

CISCO DAILY NEWS

CISCO, TEXAS—1614 feet above the sea; 5 lakes of water; 5 rail exits; 6 paved highway exits; 127 blocks of brick streets; good hotels; A-1 public schools and Randolph College; no mosquitoes; no malaria or typhoid.

EASTLAND CO.—Area 925 square miles; population 33,981; cotton, fruit, poultry, dairying, natural gas and oil; Cisco is headquarters for operators of the great shallow oil field; churches of all denominations.

VOLUME XIII.

CISCO, TEXAS, SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1932.

EIGHT PAGES TODAY

NUMBER 12.

FERCE JAP ASSAULT GAINS KIANGWAN

Oil Belt Committee Seeks Punitive Action on Cisco

EXCLUSION BY LEAGUE ASKED FOR ONE YEAR

A repercussion of the now famous "Hightower case" which involved the oil belt class A football district in an imbrolio precipitated by a Breckenridge protest of the ineligibility of the Cisco high school football team's quarterback for participation in the Breckenridge-Cisco game, rebounded from the committee at Abilene yesterday afternoon where the executive group of the district met to consider next season schedules.

The committee, Breckenridge and Cisco representatives excluded, unanimously passed a motion asking that Cisco be barred from the interscholastic league for one year. The punitive action took the form of a motion presented by Breckenridge, Supt. N. S. Holland made the motion, asking that the committee recommend to the state committee that Cisco, in view of the Hightower case, be excluded from the interscholastic league for two years. Supt. P. B. Bittle, of Eastland, offered to second the motion if Mr. Holland would reduce the requested penalty to one year, and Holland agreed.

Unanimous Vote.

After a discussion, both Cisco and Breckenridge representatives were excluded and a secret ballot revealed a unanimous vote for the motion. Holland, who is secretary of the committee, was instructed to communicate the recommendations to the state committee which will be done this week.

The meeting was ostensibly called to arrange schedules for next fall, but this business was pushed off the calendar by the Breckenridge motion. A meeting will be held at Eastland subsequent to whatever action the state committee takes with regard to the recommendation, when schedules will be arranged.

Breckenridge, the aggressor in this action, secured a forfeiture of the Breckenridge-Cisco game last fall in a meeting at Abilene, after completion of the season, following failure to obtain a forfeiture in a previous hearing at Cisco.

Prior to action upon the motion, Cisco representatives—Supt. R. N. Clark, Principal H. Brandon and Coach R. L. Jefferies—reported Saturday night. Chairman L. E. Dudley of Abilene and Supt. Woodward of Brownwood, declared that they were not in favor of the proposed action at this late hour, although Dudley said that he would have favored such an action if it had been sought when the case was up before.

Sympathy Expressed.

After the unanimous vote was taken, other members of the committee, the Cisco representatives declared, assured the Cisco group of their hope that the league did not exclude Cisco and also of their willingness to do anything in their power to prevent the action.

Supt. R. D. Green, of Abilene, told Coach Jefferies, the Cisco mentor reported, that he intended writing personal letters to the state committee in Cisco's behalf.

Supt. Clark declared that since the committee was bringing up this matter, he felt that they should review the situation in its entirety, and proposed that cases affecting both Breckenridge and Ranger players which came up last fall, should also be resurrected. His motion did so failed to receive a second, a situation which, to the minds of some Cisco fans, indicated the extent to which the plaintiffs in the Hightower matter had organized their forces.

The meeting had been summoned by Chairman Dudley, who, incidentally was re-elected yesterday afternoon, for the announced purpose of arranging schedules. Dudley said that he had received a request from Supt. Holland, also, for a meeting of the committee to "place the blame" in the Hightower matter.

Holland was re-elected secretary.

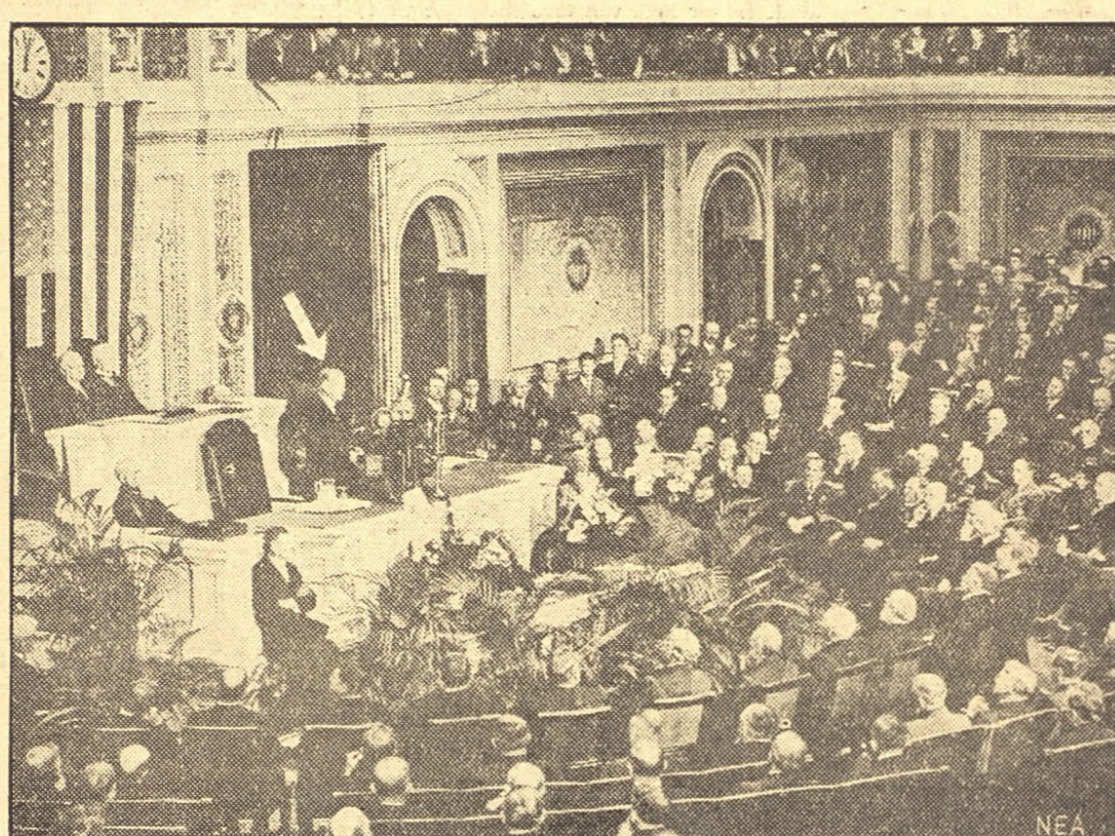

FATALLY INJURED BRECKENRIDGE, FEB. 27

W. R. Duncan, 43, was fatally injured here Friday night when an automobile, driven by L. L. Hooker, hardware store employe, struck a mule that Duncan was leading behind his automobile. Duncan died an hour after the accident which happened two miles south of here.

WEATHER

West and East Texas—Generally fair Sunday.

Hoover Honors Washington In First Congress Address

President Hoover, launching an all-year celebration of the bicentennial of the birth of George Washington, is shown here as he spoke before a joint session of the U. S. Senate and House, and recalled the prediction of Daniel Webster a century ago that "a hundred years hence, other disciples of Washington will celebrate his birth with no less of sincere admiration than we now commemorate it."

President Hoover (indicated by the arrow) faced not only members of congress, but supreme court justices, cabinet members, heads of military services and the entire diplomatic corps representing the world at large. Vice President Curtis and Speaker of the House Garner are shown sitting just behind the president.

TWO BROTHERS, BORN IN ENGLAND, MEET AFTER 45 YEARS AS ELDER VISITS HERE FROM CANADA

JOHN J. CLARK BURIED HERE ON SATURDAY

Funeral services for John J. Clark, 33, son of Dr. Randolph Clark, of Ranger, and a brother of Dr. Lee Clark, president of Randolph college, were held here Saturday afternoon from the First Christian church. Burial was in Oakwood cemetery.

Mr. Clark dropped dead from a heart attack, hastened by influenza, while at Rhone Thursday. He was there in connection with his duties as field representative of the Alta Vista Creameries.

The services were conducted by the Rev. H. B. Johnson, pastor of the First Christian church at Ranger, assisted by the Rev. E. L. Milley, pastor of the First Christian church here.

His widow and three children survive. The children are Mrs. Charles Nebitt, of Sherman; Miss Annie Lee Clark, teaching near Scranon and Joseph, an eight-year-old son.

Another son, at the age of seven years, was killed by a truck while Mr. Clark made his home here several years ago. At that time he and Mrs. Clark were connected with Randolph college, of which his brother is now president. The child was buried here and it was because of a wish to be buried beside his son that Mr. Clark was buried here.

J. C. Talley Hurt In Fall Saturday

J. C. Talley, who at an age of more than 80 years is daily seen on Cisco streets, walking to and from his home about two miles north, will be confined to his home for several days with an injury to his left hip which he sustained in a fall Saturday morning. The injury occurred while en route to his home from town about 9 o'clock in the morning. Its extent was not determined but a large swelling indicates that the muscle of his thigh is most affected. He can move the leg slightly but cannot stand.

A bump in the road caused him to slip, he said. He lay about 20 minutes before a passer-by picked him up and took him to his home where he was able to sit in a rocking chair Saturday.

ALL FISHING PROHIBITED IN CITY LAKES

Following a suggestion of State Fish Hatchery Supt. S. B. Wright, the city commission has decided to prohibit fishing of all character at both Lake Cisco and Lake Bernie during the closed season on game fish, it was announced today. A majority of the commission approved the move without a meeting.

This action has been taken to prevent disturbance of the game fish during the spawning season, it was announced. Although most fishermen observe the closed season without compulsion the hooking of the game fish cannot be avoided, it was pointed out. This disturbs the fish and even though the bass or crappie is thrown back seriously interferes with spawning. Often, Mr. Wright said in urging that the commission take such action, the hooking of one of these fish may mean the loss of thousands of fish that would otherwise be hatched to add to the stock of the lakes.

The commission was informed that many lakes stocked with game fish are closed entirely to fishing during the game season.

The commission, in announcing its action, requesting that all those having trot lines in Lake Bernie, as permitted, and bank hooks in either lake remove these before the first of March. The closed season covers March and April.

Two Killed in Arkansas Wreck

VAN BUREN, Ark., Feb. 27.—Two men were killed and seven others injured today when a Missouri-Pacific train was wrecked near here. Seventeen cars overturned.

The victims were riding in a freight car when the accident occurred.

One of the dead was identified as William Buchanan, of Ada, Oklahoma. The name of the second man was not learned.

CAN'T USE PULLMAN

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 27.—A circus giant, Jack Earle of Texas, who measures 8 feet, 6 inches from head to toe, can't jam himself into a Pullman berth. He sleeps on cots placed in the train aisle.

COUNTY STOCK SHOW MARKED WITH SUCCESS

Marked with a success that was expected, with large numbers of the directors, and others instrumental in staging it, the annual Eastland County Livestock show came to an end Saturday night after two days in which large crowds revealed a commendable community interest in the event.

Saturday was the banner day, as expected, with large numbers of people viewing the exhibits of beef and dairy cattle, sheep, goats and hogs. They were attracted also by the entertainment offered by the Parks Brothers novelty orchestra, including blackface numbers, which took place at 3:30 o'clock.

The same entertainers gave a program Friday evening at 7 o'clock which helped to swell the attendance. Exhibits at the show numbered approximately the same as last year which was regarded as an excellent showing in view of the bad weather. Indeed, the number of exhibits exceeded expectations, E. H. Varnell, director, declared.

Entries were received from Ranger as well as from Cisco and other points nearer at hand. The vocational agriculture clubs of both Cisco and Ranger entered project animals for exhibit, animals which will later be taken to Fort Worth for entry in the Fat Stock Show at that city.

Judging of the animals at the building on South D avenue, opposite the Bankhead Feed Mill, where the exhibits were housed, took place Friday afternoon by C. M. Evans, agricultural agent for the Texas and Pacific.

The lists of winning entries were announced by Mr. Varnell as follows:

- Beef Cattle.
- Aged Shorthorn bull, F. E. Harrell, first.
- Aged Hereford bull, L. B. Norvell, first.
- Aged Hereford bull, Geo. P. Fee, second.
- Bull under 2 years, Dr. F. E. Clark, first.
- Bull under 2 years, Dr. F. E. Clark, second.
- Bull under 6 months, Dr. F. E. Clark, first.
- Cow over 2 years, Dr. F. E. Clark, first.
- Heifer under 24 months, Dr. F. E. Clark, first and second.
- Heifer under 12 months, Bobbie Thurman, first.
- Steer, senior, Carl Stroebel, first.
- Steer, junior, F. E. Harrell, first.
- Champion male, Dr. F. E. Clark, first.
- Champion female, Bobbie Thurman, first.
- Champion steer, Carl Stroebel, first.
- Dairy Cattle.
- Bull under 18 months, J. V. Pilcher, first.
- Cow 2 to 4 years, A. Z. Myrick, first and second.
- Cow 2 to 4 years, Lee Farm, third and fifth.
- Cow 2 to 4 years, W. J. Poe, fourth.
- Heifer under 12 months, Lee Farm, first and third.

WILL ARGUE CUT-OFF PLAN WEDNESDAY

AUSTIN, Feb. 27.—Twenty-one delegations from all parts of the state are scheduled to appear before the state highway commission here next week in connection with state highway projects.

On Wednesday, the final day of the commission's session, a debate on proposed new routing of state highway No. 1 between Weatherford and Strawn is set.

Will Scott of the board of city development of Sweetwater, and representatives from Winters Monday will ask for a designation of highway No. 4 south of Sweetwater to join highway No. 4 at Winters and go on to Coleman.

NEW BOOK TO LIBRARY

A biography of Mary Baker Eddy written by Dr. Lyman P. Powell, rector of St. Margaret's Episcopal church in New York City, has recently been added to the Cisco Public Library, the contribution of Mrs. Olin Pierce, it was announced.

CISCO MAN STRIKES GAS AT 175 FEET IN DRILLING FOR WATER

H. H. Thompkins, 1600 West Fifth street, can probably claim the distinction of having drilled the shallowest gas well in this section, if not over a much broader area. The distinction was accidental in that Mr. Thompkins had no idea of striking a strong flow of natural gas at 175 feet in drilling a water well on his property to supply water for irrigating a truck and garden plot of three acres.

The well was drilled with a spudger machine using a four inch bit. It was successful in encountering a beautiful supply of fine, soft water which rose to a height of 100 feet in the hole. Wednesday while the well was being pushed down to a depth of 130 feet to insure an ample supply, a persistent bubbling and hissing issued from the casing head. The drillers dismissed the phenomenon as due to cavities that released a shower of pebbles from the sides of the "open hole" into the rising column of water.

But Mr. Thompkins, who had entertained a doubtful premonition of striking gas—jokingly remarking to Mrs. Thompkins when the well was started, that he would like to find a flow of it—had another idea. In spite of the skepticism of others at the well, he held a lighted match over the hole.

A column of flame as high as a man's head shot up.

Gas and Water.

The gas was found in the same sand as the water. But despite this the water, fortunately, did not taste of the gas and can be used without filtration. The gas was cased off and the well finished for water but Mr. Thompkins plans to utilize the gas, if it proves sufficient, in his home and perhaps in running a gas engine to pump the water for irrigating his truck plots.

Tests of the gas flow were to be made by E. J. Ezerman, Mr. Thompkins' gas engineer. The gas was found in a thick stratum of excellent coal. The stratum was ten feet thick. Mr. Thompkins, however, does not plan to exploit this mineral.

The gas is the first to be encountered in drilling a water well in Cisco, so far as is known. Another well drilled half a mile distant to a depth of 225 feet in which a good supply of water was found did not encounter gas, Mrs. Thompkins said.

The water obtained by Mr. Thompkins is soft and untainted and is sufficient in quantity to supply all their needs. The well is located on the rear of their lot just behind the garage.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompkins own their place. They have a new and modern home on a three-acre plot, well improved, and devoted to growing truck crops and chickens.

AL CAPONE'S CONVICTION IS AFFIRMED

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—The United States circuit court of appeals today affirmed the conviction of Al Capone on charges of income tax fraud.

Capone was convicted last fall and sentenced to 11 years in prison and fined $50,000. His attorneys appealed on the ground that the indictments were faulty.

Bandit Leader Slain In Battle in Hotel

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27.—Five bandits who attempted to hold up the fashionable Embassy club here early today, shot it out with employes and guests, leaving the bandit leader dead, three of the holdup men wounded and one guest and two employes injured.

T. Phillip Perkins, former British amateur golf champion who had been playing in a tournament here, was shot through the hip by one of the bandits who tried to escape by using him as a shield.

The member of the hold-up gang killed, reportedly from Chicago, was not identified.

George Myers, Tulsa, Oklahoma, and Gene Eckman, were the bandits seriously wounded. Another was wounded less seriously and escaped.

More than 75 patrons in the main dining room of the club at the time of the robbery, well past midnight, were thrown into a near panic when the masked bandits armed with sawed-off shotguns, pistols and rifles, entered from the kitchen.

Police J. C. Davis and Mack Oakford were among those ordered to "stick 'em up."

Two of the gang were left as guards in the dining room while the others went into the gambling room of the club.

The two left in the dining room apparently became frightened and started to follow their companions. As they turned Policeman Oakford fired.

In the gambling room more than 100 guests were lined up against the wall.

Lewis Named Poet-Laureate

DALLAS, Feb. 27.—Judd Mortimer Lewis of Houston, a widely known poet and columnist, was selected today by the legislative committee appointed to name a Texas poet-laureate.

Hoover Signs Bank Credit Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—President Hoover this afternoon signed the Glass-Steagall credit bill.

BOYS ADMIT PUTTING TIES ON R. R. TRACK

SEGUN, Tex., Feb. 27.—Clon Garcia and Nichols Medina, both 14 years old and sons of prominent Mexican families, near here, today were on probation in the custody of their parents after admitting placing ties across the Southern Pacific tracks here "just to have some fun."

The boys told Sheriff A. W. Sargent that on their return from a dance Monday night they laid three ties across the rails as a prank. A few minutes later the crack, Sunset Limited train thundered over the tracks. The engine near applied his brakes and slowed the locomotive to 60 miles an hour before the engine plowed into the barricade. The locomotive kept on the rails.

No charges were filed against the lads.

Gen. Wolters Denies Shoot to Kill Order

KILGORE, Feb. 27.—Brig. Gen. Jacob Wolters, commander of national guard-man in the east Texas oil field, today denied that troops guarding wells closed at Overton last night have been ordered to "shoot to kill."

"It is not true," said the general. "Soldiers on duty in this field are under orders to be governed by the same law that governs peace officers. That is to shoot only to protect life and property."

Will Be Candidate For Supreme Court

AUSTIN, Feb. 27.—District Judge W. C. Davis, of Bryan, who recently held that the Texas cotton acreage reduction law is unconstitutional, will be a candidate for the state supreme court, friends here were informed today.

FRESH TROOPS ARE POURED INTO BATTLE

By HERBERT R. EKINS
U. P. Staff Correspondent
SHANGHAI (Sunday) Feb. 28.—Copyright 1932—The Japanese army re-enforced by fresh troops battered a wedge into the center of the Shanghai-Woosung battle line today, occupying the village of Kiangwan after a week of bitter fighting.

The complete capture of Kiangwan which has been the center of some of the most severe fighting of the Shanghai campaign was not made without tremendous loss of life. The retreating Chinese leaving the town in flames behind them, were estimated to have lost at least 500 in killed and wounded. The Japanese casualties were not announced.

After a day of aerial artillery and infantry attacks in the Kiangwan-Tazang sector north of Shanghai a Japanese detachment commanded by Col. Hayashi entered the northwestern section of Kiangwan at 7 p. m. and established communications with the 35th regiment which for a week had occupied the eastern portion of the village.

The forces of occupation started at once burning shacks and outbuilding harboring snipers, clearing the way for the final assault on Tazang, a more important town to the west.

Both Sides Strengthened.

Both sides strengthened their forces for the renewal of the campaign, which promised to be long and arduous. The Japanese landed a force of 1,000 replacements preliminary to the arrival of their 11th division which will add nearly 10,000 men to their present estimated strength of 30,000 or more.

The Chinese were re-enforced by the highly prized troops of General Chang Kai-shek's 88th division, who moved in to replace the weary soldiers of the 19th route army in the Chapei sector, allowing the Chinese to withdraw to the rear after a month of the most strenuous fighting.

The situation appeared early today to be a stalemate with neither side holding any marked advantage after a full week of the much vaunted "big push" of the Japanese.

ABANDON HOPE FOR 36 MINERS IN EXPLOSION

POCAHONTAS, Va., Feb. 27.—Rescuers struggling to reach more than a score of miners entombed deep in the Boiesvine mine near here by an explosion which choked passages with slate tonight announced they had abandoned hope that the men were alive.

A district mine inspector announced a careful check revealed 36 men were locked in the shattered shaft and that hope had been abandoned of any life below.

Rescue crews were forced to withdraw to the surface for two hours at one time. Artificial means were used in an attempt to clear the stifling gasses from the mine. Coffee was served and the men ate sandwiches holding them in grimy fingers.

The officials of the company said there was no indication of the cause of the explosion. One theory was that powder was ignited.

Contest Winners Are Announced

Winners in the George Washington contest conducted through the Daily News last week were announced Saturday as follows: First prize of $3.

Jimmie C. Rominger, 409 West 18th Street, Cisco.

Second prize of $2: Dalia Surles, 904 West 6th Street, Cisco.

The winners may call at the Daily News offices where the prizes will be awarded.

THE CISCO DAILY NEWS

Phone 80.

