TEXAS FARM BUREAU VICTOR IN THIRTEEN CASES IN LEGAL FIGHT OVER COTTON DEALS WHEN CONTRACT WELCHERS VIOLATE CODE

Temporary Restraining Orders Have Been Granted in Some Instances and Permanent Ones in Other — Association Heads Declare That They Will Fight to Finish.

DALLAS, Oct. 16.—Thirteen cases in which legal action has been brought against members of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association for alleged violation of contract resulted in favor of the association, Milton Sapiro, legal counsel for the association, announced in a report to the directors at their meeting here.

Temporary restraining orders have been granted in eight cases in four counties and permanent injunctions have been granted against five men in another county.

Temporary injunctions have been granted against Vergil Kyle, J. W. Lann, W. D. Smith and T. N. Griffin of Bowie county, R. L. Cashion and J. S. Ezell of Johnson county, G. D. Richie of Taylor county and J. F. Fisher of Travis county.

Permanent injunctions have been granted against Will Ashorn, Joe Kuta, H. B. Cruse, Will Schroder and Andrew Mikalajczak of Grimes county. Such instances of district judges refuse to grant permanent injunctions will be appealed by Association Attorneys to a higher court.

“These restraining orders have been granted by district judges to prevent members of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association from selling their cotton outside the association,” John T. Orr, president of the association says. “We regret that a few of our members are violating their contract which was made in good faith. The principles of common honesty demands that the terms of this contract be carried out to the letter. We regret that we are compelled by insistent demands of loyal members to take action against contract welchers. Open violations of contract are few but we expect to enforce this contract. The effect of the injunctions granted the associations is to compel members to ship their cotton in keeping with the terms of a five year contract which has four years more to run.”

DENTON MAN IS WOUNDED WHEN RESISTING ARREST

DENTON, Oct. 15.—Gordon Davidson of Denton was shot through the body and seriously injured on the street here Sunday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Nick Akin. According to Akin, Davidson had been arrested on a charge of theft and he was on his way to the county jail with him when the prisoner broke and ran. According to Akin's statement, he was running after him with an automatic pistol in his hand when he stumbled, discharging the pistol accidentally. The ball struck Davidson in the back and came out through his abdomen. After being given emergency treatment he was taken to a Dallas hospital his wound being pronounced dangerous. A charge of assault to murder was filed against Akin in Justice court.

LEGION LIASON OFFICER COMING FOR CELEBRATION

Hudson Will Also Discuss and Handle Claims for Disabled Ex-Soldiers.

W. R. Hudson, legion liason representative will be in Cisco during the big Armistice Day celebration next month and also several days before and after for the purpose of handling claims for members of the local legion. His letter to Criegler Paschall, commander of the local post which follows is self explanatory:

I beg to acknowledge receipt of yours of the 4th instant extending to me an invitation to be the guest of your Post during Armistice Day Celebration on Nov. 11th, and to advise you that it will give me extreme pleasure to be with you on this day.

I note that it is your plan to bring in between 300 and 500 ex-service men who are dissatisfied with their claims and probably have me interview each one of these men during my stay there.

In view of the fact that it would take some ten to fifteen days to interview this many men and assist them in their claims, I would suggest that I have an opportunity to discuss the conditions as a whole with your Red Cross representatives and with the Post Service Officers, and others who have interested themselves in the prosecution of claims for disabled ex-service men. In addition to this I would probably have time to personally interview those men who have the most difficult and most worthy claims at this time.

I believe that by informing those members of the American Legion and those representatives of the American Red Cross who are interested in these claims, that those of you who are on the ground all the time could more ably assist them by virtue of the fact that you would be more properly informed as to the procedure, methods and plans of the Veterans' Bureau. It is possible that I can be in Cisco the 10th, 11th, or the 11th and 12th of November, which would give me two days instead of one to assist you in your program of service to the disabled ex-service men. With very kindest personal regards, and again thanking you for your kind invitation, I am Sincerely yours,

W. R. HUDSON, Legion Liason Representative, District No. 14, U. S. Veterans' Bureau.

“TAKE A CHANCE” IS REASON FOR SWINDLER'S PLAY

Lew Wallace Warns Local Folks Against Slick Stock Artists From the North.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—It has often been asserted that when the sharpers and swindlers want to do business on a large scale they flock to New York City and find more “easy marks,” “good things” and “come ons,” than they can find in any other section of the country. No doubt that is true for New York is the center of the most populous region of the United States. No statistics have been prepared on the subject, but the best information at hand shows that the crop of “suckers” average about the same all over the country. The vendor of fake stocks seems to find victims everywhere in proportion to the population.

