DR. ROSENTHAL CALLED TO TREAT WATER ILLS

Citizen's Prediction of City Water Pollution is Verified As People File Complaints

What's the matter with Cisco water? Its all right. Yes, Cisco water is now all right. But hades was to pay in Cisco for a few days. People drank city water while they held their nose. The local cannery came near being put out of business for a few days. Housewives kept Mayor Berry busy at the telephone hearing complaints sent to the city hall about the rotten water. But not for long. One Cisco lady made it plain that something had to be done now, and not some time later. In fact the mayor said she made her grievance so pointed that he got busy and telephoned the water doctor to come at once—not the next day—but now. But all that is now ancient history. The prompt attention of Mayor Berry saved the day—and our water—as well as probably lives of our people by calling Helman Rosenthal, of Dallas Laboratories, to come to Cisco and treat the city water.

Rosenthal Got On The Job
Dr. Rosenthal responded to the mayor's importunities and came to Cisco, where he got busy, and within only a few days he had the situation in hand with the result the water was treated and purified to its former constituency, and everyone is happy again, for Cisco city water has assumed its former state of purity.

Ever since Cisco solved the water problem by providing for an ample supply of water it has been the boast of Cisco people that our drinking water was kept in a state of purity second to none in Texas. During this time the water was analyzed weekly by the Dallas Laboratories, and when necessary Rosenthal visited Cisco to give the city water his personal attention, charging only his personal expenses while so doing.

But in an effort to more thoroughly economize the city commission dispensed with the services of Mr. Rosenthal, as the commissioners had ascertained that the work would be done by the state health department without charge. The city had been paying Mr. Rosenthal $50 per month, and it was thought this sum could be saved.

Free Service Expensive
At the time the Cisco Citizen protested this action, classing it as false economy, but like other wholesome suggestions the Citizen has offered the commission, our advice was not taken. We told the commission that free service often proved the most expensive. That experimenting with city drinking water was a dangerous undertaking; that they were gambling with the health of our people. We pointed out that the state department allowed the University students to analyze the samples of water sent in. Representatives of this department were our authority for this assertion, but later a representative of that department assured the city health physician that "competent chemists made the analysis," and the Citizen's assertion was ridiculed.

But the Citizen was not long in being vindicated. Our statement that free service often proved the most expensive was verified sooner than we anticipated. We enjoyed (?) the free service only one or two months—saved $50 or $100. The city was forced to recall Rosenthal on a special mission at a cost of $300 or $350. False economy as the Citizen stated. It cost Cisco $200 or $250 for one experiment. Now the Citizen is informed that

Citizen's Editorial Draws Fire of J. H. Carpenter of Baird

In the issue of the Citizen of July 1 we had something to say in favor of the platform of Hon. T. E. Powell, of Baird, who is making the race for county judge of Callahan county. The Citizen did not know Mr. Powell's opponent, nor that he even had an opponent. Powell's platform appealed to the Citizen, and knowing the man behind the platform we simply expressed our approval of the platform and the man who was standing upon that platform. Certainly no reflection on Mr. Powell's opponent was contemplated of intended, directly or indirectly. In fact the opponent did not enter the picture.

But it seems that the Judge J. H. Carpenter, present county judge of Callahan county, took a different slant, and construed the editorial commending Mr. Powell's platform as a reflection upon his administration. Such a construction, in our opinion, was far-fetched, to say the least. We could not have meant any reflection upon Judge Carpenter or his administration, as we do not know him, and certainly we are not familiar with his administration, so could not have intended to convey any reflection on the judge or the manner in which he is conducting the affairs of his office.

Our comments on the Powell platform were laudatory, and used in general terms, rather than against Callahan's county judge. Powell's platform had the true ring, and his publicity intentions

Mayor Berry favors renewing the contract with Mr. Rosenthal to treat Cisco water in the future. We believe the commissioners have enough of the free service and will support the mayor in his desire to keep our drinking water pure by having it under the supervision of a chemist who understands his business, and has proven his worth by serving the city for the past eight or ten years.

Probable Epidemic Averted
The Citizen also hopes that other experiments the commission has made will be corrected before they, too, may prove expensive economy, entailing additional costs to the city.

