Sen. Johnson Announces Refusal to Support Hoover

DECISION IS TELEGRAPHED TO EDITORS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—U. S. Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, "cannot and will not support" President Hoover for re-election," he said emphatically today in response to a telegram from 70 publishers asking him to make a declaration in support of Mr. Hoover.

"I am a progressive republican. Mr. Hoover is not," was the theme of the militant Californian's answer to the publishers. "Mr. Hoover has justly earned the title of ultra-conservative," he said.

The answer about 550 words long, blasted the hopes of state and national republican leaders that Johnson would definitely align with the Hoover-Curtis ticket.

Johnson has a tremendous following in California. Lieutenants of Mr. Hoover and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt have been angling for his support.

ROOSEVELT ATTACKS FINANCIAL POLICIES.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 14.—"Un-sound financial policies" have made the federal treasury's situation "not desperate, but at least threatening to future stability," Franklin Roosevelt maintained today.

"All government treasuries are hard put to keep their budgets balanced. If the policies of the present administration are continued," he declared, "there will be deficits and yet more deficits."

He urged that a "nest egg" be put aside in times of prosperity to provide work during hard times. Gov. Roosevelt said he will announce his attitude toward immediate payment of the bonus in "the near future."

FUNERAL FOR SLAIN SLATON DOCTOR TODAY

SLATON, Oct. 14.—Funeral services for Dr. S. H. Adams, 58, pioneer Slaton physician who was fatally shot late yesterday were to be held here this afternoon.

At Lubbock Lee Tudor, 52, waived examining trial after being charged with murder. Adams was shot in his office. He died three hours after Tudor had turned his pistol over to police and surrendered himself as a prisoner.

Trouble between the two men is said to have started late in August when Tudor's son, Wood, 30, died in the doctor's office following an automobile accident.

REBUTTAL IS PRESENTED IN ARNOLD CASE

BRECKENRIDGE, Oct. 14.—Completion of rebuttal testimony by the state early this afternoon and submission of the judge's charge to the jury late in the day are expected to bring the hearing in the murder trial of Doye Arnold to a close except for the arguments of counsel.

The morning was occupied with the introduction of witnesses in rebuttal to the insanity defense of Arnold who is accused of the public street slaying of his estranged wife here on the afternoon of September 10. The woman was stabbed with a small knife and beaten in the head with a rock.

Hoover Recovers From Handshaking

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—White house aides today said President Hoover had entirely recovered except for a somewhat bruised right hand from the effects of last night's strenuous reception from which he was forced to withdraw after shaking hands with more than 3,000 guests.

Up and Away in Gordon Bennett Race

Away they went, the cumbersome, swaying balloons representing eight nations in the annual Gordon Bennett race. Two of those here shown taking off at Basle, Switzerland, were United States entries. In the foreground at right, as it was about to be released, is the navy balloon which won the trophy. And at left is the American Goodyear, which finished second.

LOBOES MEET DANIEL BAKER CREW HERE SATURDAY NIGHT

By FRANK LANGSTON

Cisco's Big Dam Loboes will play the Daniel Baker freshmen at 8:15 tomorrow night at Chesley field. It will be the first game for the Loboes since the supersedeas bond was posted, suspending them from Interscholastic League activities, and will not be a game in preparation for bigger ones to follow, but will be one played in earnest by both teams.

Coach Bull Elkins took the news that the district committee had posted the supersedeas bond calmly. He had believed for some time that as soon as the question concerning Cisco's right to play was decided, the boys would settle down and play a better brand of football.

Although the fish lost to Eastland last week, Coach Elkins said that he expected a hard game and a good crowd tomorrow night. Two days before taking on the Mavericks, the freshmen had played another game, and used the second string largely during the go with Eastland. The hour for the game has been arranged so as to allow both townspeople and those coming in for the rodeo to be at the park for the opening kickoff.

Went Start Ray

In looking over his prospects for a starting lineup, Coach Elkins said that he would not start Ray at quarter. Although the scrapping little back has been working out with the team this week, his neck has not yet fully recovered from the injury received in the Ranger game. St. John, a youngster who is learning fast, will likely get the call to start, Elkins said.

Elkins was somewhat doubtful about his starting center, too. He now has two men of about equal ability at that position but said that Carley may be the starter replacing Hanaford who played most of the first two games.

Probable Line-up

The probable line up will be: ends, Rutledge and Van Horn; tackles, Latch and McMahon; guards, Aycock and Blackburn or Garrett; center, Carley; quarterback, St. John; halfbacks, Barker and Carfrey; fullback, McCall.

Except for Ray, this backfield should be more powerful than the one which started the game against the Rangers last week. In reserve Elkins will have a number of good backs, including Steffy, Bill McMahon, Webster, Barnhill, and Ray if he is needed.

Yesterday's workout was somewhat lighter than the one Wednesday, but the boys got in a lot of work on their new plays from the single wing-back and the short punt formations they are using now. The coaches drilled them on lateral and forward passes, which so far seems to be their greatest offensive weaknesses. There will be two passers

CISCO BOARD TO MAP OUT NEXT ACTION

The Cisco school board will probably have a meeting this evening to determine upon a future course of action in the Cisco football suspension case.

It is the opinion of the board's attorneys that the supersedeas bond filed by the district Interscholastic league committee in district court at Eastland yesterday, will not keep the Loboes from playing on the 1932 schedule, due to the manner in which the bond was handled.

This matter will doubtless be determined within the next day or so, it was announced.

