DEMOCRATS GO TO POLLS TOMORROW

Machine Gun Bandits Raid Ladonia Bank, Kidnap Girls

"PRETTY BOY" FLOYD ONE OF PAIR, BELIEF

LADONIA, Texas, July 22.—Laying down a machine gun barrage two bandits robbed the Farmers and Merchants bank of $5,000 here today and fled with two young women as hostages.

The bandits roared up to the bank in a big sedan. They entered the bank and covered A. L. Bartley, cashier, W. N. Graves, assistant cashier, J. R. Farland, director, and two young women, Misses Hazel Tarvin and Dona Bell Bartley, with a revolver and sub machine gun.

All five were ordered to lie on the floor.

"Just behave yourself and nobody will get hurt," the bandit with the machine gun told a group of curious citizens who gathered outside the door.

Someone laughed and the bandit fired a burst from the gun over the heads of the crowd.

"Just to show we mean business," he snarled.

While the second bandit forced Graves to help collect the money in the bank the machine gunner fired bursts at intervals over the crowd.

Took Women. "We'll take you along so we won't get hurt," the raiders told the two women and forced them into the sedan. They carried them as far as a hill south of town.

There they were pitched from the car but escaped without serious injury.

The car in which the pair fled bore Oklahoma license plates number 418824.

The two women said their captors wore overalls but there were two linen suits in the car apparently for a change. The Oklahoma license plates led to belief Pretty Boy Floyd, Oklahoma bank robber, might have been one of the men. Ladonia is only 30 miles from Oklahoma.

The bandits overlooked $40,000 in bonds and $500 in cash in their haste. The assistant cashier said the one who forced him to gather the money was disguised by a false scar and other face markings.

Young People's Service Sunday

A special young people's service will be held at the First Baptist church Sunday evening, the pastor, the Rev. E. S. James, announced today. Young men will act as ushers and Misses Blanche Matthews and Louise Karikatis will sing.

Dr. W. S. Allen, vice-president and dean of Baylor University, will bring a message on Christian education. The service will be followed by a young people's conference.

The pastor will preach in the morning upon the theme "In the Year Uzziah Died."

Pecan Ass'n Meeting Postponed to Aug. 11

BROWNWOOD, July 22.—Because of conflict with the short purse of A. and M. college postponement of the annual meeting of the West Texas Pecan Association here from July 30 to Thursday, August 11, was announced by President E. M. Howard at the suggestion of the Brownwood chamber of commerce.

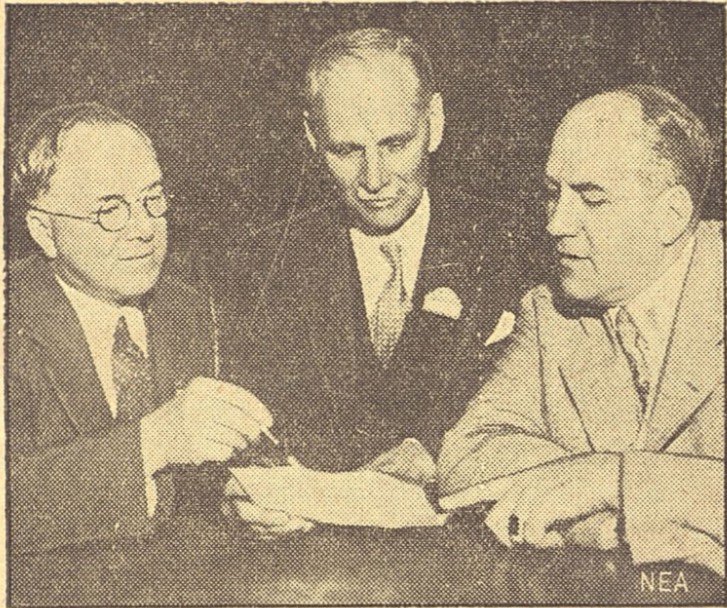

The Brownwood chamber of commerce invites all pecan growers to be present for this annual meeting on the later date.

Ely Orchestra to Play at Service

The evening hour at the First Methodist church next Sunday will be devoted to a young people's service the Rev. O. O. Odem, pastor of the church announced. All young people who are not attending any other church are invited to attend.

"Square Plugs in Round Holes" will be the subject of the pastor. The Ely Orchestra will play for about 20 minutes preceding the service and Misses Madeline and Jewell Ely will play and sing a special number before the sermon. Regular services will be held at the 11 o'clock hour.

Baptists Gird to Fight Repeal

Northern Baptists, in assembly at San Francisco, have accepted the challenge of the wets and will battle against repeal of prohibition and the "cynical, sophisticated ways of an age

STERLING IS FAVORED BY MOST EDITORS

By TOM MAHONEY United Press Staff Correspondent DALLAS, July 22.—Governor Ross Sterling will be renominated, perhaps without a runoff, if Texas voters cast their ballots as Texas newspaper editors advise them. Replies to a United Press questionnaire sent editors of the 120 daily papers in Texas show Sterling has the approval and in many cases the active support of the majority of Texas dailies.

Many papers like the Dallas News and Austin American, which took editorial stands only in the governor race, chose Sterling. Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, however, is not without editorial support. Several East Texas papers such as the Athens Review and Kilgore News either chose Mrs. Ferguson or announced they would support any candidate against Sterling in a runoff.

Tom Hunter has several advocates, some as far from his home as the Del Rio News. M. E. Foster, Houston Press editor, advocated no candidates in his paper but wrote he preferred Hunter as a personal choice "as a protest against both Ferguson and Sterling." M. H. Wolfe was favored by at least one editor.

Close Race The race of James V. Allred and Clem Calhoun for attorney general will be the closest race on the ballot according to the poll.

Allred has a slight margin in the total number of papers favorable to him but Calhoun has the endorsement of not only his home Amarillo Globe-News but the approval of papers like the Abilene Reporter-News, San Benito Light, Corpus Christi Caller-Times, Sulphur Springs News, Telegram, Mexia News, Brenham Banner, Press, Port Arthur News, Marshall News-Messenger and others.

Those backing Allred include: Tyler Courier-Times, Houston Press, El Paso Herald-Post, Childress Index, Kaufman Herald, Cleburne Times, Review, Mart Herald, Lufkin News, Brownwood Bulletin, Center News, Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, Breckenridge American, Denton Record-Chronicle, Kilgore News, Lampasas Leader, Palestine Press, Yeakum Herald, Edinburg Review, Texarkana Press, Texarkana Gazette-News and others. None of the papers replying favored Becker, the third man on the ballot.

Charles N. Shaver was favored by a majority for State Superintendent of public instruction over L. A.

BECOME BASKETS

MAGNOLIA, Ark., July 22.—In an attempt to pick up a "little extra cash," P. W. Walker has been making ornamental baskets out of the pop bottle stoppers and belling wire. His attempts have been so successful that he has sold all he has made and has a large number of orders on hand.

HUMBLE CO. EMPLOYEES TO HOLD PARADE

Employees of the Humble Oil and Refining company will have a big day Saturday, July 30.

A parade through the principal towns of the oil belt and a barbecue and dance at Lake Cisco will be the main events on the program for that day.