Published By
THE CISCO PRINTING & PUBLISHING COMPANY.
304-306 D Avenue, Cisco, Texas.

MEMBER UNITED PRESS.
MEMBER ADVERTISING BUREAU.
TEXAS DAILY PRESS LEAGUE.

W. H. LA ROQUE.....Manager.
B. A. BUTLER.....Editor.
Entered at the Postoffice in Cisco, Texas, as Second Class Mail matter.

Publication Days: Afternoons (except Saturday) and Sunday morning.
Subscription Rates: Per month (delivered in Cisco), 75c. If paid in advance: Three months, $2.00, six months, $4.00; twelve months, $7.50.
Obituaries and Cards of Thanks, 10c per line; Classified, 2c per word.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of this paper will be gladly corrected upon being brought to the attention of the editor.

Any error made in advertisements will be gladly corrected upon being brought to attention of the publishers and the liability of this paper is limited to the amount of the space consumed by the error in the advertisement.

DAILY BIBLE THOUGHT

IMPOTENT MAN:—In God have I put my trust: I will not be afraid what man can do unto me.—Psalm 56: 11.

A ZOOLOGICAL SOCIETY.

The movement to organize a zoological society, similar to those in operation in other cities where municipal zoos are maintained, is gaining ground in Cisco. The purpose of the societies is to provide funds for the replacement of animals lost and to add others which have been lacking.

While such societies relieve the city of additional expense they serve the more important purpose of deepening community interest in the zoo. It is a recognized fact that we take but a small interest in institutions in which we do not have a part. Our attachment to a matter of community enterprise is measured with fair accuracy by the responsibilities we assume in connection with it. Consequently the proposed zoological society will serve to stimulate among the members of that society a more active concern for the zoo, resulting, naturally, in a better support and in an increase of its value to Cisco.

But the fact that the fund generated by the society will assist in lifting from the city much of the burden of maintaining the zoo is no small consideration. To what extent that relief is effected will be determined, of course, by the response of the citizens. Such has been the regard for the zoo during the years that it has been so zealously built up by Dr. Charles Hale, the chamber of commerce, Supt. John McCleskey and others, that the expectation for generous support of the proposed society is justified. The fees of membership have been determined upon a basis calculated to attract members rather than to supply the needed funds by means of large contributions from a comparative few. The purpose of this step is obvious, in view of the desire to stimulate a warmer general interest in the organization.

There is no need to argue for the value of the zoo. The only criticism that has been leveled in its direction has been criticism questioning the economy of the funds expended in its support. Those who have so questioned have honestly maintained a position they were entitled to take, and the Daily News is confident that if some means of lessening the costs to a point that will reconcile these views is successfully undertaken the institution, which is certainly an attractive feature of Cisco's municipal layout, will be rewarded with a unanimous support.

The zoological society opens the way to this prospect.

SPEAKING OF THE GLASS-STEGALL BILL.

Democratic leaders rightfully claimed to originating the Glass-Stegall credit expansion measure which has been passed by both houses of congress. Carter Glass is a democrat from old Virginia. Rep. Stegall is a democrat from old Alabama.

Speaker John N. Garner has his hat on straight. Speaking of the measure he said the legislation had been advocated by democrats for 30 years and had been opposed by the republicans and the Hoover administration until they finally saw that it was sound and that it was needed. Senator Joseph Taylor Robinson of Arkansas, minority leader, lifted his voice for credit for democratic congressional leaders and the party. He said and he truthfully said:

"On Lincoln's birthday, there moved out of the capital dozens of leaders representing the Hoover administration to make public addresses and throughout these addresses ran a common declaration that the president was being treated unjustly and appealing to the sympathy of the nation. I declare now that the criticisms of the president's course have come in large part from the adherents to the political party to which he belongs. We have been told from the beginning of the session that the condition of the country was such that politics should be adjourned and emergency measures should be advanced by common consent and that is exactly what has been done. And yet every day some republican orator tells the country that Mr. Hoover has saved the United States." Speaker Garner and Senator Robinson uttered great truths. They had messages coming to the American people. All the big battering rams who have been pounding the president and his policies are found in the republican organization. Hiram Johnson of California, Senator Borah of Idaho, Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, Representative McPadden of Pennsylvania, Representative Laguardia of New York, and hundreds of others who follow the republican flag have been the chief critics of President Hoover and his administration.

MONEY IN CIRCULATION.

The treasury department says more money was in circulation at the close of the year 1931 than during any period since October, 1920, a period of 11 years; that money in circulation at the close of 1931 was less than $50,000,000 below the high point of post war inflation October 1920. Most of the money in hiding is in bills, according to treasury officials, and these officials surmised that it is persons of comparative wealth who mainly have taken to hoarding. They say that in the 13 months ending with Dec. 31 there was an $808,000,000 increase in currency out in notes of $50 and above while the gain for $20 bills and below was $293,000,000. There must be a crossing of wires somewhere in the financial circles of Washington, or rather in treasury department circles. Why not tell the people the truth?

As a maker of commissions, the president has led all his predecessors. Now Speaker John N. Garner has given a blunt refusal to the endorsement of the presidential policy of new commissions or new departments of government. He demands a showdown and he calls for the complete annihilation of hundreds of commissions and bureaus which are costing the American taxpayers thousands of dollars annually. It is time for the ax to fall and the taxpayers to be given a run for his money.

Taking Steps!

AMERICAN PROSPERITY.

Col. Frank Knox, head of one of the many committees appointed by the president, is responsible for this nugget of news, "We cannot correct conditions in Europe. We can correct them at home. Only seven and one-half per cent of our prosperity is based on Europe. The rest of it is based right here in the United States."

Well, $11,000,000,000 American dollars have been loaned abroad since 1922. Will all this loaning correct conditions? Col. Knox says that only seven and one-half per cent of our prosperity is based on Europe. This indicates that Col. Knox must be painfully ignorant of the cotton growing industry in America and the part that cotton has played in keeping the balance of trade on the side of this republic. There is no demand to speak of for cotton in European countries. Why? Japan and China have been the largest buyers of American cotton since midsummer in 1931. Perhaps Col. Knox never heard of the cotton staple, never heard that it is the new money crop of the South and never realized that a very low demand in European countries for the staple pinches the pockets of millions of Americans.

SOVIET PICTURES WILL TURN TABLES ON HOLLYWOOD SETS

By EUGENE LYONS
United Press Staff Correspondent
MOSCOW, Feb. 27.—The tables will soon be turned on those Hollywood studios that depict allegedly Soviet life on California moving pictures sets.
Russian actors and directors are hard at work on a talking picture, which will depict American life as conceived by orthodox proletarian minds.
The film, scheduled for March release, will be called "Prosperity" and in line with the title will show the seamy side of economic life in the United States: Depression, unemployment, strikes, suicides, dishonest officials, treacherous labor leaders and other well-known ingredients.
If previous attempts to reproduce American in Russian cinema studios are any indication, "Prosperity" will be as true to American reality as are sensational Hollywood products to Soviet reality. Moscow's recence will in other words, completely satisfy poetic justice.

The central villain of "Prosperity" will be Vernon Roscoe multi-millionaire automobile magnate, cruel, greedy and a compendium of capitalist vices. He will be played by one of the country's best actors, Leonid Lezhidov of the Moscow Art Theater, and will consequently be made as compellingly villainous as art can make him.
When Roscoe's profits begin to diminish under the world crisis, he decides to take it out on the workers by cutting their wages. The workers, stirred to revolt by a Communist trade union, go on strike. All of the forces of American society — press, church, American Federation of Labor officials, government people — are then shown rallying to the cause of Roscoe's millions.
The combined onslaught proves too much for the workers. They are driven back to work and their

Canadian Proud Of No Crime Record

CANADIAN, Feb. 27. — The city of Canadian points to its record of no crime with pride.

In the last ten months, not a fine has been collected or assessed, and the city jail has no inmate.
Mayor Edward Fisher also is proud of the finances of the panhandle town and claimed its tax rate of $1 is the lowest in that section, with the exception of Amarillo.

The water, sewer and light plants all municipally owned, are operating at a profit.

"We are running a paying business, and avoiding doubtful investments," Mayor Fisher said proudly. "I doubt if there can be more than one or two other towns in the southwest that show such a healthy condition."

TEXAS TOPICS

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, Feb. 27.—Two railroad commission races instead of one suddenly became the year's prospect when Commissioner Pat M. Neff was elected to the presidency of Baylor university. That Governor Neff will take the place with the university he has served so long as chairman there was little doubt, as he delayed his answer. This was written before his acceptance or rejection had been announced.

Chairman C. V. Terrell of the commission has announced for reelection. Representative Ray Holder, Dallas; H. O. Johnson, Houston, and Roy I. Tennant, former board of control member, have entered the race against him. Representative E. T. Murphy of Livingston and J. W. DeWesse, former fire insurance commissioner, have said they intend to make the race.
Some of them may shift over to the new race.

Under the law, Governor Sterling will appoint a member to the vacancy. Dr. Beck, active in assisting the administration of the health side of martial law in East Texas, has been an active leader for the Sterling forces, and one of the strongest men in the senate. He is interested as an official in the conservation administration of the state, and his appointment would accentuate the commission's important duties concerning the oil industry.

Dr. Beck wanted to run for the railroad commission this year against Chairman Terrell, but decided against it because he wanted to remain in the senate to see that proper appropriations are made for his hobbies, the state psychopathic hospitals.

His appointment to the commission would give him an important advantage and possibly preclude any race against his election, though Governor Neff had opposition of Senator Nat Patton and others when he ran after appointment at Governor Moody's hands.

No unanimous was the belief that Dr. Beck will be the choice that no second guesses were found in a hurried survey about the capitol corridors.
A long step was made in the state's suit against 15 oil companies when the last four, three out-of-state Standard companies and the Shell Union corporation, came into court and filed answers under the decision of District Judge J. D. Moore that citation had been perfected against them.

A long fight remained in the preliminary legal attack upon the state's anti-trust statute.
The penalty and counter suit was filed attacking legality of the companies having subscribed to the oil men's code of ethics and marketing practices.
Judge Moore quickly overruled requests that some of the Standard companies be allowed to make special appearances solely for the purpose of debating the validity of the ruling bringing them into court. Motion to quash was also overruled, and exception taken. That put all the companies in court for all purposes, according to Attorney General Allred's view of the matter.

Political ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Cisco Daily News and Cisco American and Roundup are authorized to make the following announcements subject to the democratic primary election July 23, 1932:

For District Judge, 88th Judicial District of Eastland County: J. D. BARKER, B. W. PATTERSON.

For District Clerk: P. L. CROSSLEY.

For County Clerk: WALTER GRAY, W. C. BEDFORD.

Commissioner Precinct No. 4: L. H. QUALLS.

For City Commissioner: (Three to be elected April 5, 1932) J. H. STAMPS, W. R. SIMMONS.

Job Printing
REASONABLE PRICES
CISCO DAILY NEWS
CISCO AMERICAN and
ROUNDUP

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—One of the things that has made Speaker Jack Garner so popular in the House has been his willingness to let other members take such glory as they find in sponsoring bills.

He thinks too many bills are introduced and that there are too many laws. In 30 years here, he estimates, he has introduced about 60 measures, which is certainly a low record for such a long period.

Prominent members are often asked by outside groups to sponsor bills in which they are interested; some congressmen and senators are very keen about doing that. But, although Garner has often been willing to prepare bills, he has turned them over to others. In that way he has built up much good will among Democrats less influential than himself.

Represents 500,000 Persons

REPRESENTING a district of about 500,000 persons, the speaker, like all other members, sometimes has to introduce pensions and private relief bills. The only bill of greater import which he has put in this session is one which would cede the abandoned military reservation of Camp Eagle Pass to the city of Eagle Pass, which is in the Garner district.

"I think we could repeal about a third of our laws and the country would get along just as well," Garner says. "We have a lot of obsolete laws and there are many activities that could be cut out."

"Every law we pass means a certain additional expense, directly or indirectly. About 16,000 bills are presented here in the average Congress."

The great volume of bills consists of private measures—for the benefit, that is, of an individual, usually a veteran or his heirs. These are carefully scrutinized, but of course there is a liberal standing policy as regards all veterans.

More than 5000 bills have been introduced in the House already during this session and about 3700 in the Senate. Many of the Senate bills duplicate House bills.

There are more public bills this year than ordinarily because so many problems are in the public mind which evoke schemes to solve them by legislation.

The Busy Mr. Craff

MR. JOE CRAFF, congressman from Los Angeles, has introduced upwards of 400 bills, more than any other member of Congress. The vast majority are pensions and relief measures. It was one of Craff's minor bills which the House was about to pass the other day when it was suddenly discovered that the bill had been passed at the last session and the money paid to the beneficiary.

Tom Blanton of Texas had previously pointed out to the House that the "energetic and ambitious" Mr. Craff, on the first day of this Congress on which bills could be introduced, had put in 393 of them—one of which would take five billion dollars from the treasury for unemployment relief public improvements.

If other members had been as prolific, Blanton said, the House would have had 149,955 bills that day!

But of course the country's largest soldiers' home is in Craff's district and many old veterans go to California to spend their last days. And there are about 1,300,000 persons there, pending redistricting, which is a lot of folks to represent.

On the other hand, some representatives have introduced no bills at all, including Busby and Doxey of Mississippi, Clay Stone Briggs of Texas, Drewry of Virginia, Dierich and Granata of Illinois, Crump of Tennessee, Stokes of Pennsylvania and Wood of Georgia.

Sam Shortridge of California has been leading the Senate field. He had tossed in 201 bills prior to the holidays. Next were McNary of Oregon, 126; Walsh of Massachusetts, 108; Capper of Kansas, 92; Jones of Washington, 86, and McKellar of Tennessee 77.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—Unless the roof falls in on a party caucus or a fatal epidemic breaks out, it is reasonably certain that the Democrats will retain their control of the House in this Congress.

Recent deaths of two veteran southern members—Percy Quinn of Mississippi and Samuel Rutherford of Georgia—cut the Democratic majority from six to four and recalled the uncertain year after the congressional election of 1930 in which no one could be sure which party would organize the House until almost the eve of the present session.

Naturally, there has been some speculation as to whether further deaths might not yet bring the House to an absurd, chaotic condition in which, while in session, it couldn't ever tell whether the succeeding day would find it Republican or Democratic.

BUT it seems more likely that the Democratic majority will climb back to six and even increase beyond that number. After a congressman dies the governor of his state soon sets a date for a special election to be held within a very few weeks of the death. Quinn's successor from the seventh Mississippi district, for instance, will be chosen March 16.

If two of these other Democrats die in the meantime, will one or two Republicans, a remarkable violation of the law of averages will have occurred.

From the standpoint of party control, the important thing is that the deaths of southern congressmen only briefly affect the size of the Democratic majority.

Democrats are sure to be elected to take their places. And in this year of 1932, if the political trend is anything like that of 1931, no disposed Democratic member from any section of the country is likely to be succeeded by a Republican.

Consequently, it is almost unthinkable that a half dozen Democrats might disappear before at least some of their seats would be filled by other Democrats.

REPUBLICAN deaths are something else again. There are still many rock-ribbed G. O. P. districts, but what changed the House Democrats from a minority to a majority in 1931 was the fact that they elected successors to men whose seats had been Republican for years. In 14 special elections they held the seven Democratic districts at stake and captured four of the seven Republican districts involved.

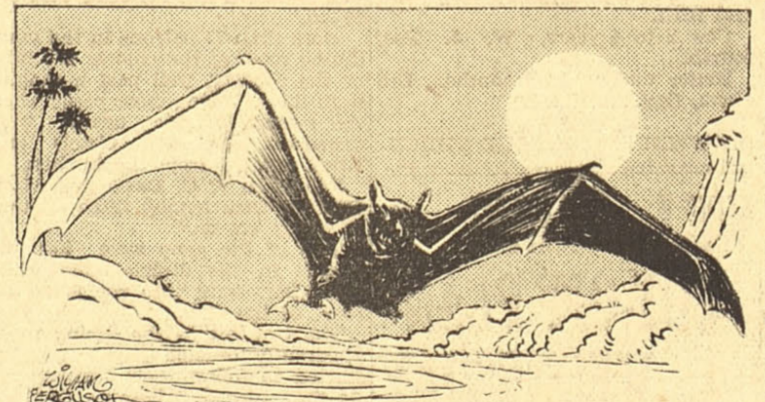

The chances are that they may win one or two more Republican seats, vacated by death, before the session is over, thereby increasing their majority to eight or ten.

After the 1932 elections the Republicans had a bare plurality of two in the present Congress. There were 215 Republicans, 216 Democrats and Paul John Kvale, the Minnesota Farmer-Laborite Republican, who has the switch of one Republican seat to the Democrats would have given Kvale an absolute balance of power, but at no time was there a 218-217 split between the parties.

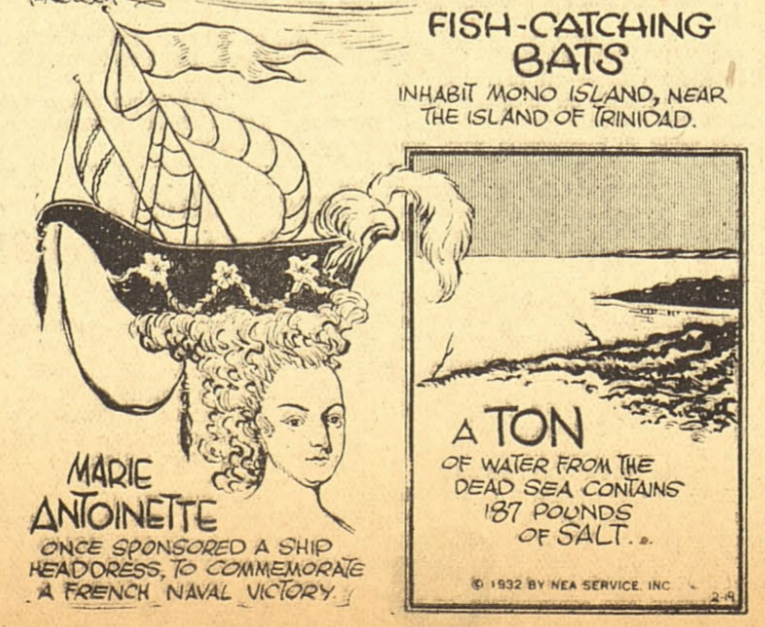

THE lineup is now 215 Democrats, 213 Republicans and one Farmer-Labor. Of course, if five Democrats should die in the immediate future the Republicans, assuming they could get Kvale to vote with them, would have a temporary—but very temporary—majority.

Their period of control would be so brief that they would only have time to create an utter confusion by reorganizing the House, kicking out the hundreds of new Democratic employees and doing the jobs and committee chairmanships with Republicans again. Obviously, with the Democrats vacillating due to be led by Democrats almost immediately, they would neither care nor dare to do that.

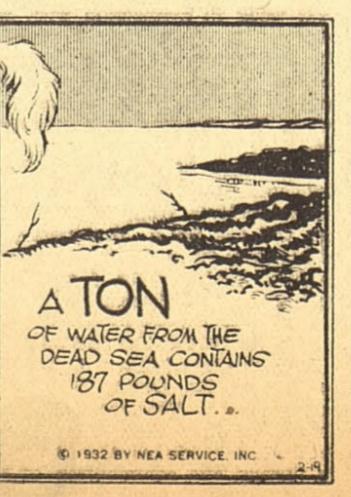

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

FISH-CATCHING BATS
INHABIT MONO ISLAND, NEAR THE ISLAND OF TRINIDAD.

MARIE ANTOINETTE
ONCE SPONSORED A SHIP HEADRESS TO COMMEMORATE A FRENCH NAVAL VICTORY.

A TON OF WATER FROM THE DEAD SEA CONTAINS 137 POUNDS OF SALT.

leader, the Communist Atkins, is "framed up" and gotten out of the way. No picture about America here can possibly have a happy ending. The only true happy ending in Russia is a successful revolution and that is not yet a historical fact.

However, some measure of comfort will be meted out to the Soviet audiences. Roscoe will be wiped out financially by another and stronger Wall Street crash. He will commit suicide—"Symbol of the collapse of capitalism" as an official of the producing company Mezhrapom-film, put it.

The scenario for "Prosperity" was written by M. Jolyabureky, who is known abroad for his "Tsar and Poet", a film based on the life of Pushkin. The picture has been in production since last May, two versions, one in Russian and the other in French, being made simultaneously.

SHOE INDUSTRY BUSY
GOREBRO, Sweden, Feb. 27. — More than 5,150,000 pairs of shoes were manufactured in Sweden in 1931, representing a sum of nearly 60,000,000 kronor. This was brought out at a recent convention of representatives of the Swedish shoe factories and of the Swedish hide and leather association.

USED CARS

We still have a number of good cars. We must dispose of these before the 4 and 8 Fords arrive. The knife still cuts prices even lower.

- 1930 FORD CABRIOLET—Mechanically right. New paint and new rubber.
- 2—1930 TUDOR SEDANS — In first-class condition. Good paint and rubber.
- 1930—SPORT COUPE—Priced to sell.
- 1930 CHEVROLET COUPE—Like new.
- 1930 STANDARD COUPE—A car you will buy when you see it.
- 2—1928 CHEVROLET COUPES—The best buy to be had.

We will make the prices on the above cars when you call to see them.

Blease Motor Co., Inc.
Phone 244-245. Cisco.

W. R. SIMMONS ANNOUNCES FOR CITY COMM'N

W. R. Simmons today announced his candidacy for election to the city commission upon a platform of rigid economy, efforts for a just and equitable settlement of the city's financial obligations and his personal merits.

Declaring that "As I see it, we will not be able to make any progress, or even recover our former status until this debt is gotten out of the way," he pledged himself to strive toward a settlement that will meet with the public approval.