Collar Bone Broken At Football Practice

Rankin Blackburn, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Blackburn of 700 West Tenth street, suffered a fractured collar bone in football practice yesterday afternoon. He is a cousin of Claude Blackburn, starting guard in the last two games, and is a sophomore in high school.

Rankin's injury was one of those peculiar incidents that sometimes happen in that he was not playing but was tackling the dummy in the sand pit when the accident occurred. He was feeling as well as could be expected this morning, but said that his shoulder pained him.

CISCO GETS MEETING OF PRESBYTERY

Dr. J. Stuart Pearce, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, returned last night from Fort Worth where he was elected moderator of the Ft. Worth Presbytery in session there. The presbytery spring meeting—the most important of the two annual sessions—will be held in Cisco next April. Dr. Pearce will serve for six months. He succeeded Emmett Brown, for the past 25 years superintendents of schools at Cleburne.

An interesting feature of the spring meeting here will be delivery of the presbyterial sermon by Dr. J. B. Leslie, stated clerk of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, U. S. Dr. Leslie was for ten years pastor of the Cisco Presbyterian church. His home is now at Dallas.

Dr. Leslie's sermon here will commemorate the 50th anniversary of his ordination as a minister and he will preach the same sermon that he preached upon that occasion. The venerable divine is noted as the most imminent authority on Presbyterian law and doctrine in the denomination, and is the author of numerous textbooks which are used in the seminaries of the church.

Remarkable Meeting

The Fort Worth presbytery ended a two-day convention at Fort Worth yesterday. That meeting was said to be the most enthusiastic and the most remarkable that has been held in many years. All but one of the churches embraced by the presbytery, whose jurisdiction extends from Fort Worth west to Colorado City, were present. Accompanying Dr. Pearce as a representative of the Cisco church was Dr. W. P. Lee.

During the sessions three young men were received into the care of the presbytery as candidates for the ministry and another was received and ordained after having completed his college and seminary courses.

Between 100 and 200 visitors are expected to be here for the spring meeting. The sessions will occupy about three days.

FIRE HAZARD DRAMATIZED BY STUDENTS

Closing the observance of Fire Prevention week, pupils of the East Ward school presented a play, "The Trial of Fire," this morning, in which various fire hazards were put on trial in a criminal court. Following was the cast of characters for the play:

Judge, Joe Don Johnson. District attorney, Harmon Smith. Court officer, J. P. Linton. Counsel for the defense, Donald Miller.

Clerk of the court, Joe Don Johnson.

Kerosene, Darwin Doyle. Cigarette, Bob Farmer. Match, Lowell Crowder. Electricity, Dorothy Rush. Rubbish, Roy Lee Ayers. Gas, Hazel Lee Cook. Gasoline, Laura Culbert. Lightning, Arles Boone. Bonfire, Opal Penley. Spontaneous Combustion, Fausteen Boyett. Carelessness, Belva Crowder.

At the end of the play there was a demonstration in the use of fire extinguishers, which were filled four years ago. After the demonstration they were taken to the fire department to be refilled. During the week the pupils also made fire prevention posters, according to Principal T. C. Williams.

TWO CHARGED IN ATTACK ON AGED FARMER

DENTON, Oct. 14.—Charges of assault with intent to murder were filed here today against Morgan Tully, about 30, and Leo Taylor following a mysterious shooting at the home of Eugene and George Smith, well-to-do bachelor farmers residing near here.

The men were taken into custody by a citizens posse which surrounded the Smith home following an attempt to murder Eugene Smith.

The 65-year-old farmer said he was reading in the sitting room of his farm home when he heard steps on the front porch. Before he could go to the door a pane of glass was knocked from a window and a revolver shoved through the opening.

The farmer narrowly missed being struck by bullets fired at him. The men fled.

Officers said Tully and Taylor identified themselves as undercover operators for the federal prohibition department. The Smith brothers were robbed last May 13 of $2,600 by three armed men who entered the house on the pretext they were federal prohibition agents.

Her Pupil Is President

One of the first persons to greet President Hoover when he arrived in Iowa for his Des Moines speech was Mrs. Mollie Brown Carran, 77, his teacher when he was in the third grade.

She met the special train at West Liberty, near his home town of West Branch, and rode with the presidential party to Des Moines. Teacher and pupil are shown above.

Thomas' Speech to Be Broadcast Here

Norman Thomas, socialist candidate for president, may be heard over the radio at the city hall lawn Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock through the courtesy of the local Atwater-Kent radio dealers, with whom the socialist chapter here has made an arrangement to install a radio set.

Thomas will speak at Texas Christian university in Fort Worth Monday morning and at the city hall in Dallas that evening. The radio speech will come from station WFAA.

ROOSEVELT'S LEAD IN POLL IS INCREASED

Roosevelt increases his lead over Hoover slightly in the fourth week's returns of nearly 2,000,000 ballots from thirty-eight states in The Literary Digest's nation-wide Presidential poll, reported in to-morrow's issue of the magazine.

Of the 1,834,634 votes tabulated President Hoover receives 781,431 or 39.39 per cent. Governor Roosevelt receives 1,062,087 or 53.54 per cent, and Norman Thomas 106,452, or 5.36 per cent of the total cast to date.

Eighteen new States are reported in the current returns. The only one of this in which Hoover is leading is Vermont. Roosevelt is shown capturing the other seventeen—Ark., Arkansas, Delaware, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah and Wyoming.