The purpose of the program is two-fold: to encourage the further use of Humble products in this section and to help show to Cisco and the oil belt the magnitude of the company's interests in this section. Humbletown, one of the biggest oil company permanent camps anywhere, is right now at the lowest point in its population but ever at that it brings $15,000 in payrolls each month to Cisco. As the oil business improves that asset will be multiplied. An oil run from West Texas by the Humble—which is the largest purchaser of crude oil in the United States—is controlled by the Humble west Texas pipeline headquarters here, and any stimulation in the oil industry west of Cisco, it is pointed out, will mean an increased personnel and increased payroll at Humbletown.

Out To Show Public Cisco and the oil belt generally, those in charge of the parade next week pointed out, do not realize what Humbletown and Humble investments mean to this section and they are out to put the facts before the public in a striking way.

They will parade from Cisco through Moran, Albany, Breckenridge, Ranger and Eastland and back to Cisco for a barbecue and dance at Lake Cisco in the evening. In order to put over this program the Humble employees have organized themselves into the Cisco-Humble Booster club and they are making plans for a great crowd at the lake for the culminating events in the program.

"Humble employees are proud of the fact that they have the privilege of living in Cisco and working for this great organization," they declared. "We are a part of Cisco and we want to join up with the rest of Cisco people in making it the best town that it is possible to make it. We feel that the Humble company and Humbletown is a great asset to Cisco and we are out to make it an even greater asset."

Humbletown, representing an investment of many hundreds of thousands of dollars, has been a part of Cisco for 13 years. During that time it has kept between 2,000 and 300 citizens here, all of them drawing good pay, which has been a material factor in Cisco's prosperity.

13 YEARS WITHOUT

LOWELL, Mass., July 22.—After driving an automobile for 13 years without a license, John Samlone, 41, recently was stopped for the first time when he passed another car and even though he was fined $15, he saved money, as licensees at $2 a year would have cost him $28

RACKETEERING IN E. TEXAS' VOTE ALLEGED

LONGVIEW, July 22.—The Longview News-Journal today said it had learned from a reliable source that Texas rangers will assist local officers in policing practically all the ballot boxes in Gregg county tomorrow.

The paper said that it learned of alleged racketeering in Kilgore and Gladewater and that the plan revealed involved the casting of absentee votes in Longview boxes and actual voting Saturday in the various precincts.

Election officials were to meet late today to complete plans for policing the polls. Suspicion was aroused the newspaper said, when it was learned that 1,000 absentee votes had been cast in Gregg county. The county's voting strength is only 5,000. Smith county with 11,300 qualified voters reported only 380 absentee votes.

EASTLAND, July 22.—Rep. Tom Blanton, candidate for re-election in the 17th district and his opponent Joe Jones, district attorney here, today closed probably the most bitter congressional campaign in the state. ONE KILLED, 3 ARE HURT IN ABILENE BLAST

ABILENE, July 22.—Investigation continued here today for the cause of an explosion which rocked a downtown building late yesterday, killed one person and caused serious injuries to another. Three others were confined suffering from minor injuries.

Mrs. R. C. Winters, wife of a former commander of the Texas division of the American Legion, died shortly after the crash. Her legs were broken in several places and her body was badly mangled.

Of the others injured Mrs. Russell Stephens, wife of a salesman, was in the most serious condition. Police tentatively agreed escaping gas was the cause of the explosion.

ment of their marriage June 30 in White Plains, N. Y. Miss Talley, who is 25, retired three years ago at the height of her fame to return to her Kansas farm. Rauchenstein, who is 42, was divorced from his first wife in Germany in June.

LIST, Island of Silt, North Sea, July 22.—Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau, German flier, started for Reykjavik, Iceland, today on his way to Chicago.

BONUS ARMY DEFIES POLICE MOVE ORDER

WASHINGTON, July 22.—A defiant answer to the police order that members of the bonus army evacuate government buildings was issued today by Walter W. Waters, commanding the main body of bonus seeking veterans.

Winters said that while resistance by force would not be tolerated, he had instructed his men to remain in their quarters until the police put them out.

The administration has approved 4,233 applications for transportation home from the bonus camps here. This was an increase of 365 over the number yesterday morning.

At noon the hour at which the veterans were to begin evacuation of the building, that constitute Camp Glasford, the only excitement was provided by an ex-marine bugler and his jazzy rendition of "chow call."

Commander Waters was a guest at the camp for the noonday meal. He decided to be on hand when the police began to enforce their orders.

FLORIST PRESIDENT

GALVESTON, July 22.—Cy Haliburton, Houston, will serve as president of the Texas State Florist association for the ensuing year. He was elected at the concluding session of the annual convention here last night. The 1933 meeting will be at Temple.

Huge Catfish Caught at Lake

Jack Jameson and S. B. Wright, game warden and superintendent of the state fish hatchery here, respectively, today exhibited a blue catfish estimated to weigh between 20 and 25 pounds which they caught on a set hook at Lake Cisco this morning. The huge fish was 32 inches long and 17 inches in circumference.

Fish are beginning to bite at the lake now, they said. They have had remarkable success during the past day or two.

WHO CAN VOTE

Who can vote in the July 23 primary?

There are two divisions of voters—one having a poll tax receipt, and the other qualified to vote without one.

The law pertaining to voting follows:

1. All persons having attained the age of 21 years, and who are citizens of the United States, and a resident of this state for one year next preceding election, and the last six months within the county, shall be deemed a qualified voter, providing he or she had secured a poll tax receipt.

2. Every person having attained the age of 60 years before the first of January, A. D. 1931, and those having attained the age of 21 since the 31st day of January, 1931, or who is blind, or deaf, or dumb, or is permanently disabled, or has lost one hand or one foot, shall be permitted to vote without being required to pay a poll tax.

CORRECTION

In the ballot as published yesterday in the Cisco Daily News the name of Tom Cunningham was included in the list of candidates for judge of the 88th district. Mr. Cunningham withdrew from the race several weeks ago. He is not a candidate.

Mrs. Alex Adams Favors Submission

DALLAS, Tex., July 22.—Mrs. Alex Adams, San Antonio candidate for congress-at-large Place No. 1, favors submission of the prohibition or any other question to the people but is not personally a wet or an advocate of repeal as stated in a United Press story last week.

"I am for prohibition and against the saloon," said Mrs. Adams, a former president of the fifth district of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs who resigned to enter the race as the federation is non-political.

"However, I'm a democrat and it is the will of the party, I favor submission."

"I feel there are other important issues—the abolition of unnecessary boards and creating jobs for the unemployed. I am for organized labor."

DRINK ICE WATER

BOSTON, July 22.—Boston's pigeons may be seen each morning getting a drink of water from the cages of ice left on curbs and in doorways for water coolers in the various offices.

LONG BALLOT IS AWAITING PARTY VOTERS

The democratic pre-primary campaign winds up today in a final burst of speed as a multitude of candidates make their final appeals for the votes that are to be cast in tomorrow's democratic election. In Eastland county alone there will be 165 names on the ballot, seeking offices from governor to constable.