Commenting on this subject, Lew Wallace, Jr., Director of the Government Savings System, says that the gambling spirit among the people, the desire of the average American to “take a chance,” is responsible for the success of the fakers, swindlers and sharpers who are taking money away from the people. “Here is where the government steps in and does a great work,” said the director. “It offers the people a high class investment in the Treasury Savings Certificates, a security that is within the reach of all, and at the same time it is carrying on an educational campaign to tell the people to avoid the swindlers. Speaking of New York as the best of the sharpers I am reminded that only recently, right here in the National Capital under the shadow of the Washington monument, as it were, the business men found it expedient to organize to protect the people against fake stock selling concerns. Bankers, merchants and professional men, as well as the more humble citizens are being caught by the shrewd operators. It was estimated that 100 concerns were selling worthless stock and other fake securities in the city of Washington. It is amazing that these swindlers can succeed in the face of all the warnings which have been given them against such persons.”

LITTLE FOUR YEAR OLD TOT KILLED BY FAST SPEEDING CAR IN EASTLAND TODAY

(Special to the News)

EASTLAND, Oct. 16.—Driving his car at a rate said to be at least fifty miles an hour according to eye witnesses, Clyde Turner, early this morning, struck and killed, four year old Dorothy Horner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Horner, 608 South Freeman street, as she was crossing the street in front of her parents home. So great was the speed of the car which struck the little girl, that it skidded more than 100 feet, with the brakes set. Assistant County Attorney Barnes measured the distance after the accident and found that the car had actually skidded 124 feet. Little Dorothy's body and legs were crushed by both front and rear wheels. This last accident followed close on the removal of all traffic officers recently who admitted their inability to control reckless driving. Young Turner has been arrested and charged with negligent homicide.

KATY TO RESTORE NIGHT PASSENGER SERVICE FOR SHOW

The M. K. & T. Lines will restore night passenger train service on the Texas Central division between Waco and Rotan, October 20th, just in advance of the opening of the Texas Cotton Palace Exposition at Waco. Operation of these trains was discontinued temporarily in July as a result of the shop strike, but M. K. & T. conditions have so improved as to make possible the restoration of the service. The M. K. & T. Lines have now restored practically all passenger train service discontinued because of the strike and service everywhere is practically restored to normal. The railroad is handling a much heavier freight traffic than it was a year ago, cotton movement being particularly heavy. Since August 1st the M. K. & T. has handled approximately 45 per cent more cotton than was handled in the same period last year, and the daily movement of loaded cars is heavier than it has been since the peak business of 1920. M. K. & T. shop forces have been recruited to 92 per cent of normal, and while it may be sometime before the effects of the shop strike are completely overcome, service everywhere is rapidly approaching normal basis despite the increased volume of traffic.

POLITICAL FEUD RESULTS IN DEATH OF FRED ROBERTS

CORPUS CHRISTI, Oct. 16.—A fatal flareback to the Nueces county July primary was staged here Saturday afternoon as result of which Fred Roberts prominent for many years in Corpus Christi affairs, is dead, and four men are in the county jail. The men in custody are Frank Robinson, sheriff of Nueces County; Lee Petzel, constable; Joe Acebo, a special officer, and Cleve Goff, a farmer. No charges had been filed late Saturday night. Roberts was shot and instantly killed at 4:30 Saturday afternoon, as he sat in his automobile in front of G. E. Warren's store, on Railroad Avenue and Staples Street, in what is known as the “hill district” of Corpus Christi. The killing followed an extended argument in Warren's store, and was preceded, it was said, by promiscuous shooting, both inside and outside of the store. Three bullets pierced Robert's body after he had leaped into his automobile, and he fell back dead without a word. A short while afterwards Chief of Police Fox arrested Petzel and Acebo at the scene of the shooting. Sheriff Robinson and Goff were taken into custody in the sheriff's office. While the city is quiet tonight, two rangers are en route here. They were ordered out by Governor Neff at the request of County Judge Sutherland and Mayor Lovenskiold.