The Hoover strength is confined to the six New England States which he is shown carrying solidly, and New Jersey. Roosevelt is leading in the other thirty-one states from which returns have been received and tabulated so far.

Hoover is indicated gaining strength in California, Illinois, Indiana, Maine, New Hampshire, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island in all of which states he shows increases over his last week's ratio. Returns from Massachusetts this week show a decrease in his percentage of the total vote there.

Republicans Switch

"In an analysis of 'how the same voters voted in 1928' Roosevelt appears to be obtaining more than one-half of his vote from former republicans in California and Michigan while in the nine other states of Iowa, Kansas, Nevada, North Dakota, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Wisconsin and Wyoming he has more votes from former Republicans than he has from former democrats.

The same analysis reveals that Roosevelt has increased his inroads into Republican ranks of four years ago throughout the nation, gaining 39.64 per cent of his entire strength from former Hoover adherents this week as against 37.96 per cent, in last week's report.

Roosevelt continues to carry California the home state of the president, by a lead of nearly 2 to 1. He is ahead also in his own state of New York by a vote of 156,447 to 145,554.

Calculating the current returns on an electoral college basis, Hoover receive 57 votes and Roosevelt 356. Massachusetts leads the Republican column giving 58.09 per cent of its votes to the president, taking the lead from New Hampshire which had this rank last week.

Clear Majorities

Roosevelt is indicated receiving a clear majority of all votes cast over all six other presidential aspirants in twenty-nine of the thirty-eight states reported this week.

The Literary Digest cautions that though the figures this week "are worthy of respectful attention" they are not yet conclusive and that later returns may change the entire complexion of the vote.

"With this week's report" The Literary Digest will state editorially reaches the edge of its 2,000,000 mark.

"It embraces thirty-eight states. Eighteen of them are now making their first appearance in the poll.

"Hoover captures one of the debutantes—Vermont. Roosevelt captures seventeen of them.

"We're going to give some searching facts about the Thomas vote showing the drifts that are bringing

ENTRY LIST FOR TERRAPIN RACE IS STILL INCOMPLETE

With only one more day until the race is held, Joe C. Burnam this morning issued a call for more terrapins for the terrapin race featured in the business men's rodeo tomorrow. Only six entries have been reported so far.

The terrapin race will be held at D avenue and east Seventh street at 10:30 a. m., where all entries will be placed in the center of a circle and allowed to crawl out. The first to crawl over the line will be awarded first place and the owner a cash prize of one dollar. A dollar will also be given for the largest terrapin and ten cents for each entry.

The rodeo proper will be held at Chesley field, with expert rodeo men in charge to see that the program is run off smoothly. Burnam said. Cash prizes will be awarded to all winners. A small entrance fee will be charged for each event.

Begin at 1.

Goat roping, the first event on the afternoon's program, will be at 1 o'clock. It will be followed by calf roping, steer riding, mule riding, and bronc riding.

At 3 o'clock the field will be given over to Walter Ray, who will have charge of the horse races. A kid pony race will be followed by a cow horse race and a free for all.

All events are open to anyone who wishes to enter. Tickets may be secured from the local merchants and business men at any time before the rodeo, according to Burnam.

By sponsoring programs in which everyone may take part, the business men of Cisco hope to create a spirit of better fellowship co-operation among the people of the Cisco trading district. This will be the second rodeo staged this fall.

The football game between the Cisco Loboes and the Daniel Baker freshmen, also scheduled for Chesley field will be played at 8:15, so as to allow those attending the rodeo an opportunity to see the game, according to Coach Wilson Elkins.

Gulf Companies to Meet New Prices

HOUSTON, Oct. 14.—Headquarters of the Gulf Pipe Line company, of Texas, and the Gulf Refining Co., of Louisiana, announced today they would meet the new schedule of Texas and Mid-Continent crude oil prices effective tomorrow.

Under the new schedule prices for north, north central and central Texas crude oil are boosted 12 cents a barrel to $1.12.

EDITOR WOULD PLEDGE SYRUP

GILMER, Oct. 14.—Carl Estes, Tyler publisher, will abandon his editorial duties and peddle cane syrup to pay his way from Texas to New York City if Standard Oil of New Jersey raises its price for crude oil purchased from the east Texas field.

AUSTIN, Oct. 14.—The state railroad commission today set November 1 for a hearing at Fort Worth on gas rates charged in Texas by the Lone Star gas company.

HORNETS ROUT AVIATOR.

MALDEN, Mass., Oct. 14.—Edward Rogers, aviator, no longer boasts of his ability to master anything that flies. Recently he was driven from his home by a swarm of angry hornets that emerged from a wall.

QUARREL ENDS IN TRAGEDY, SHE RELATES

HOUSTON, Oct. 14.—Katherine Livingston, 39, today was charged with murder in connection with the hammer killing of her asserted paragon, John H. Bailey, 26.

She was held in the county jail without bond pending an examining trial. She said she was Bailey's common law wife.

The killing occurred early today in a suburban cottage. Officers who went to the scene found Bailey dead in bed and the woman at a neighbor's house, moaning hysterically.

In a statement made at the sheriff's office the woman said Bailey awakened her and kicked her out of bed after which they resumed an argument which began last night.

When the argument became more heated, she said, she picked up a hammer and struck Bailey in the head once.

Mrs. Livingston said she met Bailey, a musician and an oil field worker, about two years ago when he boarded at her Fort Worth home. She said the argument began when Bailey threatened to leave her and "get another woman."

