SHORT COURSE BOYS AND GIRLS LEAVE SATURDAY

EASTLAND, July 21.—With the Pullman sleeper taken up here Saturday night the members of the girls' club of Eastland and Stephens counties, in charge of Miss Ramey, home demonstration agent, will depart for College Station to attend the short course.

According to County Agent Bush and Home Demonstration Agent Miss Ramey, there will be between ten and twelve boys and girls to attend the short course and will be picked up by the eastbound train about two o'clock the following morning. The girls from this county who will make the trip are: Agnes Bryant, of Rising Star, representing the county in class A of the 4-H appropriate dress contest; Artie Bell Combs, of Bedford, representing Eastland county in class B of the dress contest; Elizabeth Mullen, of Dan Horn, representing Eastland county in the bread making contest; and Bessie Matthews, representing the girls clubs of the county in the poultry judging contest.

The boys will be in charge of County Agent Bush. The time for their departure has not been set as yet, but Mr. Bush stated today that this will be arranged and announced within a very short while.

The boys who will probably make the trip are: Raymond Clements, of Kokomo; Jimmie Lush, of Union Hill; and Vernon Dunaway, of Flatwood, representing the county in the livestock judging contest; Wayne Clements of Kokomo, representing the county in the poultry judging contest; Curtis Montgomery, of Gorman; and Johnson Smith, of Bedford, representing the county in the grain judging contest.

The expenses of the girls will be paid in full while that of the boys will be partially, if not fully, paid. The money won in the prizes in the county contest and the profits made from the sale of cold drinks and ice cream at the encampment grounds last week will be used in defraying the expenses of the boys and girls.

The expenses at College Station during the week will be one dollar per day for meals and $1.25 for lodging during the week, or about $6.25 for the week.

A round trip rate equal to two-thirds of the one way fare has been announced by the Texas & Pacific railroad for the benefit of the members of the boys' and girls' agricultural clubs, county agents and others who may wish to attend the short course at College Station next week. This will make the round trip fare from Eastland only $5.95.

Anyone who wishes to attend the short course, and the farmers of the section are being urged to do so, will be entitled to the special rates which remain good from about July 24 to August 3.

The boys from the Stephens county clubs who will be included in the party leaving during the latter part of the week for the college, and who attended the encampment here for practice in judging, are: Joe Collins, Vivian Collins, John Griffith, Marshall Thompson, Raymond Wallis and George Elam.

PHILLIPS SPEND HALF MILLION ON BUILDINGS

BRECKENRIDGE, July 21.—Nearly a half million dollars worth of construction work is nearing completion in Stephens county by the Phillips Petroleum company, according to General Superintendent Best. Work is practically completed on the Breckenridge plant of the Phillips Petroleum company, about one mile northeast of the city, where remodeling and enlargement plans are being carried out. Wooden buildings have been replaced by steel ones, concrete exhaust stacks, the only concrete ones in this part of the country, have been built and new pipe lines have been laid.

This plant was bought from the National Gasoline Company of Shreveport, La., and is being reconditioned at a cost of approximately $125,000, Mr. Best said.

In connection with this plant, pipe lines have been laid from two old plants recently bought from the National Products Company of California. These plants were later torn down and the work consolidated in the larger plant which is practically completed.

Remodeling of the plant at Frankel is progressing well, Mr. Best reports. This work is being done at an estimated cost of $120,000.

Work is about one-half completed on the plant being put in to handle the gas from the Cross Cut field. It is costing about $150,000.

The Phillips Petroleum Company, which is the largest producer of natural gasoline in the country now employs about 825 men in the gasoline department, including several large construction gangs. In addition, several hundred men are employed in the production department.

44,160 ACRE WEST TEXAS RANCH IS SOLD FOR $353,000

SAN ANGELO, July 21.—Paying $8 an acre cash, totaling $353,280, Ralph and Frank Harris, San Angelo cattlemen, and Dr. J. T. Johnston of Dallas have purchased all the ranch lands in the bankrupt estate of George Richardson, San Angelo ranchman and former pioneer wool commission merchant here. The 44,160 acres are located in Tom Green, Irion and Sterling Counties and were sold by M. B. Pulliam of San Angelo, receiver.

