Friends of Cecil A. Lotief Urge His Re-Election on Saturday for Second Term

TO THOSE WHO WANT A NEW AND A SQUARE DEAL

Free government will be a lost art unless the common man bestirs himself and sees that only those who are loyal to the people are elected to the legislature of Texas. Too long have the people been betrayed by "retainer" attorneys. As our flatorial representative says: "you can't serve two masters." The Master Christian has said: "You will love one and hate the other." In the past it is the clients of these "retainers" who have won the love of many whom we have sent to Austin as our representatives, so when we have found a man unwilling to accept the tainted money of the special interests, but has demonstrated that he is not for sale, nor willing to betray his constituents at home by accepting the hospitalities of the oily lobbyists by being a guest at their social functions, where liquor and fast women are lures to effect his downfall, if we do not continue him in office we do not deserve to have an honest man as our representation.

We know that Cecil A. Lotief, representative from the 107th flatorial district, composed of Callahan and Eastland counties, is loyal to the people, don't you think we should be bored for the simples if we experiment by defeating him and electing one whose present lean is toward the special interests? This is no time to indulge in an experiment with an untried man. Let's stay with the man who has proven his loyalty to his constituents, whose every act during his first term as our representative has been in the interest of the people. To do otherwise would be folly. True, Lotief has not accomplished his full program, but many of his reform measures were fought through the lower house by Lotief, but were killed in the house of the "retainers," the Texas senate.

Not A Bribe Taker

Lotief has turned his back on thinly veiled bribe offers which would have enlarged his bank account and improved his living conditions while at the state capital, all of which he firmly declined, preferring his modest boarding house to the luxurious hotel apartments placed at his disposal. The invitations extended him to be the guest at swell social functions, attended by fair but fast women, who served the beverage that has made many a man forget his marital vows, were no lure for Lotief. A less conscientious man might, and many would, have taken these invitations as compliments, but not Lotief.

Aside from the proven loyalty, and impeccable character that Lotief has demonstrated, it is an honorable custom of Democrats to re-elect a faithful official for at least his second term. No man sent to the legislature can accomplish as much during his first term as is possible in succeeding terms. If he has been true to his constituents, and so remains, the longer you keep him in office the more efficient he becomes. The Democratic custom is to retire only unfaithful servants the second term. No man can truthfully say that Lotief has been unfaithful to his constituents or his oath of office.

Don't Know What the Other Will Do

We can never tell what the other untried fellow will do. His past life may be seemingly upright, but most men have their weakness, and strong men fall, when the agents of the special interests locate that one weakness. It is not always money—but place and position are tempting to ambitious men. So let's stick to Lotief, a man whom we know that money won't buy; a man whose domestic life has never been questioned, whose marriage vows are still sacred to him, therefore the charm of a woman's eyes has no attraction for him; a man who doesn't indulge in intoxicating liquors, therefore the wines the special interests pay for does not tempt him. This is true despite the libelous statements of those who would work his undoing. Those who have sought to damage him have caused to be circulated "that he serves strong drink at his home and Mrs. Lotief acted as bar tender." The fact that those who circulated this malicious lie knew it was not true did not deter them in resorting to such unprincipled practices in their devilish attempt to assassinate his character. They showed no respect or decency for a virtuous wife and devoted mother. Had she been guilty of the charge, in comparison to this character assassin she would be a paragon of purity.

It is gratifying to know that the man whose friends sought such low and hellish means to destroy Lotief has already been repudiated by the voters of the two counties, and he is not even being considered as an opponent of Lotief except by the tools of

Thomas Ravenscraft Funeral Rites Held Thursday Afternoon

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the Long Branch cemetery for the late Thomas H. Ravenscraft, who died at his residence 910 West 18th street, after an illness of several months duration. A short service was held at the home before the body was removed to the Long Branch cemetery for burial by the Rev. J. S. Stockard and Walter L. Boyd.

Pall bearers were Frank Coats, J. M. Flournoy, E. Garverick, H. C. Henderson, Jim Porter and Cecil penn.

For the past 25 years Mr. Ravenscraft had been a resident of Cisco, after his removal from the city from his native state of Arkansas. Most of the time he has lived here he had been engaged in the grocery business, operating suburban stores, and was well known to most of the older residents of this city.

His widow, two children and a grandchild survive. A son, E. Ravenscraft, resides in New York state, and a daughter, Mrs. Era Purcell, lives at Shamrock, Texas.