Mad Mind Enacts Tragedy as Memento

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 14.—Three bodies fell 16 stories to death from a downtown hotel window and left today a strange tragedy that its mad author hoped would be "something to remember me by."

Arms and legs bound tight, with silk stockings, Milton, and Vivian Libo, 4 and 5 years old, were hurled to death by their crazed aunt, Mrs. Aurelia Lorenz, 30. Mrs. Lorenz jumped from a hotel window herself after tossing out the children.

A semi-coherent note left by the deranged woman revealed the twisted workings of her mind.

SPENCER GOES TO AUSTIN ON RELIEF WORK

AUSTIN, Oct. 14.—West Texas requests for relief loans from the Reconstruction Finance corporation totalling $618,000 will be forwarded to Washington tonight by Gov. R. S. Sterling.

The loan applications represent 80 West Texas towns comprising a population of more than 850,000 persons.

J. E. Spencer, secretary of the chamber of commerce, left yesterday for Austin where he and other officials and directors of the West Texas chamber of commerce were in conference with the governor and the representative of the Reconstruction Finance corporation on the application of about 75 towns in west Texas for a R. F. C. relief appropriation. Eastland county towns asked a total of $400,000 for distribution during the winter.

All West Texas applications were grouped by the West Texas chamber of commerce and presented to Gov. Sterling by General Manager Bandedge, and other officials of that organization. The governor will transmit the application to the R. F. C. combining it with applications from south and east Texas.

The allocation of the funds that are granted by the R. F. C. and the methods of distributing the relief will be worked out at the conference. Mr. Spencer went to the meeting at the urgent request of WTCC officials and the wishes of the local chamber of commerce and organization in other Eastland county towns who joined in the application. It was felt that his knowledge of the relief needs of the county would help to insure this county receiving all the relief sought. The recommendations of the R. F. C. representative at Austin are expected to be largely followed by the R. F. C. in making the appropriation.

The small expense of the trip will be shared by all the towns.

The meeting was held at 10 o'clock this morning.

TAXING TOURISTS TO ADVERTISE TEXAS.

Advertising Texas abroad is the theme of Mgr. G. C. Richardson, vice-president and manager of the Brownsville chamber of commerce and formerly manager of the Cisco chamber of commerce. He would divert $500,000 annually available for a period of five years from the state gasoline fund. He insists that in the last analysis such an advertising campaign would not cost the state of Texas one penny, because the revenue accruing to the state from the four cent gasoline tax from the tourists and visitors would more than offset the money expended.

He insists that the trend of migration today in the United States is southward. His argument is that the average daily expenditure of a tourist or traveler is $5 per day, that his money is cash, "no collection fee, very little overhead and the entire population is benefited, from the farmer to the banker." The theory is that those who use the highways should pay the cost of construction and maintenance. It is based on logic as well as justice, but why should money taken from the pockets of Texans for highway purposes be diverted to other departments of the state government.

As it is, a large slice of the fund goes to the support of the public schools, another large slice has been voted by the lawmakers to the counties loaded down with a bonded indebtedness voted for state highway purposes. Why tax to death the owners of automobiles. Of course, there should be a just tax placed on passenger buses and highway freighters. It is admitted that Texas should be advertised abroad. Well, why not a tax for advertising purposes on all the people and not a few of the people.

LEADERS "FULL OF CONFIDENCE"

A hundred business leaders of America wired the private banking house of Lehman Brothers, Wall street, "that the low point was passed in the summer," speaking of business conditions the nation over and that "the larger majority were definitely of the opinion that the bottom had been seen, while the small number who voiced no definite convictions, were at least hopeful that this was the case." Business inventories were reported by nearly all as ranging from normal to very low. A majority looked to increased business the coming spring. Incidentally, the Iowa farmers have figured that 10 acres of corn will heat their houses through the coming winter and cut down the staggering crop surplus.

ILLS OF AMERICAN RAILWAYS.

President Hoover is always naming commissions and commissions and their activities cost the taxpayers large sums of money. He named a commission to make a diagnosis of the ills of the railroads of the American world. The commission organized, Calvin Coolidge was named its chairman. It is a board of inquiry sponsored by important banks, insurance companies and institutions. It held its first session in the offices of one of its all important members, former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, known to fame as "The Happy Warrior" of democracy. Then the commission christened itself the national transportation committee. It appointed Dr. Harold D. Moulton as chief investigator. It was announced that the committee had been formed for the purpose of studying the modes of transportation; that Chief Investigator Moulton will employ experts and aides necessary to analyze the problems that will be surveyed. It was "hello, Al."

Baruch, Alexander Legge, and Clark Howell. Bernard Baruch, a noted financier, was elected vice-chairman. Alexander Legge is former head of the federal farm board and the big voice of the International Harvester company. Clark Howell comes from away down in Georgia and he is the publisher of the Atlanta Constitution. All are important personages but not a trained rail economist in the bunch. By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, Oct. 14.—Two candidates for governor already are on the stump and James E. Ferguson, on behalf of a third, has announced he will renew the vote drive where he left off at the second primary.

Cerville Bullington, republican nominee who is reaching for the apples of democratic discord, and George W. Armstrong, who started out to be a democrat but sized up the situation and decided there might be a big slash-over of November votes and turned independent, already are making speeches, each visiting Central Texas during the week.

