economic, owned by J. H. Louchain, Philadelphia capitalist.

A head behind Economic in third place was Mrs. John Hay Whitney's Stepentchit.

Burgoon King ran the mile and a quarter in 2:05 and one-fifth on a fast track. When the winner, coupled with his stable mate, Brother Joe in the betting, passed the little pagoda housing the judges, it made three victories for Col. Bradley in the Kentucky Derby.

This created a new Derby record. Never before has anyone had three winners in this famous horse race. Burgoon King won with such surprising ease that it wasn't even a race after little Eugene James, who rode the winner, clucked into the straits as they bowed into the stretch.

Burgoon King earned $53,350 and the $5,000 gold trophy by winning today's classic. Economy returned $6,000 to his owners while Stepentchit place was worth $3,000. Brandon Mint won $1,000.

The price of $13.24 which Burgoon King paid to win was the longest in some years. In 1921 and 1926 the winners were odds-on favorites. Burgoon King paid $5.08 to place and $4.00 to show.

Last Meeting of Federation Monday

Readings will be given by Helen Draggans, Martha Jo Pass and Betty Lou Powell.

Debate Teams Leave Austin for Home

Both Cisco high school debate teams were en route from Austin and the state interscholastic league meet Saturday following their defeat Friday.

Both teams lost to teams from Wichita Falls. The girls, however, climbed a notch higher in the rating than the boys, the latter succumbing during the second round in which the girls won.

B. OF A. MOTORCADE TO REACH CISCO AT 1:15 P. M. TODAY

"SILVER STREAK"

The Broadway of America annual motorcade, travelling westward from New York City to San Diego, California, for the convention of the Broadway of America Highway association, will reach Cisco this afternoon shortly after 1:15 for a brief pause.

The caravan of cars, augmented by automobiles from points between Dallas, where it stopped last night, and Cisco, is headed by President F. O. Mackey of the association, and L. C. Townsend, secretary. These officials are travelling in the pilot car which passed through Cisco from El Paso several days ago en route to New York to lead the group westward.

Also in line will be the Centennial Car of the Hot Springs, Ark., chamber of commerce, driven by Scott Hamilton, secretary. Mrs. Henderson is accompanying her husband. A picture of the car, known as the "Silver Streak" is shown here. It is equipped with an amplifier capable of furnishing music and other entertainment for the motorcade. Band concerts and special music is broadcast from this amplifier as the motorcade travels and in towns where time permits concerts are given.

The Cisco high school Lobo band will furnish the entertainment for the trippers as they pause here. The caravan will stop in the business district for the period.

Sec'y J. E. Spencer, of the chamber of commerce here, is anxious that Cisco people provide a fitting welcome for the travellers by turning out en masse to greet them.

The motorcade left New York City, bearing the greetings of Mayor James J. Walker, Tuesday morning, May 3. At Dallas last night it numbered 20 cars—a large representation for so early in the trip, and with several automobiles expected from Dallas and intermediate points the line is due to number upwards of 40 as it swings into D Avenue this afternoon. By the time San Diego is reached President Mackey is confident that at least 100 automobiles will follow the pilot car into the convention city.

The entertainment provided along the route excels any program that has been offered a Broadway motorcade. The pace is leisurely enough to include slides, dinner dances and excursions into places of fascinating scenic interest along the route. A buffalo steak dinner at Douglas, Ariz., is a novelty. Tomb-

HAS WRITTEN MOTHER EVERY NIGHT FOR PAST SEVEN YEARS

EL PASO, Texas, May 7.—Mrs. J. A. McWilliams of Clifton, Ariz., tomorrow will receive a Mother's Day message and remembrance from Orlando McWilliams who has written her every night for seven years.

McWilliams is chief deputy county tax collector of El Paso.

"I had planned to have her with me on Mother's Day," McWilliams said today. "But the weather has been undecided lately and I don't want her to risk the journey."

CONVENTIONS ALMOST SOLID FOR SPEAKER

DALLAS, May 7.—Democratic fellow Texans of Speaker John N. Garner voted almost unanimously today to have their 46 delegates to the Chicago convention support him for the presidential nomination.

Republicans instructed for President Hoover.

Enough reports were available tonight from the 6,400 odd democratic precinct conventions to predict the final result. Returns from small city and rural precincts where conventions were held in the afternoon were unanimously for Garner with two exceptions.