The county campaign has been singularly free of the mud-slinging type of campaigning. However, the large number of candidates in the list probably discounted the spirit of rivalry and left it to break out in concentrated form during the hard-fought second primary campaign that is certain to occupy the next month. In most every race of any consequence in the county closely fought run-off contests are imminent.

Cisco democrats will vote in two boxes as usual. The west Cisco precinct, W. J. Armstrong, chairman, will cast its vote at a box located in the front of the Manell building directly across the street from the city hall. The quarters provided here are the most accommodating of any that were made use of in previous elections. The building was formerly occupied by an automobile concern and the large lobby in the front offers unusual conveniences for the voters.

Ideal Place

Judges and clerks will be housed in the space partitioned off for offices. Voters will receive their ballots from the judges at windows in the partition; and mark their selections either in nine booths arranged for privacy or at tables where chairs will be provided for comfort.

Tally clerks will be seated at tables beyond the judges in the office space where they may count the votes without interference or interruption.

A. B. O'Flaherty and W. B. Statham will be the election judges for the precinct.

They will be assisted by H. M. Cotton, Charles Hariman, P. J. Connelly, H. G. Bailey, Otho Kean, Yencoy McCrea, J. M. Flournoy, Harry Price, Bill Ricks, G. E. Kilpatrick, C. O. Pass and Ed. Oakes.

The box for the east Cisco precinct, Will St. John, chairman, will be located in the front of the Home Furniture company on D Avenue. Will Brown, proprietor of the company, is furnishing the space without cost. Removal of the voting place to this location will prove a great accommodation to the voters who heretofore have been forced to climb a flight of stairs in order to reach the polls.

St. John has announced that Henry Stubbs, John Dill, J. E. Carroll, M. H. McGannon and Leonard Surles will hold the election.

Open at 8

The polls will be open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. The length of the ballot will make counting the votes this year a tedious and perhaps lengthy task but the precinct chairmen have employed forces large enough, they believe, to get the work done with the utmost dispatch. Counting will go on as the voting proceeds.

According to tabulation at the tax collector's office a little more than 1,200 Cisco citizens qualified as voters this year by payment of the poll tax. The majority of these reside in west Cisco.

By agreement among themselves Eastland county candidates who spoke together over 200 county during the campaign will not distribute campaign literature during election day. They will abstain from this custom in order to trouble the voters as little as possible and leave him free to exercise his choice without having to run a gauntlet of campaign workers. One of two of the candidates, however, did not join in the agreement and conducted "lone wolf" campaigns. Candidates for the legislature from the 108th district made a like agreement.

DALLAS REJECTS PROPOSED REFERENDUM.

Dist. Judge Towne Young of Dallas refused to issue a mandamus ordering the Dallas county democratic executive committee to hold the proposed referendum on resubmission of the 18th amendment. Judge Young held that the county committee was without authority to spend money for such a purpose. Dallas has the second largest voting contingent of all Texas counties, Harris coming first. Chairman Murrel L. Buchanan appears to have sidetracked the amendment. His committee did not have the money. He flatly refused to order the referendum unless the money and the ballots were forthcoming. Let it go at that. The one absorbing and all important issue is that of the continuance of responsible government in Texas. Proxy government should be passed on to the undertaker and the corpse buried at a depth so deep that the "issue" will be unable to scratch its way out in a thousand years to come.

"GATES WILL BE LOCKED BEHIND ME."

Speaker Jack Garner is going to take a long needed rest. As he expressed it to the reporters. "I am about done up. I'll be in Uvalde Tuesday and the next day I am going to disappear for three, or maybe four or five weeks to fish and get well again. I am going to fish several places and they will all be five miles from nowhere. The gates will all be locked behind me. When I come home it will be at night and I will leave before daylight."

Now the chevalier of the Chaparral is not only a man of action but a man of his word. While his vacation is on newspaper correspondents and all the curious minded people are notified to "keep off the grass." Why not? He is plain Jack Garner for three or four weeks. Let him fish to his heart's content. Let nature apply the restoratives. Then he will be as fit as a fiddle, ready for his first conference since the Chicago convention with Franklin D. Roosevelt and the two will map out plans for a speaking campaign.

There are 40,000 Texans members of one club in the Los Angeles country. There are thousands of Texans who are not members of the club scattered from the Mexican border to the Oregon state line. The speaker has given a pledge that he will go to California and talk "to the boys and girls" of Texas antecedence or origin in their native tongue. He is a plain man of the people and his vocabulary is the vocabulary of the 80 per cent of Americans native or adopted. He never shoots over the heads of the people. He is a master of the art of manufacturing that which is known as plain speech and plain speaking.

California broke away from Charles Evans Hughes in 1916. This break-away resulted in a landing for the second time of Woodrow Wilson on the presidential dock. Sen. Hiram Johnson, republican progressive, helped to turn the trick in those ancient days. Now Sen. Hiram has a very flattering opinion of the ability and the statesmanship of Franklin D. Roosevelt as well as of the achievements and courage and fidelity to the people of John Nance Garner. He is on record—on record since the adjournment of the Chicago convention. There is a large army of independent republicans in California. When they break away they break with knives in their girdles and tomahawks in their hands. They made history in 1916. There are signs visible to the naked eye that they may make history again in 1932.

TELEPHONE FACTS AND FIGURES.

President Walter F. Gifford of the American Telephone and Telegraph company submitted his report to the stockholders in mid July. Facts and figures are appealing to those who read and think: Number of stockholders of the company is now in excess of 70,000, a gain of more than 56,000 since the first of the year. During the first six months the number of Bell system telephones disconnected exceeded those added by about 781,000. Number of telephones now in service approximately about seven per cent below the company's maximum development—a point reached in 1930—is slightly in excess of those in service on Jan. 1, 1929. Long distance calls were about 15 per cent less than for the same period last year. Moreover, while the company shows earning of $4.02 per share in the first half of 1932 dividends received from associated companies amounting to $671,263, as shown in the statement, were not fully earned by these companies during the six months by approximately $8,000,000. No dividends had been received this year from the Western Electric company as compared with $10,325,362 received in the first six months of last year. That company is now operating at about 20 per cent of capacity with a net loss for the first four months of this year (the latest available figures) of $3,381,000. Regardless of economic conditions the showing made is very flattering, to say the least.

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

When a person spends two hours on horseback after 15 years or more depending upon automobiles or his natural means of locomotion he is mighty thankful for the pillow in his office chair next morning. I have to thank Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Stephenson for this experience.

But I like it. Thank goodness, the horse knew a lot more about horseback riding than the greenhorn which accounts for the fact I had a very enjoyable evening. The sun was almost down when the party got into the saddles on the doctor's ranch north of Cisco and the last hour of the ride was spent under the stars as we threaded our trails through beautiful canyon country.

I discovered that Dr. Hubert Seale who claims Floydada as his point of origin—is somewhat of a cowboy gone wrong. The doctor, whose business is taking out ticks and otherwise ministering to the ills of the human race, rides like a pony expressman. He has just recovered from a severe scratching which he sustained when he chased a wild cow through the brush the other day.

Seale is a quiet unassuming young man and he rather surprised Stephenson with his adeptness. "He went into that brush like he was used to it," marveled the latter.