Mrs. John Shertzler, and daughter Lillian, departed for Santa Monica, Calif. Wednesday afternoon.

GRADY OWEN

Wants The Second Terms As

District Attorney

THE RECORDS SHOW:

1. That he has tried a greater percentage of the cases and secured a greater percentage of convictions than any other District Attorney.
2. That he has had fewer reversals, only one case that he tried having been reversed by the Court of Criminal Appeals, and that on a technicality.
3. That no indictment he prepared has ever been held defective by any court.
4. That law violations have been reduced more than one-half.

He is grateful for your support two years ago, and will greatly appreciate your vote and influence for the second term.

MADE OVER GARMENTS USING FOUNDATION PATTERN

Attractive dress at little cost made from an old linen duster brought out of the attic. The foundation pattern (individually fitted patterns) was used. Mrs. Louis Pitcock, clothing cooperator of the Ranger Co-Workers home demonstration, says do not throw away the old garments and do not waste good material by cutting small garments out of the larger ones. The duster was sent to Mrs. Pitcock by her mother to make into a suit for one of the boys, but the material looked good and the foundation pattern was brought out and placed on the material and found to work out for a dress. Mrs. Pitcock dyed the material at a cost of ten cents. With the well fitted pattern, no extra material was needed to cut away when fitting the garment and by this the dress was cut from the duster and all the material used. Buttons were cut from another dress that had been discarded. "I have an attractive dress and an inexpensive one and can buy material for suits cheaper than for a dress and with the help of the foundation pattern I have saved money."

THINGS TO DO NOW ALONG THE GARDENING LINE

Take a hose and cut all burned vegetables from the garden, as diseases are harbored on these plants and are certain to cause trouble next year. Plow the garden shallow to prevent summer weed growth, then lay low and wait for the fall rains for planting the late summer or fall garden.

If your tomatoes are producing well but the weather is still dry, build an artificial brush arbor over two dozen plants and keep them watered every other day. One of the leading gardeners in Brazos county put a shade over his tomato plants and it worked satisfactorily. Simply drive down some stakes 4-5 feet in height, tack some poles across the top of the stakes, and lay brush, weeds, or any other type of material that will allow circulation of air but will provide shade from the extreme rays of the sun during July and August.

Remitting Penalties Show Incentive for Larger Tax Payments

AUSTIN, July 18—When the state and county delinquent taxes that were paid in Texas during the past tax year which closed June 30, shall have been totaled, the amount will be far in excess of that of last year, it is indicated by reports that have been received from time to time by the semi-weekly Bond Buyer's Bulletin of The University of Texas during the last several months. It is regarded as assured that all previous records of such payments were broken during the twelve months just closed. In many counties the delinquent tax payments were in the aggregate several times the total of such payments during the preceding year. There also has been a large increase in current collections.

These increases of tax income of the state and counties may be attributed to the law passed by the last legislature which remitted penalty and interest on past due taxes if paid within a given time. Also, the payment of a considerable volume of taxes was made possible by the HOLC loans to home owners. There is little evidence to justify any statement that the unusual record of tax payments during the year was due to any improvements in business conditions, except possibly among the farm owners who have profited by government payments on retired cotton acreage.

The counties of Texas enter the new tax paying year in better financial condition than for several years past. The administrations of these political subdivisions are, in most instances, pledged to a continuation of the policy of economizing in expenditures in every possible way. Many of the counties have placed their indebtedness on a better basis through refunding issues, thereby lowering interest rates and sinking fund requirements. They have been relieved, through the operation of the Board of County and District Indebtedness, of a considerable part of their bond indebtedness; and during the calendar year 1935, the state will afford the counties still further relief in this respect by increasing its participation in the payment of road bond principal from the present 30 per cent to 50 per cent.

It is too early to make any reliable forecast as to what changes may be made in county tax rates for the current tax year, most of such rates being fixed in August, but it is expected that, in the face of their improved financial condition, there will be no need for increasing the existing rates, and possibly, they may be lowered in a number of instances. This condition also applies to assessed property valuations.

County budgets for the new year are now being considered. It is indicated that the estimated expenditures will be based largely on the improved tax collection situation. Of course, it is not known what the legislature at its coming special session in September and the next regular session, which will be convened in January, may do in the way affording further relief to ad valorem taxpayers, but it is anticipated that whatever is deemed necessary along this line will be done.