Developments in three of the major cities, Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston, revealed in advance of the night conventions that Garner would have a clear field and that the state convention at Houston later in the month will be harmonious.

Supporters of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt voted in a few precincts in instruct delegates to support Garner, but to seek state delegations friendly to Roosevelt. The Roosevelt strength was in Limestone and Freestone counties. Friends of Melvin A. Traylor, former Texan, instructed for him in two precincts at Hillsboro, his old home town, and sent uninstructed delegations from the other precincts.

No Murray Instructions. Second choice instructions for Governor W. H. Murray, of Oklahoma, were anticipated for a few north Texas counties, but early reports indicated the instructions were not made. Delta and Red River county precincts, for example, instructed flatly for Garner.

Tom Love succeeded in injecting the prohibition issue in an otherwise tranquil Dallas county ballot. His box instructed against any candidate favoring repeal of the eighteenth amendment but mentioned no names.

E. CISCO FOR GARNER; WEST UNINSTRUCTED. Democratic conventions were held in both Cisco precincts Saturday, one delegation to the county convention at Eastland next week being instructed for John N. Garner as the democratic nominee for president, and the other going uninstructed after unsuccessful motions to instruct for Garner and for Gov. Wm. Murray, of Oklahoma.

Participants at both conventions signed the fealty pledge required by the state executive committee without controversy.

The east Cisco convention, held in the building over the Cooper cafe, elected Will St. John, permanent chairman and V. V. McMurry permanent secretary.

It adopted the following resolution instructing its delegates for Garner. "Resolved that the democrats of the East Cisco precinct assembled on this, May 7, 1932, endorse the candidacy of Hon. John N. Garner for the democratic nomination for president of these United States and hereby instruct our delegates to the county convention at Eastland to so vote."

Will St. John, H. S. Stubblefield, F. D. McMahon, S. B. Wright, V. V. McMurry and J. C. Talley. Delegates from the West Cisco precinct are:

J. E. Spencer, George Daniels, W. J. Parsons, B. Mize, Forrest Wright, Eugene Lankford, W. J. Armstrong, G. M. Meglasson, R. W. H. Kennon, Mrs. Alma Keough, Mrs. G. B. Kelly and Mrs. A. J. Olson.

“WHY A COUNTY AUDITOR?”

“Why a county auditor,” asks the Port Arthur News, speaking of recent developments under the dome of the Jefferson county courthouse. Well, Dallas county taxpayers are asking the same question. Why a county auditor? There is a state auditor who has uncovered a vast deal of looting on the part of fee grabbers. There is a special committee of the senate that has uncovered political rottennesses or corruption in many counties of the state. There are private auditors who have made it interesting for avaricious officials in certain sections of Texas. It is a pointed question or interrogatory. It will cause lots of comment.

“Why a county auditor who fails to audit?”

IS REFLATION ON THE WAY?

One of the most important measures enacted by the house of representatives is designed to raise commodity prices and restore prosperity. It is known as the Goldsbrough reflation bill. It was enacted by a roll call vote of 289 to 59. Speedy action sent the bill to the senate. To push the cause along Speaker Garner permitted the reflation act to come up under the suspension of the usual rules of procedure. Debate was limited to one hour and a half. This bill has been before congress in various forms for 10 years. Now it is for the senate to act. Congress lays down a mandate in the Goldsbrough measure to the federal reserve board to use its broad powers to stabilize the purchasing power of the dollar and restore commodities to the average price levels for the years 1921 to 1929. Moreover, the policy of the United States is declared to be that the board and secretary of the treasury shall restore the price level and maintain it through control of the volume of credit and currency. Democrats voted almost solidly for the bill. Republican ranks were split. Most of the old guard republicans passed negative votes.

Reflation is the word. It is of recent coinage. It originated in France in 1925 when the French government stabilized the franc and in stabilizing the franc stabilized commodity prices. Great Britain followed in 1931 when its statesmen and financiers slipped off the gold standard and stabilized commodity prices by a financial surgical operation which cured the pound sterling by amputating from the patient the gold measuring rod of value. During the wild speculative years of the past inflation was the order of the day. After the coming of the crash deflation was the order of the day. Now the wise doctors called in to perform a surgical operation after diagnosing the case have decided that a heavy dose of reflation for the stabilization of prices would restore prosperity to the American people.