Harris brothers obtained the largest tract, 40,320 acres, embracing the headquarters, Mulberry and Otto Schauer ranches, lying largely in Sterling County, but extending also into Irion and Tom Green Counties. These ranches are well improved. Dr. Johnson secured six sections of raw land, three in Sterling County and three in Tom Green, comprising the northeast corner of the ranch.

An application by the receiver for appraisal of the sales that entirely close out the Richardson estate will be held in Fifty-first Judicial District Court here July 27.

With the exception of twelve horses still on the headquarters ranch, which Harris brothers received, all live stock previously has been sold.

These sales, in 1923 reduced Mr. Richardson's original indebtedness of from $670,000 to $680,000 by more than $100,000.

The ranch sales cut the amount to approximately $232,000. Indications are that when all affairs of the estate have been settled, creditors will receive forty to fifty cents on the dollar, Mr. Pulliam says.

TWO MORE TOTS KIDNAPPED IN SAN ANTONIO THIS WEEK
SAN ANTONIO, July 21.—San Antonio again today became the center of another search for kidnaped children following the disappearance of Robert McCauley, aged 7, and his brother, James McCauley, aged 3. The mother recently came here to get a divorce but failed. The boys were last seen on their way to a drug store near the home.

A week's reprieve was granted Russell T. Scott, 30-year-old ex-millionaire of Chicago, who was found guilty of murdering Joseph Maurer, drug clerk, in a holdup, and sentenced to die in the electric chair. The holdup was caught after the holdup when he was traced to the home of Miss Bullard, said to be his sweetheart. New evidence was found the day Scott was to die; and a telegram from Gov. Lem Small stayed the execution.

SIMMS OWNERS OF CLAYCO FOR ONE MILLION

DALLAS, July 21.—Edward T. Moore, president of the Simms Oil Company, Saturday night announced the purchase by his company of the Clayton Oil and Refining Company and the Clayco Gasoline Company, for a consideration given as considerably more than $1,000,000. Property of the Clayton Oil and Refining Company comprises an up-to-date refinery with an aggregate daily capacity of 100,000 gallons of gasoline. The company also owned bulk stations in a number of cities and towns in North Texas.

Property of the Clayco Gasoline Company consists of a gasoline distributing system serving Dallas and immediate vicinity, together with numerous gasoline service stations located in the city of Dallas. All of these properties have been acquired by the Simms Oil Company and will, hereafter, be operated as a part of the Simms company.

The Simms Oil Company is a Texas corporation with general offices occupying the tenth floor of the Magnolia building. For the last five years the company has been engaged largely in the production of oil, with the development of a daily average production approximating 12,000 barrels. The company now has more than 400 producing oil and gas wells—ninety in Arkansas, ninety-four in North Louisiana and the remainder in North and Central Texas and in Oklahoma. In the last quarterly report to the State Comptroller the Simms Oil Company was rated as the seventh largest producer of crude oil in Texas.

In addition to its producing operations, the Simms company has more than 100 fms of pipe line system in Arkansas, North Louisiana and Central Texas, and transports to markets a substantial part of its crude oil production in company-owned tank cars, of which there are 600. Purchase of the Clayton properties will enable the Simms company to extend the scope of its activities so as to include the refining of oils and the distribution of refined products.

COWBOYS MEET AT SEYMOUR ON SEPT. 24, 25, 26

SEYMOUR, July 21.—The annual cowboys' reunion of all the West, held here every fall, will be replete with the spectacular and interesting again this autumn. The dates of the next Baylor county fair and cowboys' reunion have been fixed as September 24, 25 and 26. The big rodeo event staged in connection with the exposition has always set Seymour apart as catering only to the best in that line. Every year cowboys and girls internationally famous, gather here by the score to engage in the thrilling bulldogging, steer roping and riding contests. Just what the program in this connection for this fall will be has not yet been determined by a committee which is working out details, according to J. A. Wheat, secretary of the association.