Had Mayor Berry hesitated a few days longer our city water might have become sufficiently contaminated to cause the appearance of a disease, resulting in possible deaths of some of our people. The Citizen is the only newspaper published in Cisco that has ever come out boldly in advocating those measures that we believe were for the general good, and the Citizen will continue to publish warnings where the red lights of danger appears on our municipal horizon. We will not be to blame if our suggestions fall on deaf ears, but that will not deter this newspaper in its determination to fight for those things that we believe will safeguard the health of our people.

T. L. Cooper Given O. K. by State Official

To the people of Eastland county: In announcing my candidacy for re-election to the office of County Tax Collector for a second term, I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation for your hearty and loyal support in the past.

For the benefit of those who do not know me I will state that I was born and reared on a farm near Gorman, having spent the greater part of my life in Eastland county. I have lived at Gorman, Sabanno, Cisco and Eastland; and have had personal dealings with many people in practically all parts of the county. It is therefore my earnest desire that those of you who do not know me investigate my record in the communities in which I have lived and among those with whom I have had personal dealings.

For several years I have used my spare time in study and soon after I assumed the duties of office I attended a course of law lectures and have also devoted considerable time to the study of our statutes and not with the idea or intention of becoming a lawyer but in order to become more efficient in my work and render you better service.

I believe in clean politics and stand for honesty, efficiency and economy in all governmental departments, favoring any law or laws that will help to revise, reduce and equalize our tax system and give service a city or an individual can employ.

curtail government expenditures. When you elected me two years ago I promised you honest efficient service and my greatest desire has been to make you the best tax collector possible.

During the time that I have served you I have devoted my entire time to the office and to the lawful discharge of its duties and in asking for a second term I do so with an earnest desire and intention of rendering you better service.

I am making an effort to see personally every voter in the county before the July primary if possible but should I fail to see any of you I hope that you will consider this a personal solicitation of your good will, support and influence.

Thanking you again for your loyal support in the past and trusting that my record in this office has been such that when you go to the polls on July 23, you will honor me with your votes for a second term to the office of County Tax Collector.

Sincerely yours,
T. L. COOPER.

West Ward Voters Vote Tomorrow in Mancill Building

Voting booths have been arranged in the Mancill building, opposite the city hall, where the stage has been set for the big political show in Cisco tomorrow. West Ward voters will cast their ballots in this location instead of at the city hall, as has been the custom for many years in the past. This arrangement will be appreciated by both the public and the city hall officials, as it will relieve the congestion which always prevails at each election.

The people will have more room than was available at the old place, and voting can be more easily expedited.

The official ballot this year is unusually long, and indications are the results will not be announced as promptly as has been the case in past elections, where shorter ballots were voted. This election will require extra hours to count this huge ballot, and it is probable that the final results may not be announced before noon Sunday. So, if the boys don't get through as quickly as you would wish, don't get impatient. Go home and take your regular sleep Saturday night. You will get the return Sunday.

By virtue of his office as precinct chairman of West Ward, W. J. Armstrong as manager of the election, and he has appointed the following gentlemen to hold the election:

A. B. O'Flaherty, W. B. Statham, H. M. Cotton, Charles Hartman, P. J. Connally, H. G. Bailey, Otho Kean, Yancey McCrea, J. M. Flournoy, Harry Price, Bill Ricks, G. R. Kilpatrick, C. O. Pass, L. B. Campbell.

With a view of making it easier on the voters of the East Ward precinct, Will St. John, precinct chairman, has arranged voting booths on the ground floor, instead of upstairs over the Cooper Cafe, where

Kennon Makes Last Appeal for Office Justice of the Peace

To the Voters of Precinct No. 6: The 1932 political campaign is drawing to a close. Tomorrow the voters of Texas will go to the polls and nominate their various state, county and precinct officers.

I have made as close a canvass of the precinct for the office of Justice of the Peace of the Cisco precinct as my limited time would permit, as I have been compelled to earn a living while making the race. I believe those with whom I have canvassed know that I am qualified to serve you efficiently. If I am your nominee as the result of your ballots tomorrow I will serve you faithfully and efficiently. The law and the evidence will be my guide to my faith and practices in administering the office. The statutes recognize that justice should be tempered with mercy where leniency is due. That will be my policy.

Believing that a court of justice should not be combined with a municipal court it will be my first act to move the justice court from the city hall to some building in another location. This, I believe will better facilitate the administration of the office, and give the people of Cisco and Precinct 6 one court not merged with any other tribunal where its proceedings will be conducted independent of any other court.

