Learning that the Community Natural was engaged in quite a preten tious program of rehabilitating their properties in Cisco, the Citizen editor found Manager H. L. Mr. Dyer said:

Whitney were consummated at Tulsa, Okla,, Thursday, following which the newly-weds departed on a wedding tour, taking in the Century of Progress fair at Chicago. and other p'aces of interest in that part of the nation, Mrs, Rominger left Cisco Wednesday morning for the Oklahoma city to join her fiance, where the ceremony was performed. On their return from their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs, Whitney will be at home in Breckenridge.

A native of the Cisco country Mrs. Whitney has spent her life here, where she is loved and esteemed by everyone with whom she is on speaking terms. For the purpose of becoming Mr, Whitney's bride Miss Myrtle resigned her position as deputy city clerk, which she has filled most efficiently during the present city administration. There she has served the public and kept the city tax record, a position sometimes trying to most anyone, but she has served her public with a smile that has endeared her to all with whom she came in contact. In fact, she has always been a favorite with all who know her, and when it became known hat she had chosen her husband the universal expression was "I hope the man is worthy of her, for she is really a wonderful woman."

While here Mr. Whitney was in the oil business, an independent operator, and the Citizen is informed he is now dealing in oil field accessories.

The sincerest wishes for a life of felicity is extended the pair by a host of friends in Cisco, all of whom are lovers of the happy bride, whom, they claim, is worthy of the best man that lives,

Administration Of Williamson Lauded By Beaumont Paper

The Beaumont Enterprise, of September 26, carried a three column pen drawing of former Mayor J. M. Williamson, of Cisco, now relief adminisadded. trator of Jefferson county, which was followed by a very complimentary mention of his relief work in that Among other things said county. complimentary of Cisco's former mayor the paper quotes a federal relief chief as saying "The Jefferson county bureau is one of the most ably administered office in the national chain of emergency organizations."

The story, as written by Dennis McCarthy, is as follows, which, we believe, will be read with interest by the many friends of Mayor Williamson here:

By DENNIS MCCARTHY

Administrative organization for many years has been his chief activity. During a score of years he has linked his talent to numerous major projects including reclamation, cotton purchase and disposition, mining and civic control. He works quietly, methodically and has a gift for surrounding himself with subordinates whose sense of executive efficiency harmonizes with his treatment of administrative tasks.

J. M. Williamson and this business of organization are amazingly compatible and for that reason "Mayor Jim" finds a great satisfaction in his work as relief administrator for Jefferson county. The manifold departmental stitchin-together which confronted him when he entered office a year ago last August and the ensuing ease with which relief headquarters has functioned since then speak robustly of his wise and astute conduct of that post. Bureau is Praised

Just a few weeks past a federal relief chief reported the Jefferson county bureau one of the most ably-administered offices in the national chain of emergency organizations.

However, "Mayor Jim" seems to find it prudent to cast the orchids and the glory of accomplishment toward his official staff and the sincere cooperation he has received from all sides since coming to Beaumont.

"The only manner in which I choose to congratulate myself is to pat myself generously on the back because of my good fortune in recruiting a capable staff of relief workers. If it were not for the efficiency of my staff and their genuine interest in behalf of relief work, the department would not bear much mention. I find the same sincere cooperation coming from Beaumont's business institutions and leaders."

Ranger Arranging For Armistice Day Cisco-Ranger Game

RANGER, Oct. 17.—Plans are going forward for the annual game of football between Ranger and Cisco. These games are played alternately at Cisco and Ranger. This year Ranger gets the break. J. E. Maroney, who is chairman of the parade committee for the Armistice Day celebration which is being sponsored by the Carl Barnes Post, No. 69, reports good success in the lining up of floats and cars for the parade, big feature of the celebration. Nov. 11 comes on Sunday this year. and the celebration will be held on Monday, Nov. 12. The annual armistice day battle between the Cisco Loboes and the Ranger Bulldogs will take the spotlight at 2:30 on this day, at Lillard field, and efforts are being made to get the Cisco pep squad and band to take part in the parade which will be staged at 10 a.m.

The members of the local post, with their colors and guard, will head the parade, with the Lone Star and high school bands in the procession, also the posts from neighboring towns will have their groups with their colors and guards.

Just after the parade a firing squad will fire taps, after which a free barbecué for ex-service men and their invited guests will be held, probably at the Country club. Then will come the football game at 2:30. At 7 p.m. a carnival will be held on Main street with the Tickville band rendering a program, and numbers from dancers, etc., all local talent.