The Baylor county fair association owns its large plant and grounds here, equipped with exhibit halls, rodeo arena and cattle and swine barns. The fair directors this year will prepare for special agricultural and live stock features. It is hoped to get many of the surrounding counties to send creditable agricultural exhibits to the exposition. Last year the showing in this division was unusually good.

Ten hippodrome acts and gorgeous pyrotechnic display features have been contracted for. The entire fair grounds are being renovated. Shortly the 1925 catalog will be printed and distributed.

Dayton Jury Returned Verdict Without Leaving Seats—Case Be Carried to U. S. Supreme Court if It is Necessary

DAYTON, Tenn., July 21.—Tennessee's anti-evolution case, with its violent conflict between fundamental religion and science over the creation of man, came to an abrupt close today when the jury convicted John Thomas Scopes of violating the law prohibiting the teaching of evolution in the public schools of this state. He was fined $100.

The jury did not leave their seats to convict the young school teacher. The jury had been in the court room only three hours since the trial started, July 10.

The verdict followed a request from Scopes' lawyers that their client be found guilty. They immediately filed a motion for a new trial, which was overruled.

A chance remark by Judge Raulston, that it was only a question of whether Scopes said he taught evolution, and that the court thought he had, brought the sudden end.

"Well, if he's guilty, there's nothing to do but bring in the verdict," said the imperturbable Darrow.

Scopes' Statement

Following the verdict Mr. Scopes issued the following statement to the International News Service:

"I was not surprised at being convicted in this court. I hoped the fight would be won as early as possible, but it was beyond all my hopes that victory be won in the lower court. With the exclusion of scientific evidence, and the declaration of Judge Raulston that evolution law was constitutional, there remained no chance for my acquittal. Nevertheless, the cause has not been daunted. On the contrary there is more determination than ever to carry it to the higher courts. This court heard the testimony of two young school boys, but declined to hear testimony of learned men. If the higher court of Tennessee decides against us, the fight will be taken to the supreme court of the United States."

SHEEP MEN ARE IN FINE SHAPE SAYS E. B. GUDE

"Sheep men are generally pretty well pleased with this year's business," said E. B. Gude, who was here Saturday and Sunday from his sheep ranch in Tom Green county. Blessed with abundant early rains, a good lamb-crop, and a firm wool market is cause sufficient for a feeling of satisfaction. But this is not all. The lambs have been sold at a good price, and generally speaking the sheep men are sitting pretty. Mr. and Mrs. Gude have returned to their ranch.

THINK DIAMOND DEPOSITS LIE BENEATH LAKE

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 21.—Belief that a diamond mine may lie beneath the surface of Green Lake, a mysteriously beautiful sheet of water hidden by 300 feet of perpendicular wall near the little village of Jamesville, is today arousing scientists here.

Formation strikingly similar to that of the Kimberley diamond mines in South Africa is responsible for the theory which is being advanced. It is suggested that the lake is of volcanic origin, and that the circular hole from the bottom of the water to the under side of the earth's crust is filled with igneous rock known as "blue ground" exactly the same as that from which millions of dollars' worth of stones have been taken at Kimberley and Blomfontein.

Tradition has interesting things to say about Green Lake. Its inaccessibility is no doubt responsible. The sheer wall of rock surrounding the green sheet of water is broken by a single tortuous path. The Indians believed it to be the abode of the evil spirit.

A few generations ago the lake was said to be bottomless, that it never gave up its victims, that it was haunted and strange sounds and ghostly figures disturbed its stillness at certain hours during the night.

Such beliefs were the result of its natural weirdness, which is so eerie and spell-creating that even those who study it from the scientific standpoint are affected.