When the ballots are tabulated Saturday night I will be your nominee for justice of the peace, or that honor will be given to my opponent. I shall appreciate your support and promise to be a justice in whom you will have little reasonable ground for complaint, because I know I have the ability to do so.

Thanking you for your expressed confidence in me during the campaign, and any support you may give me, I am

Chairman St. John, by virtue of his official position, will be manager of the election in the East Ward precinct. The following have been selected by him to assist in the election in that precinct: Henry Stubblefield, John Dill, Ed Caffrey, M. McGannon and Leonard Surlis.

PROBABLY DISMISS ALL TRUST SUITS

Clem Calhoun, the oil trust candidate who is trying to displace Jimmy Allred as attorney general, says he will not seek ouster of the oil companies if he is elected. This is not news to Texas voters. Certainly Mr. Calhoun will not seek to oust the major companies. For that matter, if Calhoun is elected, he will not seek to penalize the oil trust, but drop the entire proceeding, or accept a modest compromise, and allow the oil trust to continue its illegal practices of throttling competition. Otherwise the oil companies would not be contributing such tremendous sums to defeat Allred. The major companies know their man, and are not dumping huge sums into the Calhoun campaign fund simply to elect the fat boy of the Pampas.

No they see in Calhoun a good investment—the means of defeating Jimmy Allred that they may continue to throttle competition with a monopoly as ruinous as that which the gas trust is attempting to saddle upon the State. They know that their man Calhoun will do their bidding, for they will have bought him, and he will be their chattel.

But why support Calhoun? His campaign is being sponsored by the major oil companies, a branch of big business, and the rule of big business has proven a failure, so why keep their representative in office? Practically every employe of the major companies are now in the field supporting Calhoun.

Financed by the major companies a five-column four-page newspaper is being circulated in the interest of Calhoun. The major companies are spreading the propaganda that Allred is trying to stifle industry by ouster proceedings.

They ask: "What will become of our oil industry if the big companies are ousted?" That is the same propaganda that the foreign insurance companies dosed out to the people. The big insurance companies left the state because they refused to obey the laws. It resulted in the formation of strong insurance companies in Texas that gave more people employment rather than forced men out of jobs. Similar results will follow should the oil companies be banished, (which they won't be), as they will obey the laws and remain in Texas.

Texans organized right sizable oil companies before they allowed themselves to be swallowed up by the Standard Oil Co. John W. Gates had a nice little organization in the Texas Company before the Standard stepped in. Ross Sterling and associates were doing nice business with the Humble Company before they were taken over by the Standard. But when the arch enemy of the people, the Standard Oil Co., secured a controlling interest of those companies their monopolistic policies became manifest, and the absorption of the service stations, the control of all petroleum products, the production and distribution, as well as the retail sales departments, were monopolized, shutting out even the independent retailer. If the service station operator owns his building he is offered a lease, with him in charge to sell exclusive products of that company. If he refuses, a competitive station is established and he is put out of business.

He leases his premises, and changes from an individual business man to an hireling of the oil trust. He must do as he is bid. He dares not handle a gallon of other products than that of the company for whom he is working.

However, there are in Texas a few independent refineries and service stations that have not yet capitulated to the oil trust. But these are not making any formidable showing against the major companies. Should they make their competition felt, when the major companies have their attorney general installed at Austin, these independents may expect to go out of business.

Yes, it is time the people were demanding the return of the government back to the people instead of allowing big business to have control. But it will be a sad day for Texas with Ross Sterling, Clem Calhoun and other trust and utility hirelings in power. A vote for these monopoly attorneys and hirelings means a further hold on the government by the trusts and monopolies. A vote for Tom F. Hunter, Jimmy Allred, Ernest Thompson and men of known fidelity to the people, will be the entering wedge for the restoration of the state government back to the people provided you elect a legislature in sympathy with them.

Big business has had its day. They have failed. Now let the people rule.

Service Station
Installs Texaco
Checking Chart

Scientifically correct lubrication is what your car will get at the Texas Service Station No. 1, at Broadway and avenue E, operated by Alpha V. Clark. This station has just installed the "Texaco Certified Lubrication", which includes a complete line of Texaco oils and greases specially developed for automobile lubrication, together with a system of checking, employe training and special equipment.