"I shall not criticize or lambast any opponent that I may have, but ask the voters to consider my claim purely from the standpoint of my own merits," he said.

His announcement follows in detail:

"To the voters of the city of Cisco: I take this method of announcing my candidacy for the office of City Commissioner of the City of Cisco, at the election to be held on the 5th day of April, A. D. 1932.

"I have been a resident of your city for thirteen years. All the property I own is located in Cisco and I am deeply interested in the welfare of the city.

"As a basis for my candidacy, I say that I believe that the city should practice the most rigid economy, and that the tax values of the city should be lowered commensurate with its real or intrinsic value. I also believe that the city commission should be on the alert at all times for an opportunity to make the best possible settlement of our bonded indebtedness.

"As I see it, we will not be able to make any progress, or even recover our former status, until this debt is gotten out of the way. Therefore, I shall strive to reach a just and equitable agreement for the settlement of our bonded indebtedness, and shall favor submitting any such agreement to the voters of the city for their approval or disapproval.

"The voters of the city know me, I do not belong to any faction, and if elected will strive at all times to only do such acts of administration as will be for the best interest of the people of our little city.

"I shall not criticize or lambast any opponent that I may have, but ask the voters to consider my claim purely from the standpoint of my own merits, and the issues that I have submitted herewith.

"Respectfully submitted,
W. R. SIMMONS."

RENO'S ESCORT CLUB POPULAR WITH WOMEN

By GEORGE D. CRISSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
RENO, Nev., Feb. 27.—One week's operation of the Reno Escort club, which exists for the sole purpose of renting male companions to divorcees, has revealed that the colony contains at least 22 lonesome women.

The club came into being with a staff of 18 handsome young men ready to step out at a moment's notice to wine, dine and dance according to the whim of women clients.

H. E. Switzer, club organizer, said he was satisfied with the present volume of business. He had expected a slight struggle in convincing the "permanent residents," here for six weeks, that specifications in men could be met.

Type for Every Taste

A type for every taste is the club's boast. The range is from dapper lads to the cave man type, according to Switzer.

Club membership started at three and grew until the grand total of 22 was reached after seven nights.

The lonesome women are fast becoming convinced, Switzer explained, that escorts are guided solely by the wants of the patron. The boys are under bond which is to protect the patrons from the danger of losing her diamonds, if any.

Flat Fee

A flat fee is charged with one evening's guidance tossed in as a bonus. Thereafter additional fees are required with overtime being charged for what is known as a "grand tour of Reno's night life." These excursions occupy most of a night.

All 22 of the women members are here for divorce, Switzer said. That makes the utmost secrecy necessary due to fear of publicity which might result should their suits be contested.

The escorts, likewise, hesitate about revealing their night time occupations. Most of them have regular day jobs, for one thing, and their employers might object.

Center — City Bakery moved to new quarters in Harris building.
San Diego — Additional improvements made at Troy's cafe.

RENO'S ESCORT CLUB POPULAR WITH WOMEN

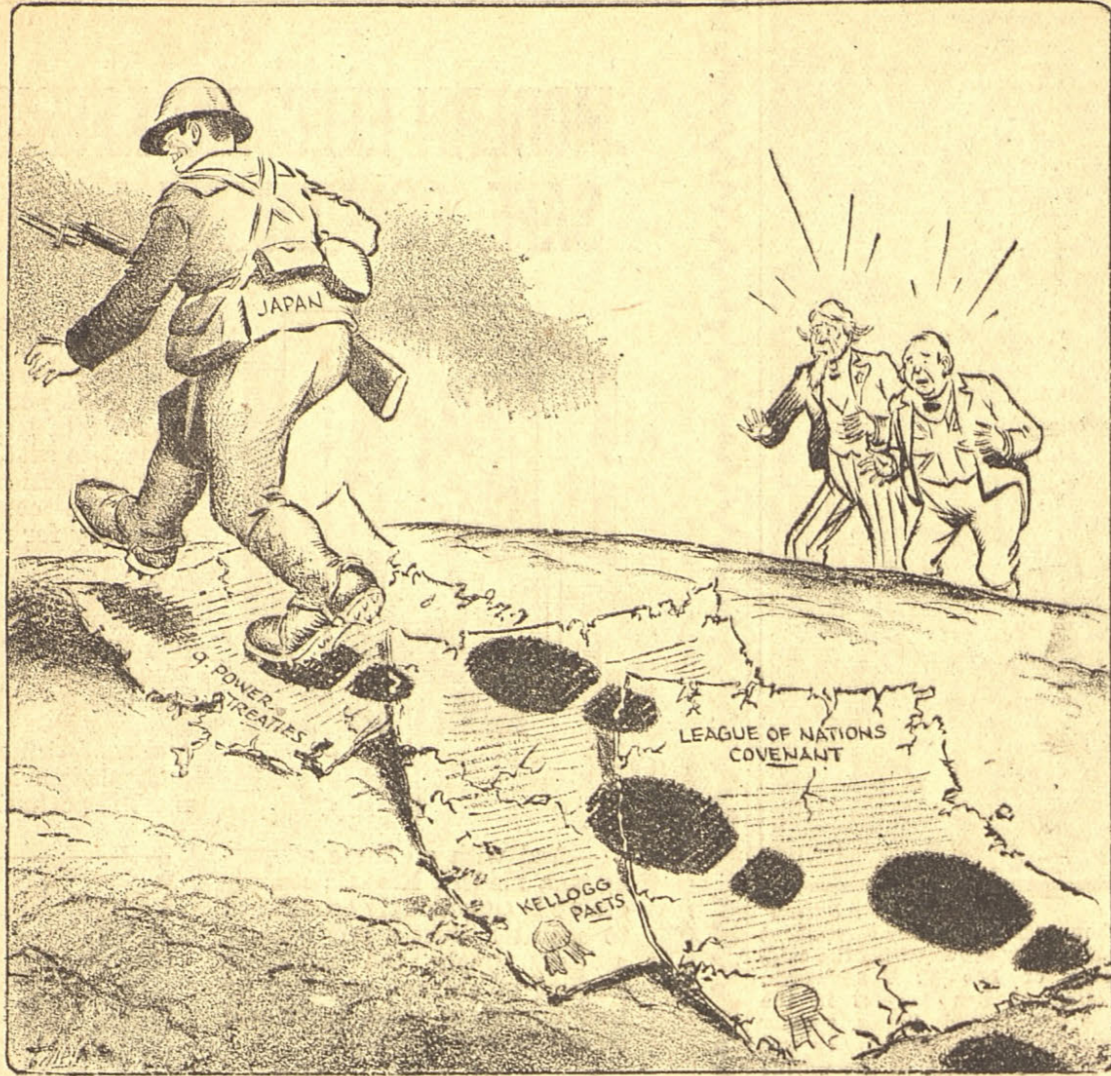

"BABY CONTEST"

Opens Saturday, March 26th, Easter Sunday, 27th; closes Saturday, April 9th.

Walton's Studio, Art & Gift Shop

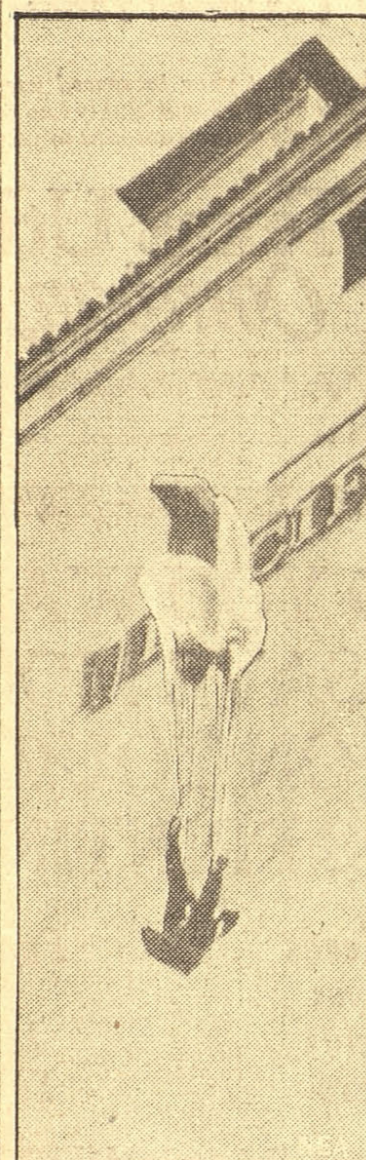

"Portraits That Please"

Japanese "Prints"!

Varied Community Service Program Won 1931 Award of Baylor Journalism Dept.

Death Leap

Hurling downward from the 18th floor of a Los Angeles building, Rolfe M. Lane, 47, who started parachute jumping 'way back in 1903, is shown here frantically attempting to open his closed chute a few seconds before he crashed to his death. Lane had made 1500 jumps, most of them from low altitudes.

Cisco Student Is Fraternity Pledge

Dick West, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. West of this city, a student at the Texas University, pledged to the Phi Delta Theta Fraternity on February 22, it was learned here Saturday. Dick is a freshman at the university. He is on the staff of the Daily Texan, student publication.

Federal Court to Consider Validity

AUSTIN, Feb. 27. — Validity of the state law requiring purchasers of natural gas to take supplies equally from all producers in a field will be argued in federal court at Houston, on March 17.

The hearing will be before a three judge court similar to that which recently held marital law as applied in the east Texas field invalid.

GOLF DATES SET
TEXARKANA, Feb. 27. — J. K. Wadley, president of the Texas Golf association, today set dates for the Texas amateur tournament to be played at the Texarkana country club for May 24 to 28 inclusive.

Sunday Services at The Churches

HOLY ROSARY CHURCH

This is the Third Sunday in Lent and the Gospel read today is taken from St. Luke XI 14-23. This tells us that Jesus cast out a devil from a dumb person and that when the devil was cast out the dumb person spoke. Christ's enemies accused him of using the power of Beelzebub — the prince of devils — to cast out devils; and Christ answers and says that a kingdom divided against itself must fall. Hence devils are cast out by the power of God. Mass today will be at 8 a. m. by Rev. P. Ruano. Devotions will be given on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock by Rev. M. Collins.

GRACE LUTHERAN CHURCH

Corner Sixteenth street and F avenue. Sunday school at 10 a. m. Two services in the morning: German at 10 and English at 11 a. m. Topic for the service: The First Public Testimony of Christ Concerning Himself. There will be no service in the evening. You are invited to worship with us.—ARTHUR KATHJEN, Pastor.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Preaching at the 11 o'clock hour this morning by the Rev. Gid J. Bryan, of Ranger. Sunday school at 8:45. Dr. Cullom H. Booth, presiding elder, will preach at the 7:30 service tonight. Young people meet at the usual hour.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, February 28. The golden text is from John 3:17. "God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved." Scriptural passages include the following: "Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the father, but by me" (John 14:5). The following from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be read as a part of the service: "Born of a woman, Jesus' advent in the flesh partook partly of Mary's earthly condition, although he was endowed with the Christ, the divine Spirit, without measure. This accounts for his struggles in Gethsemane and on Calvary, and this enabled him to be the mediator, or way-shower, between God and men. Had his origin and birth been wholly apart from mortal usage, Jesus would not have been appreciable to mortal mind as the way" (p. 30) : (L. 5-13).

EXHIBITS ARE SCROLL

BOSTON, Feb. 27. — The Boston Museum of Fine Arts has acquired a work never before exhibited outside the Orient and which a museum official describes as "one of the chief masterpieces of the world." It is a scroll painting of Chinese emperors, done by Yen Li-pen in the seventh century.

EX-FIGHTER IN RACE

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 27. — "Pinky" Mitchell, former junior welterweight boxing champion, has announced his candidacy for Sheriff of Milwaukee county. Although the election will not be held until fall, Pinky said he still believes "the first punch counts" and so announced his candidacy early.

TRICKS SETTLE OWNERSHIP

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 27. — Patrolman George Lee settled dispute between Robert Miller and L. B. January over ownership of a police dog in short order when the dog took a hand. The dog went through a series of tricks when January ordered him to, so January got the dog.

Dillee — New Red & White Store operated by C. J. Jones, opened in Moffett building.

Stock Show---

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE

Heifer under 12 months, A. Z. Myrick, second.
Best production cow, Lee Farm, first.
Best production cow, W. J. Poe, second.
Best production cow, A. Z. Myrick, third.

Champion female, A. Z. Myrick.
Champion male, J. V. Pilcher.
Sheep (Breeding)

Ram 2 years and over, Dr. R. H. Hodges, Ranger, first.
Ram 1 year and under 2, Dr. R. H. Hodges, first and second.

Ram lamb under 1 year, Dr. R. H. Hodges, first, second and third.
Ewe, 2 years and over, Dr. R. H. Hodges, first.
Ewe, 1 year and under 2, Dr. R. H. Hodges, first.
Ewe lamb under 1 year, Dr. R. H. Hodges, first and second.

Mutton Lambs.
Mutton lamb under 1 year, Joe Bob Winston, first and second.
Mutton lamb under 1 year, Byron Ray, third and fifth, sixth and seventh.

Mutton lamb under 1 year, Bobbie Thurman, fourth.
Best three mutton lambs, Joe Bob Winston, first.

Best three mutton lambs, Byron Ray, second.
Best three mutton lambs, Bobbie Thurman, third.

Best three mutton lambs, Clarence Stroebel, fourth.
Best three mutton lambs, Rayford Richardson, fifth.

Mutton lamb—Merino Ramboulett cross, F. E. Harrell, 1st, 2nd, and 3rd.

Goats.
Buck 2 years and over, Dr. R. H. Hodges, second.
Buck 2 years and over, J. B. Long, Ranger, first.

Buck 1 year and under 2, Dr. R. H. Hodges, first.
Buck kid under 1 year, J. B. Long, first and second.

Buck kid under 1 year, Piggly Wiggly Farm, third and fourth.
Doe 2 years and over, J. B. Long, first.

Doe 2 years and over, Carl Henson, second.
Doe 1 year, under 2, Dr. R. H. Hodges, first.

Doe 1 year, under 2, Carl Henson, 2nd, 3rd and 4th.
Doe kid under 1 year, Piggly Wiggly Farm, 1st.

Champion buck any age, J. B. Long.
Champion doe any age, J. B. Long.

Hogs.
Boar pig under 1 year, F. E. Harrell, 1st.

Boar pig under 1 year, O. G. Phillips, 2nd.
Sow 2 years and over, Lee Farm, 1st.

Sow pig under 1 year, Hershell Penn, 1st.
Sow pig under 1 year, Forrest Lyon, Ranger, 3rd, 4th and 5th.

Sow pig under 1 year, Gordon Seaborn, 2nd.
Champion male, F. E. Harrell.

Champion female, Hershell Penn.
Fat barrow, 175 to 250 lbs., Ernest Blackwell, Ranger, 1st and 3rd.

Fat barrow, 175 to 250 lbs., William Blankenship, Ranger, 2nd.

Milk Goats.
Billy, 2 years and over, Piggly Wiggly Farm, 1st.

Doe, 2 years and over, Piggly Wiggly Farm, 1st and 2nd.
Doe, 1 year and under 2, Piggly Wiggly Farm, 1st.

Doe kid under 1 year, Piggly Wiggly Farm, 1st.
Champion buck, any age, Piggly Wiggly Farm.

Champion doe, any age, Piggly Wiggly Farm.

PAY CUT HITS NEEDY
DETROIT, Feb. 27. — Wage reductions here have forced city firemen to discontinue feeding 16,000 unemployed. The unemployed, previously fed at 58 bread lines supported by firemen, will be added to Welfare Department rolls.

NEA Chicago Bureau
Here is A. O. Lindsay, publisher of the Quincy (Ill.) Herald-Whig, elected president of the Inland Daily Press Association at its recent convention in Chicago. The association has 257 members, chiefly newspapers throughout the middle west.

NEW PRESS HEAD

NEA Chicago Bureau
Here is A. O. Lindsay, publisher of the Quincy (Ill.) Herald-Whig, elected president of the Inland Daily Press Association at its recent convention in Chicago. The association has 257 members, chiefly newspapers throughout the middle west.

TWINS ENTER CONTEST
MEXICO, Mo., Feb. 27. — John J. Dixon, of Mexico, and his twin, William B. Dixon, of Montgomery county, have entered a national farm weekly contest to select America's oldest twins. The Dixon brothers are 91. They were born near Mineola Springs Mo., served in the Civil War, and have lived in Missouri ever since.

Mt. Pleasant — Local streets repaired.
Runge — Curbing being built on two main street blocks.

SPECIAL! SOMETHING NEW

Individual Permanents at10c a Curl
Personality Hair Cut, Shampoo and Set.....$1.00
New Styles by Lewis Linder

Manicure50c
Patch Your Old Permanent10c a Curl
Eyebrow and Lash Dye (Louise Norris Method) . . .75c
Maraoil — a soapsless Shampoo for dry hair, and set$1.00
Fitch Shampoo with Fitch Tonic for oily hair...$1.00

NU-WAY BEAUTY SHOP

CISCO DAILY NEWS

Delivered to your home in Cisco

15 CENTS PER WEEK

If you prefer to pay by the month, there are four and 1-3 weeks in a month which makes the price

65 CENTS PER MONTH

Delivered to your home in Cisco or by mail for $6.00 per year.

THE ABOVE RATES EFFECTIVE MARCH 1 AND PAYABLE IN ADVANCE

WHAT DO YOU HAVE FOR SALE?

Three thousand homes---fifteen thousand readers, at five readers to the family---are watching the classified columns for opportunities to buy something that may be offered FOR SALE.

You may have an old car, a gun, a piece of furniture, a stove, some dishes not needed, a churn, a vacuum cleaner, an old washer, a house at a bargain, or a quilt ---hundreds of articles going to waste about your place that some one would like to buy at a good price---maybe it's chickens, perhaps old clothes, a lawn mower, a little wagon or skates that your son has tired of. Many household items that you want to discard may be the very thing that someone else would like.

The classified columns of the Daily News, or the American and Roundup (weekly) will often bring you in touch with a buyer.

If it is something you need, a "Want Ad" will bring it to you. The cost is small.

THE CISCO DAILY NEWS

OR

CISCO AMERICAN AND ROUNDUP

(Weekly)

Choose Your Insurance Company

Choose your Insurance Company and do so wisely if you expect to be protected. They are not all safe.— Deal with a reputable local company in whom you have confidence—ask them to choose for you so that you will have insurance that INSURES.

E. P. CRAWFORD

Insurance—Real Estate—Loans

LEADS MOVE TO COMBINE 4 COUNTIES

DAINGERFIELD, Feb. 27. — Attorney John M. Henderson, former state senator who says he "made about half enough to pay the taxes" on his 120-acre Morris county farm last year, is leader of a movement to consolidate four east Texas counties in the interest of economy.

The four counties are Franklin, Morris, Titus and Camp counties.

"In 1875 county was whittled out of Titus," said Henderson. "About that time another slice was taken from Titus to form Franklin county. A little later, Camp county was formed out of part of Upshur county."

"At that time poor bridges or no bridges at all across Boggy creek made travel between Daingerfield and Mt. Pleasant impossible during rainy seasons. The same condition applied to Cypress creek between Daingerfield and Pittsburg."

"Now with a system of roads and use of automobiles making it possible to drive from here to Mt. Pleasant in 25 to 30 minutes, the need for a county seat here has been materially reduced. The same thing applies at Pittsburg."

Consolidation of the four counties, Henderson argues, would eliminate:

- Three county clerks.
- Three sheriffs.
- Three judges.
- Three county attorneys.
- Three tax collectors.
- Three tax assessors.
- Three treasurers.

Twelve county commissioners. These reductions, he said, would more than offset the money which would have to be paid for increased number of deputies which would be required in some offices of the consolidated county.

"I imagine the state legislature would have to give its authority to the consolidation," said Henderson. "Then citizens of each county would have to vote their approval of the consolidation, and finally an election would have to determine the location of the county seat."

Some of Henderson's admirers have urged him to run for governor on his economy program but he says he will turn a deaf ear to such proposals.

"I am through with politics, I guess," he said.

Two Brothers---

On this trip he did not confine himself to Cisco and west Central Texas, but took occasion to visit many other points and to dip down into the picturesque land of Mexico.

Followed Brother. B. C. Metcalf followed his elder (and only) brother to Canada a few years after Fred Metcalf had gone there. The younger man secured employment with the Canadian Pacific but what he terms the "hobo" streak in his character—a quality that Fred Metcalf appeared not to have—compelled him to leave that employment after a year in search of new adventure. He crossed the Great Lakes at Port Arthur to Duluth, Minn., with a party and thence drifted south, continuing his work with the railroads. He reached the southwest and, as far as the character of his work would permit, he established himself.

He worked with railroads in Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas, spending six years as roadmaster for the Rock Island in the latter state. "Don't forget Arkansas," he admonished. "I had the best time in my life there."

He pointed out that six years with one railroad in that day was a distinction. "There is a vast difference between roadmaster then and now," he said. "A man couldn't be classed as a hobo if he stayed with one road a year."

With Katy 12 Years. He has been with the Missouri, Kansas and Texas for 12 years as roadmaster. Until a short while ago, when the depression inflicted itself upon the railroads as upon other industries, he was one of three roadmasters on the 309-mile route of the Texas Central division which runs through Cisco. With the combination of three divisions into one he was given the entire division and located at Cisco.

Last Christmas, while mailing greetings to his friends, Mr. Metcalf here was prompted with addressing a card to his brother in Canada, "just to see if he was still there." He had not heard from him in 15 years.

A letter came back so promptly that he was taken by surprise. A meeting was quickly arranged and the two brothers were reunited at Dallas about a month ago.