Near the surface of the water, at the foot of the eastern precipice, is a cave whose passages penetrate into the limestone bluff, nobody knows how far. They have been traced for a considerable distance, and there is a tradition that they extend to Omondaga Valley, where, it is said, there is another opening to their hidden windings.

The Kimberley mine, it is declared, looks exactly like Green Lake would look if the water were pumped out. The resemblance is so striking that a photograph of Green Lake, with a little artistic work, could be made to pass for that of the Kimberley mine at the time it was discovered to be filled with "blue ground" and diamonds.

CRABTREE SISTERS FAVOR

MRS. BLANKENBURG'S CLAIM
OSTON, July 21.—Three Crabtree sisters today in probate court upheld the claim of Mrs. Ida M. Blankenburg of Tulsa, Okla., that she is the daughter of Lotta Crabtree, and entitled to a share of the millions of the late actress. The sisters were Mrs. Sarah Hobart of Rock Island, Ill.; Mrs. Elizabeth Brown of Bloomfield, Ill., and Mrs. Margaret Anson of Pine Bluff, Ark. All agreed that a few months after the death of a baby sister, a new baby appeared at their home. Mrs. Anson was told by her father that the new baby was the daughter of Lotta Crabtree.

UNPROFITABLE ART

For a man of his eminence, Victor Herbert left a surprisingly small estate, less than $100,000. Appraisal of the assets set the figure at much less than was expected. The low value put upon the copyrights of his music works is itself surprising.

The composer's miscellaneous works from 1898 to 1919 are valued at only $2,500. Three famous pieces, "The Madcap Duchess," "Sweethearts" and "Watoma," are appraised together at $500. His various contributions to the "Follies" and other musical shows, nearly all popular at the time, are regarded as without value. The royalties from "A Kiss in the Dark" and "Orange Blossoms" will not amount to much. "The Dream Girl" has been more successful, but the royalties are not expected to surpass $3,500.

Compared with the rewards of the humble and untaught composer, Irving Berlin, this is nothing. It suffers in comparison with the profits of any one of a dozen or more American song writers, most of whom are guiltless of either literary knowledge or musical training, but whose work happens to catch the popular fancy. It is jazz that gets the money, rather than talented and scholarly work, based on enduring principles.

But this is nothing new. The success of big artists in every line has usually been artistic, not financial success. And the real artist prefers that kind.

From a casual survey of the well known human race, anyone may be moved to hope that if man has evolved, he hasn't finished his evolution yet.

CHOOSING LIFE WORK AT 12

The technical and commercial high schools have undoubtedly accomplished much good in keeping youngsters in school who might otherwise have lost interest and left school too soon. They have helped also to interest pupils in higher education. But they have their weak spots, and one of these lies in too complete a separation of the technical and commercial courses from the academic courses.

A boy in New York who won a high school boys' prize for the best article on current news topics finds himself in temporary difficulty. He graduates from a commercial high school course this year, but has not enough credits to enter college next fall and must go to night school for a year. His problem is a common one. The boy comments on his situation himself:

"There are many boys and girls in the same fix I'm in. I was only 12 when I had to choose whether I would take an academic or a commercial course in high school. Then I thought I'd like to be a bookkeeper and I chose the commercial course. After I'd been in high school a while and found out how necessary it was to have an education, I began to want to go to college.

"I don't see how I could be expected to know what I wanted to do when I was only 12. Now, because I guessed wrong I will be penalized a whole year. I think colleges ought to admit students who can pass an intelligence test, even if they haven't all the required preliminary studies."

There is much sense in the lad's complaint. Perhaps the college entrance requirements need to be modified or the high school course made more inclusive. But certainly no boy or girl at 12 years should be made to choose his life occupation and be set to preparing for it without the aid and advice of some very wise, broadminded, foresighted and understanding adult.

Glad to hear that another deadly germ has been "isolated." By the time all the disease germs have been isolated, ostracised and exiled, this world will be a fit place for a gentleman to live in.