F. W. Jones, supervisor of stations for the Texas Company, was in Cisco last week and supervised the installation of the new lubrication unit, who stated that it is necessary for each service station manager to take a course of training before he is permitted to install and operate the lubricating unit. This Manager Clark has done, Jones stated, and passed his examination for proficiency in operating the unit in connection with the new Texaco Chek Chart. This chart which was prepared with the assistance of all automobile manufacturers, insures complete and scientifically correct lubrication of the entire chassis and motor of every make of car.

"Nothing is more important in passenger car lubrication than that every single point should receive the proper kind and amount of lubricant at regular intervals," said Jones. "Texas Service Station No. 1 is the only service station in Cisco now authorized to operate this scientifically lubrication system.

"The new system we have just adopted is known as 'Texaco Chek-Chart.' It practically puts a factory-trained lubrication engineer at the elbow of the man who is going over a car. It points out to him all lubrication points and the kind of lubricant for each one; and leaves no room for his possibly making a mistake. "When a car goes on the grease rack the operator turns to the proper chart, checks it with the serial number of the car to insure absolute identification. Then, he starts with No. 1 point and works around the car, treating each point in order and missing none. With the chart, Texaco Station No. 1 can guarantee a lubrication job to be as complete and efficient as it would be done at the factory where the car was built."

Mr. and Mrs. John Sue and children were in Cisco the past week end, being called here from Houston by reason of the death of the late Charlie Baggett, of Gunsight, who was an uncle of Mr. Sue. John Sue now holds a responsible position with the Humble Company in the Bayou city.

Some Observations

In his column, "With the Texas Press," in the Waco News-Tribune, Fred Robinson has the following to say about a recent feast mentioned in the Cisco Citizen:

Editor R. W. H. (Alphabet) Kennon of the Cisco Citizen, formerly of Rockdale, has the following report of a noonday dinner at the home of one of Cisco's conservative citizens:

In keeping with the southern form, it was a vegetable dinner. There were parsnips, string beans, new potatoes, young onions, lettuce, beets and other palatable vegetables from the Heyser garden; delicious egg bread from meal ground of corn produced on the Heyser farm; butter from the Heyser cows; fresh roast beef from the Heyser pastures; delicious biscuits and pastry from wheat grown in the Heyser fields, and a dessert of dewberry pie grown from Heyser lands, with sweet milk as a "chaser" from the Heyser cows.

Chickens are mentioned as a product soon to come on. The Citizen concludes the article with the following true dissertation: "Yes, we are hard pressed for cash, but Eastland county people are not starving. If you don't believe our farmers have plenty to eat, just contrive to get an invitation to dinner at the home of one of your farmer friends. They are not spending much money in 'high living,' but, thank God, they are still eating." Same here in central Texas, as is attested by Editor Power of the Riesel Rustler!

While this is indefinite, yet the chamber of commerce officials believe Chairman Ely will favor the highway commission taking over this cut-off, and maintaining it at state expense by reason of it being the connecting length in other important state highways, and will materially reduce mileage.

Ranger and Cook Affiliated With County Taxpayers

The Eastland County Taxpayers association met at Eastland Saturday, July 16, in called session, but little business was transacted. The regular meeting in Gorman, a week previous, proved an abortion for the lack of proper notice being given.

Judge Eugene Lankford, one of the vice chairmen of the association, presided in the absence of Chairman D. J. Neil.

Judge R. C. Roland, of Ranger, brought greeting from the Ranger unit, asking for affiliation with the county association. Judge Roland stated that Ranger had organized a live unit, with L. H. Flewellen, chairman; R. C. Roland, vice president, and H. T. Miller, secretary.

Upon motion the Ranger local was granted full affiliation. The Cook school house local was also voted full affiliation. With Cisco having previously affiliated with the county organization there are now three live local units affiliated with the county association.

The committee appointed to request appraisers at the first primary election reported that they had ascertained that these appraisers could not be appointed unless requested by the candidates, and as they had received no requests from this source, the committee had done nothing in the matter.

Secretary J. M. Parker reported that only three of the legislative candidates had returned the questionnaire sent out by the association, but expected others to send in their answers later, which would be sent to the newspapers of the county for publication. Those who have replied, Mr. Parker said, had answered all questions in the affirmative.

Judge Roland requested the association to aid Ranger in getting some state official or other speaker to visit Ranger and address the local organization, as many of those people did not understand the object of the organization, but if addressed by one familiar with the intents and purposes of the movement that it would stimulate the local and add new members. He was given the name of J. T. Newsum, state organizer, who would be glad to visit Ranger and address those people.

