

Specials

Give you a Big Saving on many articles at low prices every day

Special Lot	Men's Union Suits a real good value, full cut, all sizes. Regular $1.25 value, at 85c Suit	Men's Straw Hats ONE-THIRD OFF
Canvas, One Pumps, low $3.00 value	Don't Buy Until You See These Goods
$1.95

Bros. & Co.

TEXAS

DIES TUESDAY RESULTS IN INJURIES

Robert Roy Little died at the hospital Tuesday afternoon at 10 o'clock. This was the second time he received Tuesday afternoon, as he was familiarly known to a large circle of friends. He was injured last morning, from the falling pulley, suspended fifty feet in the air, while directing work at the pit near Buffalo Gap. He was carried a story of miles to the time. He was taken to the Abilene hospital, where he received the attention and medical skill could give. While all realized his injury was serious, few there realized that his hurt was fatal. He weighed 55 pounds and was struck by the pulley about 10 o'clock. He was taken to the hospital and his condition was worse. The body was shipped to Cisco on the 2:47 Texas & Pacific train Wednesday morning, and was met by a large number of personal friends and brother Masons, who accompanied the remains to the Little home, where Masonic vigilance was maintained till the hour of the funeral, deceased being an honored member of both the Blue Lodge and the Chapter of the Cisco Masonic Lodges. Robert Roy Little obeyed the Gospel some six years ago and lived a consistent member of the Church of Christ till death claimed him. The funeral services were conducted by Elder Homes, Pastor of Christian Church, at the late residence this afternoon at 4 o'clock, in the 1000 block on West Seventh street, and interment in the city cemetery immediately following. The services at the grave were conducted by the Cisco Lodge No. 556, A. F. & A. M. Robert Roy Little was born July 30, 1893, and all of his life has been spent in Eastland county. His widow and baby son nearly two years old, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Little, of Cisco; five brothers, J. E. and E. M. Little of Cisco, Weldon Little of Moran, Eddie Little of Abilene, T. D. Little of Cross Plains, and three sisters, Mrs. Clifton Hyatt and Mrs. T. L. Cooper of Cisco, and Mrs. Elbert Ezzel of Sabanito, are the survivors. About six years ago Mr. Little was married to Miss Frances Huesties, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Huesties of Dothan, and the baby boy is their only child. There were few men in Cisco whose passing would be so deeply mourned, for there are none who classed him as their enemy, and legions who called him friend. Today hundreds are casting tears of sorrow that he has passed from the world's stage of action—their tears are today mingled with those of his loved ones, for they realize a true friend and a noble man lies in death's cold embrace.—Cisco Daily News, June 15.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. White's baby who has been critically ill, was improving Wednesday.

M. Tyson, of McFarland, Calif., and Dr. Jason Tyson of Santa Anna, were here last week, visiting their brother, Dr. John Tyson.

Auba C. Dodson was a business visitor in Gorman Tuesday.

Mr. D. L. Lancaster and family of Melrose, New Mexico, were visiting the Kendricks last week. Mr. Lancaster is Superintendent of the Melrose High School.

The Cross Plains Review

VOL. XIV

CROSS PLAINS, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JUNE, 29 1923

No. 15

You Must Provide For the Future while you have time and opportunity

Put away a part of each pay-check. Let your expenditures be LESS than your income. Don't spend it all. Establish and maintain a bank account—and MAKE it grow with each month. If you haven't started a bank account with us, do so now. When reverses come, it's good to KNOW that you acted wisely, Saving your money and Banking it while you could.

Farmers National Bank

OF CROSS PLAINS, TEXAS
"A Bank of Personal Service"

KILLS 8 FOOT SNAKE, HAS 47 RATTLES AND BUTTON

A newspaper report states that H. P. Hall, a farmer who lives south of Bangs, in the western part of Brown county, recently killed a rattlesnake with 47 rattles and the usual button. The snake was said to have measured about 8 feet in length and 8 inches through. Mr. Hall tried for some time to capture the monster reptile alive, the paper states, but being unable to do so, was forced to kill it, as it was very savage and put up a desperate battle.

Quarterly Meeting.