TAMING A MANIAC

There is an instructive lesson in the handling of insane persons, in the story of a French maniac who went on a rampage in Paris the other day.

It happened during the "French Fourth of July" celebration, which commemorates the fall of the Bastille. The people were dancing in the streets, in the gay Latin manner. Suddenly a man started shooting from a fourth story window, and shouting: "Down with the Bastille! Down with Abd-el-Krim! Down with the whole world!"

The crowd scattered in terror. Then the maniac sat with his legs dangling over the window sill and the revolver in his hand, threatening "the whole world."

It was a dangerous situation, which was finally relieved by a level-headed policeman. He climbed up to the roof close to the maniac's window, quietly started an ordinary conversation with him and invited him to come down and have a glass of beer. The wild man went like a lamb.

People out of their heads can usually be handled just about as easily as that, if the handler will keep cool and quietly divert the stormy minds to simple, normal things.

The uses of the airplane continues to expand. Recently the news came that the French premier has speeded into one to north Africa to look into a dragging French war with a stubborn chieftain before making announcement in Paris of a matured policy. And now the Belgrade correspondent of the London Morning Post tells of how a diamond merchant carrying gems was robbed and murdered by his secretary and the pilot of an airplane flying from Vienna to Budapest. According to the sensational story, the body was thrown overboard, and later, after the airplane had been destroyed, the secretary killed the pilot in order to be safer and to keep the whole fortune for himself. Obviously an airplane on high offers superior advantages for the staging of a murder in at least one particular. The chances for the early discovery of a body thrown from a flying plane into remote mountain woods are slim indeed.

Words often misused: "Modest." Don't use "modest" if you mean bashful. One may be very modest without being timid or shy. Often mispronounced: Lamentable. Accent the "m" and not the "n". Often misspelled: Vacuum. Note the two "u"s.

Synonyms: Essential, paramount, primary, vital, chief, principal, foremost, leading.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: DISPARITY; inequality; difference. "The disparity in their ages prevented compatibility."

DINNER STORIES

The story is told of an engraver in the government printing shop at Washington who, when the first $20 yellow-back gold certificate was issued, received his salary in these new ills and decided to take a trip to New York.

When paying his hotel bill he handed the clerk one of the yellow backs, whereupon the clerk turned it over several times, then refused as politely as he could to accept it, saying that he had never seen such a bill and thought it of no value.

"Why," said the engraver, "of course it's good. I made it myself." "That's what I thought," returned the clerk as he rang for the house detective.

A young American who was bicycling in southern France was pushing his machine up a steep hill, when he overtook a peasant with a donkey cart who was making but little progress, although the donkey was doing his best.

The benevolent cyclist, putting his left hand against the back of the cart and guiding his machine with the other, pushed so hard that the donkey, taking fresh courage, pulled his load up to the top successfully.

The summit reached, the peasant burst into thanks to his benefactor.

"It was very good of you, indeed, monsieur," he protested. "I should never have got up the hill with only one donkey."

Two inmates of a Scotch asylum working in the garden decided on an attempt to escape. Watching their opportunity when their keeper was absent, they approached the wall.

"Noo bend don, Sandy," said the one, "and I'll climb up your shoulder to the top, and then I'll give you a hand up, too."

Sandy, of course, bent down. Tom, mounting his back, gained the top of the wall, and dropped over on the other side, shouted as he prepared to make off:

"I'm thinking, Sandy, you'll be better to bide another fortnight, for you're not near right yet!"

Buy a Federal and be Young

A Federal Washer with a few dollars down and small monthly payments makes it EASY!

Ask Husband to Buy You One Today!

Why Does Husband Look Young?

Because he is modern enough to install every known modern equipment that will facilitate his tasks and remove the drudgery from the daily routine. He finds it pays. You have a false sense of economy and think that you are helping him save by toiling each week with the family wash.

You May Look Young and Still Help Husband

Buy a FEDERAL ELECTRIC WASHER for a few dollars down and the balance in small easy payments. It will clean your clothes all white and nice—will not tear them—and all you do is direct the machinery. That's the way husband does. It is interesting and far from drudgery. It is rather a pleasure to play with the big, beautiful piece of machinery and make it do your will.