Questions Aspirants for Congress Should Be Asked to Answer.

WASHINGTON .- The federal government's broadening ventures into fields of public ownership and operation appear to be developing an issue with which voters can deal at the polls in November, according to word that is filtering into the National capital.

There are throughout the country several dozen of these experiments, the greatest of which, of course, is the Tennessee Valley Authority. That agency, wholly government owned and operated, is developing and distributing electric power on a gigantic scale. It is rapidly driving out all private enterprise having to do with or built up around the power business.

Further than that the TVA lately announced the organization of a subsidized corporation which will sell electric household equipment to whomsoever will buy. Sales of washing machines, irons, vacuum cleaners, and other such equipment are being made on the installment plan, much to the chagrin of local dealers handling such merchandise.

Vast Suma Expended.

The federal government is backing a hundred million dollars or more in bonds of the TVA and it is paying the governing board and its personnel. The dams in the Tennessee river were built at government expense.

Public Works Administration funds are being expended in a score or more localities in the construction of dams and hydro-electric plants. Public Works officials in Washington repeatedly have called attention to the vast supply of electriic power to be developed from these government plants and all of it will be sold in direct competition with the products of private industry.

In addition to the utility phases in which Public Works Administration money has been spent-money borrowed by the federal governmentfunds are being used in the building of whole towns, such as Reedsville, West Virginia, and in numerous other experiments of a government owner-ship character. Most of these obviously, are in competition with some or several lines of private industry, and they are being carried on with funds provided from the federal treasury.

With all of these circumstances confronting them, according to the word reaching Washington, an increasing number of voters are reported to be asking the candidates in their areas how they stand. Some of these candieeking have let it be known at their offices here that they do not see how they can avoid definite statements very much longer as to whether they are for or against government ownership. Two questions are reported to be agitating the voters who have become interested in the fight against government ownership. One of them is whether, under government ownership, there can be operation without that particular function becoming a political football. The other question concerns taxes. The voters are said to be inquiring what the total cost will be if the government continues to acquire or construct government owned and operated economic units. The information is that people are becoming concerned over the mounting tax burdens of federal and state and local governments and have fears as to the future.

"When in Ranger Pay Us a Visit."

J. M. Williamson was born in northern Arkansas, attended high school at Elm Springs in that state and was graduated from Bloomfield college in 1887. He taught country school in his native county one term and then moved to Texas, as principal of the high school at Cisco. A year or so later he retired from school work and entered the drug business, following this commercial activity until 1902, when he disposed of his interests to engage in cotton purchase and brokerage.

He remained in the cotton business in Cisco until 1907, when he became associated with an American group of financiers interested in land development in southern Mexico. He was appointed general manager of properties and, during the five years he remained in Mexico, surveyed and cleared more than 120,000 acres of virgin jungle forest, some of it so dense his crews were compelled to use flashlights and other artificial illumination to progress with their task. This reclaimed acreage became one of the richest agricultural areas in Mexico, and annually produced rich harvests of coffee, rubber and fruits.

Becomes Mayor

With the completion of his projects in 1912, Mr. Williamson returned to Cisco and resumed charge of his cotton brokerage offices, where he continued until 1915, when he was elected mayor. Thus the "Mayor Jim," and his constituents held him in office until 1931, when he retired, entering private life as a citizen who had served his city as mayor longer than any predecessor city executive.

When he retired from the mayor's office he was presented with a gold For Representative, 106th District: medal as a general token of gratitude GEORGE DAVISSON, JR.

Ralph Wynne, who operates a drug store in Thurber, telephoned in the information Saturday afternoon that all bridges along the new highway No. 89, from Ranger to Weatherford, had been completed and traffic could now go over the new highway.

Although not paved, the road is reported to be in good condition in fair weather and the detour is not in bad condition.-Eastland Telegram.

Fear Revenue Loss.

Several members of congress lately have received letters from officials in their respective states indicating alarm over the reduction in revenue of local governments if the federal government continues to expand its ownership of what has heretofore been private business. The state authorities, as well as the county and municipal officials, foresee sharp curtailment in the receipts upon which they depend for payment of their running expenses and the necessary improvements, such as highways and the like. In one instance, the state official asked point blank what would happen to the state or local treasurles if the federal government took over the railroads. He added a paragraph to the effect that if the expansion of government ownership continues "there will be nothing left for us to tax except farm lands now being blown away by hot winds.'