This was the last meeting of the county association to be held before the primary election, the date for the next regular meeting being next Saturday, it was voted to hold the coming session at Eastland August 6.

"Truth is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, July 24.

The golden text is from Isaiah 65:16. "He who blesseth himself in the earth shall bless himself in the God of truth; and he that sweareth in the earth shall swear by the God of truth."

Included in the passages to be read from the Bible is the following from Deuteronomy 32:4: "He is the Rock, his work is perfect: for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he."

The service also embraces citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy; among which are the following from pages 297 and 272:

"A belief in Truth is better than a belief in error, but no mortal testimony if founded on the divine rock . . . The spiritual sense of truth must be gained before Truth can be understood. This sense is assimilated only as we are honest, unselfish, loving, and meek."

FEDERAL BUILDING.

A letter from F. A. Blankenbecker to the chamber of commerce gives a ray of hope for the construction of the Cisco federal building. Quoting a letter from John Philp, fourth assistant postmaster general, in which Philp stated he had been advised that the postoffice projects already authorized would be started, within four months. The Senate appropriation committee had been instructed to exclude the item for federal buildings from any reductions that might be made on the postoffice and treasury appropriation bills for the next fiscal year. If these instructions are carried out the treasury department will be able to go right ahead letting contracts for all buildings for which appropriations have already been made, which includes the Cisco building, Mr. Philp stated.

CITIZEN EDITORIAL-

were according to law, and at variance with the customs of most county officials, and were more in criticism of our own county than of the officials of our neighbors, as

Eastland county officials have not in the past observed this publicity required by the state laws.

Judge Carpenter requests the Citizen to give publicity to an article appearing in the Baird Star, on the subject, which we gladly do.

However, the tempest that seems to have started from an editorial in the Citizen demonstrates that the Citizen's influence is felt beyond the borders of Eastland county, and that the Citizen's editorials are read and digested, even beyond the confines of our own local circulation.

On the subject the Baird Star says:

"In reference to the article, 'Confiding In The Tax-Payers' clipped from The Cisco Weekly Citizen and published by request in the Baird Star last week, I wish to say to the readers of the Star and the public generally, that I have been informed that some construe it to mean the Commissioners Court of Callahan county have not been complying with the law in having the Quarterly Financial Report published—but, this is not true, as the Commissioners Court of Callahan county have published the Quarterly Report each quarter in the Baird Star for many years.

"I make this statement as I do not wish anything to run in the columns of The Star that will cast any reflections upon County Judge J. H. Carpenter and Commissioners J. W. Hammons, S. S. Harvelle, C. E. Bray and G. H. Clifton, who have been most faithful and efficient duties.

"The records of the county are open to the public at all times and any one is at liberty to see them and all finances of the county are audited up to date."

CALHOUN OR ALLRED...WHICH?

56 per cent of the State's revenue from taxation is derived from taxes levied on properties and products of the oil industry. If this industry is demoralized these taxes must come from other sources; thus every owner of property in the State is threatened.

In striking at Eastern capital, Allred apparently loses sight of the many thousands of comparatively small stockholders of oil companies who are Texas' citizens. The number of Texas' citizens owning these oil stocks is estimated at 150,000.

Over $800,000.00 in attorney's fees would go to the Travis County Attorney and his associates instead of into the State's Treasury, along with the fines collected, if the suits are successful, by reason of Allred's having called in the County Attorney. Why didn't he leave the County Attorney out and put all the money he may collect into the State's Treasury?

Quaker State Oil Company, a Pennsylvania concern, pays no taxes in Texas; was permitted to pay a $12,000.00 or $14,000.00 fee to Allred's former law partner to assist Allred in the oil ouster suits. This gave Quaker State Oil Company, through the authority of the Attorney-General's office, an unfair advantage of the tax-paying companies being sued and makes it look like "Quaker State Oil Company v. These Defendants" instead of "State of Texas v. These Defendants."

Woodrow Wilson sponsored the federal trade commission. Purpose, to bring industry and government closer together, to prevent unfair business methods and uphold the law—not to encourage violation of the law.

A "Code of Ethics" was promulgated for 130 different lines of business during the last thirteen years—129 lines other than oil.

15,800 marketers of petroleum in the United States have subscribed to the petroleum code of ethics.

Allred is the only Attorney-General in the forty-eight states of the United States who has asked for forfeitures of charters in connection with the code of ethics.