TO WATCH POLITICS. LEWISTON, Me., Feb. 27. — In a chapel talk to Bates College students, Dr. Edwin M. Wright, professor of English urged them to take an active interest in politics. He suggested Washington, Lincoln and Roosevelt as models for those who might later hold public office.

ACTIVE SHERIFF AT 90. NEWPORT, R. I., Feb. 27. — At 90, James Anthony is still the active Sheriff of Newport county. Anthony usually remains at his office in the county courthouse, but at times goes to various parts of the county for duty.

Anti-Prohibitionists Find Chance for New Test of Strength in Garner Boom

By RAYMOND BROOKS
AUSTIN, Feb. 27. — The Garner Texas rally, which got away to a pallid start, did the wholly expected thing of endorsing the Texan as suitable material for the presidency.

There is no reason now to doubt that the Texas delegation at Chicago will be committed to Garner's cause first and last—just as it would probably have been pledged without the San Antonio meeting.

The Roosevelt forces brought messages of friendly good will so far as the Texas vote is concerned their speaker, Stuart R. Smith of Beaumont saying the sentiment of a majority of the Roosevelt people in Texas will be to support Garner "until he goes under" the wire as the nominee, meaning of course as long as he stands and chance of the nomination.

So much for the meeting itself. Probably every national campaign, including that of every successful candidate, has some such a start start at home. It is simply a new experience for Texans to feel that they may be sitting in at the making of a president.

The Garner rally seemed, to this writer who heard its proceedings, and saw some of its caucus manoeuvres, to define certain other things concerning Texas politics and Texan voters as well.

Foremost of these is that the anti-prohibition people, practically deluged a decade ago, and up to now politically afraid to raise a voice or risk a test of strength, have in the Garner movement returned for a future definite test of strength at some time with the present dominant dry faction of the party.

The prohibition fight must be gone through again in Texas, if the gestures of the Garner meeting are nurtured in the fallow ground of political ambition, into action.

This trend got its first encouragement four years ago when the dry leaders put party regularly above personal views on prohibition. The voters didn't, but their turn-down of Alfred E. Smith was more on issues of the kuk klux hang-over than on prohibition, it may be believed.

It has further encouragement this year in that the choice largely is between Mr. Garner, a mild wet and Gov. Roosevelt a wetter wet than Garner, and Mr. Smith or Mr. Kitchie or James Ham Lewis, dripping wets.

The attitude of Mr. Garner is not serious enough to bother Texas party leaders but it is sufficient to give encouragement to those finding that no longer does the attitude on this question alone dominate the response of Texans to a campaign.

The dry leaders such as Sen. Walter C. Woodward, Rep. A. P. Johnson, and others stepped forward to perfect an organization they won out, but not until after former Sen. A. J. Wirtz, Seguin; Sen. W. K. Hopkins, Gonzales, Dayton Moses, Fort Worth, and others had given warning that others must be consulted and considered to

Shrine Ex-Chief In Senate Race

NEA Los Angeles Bureau. Thousands of Shriners throughout the country are watching the campaign of Leo V. Youngworth, above, of Los Angeles in the race for United States senator from California. Youngworth was imperial potentate of the Shrine in 1929-30.

So the caucus did not name the two powerful chairmen... organization and resolutions, but left this to the committee of 31 each on each of these subjects. Sen. Woodward became the active head of the movement back home, as permanent organization chairman; while Rep. Sam Rayburn, member of congress was given the title of national head of the organization.

Rep. A. P. Johnson functioned as the resolutions chairman just as had been planned.

With a few places yet to be filled the group designed to carry on the Garner fight in Texas is made up of: Cong. Sam Rayburn, chairman; Bob Barker, Fort Worth, secretary; Sen. Henry Beck, Bowie county; J. Lewis Thompson, Houston; Rep. Truman O'Quinn, Beaumont; Rep. E. A. Murphy, Livingston; John F. Wallace, Teague; John W. Pace, Nowlin; Volgen, Rep. E. M. Barron, Maury; Hughes, Lieut. Gov. Edgar Witt; Frank Schofield, Sen. Charles S. Galner, S. S. Deval, I. G. Wirtz, A. J. Gidley, W. B. Bridges, Sen. W. K. Hopkins, Claude D. Teer, J. C. Hurdy, Sen. Ben G. Onal, Frank Killough, W. C. Wood, John K. Weaver, Sen. Archie Parr, G. B. Purdie, W. D. Cope, Ernest O. Thompson, F. B. Potter.

Gov. Ross S. Sterling, W. O. Huggins, state chairman, and Jed C. Adams, national committeeman from Texas were present because of their official or party positions as well as in the capacity of friends of Speaker Garner.

The Garner rally was considerably complicated by local San Antonio politics. Visitors looked for a flashback as Roy Miller, who led the successful Richard Kleberg race for congress in the San Antonio district when the late republican Harry Wurrbach's successor was chosen rose up in the rally to propose to his foe, Mayor C. M. Chambers who was presiding the course of action to be followed in the Garner organization. But there was no clash.

It was said in San Antonio that the city proposed to have the May democratic state convention for electing national delegates and that leaders were planning resolutions in the Garner meeting to sew it up. But the resolution were not forthcoming, and State Chmn. Huggins said that Austin's bid if made as planned, will certainly have consideration before the state committee locates the convention. Other cities also will have a chance to invite the convention.

"Garner for us," U. S. for Garner" was chosen as the prize-winning slogan for the Garner campaign. Its selection was made by Sam Fore Floresville; S. D. Chesnut, Kenedy and Houston; Harte, San Angelo. Two women had submitted the identical slogan, and shared the substantial prize. They were Mrs. H. C. Gilmore, San Antonio, and Mrs. A. R. Ellis, ConCan, Texas.

Mrs. Clara Driscoll, Sevier of Austin and Corpus Christi, democratic national committeewoman was absent from the Garner rally but she telegraphed that the movement had her "unqualified approval," and that "my candid opinion is that Texas can present to the nation a man qualified by long intelligent and patriotic service to be president of the United States... We Texans can nominate John Naves Garner, and the American people will elect him."

Reskale — Blackhaus Bros. I G. A. store formally opened.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS . . . By Laufer

CELSUS LIVED UP TO HIS REPUTATION!

CELSUS WAS PRICED AT ODDS OF $6004.50 FOR A $2 TICKET IN THE 5TH RACE AT HIALEAH PARK

THE HORSE FOOLED ONLY ONE BETTOR WHO HAD THE NERVE TO PLAY HIM

HE RAN LAST ALL THE WAY

JAN. 15, 1932

YES LADY, WE'RE BROTHERS

AND BOTH!

322 SEES OF BROTHERS ROLLED IN THE PEORIA STAR'S RECENT BROTHERS' BOWLING TOURNAMENT ACCORDING TO SPORTS EDITOR FRED W. BERK OF THE PEORIA (ILL.) STAR

JOCKEY IVAN PARKE
RODE 10 WINNERS IN TWO CONSECUTIVE DAYS
LAFORNIA-1923

BILL KLEM
AND JOHN MCGRAW HAVE ALWAYS LOVED TO RIDE EACH OTHER.

MY PAL!

I SUPPOSE YOU SPELL THAT R-A-T!

AERIAL RULES, MR. MCGRAW, TWO BASES IF THE BALL HITS THE BLIMP!

WHEN A DRIFGIBLE FLEW OVER THE PARK, BILL GOT HIS CHANCE TO GET THE LAUGH ON MCGRAW!

THEY ALL LAUGHED WHEN Umpire Bill Klem burned up John McGraw. McGraw, a sworn enemy of umpires and a stickler for ground rules, before the game harassed Klem to the point of distraction on various technical rulings concerning the playing field. Klem showed stoic patience.

Along about the seventh inning, a low-flying dirigible soared across the playing field. Mr. Klem called time. "Aerial rules, Mr. McGraw," roared Klem, in a voice that could be heard all over the Polo Grounds, "two bases if a fly ball hits the blimp." It was an unprecedented rule in all baseball history.

CHICHESTERS PILLS
THE DIAMOND BRAND
Ladies' and Gentlemen's
Headache, Stomach, and Bile Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with Blue Ribbon. Take no other.
40c per box. 10c per box.
CITY-COPIES-TELS DIAMOND
Solely at Best, Scales, Reliable. Buy New!
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

MODERN ELECTRIC REFRIGERATION IS SAFE, CONVENIENT AND ECONOMICAL

Safety is the most important consideration of your food preservation problem, for government experts have found that foods not kept at a constant temperature of less than fifty degrees are subject to spoilage and bacterial action. Electric Refrigeration dependably maintains the constant low temperature necessary for food safety.

Convenience, also, is a refrigeration essential. The Electric Refrigerator has large roomy shelves — waist high to eliminate stooping — and the top is flat and usable. And the convenience of being able to prepare and keep salad and sandwich materials, frozen deserts and salads and dainty parafaits is a most important feature.

—And with all these advantages, a modern Electric Refrigerator is surprisingly economical to operate. Just a few pennies a day supply the moderate amount of current required by this important time, labor and money-saving appliance.

Let a West Texas Utilities company salesman explain and demonstrate these and many other important features of the new Frigidaire. He will show you how easily you may become a proud and enthusiastic owner of this modern Household Necessity.

Convenient Terms

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule... and adds only a small amount to your total bill?

West Texas Utilities Company

DO YOU WANT TO SAVE MONEY ON YOUR JOB PRINTING?

Letter Heads
Envelopes
Statements
Circulars

Funeral Notices
Cards
Legal Blanks
Shipping Tags

Special February Prices on All Kinds of Printing.
Don't Fail to Get These Savings

CANDIDATE CARDS
Without or With the Union Label
1932 Is Campaign Year

BETTER LET US PRINT YOUR CAMPAIGN LITERATURE

This will start your campaign and as well the New Year Right!

Candidate Cards, Large Placards, Circular Letters Campaign Literature

and many other forms suitable for presenting your Campaign in a clear and concise manner.

CISCO DAILY NEWS
Telephone 80. Expert Copy Layout

RELIABLE PRINTING
no order too small
CISCO DAILY NEWS
CISCO AMERICAN and ROUNDP

The dime-a-dance girl

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Beautiful Ellen Rossiter, salesgirl in Barclay's department store works at night as a dance hall hostess at Dreamland. She lives with her extravagant mother, Molly Rossiter, her elder sister, Myra and her young brother, Mike.

She is in love with Larry Harrogate, an artist. Larry is engaged to Elizabeth Bowes, a debutante.
Steven Barclay, 37 and her employer, loves Ellen, Myra and Molly equally favor Barclay and Ellen quarrels with them over this partiality. Because of gossip at the store she decides to see Barclay no more. Without Ellen's knowledge Molly invites the older man to dinner, borrowing money for the occasion. Ellen is angry and is still further displeased when Barclay gives Mike a much desired bicycle.
That night Barclay asks Ellen to marry him and she refuses. Pride will not permit her to tell him she loves Larry. Unwittingly she leaves Barclay with the hope of winning her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XX
Days passed. Difficult days for Ellen. Days when her efforts to meet insurance payments, milk bills and butcher bills seemed hardly worth the effort. Days when she needed sleep and rest and leisure and felt that the burden of the double job was vitally necessary for the present, was too much to bear.
She had not broken with Steven. She could not. She saw him in the store and occasionally outside—usually at luncheon. He did not speak again of marriage but in a thousand ways he unconsciously revealed to her what was in his heart.

There were times those hurried, hurried days when she forgot her problems, delirious, thrilling times made of the stuff of dreams. Those were the hours she spent with Larry in vain Molly had protested, had wept, had become angry. Ellen persisted in her determination to see him when she chose. One Monday evening the quarrel between her and Molly had come to an ugly climax. Larry had arrived at the apartment, unannounced, and Molly had asked him to leave. Afterward there had been a spirited scene between mother and daughter resulting in a victory of sorts for Ellen. At any rate Molly had stopped her visible campaign against Larry. What was in her mind the girl did not know.

On Tuesday morning Ellen went to the basement lockers at Barclay's to hang up her hat and coat. Absorbed in her usual morning weariness, she was slow to notice the group of saleswomen clustered about the mirror heading the row of lockers. As she removed her hat she heard her name spoken. Ellen started at the whispering group and saw that Mrs. Bondy was in the center.

The girl's face blazed. Her throat felt dry and her hands began to shake. She started slowly toward the group, recognized Jenny Elkins, and saw that Jenny was watching her progress with a fascinated fear. None of the others perceived the white-faced angry girl until she was upon them.
"Perhaps you'll let me share the story," Ellen said softly. "It seems only fair since you're discussing me."

Consternation smote the group. No one moved or spoke, Jenny's compact clattered from her hand. She dared not stoop. The others were embarrassed, ashamed, frightened. Mrs. Bondy saw her power slipping. She made an effort to regain it.
"Suppose you tell us, dearie," she remarked. "We'd all love to know what it's like being an old man's darling."

For a moment the issue hung in the balance. Then one girl laughed in nervous hysteria. The other caught her up. A wave of high cruel laughter beat at Ellen's ears and drove the blazing color from her face. She saw that her cause was lost. An almost overpowering impulse to announce that she was engaged to Steven swept over her. It would be a way to stop that laughter and wipe the complacent smile from Mrs. Bondy's face.

Ellen hesitated made her decision and gave the giggling group a proud, scornful glance as she moved off without another word. Her thoughts were spinning round and round. Her heart seethed with rage and humiliation.
"She took the elevator to Steven's office. She waited until the thumping of her heart subsided before she knocked. Steven himself opened the door. His look of surprise faded into delighted welcome. Then he saw that she was unstrung and wretched and he came close to her, drawing her inside.
"What is it?" he asked, concerned and peremptory.
Ellen began to tremble. Exhausted from the force of anger and humiliation, close to tears, as she heard the anxiety in his voice, she felt a subtle, almost overpowering weakness. Unconsciously she tightened her grip on his hand and as she leaned forward her troubled face came close to his.
The gesture had its immediate effect. Barclay's heart beat high with sudden, illogical hope. Quite simply he drew her into his arms.
At once Ellen was herself again. "No, no," she whispered. "I was too wise to attempt to recapture a mood that had passed."
"You'd better see Miss Elcott immediately," he said in a matter of fact way.
As the girl slipped out of the office she wondered.

"What sort of a job?"
"I had already prepared a memorandum for you. You're so prickly with pride that I want you to know I haven't created the job on the spur of the moment."
He drew three typed sheets of paper clipped together from a drawer and slid them across the desk. Ellen read them, wondering. The first was from Lorene Elcott, the buyer of misses' dresses. She needed an assistant buyer and asked for a suggestion. The second, from Steven, to her, recited Ellen's qualifications and asked for the buyer's approval. Across the bottom of the sheet Lorene had scrawled "O. K.—let me see her." The third contained a brief request that Ellen call in Steven's office.
"These buyers are emperors and empresses in their own fields," Steven explained as Ellen looked up at him. "Miss Elcott telephoned me about 15 minutes ago asking you to come see her some time this morning."

Ellen glanced again at the slips in her hand. A faint color rose in her face. It was the dream of every salesgirl to become a buyer, a dream few realized. Buyers moved in a world apart from ordinary employees. They came and went almost at will. The girl felt an unexpected thrill at such a select group, a thrill that was colored by the thought of leaving over the heads of her fellows and escaping the reach of their cruel tongues.
"Don't think I'm impertinent," she said with youthful awkwardness, "but did you suggest me for this job because you thought I was faked to be a buyer or because you liked me?"
"I was afraid you'd ask that," he responded with a rueful, confused laugh. "I'll try to be honest. I think it was a mixture of the two. You're intelligent and you have taste and that qualifies you. As far as the rest I did suggest you because I like you in their own fields."
Ellen flushed furiously.
"You're to understand there are no strings to the job," he remarked suddenly, flushing in turn. "But you do understand that, don't you?"
He longed to tell her, he wanted her to know, that she held a place in his life apart from any other human being. He wanted her to know that it was not a prosaic workaday job that he desired to lay in her lap but everything beautiful and lovely in the world. Jewels she should have—jewels and furs and clothes. He wanted to wrap her in the garment of his love and lay the world at her feet. But he lacked the words to say those things.

Ellen suspected dimly what it must have cost him to say so little. How easy and simple he had made her path and with what infinite graciousness he had done so! In her gratitude and relief, she was near saying just then the words that he longed to hear.
"I know you wouldn't tie strings to anything you offered," she said at last tentatively, feeling for the second time a subtle, treacherous weakness running through her body. "I could never think that. I know you're the kindest man I've ever met."
The kindest man she had ever met! Steven would have preferred something else, perhaps. But she had said that. His dark eyes lighted. He leaned across the desk that separated them.
"Then you won't be afraid of me any more, Ellen?"
"No."
"You won't suspect my motives again?"
"No," she murmured.
How grateful she was just then! How much she admired and respected him! Victory was in Steven's hands. As he reached out to grasp it the telephone on the desk rang shatteringly. The moment was gone and the spell that had entrapped the girl was broken. Though he removed the receiver and did not answer Barclay saw that Ellen was relieved, saw that the telephone had robbed him of his triumph. He was too wise to attempt to recapture a mood that had passed.
"You'd better see Miss Elcott immediately," he said in a matter of fact way.
As the girl slipped out of the office she wondered.

respond. She knew what she had done and fumbled wretchedly for a way to mend the pain she had inflicted. But there was no way and the very silence served to heighten her memory and his memory of that hot instant.
"Please don't think I'm always coming to you with trouble," she said at last abruptly.
"You know, I'd never think that," he interrupted gently. "Sit down, my dear."
She sat down. All her careful phrases faded. She thought she would die before his look.
"Go on," he said more urgently. His brown eyes were upon her face.
"Because something someone said, I faltered desperately. I would like to know if I may be transferred from cretonnes to another department."
"I've been thinking of that myself," he said at once, thrusting into the background his own thoughts, his own hopes. Ellen saw with relief that he was business-like once more, composed and competent.
"You're lost there," he went on. "I've been thinking of another job for you."

"What sort of a job?"
"I had already prepared a memorandum for you. You're so prickly with pride that I want you to know I haven't created the job on the spur of the moment."
He drew three typed sheets of paper clipped together from a drawer and slid them across the desk. Ellen read them, wondering. The first was from Lorene Elcott, the buyer of misses' dresses. She needed an assistant buyer and asked for a suggestion. The second, from Steven, to her, recited Ellen's qualifications and asked for the buyer's approval. Across the bottom of the sheet Lorene had scrawled "O. K.—let me see her." The third contained a brief request that Ellen call in Steven's office.
"These buyers are emperors and empresses in their own fields," Steven explained as Ellen looked up at him. "Miss Elcott telephoned me about 15 minutes ago asking you to come see her some time this morning."

Ellen glanced again at the slips in her hand. A faint color rose in her face. It was the dream of every salesgirl to become a buyer, a dream few realized. Buyers moved in a world apart from ordinary employees. They came and went almost at will. The girl felt an unexpected thrill at such a select group, a thrill that was colored by the thought of leaving over the heads of her fellows and escaping the reach of their cruel tongues.
"Don't think I'm impertinent," she said with youthful awkwardness, "but did you suggest me for this job because you thought I was faked to be a buyer or because you liked me?"
"I was afraid you'd ask that," he responded with a rueful, confused laugh. "I'll try to be honest. I think it was a mixture of the two. You're intelligent and you have taste and that qualifies you. As far as the rest I did suggest you because I like you in their own fields."
Ellen flushed furiously.
"You're to understand there are no strings to the job," he remarked suddenly, flushing in turn. "But you do understand that, don't you?"
He longed to tell her, he wanted her to know, that she held a place in his life apart from any other human being. He wanted her to know that it was not a prosaic workaday job that he desired to lay in her lap but everything beautiful and lovely in the world. Jewels she should have—jewels and furs and clothes. He wanted to wrap her in the garment of his love and lay the world at her feet. But he lacked the words to say those things.

Ellen suspected dimly what it must have cost him to say so little. How easy and simple he had made her path and with what infinite graciousness he had done so! In her gratitude and relief, she was near saying just then the words that he longed to hear.
"I know you wouldn't tie strings to anything you offered," she said at last tentatively, feeling for the second time a subtle, treacherous weakness running through her body. "I could never think that. I know you're the kindest man I've ever met."
The kindest man she had ever met! Steven would have preferred something else, perhaps. But she had said that. His dark eyes lighted. He leaned across the desk that separated them.
"Then you won't be afraid of me any more, Ellen?"
"No."
"You won't suspect my motives again?"
"No," she murmured.
How grateful she was just then! How much she admired and respected him! Victory was in Steven's hands. As he reached out to grasp it the telephone on the desk rang shatteringly. The moment was gone and the spell that had entrapped the girl was broken. Though he removed the receiver and did not answer Barclay saw that Ellen was relieved, saw that the telephone had robbed him of his triumph. He was too wise to attempt to recapture a mood that had passed.
"You'd better see Miss Elcott immediately," he said in a matter of fact way.
As the girl slipped out of the office she wondered.

Ellen suspected dimly what it must have cost him to say so little. How easy and simple he had made her path and with what infinite graciousness he had done so! In her gratitude and relief, she was near saying just then the words that he longed to hear.
"I know you wouldn't tie strings to anything you offered," she said at last tentatively, feeling for the second time a subtle, treacherous weakness running through her body. "I could never think that. I know you're the kindest man I've ever met."
The kindest man she had ever met! Steven would have preferred something else, perhaps. But she had said that. His dark eyes lighted. He leaned across the desk that separated them.
"Then you won't be afraid of me any more, Ellen?"
"No."
"You won't suspect my motives again?"
"No," she murmured.
How grateful she was just then! How much she admired and respected him! Victory was in Steven's hands. As he reached out to grasp it the telephone on the desk rang shatteringly. The moment was gone and the spell that had entrapped the girl was broken. Though he removed the receiver and did not answer Barclay saw that Ellen was relieved, saw that the telephone had robbed him of his triumph. He was too wise to attempt to recapture a mood that had passed.
"You'd better see Miss Elcott immediately," he said in a matter of fact way.
As the girl slipped out of the office she wondered.