HANDSOME PEGGY BEAL FACES JURY ON MURDER CHARGE

Accused of Killing “Most Perfect Lover in the World” in Kansas City Hotel Recently.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 16.—Climaxing the dramatic scenario of a tale of love which developed into a tragedy that attracted nationwide attention, Marie “Peggy” Beal will go to trial in criminal court here, next week on a charge of murder in the second degree. Crawling through the transom of a room in a prominent Kansas City hotel, early in the morning of June 3, police found Frank Warren Anderson, scion of a respected Philadelphia family, hero of a hundred daring aviation feats, and since the war a department store educational director, dead—a bullet through his brain.

Beside him lay “Peggy” Beal, a self inflicted bullet wound in her right side, her sicken undergarments smouldering where burning powder had ignited them. “Don't ask me why I shot him,” the woman gasped, and then fell into unconsciousness. Not ten hours before this same woman had displayed to a neighbor a pack of love letters written by the man she is accused of killing. “He is a perfect lover—the most wonderful in the world,” she had styled him to the interested neighbor.

The bundle of love missives were found later in Anderson's trunk. With them was another bundle—one containing a booklet in which were the names of 50 “other women” from all sections of the country with whom Anderson had been infatuated. At the bottom of the list was inscribed the word “Peggy.”

“Peggy” had come to Kansas City from Dayton to be near her “perfect lover” who had promised to marry her. Breaking this promise, she claims, caused Frank Anderson's death. “I did it to save the others,” Peggy explained when questioned as to her motive. “Peggy” has just recuperated sufficiently to stand trial. She spent weeks in the hospital recovering from her burns, and underwent a skin grafting operation, the result of her unsuccessful attempt to follow her “perfect lover” to the grave.

“Every available resource will be brought into action to secure a conviction,” announced Cameron Orr, County Prosecuting Attorney, who will conduct the state case. George Birmingham, a prominent Kansas City lawyer, will defend “Peggy”. The penalty for conviction is life imprisonment.

Defense attorneys gave notice that a motion for a new trial will be filed.

By the Associated Press. NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 16.—The American Legion opened its 4th annual convention here today. Hundreds of delegates heard the reports of the national commander, and adj. Gen. MacNider, national commander, declared that the American Legion guarded the interests of the service men as its first duty. He said the legion would fight for compensation act that started to fight.” The American Legion convention here will consist of three things, according to today:

- 1. Adoption of a resolution to organize the fight for compensation so that a similar bill will be adopted by congress. 2. Movement by the legion posts through the country to bring the public pressure to bear to expedite and unrelenting all war fraud cases. 3. Passage of a resolution addressed to congress to cut down on the number of points where the day is only 25,000 solutions will urge economic provisions in the defense.

Care for the As part of its fight for service men, the legion has demanded that care be given the wounded. Indications of the system of the legion in for attack.

So far as the legion expressed its opinion that congress at this time pass a measure which would be a relief to the bonus developed for adjusted compensation.

But there are many which will be thrashed out at the convention opens tomorrow. The delegates were thought to business, for the Paris of America—its arms to them. Officers men and women and business community have joined which is being given.

COST OF STOCK GAMBLING.
 An officer of the Stock Exchange Security Corporation, speaking to an audience in Washington, D. C., gave some useful information as to the inevitable cost of marginal gambling in stocks.
 All that the average stock gambler considers, he says, is the chance of winning or losing. What might be called the overhead expense of the sport is ignored. Yet, said the speaker, the brokerage charges, taxes and commission make a tariff of about $30 on every marginal transaction of $100.
 It is the gambler, or investor, who pays this, of course. The brokers are not working for the fun of it merely, and the stock exchange is no charitable institution.
 Suppose, then, that a gambler in "margins" has no bad luck but guesses right half of the time. Does he "break even?" Far from it. He pays for his fun $3 out of every $10 he invests and loses 30 per cent of his capital.
 A little figuring will show that to finish with as much money as he started with, over a long period of playing the market, he must actually guess right 30 per cent of the time. Mighty few stock gamblers can do that, and that is why most of them lose in the long run.