A reminder that in adopting the Goldsbrough act the house was believed to have embarked upon a policy of credit control likely to be far reaching in its consequences should the federal reserve board press to the limit the powers it has to carry it out. A Maryland democrat sponsored the bill. He declared that it has the double purpose of restoring commodity prices and to maintain that normal price level once it is attained. France broke the ice seven years ago. Great Britain followed in the wake of France a year ago.

Now what will the senate do? And more important still, if the senate ratifies the action of the house, what will Pres. Hoover do? Will he veto the stabilization prosperity measure?

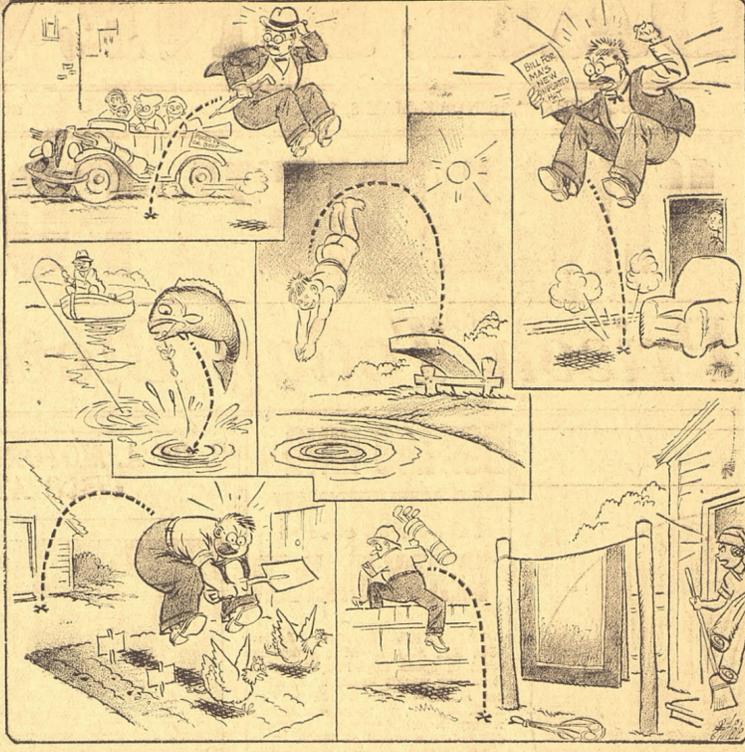

PACKERS HANDED A ROUGH JOLT.

Chicago is the packing center of America. Not the political packing center but the meat packing center. Well, the big packers asked for a modification of what is known as the consent decree to permit the packers to deal in wholesale groceries and other lines not related to the packing industry. They made their appeal for modification to the supreme court of the United States. An opinion was handed down by Justice Benjamin Nathan Cardozo, the famous jurist from New York who became the successor of Oliver Wendell Holmes of Massachusetts. Under the Cardozo ruling the packers are prohibited from continuing in their present lines of business and must comply with the terms of the consent decree which restricted their activities exclusively to meat and other slaughter house products. This is a court of last resort ruling of remarkable significance. It blazes a new trail for industrial concerns all along the line. Is the government in business? If it is the supreme court likewise is in business and it tells corporations just how far they should go.

CALIFORNIANS DEFEAT OIL ACT.

California is one of the leading petroleum producing states. A referendum proposing control of the state's oil resources by a commission which would regulate production and storage went down under an avalanche of opposing votes May 3. As far as counted 823,295 ballots were cast against the so-called Sharkey act and 236,190 in favor of it. Governor Ross S. Sterling on the eve of the election wired Governor James Rolph of California that the Sharkey proposal if adopted would be certain to stabilize the petroleum industry in the commonwealth of California. Now what was the argument against it? Why, the independents declared the adoption of the Sharkey act would place the control of the petroleum industry in “the hands of the giants and forever obliterate the little fellows.” A referendum measure to prohibit the leasing of state owned lands for oil and mineral developments went out by a safe majority. Conservation of oil resources and state regulation was given a very black eye in the silver strand state by the voters while Speaker John Garner was rolling up his plurality for the delegate prize.

“Spring” Is in the Air!

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

Today is Mother's Day.

How many of us, I wonder, thought to send her a little gift, a box of candy, a bouquet of flowers, or to have remembered her with a letter? Most of us, I hope, will warrant that every mother who is a mother at all is expecting such a token today. And it is so easy to do that no one, whose mother is still living has any reasonable excuse for neglecting this very big little thing.

