JONES IS HELD BLAMELESS IN LOAN CHARGES

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 1 — Chairman Fletcher of the senate committee investigating RFC loans announced today that investigation of advances to Texas mortgage companies had absolved Chairman Jesse H. Jones, of the RFC, of the charge of making loans to serve his personal interests.

The committee inquired specifically about loans to the Bankers Mortgage company, of Houston, of which Jones was the executive head when he was named to the RFC board in 1932, the Midland Mortgage company, a subsidiary of the Bankers company, and the Southwest Investment company.

The committee reached the conclusion that the loans were justified and adequately secured and that Jones had no personal interest whatever. Fletcher said, "Jones did not use the RFC to further his personal individual interests. The loans were amply secured."

Where Missouri Mob Wreaked Vengeance

EAGLES DRUB LOBOES 20 TO 0 TO WIN TITLE

By FRANK LANGSTON
Captain Frank Cogdell snatched a couple of passes out of the air above the Eagle stadium in Abilene Thursday afternoon to turn back a demoralized pack of Cisco Lobos and pave the way for a 20 to 0 Abilene victory that carried with it the oil belt championship for 1933.

The first score came in the second quarter when, on first down, Brookshire took the ball on the Cisco 33 yard line, dropped back and passed to the Eagle captain, who shook off two tacklers, headed for the sideline, and crossed the Cisco goal. Brookshire's kick from placement added the extra point. Cogdell scored the second counter of the game when he took another Brookshire leave in the last period for 39 yards and a touchdown.

The Lobos opened the game with a brilliant offensive that took them to the Eagles' seven yard stripe in the first quarter, where they were held for downs and lost the ball. Receiving after the Abilene score, they began another drive which gave them five first downs and took them within scoring distance, only to lose the ball on downs again.

In the second half Harrison was ejected from the game for slugging and Cisco penalized 37 yards or half the distance to the goal line, and the Lobos appeared to lose what morale they had possessed earlier in the game. Harrison had been the chief ground gainer for Cisco with his wide sweeps around the ends and had been doing most of the passing.

Early in the fourth quarter, with Cisco passing desperately in an attempt to catch up, the Lobos were again held for downs and lost the ball. The game ended with a final score of 20 to 0 in favor of the Eagles.

SMITH ASSERTS CWA PROGRAM HIDES FAILURE

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 — Alfred E. Smith fired a new broadside at phases of the Roosevelt recovery program today.

In his magazine, "The New Outlook", Smith charged that the civil works administration, designed to give jobs to 4,000,000 of the unemployed, was created to "hide the failure" of the public works administration.

The new criticism was contained in the same issue of the magazine as the former New York governor's attack on the Roosevelt monetary policy.

HOPKINS ANSWERS WITH FIGURES

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 1 — Federal Relief Administrator Hopkins replied to criticism of the unemployment aid program by Alfred E. Smith today by announcing that on November 25 a total of 1,119,267 jobs had found work in 44 states under the civil works set-up. He said he believed the total of all states today probably would reach 2,000,000.

Production totaled 113,000 barrels against 271,000 in September and 218,000 in October, 1932 or decreases of 58 per cent and 48 per cent respectively. Shipments of 205,000 barrels were 12 per cent above the 183,000 in September but 46 per cent below those of October last year. Stocks at 715,000 barrels represented a decline of 11.4 per cent from the 807,000 barrels in September but were 31 per cent greater than on the last day of October, 1932.

MANY COUNTY LATERAL ROAD JOBS OKEHED

Approval by the state relief commission of an extensive program of county lateral road improvements under the CWA program was announced today by County Comm'r Arch Bint.

Two major projects of the character are included. One is a road leaving Highway 23 south of Cisco, at the Lockhart farm, and going directly to Carbon. This road places Carbon less than 15 miles from Cisco. It will be widened, graveled and generally improved, Com'r Bint said. Estimate of the cost was placed at $21,000, and the work is figured to employ 125 men for a period of 60 days.

The other major project is the general conditioning and graveleving of the road direct from Cisco to Pioneer. Portions of this route are already graveled.