The third Quarterly meeting for the Cross Plains Charge will convene at Burnt Branch, 7th and 8th of July, at 11 a. m. Saturday, and the business session in the afternoon. We hope to have each official member present, in this the third quarterly meeting. We hope that everyone will do his best to make it a great success. Rev. W. M. Lane of Abilene will be with us. Come and bring your well filled baskets Saturday.

R. E. L. Stutts, P. C.

Tennis Club Active.

A Tennis Club has been organized here and much interest is being manifested. Geo. B. Scott has been elected President and Russell McGowan as secretary and treasurer. There are about twenty members in the club, which includes championship material. Geo. B. Scott has won several loving cups. The club is planning a tennis tournament for the picnic to be held here July 25th and 26th. Plans have not been perfected yet, but the idea has been presented to and favorably received by the Club. The Club's double court is located on south Main Street. Quite a number drive down and watch the games in the afternoon and evenings.

During the recent Clean-Up Campaign, a local business concern wrote a number of out-of-town property owners, asking their cooperation in the movement. Some of them were told that it would be money well invested, if they would paint their property. Several responded in different ways. One concern, the Magnolia Petroleum Co. acted upon the suggestion, and have had all their property here painted. It's worth while.

J. W. JOYCE BUYS THE COZY DRUG STORE

J. W. Joyce of Clarendon has purchased the Cozy Drug Store, and has already assumed active charge of the business. Mr. Joyce comes highly recommended as a man and as a druggist. He expects to move his family here in a few days. He is a registered pharmacist, and has had extensive experience in the work. Mr. Joyce states that he expects to increase and improve the drug stock and will have a first class drug store, when the re-organization is completed. The new firm name will be the Joyce Drug Co.

Cottonwood News.

Mrs. Wm Melton has just returned from Fort Worth where she visited her daughter Mrs. Mitchell. Mrs. Henry Andrews of Stamford visited relatives here last week. Mrs. H. H. Ramsey and daughters of Abilene visited Mr. Sam Strahan and other relatives here recently.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Thomason of Abilene visited Mrs. Jim Hem-bree Thursday and Friday. County Clerk Grady Respass and wife spent a few days with Mr. Respass' parents here last week.

Mr. Settle, Misses Inez and Edith Coppinger and Naomi Childress came in from Stephenville Friday to spend the week-end with their families.

Miss Missouri Strahan and Ellis left this week for Summer Normal work in John Tarleton College.

Mrs. C. V. Ramsey spent Saturday with her mother in Cross Plains.

Mr. Fred Brownlee of Baird spent Sunday with his parents here.

Mrs. Howard Strahan was shopping in Putnam Friday.

Mr. Borden of Fort Worth is spending the week with his family here.

The Senior class of the Cross Plains Baptist Sunday School gave a very entertaining play in our school auditorium Saturday night.

—Correspondent.

Revival Meeting

The Revival meeting will begin at Burnt Branch Friday night 8 p. m. July 6th, and will run over to the Third Sunday 11 a. m. July 15th. The Revival Meeting will begin at Dressy 8 p. m. July 15th, and run over the Fourth Sunday. Let every one be on hand, and have everything in readiness for that hour. God wants you to give Him a chance at your life, to make out of it great things that need to be accomplished while you and I live in this world. Pray for great success in these meetings.

R. E. L. Stutts, P. C.

G. D. McAda and family left Friday for Eastland, where Mr. McAda has position in a drug store. Their many friends here deeply regretted seeing them leave, but all join in wishing them health and happiness.

According to the Democrat-Voice, Sunday closing laws are to be enforced in Coleman county, beginning July 1st. The proposed enforcement will be watched with speculative interest, as similar announcements have been made by other counties in the past, which have borne no fruit.

It is estimated that four billion bottles of soft drinks are consumed each year—to say nothing of hard drinks; that sounds like somebody has been drinking.

CROSS CUT FIELD GETS NEW PLAY THIS WEEK

McCamey & Sheerin are building a derrick on the Mrs. Armstrong tract northeast of Cross Cut, and expect to start drilling operations as soon as the preliminary work has been completed. This well will be a deep test, and its progress will be watched with keen interest. They have also made a location for No. 2, well on the Wright tract, which they hope to be a better producer than the No. 1, which was a fair producer.

