Devro to Build Plant in Lubbock

Lubbock, Texas -- A joint announcement made today by John G. Finch, president of DEVRO. Inc., a Johnson & Johnson company, and Dr. John R. Bradford, president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development, revealed that DEVRO will begin construction of a 50,000 squarefoot plant in Lubbock.

The new facility, to be located on a 50-acre site on East Loop 289, will produce sausage casings for the firm's markets in the Southwest and western states. It is expected to be com- and the aggressive business pleted by late fall.

TION PROGRAM

The House of Representatives passed and sent to the Senate. Monday, May 19, 1969, House Bill 10595. This bill, which I cosponsored recently with 25 other members, if enacted into law, will extend for 10 additional years the Great Plains Conservation Program.

This legislation will extend for 10 years the authority of the Secretary of Agriculture to enter into cost-sharing contracts for soil and water conservation practices with farmers and ranchers in applying conservation programs to entire units. Special emphasis is placed upon converting land unsuitable for sustained crop production to permanent grass.

The critical conservation needs of the program areas in the ten Great Plains states cannot be met by the end of 1971. The Great Plains Program, with adequate financing, will help meet the problems of protracted drought which undoubtedly will arise in the future as they have in the past.

The bill provides an authorization of $150 million for the ten year extension payable in amounts not to exceed $25

GREAT PLAINS CONSERVA- the expense of other taxpayers. Here is a key example of emotion on the question of oil taxation. You have all heard of the 154 cases of really rich people, non-taxable individuals who pay no tax year after year. If you ask the man in the street farm ponds and while wading. why these rich people pay no tax at all, they reply, "They had 54 deaths, the 21 to 30 are rich oil people using that age group 70 deaths and people oil depletion allowance."

And yet the figures provided to the Ways and Means Committee on these cases show that total income for these people came to $112 million and depletion on their income came to less that 1 percent of the total. And yet the industry still gets blamed--depletion is still called a dangerous loophole. I hope the Committee will separate fact from fiction. I am pleased that President Nixon reaffirmed his position 0 that the depletion allowance must remain unchanged. This reflects Mr. Nixon's awaren ness of the eminent importance e this provision has in relation to our nation's future. I am pleased that the

The bill also expanded the soil and water conservation program to include measures to enhance the fish, wildlife, and recreation resources of the Great Plains and to reduce or control soil, water, and air pollutants.

FARMERS HOME ADMINIS-TRATION LOANS

On Wednesday, May 21, 1969, I introduced H.R. 11547 to amend the Consolidated FHA Act of 1961, as amended, to increase the loan limitations on certain loans. The bill would increase the loan limit to any one borrower from $35,000 to $70,000. It would increase the loan limit on farm ownership loans from $60,000 to $100,000. I am also preparing legislation which would provide that FHA operating loans be insured in the same manner as other FHA programs.

OIL DEPLETION ALLOWANCE

In light of the high interest being focused on this matter, I think it would benefit everyone in our understanding of this situation to note the following. The attack on the oil industry and oil taxation has been primarily emotional. The time is at hand for sobriety of judgment in this matter rather than additional excesses of argument based on emotional sentiment.

In reviewing the record now before the Ways and Means Committee, the evidence clearly reveals and is confirmed by my colleague, Congressman George Bush, who is a member of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee that: (a) on total taxes, the oil industry does pay its share of taxes. (b) the oil industry is not disproportionately profitable. Using return on invested capital as a yardstick, the industry ranks right in the middle of all other industries. Ir is not more profitable than most manufacturing. enterprises. (c) the price of petroleum products has not risen nearly as fast nor gone nearly as high as products of other industries. (d) there is an acute need to find more domestic reserves; the ratio between proved reserves and consumption has declined rapidly. (e) the gas industry picture is exceptionally perilous in terms of long-range supply and consumption. These points were not substantially challenged in the Ways and Means Committee, and yet incessant emotion prevails--the myth continues of the "rich oil man" getting fat at

The Christian Science Bible Lesson-Sermon this Sunday recalls Paul's timely advice to the Romans: "The night is far spent, the day is at hand: let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light." The subject of the sermon is "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced.'

Another passage in the lesson, from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, explains, "The Christian Scientist demonstrates that divine Mind heals, while the hypnotist dispossesses the patient of his individuality in order to control him.'