CARE IN THE USE OF GLASS JARS

Jars are easily broken when hot and care must be taken when removing them from the cooker. Always let the pressure go down to zero, by letting the cooker set off the stove, and then the contents of the jar will be hot and the air striking it will often break the jar and your trouble and products wasted. Another precaution, when you take the jars out, set them on a cloth on the table and this will help prevent breaking. The difference in the temperature of the jar and the table often causes the jar to break, then there may be a little water on the table and the jar set on this will cause a break. Mrs. Floyd McCormick, farm food supply cooperator of the Bass Lake home demonstration club gives this advice to help others when canning in the pressure cooker, using glass. More glass is being used this season, because the families have the jars and are not able to buy new cans.

DR. MILES' ANTI-PAIN PILLS

Would Aid Farmers

MAURY HUGHES

Votes of farmers who realize the logic of his platform will put Maury Hughes into the run-off in the Governor's race his friends declare.

Speaking Saturday night in San Angelo Mr. Hughes declared that "agriculture was saved from bankruptcy by the farm policies of our President."

Mr. Hughes, in his campaign, has declared himself strongly for the President's policies, and has insisted that the President "needs behind him Governors and legislators of unselfishness and courage who will help him to bring about a complete recovery."

"When Franklin D. Roosevelt took office," he said, "cotton, oats and wheat were selling at less than the cost of production. Cotton was more than doubled in price. Oats have jumped from 15 to 40 cents per bushel. Wheat brought 25 cents and now sells for three times that amount."

"Not only has his farm policy brought higher prices, but Texas farmers have been paid $75,000,000 in his crop reduction campaign."

"If I am elected Governor I shall champion any piece of constitutional legislation, proposed which will guarantee to the farmer the cost of production and a profit."

"Under the new deal, the wealth of this nation is to be redistributed. In that process, it must go to the grass roots, because the agricultural industry is the backbone of our economic life."

Think Seriously Before Voting

In practical politics there are just two sides, or two forces contending for control. There are just a few on one side, but they are very shrewd and have lots of money. The forces on that side are composed of the millionaires of "big business" and a great many smaller fry on the pay roll who must do the bidding of Wall Street, or they will lose their jobs. Unfortunately, there are always a lot of lawyers, and men not lawyers, who are willing to serve them for the money there is in it.

For many years past Wall Street has, by a vast system of monopolies, taken all the profits of industry to themselves and in this way they have drained the money out of the country and piled it up in the big banks of Wall Street. They have also been able to shift the tax burden from their shoulders to the shoulders of the average man.

Congressional investigations revealed that men with millions of dollars income were paying no income taxes; and here in Texas monopolies pay about 2-5 per cent of their net income in taxes, while the average citizen during the same time had no net income, and therefore some could not pay their taxes at all.

In this great state of Texas with natural resources second to none, where it is said we produce too much of everything, there is no excuse for bread lines, relief camps, government doles, delinquent taxes, foreclosures, hunger and suffering for the lack of food and clothing. The fault is in the unfair distribution of profits. The monopolies, through their lobbyists at Washington and Austin, manage to make the laws so as to favor them and permit them to take all the profits out of industry; and let you pay the taxes to support the government which they manage.

Bright fellows, we are to let them do it.

How do they do it? It seems to have been easy enough in the past. They pick out some oily tongued politicians who are able to get the people divided on minor questions, and make you think they are with you on your pet issue, and when the election is over you find that the man the monopolies want is in the office.

We have several men running for governor, lieutenant governor, and attorney general who have official records at Austin, and you can easily learn how harmoniously they have worked with "big business," and how completely they forgot you when they went into office, if you take the trouble to look up that record. Have you done that?

We have running for governor, Tom Hunter, whose every act, public or private, shows that he is of the Jim Hogg type of man. He has a plan to take the government of Texas out of the hands of the monopolies and restore the natural resources of the state to the people and make these big corporations, which have been taking excess profits out of our state, either be satisfied with reasonable profits, and pay their share of the taxes, or get out. His platform is fair and just, and no one should want anything else. Those who know Tom Hunter all his life say that he will do just exactly what he says he will do too.

Fellow citizens, let's put him in. See that your neighbor goes to the polls and votes for the best interests of the people.

Political Adv

The Daring Young Man Of The Flying Trapeze

Allred, candidate for governor, is playing every string on the fiddle in the hope of fooling the people and gaining the highest political seat in the state.

Allred is an adept at playing all the strings on the fiddle at one time.

In 1930 he formed a hook-up with James E. Ferguson and was swept into the office of attorney general by a large majority. (This alliance cannot be denied.)