Wichita Falls has taken the depression as a vehicle for demonstrating a splendid comeback, according to James V. Alfred... The Wichita Falls half-century jubilation was an event of outstanding success, Mr. Alfred reported at Austin, one demonstrating that "the city that faith built has its foundations deeply laid; has a spirit of pulling ahead, of working together of building and planning for the future; and has both that dominating faith for the future and substantial fruits of past faith to sustain its future development.

The spirit of his city, he reported, is not one of mourning because of bad economic times but of study

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

R. N. Cluck, school superintendent is having trouble with his heels. A heel, you who are acquainted with Homer recollect, spelled the downfall of one of the doughtiest heroes of Grecian antiquity. It appears that this hero, Achilles by name, had been plunged into the River Styx while an infant by his mother, this immersion serving to make him invulnerable to mortal wound. But the immunizing influence of the waters did not touch the heel by which his mother had held him, and so Achilles went through life with that bare spot in an otherwise impregnable armor. A fellow by the name of Paris shot a poisoned arrow into it one bright afternoon.

But so far as I know Mr. Cluck has not been submerged in any rivers. Perhaps that is unfortunate; but his trouble is quite different from that of the Grecian massacre artist. He can't "pussyfoot."

Leather heels make a sound like crossing a hollow bridge on a dark night when one walks down the corridors of the high school building. And when one wants to "pussyfoot," it simply can't be done. Don't be surprised some day to walk into the school building and find the superintendent, shoes held in one hand, sneaking down the hall in his socked feet. He will merely be "pussyfooting."

The bond has been filed and the Cisco Leboes so far are out. What will pop up next in this realistic drama we shall wait patiently to see.

Specs is acquainted with some of the sureties on the bond and seeing their names affixed brings a smile. One of them, a very good friend of mine—until he signed the bond, for which I remove the "very"—was habitually on the thin edge of starvation, to hear him tell it. A grist mill couldn't grind a nickel out of him. I was actually shocked when I saw his signature. Evidently what they think of Cisco over in that city is enough to make the eagle leave the dollar.

John Garner, the democratic vice-presidential nominee, will be heard over the radio this evening in a broadcasted broadside against Hoover. The speech will go on the air at 9:15 Central Standard Time, which is our time. (For the benefit of critical I understand that "broadcasted" has come into a semblance of respect due to its being used so much since the advent of the radio.)

The nominee will speak about 45 minutes. Judging from what he says in the papers that will be more than enough time for him to get the other plenty hot.

Years ago traditional "Dutch Oven" meals provided wholesome, appetizing and attractive foods cooked in their own juices... with all the delicious flavors, healthful vitamins and vital food elements sealed-in. Memories of these wonderful meals have been handed down in poem, song and prose.

But the "Dutch Oven" method of cookery, marvelous from the standpoint of results, was too burdensome to fit modern living conditions... So Electric Cookery, offering the same delicious and healthful meals with a minimum of work on your part, has skyrocketed to popularity. Deservedly!

With Electric Cookery, scientifically accurate cooking controls do all the cooking! Literally, you do nothing but put the foods in the oven, set the controls, and take out a delicious and piping hot meal when you are ready to serve!

To save work, money and health... to enjoy a clean, cool kitchen... and to serve better and more healthful meals, install an Electric Range TODAY. Ask a salesman for information regarding special prices and terms NOW available.

Call us for an individual investigation of your use of electric service, to determine the cost of cooking by electricity in your home. You may be surprised to know that there are many cases where electric cookery actually decreases the total of electric and gas bills.

RENO TENDERS DRINK LITTLE AT OWN BARS

By GEORGE D. CRISKEY
United Press Staff Correspondent.
RENO, Nev., Oct. 14.—The men who man bars in Reno's many speakeasies cling rigidly to the old-time saloon theory that the man on the other side of the bar should do most of the drinking.

In fact, a surprising number of the bartenders and proprietors of liquor establishments do not drink at all. That, they say, is no handicap to the preparation of zestful libations. Some claim that liquor is best judged, anyway, by rubbing a few drops between the palms and sniffing as it evaporates.

Moderate Drinkers
Generally, the bartenders may be classified as moderate drinkers. The man who gets drunk on the job does not last long, particularly in the higher class places frequented by members of the local divorce colony.

The moderate drinker, according to saloon men, is the best bartender because during the course of an eight-hour shift as a customary here—a good many extra 50-cent pieces will be taken in as a result of parties getting generous and buying the bartender drinks. The bartender buys back, of course, but that is a regular practice here regardless of whether the bartender is a drinker.

Unusual Devices
A few of the non-drinkers employ unusual devices to get the money for personal drinks without doing any drinking. One man for example has a wine bottle filled with sweet apple cider back of the bar. It happens to be a floor worker who hasn't touched a drop for years. When a party invites him to drink he accepts, calls for wine, and the bartender serves him the sweet apple cider.

More general is the practice of taking a short beer which is very short indeed. There are a few though, who are extremely frank and state simply and plainly that they do not drink.

Ghostly Chorus Is Museum Attraction

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Among the most interesting collections in the British Museum is one made up of the voices of persons long dead.

This ghostly chorus is preserved in the form of phonograph records. Many of them never will come to the ears of this generation, since they were made on condition that they should not be reproduced until a period of 50 or more years had passed.

The collection is stored in a small and seldom-visited room. Special measures have been taken to safeguard and preserve the records.

Oldest of the records is that of Alfred Lord Tennyson. Since the art of recording was in its infancy then the voice of the great poet may be but faintly heard now.