The United States Department of Justice approved the code before its sanction by the Federal Trade Commission.

Attorney-General Pollard and Attorney-General Bobbitt, after the matter was submitted to them, found no fault in the petroleum code of ethics before it was subscribed to by these defendants.

Allred Is Trying to Kill the Goose that Lays the Golden Egg. Why?

Nothing but a large aggregation of capital could build huge refineries and pipe lines like we have in Texas.

If signers of petroleum marketers code of ethics have violated Texas' laws, so have all other industries where there is any association or organization to promote clean, fair, business methods.

Texas' petroleum marketers adopting code of ethics were led by Roy B. Jones, Panhandle Refining Company, Wichita Falls, Texas. It was not introduced by the major units.

92 Texas' marketers accepted the code. Why are only 11 now being sued? The oil companies in Wichita Falls, Allred's home, were not made defendants. Details of code of ethics are set out in "The Texas Weekly," issue, January 16, 1932.

The Attorney-General in Texas is the only man who can bring suit for the state. Power to destroy is in Allred's hands and has been invoked to the extreme extent of the power. Why didn't he first ask for a discontinuance of any practices in code of ethics to which he objected or limit his suits to fines only? Objectable practices could be enjoined, therefore, where was the necessity for demanding complete ouster? Was there ever a clearer case of making political capital of a possible technicality in the law to the detriment of all of the people in the state?

Hundred's of Texas' banks are holding oil companies' stock as collateral for loans, most of which cannot be paid if the companies whose stock involved are ousted.

If the death penalty is inflicted, the companies involved must be either completely padlocked for five years or their assets broken up, thrown on the market and sold piecemeal, according to Texas' laws. The effect on the value of property owned by everyone will be an unwarranted depreciation.

528,000 Texas people are supported directly by the oil industry, excluding stockholders.

Out-of-state capital, if destroyed in this instance, will avoid Texas as to oil as well as other lines of industry, and development of the state will be seriously retarded. Mississippi is a good example.

Code of ethics has nothing in it concerning price-fixing. No restraint of trade. No unfair advantages. It is merely a set of fair trade rules.

The oil industry has been made a political football for years. Prosperity of state has suffered thereby. Instead of swatting a rich Easterner, Allred's blow will hurt the corner groceryman in Texas more.

Texas' refineries manufacture 24 per cent of the nation's petroleum products. The oil industry is leader in Texas, outstripping cotton.

Five-sixths of the petroleum products manufactured in Texas are sold outside of the state, thus bringing into the state a vast amount of outside money.

80 per cent of the tonnage, through Texas' ports, is petroleum and petroleum products.

Expenditures in Texas by oil industry during 1930, $698,654,000.00; value of all Texas' farm crops in 1930 was only $434,512,000.00.

$45,000,000.00 in royalty oil was paid to Texas' land owners in 1930.

Lease bonuses, paid to land owners, same year, amounted to $25,000,000.00.

Lease rentals, paid on Texas' leases in 1930, $8,750,000.00

Oil industry's contribution to state's tax revenue, $12,000,000.00; $15,000,000.00 in local taxes. Gasoline taxes, $33,000,000.00, total, roughly, $60,000,000.00.

The oil industry, by carrying the biggest tax burden, educates most of Texas' children.

Clem Calhoun does not propose to ask for charter forfeiture and complete ouster of the companies being sued. He realizes that the entire population of the state would suffer greatly by such result. He is deserving of our vote for the reason that he has the welfare of the people at heart, while it is evident that Allred is not considering the welfare of the state and its people in bringing these suits.

The argument may be presented that since the new Attorney-General does not take the office until January 1, 1933, Allred will try these suits regardless of whether or not he is re-elected and that voting for Calhoun will not remedy the situation. On the other hand, distinct disapproval of Allred at the polls in July will acquaint him with the wishes of the people and it is hoped that if he is defeated, suits will either be dropped or modified to the extent of not asking charter forfeiture.

At first thought it may appear to some that the ouster of the 11 companies now being sued or the 92 companies involved will only temporarily demoralize the oil industry in Texas and that it would later right itself and go on as before without permanent damage to the state, but this is not true. If the major units in the industry at present should be driven out because of a minor legal technicality, any other aggregation of capital from either inside or outside of the state would dare not risk the huge investments required to maintain large scale operations of refineries, pipe line, and oil wells.