I have an essay at home, re-published from an issue of the Atlantic Monthly of years ago and entitled “Coming Home to One's Mother.” In that essay the writer, telling of the strengthening effect of going back in darkened, troubled hours to the source of those great spiritual forces that shape and govern noble characters, compares the experience to that of a tired child going back to the arms of its mother when play is done and the eyelids are heavy with sleep.

Henry W. Grady, famous Southern editor and leader in the poignant, bitter days of the reconstruction period following the Civil war, had such a source of inspiration to which he returned time after time. Exhausted and discouraged in his struggle to lead the war-torn South out of hatred and prejudice back into a harmonious national union with the north, Grady would often steal away from a busy desk in the office of the Atlanta Constitution, travel a lonely little railroad up into the pine-clad hills to his mother's night at a modest little home. There one of the greatest men of the nation would become a little child again, sitting at the feet of his mother, listening to the stories she told him as a child, and at bed-time having the covers tucked tenderly about him just as years before the same hands had tucked him in and the same lips had kissed him to sleep.

The man or woman too cold or selfish to go back to mother in this way, too scornful of the rich sentiment of such a return, is missing the finest inspiration on earth, denying himself something that will not only make life more livable, more content, but at the same time make finer, nobler citizens and stronger characters.

If there is anything that America cannot have too much of it is mothers and sons and daughters.

I appear to have started a controversy. I deliberately poke fun at someone for the secret purpose of invoking such an outburst of disagreement and nothing comes of it. Then while I am wondering why such neglect up pops a reader to point a finger of criticism at some word or statement that was used without the least intention of such a result.

The word “gravely” adverbially used in Friday's headline to describe the condition of President Doumer, of France, after he had been shot down by the hand of a Russian anarchist, brought forth protest of its impropriety.

Now, all I have to say is that the word—by authority of Webster—is an adverb and denotes consequences of extremely serious nature. I chose it in preference to “critically” or “seriously” for the reason that those words are so much used in headlines that they would fail to impress the reader with the extremity of the condition in which the kindly old French statesman found himself from the bullets of the assassin. “Gravely” appeared to lend more emphasis to the seriousness of his wounds and to convey the impression that he was at the point of death. Incidentally, the physicians attending him announced that his condition was grave and since his condition was grave wasn't it correct to say that he was gravely shot—considering the fact that the extremely limited space allowed in writing heads of the size used over the story gives the headwriter a license that wouldn't be tolerated by the purist.

Now, defending my use of the word for the benefit of my critics, and admitting that I am not immune to sarcasms, if the state of the president's health after stopping these two bullets did not “involve seriously consequences” what did it involve?

I am of the opinion that my unusual use of the adverb demonstrates the difficulties of establishing precedents.

“Gravely” is not generally used in such a connection, perhaps, and the use of it was bound to attract attention.

Writing heads near the “deadline” in a newspaper office is a task that requires some quick thinking and allows little time for consulting dictionaries or thesauri. The headwriter must compress into the limited space afforded him a sentence or “line” that will give the quick-glancing reader the “gist” or main idea of the story that follows and that is what I tried to do. If I erred grammatically, pardon me, Muse.

vermin, shell-hock, poison gas, and worse? And where is this man who wants to leave his mother and his wife and children unprotected, his country undefended?

The truth is that both the so-called militarist and the so-called pacifist are equally eager to protect their homes and to defend their country. They differ on principle about the means.

The militarist believes that the way to get peace is to become so strong in the piling up of your weapons that nobody will dare to attack you. The pacifist believes that the way to get peace is to become so just and so friendly that nobody will desire to attack you.

TEXAS TOPICS

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, May 7.—The public school available fund has received so far $19,863,872 in money from state sources since the beginning of the state fiscal year, last Sept. 1, and has more than $25,000 yet to come on a quarterly offset collection not yet written into the records.

Of this sum $2,500,000 was the annual rural aid appropriation out of the state general revenues. The rest was in direct tax collections for school purposes.