Another valuable voice is that of Trollope reading a passage from one of his notable books. This record was made 25 years ago, when he was 77.

There are particularly fine records of Caruso, Patti, and Melba.

Preserved, too, is the eloquence of such men as Balfour, Asquith, and Lord Roberts in the last case the great soldier's prophetic warning of war peril in 1913.

Among the surviving great included in the collection are Ramsey MacDonald, King George, Queen Mary, and the Prince of Wales, Stanley Baldwin, and Lloyd George.

N. Y. U. OPENS MENTAL LAB FOR STUDENTS

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—A laboratory of psychology, designed to adapt the student to his chosen profession through a "five-year plan of personality improvement," has been opened here by New York University.

Seven psychologists have the task of assigning to each student in the "laboratory" a plan of personality improvement which at the end of five years will fit him in all ways to carry out his tasks.

An elaborate preliminary test of the student is contained in an 80-page examination prepared by Newman L. Hoopinger, associate professor of business psychology, who is in charge of the experimental school, the first of its kind in the world.

Twelve Qualities
Twelve qualities considered fundamental to analysis, are contained in the test. They deal with impressiveness, initiative, thoroughness, observation, concentration, constructive imagination, leadership ability, organizing ability, expression, knowledge, and adaptability.

Existing methods of selecting men for jobs are described by Professor Hoopinger as "too simple and therefore overlooking salient facts."

Novel Devices
Among the novel devices in the personality improvement curriculum is psychogalvanograph, emotion recording machine with which the subject may see dancing before him on an electrically-controlled dial.

In a test of 16 men hired by a New York concern, Prof. Hoopinger reports that he found only five of them suited to their employment. Subsequent experience of the concern confirmed his judgment as "98 per cent correct" he said.

He claims "a more comprehensive analysis and judgment of ability and proper use of personalities in 75 per cent more cases than the usual hazardous methods of picking out men for important jobs."

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee, Oklahoma.

That statements of the Peace pacts between countries we hear so much about are ideal, but they have no practical value without some power to enforce them. Without such power they amount to no more than a string of pious platitudes.

To use power in the economic sense to punish a nation who does not agree with our word with the idealists would be just as cruel and probably far worse than war, as we know it today, inasmuch as it would mean in a way the starvation of an entire nation, the majority of whom would be innocent sufferers in any event.

We cannot see the justice in an ideal that would cut off trade supplies to possible millions of women and children who know nothing of the politics of their government and who must within themselves abhor war just as much, and with perhaps better reasons, than those who have formulated the pacts.

No Peace Pacts, no matter by whom drawn or how skillfully worded, will be of any value while the injustice between nations exists. The nation put down by force nurses not only a grudge, but nurses its remnants back to strength again, and then when they are strong they start it over again.

A single agreement between nations which allows time for consultation would be worth all the Pacts so far made. No nation would refuse to allow time for consultation provided that unbiased machinery were established for that purpose because a government that would deliberately refuse such an agreement would in these democratic days, very soon cease to exist.

Lone Athlete Lives in Deserted Village; Sees Fans Carry Off Olympic Trophies

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14.—There is only one athlete left at the Olympic village. Hec Dyer, a member of the winning American relay team has the modern Mount of Olympus to himself.

A thousand empty houses, dining halls and administration buildings are the only tangible reminders of the 1932 games. Hec is out there to see that the cottages are sold and delivered to new owners so that that part of Baldwin Hills which housed athletes from all over the world can go back to its former peace and quiet with nothing to disturb it except neighboring oil wells.

Most of the athletes were there two or three weeks. Hec has been there for three months—first as a salesman, then as an athlete, and now as a supervisor.

"The Village has been three different kinds of a camp during its short career," he said. "First it was a construction camp. Houses appeared over night and buildings were erected with all the efficiency of large scale production.

"Then it became a cottage hotel affair with its tenants taking time out every afternoon for a jaunt over to the Olympic Stadium.

"And now the hill top is a salvage camp. Olympic fans are carrying away reminders of their favorite athletes. They come up here asking for the bed. Lord Burghley slept on and the paring knives that prepared Zabala's food. Housewives of Southern California are wearing aprons once worn by Finnish and Polish cooks and the blankets that once warmed javelin throwers and high jumpers have found permanent homes with less athletic residents."

PARIS, Oct. 14.—A scarf used to be something a woman just threw around her neck and let fall as it would. It was just something extra never considered as an integral part of her costume. Those were the days when a scarf was in its infancy. It is growing up to be a big girl now and my what a personality it has developed!

Take the one, for instance, that goes with the Jane Regny sport frock of blue wool tricot. The scarf is of red, white and blue striped

Vienna Authorities Raid Gambling Dens

VIENNA, Oct. 14.—During a general campaign conducted here against all forms of gambling except lotteries the police discovered that illegal games of chance were occupying the attention of the idle poor as well as the do-nothing rich, and as a result, titled aristocrats and ragged proletarians today occupy adjoining cells in the prisons.

The aristocrats now behind the bars included stacked cards in their gambling equipment at one of Vienna's most fashionable clubs, thereby laying themselves open to arrest on the double charge of fraud and gambling.

The proletarians transgressed the law just the same. In broad daylight they risked their doles regularly throughout the summer and early autumn in more or less honestly conducted card and dice games on the banks and under the city bridges.

There time was their own. Their next week's dole envelope already was being prepared for them at the very moment when they were staking their last one—in fact everything was lovely until the police decided to give them as well as the high-society gamblers rooms with barred windows where not even a game of solitaire is possible.