His principal plank was: "Elect ME and I will make the big oil interests and the chain stores walk the chalk line."

Ross Sterling, former head of the Humble oil company, slipped in as governor at the same time Allred (with Ferguson's backing) went in as attorney general.

Dapper Dan Moody left the governor's office and became general attorney for the Harry Sinclair Oil company.

The big oil companies continued to dominate the oil business and shape other important legislation at Austin—and Mr. Allred sat supinely by.

Allred bothered them so little that today he is being backed for governor by the Moody-Sterling-Humble-Sinclair political machine.

They are probably furnishing the money that is being spent so freely by Allred on daily radio broadcasts and otherwise. He is spending at least $1,000 per day in the effort to become governor!

Nevertheless, his slogan today is: "Elect ME governor and I will annihilate the oil octopus and (as a bone to prohibitionists) keep the state dry." Keep the state dry! YE GODS!!!

Remembering that this "daring young man of the flying trapeze" did absolutely NOTHING to embarrass the oil octopus or to keep the state dry during his four years as attorney general, we do not believe level-headed people will cast a vote to make him governor of this great state.

It is time for Texans to wake up!

This sort of chicanery, this sort of double-dealing, has almost wrecked both state and national governments. Vote for Witt, McDonald, Hughes, Hunter or Small on election day, but DON'T waste your vote on the "daring young man of the flying trapeze."

He will show his full strength in the first election and, should he enter the run-off will be eternally smothered by the avalanche of honest votes piled up by his opponent.—San Angelo News.

INTEGRITY

William McCraw is the type of man that Texans can place faith and confidence in with perfect assurance of his worth. He is the only man that the people of his county ever elected to three terms as their District Attorney. He was never defeated. No class, cult or clique ever influenced him in public service. There were no back doors to his office as District Attorney—he could not be "reached."

The unexpected audit of the books of all Dallas County officials found his books "correct"—thousands of dollars of the people's money had been honestly handled.

All this insures that Texas will combine unquestioned and proven integrity with demonstrated ability.

He favors and will support a law that will compel all corporations to render their property according to their incomes; to tax notes, mortgages and deeds of trust now held against homes and real estate. These securities are not being rendered for taxation at all.

Lotief stands for better rural schools of a minimum session of seven months, fair salaries for teachers, and to make this possible Lotief voted the increased rural school aid bill. He also voted for and supported the moratorium bill that saved hundreds of homes in Eastland and Callahan counties from being confiscated.

Lotief introduced and supported the Lotief Utility Bill No. 337, that would have prevented privately owned utilities from bankrupting municipal and independent utilities. This bill Lotief passed through the house, but it was killed in the senate which had it been allowed to pass would have settled the utility problem for all time.

He has served his district with honesty and fidelity. If you value and appreciate an independent representative of the people, one not seeking favors of the special interests, you will vote for for a second term, who will serve you with the same loyalty and fidelity. He is clean.

Further Discussion of Scranton School Affairs Published

To the Citizen:

The Cisco Daily News contained a purported statement of the status of Scranton Consolidated school district, signed by my good friend, J. D. Pittman, former chairman of the board of the Scranton school district. I will greatly appreciate space in your paper to give some of the facts relative to the present status.

Mr. Pittman says "there has been some controversy concerning the Scranton school district." Yes, we are aware of that fact, and in all probability there will be a great deal more "controversy" before Nimrod and Dan Horn go back into the consolidation.

The Eastland County Board of Education, after careful consideration, saw fit to rescind their former action, and placed us back in our former status, which act was greatly appreciated by both Nimrod and Dan Horn, and for which we are deeply grateful.

This act was perfectly satisfactory to both Dan Horn and Nimrod, but it seems that our county superintendent was rather peeved at the action of the board, and attempted, or is attempting to override the action of the County Board and has appealed to the state superintendent, who has set aside the action of the board, for the time being, and compelled Dan Horn and Nimrod to appeal from his ruling to continue in the Scranton consolidated district over the protest of 75 to 90 percent of the patrons of Dan Horn and Nimrod.

Had the county superintendent accepted the verdict of the county board, and consented to the divorcement of Dan Horn and Nimrod, there would have been no "controversy" in regard to our school matters.

As the matter now stands Scranton is now without a legal school board, while Dan Horn and Nimrod trustees have been appointed as the law provides, and are now functioning under the direction of the county board. In this connection I want to say that the trustees of Dan Horn and Nimrod have acted in good faith, and have already employed teachers for the ensuing year, the contracts with these teachers are now on file with the county superintendent.