DEBTS AND PROSPERITY.
 Experts seem to disagree about the imminence of prosperity.
 At the bankers' convention in New York, as a financial writer observes, everybody from Secretary Mellon down was telling the bankers that good times had arrived and they would find things booming by the time they got back home. And the bankers seemed disposed to believe it.
 About the same time the National Association of Credit Men at Atlantic City was adopting a resolution declaring there is no ground for believing that a business boom is in sight and advising merchants not to be enthusiastic about buying.
 Professional psychology doubtless has something to do with this. A credit man's work tends to make him pessimistic. Hearing so many hard luck stories from people who cannot pay what they owe, he is inevitably impressed with the badness of business conditions. It takes a super-boom to make a credit man smile. The banker hears some of this, but he is more subject to optimistic influences. People wanting to borrow money are always telling him how bright their prospects are.
 Yet the credit men's position, while it may need a little discounting, is doubtless based on solid facts. They judge of the times by the way people pay their debts, and they find that people are not yet paying as they should, and accordingly they infer that times are not improving very fast. And thus they perform a useful service by calling attention to the chief obstacle in the way of business improvement.

RUSSIA.
 Samuel Spewack, an American writer in Russia, says the American impression of that country is that it is either the millennium or hell let loose.
 But the Russians themselves, he finds, don't claim that the millennium has come. And it hasn't. "People starve. Beggars overflow. Grab and let grab seems the philosophy of the masses in the city. Industries are in desperate shape." And yet, "the government is strong, and Russia is rebuilding. A skyscraper in the process of construction is not a pleasant place."
 So it is not hell, either. Hell is not constructive. Russia—the new Russia—is rising out of the noise and dirt and smoke. It may be a useful and durable structure when it is finished, even though the style of architecture does not appeal to most of us.
 They're using snake poison now to cure snake bites, instead of whiskey. Maybe they'll get around eventually to using the stuff as an antidote for alcohol poisoning.

DEMOCRATIC CHARITY.
 "Giving has been democratized in the last 30 years," says an Associated Charities official. "Once 'the rich' gave to 'the poor.' Now everybody is 'folks' and everybody gives for such as may need services or financial aid."
 This aptly describes a remarkable change that may have escaped many people's notice. It is particularly true in cities that have established the "community fund" as a means of pooling charitable contributions and disbursing them efficiently and fairly among worthy institutions and individuals.
 There are cities where the givers to such a fund represent more than half the families. Once the giving would have been confined to less than a tenth as many. And they come to make their subscriptions as a matter of course, just as they pay their taxes or their dues to the club or the labor union. Some give much and others little, but most of them give according to their means, and so are even. It is the truly democratic way.
 Eventually the plan may be broadened out so that absolutely everybody gives, in some way or other—money or goods or service—and that will be 100 per cent democratic.
 When that blessed time arrives, perhaps it will not be much longer until the universality of helpfulness has brought a miracle and there is no need of charity.

RIGHT WIDE, CLEAR ROADS
 Highway safety is not merely a matter of careful driving, as Chief of the federal Bureau of Roads reminds the public, in connection with Safety Week. Safe driving will eliminate a large number of the accidents, but with it must be combined "the elimination of dangerous grades and curves, narrow ways and bridges and the deadly 'bottling'."
 The highway traffic problem has arisen from the speed of modern traffic along with its increased volume. The old standards suffice no longer. Grades must be easier, curves must be more gradual, warnings must be at a greater distance. New regulations must be taken against "bottling" in tight places, and the greater danger that comes from the meeting of heavy traffic at high speed.
 One thing that has not yet had the attention it deserves is the removal of obstructions to clear vision at corners and sharp turns in the road. Often a tree or billboard standing on a corner which endangers every car turning that corner, and also congests traffic by the slowing down which it necessitates.
 It may be assumed that such obstructions will be removed in the future from main traffic thoroughfares in both city and country. It may be assumed also that corners will be more and more rounded, to make every turn as easy and safe as possible.
 As for trolley cars, if they survive they will be taken from the middle of the street where they are now a congestion, and either placed on a separate track or removed from the street.