CALL of the WEST

STAN BALL comes ASPER DELO, timber king of crooked practice and of having men about who try to check up on his activities. Ball says he is making a check and Delo tells him he will reasonably meet it. Upon leaving Delo's office Ball saves DONA, Delo's daughter, from kidnapers. He slips away when he finds who she is, telling her his name is STANLEY BLACK.

DUDLEY WINTERS, in love with Dona, goes with her to Three Rivers to persuade Delo to abandon the fight with Ball. He tries to get her to marry him on the way as a means of getting Delo to give up his plans. Don narrowly escapes doing this by meeting Ball on his way to the timber camp. They and Ball accused of killing a ranger. Asper is wounded from an ambush but refuses to stay in bed. Dona tells him she has just married Dudley to keep him out of the hunt.

Ball comes in for supplies and is captured by SWERGIN, Delo's big timber boss. He escapes after hearing Dona tell her father she is Stanley Black's wife. Dudley insists on rent marriage, but Dona holds back. She rides out to see if she can find Stanley Black, who, she thinks, is at Blind River. She meets him on the trail, not knowing he is Ball. He promises to rid the range of Stan Ball. On the way to camp Dona slips at a cabin and sees a glove she thinks is Stanley Black's in a Spanish girl's room.

Valuable records are stolen from the office and the clerk says Ball did them. Asper Delo is furious and refuses to leave with Dona and Dudley. A posse is organized and Ball is reported to be cornered. Dona rides out with a rifle, she sees Ball slipping away from the posse and shoots him. He takes her wounded and takes her prisoner.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVI

DONA faced her captor with flashing eyes. Stan Ball returned the defiant glance with a grim smile.

"My quarters are passable though possibly a trifle primitive for one accustomed to luxury." Stan motioned toward the mouth of a cave. "When you enter or must I carry you?"

Dona's anger lessened a trifle. Then she thought of her father and panic seized her. He would be up and riding the hills like a mad man when word came that she was a prisoner. Swergin would not keep this news to himself and Dudley would not be able to keep it from Asper. For a moment her determination to play as bold a game as her captor weakened.

"I hate you and loathe you! I wouldn't ask anything from you for myself but this will kill my father."

Ball stood with his feet planted wide apart. For a full minute he looked at her. "I'll see that you're back safe at camp in the morning. To let you go tonight would mean that you would be lost in this high country. To take you down tonight would be suicide. Your father has not earned that at my hands."

"I suppose you want me to grant you immunity?" Dona's eyes blazed. "You certainly will have to swear not to reveal this hiding place. I may have to use it several days more in order to make a get-away."

Stan's voice was level and hard.

"And I won't promise you anything except that I will escape at the first chance and that I will stop at nothing to have you taken."

"That's settled then! You stay here as my guest." Stan motioned toward the entrance of the cave.

With her head up Dona entered the dimly lighted interior. Stan pushed her ahead of him and struck a match. By its flickering light the girl made out the rude interior of the place. An old lamp stood in a niche in the wall. Stan lit it and turned up the flame.

"Be seated while I get supper."

He nodded toward a stone slab covered with blankets to serve as a bunk.

Dona sank down on the pile of blankets and crossed her legs. She was watchful and ready to take any chance. Her eyes took stock of the interior of the room in a vain search for a rifle or other weapon. There was no gun in the room except the heavy revolver that swung at Ball's hip. Her eyes returned to her lean captor.

STAN bent over an open fireplace shaped of rock slabs with a smoke deflector to send the fumes out through a crevice in the ceiling. He set the wood on end, Indian fashion, and applied a match. Beside the fireplace was a little collection of cooking utensils. Stan produced a piece of bacon and sliced it. He shoved a tin of water near the flame to heat, then he uncovered four speckled mountain trout. Soon a savory odor began to permeate the air of the cave. Dona sniffed disdainfully. She was not sure she would eat.

Stan Ball sat back on his heels and watched the trout sizzling in the pan with the bacon. When the water began to simmer and boil he pulled it back from the flames and sifted tea into it. After turning the trout several times he arose and pulled a wide slab of stone over the flame. He produced two tin plates, he laid out a knife, a fork and spoon, his entire stock of silver. Two tin cups were added to the table and a tin can of sugar.

The trout were done brown by this time and he dumped two of them on the plate before Dona. Three slices of crisp bacon were added. He shoved the plate toward her and reached for the tin of tea.

"Humble but wholesome," he remarked. "I have no bread. It's too bulky to carry." He added this by way of apology.

Dona took up the fork which was her allotted piece of silver. She would be as good as he and as able to meet his plans. The food was good and she would eat it. That would deplete his store sooner.

The first mouthful convinced her that Stan Ball was an expert at frying trout. She realized, too, that she was very hungry. In silence they ate and drank. Stan sat close to her on the slab. The handle of his revolver was a scant 19 inches from her hand as she laid down the spoon, but she did not attempt to jerk the gun free. Dona knew the cat-like speed of the man she had to deal with. His gun hand would move like lightning.

Stan reached for her plate and gathered up the few dishes. He turned his back squarely upon her and filled a can of water for dishwashing. Dona sat still and watched him. She was not foolish enough to believe that this was her chance. She would wait for a better opening, one that was sure.

STAN washed the dishes and put them away carefully. Then he sat down on the slab of stone that had served as a table. With deliberate care he sifted a little tobacco into a cigaret paper and rolled a smoke.