Here are some of the tax and income items since Sept. 1, that go to run the state public school system, not counting another $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 a year derived from the local school district taxes: 55-cent state education tax (including $1 poll tax) ... $ 9,244,140
1.4 state gasoline tax ... 4,842,254
Rural aid appropriation for year ... 2,500,000
1.4 gross receipts, including one-quarter of the oil tax collections ... 898,698
1.4 gross receipts on insurance ... 87,167
Interest on bonds owned Miscellaneous collections ... 656,755
337
Interest on state deposits of school funds ... 17,457
Revenues from school lands, including oil royalties, bonuses, leases, and interest on lands unpaid ... 573,513
Interest on railroad bonds owned ... 5,731
1.2 state cigaret tax to Nov. 15 ... 439,820
1.2 State cigaret tax since Nov. 16 ... 600,000

Total ... $19,863,872
Of the gross receipts tax, the schools' fourth of the one-quarter of payments amounted to $273,569.

A capable statistician in one of the state departments has figured out where the taxes go that are collected from a typical landowner with a property rendition of $51,670 for state and county purposes.

This typical taxpayer would pay a total of $1,424.55 taxes. None of this is city property. School districts would get of the total $213.19, and read and school bonds, $363.97. The county's 90-cent tax rate would take up $465.05 of it. The state altogether under its 74-cent rate, would get $382.36.

County salaries would amount to $31.67. State salaries would total $82.67.

Assuming this statistician's figures are exactly correct, a 10 per cent reduction in all state salaries would save just $82.66 for this property owner who rendered his assessment at $51,670.

BEGIN HERE TODAY Susan Carey, pretty secretary, is in love with Bob Dunbar young millionaire she met at business college.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXI "Are you with the Gledging's party?" Jack Waring smiled down at the heart shaped face tilted up to his.

"Not even that one?" Waring indicated with a lift of one eyebrow a tall, fair haired young man glowering in the stag line. "He looks fairly grown up."

"What are you thinking of?" The long lashed, provocative eyes of the girl opposite flashed. "Waring charmingly. She was really extraordinarily effective in an exotic way, the man reflected. Like a Michael Arlen heroine with that dead white skin and scarlet mouth."

"You don't seem too enthusiastic," the man said. Denise's glass had been filled again. She sipped at it before she replied. "Well I am and I'm not."

"Does he do much of that?" Waring was finding this crude child amusing now. Furthermore there was something he wanted to find out. "Don't be that way," Denise admonished him. "Of course he does

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON ESAU SELLS HIS BIRTHRIGHT

Text: Gen. 25:27-34 The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for May 8.

Editor of The Congregationalist

In discussing a lesson like today's one must read of the psychology and environment of an ancient day. It is necessary to take into account the immense importance of the eldest son in a society founded upon the law of primogeniture, or the inheritance or continuance of a family line in the first born, such as we are for the most part unfamiliar with in this country.

In our American tradition the wise and sensible parent seeks to treat his children without favoritism and with equal consideration and kindness.

Jacob had the misfortune of being a younger son—a great misfortune to a man with an intense ambition to be first, fostered in this case and given a criminal direction of lying and deception by the favoritism of his mother.

On the other hand, Esau, who had the heritage and privileges of the eldest son, like many another who has been born favorably, set little value upon his place of preference and responsibility. Probably he disregarded the preference because it did involve responsibility, as is, also, almost invariably the case under inheritance of the family prestige and fortune.

Esau was easy-going; not altogether lazy, for he was a hunter, but he liked to pursue his own paths and fulfill his own desires without regard to any sense of duty.

The mere fact that he was hungry and that he wanted something to eat would hardly seem an adequate motive for selling his birthright, but this detail has little to do with the main import of the story.

The important thing is that Esau set a light value upon his birthright, and Jacob succeeded in betraying him out of it and receiving his father's blessing.

All around us in life today we see the two sorts of young men, and older men as well, typified by Esau and Jacob—the easy-going likable men who never amount to anything who refuse to assume any real burden of responsibility, and the ambitious, and sometimes unscrupulous men, not very likable or desirable.

who none the less have that willingness to work and to accomplish which underlies all sound life and progress. Not much can be made out of the former type of man, but when the latter type becomes dominated by some form of faith and consecration he becomes the power of the world's real upbuilding; and this was in large measure what Jacob, purified from his trickery, ultimately became.

Experts Deny That Armor Was Faked

PARIS, May 6. — Answering the attack of Charles R. Beard, in "The Centinac-sur", that some of America's Gothic armor is not authentically antique, but "assembled by ingenious restorers here," French dealers in armor disagree that authentic Gothic pieces are so rare as to be non-existent. They claim that there are enough pieces in Europe to equip a regiment.

Most of the authenticated Gothic armorplate is in either private or public collections. There are hundreds of pieces in the Louvre, the War Museum and the various French military academies. The French government is said to own 700 pieces.