Joe Cullinan on the Pickett No. 1, has been shut down, awaiting orders. The Colpenn Production Co.'s well on the Arledge farm is also shut down and awaiting orders.

The Phillips Petroleum Co. and T. B. Slick on the Nanna D. Newton No. 2, are drilling at 1550 feet. The shallow oil sands are being passed up as this is a deep test. They expect to find heavier production in the deeper strata.

Canyon Oil & Gas Co. and T. B. Slick, have completed a fishing job on the Elsberry No. 2, and are now drilling at 1400 feet, this is also a deep test, and will go to 3,000 feet or better.

Production in general is about as usual in the local fields.

The Prairie Pipe Line Co. who have been handling the oil supply have changed their program, and have informed the producers that they will only handle 60 per cent of the output at the present, which will require the storage of the remaining 40 per cent, by the producer. This is not calculated to stimulate production. However arrangements may soon be made to counteract this disadvantage. Heavy production in California, Oklahoma, and Texas fields is effecting the market to the extent that it is retarding new developments at other points.

Items of Interest.

Readers of the Review are urged to turn in news items of interest. All visiting in and out of the community, births, marriages, deaths, or anything of a special nature would be gladly received. We want news to be broadcasted to readers of the Review everywhere. We will be unable to get all the news of interest without your co-operation. Don't withhold the local news from us, then complain if we do not publish it. We are depending on you to tell us, as we can't see and hear everything. This is YOUR PAPER—help make it newsy; Tell the reporter the NEWS—he will appreciate it. Review readers who live in other towns and states read the "local news" with keen interest. You may have knowledge of local news which you may not think worthy of publication, yet it might be of much interest to friends or relatives who read the Review each week. Tell it to the Review.

Mrs. F. B. Sheppard, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Jones and Bess Bonds, left Monday for a few days fishing on the Llano river.

Mrs. Dee Anderson, who has been visiting in the west for some time, is back in Cross Plains for a visit with relatives and friends.

Mrs. W. -P. Brightwell, came in from the ranch west of town, Tuesday, to do some shopping.

Misses Bonnie Cutbirth and Erma Powell, of Baird, are visiting in the home of Geo. B. Scott, this week.

They are Here!

Come and get one while

They are Hot

That Car of Famous Moline Mandt Wagons

Can Fit You Out

From a Hame Staing Up!

Yours for Better Wagons

JOE H. SHACKELFORD'S

Lumber, Paint and Hardware Store

The Home of Sherwin-Williams Paints

CROSS PLAINS

TEXAS

"Keep Coming"

FORD BOOM FOR PRESIDENT GAINING FORCE DAILY

Henry Ford has said that he is too busy to consider entering the race for the presidential chair. Yet the "Ford for president" boom seems to be gaining strength daily. He is the most talked of man for that high office today.

Should he consent to enter the race, either on Republican, Democratic or Independent ticket, he will be hard to beat. While Ford has the distinction of being the wealthiest man of the world, his greatest strength is among the people of moderate means. Regardless of which party he would align himself with, he would have a good chance to win.

W. L. Edmonson, who lives near Burkett, made an average of 95 bushels of oats per acre on 14 acres, according to the thresher; his barley averaged 61 bushels.

H. B. Brewer was attending business in Abilene and Brady on Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Social Event.

Last Thursday evening, Mrs. Barney Lindley and Miss Vernie Grubb, gave Mrs. Edwin Neeb a shower, at the home of Mrs. Lindley. The shower was a success in every respect and those present, numbering about thirty, were entertained in grand style. Delicious refreshments were served, and each guest received a cordial favor. The program also included a guessing contest and other forms of amusement which were enjoyed thoroughly. Many beautiful and useful gifts were received by Mrs. Neeb in the most pleasant and graceful manner.

The Review has just received an order for circulars and a space in the paper, announcing big picnic near Burkett on July 7th. Read the announcement.