Dona moved slightly. A picture fastened up on the bare stone wall caught her eye. It was a photograph of herself, taken when she was at finishing school. Her eyes flashed but she did not say anything. Ball saw that she was looking at the picture and a thin smile parted his lips.

"My most prized possession!" He spoke slowly and the smile faded from his lips.

"You take what you want, don't you, Mr. Ball?" There was a cutting edge to the girl's voice and a sarcastic note in it. "Even though it can do you no good."

"It has done me much good," Stan stated simply.

His answer angered her more than a bantering reply would have done. She sat very straight and her little chin came up stiffly.

"And these?" Stan waved to a pile of magazines and several books, "are very helpful to a fellow who has to stay cooped up all day."

Dona's eyes flickered over so little as she noticed that he had helped himself to magazines and books from the shelves of the office build-

U. S. DOCTOR SEES RUSSIAN PUT TO DEATH

PARIS, Oct. 14.—Dr. Henry Bayon, of Columbus, Ga., connected with the American Hospital at Neuilly, suburb of Paris, was the only American, besides a United Press woman correspondent, who unofficially witnessed the guillotining of the Russian, Gorgouloff, Sept. 15, before the Sante Prison in the Boulevard Arago.

Dr. Bayon accompanied the young woman, clad for the occasion in men's clothing, to the scene of the execution. They arrived at midnight to look around for a hiding place in the event their police cards proved useless.

Well Guarded "We contemplated climbing a tree," said Dr. Bayon, "but it would have been impossible for them to be too conspicuous and well guarded. A solid convent wall ran the entire length of the street opposite the Sante Prison in the Boulevard Arago, making it impossible to locate anywhere in the block. The ends of the Boulevard were well guarded and closed to everyone not in possession of a special card for the guillotining as well as a personal police card bearing the name of the organization with which the individual was employed.

"We tried all the congeries on the Rue Mechain, but they had been warned by the police not to permit their roof-tops to be used as points of observation. We finally found a corner near the Rue de la Sante and the Boulevard Arago where we stayed for hours waiting for dawn to come and hoping that some chance might let us slip through the line of policemen stationed to hold back the crowds. It was a tense moment when a disturbance opposite us drew the attention of the police to that side of the street.

Hidden by Wall "In a moment, we darted through an opening and into a shadow, from which we crawled along the convent wall until we could crouch down almost opposite the death machine. We arrived just in time to see the victim's head placed in the groove of the guillotine, the knife descend as the street lights went out.

"We dared not move for fear of being detected, and it seemed a long time before we actually drew a full breath," the doctor said. When the crowds began moving about we were able to make our exit with those who had been permitted to enter the official circle around the guillotine."

ballots to the Socialist cause this year—all of which may cause some orthodox republicans and democrats to open their eyes.

"Evidently the Socialist candidate is going to poll a very large vote—for a Socialist candidate.

Thomas Total "The Thomas total of 106,352 in this week's report is composed as follows:

"Former Republicans, 48,945; former democrats, 24,354; Socialists, 11,547; former Socialist-Laborites, 22 former Farmer-Laborites, 15; former Prohibitionists, 25; former Communists, 80; 'Did Not Vote,' 21,364. "His percentage of youthful first-voters who presumably dominate the 'did-not-vote' column is 20.09. Hoover's is 12.90. Roosevelt's is 14.46.

"Youth gives Thomas one-fifth of his ballot-strength. "His percentage of gain from Republican votes is 46.02. Roosevelt's is 30.64. Thomas' percentage of gain from Democratic ballot is 22.90. Hoover's is 5.87.

"Some of his followers are beginning to discuss the chances of his polling a couple of million votes, or more, on election day. In the 1928 election he polled 267,420 votes to Hoover's 21,292,190 and Smith's 15,016,443.

"Rock-ribbed New England, with the Green Mountain state filling its last gap, stretches its rugged hands to New Jersey, and those seven stand firm as the Hoover Old Guard.

"Just now they haven't an ally in the whole country, but perhaps next week's tabulation will bring them a few. It may even change the complexion of some now in the Roosevelt column."

SPECIAL PLANE AIDS STUDY OF AIR BACTERIA

BOSTON, Oct. 14.—Bacteria, which make their abode some five miles above the earth, are being studied in a specially designed airplane owned by Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The plane, adapted for scientific research by members of the staff of meteorology at the Institute is larger than a ship used by Technology in meteorological studies during the past year.

Its cabin is a complete laboratory. Instruments record temperature, humidity and atmospheric pressure. A section near the pilot's seat is completely enclosed in glass, giving virtually unobstructed vision in every direction. A specially designed hatch in the top of the fuselage permits an observer to stand up for an unobstructed view above the ship.

Five Miles Above Earth Daily flights to a height of five miles above New England are planned.

The ship carries every instrument of navigation known to aviation.

Research already begun and to be continued this winter, includes observation of cloud formations and the motion of air currents in the strata of turbulence encountered up to a few thousand feet above the earth. Better understanding of the vertical structure of the atmosphere is expected to result.

Study Air Life In co-operation with members of the staff of the department of biology and public health a study of insects, bacteria and the spores of fungus plant diseases in the upper levels of the atmosphere already has started and further work is planned.

Preliminary studies revealed that some bacteria and molds are to be found at altitudes as high as 15,000 feet above the earth, their natural habitat. A gypsy moth was captured 3,000 feet above the forests of southeastern New England during a flight in co-operation with scientists who are studying gypsy moth control.