JOHN D'S IDEA OF THRIFT IS TO GIVE DIMES

NEW YORK, July 21.—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., is known to children in a dozen different states as the "richest man in the world who has pockets full of dimes."

When Rockefeller goes out for his daily game of golf the dime distributions commence. He gives them to all the servants and working men on the place; a nickel or dime for each, and for each member of his family.

Whenever anyone has saved enough dimes or nickels, Rockefeller will exchange them personally for new $1 or $5 bills.

Not only do children receive the coins, but the older persons as well. He gives them to policemen, photographers, reporters and anyone else he happens to meet.

Rockefeller does not toss the dimes carelessly or contemptuously at the objects of his benefactions.

It seems to say: "Out of dimes like this I establish the nucleus of a great fortune. Will you save it or will you send it thoughtlessly?"

Some children, perhaps, encouraged by their parents, sneer at the rich man for giving away coins of small denomination, but most of them take the gifts in the spirit in which they are given.

WOMAN LEADER FIGHTS FOES OF BIRTH CONTROL

LONDON, July 21.—War on "the tradition of organized Christianity" has been declared by Dr. Marie Stopes, noted birth control advocate.

"I am out to smash the tradition thing than birth control," Dr. Stopes said.

"I am out to smash the tradition of organized Christianity and to enthrone Christ's own tradition of wholesome, healthy, natural love toward sex life."

"The attitude of unmarried bishops on the subject is insolent and I will make it impossible for them to say the things they say. Their unnatural and unhealthy attitude toward sex shall be swept away."

Dr. Stopes did not disclose her plan of campaign against the bishops and their views, but she was very certain in her statements that she believes public opinion will eventually turn against the views which are now being fostered by "the tradition of organized Christianity."

"Doctors can't agree on anything, and that is why they can't agree on birth control. They are unconsciously biased by the traditions all around them."

"One doctor told me to feed my baby every two hours. Another told me to feed the baby every three hours, and still another every four hours. Finally I decided to feed the baby according to its own needs, and not according to the traditions of doctors. Is it any wonder that the doctors can't agree about birth control when they can't agree about simple theories of their practice?"

"Birth control has had a tremendous impetus during the past few years, and it is going forward in leaps and bounds. I have no fears but that we shall be able to break down the tradition of organized Christianity."

Stencil Guide for Neck Shave Saves Using Mirror

Self-administered neck shaves are simplified with the help of a celluloid stencil that fastens to the back of the head with strings and a clasp and has slits in the edge to guide the razor. The accessory makes a mirror unnecessary and can be used both for the side and rounded styles.

Solve Mystery in Language of the Honey Bees

That bees have a language by means of which they can communicate with one another about new-found feeding grounds, the kind of flowers to visit and their general direction from the hive, appears to have been proved through experiments made by German scientist.

Movies for Ship Passengers to Cure Seasickness

Seasickness is believed to be due partly to strain on the eyes caused by the constantly shifting planes of the ship. To counteract the effects of this movement and thus possibly spare passengers unpleasant illness, experiments are under way in filming special motion pictures for exhibition on liners. They are expected to have a soothing effect on the eyes and enable persons to regain a complete sense of balance.

Removing Grass along Fence

Grass along fence posts can be burned away with a common gasoline blowtorch without injury to the posts, if a wet gunny sack is taken along. The grass will burn quickly and the gunny sack is then used to quench the embers.