In further compliance with their offices the trustees have made arrangements to transport high school pupils to Cisco, by providing school buses to convey pupils from their homes in the Dan Horn and Nimrod communities, as the state law provides. I am informed that there is an effort being made to create the erroneous impression that Dan Horn and Nimrod will be unable to furnish this transportation.

From the published ruling of the state superintendent, evidently based upon wrong information, it seems that he was under the impression that the withdrawal of Nimrod and Dan Horn leaves the Scranton district only as the component territory of the consolidation, while as a matter of fact Haskell, which was taken in as part of the Scranton consolidated school, is still a part of the consolidated district. In this regard the State Superintendent's ruling, so prominently quoted by Mr. Pittman, shows Superintendent Wood's ruling to favor the contention of Nimrod and Dan Horn. To quote the ruling of Superintendent Woods in part:

"The County Board has the authority to detach Nimrod and Dan Horn, provided two or more districts are left in the consolidation."

This is the case when it is seen that both the Scranton and Haskell districts are left in the Scranton consolidated district. Evidently Superintendent Woods is under the impression that Haskell district was placed with the Scranton district under a different act of the legislature, but such is not the case. Haskell was consolidated or grouped under the same provisions of Art. 2722, R. S. 1925, as was Nimrod and Dan Horn. Being a member of the county board at the time this action was taken, and being present on that occasion, I am perfectly familiar with the facts in the case. Our county superintendent knows the facts in this matter, and we feel that had he given us the consideration which we are justly entitled, and have a right to expect, harmony would have prevailed instead of misunderstanding. Instead he made it necessary for Dan Horn and Nimrod to go to the expense to appeal to the state board of education that justice may be dealt to these detached districts.

We wish to present all of the facts to Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston, Mass., holds services every Sabbath morning at 11 and each Wednesday night at 8. Testimonies on Christian Science healing may be given at the Wednesday evening meetings. Sunday school convenes at 9:45 a. m. All of these services are held in the Church edifice at the corner of Lamar and Plumer street.

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-

Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 29.

The Golden Text is: "Lead me in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my salvation; on thee do I wait all the day" (Psalms 25:5).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "... a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he" (Deuteronomy 32:4).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Truth is the intelligence of immortal Mind. Error is the so-called intelligence of mortal mind. . . . Truth is the light which dispels error. As mortals begin to understand Spirit, they give up the belief that there is any true existence apart from God" (page 282-283).

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

But as for me, I will come into thy house in the multitude of thy mercy; and in thy fear will I worship toward thy holy temple.—Ps.5;7.

"Jesus' prayer for all his brethren: Father, that they may be one, Echoes down through all the ages; Nor prayed he for these alone But for all, that through all time God's will be done."

Solomon in his beautiful prayer at the dedication of the temple prayed for the stranger, saying: "Then hear thou from the heavens, . . . and do according to all that the stranger calleth to thee for; that all people of the earth may know thy name." Jesus prayed that all mankind should know, and love, and worship the Father.—Susan F. Campbell,

"LORD FOUNTLEROY"

Logic and reason having failed him in his campaign for attorney general, the "ex-retainer" senator, the Hon. Walter Woodward, has departed from discussing the record of the Hon. Bill McCraw, his leading opponent in Northwest Texas, is now hunting for cover by resorting to an attempt to ridicule the red-headed Irish prosecutor opponent in what his publicity man terms a "a scornful" picture of McCraw in a recent tirade before an audience in Paris.

Because of his assertion that McCraw had participated on a "Little Theatre" stage in Dallas recently as "Little Lord Fountleroy in tight pink breeches, with ruffles," etc., he attempts to ridicule the district attorney as an amateur actor.

Woodward then draws a comparison of this picture to the "seasoned experienced attorney," which he pictures himself.

The voters will regard this as a cheap attempt to detract their attention from his own record of being in the employ of the Lone Star Gas Grabbers while supposedly serving his constituents in the Texas senate.

The "ex-retainer" senator would disqualify Bill McCraw because he may not have been admitted to practice before the higher courts of the land. One of the best and most conscientious attorney generals that ever served Texas, the Hon. James Stephen Hogg, as I remember, was admitted to practice in the higher courts after he had been elected attorney general. This admission is just a formal procedure.