RIGHT AND WRONG.
 Last week some fiend in human form worked off on me a phony buck, and wrath rose in me like a storm, I strongly yearned to run amuck. "Ah, well," I sighed, when cooling down, "all is not lost there's hope ahead; there's some poor fish in this man's town who'll fall for this bum coin of lead. The grocer's eyes are weak and dim, he'd never wise up to my game; I'll shove this bogus plunk on him—he'll never know from whom it came." First impulse always sways me thus, for self defense is in me born, I must get even with the cuss who steps upon my choicest corn. But second impulse comes and swings my mind around when I get cool; it is the outcome of the things I learned at home and Sunday school. "Some guy has wrought me ill," I think, "but that's no reason, sound or true, why I should seek some other gink, and play a scurvy trick or two. The grocer is an honest wight, and it would be a rotten deal to take advantage of his sight, and sting him with this pewter wheel. I'll meet him oft in future days, and if I pulled so coarse a stunt I'd always dread to meet his gaze, I'd surely show a guilty front. So I will throw this buck away, I'll drop it down in yonder well, where it can tempt no other jay to hit the path that leads to Hannibal, Mo."

TEXAN SLATED AS POSSIBLE HEAD AMERICAN LEGION

Alvin M. Owsley of Denton, Mentioned as Successor to MacNider—And His Supporters Say He Has a Fighting Chance.
 NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 14.—Hantford MacNider, national commander of the American Legion, tonight declared that under no circumstances would he be a candidate to succeed himself as national commander, and that he would "bitterly oppose" any proposal to change the national constitution of the Legion which would make possible a second term for a national head of the Legion.
 "I would regard such an action by the Legion as a tragic mistake," Mr. MacNider said in a statement to the Associated Press.

The announcement was brought forth by repeated rumors, current among delegates here today, that in the event of an impending deadlock over the national commandship, friends of MacNider might bring forward a constitutional amendment which would make it possible for him to succeed himself, with a view to carrying forward the fight for national legislation for adjusted compensation.
 Outstanding among other Legionaires whose names are being discussed for the national commandship are Colonel A. A. Sprague of Chicago; Alvin M. Owsley of Denton, Texas, chairman of the Legion's commission on Americanization; Joseph Thompson of Pennsylvania and T. Z. Wasley of New Orleans. Colonel Sprague was one of Major General Leonard Wood's campaign managers during the last Republican campaign prior to the national convention, and has been active in Legion "service work" in behalf of wounded and disabled veterans.
 Reports that Colonel Bennett Clark, son of the late Champ Clark of Missouri, former speaker of the national house of representatives, will be a candidate for national commander, are emphatically denied by his friends among the Missouri delegates, who declare that Colonel Clark would not accept the post.

CONVICT DALLAS MAN OF KILLING HIS WIFE.
 ST. LOUIS, Oct. 14.—Clyde Sarver of Kansas City, Kan., charged with killing his wife here last April 15, was found guilty of second degree murder by a jury last night and sentenced to 25 years' imprisonment.

Sarver testified that he shot his wife accidentally and that he came to St. Louis from Dallas, where he worked and attempted to persuade his wife, from whom he had been separated, to return to him. He said she refused and accidentally pushed his hand in which he held a revolver, causing the gun to go off, instantly killing her.

SOCIAL RECEPTION MAKES A HIT WITH STUDENTS

This year a new method of recitation which has been adopted by the English classes proves to be very popular with the students. The classes have organized with a president, secretary, critic, division leader, review leaders, discussion leader, and the reader, as the officers of the class. The president is elected once a month. The secretary is chosen once a month, the division leaders once a week, and the critic, review leader, and reader, every day. This gives every one in the class an opportunity to fill some office during the term.

The duties of the president are: To preside at meetings, to appoint leaders of review, to act as time keeper, and to make suggestions toward the growth and development of the class. These appointments are to be made a week in advance.

The duties of the secretary are: To keep a record of class attendance, and class activity, to post the names on duty on the bulletin board, and to report any failures in the performance of duties.

The critic observes: Mistakes in grammar, bad posture, unpleasant voice, or anything that distracts from the pleasure of the recitation.