Ellen suspected dimly what it must have cost him to say so little. How easy and simple he had made her path and with what infinite graciousness he had done so! In her gratitude and relief, she was near saying just then the words that he longed to hear.
"I know you wouldn't tie strings to anything you offered," she said at last tentatively, feeling for the second time a subtle, treacherous weakness running through her body. "I could never think that. I know you're the kindest man I've ever met."
The kindest man she had ever met! Steven would have preferred something else, perhaps. But she had said that. His dark eyes lighted. He leaned across the desk that separated them.
"Then you won't be afraid of me any more, Ellen?"
"No."
"You won't suspect my motives again?"
"No," she murmured.
How grateful she was just then! How much she admired and respected him! Victory was in Steven's hands. As he reached out to grasp it the telephone on the desk rang shatteringly. The moment was gone and the spell that had entrapped the girl was broken. Though he removed the receiver and did not answer Barclay saw that Ellen was relieved, saw that the telephone had robbed him of his triumph. He was too wise to attempt to recapture a mood that had passed.
"You'd better see Miss Elcott immediately," he said in a matter of fact way.
As the girl slipped out of the office she wondered.

Ellen suspected dimly what it must have cost him to say so little. How easy and simple he had made her path and with what infinite graciousness he had done so! In her gratitude and relief, she was near saying just then the words that he longed to hear.
"I know you wouldn't tie strings to anything you offered," she said at last tentatively, feeling for the second time a subtle, treacherous weakness running through her body. "I could never think that. I know you're the kindest man I've ever met."
The kindest man she had ever met! Steven would have preferred something else, perhaps. But she had said that. His dark eyes lighted. He leaned across the desk that separated them.
"Then you won't be afraid of me any more, Ellen?"
"No."
"You won't suspect my motives again?"
"No," she murmured.
How grateful she was just then! How much she admired and respected him! Victory was in Steven's hands. As he reached out to grasp it the telephone on the desk rang shatteringly. The moment was gone and the spell that had entrapped the girl was broken. Though he removed the receiver and did not answer Barclay saw that Ellen was relieved, saw that the telephone had robbed him of his triumph. He was too wise to attempt to recapture a mood that had passed.
"You'd better see Miss Elcott immediately," he said in a matter of fact way.
As the girl slipped out of the office she wondered.

Ellen suspected dimly what it must have cost him to say so little. How easy and simple he had made her path and with what infinite graciousness he had done so! In her gratitude and relief, she was near saying just then the words that he longed to hear.
"I know you wouldn't tie strings to anything you offered," she said at last tentatively, feeling for the second time a subtle, treacherous weakness running through her body. "I could never think that. I know you're the kindest man I've ever met."
The kindest man she had ever met! Steven would have preferred something else, perhaps. But she had said that. His dark eyes lighted. He leaned across the desk that separated them.
"Then you won't be afraid of me any more, Ellen?"
"No."
"You won't suspect my motives again?"
"No," she murmured.
How grateful she was just then! How much she admired and respected him! Victory was in Steven's hands. As he reached out to grasp it the telephone on the desk rang shatteringly. The moment was gone and the spell that had entrapped the girl was broken. Though he removed the receiver and did not answer Barclay saw that Ellen was relieved, saw that the telephone had robbed him of his triumph. He was too wise to attempt to recapture a mood that had passed.
"You'd better see Miss Elcott immediately," he said in a matter of fact way.
As the girl slipped out of the office she wondered.

Ellen suspected dimly what it must have cost him to say so little. How easy and simple he had made her path and with what infinite graciousness he had done so! In her gratitude and relief, she was near saying just then the words that he longed to hear.
"I know you wouldn't tie strings to anything you offered," she said at last tentatively, feeling for the second time a subtle, treacherous weakness running through her body. "I could never think that. I know you're the kindest man I've ever met."
The kindest man she had ever met! Steven would have preferred something else, perhaps. But she had said that. His dark eyes lighted. He leaned across the desk that separated them.
"Then you won't be afraid of me any more, Ellen?"
"No."
"You won't suspect my motives again?"
"No," she murmured.
How grateful she was just then! How much she admired and respected him! Victory was in Steven's hands. As he reached out to grasp it the telephone on the desk rang shatteringly. The moment was gone and the spell that had entrapped the girl was broken. Though he removed the receiver and did not answer Barclay saw that Ellen was relieved, saw that the telephone had robbed him of his triumph. He was too wise to attempt to recapture a mood that had passed.
"You'd better see Miss Elcott immediately," he said in a matter of fact way.
As the girl slipped out of the office she wondered.

Ellen suspected dimly what it must have cost him to say so little. How easy and simple he had made her path and with what infinite graciousness he had done so! In her gratitude and relief, she was near saying just then the words that he longed to hear.
"I know you wouldn't tie strings to anything you offered," she said at last tentatively, feeling for the second time a subtle, treacherous weakness running through her body. "I could never think that. I know you're the kindest man I've ever met."
The kindest man she had ever met! Steven would have preferred something else, perhaps. But she had said that. His dark eyes lighted. He leaned across the desk that separated them.
"Then you won't be afraid of me any more, Ellen?"
"No."
"You won't suspect my motives again?"
"No," she murmured.
How grateful she was just then! How much she admired and respected him! Victory was in Steven's hands. As he reached out to grasp it the telephone on the desk rang shatteringly. The moment was gone and the spell that had entrapped the girl was broken. Though he removed the receiver and did not answer Barclay saw that Ellen was relieved, saw that the telephone had robbed him of his triumph. He was too wise to attempt to recapture a mood that had passed.
"You'd better see Miss Elcott immediately," he said in a matter of fact way.
As the girl slipped out of the office she wondered.

Ellen suspected dimly what it must have cost him to say so little. How easy and simple he had made her path and with what infinite graciousness he had done so! In her gratitude and relief, she was near saying just then the words that he longed to hear.
"I know you wouldn't tie strings to anything you offered," she said at last tentatively, feeling for the second time a subtle, treacherous weakness running through her body. "I could never think that. I know you're the kindest man I've ever met."
The kindest man she had ever met! Steven would have preferred something else, perhaps. But she had said that. His dark eyes lighted. He leaned across the desk that separated them.
"Then you won't be afraid of me any more, Ellen?"
"No."
"You won't suspect my motives again?"
"No," she murmured.
How grateful she was just then! How much she admired and respected him! Victory was in Steven's hands. As he reached out to grasp it the telephone on the desk rang shatteringly. The moment was gone and the spell that had entrapped the girl was broken. Though he removed the receiver and did not answer Barclay saw that Ellen was relieved, saw that the telephone had robbed him of his triumph. He was too wise to attempt to recapture a mood that had passed.
"You'd better see Miss Elcott immediately," he said in a matter of fact way.
As the girl slipped out of the office she wondered.

Ellen suspected dimly what it must have cost him to say so little. How easy and simple he had made her path and with what infinite graciousness he had done so! In her gratitude and relief, she was near saying just then the words that he longed to hear.
"I know you wouldn't tie strings to anything you offered," she said at last tentatively, feeling for the second time a subtle, treacherous weakness running through her body. "I could never think that. I know you're the kindest man I've ever met."
The kindest man she had ever met! Steven would have preferred something else, perhaps. But she had said that. His dark eyes lighted. He leaned across the desk that separated them.
"Then you won't be afraid of me any more, Ellen?"
"No."
"You won't suspect my motives again?"
"No," she murmured.
How grateful she was just then! How much she admired and respected him! Victory was in Steven's hands. As he reached out to grasp it the telephone on the desk rang shatteringly. The moment was gone and the spell that had entrapped the girl was broken. Though he removed the receiver and did not answer Barclay saw that Ellen was relieved, saw that the telephone had robbed him of his triumph. He was too wise to attempt to recapture a mood that had passed.
"You'd better see Miss Elcott immediately," he said in a matter of fact way.
As the girl slipped out of the office she wondered.

Ellen suspected dimly what it must have cost him to say so little. How easy and simple he had made her path and with what infinite graciousness he had done so! In her gratitude and relief, she was near saying just then the words that he longed to hear.
"I know you wouldn't tie strings to anything you offered," she said at last tentatively, feeling for the second time a subtle, treacherous weakness running through her body. "I could never think that. I know you're the kindest man I've ever met."
The kindest man she had ever met! Steven would have preferred something else, perhaps. But she had said that. His dark eyes lighted. He leaned across the desk that separated them.
"Then you won't be afraid of me any more, Ellen?"
"No."
"You won't suspect my motives again?"
"No," she murmured.
How grateful she was just then! How much she admired and respected him! Victory was in Steven's hands. As he reached out to grasp it the telephone on the desk rang shatteringly. The moment was gone and the spell that had entrapped the girl was broken. Though he removed the receiver and did not answer Barclay saw that Ellen was relieved, saw that the telephone had robbed him of his triumph. He was too wise to attempt to recapture a mood that had passed.
"You'd better see Miss Elcott immediately," he said in a matter of fact way.
As the girl slipped out of the office she wondered.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON JESUS RAISES LAZARUS

Text: John 11:32-44
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Feb. 28.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D., Editor of The Congregationalist

What I have said formerly in this column concerning miracles applies with even greater force to this miracle of the raising of Lazarus from the dead. If we could explain it, it would not be a miracle.

In the presence of the miraculous there will always be those who find it easy to believe and those for whom belief is difficult. Discussion of belief and unbelief in relation to such matters can help very little.

Fortunately the miracles recorded in the New Testament take us very quickly beyond the miracle to the spiritual truth and the wonder-working power of the new life in Jesus.

If these miracles were simply and only stories of magic we should have little reason to dwell upon them for the enrichment of our religious lives. It is the fact that they are associated with the life and teaching of Jesus that gives them significance.

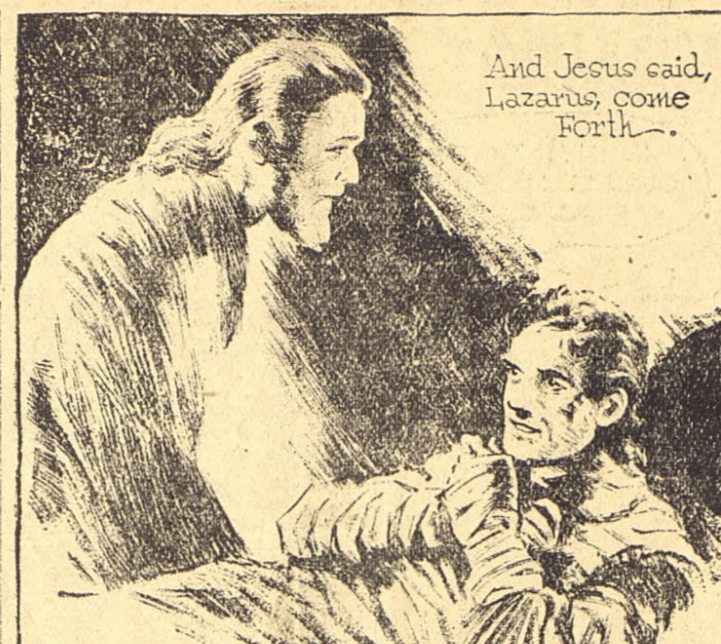

The power of Jesus to give new life to dead bodies would be little if he had no faith in his power to bring life to dead souls.

Our own age reveals strange and intense contrasts in the reaction of various minds to the miracles.

Apart from the two extremes of those who take the literal and traditional view and the so-called "modernists" who believe that the realities of Christian faith and teaching do not depend upon the literal acceptance of the stories of miracles, we find two attitudes or tempers.

There are those who attitude might be called that of material science, who see everything in the world operating within the realm of law, and of laws, the effects of which can be measured and stated in material terms.

But we see, also, intelligent men and women who believe that the laws of the universe are not confined to material effects that can be measured. They believe that we are in a world of spirit, and that phenomena quite as remarkable as the miracles described in the New Testament are happening in the world today.

And Jesus said, Lazarus, come forth.

The conflict between these two attitudes and tempers is exceedingly keen, but it cannot be said that the eminent and the intelligent are wholly upon one side.

Such men as the late Conard Doyle, and Sir Oliver Lodge, have had implicit faith in spiritual powers and forces that operate in quite as remarkable ways as the raising of Lazarus from the dead.

Moderate men who take into account both sides of such issues may feel that these questions are by no means settled. It may be that we are on the eve of revelations and discoveries in relation to the spiritual universe which will change our ideas as much as they have been changed in recent years by discoveries in the physical world, such as radio activity.

It is a truism to say that the physical things that are happening today, and that are commonplace in our lives, would have been as miraculous in the time of Christ as

.....CLASSIFIED ADS.....

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING RATES AND REGULATIONS

All CLASSIFIED advertising is payable in advance, but copy MAY be telephoned to the Cisco Daily News office and paid for as soon as collector calls.
RATES: Two cents per word for one time; four cents per word for three times; eight cents per word for six times.
CLOSING HOUR: Copy received up to 10:00 a. m. will be published the same day.
TELEPHONE 80 and place your copy with understanding that payment will be made at once, collector will call the same day or day following. Copy is received any hour from 8:00 a. m. until 5:00 p. m.

Get Results

A Daily News Want Ad will scour the field in a few hours for what it would take you days to locate.

Phone

the Classified

CLOSING TIME FOR MAILS
Waco and Rotan train No. 36 (S. Bound) 7:50 a. m.
Fort Worth and El Paso Train No. 16 (E. Bound) 9:50 a. m.
Fort Worth and El Paso Train No. 3 (W. Bound) 11:45 a. m.
Waco and Rotan Train No. 35 (N. Bound) 11:45 a. m.
Fort Worth and El Paso Train No. 4 (E. Bound) 4 p. m.
Fort Worth and El Paso Train No. 1 (W. Bound) 4 p. m.
All night mails close at 9 p. m. with exception of Sunday when night mails close at 6:45 p. m.

Train Schedule

RAILROAD TIME TABLE

New train time tables effective 12:01 a. m., June 7.

T. & P.
No. 7	1:45 a. m.
No. 3	12:20 p. m.
No. 1 "Sunshine Special"	4:57 p. m.
East Bound
No. 6	4:13 a. m.
No. 16 "The Texan"	10:20 a. m.
No. 4	4:25 p. m.
C. & N. E.
Leaves Cisco	5:00 a. m.
Arrive Breckenridge	6:30 a. m.
Arrive Throckmorton	9:20 a. m.
Leaves Throckmorton	10:00 a. m.
Arrive Breckenridge	11:50 a. m.
Leaves Breckenridge	12:20 p. m.
Arrive Cisco	1:50 p. m.
SUNDAY
Leave Cisco	5:00 a. m.
Arrive Cisco	10:55 a. m.
M. K. & T.
No. 35 Ar. 12:20 p. m.; Lv. 1:05 p. m.
No. 38	8:40 a. m.
RADIO ORGAN.
ST. LOUIS, Feb. 27. — A radio pipe organ, acclaimed as the largest of its type in the world, now graces the studio of KMOX, here. The organ, according to its manufacturers, was produced specially for radio use, so it will record extremely low tones, instead of the usual high pitches to which previous radio organs have been limited.

Closing Selected New York Stocks

- American Can 67
- Am P & L 14 3-4
- Am Smelt 15 1-4
- Am T & E 127 1-2
- Amazonda 9 3-8
- Autbury Auto 86
- Aviation Corp Del 2 1-2
- Beth Steel 21 1-4
- Byers A M 16 7-8
- Case J I 35 1-2
- Chrysler 12 1-2
- Curtis Wright 1 1-4
- Elec Au L 29 1-4
- Elec St Bat 30 1-2
- Foster Wheel 9 1-2
- Fox Film 3 3-4
- Gen Elec 20 3-8
- Gen. Mot. 21
- Gillette S 20 3-8
- Goodyear 15 7-8
- Int Cement 15 1-2
- Int Harvester 23
- Johns Manville 22
- Kroger G & B 15 3-4
- Liq Carb 18
- Montg. Ward 9 1-8
- Nat Dairy 27 5-8
- Papa Public 9 5-8
- Phillips F 5
- Prairie O & G 5 3-4
- Furphy Bak 13 3-4
- Radio 9 1-4
- Gen. Reeback 33 5-8
- Shell Union Oil 5 5-8
- Southern Pacific 26 5-8
- Stan Oil N. J. 23 3-8
- Studebaker 10 3-8
- Texas Corp 11 3-4
- Texas Gulf Sul 24 3-8
- U. S. Gypsum 23 1-2
- U. S. Ind Alc 37
- U. S. Steel 47
- Vanadium 16 3-4
- Westing Elec 29 3-4
- Westinghouse 6 1-8
- Curb Stocks
- Ford M Ltd 5
- Gulf Oil Pa 28
- Humble 46 1-8
- Niag Hud Pwr 6 1-4
- Stan Oil Ind 15 3-8

Announcements

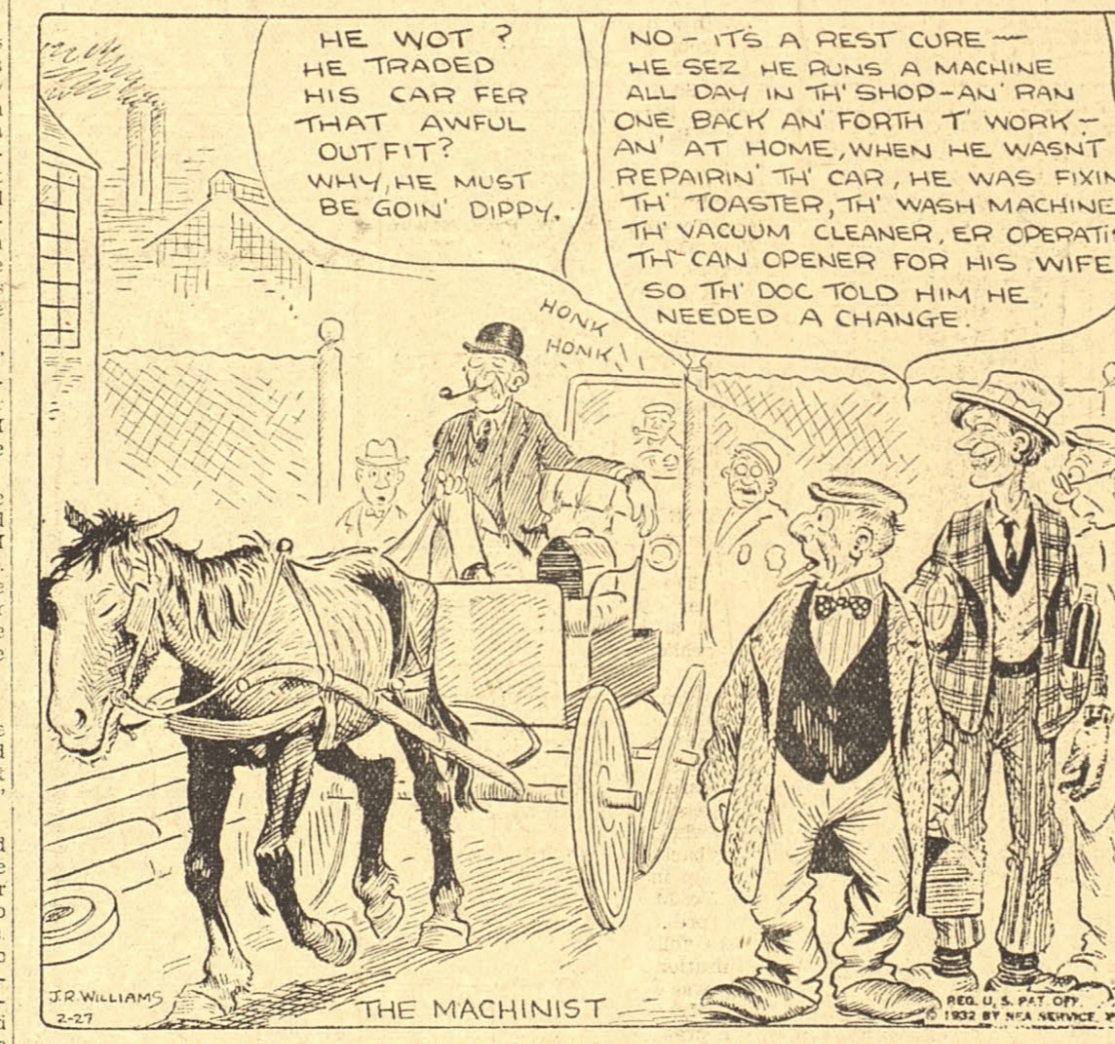

The Rotary club meets every Thursday at Laguna Hotel Private Dining Room at 12:15. Visiting Rotarians always welcome. President, H. S. DRUMWRIGHT; secretary, J. E. SPENCER.

Lions club meets every Wednesday at Laguna Hotel Coffee Shop at 12:15. President, O. J. ELLIOTT; president, O. J. TUNNELL; secretary, J. E. SPENCER.