Then Woodward pictured himself as a "small town civil lawyer for 25 years, addressing courts and juries in behalf of the average town business men and minor litigants," but failed to include the subsidiary of the Lone Star Gas Grabbers, the Coleman Gas and Oil Co., as among the "minor litigants." Nor did he mention his representing the Coleman Gas & Oil Co. while a state senator, which sought to prevent the little town of Santa Anna from installing a municipal gas plant.

Nor did this "seasoned and experienced lawyer"-legislator, mention being the author of the amendment to house bill No. 95, which so changed the statute so as to permit the stifling by privately owned utilities any efforts of cities and incorporated towns to put in municipal plants. Yet while picturing that "seasoned and experienced lawyer" in which he termed himself a "free lance, unfettered by outside influences or special interests" he challenged his critics to point to "a vote he had cast that was not in the interest of the mass of people." From this we must infer that he considered his amendment to house bill 95, "in the interest of the mass of the people." In other words this "ex-retainer" senator was protecting "the mass of the people" in preventing them obtaining relief from the greed of his clients.

I am also wondering if Senator Woodward was not one of the executioners who officiated at the obsequies in the senate committee of the Lotief bill, (H. B. No. 337) at the close of the regular session?

But his publicity man says he denies "vigorously that he has any connection with any special interests."

Again I am wondering if this disconnection is only a leave of absence, granted by his clients, to be resumed after his election?

Woodward's attempt to make anybody believe that the hard-hitting red-headed prosecutor is a sissy will fall as flat as does his denial of having been a "retainer" of the gas monopoly while serving as a senator in the Texas legislature.

McDonald On Last Wing Of Campaign Winds Up At Home

HOUSTON, July 23—C. C. McDonald, the administration candidate for governor, entered into the final week of his campaign Monday at a rally at Goose Creek, it was announced here by Senator Roy Sandeford, his campaign manager. Mr. McDonald spoke at 8 p. m. Monday at a rally sponsored by the Harris County McDonald for Governor organization, headed by John O. Douglas.

From Goose Creek Mr. McDonald and his party motored to San Antonio, where McDonald delivered an address Tuesday night. From San Antonio Mr. McDonald returned to Harris county for a speech Wednesday night in Houston.

Thursday night the candidate spoke at a McDonald meeting in Dallas. He will close his campaign tonight with a rally at Sulphur Springs. He plans to receive the election returns with Mrs. McDonald at their home in Wichita Falls.

Mr. McDonald is the only gubernatorial candidate who has consistently refrained from hurling mud at any opponent. When he entered the race early in the year he made a pledge that he would devote his time to explaining why he should be elected governor, rather than to attempt to tell why those of his opposition should not be chosen. With that pledge in mind, he has not at any time directed a disparaging remark at any member of the opposition.

JOS. W. BAILEY, Jr.
Candidate for United States Senator

Elect

Joe Bailey

Senator from Texas

and the plain people of Eastland County will have a real friend in the United States Senate. You won't have to get Amon Carter's or Jesse Jones' consent before you can get a government bureau in Washington to do its duty by you.

Political advertisement paid for by W. H. Kittrell, Jr., an old Eastland County boy, raised at Cisco, who knows what he is talking about.

To the Voters of Eastland County

On July 28th you are to cast your ballot to nominate a man to serve you as legislator for the 106th Legislative District. I am a candidate for that position and respectfully ask your consideration before you cast your vote.

I promise you if nominated and elected that I will give you honest conscientious service and believe that my life among you for more than fifty years in an assurance that promise will be fulfilled.

I am for keeping the tax burden as low as is possible consistent with the efficient administration of our state government. Am for maintaining our state school apportionment at $16.00 per capita.

I favor placing all county officials on a salary basis. I believe that our criminal laws should be revised so that criminals could be more promptly tried and at less expense to the state. I would favor a change in our pardon system that would relieve the Governor of this duty that more time might be devoted to matters of the state.

The insane are confined in large numbers in our jails because of lack of room at our hospitals and asylums this should be remedied so that these unfortunates could receive proper care and medical treatment.

A central bureau for the identifications of criminals should be established.

The criminal element is so well organized that it is difficult for local officers to handle the situation as to bank robberies, car thefts, etc., and I believe that it would be well to organize the Highway Patrol and Rangers into a state law enforcement body.

If elected I promise you a square deal for every one. No one should want more, or be satisfied with less.

If you will honor me with your vote I will certainly appreciate it and if elected will do my best to tender you efficient service.