Practically every chateau in France has one or more pieces of armor and a good proportion can be traced by family records. Part of this is Gothic, but so long as France continues prosperous and the great laudowning families continue to remain rich, they will not sell these family treasures.

It was learned that no armor has been sold to any American museums as "authentic Gothic" since the war. The Metropolitan Museum collection in New York, attacked by Beard as "assembled" suits, was sold as "armorial with restorations."

There are a hundred skilled workmen here, mostly grown old in the trade, who can build up a suit of armor from one or two antique pieces and the rest modern metal which they hammer and dent, color and age by processes known to themselves.

ONLY 3 LEFT EL PASO, May 7. — Death of Irvin H. Bell, 89, who in 1865 drove the first herd of cattle west across the Pecos, cuts the membership in the John C. Brown Confederate Veterans camp here to three. Bell was a close friend of the late Colonel Goodnight.

TEXAS BAR TO FACE ISSUES AT MEETING

Forest Wright, prominent attorney of Cisco and a member of the attendance and publicity committee of Texas Bar association, today stated that from all indications it appeared that the annual meeting of the Texas Bar association at Mineral Wells on May 19th, 20th, and 21st would be the most interesting and best attended meeting that the association has ever had. Mr. Wright based his opinion upon advices from officers of the association to the effect that advance registrations are running far ahead of any similar period in the half century history of the Bar association, indicating that interest in the annual meeting of the association is more widespread over the state than ever before. This is accounted for, Mr. Wright believes by the most unusual program that has been planned for this year's meeting and the excellent arrangements that have been made for the entertainment of visiting lawyers and their families.

In commenting upon this year's meeting, Mr. Wright pointed out several unusual features:

The program committee has secured the attendance of two of the most outstanding lawyers in the United States in the persons of the Hon. Guy A. Thompson, president of the American Bar association, both Mr. Littleton and Mr. Thompson are to make addresses during the meeting. Capacity audiences are expected to hear each speaker.

Native Texan
The lawyers of Texas will take peculiar interest in the address of Mr. Littleton because of the fact that he is a native born Texan who has become since his removal to New York one of the recognized leaders of the American Bar. The address of Mr. Littleton will be on the subject of "What Price Progress," and will doubtless challenge the serious thoughts of every person who hears it.

The business program of the Convention promises to be not only one of the most constructive, but the most enthusiastic as well that the association has ever known. It is certain to bring about active participation in the discussion by the ablest lawyers in this state. The principal subject to be discussed during the business sessions will be: "Lay and Corporate Encroachment on the Practice of the Law," "Raising the Standard for Admission to the Practice of the Law," and "The Self Governing Bar Bill."

Foreshadowing the interest which will be taken in the matters to be discussed was the action of the Dallas Bar association and the San Antonio Bar association recommending drastic changes with reference to examination for admission to the practice of the law in this state.

There is a wide divergence of opinion, among the lawyers regarding the merits of each of the propositions mentioned and the discussion promises to be lively on each subject. As indicative of the character of debate that may be expected, it is expected that the argument in favor of the Self Governing Bar Bill will be led by the Hon. Harry Lawther of Dallas, while the argument against the Self Governing Bar Bill will be led by the Hon. W. P. McLean of Fort Worth, who has long been recognized as one of the ablest advocates in Texas.

COOPER ASKS SECOND TERM AS COLLECTOR

T. L. Cooper, county tax collector of Eastland county authorized the Cisco Daily News in this issue to announce his candidacy for a second term. He bases his petition to the voters of the county upon the democratic tradition of two terms for honest service and upon the fact that his record in the office during the past two years has been a fulfillment of the promise he made when elected.

His experience as a county official is known and appreciated. Beginning with 1926 he served two terms as county treasurer, leading the ticket in the first primary of that year by 627 votes and in the second primary by almost 1,000 votes.

"On my record as a servant of the people I am asking for a second term as tax collector," said Mr. Cooper. "My administration of both the offices I have held is open to your inspection. Your influence and your vote will be appreciated."

HIGHTOWER CASE TO BE RESURRECTED

BRECKENRIDGE, May 7. — The famous Fred Hightower case, which kept the Oil Belt district in a turmoil for the greater part of the football season and for a period thereafter, and which resulted in Cisco high school being expelled from the district for alleged violation of the thirty day transfer rule, is about to be reopened.