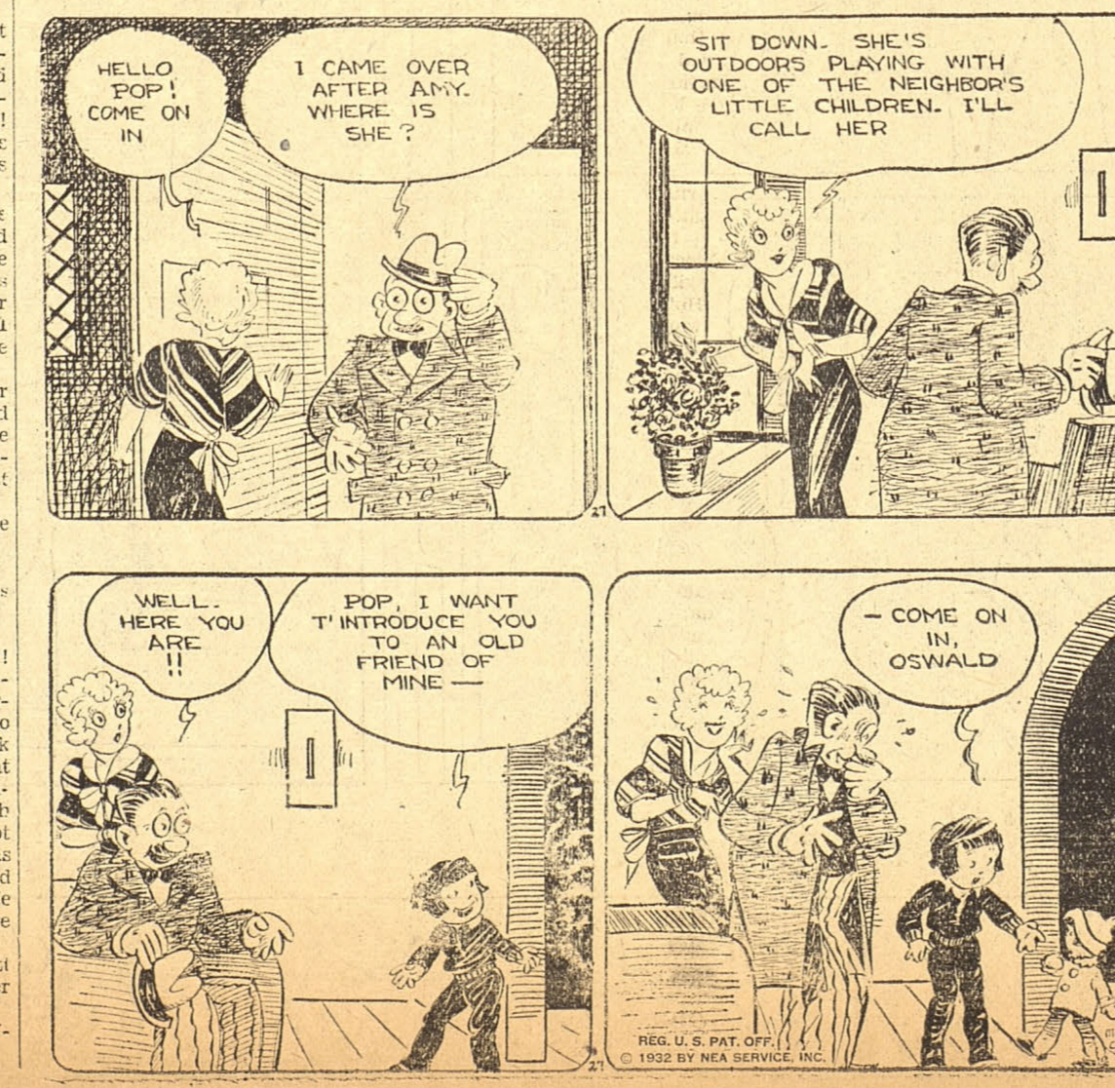

Bring Your Printing Problems to Us

CISCO DAILY NEWS
CISCO AMERICAN and
ROUNDUP

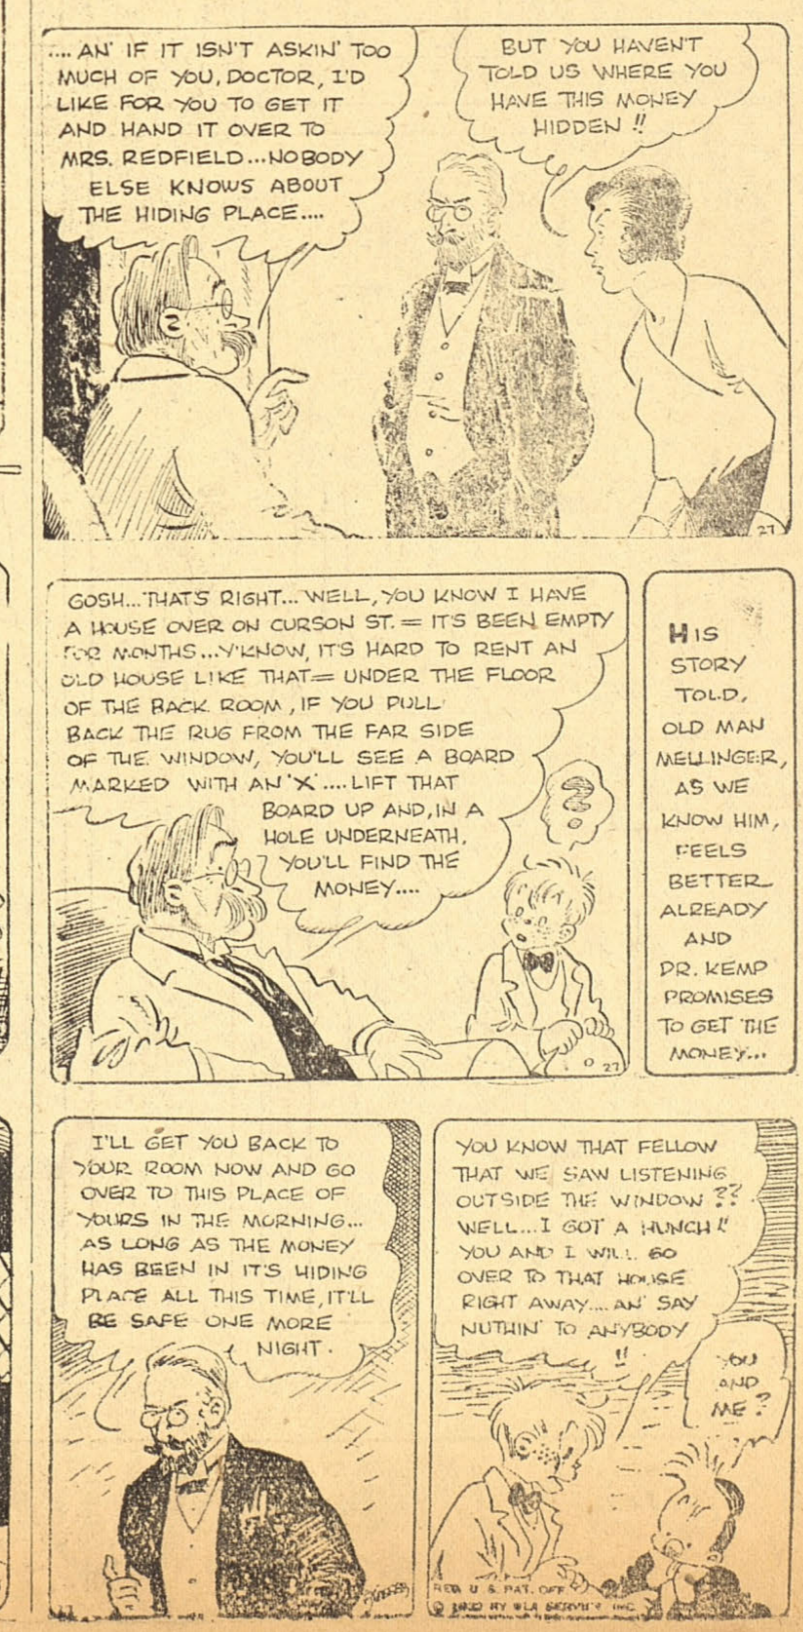

OUT OUR WAY

MOM'N POP.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee, Oklahoma.

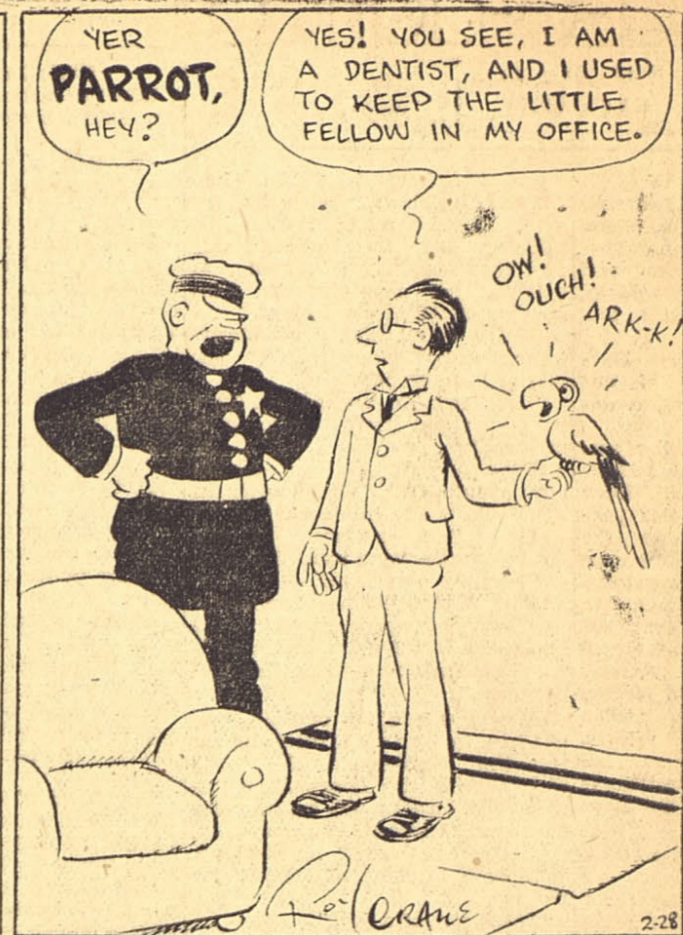

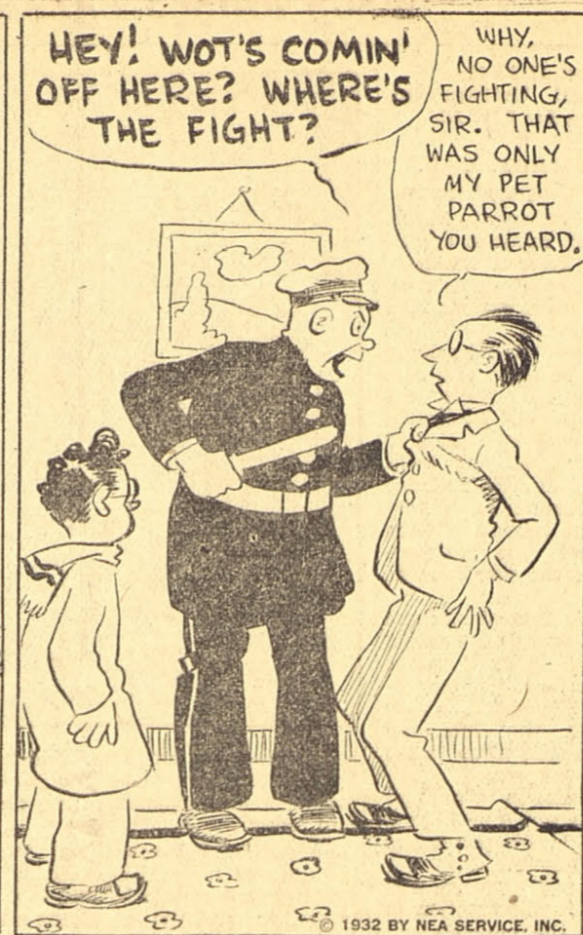

Now is the time that we should try to be optimistic and look forward with courage, individual and collective, in the hopes that the near future will bring better things.

If the cause of the world crisis were a deficiency in production, it would be a more serious matter than it is, since the task of curing it would be extremely difficult. Fortunately, it is not a crisis of production, for on account of the increasing application of science, the productivity of the land and of the workshop has grown rapidly, especially in recent years.

Here we have the fact of extending output, bringing misery in its train, a result of human endeavor not designed by Providence and which should not be tolerated by man. It is not human desire that sets the limit to consumption, but purchasing capacity.

The science of the money merchant has not progressed in the same ratio as the production of world commodities, and as a result there is an inadequate supply of currency and credit. To secure stability in the general level of prices—the quantity of money must increase as fast as production adds to the quantity of goods coming to market. We want economic progress to move forward. It is appalling to read day by day of the distress existent and at the same time to note that the so-called cause is "over production."

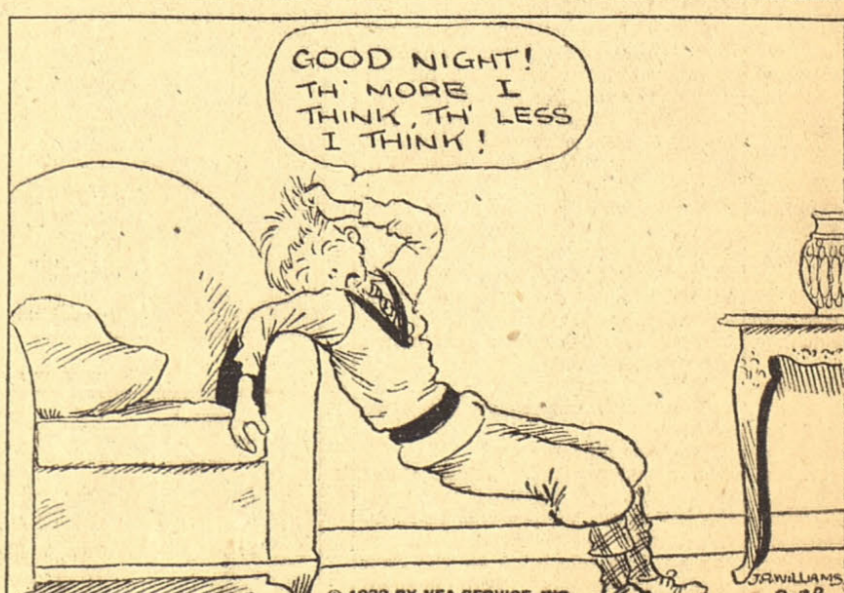

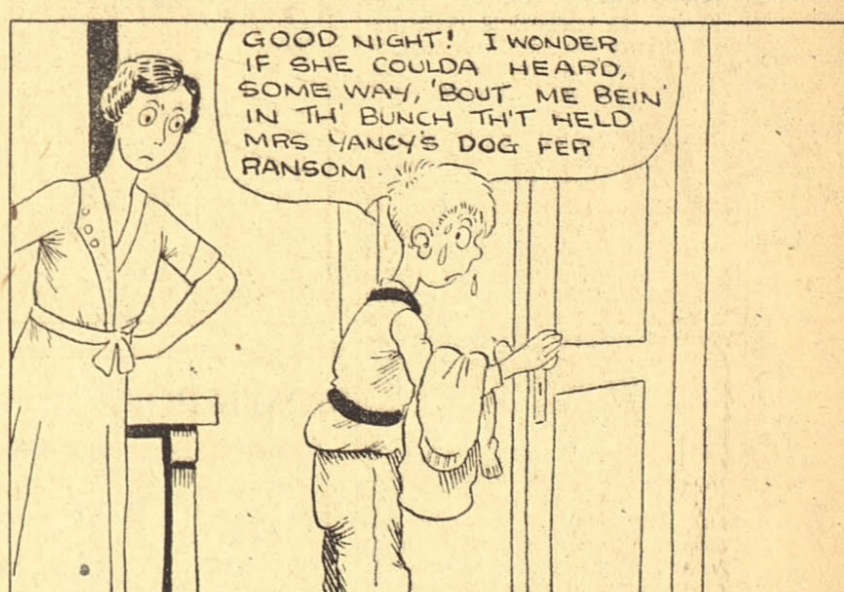

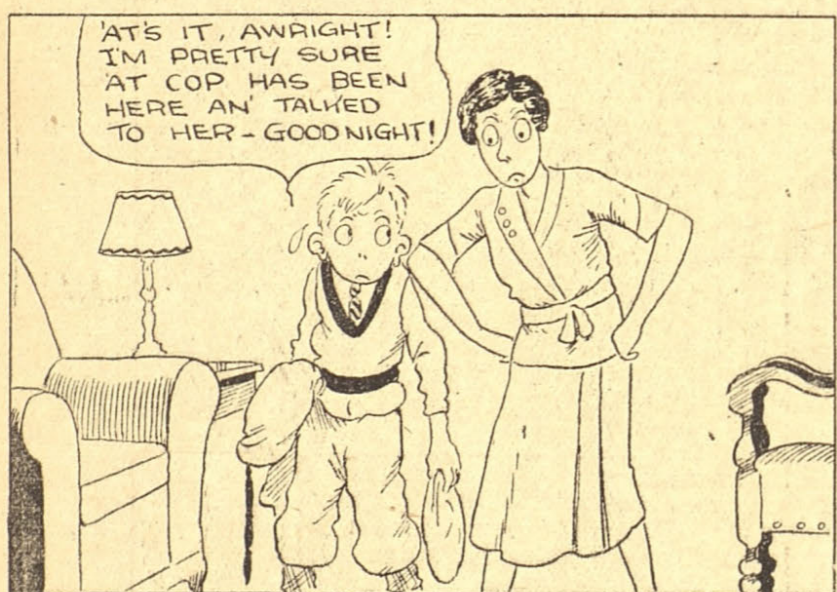

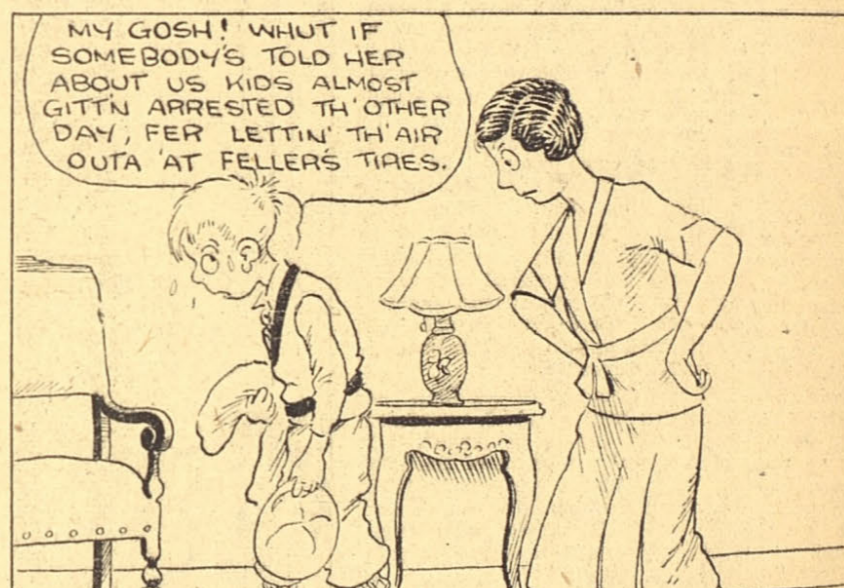

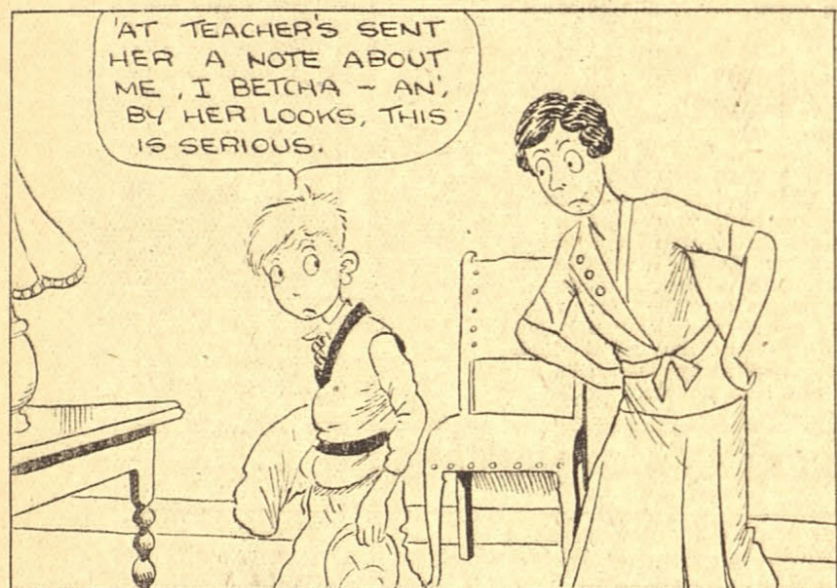

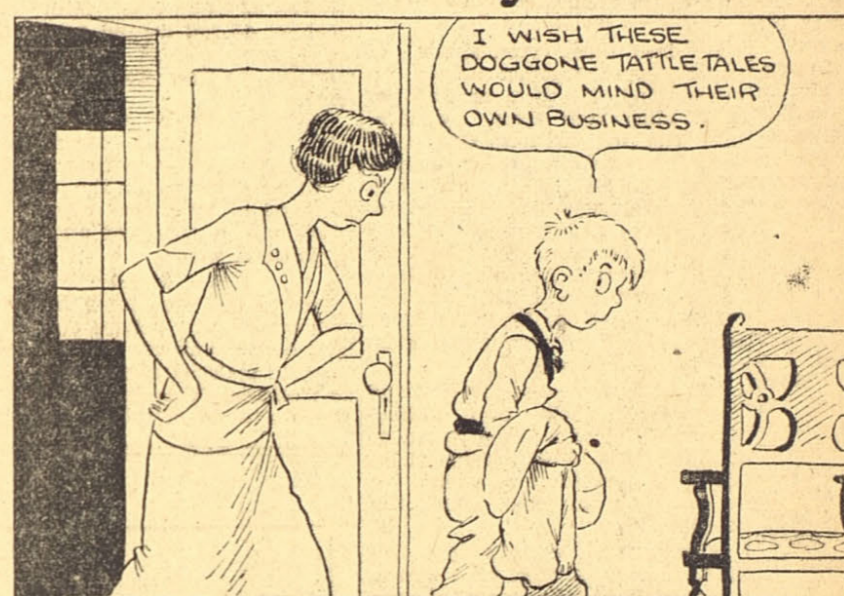

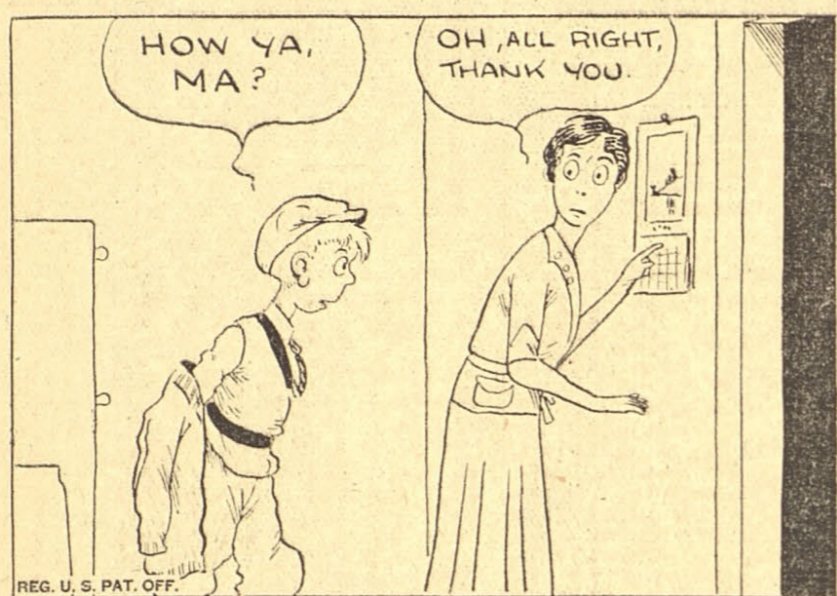

The possibility of existing circumstances being changed should cause the inborn optimism of mankind to burst forth once again and to turn from the present close study of obstacles, probabilities of failure and kindred thoughts which provoke pessimistic predictions and breed pessimism. Optimism, a boundless optimism, forms the basis of all human ideas and progress; so let us in this year before us divest ourselves of the mantle of pessimism and don that of optimism.