A Naturalized American Citizen

"Lotief is a foreigner," they tell those whom they hope to prejudice against an honest man. "Oh, he's a Jew," is another false charge they hoped to put over. Lotief was born near the birthplace of the Master Christian, the immortal Jesus the Christ, and his father was a Baptist missionary, and himself a protestant. Lotief came to America when a youth, that he might enjoy the liberties of a free country, and is a naturalized American citizen, a thousand times more loyal than his traducers.

There was a political rally at Eastland last Saturday night, and even the Hon. Bob Gresham, we are informed, was bitter in his attack on this honest representative of the people, in his zeal for his favorite, the acting mayor of that city, D. L. Kinnaird, whose actions indicate his objective in being elected to the legislature may have been inspired for the purpose of serving the Lone Star Gas Grabbers—the monopoly that forced the people of Eastland to pay $1.50 per 1000 for domestic gas at a time when half that sum was more than a fair price.

True, Lotief is a naturalized American citizen, and no citizen of the United States can be "a foreigner," a fact well known to those who circulate this false statement.

Be he foreigner or native, Lotief is a better citizen, many degrees removed, than those character assassins who are resorting to such depraved methods to effect his undoing.

Texas today would be a much better place in which to live if we had more naturalized citizens, high class gentlemen of the Lotief type, and less character assassins and traducers of virtuous women, the type of those guilty of such low and degrading political devices.

The campaign closes tonight, so let's go to the bat with the hirelings of the Lone Star Gas Grabbers and give Lotief a majority over both of his opponents.

Lotief is a representative of the people and no tool of the special interests. The gas monopoly found this to be true when he worked to give the people of Cross Plains relief from the gas trust in a municipal gas system, which is a reason why the Gas Grabbers are seeking his defeat.

A vote for Lotief is a vote for your home and family. He stands for those things you have worked for, and cussed the "retainers" for betraying you.

Political advertisement, paid for by the friends of Lotief and honesty in our public officials.

Warm Reception Is Given Maury Hughes By Cisco Audience

Introduced by Will St. John, Maury Hughes, of Dallas and candidate for governor, spoke to one of the largest political audiences Monday night that has greeted any of the candidates who have visited Cisco during the entire campaign. A combination of three reasons may explain the large assemblage: The nearness of the close of the campaign; a local citizen, Will St. John being his West Texas manager, and the popularity of the candidate.

In introducing Mr. Hughes Mr. St. John gave a brief sketch of the candidate.

Throughout his address, Hughes was given the closest attention by his audience, which was generous in its applause. When he concluded the ovation he received indicated that he had made a favorable impression, and no doubt increased his following in this section.

The number who heard the candidate was estimated to be between 800 and 1000.

Eastland County on Emergency List of Drouth Relief

EASTLAND, July 25—Eastland county has been designated as an emergency drouth relief county, and the purchase of distressed cattle will begin within the next few days. County Agent J. C. Patterson and Administrative Assistant R. F. Lawrence will attend a meeting Saturday in Mineral Wells and receive instructions for handling the purchasing of cattle. It is presumed that the work will begin immediately thereafter.

There is no limit to the number of cattle that may be sold by any one farmer nor any definite information as to how long the purchasing will continue.

Those wishing to sell cattle under this plan should inform the county agent's office as soon as possible, listing the number of cattle owned and the number desired to be sold. This listing places the producer under no obligation to sell in case he does not care to accept the appraised value.

Prices to be paid, including the benefit payment, are $12 to $20, for cattle two years of age and over; from $10 to $15, for one to two, and from $4 to $8 for cattle under one year of age. The minimum price in each class is paid for condemned cattle. The purchase price is paid to the lienholder, if there is one, otherwise to the producer. All benefit payments go to producers. Cattle are appraised on the farm and delivered to shipping pens by producer when notified of shipping date. Condemned cattle are killed on the farm by veterinarians, producer being given the hide for destroying the killed animals. It is said that payment for cattle will be received in about two weeks after delivery.

R. F. Lawrence, Administrative Asst.

Let's Try A Rural Teacher for Next Co. Superintendent

To the Voters of Eastland County: I am making my last appeal for your support tomorrow. I have made a great effort to see each and every one of you but of course that is almost impossible. So I am using this method of telling you how very much I would appreciate your vote and influence.

I came to Eastland county in 1903. I lived nineteen years at Gorman and eleven years at Carbon. My education was obtained in the rural schools and Hankins Normal College. I began teaching in 1910. I have been teaching continuously since then with the exception of the time I served my country during the war.