Although local school officials would not openly declare that the district committee would make attempts to get Cisco reinstated, N. S. Holland, local school superintendent, said "we have been trying for some time to get the committee together to study the case a bit more." It was revealed that L. E. Dudley, Abilene high school principal and chairman of the district committee, has agreed to call a meeting of the body "upon the written application of three members."

Holland announced he had written Dudley several days ago regarding calling a meeting of the committee. Holland was informed yesterday by R. F. Holloway, Ranger school superintendent that he also had written Dudley asking for the session. Holloway was quoted as saying he would confer with Mr. Bittle, Eastland superintendent, regarding his writing a letter to Dudley asking for the conference.

"Cisco school officials will be asked to attend if the meeting is called," Holland declared.

When asked if the meeting would lead to reinstatement of the Cisco high school in the district, Holland replied, "Cisco will have every opportunity to a fair hearing."

The Leboes were suspended by the district by the executive committee of the Texas Interscholastic League, when it was found that Hightower was not enrolled in the Cisco high school thirty days prior to the Cisco-Breckenridge game, which the Leboes won.

The district committee had previously recommended that Cisco be ousted.

J. W. RADCLIFFE SAYS HUNTER IS "THE MAN"

Tom F. Hunter, of Wichita Falls, candidate for governor who is scheduled to speak at Eastland Monday evening at 7 o'clock, is "preeminently fitted to carry us back to self government," declared Judge J. Wesley Radcliffe, of Moran, in a statement Saturday.

Mr. Hunter will speak at the court house.

Judge Radcliffe is taken a prominent part in the campaign on behalf of Mr. Hunter in this section. Ficturing Hunter as a man who stands "four-square for the return of the government to the people," Radcliffe declared:

Statement
"Texas," that magic word! It thrills the heart and soul of every man, woman and child within its borders, with its far flung limits, large enough to comfortably support ten times its present population, rich enough in possibilities to surpass any other territory of similar size in the civilized world. In natural resources it is unsurpassed anywhere, in diversification of opportunity there is nothing like it, capable of supporting its population in plenty, even luxury, in climate it stands out prominently and preeminently the most equable, it is the very "El Dorado" of the lover of cul-dee life. It offers more in opportunity to citizenship than any other country under the sun, yet today privation stalks throughout the length and breadth of the land. That God given heritage, "equal opportunity for all," has been so throttled and denied that every community, hamlet and city in this fair state of ours teems with unemployed and in many instances, starving thousands until it appalls and terrifies the very souls of men.

"Why, is this? What is the matter? In the very midst of plenty, yes! a surplus of everything and yet such conditions prevail is proof positive that something at the very heart of economic principal has gone wrong, and fails to function, this failure is purely artificial, brought about by the manipulation of gigantic combinations of wealth, until cold indifference, as to the need of the masses confronts us on every hand, until thousands, hundreds of thousands cry out for help and there is no help! Men and women of Texas, what are you going to be about it?"

Faith in People
"I have always had great faith in the people and their ultimate decision. When they have reached their limits and begin to think for themselves, as they are doing now, they always have measured up to their obligations. They have always met the situation in every crisis. When ever and wherever it has been my privilege to arouse the public thought to study the why; I cannot how they think, or what they think in the main, they think right, and as a result they insist on the right, the people as a whole are right at heart and there is no better people on earth than right here in Texas. I know that you all, practically with one accord are ready, anxious for a change in conditions with which you had nothing to do and of which you are sick and tired. Therefore I admonish you to think, weigh the matter in the balance of justice, if you ever did think candidly and seriously you should do it now; My friends it will not do to wait, a year, two years hence it will be too late! Do it at the July primary.

Hunter Is "Man"
"Permit me at this time to bring to your thought the name of a man who stands four square for the return of government to you, to the rank and file of the people of Texas. He believes that governments derive their just powers from and by the consent of the governed, that it is their right and privilege to delegate to their representatives in government the power to enact laws that will conserve their best interests and safe guard their opportunities for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; that man is Tom F. Hunter, of Wichita Falls, candidate for governor.

"He is preeminently fitted to carry you back to self government, the Jeffersonian idea of government, he has the courage of his convictions that will advocate your cause to the very limit of his ability, and he is a real leader, able to put thru such measures as will restore Texas and her unsurpassed resources to you.—I hope you will think this matter through and when you have I shall be satisfied and feel certain of results; I thank you."