One bloc in the Cisco Rotary club is organizing to demand an investigation of the vote which yesterday noon accorded Dr. J. Stuart Pearce the prize for having put on the best program at club luncheons during the past six months. There is a suspicion lurking about the disappointed corners of the club that the patron voted for himself.

Now it is quite all right to vote for yourself provided you do not win. In that case it may be taken as a sort of consolidation vote. But when the winner votes for himself it is regarded as an act of undemocratic parliamentarianism—if there is such a word.

The patron was quite frank about his position. "I had the best program and you fellows know it," he declared. "Those high school kids gave you that program and according to the law and the prophets you've got to vote for them."

He presented the two high school debating teams, and he snuck by the kids. Spectacles rules that he is entitled to the cigars. I hold a counter suspicion that those who are arguing this investigation voted for themselves and are merely disgruntled.

Twenty-one Cisco Boy Scouts got safely to camp with over 200 other boys from the Comanche Trail council Tuesday at Camp Billy Gibbons, Richland Springs, Texas, according to a letter to the Daily News.

The total number of youngsters encamped at the site is 224. They are in the charge of 25 trained leaders, two graduate nurses. T. C. Williams, who accompanied the Cisco contingent with Scoutmaster Ernest Lennott, has found a use for the plague of grasshoppers. He caught a fine bass with one of the insects. He promptly quit camp and went to Texas university to take up a summer course.

The Cisco boys were taken to the camp by F. D. McMahon, O. G. Lawson, W. W. Wallace, S. R. Wood, and S. H. Nance. Camp Gibbons is located 12 miles from Richland Springs. The people of that community gave the boys a free dinner and watermelon feast one evening at Treasure Cave where the youngsters spent the night.

A camp broadcast is given at 9:45 each day from Dublin radio station. Health inspection is carried out daily. The camp is connected with the rest of the world by telephone.

Letters From Our Readers

Dear Editor, I wonder if you would allow me space in your good paper to say a few words in behalf of Mrs. Phebe K. Warner, of Claude, Texas, candidate for congress-at-large, place 2.

I have known Mrs. Warner for years, and have had the pleasure of visiting in her home, and meeting her splendid husband, and three children now grown.

Mrs. Warner is loved and honored by both young and old in her home town and community, and has the enthusiastic endorsement of hundreds of men and women who have grown up under her guidance and inspiration. She has for years taught the young people's Sunday school class of the Methodist church, and her pupils say:

"She has a way of appealing to the best that is in us, and inspiring us to make the most of our lives. Character building and leadership are the goals she ever holds up before us."

Often I have heard Mrs. Warner say that service is the rent we pay for the space we occupy, and that citizenship is a priceless gift of the people.

Mrs. Warner was reared on a farm, and has accompanied a pioneer doctor husband on many of his errands of mercy for the past thirty-four years, and "birth, death, help for the poor, and helpless are all in the days work for Phebe K. Warner."

Always uppermost in her heart and thoughts outside of her own family has been the betterment of the farm people.

She knows their needs, and would work for their interest without fear or favor. The following quotation proves that she has a statesman-like mind: "When the farmers receive their JUST share of our annual income, they will buy more. Which they can buy more our industries will produce more, and when our industries are enabled to increase production, our armies of unemployed men and women will be restored to positions where they can again make an honest living."

Mrs. Warner's goal is to restore the buying power of the masses, and believes it can be done by stabilizing the prices of farm products. She says that the soil is the original source of our national wealth. Make agriculture safe and every other industry will be made safer.

Mrs. Warner is a university graduate, and is well known for her frequent articles in newspapers and magazines. She is one of the few women whose opinions are quoted by the large daily newspapers of the state. For years she has fought, through the press and on convention floors, for the betterment of the farm woman. She holds her audience breathless with her eloquence because she has something worthwhile to say and knows just how to say it. If interested in sending to congress one who is not a professional politician, one who has no axe to grind and to whom no strings are tied, one who will stand firm for what she believes to be right, for what she cannot be bought or sold, let me recommend to you my friend Mrs. Phebe K. Warner. Mr. Olson says that out of the fourteen churches he built during the prosperity period, Claude, Mrs. Warner's home town, was the only one that had all the money in the bank before starting the building. He spent three months there and learned to know something of the high esteem in which Mrs. Warner is held. He considers her one of the best and brainiest of women, and says the voters certainly would make no mistake in sending her to congress. Respectfully, Mrs. A. J. Olson

Little Bill Beats Big Ben

Proving his first triumph over Ben Eastman in the I. C. 4A games was no fluke, little Bill Carr of Pennsylvania again ran over the blond Stanford star, this time in the finals of the 400-meter race in the U. S. Olympic finals at Palo Alto. Carr won handily, with two yards to spare.

CALHOUN OR ALLRED—WHICH ?

56 per cent of the State's revenue from taxation is derived from taxes levied on properties and products of the oil industry. If this industry is demoralized these taxes must come from other sources; thus every owner of property in the State is threatened.

In striking at Eastern capital, Allred apparently loses sight of the many thousands of comparatively small stockholders of oil companies who are Texas' citizens. The number of Texas' citizens owning these oil stocks is estimated at 150,000.

Over $800,000.00 in attorney's fees would go to the Travis County Attorney and his associates instead of into the State's Treasury, along with the fines collected, if the suits are successful, by reason of Allred's having called in the County Attorney. Why didn't he leave the County Attorney out and put all the money he may collect into the State's Treasury?

Quaker State Oil Company, a Pennsylvania concern, pays no taxes in Texas; was permitted to pay a $12,000.00 or $14,000.00 fee to Allred's former law partner to assist Allred in the oil ouster suits. This gave Quaker State Oil Company, through the authority of the Attorney-General's office, an unfair advantage of the tax-paying companies being sued and makes it look like "Quaker State Oil Company vs. These Defendants" instead of "State of Texas vs. These Defendants."

Woodrow Wilson sponsored the federal trade commission. Purpose, to bring industry and government closer together, to prevent unfair business methods and uphold the law—not to encourage violation of the law. A "Code of Ethics" was promulgated for 130 different lines of business during the last thirteen years—129 lines other than oil.

15,800 marketers of petroleum in the United States have subscribed to the petroleum code of ethics.

Allred is the only Attorney-General in the forty-eight states of the United States who has asked for forfeitures of charters in connection with the code of ethics.

The United States Department of Justice approved the code before its sanction by the Federal Trade Commission.

Attorney-General Pollard and Attorney-General Bobbitt, after the matter was submitted to them, found no fault in the petroleum code of ethics before it was subscribed to by these defendants.

Allred Is Trying to Kill the Goose that Lays the Golden Egg. Why?

Nothing but a large aggregation of capital could build huge refineries and pipe lines like we have in Texas.

If signers of petroleum marketers code of ethics have violated Texas' laws, so have all other industries where there is any association or organization to promote clean, fair, business methods.

Texas petroleum marketers adopting code of ethics were led by Roy B. Jones, Panhandle Refining Company, Wichita Falls, Texas. It was not introduced by the major units.

92 Texas' marketers accepted the code. Why are only 11 now being sued? The oil companies in Wichita Falls, Allred's home, were not made defendants.