WHY YOU SHOULD BELONG TO THE SPANISH CLUB

Friday of last week Miss Monsees spoke to all of her classes concerning the organization of a Spanish club and as all of the pupils seemed to be heartily in favor of organizing the club, she asked that we meet immediately after the close of school.

There were only eleven who met with Miss Monsees, and after discussing the purpose of the club they adjourned to meet again Thursday evening for organization, hoping to have a larger number present.

This club has several purposes: One of course, is to entertain the members; another is to increase the pupil's knowledge of Spanish countries and their people; the last and most important of all is to aid the pupils in becoming more efficient in their Spanish work.

Everyone who takes Spanish and those who are able to speak Spanish are welcomed and needed. This club also offers one fourth credit to its active members. If you wish to join a club which will entertain you and also increase your knowledge of the Spanish speaking people meet in room ten Thursday evening with Miss Monsees.

BOOSTER OR SLACKER?

We have heard many and varied comments upon the support of our Athletic Association, especially the football team. Now, if we as students of the Cisco High School want a winning team, there's only one way to have it. COME to the games and ROOT for that squad of boys who are risking the loss of some skin, an eye, or a limb for your glory. If you can't serve on the team, don't display the "white feathers" by standing on the side and grousing. If you don't have enough self-dignity to save yourself, for the sake of the coach, the team, the faculty and the rest of the student body DO NOT DISCOURAGE CISCO HIGH SCHOOL BY YOUR YELLOW STREAK!

Remember that no ship, even though a masterpiece of workmanship, can run without coal or a crew. We might have the best team and coach in Texas but they never will get anywhere without coal or a crew. You, Mr. Knock-er, you're the one I'm talking to. You boost our next game, you come, and you yell until your voice sounds like a frog's croak when you speak. You remember, Mr. Slacker, that "United we stand, Divided we fall."

FIRST NUMBER OF LYCEUM COURSE IS ENJOYED

The first number of the Lyceum course, Oct. 11, met with hearty response from the high school students. The seats in the balcony were filled to the very last row. However, the number of vacant seats on the lower floor proclaimed that many of our Lyceum goers were missing the treat. Those present were delightfully entertained by Mr. Frank B. Logan, a cartoonist, who, besides drawing a number of exceedingly comical cartoons, painted several very beautiful pictures.

STUDENTS, WHERE DO YOU STUDY?

On Wednesday morning Mr. Wells made a very interesting little speech on how, when and where to study. "Every one of you," he said, "should have a definite table, chair, and place in a room where you would not be interrupted by the family gossip."

In continuing his speech he said, "you should make a schedule for studying every day and get the habit of following that schedule, so that you can train your mind to run in that line of thought each day, and study the whole length of the time. Most of us take five or ten or maybe thirty minutes to begin studying, and thereby waste much of our time. I wish that every one of you would begin right away and make your daily schedule. You will find that it will be of great value."

ELECTION OF HIGH FRESHMEN OFFICERS

The High Freshmen met on the Wednesday of the first week of school and elected officers, for the coming semester. The meeting was held in the room fifteen minutes. The sponsors present were Mr. Denman and Miss Lee. The following officers were elected: President, Andrew McClinton; vice-president, Melvin McCanlies; Inex La Roque, secretary; J. D. Carroll, treasurer.

At the same time we elected "yell leader", Melvin McCanlies.

LYCEUM COURSE COMING.

The Lyceum course brought here by the Cisco High School promises to be of unusual quality. Although the numbers last year were very interesting, we can safely say that this year's series will be more so.

The first program booked for this year was given by Mr. Frank B. Logan, Wednesday the eleventh, at the City Hall. Like Mr. Packard of last year's course, he is a noted humorist and cartoonist. His performance was quite as enjoyable as that of Mr. Packard.

The next person to entertain will be Miss Annie Therese Davault, a reader. Her readings are said to be given so naturally that one forgets Miss Davault entirely and lives in the scenes she creates. She has in her repertoire some of Broadway's most artistic literary productions.

The last entertainment given before New Year will be by Allen D. Albert, our only lecturer. As he is ex-president of the International Rotary Club, he has a most unusual vision of humanity. His subject will be "The Young People of 1923."