THE WILLETS

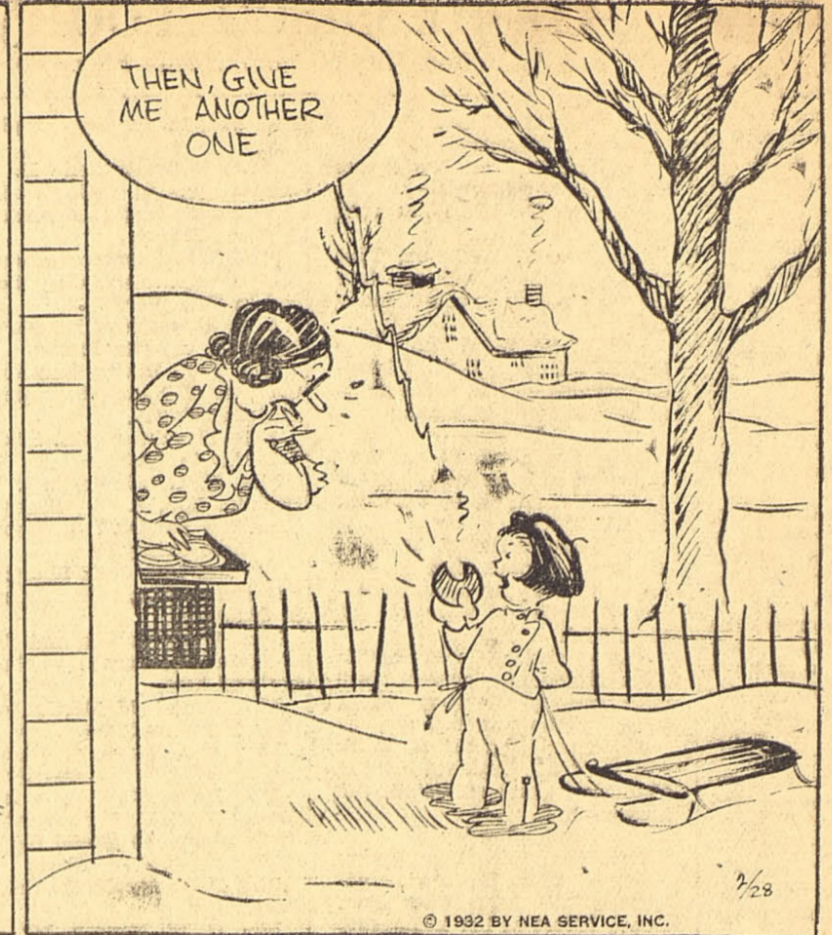

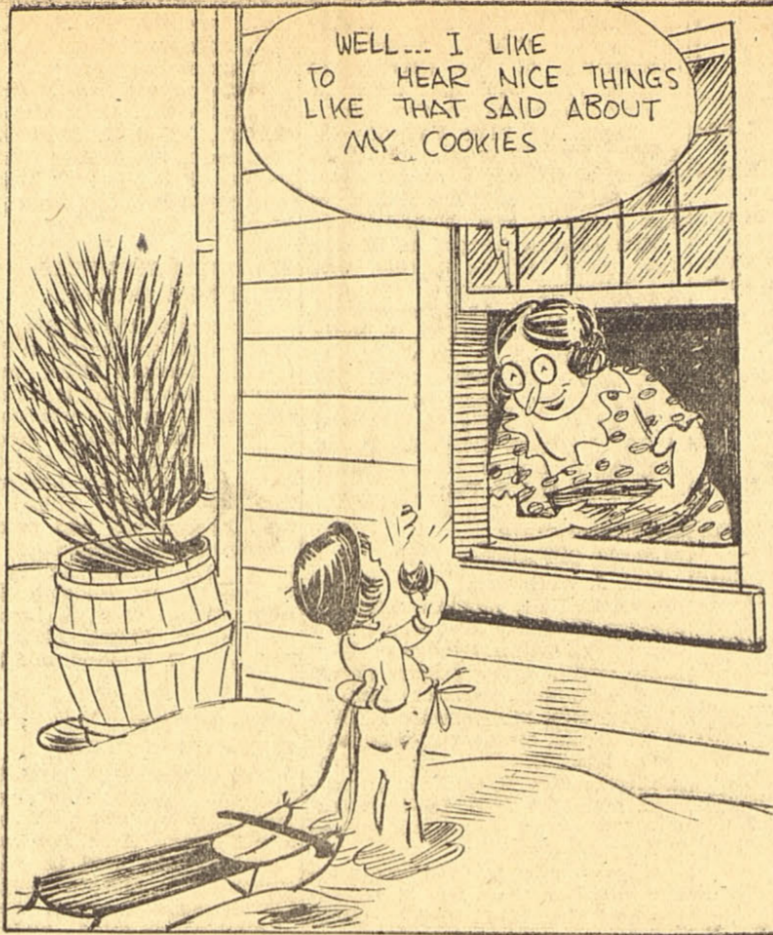

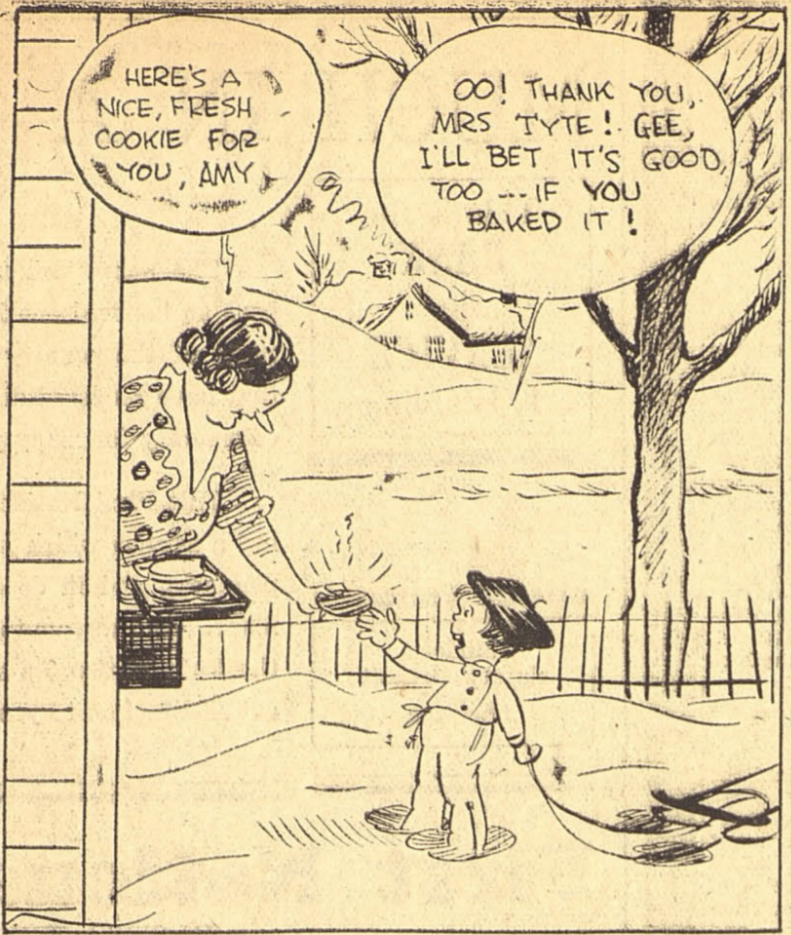

Out Our Way

By Williams

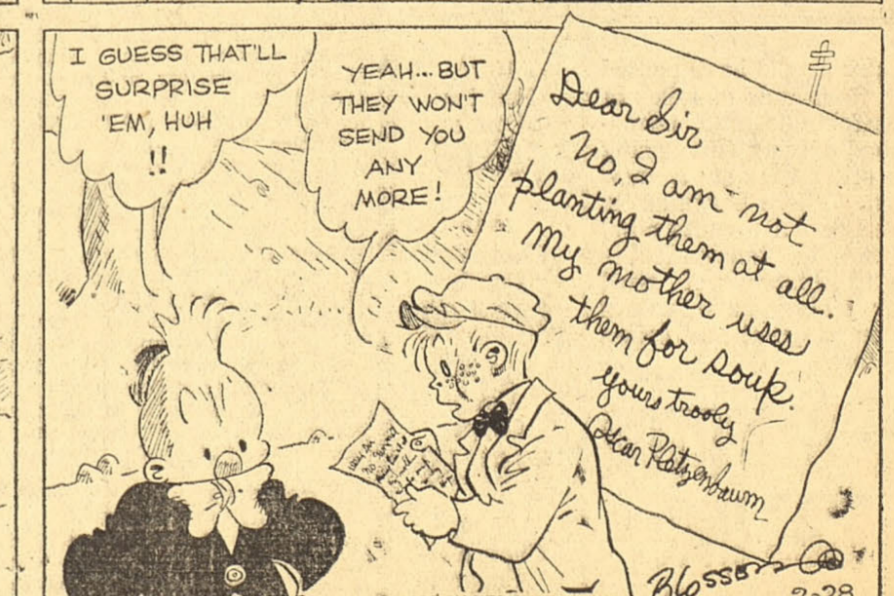

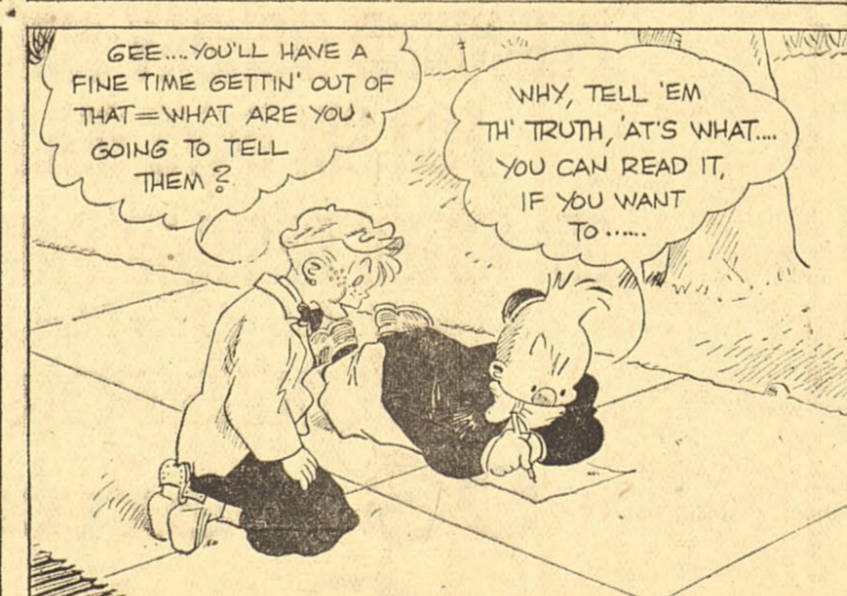

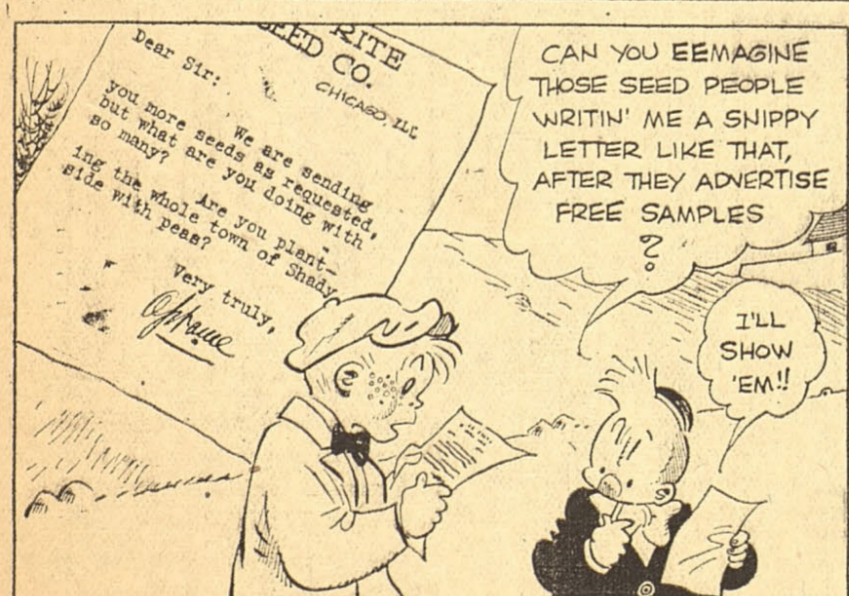

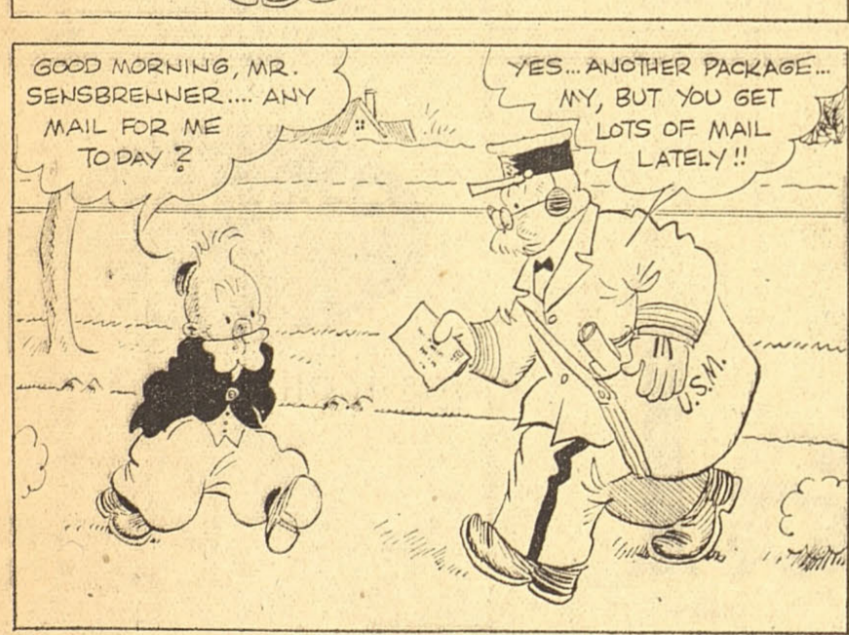

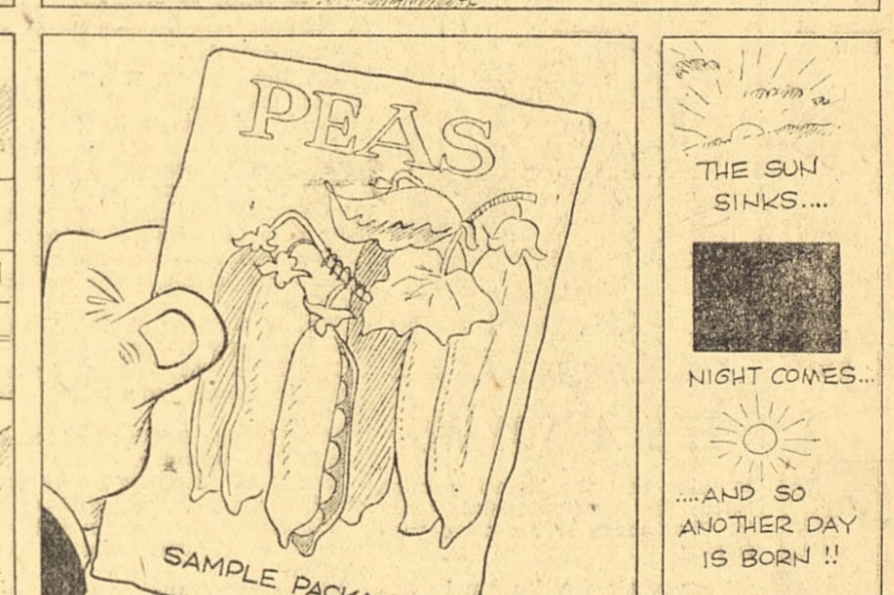

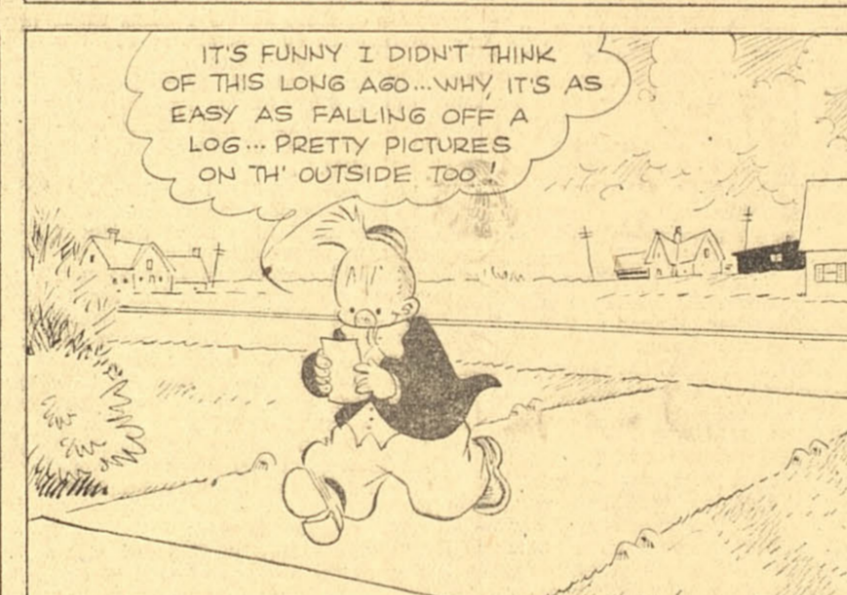

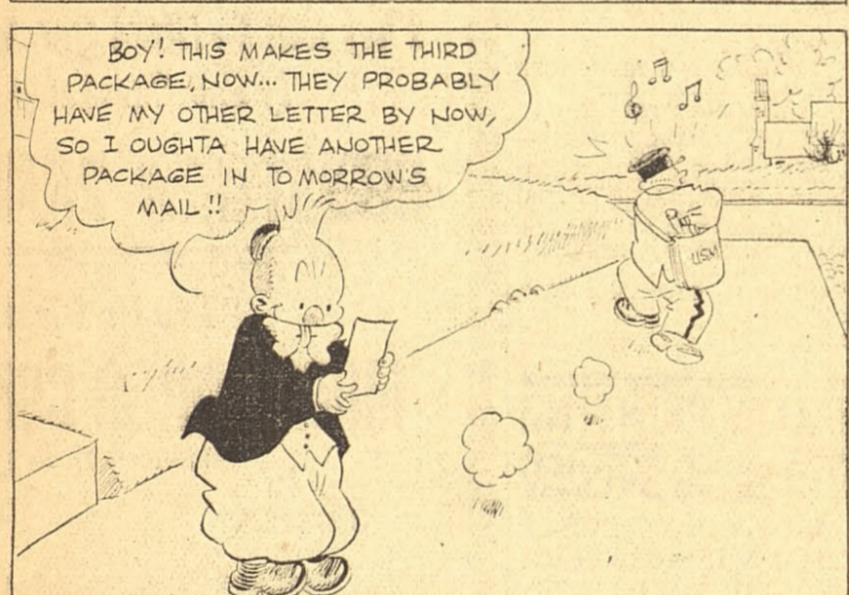

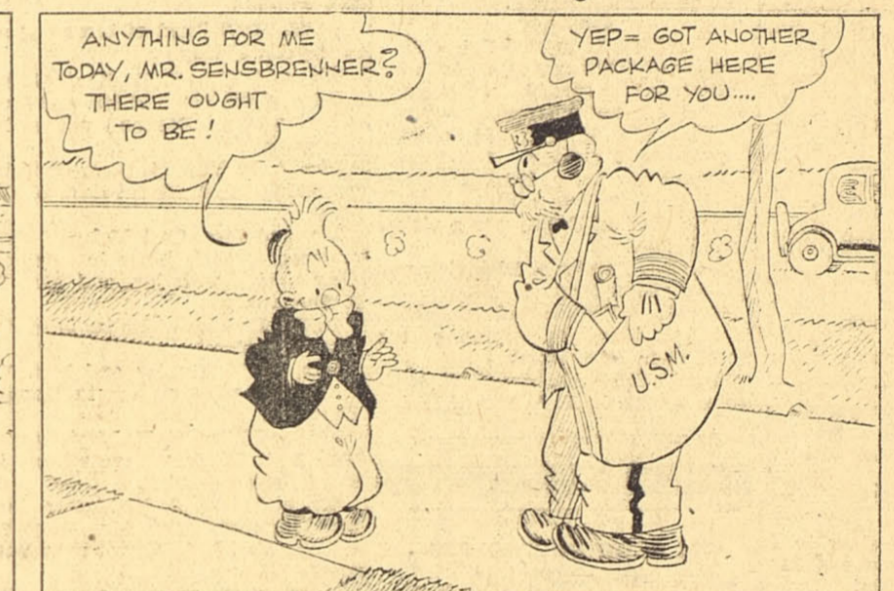

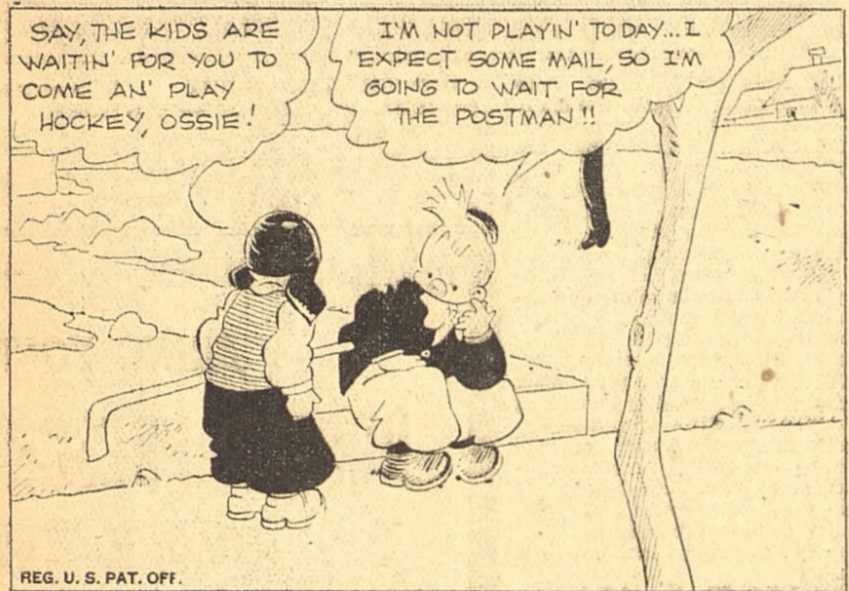

POO-ZOM

BY WOOD COWAN
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

By Blosser

Legion Head Urges Shorter Week Plan

McCAMEY, Feb. 27. — A Garland Adair, 5th division commander of the American Legion, believes that a step could be made toward solving the unemployment situation in Texas, if the state authorities would but demand that those companies and concerns which hold state contracts for highway and public buildings construction would adopt the five or six day plan instead of the seven day plan now being followed on many big projects.

He has written Governor Ross Sterling asking the views of the state executive on the question in order to ascertain the policy followed and the reason for so much highway work being done on Sundays. Adair says: "It occurs to me that highway or any other construction work seven days per week is a bad example for this state to follow when obedience to all laws needs to be stressed. Besides the five or six day plan, as endorsed by union labor would give employment to multiplied thousands of Texans who are today wondering how they are going to feed their families, if public works and building projects are to be regarded as opportune in furnishing labor for the unemployed when the state should make the most possible out of it by following the plan of not letting any employ work more than six days per week and cut out Sunday construction except when necessary."

LUCANIAN TOMBS NAPLES, Feb. 27. — Two Lucanian tombs, belonging to pre-Latin civilization have been brought to light at Paestum, the Greek city where two of the finest temples of ancient times are preserved. Copper ornaments and terra cotta vases of primitive manufacture were discovered.

FLANS REUNION MISSOULA, Mont., Feb. 27. — Flans are being laid for the greatest reunion of alumni of the University of Montana this June, when commencement exercises will attract unusually large crowds.

About Cisco Today

Society Editor, Miss Marjorie Noell—Phone 80.

CALENDAR

Monday

The 1929 Contract Bridge club will meet Monday with Mrs. F. D. Wright, 706 West Seventh street.

Mrs. B. W. Anderson, East Eighteenth street, will entertain the Ideal forty-two club Monday evening.

The Y. W. A. of the First Baptist church will meet Monday evening at 7:30 at the home of Miss Frances Coldwell.

Tuesday

The Presbyterian auxiliary will meet in a business session Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the church.

All circles of the W. M. S. of the First Baptist church will meet in a business session Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the church.

The Missionary Society of the First Methodist church will meet Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the church.

The Cisco Chapter O. E. S. will meet in regular session Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the Masonic hall.

Wednesday

The Happy Thimble Sewing club will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 with Mrs. Dewey Moore at her home, 1510 N. avenue.

Mrs. W. W. Wallace will entertain the Humble bridge club Wednesday afternoon at her home in Humboldt.

Thursday

The First Industrial Arts club will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. D. Barker, 208 West Ninth street.

Mrs. Wm. Reagan will entertain the Thursday forty-two club at her home, 508 I avenue.

C. W. Bell of Dallas was a visitor here Friday.

Mrs. Roy Lander of Plainview was a Cisco visitor Friday.

Mrs. L. A. White and daughter, Miss Lela Mae, are spending the weekend in Fort Worth.

Mrs. C. B. Harris, Mrs. C. R. Martin, and Mrs. E. F. Agnew of Rising Star were in the city shopping Friday.

Clyde G. Lightly and H. Nance were visitors in Dallas Friday.

Mrs. C. Stamey of Aspermont was in Cisco Friday.

Mrs. J. E. Spencer and daughter, Alice Estel, are spending the weekend in Fort Worth.

A. S. Adamson of Ranger was a visitor in the city Friday.

Mrs. T. A. Bowers and Mrs. Olive Cochran of Rising Star were here shopping Friday.

J. R. Slaughter spent Friday and Saturday in Wichita Falls.

Mrs. C. G. Sheets, Mrs. Henry Conklin, Mrs. A. T. Sheets, and Mrs. Ben Landreth of Rising Star were here Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shterzer have returned from a visit with relatives in Oklahoma.

Mrs. Wyatt Jacobs and daughter of Rising Star are spending the weekend here.

Mrs. John M. McGaughey of Pioneer was a Cisco visitor Friday.

Mrs. A. L. Erwin of Rising Star was a visitor in the city Friday.

Miss Helen Clark, who is a student at T. C. U., Fort Worth, arrived Saturday to attend the funeral of her uncle, J. J. Clark.

Mrs. F. E. Aycock is visiting in Sweetwater.

Mrs. C. W. Hanson, Mrs. L. R. Adams and Mrs. E. C. McClelland spent Saturday in Coleman.

Howard Brown and Charles Shepard are spending the weekend in San Antonio.

E. M. McClelland of Moran was in the city Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. West attend a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Byrnes in Eastland one night this week.

Mrs. A. P. Slater is reported to be improving after several days of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mahan have returned to their home in Abilene after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Shepard.

G. P. Mitchell of Dallas is in the city on business.

Mrs. O. M. Hunter and Mrs. W. A. Parrish were visitors in Ranger Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mayhew and Mrs. A. L. Mayhew were visitors in Baird Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Heysler are spending today with Mr. Heysler's mother, Mrs. J. A. Heysler near Putnam.

R. N. Cluck, H. Brandon, and T. L. Jeffries were business visitors in Abilene Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hayes of Dublin are spending the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Epe.

A. A. Michael and Chas. Trammell spent Saturday in Albany.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Kuntz and Mrs. Lexie D. Robinson of Rising Star were Cisco visitors Friday.

Mrs. Sam Baugh of Abilene is visiting her parents, Judge and Mrs. D. K. Scott.

Mrs. W. E. Tyler of Rising Star was in the city Friday.

Mrs. Ro-coe St. John of Abilene visiting relatives and friends here Friday.

Miss Maurine Pritchard of Moran was in Cisco Saturday.

Mr. D. W. Jones of Rising Star was in the city shopping Friday.

Miss Lillian Shterzer is at home from T. C. U., Fort Worth, this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Dabney and Mrs. Joe H. Jones of Eastland were in the city Friday.

Mrs. Tom Waugh of Strawn was a Cisco visitor Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McDaniel and children are spending the weekend in Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Ford and son, Lester, are spending the weekend in Santa Ana.

R. F. Davis has returned to his home in Dallas after an extended visit with relatives here.

Among the out-of-town people here to attend the funeral of J. J. Clark Saturday were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holloway and son and Mr. Sterling Holloway and son of Brownwood, Mr. and Mrs. Whit Sears of Capitan, New Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. John Sears of Carlbad, N. M., Burl Sears, Carlbad, N. M., Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Covey and daughter of Newlin, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Clark of Huntsville, Dr. Randolph Clark, and Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Holloway of Ranger, Mr. and Mrs. M. Hasler, Esther Sue Hasler, Lynn Hassler, Ellen Hassler, Mrs. F. H. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Chandler, Ella Frances Chandler, Clark Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Colwick, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chandler and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Chandler, Mrs. J. J. Clark, Miss Annie Lee Clark, Joseph Clark, Mrs. D. Malloy, Miss Wilma McPherson, all from Stephenville, Dr. and Mrs. J. Frank Clark of Abilene, Dr. Gordon Clark, T. M. Clark, of Iowa Park, Mrs. Clifford Deaton of Wichita Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Anderson of Waxahie, Mrs. Chas. Nebitt and son of Sherman, Joseph Chandler and Randolph Chandler of San Angelo.

W. J. Armstrong is in Oklahoma where he was called on account of the illness of his uncle.

XX CENTURY CLUB TALKS LIBRARY SITE. Discussion of a location for the new library building to be erected by the Twentieth Century club took place at the regular club meeting Friday afternoon at the clubhouse. At this time, a committee reported that the club would receive $3500 from the sale of its portion of the lot, on which the library building now stands, to the government, which will erect a Federal building on the site. The corresponding secretary was asked to write letters of thanks to Judge Butts, Wm. Reagan and Guy Dabney for their splendid services rendered in this matter. No definite action, however, was taken toward the selection of the new location.

The program on Texas History, led by Mrs. W. K. Esgen, was carried out as follows: Paper, "A Comparison of the Services of Houston and Austin," Mrs. A. Spears; Discussion on the Texas Revolution, (1) "The Fall of the Alamo," Mrs. J. B. Cate; (2) "The Retreat of Houston's Army," Mrs. J. C. McAfee; (3) "The Battle of San Jacinto," Mrs. Hubert Seale.