Rev. B. G. Richburg is conducting a revival meeting at Pioneer, assisted by C. G. Howard, of Cisco. The meeting will continue for a week or so.

Subscribe For the Review.

BARGAINS

BARGAINS

at The

Big Racket Store

See New Fixtures, New Goods--Every Thing New But the Name

Come In and Look Through the Largest, Most Modernly Arranged and Most Displayed Line of Everything Ever Shown in This Part of the Country

Pure White Naphtha Soap, 20 Bars for $1.00
Other Good Laundry Soap, 10 Bars for 25c
Self Sealing, Wide Mouth and Mason Fruit Jars, and Excelsior Caps and Rubbers, at prices that Will Suit You.

The Racket Store

Above everything else our drug service is Accurate. Every prescription is filled as given.

We solicit your drug business on merit.

Our Cold Drink Department Gives Service and Satisfaction.

The City Drug Store

CHANGE OF LIFE LOSES TERRORS

For Women Who Rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Greenville, Pa.—"I took your medicine through the Change of Life and it did wonders for me. I was down in bed when I started to take it and weighed 95 pounds. I had hot flashes and was so nervous and weak that I could not get up. I could not see, I would sit and cry and did not know what I was crying for. Since you have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I do all my housework and I feel younger than I did ten years ago, and my friends all tell me I look younger, and I owe it all to the Vegetable Compound. I do all my housework and I feel younger than I did ten years ago, and my friends all tell me I look younger, and I owe it all to the Vegetable Compound. I do all my housework and I feel younger than I did ten years ago, and my friends all tell me I look younger, and I owe it all to the Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel younger than I did ten years ago, and my friends all tell me I look younger, and I owe it all to the Vegetable Compound. I do all my housework and I feel younger than I did ten years ago, and my friends all tell me I look younger, and I owe it all to the Vegetable Compound. I do all my housework and I feel younger than I did ten years ago, and my friends all tell me I look younger, and I owe it all to the Vegetable Compound.

New Use for German Castles. The castles of Cassel, which originated in the time of landraves, have been turned to new uses. The residence castle has been occupied by a picture gallery; a German tapestry museum is to be opened there shortly. It is rumored that the famous castle Wilhelmshohe, in which Napoleon III lived as a prisoner, is to be converted into a hotel. One of the most beautiful castles of central Germany is the Orange castle in the Kurhessen, which somewhat resembles the Sansouci of Potsdam. The government in Cassel uses it for exhibition purposes.

Baby's Stomach Was Puffed Up Tight With Gas

"I was fearful we were going to lose our little boy. He couldn't eat anything and his little stomach was all puffed up with gas and felt tight and hard. A neighbor told me about Teethina and I stopped everything else and gave him that and now he has 16 teeth and is the jolliest little fellow in the world." writes Mrs. C. E. Grimes, Colquitt, Ga.

Here is another striking instance where much suffering and anxiety could have been avoided had Mrs. Grimes known of Teethina and had given it at the first sign of trouble. Teethina is sold by leading druggists or send 50c to the Moffett Laboratories, Columbus, Ga., and receive a full size package and a free copy of Moffett's Illustrated Baby Book.—(Advertisement.)

Different Opinion. Miss Cass—"I have always found Jack an easy-going fellow." Miss Nipp—"Is that so? When he calls on me he never goes."

"O Happy Day" sang the laundress as she hung the snowy wash on the line. It was a "happy day" because she used Red Cross Ball Blue.—Advertisement.

Reversible. Teacher—"What is a reyeser?" Pupil—"A waterfall going up.—Life.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION BELLANS 6 BELLANS Hot water Sure Relief BELLANS 25¢ and 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

INFLAMED EYES DISFIGURE YOUR LOOKS! DON'T DESPAIR

IF you are troubled with pains or aches; feel tired; have headache, indigestion, insomnia; painful passage of urine, you will find relief by regularly taking LATHROP'S GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES

Just a Little Smile

FAIR ENOUGH

"But, your honor," protested the speaker who had just received a jail sentence, "you don't realize that my time is worth money."

"Oh, indeed!" said the judge. "Well, if you can produce a single citizen who doesn't consider that his life is more valuable to him than your time is to you I'll let you off with a nominal fine."