As the larger portion of my life has been spent in the rural schools, I am sure I know rural schools and their needs. It is evident that there are certain needs peculiar to the rural school and that the curriculum should be built around those needs. The same curriculum is not exactly suited to both city and rural schools. This does not mean that there could not exist a fine spirit of fellowship and cooperation between them so that in transferring from one to the other the pupil would fit in to his environment with little hinderance to his progress.

We all agree that larger school units are more efficient. But I believe rural schools should be allowed the same freedom of action enjoyed by the larger schools. I believe these centers should be maintained by a majority of the people who live in them. These centers should be so made and maintained to best serve the boys and girls where they expect to live. This education should be adapted to their needs, and their community spirit should be built up and kept in tact in order to have a happy and prosperous people. In doing this you are helping to improve business conditions in general.

The office of county superintendent is primarily a rural job and should be filled by one who is in sympathy with and has a vision for a great system of rural schools. If I am elected your superintendent it shall be my aim to carry out these policies to the best of my ability. At the same time I want to give assurance that my office will at all times be at the service of the larger schools in helping in whatever way possible to solve their many problems.

I have never before asked for any public office. So lets try a rural school man just once and I assure you that no one will appreciate it more than I.

Yours truly,
Claiborne Eldridge.

Woman Club Leader Reports Hunter In Lead For Governor

The Citizen office enjoyed a pleasant visit from Mrs. J. D. Meredith, of Moran, while she was in Cisco Wednesday afternoon. This estimable lady is the wife of J. D. Meredith, well known independent oil operator, who is reputed to be the discoverer of the Moran shallow field. It is a well known fact that he brought in the first well in that territory that started the present development. It is probable that the Texas Company did some development on a small scale previous to the Meredith discovery well, which was the beginning of the boom Moran has been enjoying for several years.

Mrs. Meredith is not only prominent in the social, club and political circles of her home town, but is one of the leaders in the activities of the Woman's Federated Clubs of the state. She is a most enthusiastic supporter of the candidacy of Tom F. Hunter for governor, and is doing some valuable work in his behalf in Shackelford and adjacent counties.

Mrs. Meredith stated that reports had reached Hunter headquarters that he was leading in several of the larger cities and counties of the state where an impartial canvass of the vote has been made.

"Results of a cross section poll in 231 counties show that Hunter is either first or second in each of these counties. An editorial in the Beaumont Enterprise concedes Jefferson county to Hunter. The poll of the Temple Telegram of Central Texas

"Much of his indicated popularity is due to his blended tax plan to relieve real estate of the burden of taxes now placed on the homes of Texas. Altogether Hunter headquarters report satisfactory reports from every section."

Mrs. Meredith says everywhere she has worked Hunter popularity with the voters are indicated.

Ed T. Cox, chairman of the county Democratic executive committee for the past four years, was a caller at the Citizen office Tuesday. Mr. Cox is making the race for legislative representative from Eastland county, the 106th district.

Dick West has returned home from a visit of several weeks attending the Century of Progress at Chicago.

Misses Lucille Jensen, Veda Hayes and Helen Nichlas visited friends in Eastland Monday.

CAMPAIGNING FOR SON

George Davivison, Sr., of Eastland, prominent Eastland county citizen, was a pleasant caller at the Citizen office Tuesday. Also he came over to hear Maury Hughes talk Monday night. Incidentally he was here in the interest of the candidacy of his son, George Davivison, Jr., who is a candidate for representative in the legislature for the 106th district. George Davivison, Jr., is the youngest candidate aspiring for political preferment in the primary to be held tomorrow, but the young man, by close study and observation, has some mature ideas, and if he is the choice of the voters tomorrow, which also means his election, the Citizen predicts he will give a good account of himself among the members of the lower house.

Misses Helen Crawford, Pauline McClinton, Adele Anderson, and Bessie Pearce are spending the week-end in Austin, where Miss McClinton and Miss Crawford will attend the University of Texas next fall.

To the Voters of Precinct No. 4 Eastland County, Texas

There are a great many of you whom I have been unable to see personally, by reason of the fact that my duties have been occupying an unusual amount of my time during the past few weeks.

To those whom I have been unable to see, I wish to express my thanks for the courtesy, consideration and cooperation which you have extended to me.

I feel that your cooperation has made possible the success which I believe I have had during my first term, and I respectfully request that you give me your favorable consideration, support, and votes for my second term.