The rest of the program that was approved provides for treatment of bad strips on a variety of county roads. Among them are:

Smaller Projects
A strip on the Cisco-Bluff Branch road along the western line of the Will Farmer farm. About a mile of this will be improved and graveled to make it passable in bad weather.

One-half mile of graveleving on the road leaving Highway No. 1 west of Cisco at Ross Penn farm to connect with the "Bass Line" road.

One half mile graveleving on the "Base Line" road along the Frank Penn farm and another half mile of graveleving on the same road along the W. C. Yeager farm.

One-half mile of graveleving on the Dan Horn and Dothan road, west of the W. C. Yeager farm and another half mile strip of graveleving further south on the same road.

Improvement and graveleving portions of the "Race Track" road leaving the Leary cut-off road for the Stevenson, Ray and Hart ranches north of Cisco.

Comm'r Bint employed 91 CWA workmen on three county lateral road projects which had been earlier approved. One of these, a project on the Dan Horn road, has been completed. Work is still in progress on similar jobs on roads serving Scranton and Dothan. Fifty men are being employed this week.

Cisco Couple Will Celebrate Fifty Years Of Married Life in Family Reunion Sunday

One of the very few golden wedding anniversaries that have ever been celebrated in Eastland county, and what some claim will be the only such celebration held in Cisco, will be observed when children of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Elliott gather at their home, 1208 West Ninth street Sunday to join them in observing the 50th anniversary of their wedding.

Seven of the 11 children are expected to be present for the dinner. The others are prevented by distance from attending.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott, who have lived in Cisco for seven years, were married in Guntown, Miss., on December 3, 1873. Mrs. Elliott was Miss Ollie Johnson before her marriage. She is 63 years of age and her husband 71. Both are natives of Mississippi.

To Texas Twice
Twice they moved between Mississippi and Texas before locating in this state finally in 1901. The first move was in 1893, the year of the Cisco cyclone, when they went from Guntown, Miss., to a farm near Golden, Texas, on the Sabine river in Wood county. There they spent a year and then returned to Mississippi.

They came back to Texas in 1901, locating on the same farm in Wood county and operating it for two years. They spent two more years on another Wood county farm before moving to near Carbon, Texas, this county in 1905.

Followed Farming
There Mr. Elliott followed his occupation of farming, spending some time with his sons in the drug business meantime, before moving to this city in 1927 where J. T. Elliott and E. O. Elliott, his sons, entered the drug business. He worked with them in their stores.

The sons are: J. T., of Cisco; W. C., of Levelland; C. G., of Houston; Q. Q., of Dallas; E. O., of Colorado; C. C., of Ralls; Carl, of Eastland; J. D., of Big Spring; C. F., of Cross Plains, and Ernest, of Abilene. The daughter, Mrs. O. W. Ford, who lives with her parents here. She is a widow and the mother of two small children. All of the brothers except C. C., of Ralls, and Ernest, of Abilene, are married. There are 15 grandchildren in all.

Nazarene Assembly Re-Elects Atteberry

The Rev. V. B. Atteberry, of Abilene, superintendent of the West Texas district of the Nazarene church, was re-elected for his third term by an overwhelming ballot this morning shortly after he had presented his annual report to the annual assembly now in progress here.

There were no other nominations. In his report Dr. Atteberry said that the district, comprising 63 churches in a territory extending from Fort Worth west, had enjoyed "financially and numerically" its best year of several years.

Two new churches were organized, one at Joe Stokes, near Lubbock, and the other at Cleburne.

This morning's session of the assembly, which will conclude Sunday evening at the First Methodist church auditorium, was opened with a devotional led by Mrs. Pearl Keaton, of O'Donnell, Texas. Dr. John W. Goodwin, national superintendent, spoke at 9 a. m. on "The Attractiveness of Holiness." Reports of committees followed and at 10 Supt. Atteberry reported.

The afternoon was taken up with reports of various character. Tonight at 7:15 Dr. Goodwin will preach.

Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock Dr. A. K. Bracken, president of Bethany-Peniel college, Bethany, Okla., delivered the principal address of an education rally, and last night at 7 o'clock there was a similar rally in the interest of Rest Cottage, rescue home of the denomination, with the Rev. J. P. Roberts, superintendent of that home, in charge.

B. Colquitt whose term will expire Dec. 20. It is understood that Colquitt also is an applicant for reappointment. He was given his present position by President Hoover whom he supported for office. The appointment, however, came to Colquitt as the democratic member of the board. Dr. Splawn has been widely recognized for several years as an authority on various phases of railroads, particularly in the matter of their valuation. He has held federal positions in Washington in connection with his knowledge of railroad affairs during the last few years.

TOURIST CAMP CLUES BASIS OF COMPLAINT

EL PASO, Dec. 1 — Ass't District Attorney J. W. Penn said today he had filed a complaint in justice court at Van Horn charging Arthur C. Wilson, 28, Cleveland, O., with the slaying of Mrs. Irene Diebolt, attractive Cleveland widow.

The woman's nude body was found near Van Horn November 7. Sheriff Fox said clues discovered in a Pecos, Texas tourist camp resulted in the slain woman's identification and the search for her slayer.

The night of November 5 a man wearing a white shirt and mud-spattered trousers rented a camp room and making trips to his automobile.

The next morning a minister in the next cabin reported the man kept him awake until 2 a. m. running water in the basins in the bath room and making trips to his automobile.

In the vacant cabin the next morning, an electric iron, a receipt for an overcoat in storage at Cleveland and other papers were found. The iron was freshly washed. Microscopic examination showed human blood stains on the iron.

Poultry Shipments Down in October

AUSTIN, Dec. 1 — Total rail shipments of poultry and eggs from Texas to interstate points during October amounted to only 29 cars, or 44 per cent less than the 52 cars shipped in the same month last year, according to the University of Texas bureau of business research. Poultry shipments amounted to 12 cars against 29 last year and egg shipments 17 and 23 cars respectively for the two periods.

Receipts of eggs from outside states totaled eleven cars, the same as in October last year. Eight cars were shipped in from Kansas, two from Missouri and one from Nebraska. Last year four cars came from Kansas, four from Missouri, two from Oklahoma and one from Tennessee.

The market price of eggs rose in October by about the average seasonal amount, according to the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics. The seasonal peak in egg prices usually occurs in November or early December. Receipts were below those of a year ago, owing to the late hatching season. Stocks in storage are being reduced somewhat more rapidly than earlier in the season, indicating a higher level of consumption.

"ENCOURAGING" DEVELOPMENTS.

While the war wages over the president's gold buying program, designed to send domestic commodity price levels up by cheapening the dollar in relation to gold standard currencies abroad, the American Federation of Labor noted "encouraging" business developments in November during which employment, normally scheduled to decrease, has been maintained on a parity with September figures.

The Home Owners Loan corporation advises that its bonds are being exchanged for mortgages on urban homes at the rate of more than one million dollars a day, and the report for the week ended November 17 showed the total of loans paid out to be $27,000,000 on 9,199 properties.

Meanwhile the progress of the recovery is said to be visible along many fronts. Commodity prices, say the statisticians who are adept with indices, are advancing commensurately with the currency devaluation under the gold buying program.

TEXANS AND THEIR ANNUAL TAX BURDEN.

"Right now our annual tax burden, plus additional sums, approximately $30,000,000 paid to the federal government, is greater in the aggregate than the total net earnings reported for 1930 of the more than 15,000 corporations operating in Texas, plans that of agriculture, the chief industry of the people who constitute the state," writes Willacy's Facts and Fiction magazine for November.

Another paragraph taken from the Willacy magazine should appeal to all the people who are taxed for the support of government: "Just what proportion of our present existing tax burden aggregating state and local communities in excess of $207,000,000 annually represents a fair price for benefits conferred upon the general public is a matter calling for profound thought."

Figures are always interesting. Editor Willacy makes the following display: "As shown by the report of the state auditor, released for publication May 1, 1933, delinquent taxes, state and local communities, have reached a stupendous sum in excess of $119,000,000. To be able to grasp its full meaning, it is not necessary to read between the lines. How often must we be admonished that in taxation there is no elasticity beyond the breaking point."