Details of code of ethics are set out in "The Texas Weekly," issue, January 16, 1932. The Attorney-General in Texas is the only man who can bring suit for the state. Power to destroy is in Allred's hands and has been invoked to the extreme extent of the power. Why didn't he first ask for a discontinuance of any practices in code of ethics to which he objected or limit his suits to fines only? Objectionable practices could be enjoined, therefore, where was the necessity for demanding complete ouster? Was there ever a cleverer case of making political capital of a possible technicality in the law to the detriment of all of the people in the state?

Hundreds of Texas' banks are holding oil companies' stock as collateral for loans, most of which cannot be paid if the companies whose stock involved are ousted.

If the death penalty is inflicted, the companies involved must be either completely padlocked for five years or their assets broken up, thrown on the market and sold piecemeal, according to Texas' laws. The effect on the value of property owned by everyone will be an unwarranted depreciation.

528,000 Texas people are supported directly by the oil industry, excluding stockholders.

Out-of-state capital, if destroyed in this instance, will avoid Texas as to oil as well as other lines of industry, and development of the state will be seriously retarded. Mississippi is a good example.

Code of ethics has nothing in it concerning price-fixing. No restraint of trade. No unfair advantages. It is merely a set of fair trade rules.

The oil industry has been made a political football for years. Prosperity of state has suffered thereby. Instead of swatting a rich Easterner, Allred's blow will hurt the corner groceryman in Texas more.

Texas' refineries manufacture 24 per cent of the nation's petroleum products. The oil industry is leader in Texas, outstripping cotton.

Five-sixths of the petroleum products manufactured in Texas are sold outside of the state, thus bringing into the state a vast amount of outside money.

80 per cent of the tonnage, through Texas' ports, is petroleum and petroleum products.

Expenditures in Texas by oil industry during 1930, $698,654,000.00; value of all Texas' farm crops in 1930 was only $434,512,000.00.

$45,000,000.00 in royalty oil was paid to Texas' land owners in 1930. Lease bonuses, paid to land owners, same year, amounted to $25,000,000.00.

Lease rentals, paid on Texas' leases in 1930, $8,750,000.00. Oil industry's contribution to state's tax revenue, $12,000,000.00; $15,000,000.00 in local taxes. Gasoline taxes, $33,000,000.00, total, roughly, $60,000,000.00.

The oil industry, by carrying the biggest tax burden, educates most of Texas' children.

Clem Calhoun does not propose to ask for charter forfeiture and complete ouster of the companies being sued. He realizes that the entire population of the state would suffer greatly by such result. He is deserving of our vote for the reason that he has the welfare of the people at heart, while it is evident that Allred is not considering the welfare of the state and its people in bringing these suits.

The argument may be presented that since the new Attorney-General does not take the office until January 1, 1933, Allred will try these suits regardless of whether or not he is re-elected and that voting for Calhoun will not remedy the situation. On the other hand, distinct disapproval of Allred at the polls in July will acquaint him with the wishes of the people and it is hoped that if he is defeated suits will either be dropped or modified to the extent of not asking charter forfeiture.

At first thought it may appear to some that the ouster of the 11 companies now being sued or the 92 companies involved will only temporarily demoralize the oil industry in Texas and that it would later right itself and go on as before without permanent damage to the state, but this is not true. If the major units in the industry as present should be driven out because of a minor legal technicality, any other aggregation of capital from either inside or outside of the state would dare not risk the huge investments required to maintain large scale operations of refineries, pipe line, and oil wells.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—It was a session of Congress which gave more than a normal number of members a chance to distinguish themselves to pop out from previous obscurity to embellish or bedim their former records in new or expanded roles.

Senator Huey "Kingfish" Long and Speaker Jack Garner attracted more national attention than anyone else "Texas Jack" became the first Democratic speaker in many years had his ups and downs—downs when the House revolted against his leadership in the sales tax and original economy plans waxed and waned as a presidential possibility and came down the home stretch a vice-presidential nominee engaged in a hot legislative battle with President Hoover.

The "Kingfish" became a radical progressive raved periodically renounced his Democratic leadership and incidentally took a few tall feathers out of Minority Leader Joe Robinson by tying up Joe's law firm with a number of power companies.

Congress adopted measures involving the stupendous sum of $11,000,000,000 making billions available for business.

Hero Hiram Bingham
SENATOR HIRAM BINGHAM of Connecticut became a national hero of the tubland wets by his crusading on the floor and at the Republican national convention.

Senator Edward P. Costigan of Colorado showed up as the soundest most effective progressive to arrive in several years beginning with his memorable early unemployment relief fight.

Senator Bob LaFollette of Wisconsin strengthened himself as the real practical leader of the Republican progressive group.

George Norris of Nebraska won long-delayed triumphs with passage of his lame duck amendment and anti-immigration bill but saw Muscle Shoals burned once again.

Davis' Quick Flip-Flop
MRS HATTIE CARAWAY of Arkansas first appointed to succeed her husband, became the first woman to be elected a senator and then startled everybody by announcing desire for reelection.

Senator Jim Davis of Pennsylvania made the quickest, complete flip-flop in all history by metamorphosing himself from a dry to a wet overnight.

Senator Cameron Morrison of supposedly bone dry North Carolina, became the season's outstanding sacrificial lamb when a wet beat him for renomination.

Smith Brookhart of Iowa was booted out by his voters when they learned he had five Brookharts on the federal payroll.

Dry Carter Glass of Virginia astonished everyone by introducing a resolution to repeal the 18th amendment, just to call "Republican bluff."

Sheppard's Foot Slips
SENATOR MORRIS SHEPPARD of Texas seems to be the last outstanding dry in Congress, though his foot slipped when he was for resubmission for a few hours.

Senator Bob Wagner of New York who introduced a comprehensive unemployment program four years ago was in at his death as co-author of the relief legislation finally passed.

In the House, Fiorello LaGuardia of New York became the most conspicuous individual leader when he assumed captaincy of the progressive group and licked the sales tax.

Robert L. Doughton of North Carolina farmer leaped forth as a national figure by leading the insurgent Democrats—and then sank back to his accustomed obscurity.

Crisp—Sales Tax Hero
CHARLIE CRISP of Georgia was heroized as leader of the sales tax proponents and Henry T. Rainey of Illinois new majority leader gave the Republicans campaign ammunition by unrestrained utterances.

Joe Byrns of Tennessee, new appropriations chairman, frequently told Garner and other leaders where to get off.

Gilbert N. Haugen of Iowa broke the record for service in the House and W. Carlton Mobley of Georgia became the youngest member ever to take a seat.

Ruth Bryan Owen of Florida, Bryan's daughter who once had senatorial ambitions laid down her political life for the boys and lost her House seat to a wet.

Sol Bloom of New York became first famous and then obscure as director of the Washington Bicentennial and Willie Sirovich of New York somehow got into a tremendous row with the dramatic critics.

John Schafer of Wisconsin developed his tremendous bellow beyond anybody's most awful nightmares.

Jno. Garner on the Record of Congressman Thos. L. Blanton

In advertisements in newspapers over the 17th Congressional District, notably in the Abilene Morning News of July 7, Tom Blanton reproduces a telegram from John Garner saying that they are friends.