Among the groups who are mustering strength in opposition to government ownership of the railroads, the word is being sent out to every one THE CISCO CITIZEN

TAX EXEMPT PROPERTY

Recent action of the Board of Taxes and Assessments of New York, in slashing from the tax-exempt list property valued at $55,640,900 owned by educational, charitable, and religious organizations, is not a final action but brings up for review this important question of exemption. With taxing units searching for every possible means to bring revenues to a budget balancing level, the inert mass of taxfree holdings is certain to attract attention. As a final result, a uniform and clarifying policy may be reached in regard to it that will be fair to the whole strength of tax-payers on real property.

The inclusion in the New York list of athletic stadia shows one development in educational property that may be widely copied, for the simple reason that athletic events for which an admission is charged can not be regarded as educational in themselves. But it is not difficult to go from the athletic contest with its huge "gate" to the numerous minor collegiate activities for which a small fee is charge ed, in order to pay expenses and to wonder where the line is to be drawn. A simple approach may be found in regarding all income yielding property, not publicly owned and not in direct use for agreed exempt purposes as subject to taxation on a basis which can be generally accepted by assessors as the vardstick for it. Too great an accumulation of exempt property is contrary to sound public policy .-Dallas News. The above editorial was the comment of the News on Knott's cartoon Tuesday morning in which a ponderous passenger, labelled tax exempt property, seeks admission on the taxpayers' car, presenting a pass to ride, but the conductor, representing the tax authority, denies him admission to this free ride. That cartoon speaks volumes, and if our tax authorities would deny these tax exemption passengers a free ride on the government train there would be no need of looking under every chip for something to tax to raise the required revenue to operate the state and federal governments.

property from taxation. We have opposed this special practice to the privileged class for years, and to know that such influential papers as the Dallas News is taking up the fight, even though mildly, is pleasing, as it means others are thinking along the same lines as that which has prompted the Citizen to oppose this special privilege.

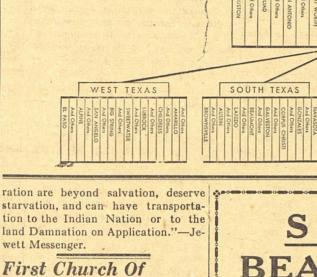

That President Roosevelt has not exercised his authority to put a stop to this injustice to those who do pay their taxes has been the cause of what adverse criticism the Gitizen has made on the policies of the administration.

Not only would it be a great source of revenue if we would tax exempt property, but would do more towards national recovery than all the relief measures that have been projected by the admin istration, as the money invested in federal and state bonds would seek investment in industrial enterprises ment, and start the wheels of progress revolving

SUCH IS FAME

The metropolitan press has devoted columns on the passing of "Daddy" Browning a few days ago. Browning attracted undue publicity a few years back when he adopted and later married a young girl, probably young enough to be his granddaughter. Then he was played up by the press as though he was some celebrity. Naturally such publicity is nauseating to decent thinking people. Now that he is dead; the same press is slobbering over his mortal clay as though his life meant more than a play season. 'Daddy'' Browning and "Peaches"

Narration Of A Fabrication

Ed Wasson, Marquez big merchant and politician, says a rundown model T truck passed through his town the other day carring the following sign: Milam county and irrigation, Robertson county and starvation, I'm going back to Leon county among my wife's relations. They ought to come to Leon county where there is no need of irrigation and a man of education can engage in speculation, bring along his wife's relation, have a good time and plenty of free salvation.

This made Editor Lane of The Hearne Democrat hot under the collar and he came back with the following outbreak: "The above narration is a fabrication, that has obtained circunation, it is a shame to civilization

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes he following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Ebdy: "That God's wrath should be vented upon His beloved Son, is devinely unnatural. Such a theory is man-made. The atonement is a hard problem in theology, but its scientific explanation is, that suffering is an error of sinful sense which Truth destroys, and that eventually both sin and suffering will fall at the feet of everlasting Love" (page 23).

Distributing $100 Per Day

Asked what sum of money the Community Natural was now distributing to local workmen, Mr. Dyer said:

"Roughly speaking, without giving the actual figures from our records, the work the Community Natural is now doing will average an expenditure of better than $100 per day that we are paying out to local people. This means that our extra employes are spending with Cisco business people at least $2,600 per month, besides the wages of the company's regular maintenance crew, making a total of more than $3,000 per month we are expending for labor alone to local unemployed. We believe this employment we are giving local workers is doing our part in the recovery program insofar as the local situation is concerned," he concluded.