For many years John G. Willacy was a state senator. For years he was the chairman of the senate finance committee. For two or three terms he was state tax commissioner. He was known the southwest over as "an expert on taxation." Willacy county was named for him. His advice to the people may be worth while: "Let us pause and debate the wisdom of our course."

A FEDERAL JUDGE INVENTS A NEW MAXIM

Federal Judge John M. Woolsey is a jurist who is inventing new maxims for the guidance of the people. He ruled in a famous case that the old Roman maxim "purchaser beware" must be supplanted by a new maxim of "seller beware." In a 47-page opinion he upheld the indictment of five defendants charged with fraudulent use of the mail in the sale of stocks of the Manhattan Electric Supply company.

If the Woolsey ruling becomes the law of the nation, what will happen to many members of stock exchanges the country over? Since the beginning of time, semi-civilized time, the Sucker family has been most artistically trimmed by conscienceless trimmers. Now it appears that the Sucker family is to be protected by the strong arm of the law. A new crop of Suckers comes to the surface every year. How will it be possible to separate the "sheep from the goats?"

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

by EDSON R. WAITE Shawnee, Oklahoma.

Cities whose business men are alert, who are persistent newspaper advertisers are on the straight road to success. There seems to be a few disgruntled people in this world whose circumstances in life depend entirely on their ability to play on the hands of the ignorant and the amount of mud they can produce on the troubled waters in which they fish.

Conferences, however, can be other than what they seem. Many of them discuss subjects which are not broadcast to the public. Maybe that is well for the people would, no doubt, consider them of little importance and question the expense involved.

Concerns that advertise speed up their business. No matter how conscientious the peace officer may be or how he tries to enforce safety laws, he usually gets little co-operation on the part of the average citizen.

This hard-working word, inflation, is used in so many ways nowadays that one has to define it before talking about it. Some say that inflation means a rise in prices due to an increase in the volume of money. Our politicians have scores of ideas about inflating the currency. Some, no doubt, good—some bad—while the average citizen hardly knows what it is all about or what it is going to happen.

THE VOLGA BOATMAN

The "Happy Warrior" and the Newspaper Colonel

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD

Having rescued the freedom of the press from its perils, Col. William Randolph Hearst, speaking through his financial editors, has made the important announcement that he is going all the way with President Roosevelt and his financial policy.

The "Happy Warrior," otherwise Alfred E. Smith, let loose his thunder bolt against the financial policy of the administration through the pages of The Outlook magazine, demanded a return to "sound money," administered a spanking to the survivors of the college brain trust, announced his attitude without stammering and declared for what he calls or designates as "an honest dollar."

Democrats are individualistic. Indeed, followers of Jefferson appear to be ambitious to be majors or colonels or generals or admirals. As for the truly orthodox republicans, they train with the elephant and follow me flag. There are merry days ahead on the banks of the Potomac river and (in January) the knives will be flashing and the tomahawks whirling.

Wherever there is dull peace, there is stagnation and slow decay. Wherever there is war, the war of the tongue and the typewriter, there is something doing daily that interests all concerned—meaning the 122,000,000 human atoms under the folds of Old Glory. For the latest and the most accurate domestic and foreign news and comment read The American - Statesman, "newspapers for all the people and not a few of the people."

MILLIONS FOR AN UPPER RIO GRANDE PROJECT

Cong. Robert Ewing Thomson of the El Paso district will present El Paso's claim for $6,000,000 in funds from the public works administration for the rectification of the Rio Grande river. The allocation of the huge sum will be urged by the former speaker of the house of representatives "to straighten the channel of the Rio Grande and place it within banks so that recurring rises will stop playing hide-and-seek with the boundary between the United States and Mexico, as well as between Texas and New Mexico."