What has this to do with the following excerpts that Joe Jones has been presenting to audiences throughout the district—excerpts from the official archives of the Nation's Congress showing that John N. Garner—now Speaker of the House, Democratic nominee for Vice President and Texas' most distinguished son—denounced Blanton and that Congress unanimously censured Blanton for putting obscene matter in the Congressional Record?

Turn to Congressional Record, Vol. 62, Part 5, Page 5119, for the following proceedings:

"MR. GARNER. In these United States there are all kinds of liars (applause)—there are artistic liars, there are inartistic liars, and then there is the common, ordinary liar.

"MR. BLANTON. Well, I will hold the gentleman personally responsible to me if he calls me one.

"THE SPEAKER. The gentleman from Texas (Mr. Blanton) will take his seat. The sergeant-at-arms will see that the gentleman takes his seat.

"MR. GARNER. Mr. Speaker, if I may have order—I hope that the gentleman (Mr. Blanton) will not leave.

"A MEMBER. He has left.

"MR. GARNER. Mr. Speaker, I have in my mind's eye—I can not observe him just at this moment of course—but I have in my mind's eye an individual, not a man—an individual, a creature who is as common and base a liar as ever spoke a word of English in this country. (Applause).

"I know a miserable, cowardly creature—I would go to the stationery room of the House Office Building, make inquiry as to the purchase of a whiskey flask and when he found that he could not get it because they did not have them for sale, would ask the superintendent to send to Philadelphia and buy him one, in order that he might parade it in Texas as though it was given to the membership of this House free of charge at the taxpayers' expense.

"I know this individual would charge you with nepotism in order that he might parade his virtue in Texas, and at the same time have two of his children on the payroll of the Government.

"Mr. Speaker, it is a harsh thing to speak about individuals, even if they are only in your mind's eye; but I, speaking for myself alone—I say it with as firm a conviction as I ever spoke a word from the floor of this House that I believe that individual, that creature that I have in my mind's eye, would do anything in order to accumulate wealth or to place himself forward from a political standpoint. (Applause).

"I want to say one word for the Texas delegation. I have not mentioned a name up to date, but I want to say to the membership on the Republican side of the House, because the membership on the Democratic side already know it—I speak the sentiment of every member of the Texas delegation when I tell you that we hang our heads in shame and humiliation every time Blanton of Texas is referred to as our colleague. (Applause).

"I speak for the Democratic Party here, I believe, the sentiment of every man in it, when I say that we look upon him as a liability and a distinct injury to our party. (Applause).

"I wish the rules of the House did not prevent me from expressing the viewpoint of all members of the House. If I could only suspend the rules, I would say what is in the hearts of the members. I would say now, if the rules did not prevent me from saying it, I would say what 430 men believe at this moment, that Thomas Blanton of Texas is a discredit to the House of Representatives and ought to be kicked out. (Applause).

BLANTON UNANIMOUSLY CENSURED BY CONGRESS.

The Congressional Record, Vol. 61, Part 7, Page 6896, shows that Blanton was called before the Speaker's stand in Congress and the Speaker said:

"THE SPEAKER. The sergeant-at-arms will bring Mr. Blanton to the far of the House. (The sergeant-at-arms appeared at the bar of the House with Mr. Blanton).

"THE SPEAKER. Mr. Blanton, by unanimous vote of the House, yeas 293, nays 0, I have been directed to censure you because when you had been allowed, by the courtesy of the House, to print a speech which you did not deliver, you inserted in it foul and obscene matter which you knew you could not have spoken on this floor; and that disgusting matter, which could not have been circulated through the mails in any other publication without violating the law, was transmitted as part of the proceedings of this House to thousands of homes and libraries throughout the country to be read by men and women and worst of all by children whose prurient curiosity it would excite and corrupt.

"In accordance with the instruction of the House and as its representative, I pronounce its censure."

Blanton accuses me as district attorney of filing 493 habeas corpus hearings. The fact is that a district attorney can not file habeas corpus hearings. They are filed by men held in jail.

Blanton accuses me of filing many indictments against the same man. The truth is that a district attorney can not file an indictment. A grand jury files indictments.

Blanton said that in one case 137 witnesses were called and in another case 162 witnesses. The fact is that I summoned four witnesses and the defense called all the rest.

Blanton said I am the most expensive district attorney in Texas. The truth is that I receive no salary but am paid a fee for convictions. "No convictions, no pay." The most I can receive is $5,000 a year and only then if the office earns it.

Every fee account paid to me has been drawn up in black and white, recorded in the Eastland County courthouse, duly approved and paid by the comptroller of the State of Texas, and filed for record at the Capitol at Austin. It constitutes a public record of which I am proud, and clerly shows that I have not collected a dollar that was not payable to me as provided by law.

I was born in Eastland County and the people of this county know me better than I know myself. They elected me district attorney and re-elected me without opposition—the only time such an indorsement has been given since the office of district attorney was created in this county. In all these years, my honor has never been called in question until I entered this race against Tom Blanton.

The present crisis has been declared by statesmen to be a greater emergency than the World War. While Congress was still in session and before Speaker Garner's $2,300,000,000 relief bill had been disposed of, Blanton left Washington and came back to Texas to campaign for re-election.

He has told the people that a "watchman" is needed up in Washington in the closing hours of the session as late as 3 o'clock in the morning, to keep Congressmen from putting across bills injurious to the people. Then why didn't he stay up there to protect you?

BLANTON'S LACK OF INFLUENCE
Blanton boasts that after 14 years of effort he has at last succeeded in becoming a member of the Appropriations Committee. Congressman Cooper of Tennessee, who has been in the House only three years, is a member of the Ways and Means Committee, generally considered the most important of all committees.

Let Blanton name a single Democrat from Texas who has been up here as long as he has who is not a committee chairman and not just a committee member as Blanton is.

BLANTON'S KINFOLKS ON THE PAYROLL
Blanton's daughter, Annie L. Blanton, is on the government payroll as his secretary at $3,000 a year. His sons—Matt and Tom, Jr.—have been on the payroll for 383.33 a month. His brother, W. W. Blanton, was on the payroll for $2,500 a year until his death and the Government paid his funeral expenses and gave his widow an amount equal to six months' salary.

Texas has a law against an official hiring his relatives at public expense. If I am elected to Congress I will work for the adoption of a national anti-nepotism law to stop Congressmen from hiring relatives at fancy salaries particularly when millions of people are out of work. The taxpayers have to work hard for their money and then for it to be handed out to Congressmen's kinfolks, many of whom are doing absolutely nothing for the pay, is an outrage that should be stopped immediately. Many jobs could be done away with; others could be filled by hungry heroes of the World War.

SOLDIERS' BONUS
Blanton was for the law that charges the World War veterans such high interest on the loan on his adjusted compensation certificate that the interest will eat up the other half.

Blanton was up there when Congress put a tax on bank checks, soap, tooth paste, talcum powder, gasoline, auto, mobile tires, electric light bulbs and many other things. He was up there when Congress raised postage to three cents.