Kennel on Running Board Has Glass Windshield

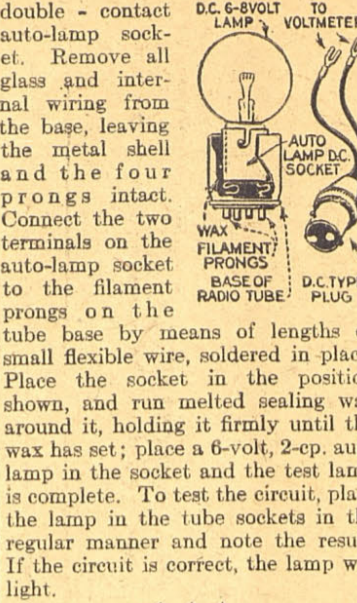

For the convenience of dog owners wishing to take their pets with them on automobile journeys, a compartment has been designed by an English motorist to carry his bulldog, which acts as guardian while the car stands unattended. The upper part of the enclosure is of glass, and it can be placed on either end of the running board.

Radio Test Light Saves Tubes

A useful radio test light can be made from the base of a burned-out tube and a double-contact auto-lamp socket.

Cleaning Spark Plugs

Few car owners "enjoy" disassembling spark plugs and laboriously removing carbon particles with a knife and scraper. A good method of doing this is as follows: Immerse the plugs in a fruit jar, partly filled with muriatic acid; the length of the bath may be from 10 minutes to an hour, depending on the strength of the acid and the condition of the plugs.

Heat treatment is another good method of cleaning spark plugs. The plug is taken apart and the porcelain are placed in a hot lye bath, a saturated solution being used. The shells are placed in a fire, heated almost red and are then plunged in cold water.

There are savory treats in store for you

You'll discover a new savor and delicacy in your most favored dishes if you prepare them with Mrs. Tucker's Shortening. Pastries and cakes turn out light and delicious; fried meats and vegetables are browned evenly and never greasy; pie crusts just melt in your mouth! And cooking is easier too!

That is because Mrs. Tucker's is a pure vegetable shortening—and is always fresh. It is made exclusively of choice cottonseed-oil. It imparts a wonderful buttery richness to all cooking and baking—and none of the heavy greasiness of lard. It goes further than other shortenings too.

Mrs. Tucker's comes to you in a wonderful new container that assures you a shortening that is fresh and sweet. This air-tight pail is very easy to open, however! And once empty, you'll find it invaluable for household use as a bucket or dinner pail. Interstate Cotton Oil Refining Company, Sherman, Texas.

No Excuse For Pimples And Bumps on the Face

The boy or girl who is always conscious of their pimply, blotchy, inflamed or rough skin, and really drawing more attention to it when they keep making excuses for not looking good, don't get any sympathy because folks now know that it is not necessary to keep putting up with this sort of thing.

Since Back and White Ointment, and Black and White Soap, were introduced in this country, thousands of people who had been troubled with pimples, blotches, dark, rough skin, full of lumps, for years are now happy, because they find it gets rid of them so quickly.

Black and White Ointment is economically priced, in liberal packages. The 50c size contains three times as much as the liberal 25c size. All dealers have both the Ointment and the Soap.

NOBLES FROM EUROPE FARM IN PROVINCES

EDMONTON, Alberta, July 21.—Prince Charles Philippe d'Orleans, descendant of King Louis Philippe of France, has arrived here with the Hon. John Stanley, formerly his companion at Oxford and plans to join the ranks of noblemen who have become farmers in Western Canada. He is looking over farming lands in central Alberta, where he expects to purchase a ranch.

The Prince of Wales has a ranch on High River, in Alberta, which has been stocked with thoroughbred horses, cattle and sheep. Near his ranch is that of the Earl of Minto. Lord Aberdeen has a farm in the Okanagan Valley, in British Columbia, and the Duke of Sutherland has another at Brooks, Alberta.

In the same district as that in which the Prince of Wales has his ranch the Count de Foras, a French nobleman, has a fine mixed farming establishment. North of this, near Calgary, is the grain farm of Admiral G. Como, D. S. O., a cousin of the King of Italy. Still farther north Prince Erik, son of the King of Denmark, owns a farm in the Danish colony of Markerville.

Since the World War Western Canada has received many refugees of the old nobilities of Europe including a number of Russians who once stood high at the court of the Czar.