Cong. Thomson has had a remarkable career. He launched himself at Gainesville in the county of Cook. He was elected district attorney. He served two terms and then moved to El Paso. He was a member of the El Paso county delegation of three in 1916 and 1918 in the Texas house of representatives. He was elected speaker, the first ever called from the El Paso district to wield the gavel over the house. He became candidate for governor in 1920. Joseph Weldon Bailey, I, was a candidate. Pat Morris Neff was a candidate. Neff won the prize in the primary runoff. Later Thomson was elected mayor of the city of El Paso. Claude Hudspeeth retired from congress. Thomson became his successor. Now he is going down the line for the New Deal program. He is for straightening the channel of the upper Rio Grande. Uncle Sam has hundreds of millions to be invested in public works projects and the Hon. Robert Ewing Thomson is very insistent that the El Paso territory should dig into the strong-box for at least $6,000,000 in order to make the upper Rio Grande waterway behave itself in flood time. Why not? Texas is the fifth and the fourth state in population. Texas voters gave Roosevelt and Garner the greatest popular majority of all the states and in the distribution of favors the Lone Star commonwealth should not be overlooked by the powers that be.

STERLING P. STRONG THROWS HIS HAT IN THE RING

Dallas is one of the cockpits of Texas politics. Now another bitter battle is on. Sterling P. Strong, elected at large in 1932, will be a candidate in the democratic primary next year for the nomination as congressman from the fifth district comprising Dallas county. This former superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league will seek the place held by Hutton W. Summers, Dallas, chairman of the house judiciary committee. Summers will be a candidate for re-election. He has held the job 20 years. He is a lifelong lar in the Smith-Hoover campaign election. Strong, it is said, cast his ballot for Hoover for president.

Joseph Weldon Bailey, Jr., elected a congressman-at-large last year, has announced his candidacy for United States senator. He is ambitious to wear the toga and would fill the seat now held by Tom Connally, who is serving his first term and will be a candidate for re-election for a second term.

Sen. George Purl will not be given a free field. Larry Mills would like to be state senator from the Dallas district. Dallas politicians say that Purl may be a candidate for the congressional prize. All along the lines, speaking of the July primary, there promises to be a hectic campaign as well as wild campaigning on the part of the "outs" to throw the "ins" in the graveyard of false hopes and disappointed ambition.

NATURE AND HUMAN NATURE

Codes Codes have existed since man has been man, but many had heard little about them until recently brought into prominence. A code is not an arbitrary rule so much as it is a prescribed manner of action, based upon natural rights and obligations of man, and making clear and making common to all certain courses of action. It coaxes only in the case of those who do not bother to heed. The limited understanding of man leads to partial opinions and differing ideas as to what one ought to do. The code then becomes a standard that endeavors to secure a fair and equal chance for all. But sometimes the line is so closely drawn that we have a calculated sort of honesty and justice. A man enters a grocery store, for instance, to take advantage of a bargain, say of ten pounds of potatoes at nineteen cents. The grocer lays potatoes on the scales until the beam is about read to tip. He then carefully selects a potato but it overbalances the scales. He takes a smaller one but the beam shows only a tendency. Involuntarily, perhaps, a finger is put out to assist the scales out of their inertia. All the while the customer is watching intently. Mentally, if not visibly, his finger is extended to stay the beam. "Hold down there, old beam," is going through his calculations. "Make him put on that big one."

At least each is satisfied with a just balance. The customer advances two dimes in the absence of the exact change, and waits expectantly. The cash register is penniless; the clerk calls upon each employee in turn for a penny in vain. There is a coincidental shortness of pennies. The clerk says, "I'll run into the drugstore and get one." The drug-gist is in the midst of a "one cent" sale and is out of the small coins. On to the bank he goes for pennies. Meanwhile the customer, thinking of a postal card to his old mother or of a contribution to Sunday school, is standing there as if to say, meekly enough, perhaps, and cheerfully enough, but nevertheless, paying, by action, "Its coming to me, and I want my penny."

There is enjoyment of a kind in playing this game with our fellows and getting the thrill of a narrow escape from being outwitted. That is one way for human beings to spend their time. But how much in keeping with the dignity of man if a little generosity would loosen up this strict sort of justice? A golden rule code would have the seller carelessly heaping on handfuls of his wares and the buyer indifferently throwing down his money in exchange. The one would not be anxious about overweight nor the other about short change. Then man would spend his time in living instead of making a living. — W. F. BRUCE.