TAXES HIGHEST EVER KNOWN
Blanton went to Congress in 1917. Taxes have been going up ever since. Today the people are staggering under the heaviest burden of taxes this Nation has ever known.

Why didn't Blanton do something about the payment of $12,327 for hauling the mail from New Orleans to Spain when the vessel didn't even have a penny postcard on board?

Did you know that one company was paid $433,775 for hauling $58 worth of mail?

Did you know that the government is wasting millions of dollars printing pamphlets on such subjects as "Where Sheets Wear Out," "How to Hang Window Curtains," "How to Cook Pork," "The Life of the American Bullfinch" and "Breast-Feeding Demonstrations," the last-named booklet, I am informed, having been written by an old bachelor from Boston.

Congressmen are making you pay three cents postage but they mail out their campaign literature free of charge. You pay the bill in taxes.

Congressmen have been collecting 20 cents a mile to travel to and from Washington when it costs them about five cents. While they are riding in royal style, thousands of men—many of them veterans of the World War—are hitchhiking on the highways trying to find a job somewhere.

HE HAS DONE NOTHING TO END THE DEPRESSION.
In 1928 Blanton was beat for the Senate. The next year he went back to Congress, and the depression began almost immediately. It has been going on ever since and the sky is as dark now as it was when the depression started.

TO PARENTS AND TO YOUNG VOTERS
Tom Blanton has been on the payroll 22 years. He has been in Congress 14 years and has drawn approximately $180,000. Parents, what are you educating your children for if they are not to be given the right to aspire to high office? George Washington urged rotation in office as a splendid practice.

There are many hundreds of young men and women who will cast the first vote in their lives next Saturday. First voters, why not cast your ballot for a young man—for a new man who will do his part for a new deal in Washington? Let's keep the doors of opportunity open.

WHAT JONES STANDS FOR
Balancing the budget by using the axe and not the tax. Slipping the petty graft of nepotism. Paying the soldiers' bonus. Lowering the tariff walls to find a market for the surplus products of the farmers, ranchmen and oil fields. Passing a law to safeguard the bank deposits of the citizenship.

Lowering taxes by cutting the high salaries and abolishing many useless jobs and unnecessary functions of government. Sponsoring measures to put the 7,000,000 unemployed back to work and bring back prosperity.

STAND BY GARNER—REPUUDIATE BLANTON
You have read what John Garner said about Tom Blanton. You have read how Blanton was pronounced guilty by Congress of placing obscene matter in the Congressional Record.

VICTORY IS AT HAND
Hundreds of letters and messages are pouring in from all parts of the district from citizens who have always supported Blanton but who want a change. I appreciate these expressions and I am confident of a glorious victory Saturday.

JONES' FINAL WORD
Millions of men and women are out of work. Many have seen their life-savings swept away and their homes sold over their heads. Little children are hungry and unable to go to school because they lack adequate clothing. Those who own a little property are staggering under the load of taxes.

If you are satisfied with these conditions, vote for Congressman Blanton.

If you are not satisfied with them, give me a chance. Blanton has had three long years to improve conditions and he has failed. What the country needs is more ex-Congressmen. Send a fresh soldier to Washington. A change won't hurt.

TEXAS TOPICS

AUSTIN, July 22.—Within the next few days, official machinery will be set in motion for the November vote on Texas constitutional amendments...

For the first time in years when amendments have been voted on there is none proposing to raise public salaries, or increase public costs.

Official publication is required to be given the amendments during four successive weeks, beginning not less than 90 days before the general election, Nov. 8.

Mrs. Phoebe K. Warner of Claude, a full-fledged and skillful candidate for Congress-at-large, credited with founding the first Texas county federation of women's clubs...

Speaker John N. Garner's homecoming to Texas was sufficient answer to the final half dozen who wonder whether there remains any symptoms of Hoovertitis about to appear in Texas in November.

Elsewhere, large delegations met his train and hailed the candidate with enthusiastic cheers.

Whatever of lingering hang-over there was from the anti-Smith spree of 1928 has been overcome; both by the selection of a strong and favorite candidate for president, and the outstanding Texan for vice-president.

SWIM A TIE

LEETSDALE, Pa., July 21.—When diet fails, you might try swimming off that surplus weight. Patrolman Roy Wilson and Miss Helen McCreary recently swam a one-mile race in the Ohio river here—the winner to be determined by the amount of weight loss. It ended in a dead heat. Each lost 4 1/2 pounds during the race.

796 CROSSING CRASHES. HARRISBURG, Pa., July 21.—Automobile drivers who failed to stop at street and highway intersections designated as through highway crossings caused 796 accidents during the first five months of 1932.

SAN BENITO, July 21.—State highway workers are spending $6,000 eliminating the famous "Dead Man's Curve" on the Brownsville road near here. Twenty persons have been killed and several hundred injured at the fatal "S" curve.

BLONDE VENUS IS FAVORED BY ARTISTS

NEW YORK, July 22.—Was the original of the Venus de Milo blonde, red-haired or brunette?

Half a dozen of America's foremost illustrators are in disagreement.

James Montgomery Flagg, Leslie Thrasher and Neya McMein believe that she probably was a brunette. Constantin Alajalov holds out for blonde. Russell Patterson favors red hair. Rofe Armstrong isn't sure, but he says that he would do her a blonde if he were painting her.

Josef von Sternberg, Hollywood director, who produced "Blonde Venus" for Paramount, gives a new slant to the discussion.

"Venus," he said, "is every man's dream of the perfect woman. It doesn't matter whether its ancient Greece or modern America; each man pictures Venus as an ideal. For that reason, I think that in this country and this age, when the general conception of the perfect feminine type is blonde, the artist should portray Venus with honey-colored hair and milk white skin.

"There is, moreover, an ethnological basis for this attitude. The Greeks of the time of Pericles were pure Aryan stock, a branch of the same race which populated Germany and Scandinavia. Their intermixture with the brunette Mediterranean peoples such as the Romans, Turks, etc., came at a much later date."

Auto Travels Land and Sea

WILBUR, Wash. July 22.—When Charles Wyborney goes touring in his automobile, he has no trick for him to speed along highways and across lakes.

The Wilbur inventor has constructed a hydro-car with a special boat body. It has a six cylinder motor, travels on land at the usual speed, can strike water at five to 10 miles an hour and travels in water at eight miles an hour.

No time is lost in going from land into water. The propeller operates from an attachment on the rear wheel and the operator can quickly raise the mechanism when the wheels touch land and can lower it when the boat floats in the water. The boat measures 20 feet, six inches in length, six feet in width and is two and a half feet deep. It carries eight people comfortably, with a capacity of twelve.

CONVICTS MAKE TAGS.
HARRISBURG, Pa., July 21.—Prisoners in Pennsylvania penal institutions are manufacturing the 2,000,000 sets of automobile license tags needed for 1933 registrations in the state. At the peak of production, 125 prisoners produce 250,000 sets per month in the Western penitentiary shops.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

BEGIN HERE TODAY
CHERRY DIXON, pretty 19-year-old daughter of wealthy parents, marries DAN PHILLIPS, newspaper reporter, after a quarrel with her parents. It is a Leap Year marriage and Cherry does the proposing.