Some time in January, we will have here the De Marco-Aistrup entertainers. Miss De Marco has a most rare genius for the harp and piano. Mr. Aistrup, although still young, has already won his way into the limelight by his unique handling of the violin.

Some time later comes the Cardin-Lieurance orchestra. Mr. Lieurance, who prepared the musicians for their concert tour, is very famous for his purely American compositions. Mr. Cardin, the concert director, besides being a talented violinist, has far surpassed any of his predecessors in the art of weaving into classic composition the simple Indian melodies so noted for their weird harmonies.

The last number of the series is the Henshaw Male Quartette composed of Messrs. Kadel, Nealis, Johnston, and Nelson. Besides several songs the group will sing a short selection adapted from Opera Comique "Cox and Box."

We are sure that all who attend will feel that they have their "money's worth". Let's go!

THE LOW FRESHMEN.

The Low Freshmen of Cisco High School met September 25, in the Low Freshmen room. The purpose of the meeting was to elect officers for the class. The following were elected: Roy Valentine, president; Victor McCrea, vice-president; Mildred Smith, secretary-treasurer.

A social committee was organized to select a name for the class. On this committee is: Alfred Carroll, Grace Latson and Clifford Hall. A second meeting was held Oct. 10, to have a report from the committee. A picnic was also decided on for Friday at 6:00 o'clock.

Roy Valentine says there is not a single mosquito at his home, they are all married and have large families.

LOW JUNIORS ELECT OFFICERS

One day last week the Low Juniors class of the Cisco High School met for the purpose of electing officers. Mal Rumph our last year president acted as chairman until the new president was elected. Cecil Bostick was elected president; Marguerite was elected vice-president and Lenouise Campbell, secretary and treasurer. We have good officers this year and expect to do great things.—Lenouise Campbell.

IF YOU HAVE KNOWLEDGE LET OTHERS LIGHT THEIR CANDLES BY IT

A well informed student should take an active part in the school in various ways and for many reasons. First, he should associate with other boys and girls for the purpose of learning new thoughts and ideas and also that other people may gain new thoughts and ideas from associations with him. Another part of importance is to associate with people that appreciate your company and try to profit by it if possible. If you have knowledge, do not be afraid to let other people get ideas and thoughts from you.

Knowledge is one thing that people can not take from you although they may gain new ideas and profit from your knowledge.

JOKES

Mr. Denman: "You remember that about 700 years ago the Mt. Vesuvius erupted." Edward Lee: "No I don't remember that far back."

Lela Latch (in economics) "At the first part of the book, what two factors of production was there?" Eugene Smith: "Man and Woman."

Mr. Denman: My dad use to say it hurt him to whip me. Red Smith: "Yes! but not in the same place."

Mr. Denman: "You know asbestos won't burn." Gwindolyn C.: "I'd like to be buried in an asbestos suit."

Miss Jenkins: (English)—"A laurel is a vine. What is a laureate?" Elroy McCanlies: A vineyard.

Mr. Wells: More people should join the debating club so that they can learn to talk on their feet. (We did not know that debating was a course in gymnasium.)

The first months report cards will be given out Thursday afternoon (and there will be weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth.)

After the house burns It's too late then to think about removing that paper in the attic or the rubbish in the yard, where the fire started. Remember that a stray spark cannot do harm when it lights on a clean surface, nearly so easily as when it drops in a pile of old rags, papers or dead weeds. Every household, every business, every building, should be insured against fire; but how to prevent fires is what the insurance man talks about first. PARAMOUNT PICTURES

41 NEW PARAMOUNT PICTURES TO BE SHOWN IN CISCO BRINGING MANY STARS.

Of special interest to local photoplay fans is the announcement of Manager Mayhew of the Broadway Theatre that he has booked for the fall and winter season the greatest program of pictures ever shown in Cisco. The most important group consists of the forty-one Paramount feature productions to be released by Famous Players-Lasky Coropration, producers of Paramount pictures, during the first six months of the new picture year starting in August.