TROOPER ROBBED

MERCED, Cal., Nov. 1.— State Highway Patrolman Don Halterman went about today with a borrowed revolver, badge and belt, and with blood in his eye. He sought a burglar who robbed him of the insignia of his office by "prowling" his bedroom.

Texas Topics

AUSTIN, Dec. 1 — Coke Stevenson's cryptic saying, that he would run for governor against either Mrs. Ferguson or James V. Allred, but not against both has been revised now as his final expression on a state of affairs about to confront him, in Mrs. Ferguson's decision against making a further race.

Mr. Stevenson has, since the governor's withdrawal from future campaigns, drawn that he is thinking about the race. Gov. Ferguson's statement was very pointed to the effect that the Ferguson's intend to take a great deal of interest in the race, and to support the candidacy of such person as may represent their principles and policies. In the Ferguson's following follows

Who killed TRACY KING, orchestra leader found dead in his apartment? ED BANNISTER, a former newspaper reporter, undertakes to find out. Police are searching for an "unknown blond" who visited King shortly before his death. Bannister has seen the girl, but she has since disappeared. ALBERT DRUGG, King's vaudeville partner, and accuses Parrott of the murder. Police learn that MELVINA HOLMES, TER, middle-aged spinster, had a violent quarrel with King after his death. CAPTAIN MENEAL of the detective bureau goes to see Miss Hollister and her brother, MATTHEW. "When he leaves he declares, 'Those two will hear watching.'"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XX The girl who had called herself Juliet France arose from the cot on which she had been sitting and came forward. If Bannister had expected to find her weeping he was mistaken. The gray eyes he had seen filled with tears met his own steadily, disdainfully. There were no tear marks on her cheeks. The girl's whole attitude was defiant. "So it's you," she said. "What a surprise!" "I just heard you were here," he told her. "Yesterday when I went back to the hotel I couldn't find you."

"No, I suppose you couldn't. I wasn't there." She laughed then and Bannister was sure the defiance, the cool aloofness was a pose. The laugh wasn't convincing. This girl was not hardened; she was frightened. Once more Bannister felt his better judgment leaving him. "I came," he said, "to see if there was anything I could do." "But there isn't! Nothing at all. And why should you do anything? This is—such a pleasant place." The girl laughed again and this time her lips trembled. "Perhaps I should apologize for my appearance," she went on. "The accommodations and the service here—"

"Don't!" Bannister said shortly. He didn't want her to go on like that. She was still wearing the green suit. She had taken off the jacket and he saw that her blouse was of the same shade. It was a silk blouse, made with a bow beneath the chin that gave her a childlike look. Her lovely, honey-colored hair was not as smooth as it had been yesterday but it gleamed and glistened. Bannister thought of Denise. Lang's crisp, metallic ringlets. The way this girl wore her hair, he thought, was much more attractive.

"What happened?" he asked. "How long have you been here?" "Since last night." "Last night? You mean you were here in this cell—?" The girl nodded. "Oh, yes," she said. "The lady on your left there snores. There was one here last night who was worse. She kept shrieking the most terrible things. They took her away awhile ago. Oh, there's been plenty of excitement. The detectives keep asking me questions and they've taken my finger prints—" back to Captain McNeal's office. What a mess this whole thing was! Tracy King's murder was as far from solution as it had been when his body was found. The police were going around in circles, getting nowhere. That girl back there—Bannister swore softly. He couldn't believe she was a murderer. And yet there was so much to prove it. She had been in King's apartment, had admitted it. If McNeal knew about the revolver—!

Bannister swore again. By this time it was altogether possible that McNeal did know. He might even have the gun. If he did, and the ballistics expert could prove that the bullet that killed the orchestra leader came from that revolver, it would be over. The girl he had just left wouldn't have a chance. She'd get life at least. Refusing to talk, to say anything about herself, made the situation worse. She was a pretty girl but in spite of that no jury could overlook such overwhelming evidence.