She and Dan move into a cheap apartment and Cherry's first struggles with housework are discouraging. DIXIE SHANNON, movie critic of the News, is friendly. Cherry meets handsome MAX PEARSON, also of the News, who tries to make love to her.

BRENDA VAIL, magazine writer, comes to Wellington and Dan meets her. She asks him to collaborate in writing a play. Dan begins to spend most of his evenings at Miss Vail's apartment. Discord arises between Cherry and Dan. He agrees to meet her for lunch one day but fails to appear. Later she sees him with Brenda. When Cherry accuses Dan of deceiving her they quarrel. He leaves the apartment and when he returns Cherry is gone. A week passes in which he does not hear from her.

Dan gives up his job, preparing to go to New York with Brenda. He discovers a story he has written published in a magazine under Brenda's name. When asked for an explanation she files into a rage and admits she sold the story. Brenda tells Dan she is going to Hollywood to write for motion pictures and that she is through with him forever. While they are talking a man she believes to represent the film company arrives. It is Max Pearson who has perpetrated this hoax to show up Brenda's true character. She is furious. Dan and Max leave together, ashamed of his folly and thoroughly repentant. Dan sets out to find Cherry.

not there," he said. "They haven't seen her or heard from her."

"Then where do you think she is?"

"I don't know! I thought all along—my God, Max, I've got to find her!"

"Isn't it rather late to begin thinking about that? You said Cherry left Saturday. I must say, Dan—"

"Say it! Say anything you want to! I'll admit I deserve all you're thinking about me. Tell me I've been a damned fool! I don't care what you say if you'll help me find her. She must be here in Wellington. She wouldn't go away!"

"Why not? How about her parents? Maybe she's with them."

Dan shook his head. "I don't think so," he said. "Cherry's proud. I don't think she'd go to her parents and—well, admit that she'd made a mistake. I thought she'd come back or at least send some word. When she didn't I decided she really meant what she said—about being through with me. I thought she wanted a divorce and I was going to give her a chance to get it. Lord, but I've been a fool, Max! I've—oh, if I could only find her. Talk to her! Maybe I could make her understand—maybe she'd give me another chance!"

Silently Dan handed the message to Pearson who read it and said, "Not there, huh?"

Pearson and Phillips were in a corner of the room otherwise deserted. The day staff had departed and only half a dozen of the night men were on hand. The click of a typewriter sounded monotonously from across the room.

Pearson rubbed his head. "We'll have to try again. Who are Cherry's friends, Dan? Who could she be with if she hasn't left town?"

"I've told you a dozen times I can't think of anyone! Dixie Shannon didn't even know she was gone. There isn't anybody—"

"But there must be!" Suddenly Pearson's fist hit the desk. "Look here, Dan, this may be serious! Has it occurred to you that Cherry's an heiress? Her father's money—have you thought of that?"

"What do you mean?"

"I mean anything may have happened in a week's time! A beautiful girl—wealthy—has been missing for seven days. Nobody knows what's become of her. Her parents—the servants at her home—not a person she might have been expected to communicate with has heard a word from her. How do you know she hasn't been kidnaped? Maybe there's been an accident! Why, in a week's time—"

"I'll bet she's with Sarah—the woman who used to take care of her when she was a little girl. Sarah O'Fallon, that's her name!"

"Where is this woman? Let's get hold of her."

"I don't know where she is."

"But—"

Dan's mouth was drawn in a tight, hard line. His face was colorless, his voice sharpened. "I don't know where she is," he said, "but I'll find her. Sarah left when the Dixons closed their house last summer. She's somewhere not far from here. Cherry used to get letters. Letters! That's it—there must be letters—! Come, Max!"

IT was a single flight up the street level. Hatless, half-running, the two men reached the street. They sprang into a cab and Dan gave the address of the apartment. It was Dan suddenly who was taking the initiative, who was giving orders and directing a search.

"I don't know what you're going to do!" Max reminded him.

"We're going out to the house to look for Cherry's letters. There must be some from Sarah. They'll give us the address."

"Dan, I think it would be a lot more sensible to go to the chief—"

"Not until I find out whether or not she's with Sarah. Besides, what could the police do? Cherry wouldn't want them interfering. I can't—I won't believe anything's happened to her!"

Max glanced quickly at his companion. Dan might say that he did not believe Cherry could be in danger. He might refuse to face that possibility, fight it off but Max knew it was that possibility that was gripping Dan, that had set his chin in its hard line and turned the gray eyes into blazing pits.

Max said impulsively, "Of course not. We'll find her somehow. Cherry's all right."

He didn't believe it; neither did Dan Phillips but Dan was grateful for the words. He needed hope and encouragement then more than he had ever needed them in his life. Hope that Cherry was "all right" as Max had said. Encouragement that he could find her and make her listen to the things he must tell her. Without this hope and encouragement—but the blackness of such an abyss was unthinkable!

The cab halted. Max called, "Wait for us!" over his shoulder to the driver as he followed Dan up the steps. Now they were inside the building, hurrying up the long staircase.

Dan had whipped his keys from his pocket. He was fumbling in the half-darkness, trying to fit the key into the lock, when something caught his attention. He looked up, almost missed the tiny object half way up the stairs. With an exclamation he sprang forward.

Runoff Indicated
A runoff between C. V. Terrell and Lee Satterwhite was indicated in the long term Railroad Commission contest. They were favored by practically the same number. Colonel Ernest Thompson had a wide majority in the short term contest with Ed T. Murphy second.

William Pierson received the most choices in the associate supreme court justice race but not more than those for J. E. Hickman, next, and Ode Speer added. A runoff between Pierson and Hickman was indicated.

Fink Parish, Joe W. Bailey Jr. and Julian C. Hyer received the most choices for places 1, 2, and 3, Congress-at-Large but none had a majority over their numerous opponents. Lawrence Westbrook ranked next to Parrish in Place 1 and Chesley Jurney, Ernest C. Ozro Cox and W. Erskine Williams had the support of many. Oscar Holcombe was second in Place 2 but considerably behind Bailey. Mrs. Phebe K. Warner and W. H. Hawkins were not far behind Holcombe. A very close race was indicated in Place 3. Hyer was only a few votes ahead of J. E. Boeg-Scott and Ben F. Hargel. Douglas McGregor and W. E. Bill Lea were close behind.

The three Texas Scripps-Howard papers supported wet candidates for Congress-at-Large but did not agree upon all of them. The El Paso Herald-Post selected Jurney, Bailey and McGregor while the Houston Press chose Westbrook, Bailey and McGregor. The prohibition question, however, had apparently no bearing on most of the choices. A great many editors selected two wets and a dry or vice versa in the Congress-at-Large contests.

This food safety can best be assured by automatic Electric Refrigeration, for this modern way the temperature in your food compartment is regulated automatically . . . there's no chance to forget . . . day after day, regardless of outside temperatures, you will have adequate protection.

And the savings in food waste alone will go a long way toward paying for an Electric Refrigerator!

May we show you figures which prove that Electric Refrigeration is really an economy . . . not an expense? Just telephone today, or see any dealer. No obligation, of course.