"Never before in the history of the motion picture industry," said Mr. Mayhew, "has it been possible for a manager to know so far in advance just what kind of entertainment he would be able to offer his patrons. But Paramount has taken a big step forward in the production and distribution of pictures and has given us a complete description including plot, director, stars and supporting cast for each of their forty-one releases. From my knowledge of pictures and of the artists who are responsible for this group I give my personal pledge to the people of Cisco that these photoplays far surpass in entertainment value any group of productions ever before given to the public in the history of the motion picture industry."

As one of the first releases of the new season comes Wallace Reid in "The Dictator". It is taken from the noted play by Richard Harding Davis and is said to be the most thrilling comedy-romance in which Reid has ever appeared.
The star is supported by Lila Lee and Theodore Kosloff.

Following this comes Thomas Meighan in "If You Believe It, It's So." This story was selected by the late George Tucker to be his next production after "The Miracle Man" and is worthy successor to that famous picture.
Thereafter one big production follows another, the release coming at an average of about two per week.
Probably the biggest picture of the entire year from a spectacular and artistic standpoint is "The Leaves of Pharih." According to New York reviewers this is the most magnificent and powerful spectacle ever seen on the screen.
It was produced by Ernest Lubitsch, director of "Passion", "Deception" and other spectacular successes and has just completed a pre-release run of several months at the Criterion Theatre, New York.

Another picture that will easily rank as one of the biggest productions of the year is Rodolph Valentino in "Blood and Sand," from the novel by Vincente Blasco Ibanez.
This is one of the most colorful and romantic stories in modern literature and gives Valentino a role for which he is really suited, that of the young bull-fighter.
Fred Nible, producer of "The Three Musketeers" directed.
Cecil B. DeMille's production

"Manslaughter" from the widely discussed Saturday Evening Post story by the same name is another that is rated as among the very biggest. Thomas Meighan, Leatrice Joy and Lois Wilson head the list of stars.

In the new season Gloria Swanson will make her first appearance in "Her Gilded Cage", said to be a fashion show de luxe within itself. According to the advance illustrations the gowns and costumes Miss Swanson wears in this will create a sensation.

Picture lovers have long wanted to see Theodore Roberts, the "grand old man" of the movies, starred.
At last Paramount has given him his chance and has selected as his starring vehicle "The Old Homestead", one of America's greatest and best known plays. This will be one of the distinctive productions of the year.

Still another of the big ones is "Burning Sands" with Wanda Hawley and Milton Sills. This picture has been called the answer to "The Sheik" and was made by the same director, George Melford.

The other pictures making up this remarkable group of forty-one feature productions are, Marion Davies in "The Young Diana"; Betty Compson in "The Bonded Woman"; May McAvoy in "The Top of New York"; "The Valley of Silent Men" with Alma Rubens; Dorothy Dalton in "The Siren
Call"; Jack Holt in "White Satan Sleeps"; "The Mysteries of India,"
"Pink God" with Bebe Daniels; James Kirkwood and Anna Q. Nelson "The Face of the Fog" by Jack Boyle; Wallace Reid in "The Ghost Breaker"; Mary Miles Minter and Tom Moore in "The Cowboy and
The Lady"; "To Have and To Hold" with Betty Compson and Bert Lyell; Thomas Meighan in "The Man Who Saw Tomorrow"; Dorothy Dalton and Jack Holt in "On The High Seas"; Rodolph Valentino in "The Young Rajah"; Alice Brady in "Anna Ascends"; William DeMille's production "Clarence"; Gloria Swanson in "The Impossible
Mrs. Bellow"; "Enemies of Women" by Visconte Blasco Ibanez; George Melford's production "Ebb Tide"; "The Pride of Palomar" by Peter B. Kyne; Elsie Ferguson in "Outcast"; Bebe Daniels in "Singed Wings"; Thomas Meighan in "Back Home and Broke"; Agnes Ayres in
"A Daughter of Luxury"; Betty Compson and Bert Lyell in "Kick
In"; Wallace Reid in "Thirty Days"; Marion Davies in "Little Old New York"; Rodolph Valentino in "The Spanish Cavalier";
Jack Holt in "Making a Man";
Alice Brady in "Missing Millions"; and William DeMille's production
"Notoriety" with Bebe Daniels.
With such an imposing array of excellent photoplays prospects are bright for a successful and enjoyable season. All of these productions will be shown at the Broadway soon after their release dates.