OVERWHELMING was what it was. Then it occurred to Bannister, piecing out the damaging facts and marshalling them before him, that his testimony and his alone could convict Juliet France. He had seen her come from the hotel, had seen the revolver in her handbag. It was to him that the girl had confessed going to King's apartment. Yes, those facts—even though they were circumstantial—were enough for a conviction. Men have been hanged for less.

Suddenly Bannister stepped forward more briskly. Maybe they would succeed in making a case against the girl but he was certain of one thing. What he knew about Juliet France he would keep to himself. If she was a murderer time would prove it. He didn't want to believe it and he wasn't going to—yet.

He thought of Jim Paxton then and his promise. Bannister had agreed to turn over to Gainey everything he learned about the murder so that Gainey might write it for the Post. Well, he would keep that promise but he would keep it later.

In the wing of the headquarters building reserved for the detectives' offices Bannister encountered the young man who had given him the information about Juliet France, the young man who had been whittling his pencil.

"My name's Fleming," the stranger volunteered. "Understand you're with the Post." "Yes," Bannister told him. They talked for a few minutes and Bannister learned that his new acquaintance was a reporter on the opposition evening paper, that this was Fleming's day off duty but he was "hanging around," spending a bus man's holiday. He learned further that McNeal had intended keeping secret the apprehension of his blond prisoner but that someone had "spilled" it. That was why there had been no mention in the morning newspaper of the girl's imprisonment. Gainey appeared a few minutes later, eager to talk about the case. He and Bannister spent the rest of the morning at headquarters but the time proved fruitless. At 12 o'clock Gainey left for the office. Bannister drifted out for lunch and presently was back. Thus it happened that at 2 o'clock he was present when a surprising thing took place.

It didn't for Dan Moody's second term opponent—that support would mean a tremendous lot to any candidate.

Senatorial races will be made next year in the two largest Texas cities, Houston and Dallas, with the certainty that Houston will have a new senator, since the incumbent, Sen. Walter F. Woodul, is running for lieutenant governor.

Sen. George C. Purl is likely to be a candidate for re-election. It is regarded as likely that Mrs. Sarah T. Hughes, only woman house member, will compete with him for the place.

Purl has established a record as one of the hardest-working members of the upper house. Mrs. Hughes has proven indefatigable in her legislative work.

If Speaker Stevenson gets into the governor's race, or if he should head a house appeal and stand for a second term as representative and speaker, unquestionably Rep. Pennington would be one of the earliest entrants in the race for congressman in the district covering their counties.

This is one of the new races created by congressional redistricting which eliminates the three congressmen-at-large after this term.

If a special session of the legislature comes any time soon, it would cause a whole lot of inconvenience, in that the divisions of the Texas relief commission, and the civil works administration, have spread into many legislative committee rooms, and emergency work organizations have even occupied some of the senators' private offices.

Steps are being taken now to locate more adequate quarters for the relief organization. The hearing room in the state office building, which served to house after a fashion, from 100 to 1000 delegates to highway commission hearings, probably will be put into use for this purpose now that the highway commission has a new and much larger hearing chamber of its own in its building.

tempt to make complete restorations of the historic spots. Where any old fortifications or other landmarks still are standing, they will be restored in a certain degree so that they at least will not decay or rot. On the other hand, where none of the original objects are left, the authorities will not try to bring in imitations simply to make it look real.

"When the plans laid out by the office of national parks and executed by emergency conservation labor are in operation," said Peckham, "these great historic areas will become field laboratories for students of history in every school in the land. Millions whose school days are over or for whom they ended all too soon will visit these areas to refresh and add to their knowledge of the sacrifices and suffering in which this great nation was born and achieved eminence in a little more than three centuries."

Health is half of success

Few men achieve their goal without vitality and drive. And so many are held back from their best by a common ailment: constipation. It dulls energy, often causes headaches, sleeplessness. It takes the vim out of your day's work.

Correct constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it becomes a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than using pills and drugs—so often harmful.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN also has iron for the blood. At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

SISTER MARY'S RECIPES

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Staff Writer

PLUM puddings are ideal desserts for winter menus. While we usually think of plum pudding in connection with Christmas, variations of it are welcomed by most dessert lovers.