Miss Mildred Yeager of Putnam was a visitor at this meeting with the following members present: Mesdames J. T. Anderson, Chas. Brown, J. R. Burnett, J. J. Butts, Hubert Seale, J. B. Cate, E. P. Crawford, T. J. Dean, C. H. Fee, George T. Fee, Ernest Hiltson, C. J. Jones, G. B. Kelly, R. Q. Lee, J. C. McAfee, Wm. Reagan, P. P. Shepard, A. Spears, Homer Slicker, C. R. West and P. Pettit.

MOTHERS CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS. Mrs. J. E. Spencer was elected president of the Mothers club at a meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Chas. Sandler on West Ninth street. Other officers elected for the ensuing year were Mrs. H. Price, first vice-president; Mrs. S. W. Coplin, second vice-president; Mrs. Chas. Sandler, third vice-president; Mrs. E. O. Elliott, treasurer, and Mrs. J. B. Loftin, secretary. The entire session was devoted to business issues.

The club welcomed two new members at this meeting, Mrs. R. L. Wilson and Mrs. H. L. Dyer. Other members present were Mesdames C. O. Pass, Draganis, J. B. Loftin, J. M. Whitten, S. W. Coplin, J. E. Spencer, Chas. Sandler and J. V. Heysler.

MRS. GREER HOSTESS TO ENTIRE NOUS CLUB. The Entire Nous Bridge club met Friday afternoon with Mrs. K. N. Greer at her home on M avenue. Japonica added floral loveliness to rooms where games of contract bridge were enjoyed during the afternoon hours. A delicious salad course was served at the refreshment hour.

Members present were Mesdames: W. J. Armstrong, F. J. Borman, Ruby Miller, George Adkins, Lee Smith, Rex Moore, R. C. McCarter, Ralph Reed, and the hostess.

MISS MARIAN MAYER HOSTESS TO CLUB. Entertaining for members of the 8 Bridge club, Miss Marian Mayer was hostess at a pretty appointed party Thursday evening at her home on West Ninth street. Floral decorations, featuring violets, gave emphasis to a Springtime motif, which was artistically reflected in appointments for game tables. The high score prize was awarded Mrs. A. D. McGinnis, and low score went to Miss Blanch Van Horn. A very attractive refreshment plate was served at the close of the games.

Members and guests present were Misses Louise Trammell, Laura Lou Waring, Catherine Cunningham, Ester Hale, Marie Winston, Juanita Mayberry, Elizabeth Dial, Viola Laymuyon, Blanch Van Horn, Mesdames Arthur Cunningham, R. N. Cluck, A. D. McGinnis, Wallace Britain, and the hostess.

MRS. JAMISON HOSTESS TO CLUB. Mrs. A. E. Jamison was hostess to the Darning and Mending club at a one o'clock luncheon at her home on West Ninth street Thursday. Colors of green and white were attractively combined in a scheme for decorations. A lovely bouquet of sweet peas fashioned a floral centerpiece for the table where a delicious luncheon was served. The early afternoon hours were enjoyably spent in needle work.

Those present were Mesdames W. Wallace, F. D. McMahon, Wm. Burkett, Elizabeth Morrow, M. L. McGannon, W. J. Armstrong, F. J. Borman, P. R. Warwick, Mrs. Joseph Mason of Pittsburgh, Penn., and the hostess.

SEWING CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. MILLER. Members of the Happy Thimble Sewing club were guests in the home of Mrs. Leonard Miller on West Tenth street at the regular weekly meeting Wednesday afternoon. The early afternoon hours were pleasantly spent in sewing and conversing. At tea time, the hostess served sandwiches, potato chips, pickles, olives, pecan pie, and cocoa.

Present were Mesdames Dewey Moore, Ed Huestis, Leith Morris, George Sazma, Rudolph Schaefer, Ralph Smith, C. E. Hickman, Ernest Lenson, Jimmie Allen, H. A. Crosby, J. E. Jamison, and the hostess.

MRS. PIPPEN ENTERTAINS CLUB. Mrs. Jack Pippet entertained the Modernistic club Thursday afternoon at her home on West Fourteenth street. A St. Patrick motif was strikingly used in all bridge appointments, and was suggested in the refreshment course, consisting of combination salad, wafers, and coffee, which was served after the game hour. The high score prize was won by Mrs. Wallace Britain and Mrs. Lloyd Surles received the cut prize, a deck of cards.

Those enjoying this occasion were Mesdames Ted Huestis, A. N. Crownover, Jack Jones, Lloyd Surles, R. B. Gustafson, Joe Black, Lonnie Tullios, Smith Huestis, George Wild, Jack Elkins, Wallace Britain and the hostess.

RESIGNED FROM HIS PASTORATE here and soon expects to leave the state. "Now therefore, we, the brethren in the ministry, constituting the Ministerial Alliance of Elk City, wish to express in a public way our profound appreciation and Christian love for Brother Moad.

"Because of the Gospel which he has faithfully preached for these many years and because of the consecration of his personal life he has upheld the highest moral and spiritual standards in the community.

"We therefore, regret very much the departure of Brother Moad and his family from Elk City and believe we express the sentiment of the Christian citizenship in commending them to the community to which they are moving and praying the continual blessings of the Heavenly Father on them and their work.

"Signed this 8th day of February, 1932.

"ELK CITY MINISTERIAL ALLIANCE."

BROTHER TIE MT. WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. — This town had to hold a special election because in the regular election Ezra and Irving Whitbeck were tied in the selector contest with 16 votes each. They are brothers.

Brownfield — Brownfield Sanitarium opened.

QUALITY PRINTING With Quick Service CISCO DAILY NEWS CISCO AMERICAN and ROUNDUP

MUCH IN A NAME!

This is the BANK that SERVICE is Building

Modern Safety Deposit Service

First National Bank

IN CISCO, TEXAS

Member Federal Reserve System

The name "First National Bank" has long been an honored one in American banking. In all parts of the country are First National Banks that have rendered distinguished service to their community for many years.

This First National Bank takes pride in giving a service which in constructiveness, in completeness, and in dependability is worthy of its name. And we aim to make your connection with the First National a source of solid and permanent satisfaction to you!

him several feet in the air. He was killed.

OLD SHELL KILLS BOY GORIZIA, Italy, Feb. 27. — Digging with a pick, 17-year-old Giuseppe Jussek struck a shell, which had lain buried since the war, which exploded it. The explosion threw Walnut Springs — Drilling operations resumed at test well eight miles northeast of here.

NEW CHURCH OF GOD PASTOR IS GIVEN WELCOME

The Rev. W. S. Moad, who arrived with his family from Elk City, Oklahoma, Thursday to begin his duties as pastor of the Church of God, here, received a generous welcome to Cisco Friday evening when more than 40 members of the church streamed into the parsonage with arm loads of groceries and gifts of other kinds. An enjoyable evening was spent after the informal appearance of the guests with their gifts.

The Rev. Mr. Moad was pastor of the Elk City church for eight years. He expressed himself as delighted with the prospect in Cisco.

He will preach his first sermon as pastor of the church this morning at 11 o'clock upon the subject "Knowing Christ." The public is cordially invited to hear him.

At Elk City the ministerial alliance took note of the Rev. Mr. Moad's departure with the passage of resolutions expressing regret at his leaving and commending himself and his family to the people of Cisco.

The resolutions read: "Whereas, Rev. W. S. Moad, minister of the Church of God of Elk City, for the last eight years has

BRING YOUR DOCTOR PRESCRIPTIONS TO OUR STORE

They will be filled Quickly, Skillfully and Correctly by a REGISTERED PHARMACIST

"Try Us First" MOORE DRUG COMPANY Nyal Service Drug Store Service. Quality.

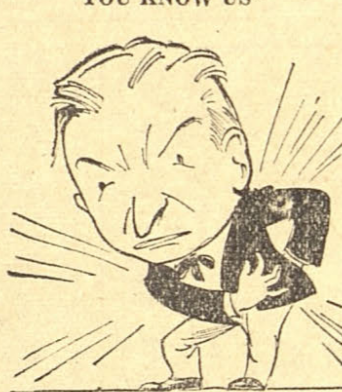

PALACE NOW PLAYING

A love-story to make you fall in love again! Montgomery at his best!

ROBERT MONTGOMERY "Lovers Courageous" By Frederick Lonsdale with Madge Evans Roland Young

Tues.-Wed., Mar. 1-2. 'UNION DEPOT' with Douglas Fairbanks Jr.

"WE KNOW CHEVROLETS— YOU KNOW US" to think that the biggest question before the American people today is, "How much is the down payment?"

IT'S ANNOYING

Your repair question can be settled by Chevrolet specialists at this shop. Constant experience with Chevrolet cars qualifies us to do any phase of repair work on them. We will recondition your car with every possible dispatch and at lowest rates conversant with quality mechanical performance.

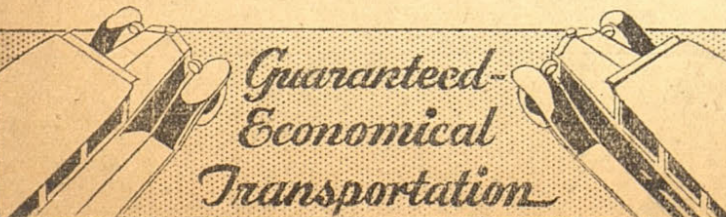

A. G. Motor Co., Inc. Corner 6th and Main.

For Spring A GOOD USED CAR

- 1927 Oldsmobile Coupe $83.50
1927 Chrysler Coach $65.00
1927 Pontiac Coach $75.00
1928 Ford Roadster $97.50
1927 Pontiac Coupe $85.00
1930 Chevrolet Coach $324.00
1929 Ford Coupe $163.50
1930 Chevrolet Coupe $298.00

A. G. MOTOR CO., INC. Corner Ave. D at Sixth St.

Guaranteed Economical Transportation

Extra Special

BEGINNING MONDAY MORNING FOR SIX DAYS ONLY 35¢ KOTEX REGULAR PACKAGE (Sold in Lots of Four Pkgs.) 4 BOXES FOR 98 cents

C. Ino. H. Garner's THE DEPENDABLE STORE Cisco's Big Department Store

CERTIFIED SILK gives them EXTRA SHEERNESS ... LONGER WEAR!

PHOENIX HOSIERY 85¢ to $1.25

Now—all raw silk used in Phoenix Hosiery is certified by a famous laboratory as having passed rigid tests for high quality and freedom from defects. This accounts for the amazingly lovely sheerness and longer wear of Phoenix Hosiery.

Eric, noted Paris artist, has sponsored Spring hosiery colors for Phoenix—Boulevard Tones. Five elusive shades—so smart with all Spring costumes.

Buy Quality Hose for Real Service