The ages and tastes of her guests will enable the hostess to choose the pudding best suited to her needs. A rich plum pudding served with a rich sauce is not suitable for children, but there are plenty of delicious puddings that will please both children and adults without danger of over-taxing small digestions.

Stale bread and biscuit crumbs can often be used to advantage in fruit puddings. Cracker crumbs are also frequently used with the result that the puddings are very light and fluffy.

The following recipe uses up left-over baking powder or soda biscuits and the pudding is delicious.

Fig Pudding

One-half pound dried figs, 1-2 cup suet, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 2-3 cups biscuit crumbs, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup sweet milk, 1 teaspoon baking powder.

Put figs and suet through food chopper. Add sugar and work until creamy. Add eggs well beaten, biscuit crumbs and salt. Mix and add milk with baking powder dissolved in it. Mix thoroughly and turn into a buttered and floured mold. Steam three hours and serve with whipped cream.

Raisin pudding uses cracker crumbs to make a pudding not too rich for older children.

Raisin Pudding

Four cups milk, 1-2 cups biscuit crumbs, 4 tablespoons

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Sliced pineapple, cereal, cream, baked French toast, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON: Potato and cheese souffle, stewed celery, lettuce salad, waffles with hot brown sugar sauce, milk, tea.
DINNER: Calves' liver loaf, scalloped potatoes, Chinese cabbage in lemon sauce, mixed vegetable salad, deep dish apple pie, milk, coffee.

molasses, 1 cup sugar, 4 eggs, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons melted butter, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-2 cups seeded raisins.

Scald milk and pour over crackers. Let stand until cool. Pour boiling water over raisins, cover and let stand until plump. Pour off any water not absorbed by fruit. Beat eggs slightly and add to cracker and milk mixture with sugar, molasses, salt, butter and spices. Mix well and add plumped raisins. Pour into a well buttered baking dish and bake very slowly for two and one-half hours. Stir twice during first half hour to prevent raisins from settling to the bottom of the dish. Serve with hard sauce or sterling sauce.

Sterling Sauce

One-fourth cup butter, 3-4 cup light brown sugar, 3 tablespoons whipping cream, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla.

Work butter until very creamy with a wooden spoon. Slowly beat in sugar which has been rolled until smooth. Stir in vanilla and gradually beat in cream. Pile lightly in a dish and garnish with snips of candied cherries.

tempt to overcome the one-touch-down lead, Galbraith touched off the charge that decided the final outcome of the game by intercepting an aerial on the Cisco 34 yard marker. Cogdell took Brookshire's pass to cross the Lobo goal line for the second time.

Four Times in Abilene Territory

Cisco had the ball in pay territory four times but each time the offense weakened and the Lobos lacked the punch to push over a touchdown. Frequent fumbles hurt both teams, although they cost Cisco more than they did Abilene and figured directly in the three-touch-down score for the Eagles.

Although holding the zero end of a 20 to 0 score, the Lobos had the edge over their rivals in the number of first downs made. Abilene made a net gain of 206 yards from scrimmage to 104 for Cisco, four aeriels for 38 yards and having two intercepted. Two of Abilene's three passes were good for 69 yards and touchdowns, and the third intercepted by Barker.

Just as Brookshire had been bottled up by the Lobos prepared to stop his running and passing attack, so was Barker, chief offensive threat for the Lobos, held for only short gains. In the backfield for Cisco Harrison and McMahon made most of the yardage, while McMahon and Caffrey played good defensive games. In the line Brown at tackle and Captain Blackburn at guard against the strong left wall and the hard blocking of Cogdell were outstanding, as was Rutledge at left end.

Along with Brookshire and Cogdell, the outstanding players on the Eagle eleven were Balfanz, who looked like all-district material at end, and Lindley, hard driving tackle. Jones, at center, also turned in a good game.

Pampa, winner of district No. 1 will meet the Eagles in a bi-district game at Abilene Saturday, December 9.