Another Kind. "What's that young man roomed with in college doing now?"

"Oh, he's making a living with a hand organ."

"A hand organ! Gee whizz!"

"Yes, he's running a very successful manure journal."

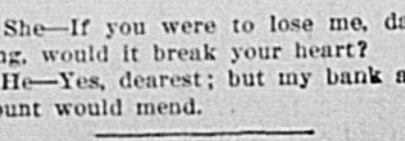

Identified. "You say Jeffs has grown whiskers since you say him last? How did you recognize him?"

"By my umbrella."

Heard on the Campus. First Undergraduate—Get any mail today, Jack?

Second Ditto—Now, not a cent.—Johns Hopkins Black and Blue Jay.

NOT WHOLLY A LOSS

She—If you were to lose me, darling, would it break your heart? He—Yes, dearest; but my bank account would mend.

Too Many Slackers. I'm sure the world would soon take heart if every man would do his part.

The Difficulty. "Is bridge worth a difficult game to learn?"

"It is, if you wish to learn to play it well enough to suit your partner."

Might as Well. "Our neighbor has borrowed all our books."

"Send him over the bookcase."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Talk. Emily—Helen and May talked of nothing but their diamonds.

Carrie—It must have been a brilliant conversation.

Could Say That. "Did that young couple just married take a flat?"

"I don't know about the couple; I know the bride did."

A Real Heavyweight. "How stout that Miss Perkins is."

"Yes, she tells me she can't even skip in reading a dull novel."

That New Slogan. "Say," objected the regimental chronic kicker, poking his nose inside the supply sergeant's shack, "this hat's too small for me. Every time I laugh it slides off my head."

"Here's one two sizes larger," remarked the sarge pleasantly. "Try and laugh that off."—American Legion Weekly.

Out of Tune. Mrs. Jones—Miss Sreecreecher is to sing over the radio tonight. Shall I tune in.

Mr. Jones—I think it will be impossible to get her in tune, my dear—we worked an hour trying to do it last night.

The Trouble. "Do you have trouble keeping a servant?"

"I'll say I do. I can't seem to find any girl who likes the way I find fault with her."

Shopping. "I fear this gown is a little too gay for your daughter."

"I want it for myself."

Strong Reason for Truth. Mrs.—What made you tell Judge De Vaynscount you married Dick for his money?

Fay—Well, he asked me why I did it, and I knew he was constitutionally opposed to insanity pleas.—Toronto Gossip.

The Young Couple. "We both agree that we should economize."

"True."

"The next question is on what—cigars or silk stockings?"

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.) Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

LESSON FOR JULY 1 JOHN, THE BAPTIST

(May be used with temperance applications.) LESSON TEXT—Luke 1:1-8; 7:24-28. GOLDEN TEXT—"He shall be great in the sight of the Lord, and shall drink neither wine nor strong drink."—Luke 1:15. REFERENCE MATERIAL—Matt. 3:1-17; 11:1-15; Mark 1:1-8. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Herald of the Christ. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Character and Work of John, the Baptist.

John was a great man. In announcing his birth the angel said, "He shall be great in the sight of the Lord." He was not only great in the Lord's sight, but was great when measured by the standards of men. In the teaching of this lesson a survey should be made of John's life and work.

I. Birth and Ministry Foretold (Matt. 3:3; cf. Isa. 40:3). He was thought about and his work planned long before he was born. He came as God's messenger. His life was a plan of God. He was said to be a man sent from God (John 1:8). There is a sense in which every life is planned—everyone is sent from God. Everyone should remember that God has something to do with his life.

II. His Character. 1. Humble (Luke 3:4). He did not seek human praise and commendation. His supreme concern was to proclaim the Christ. He did not make himself prominent—was only a voice calling upon people to prepare for the Messiah. His person and habits were a protest against the luxury and hypocritical formality of his time.

2. Courageous (Luke 3:7). He faced a great multitude and struck it hard at their sins. He did not trim his message to suit the crowd. He even denounced the religious leaders of his time and demanded of them fruits worthy of repentance.

III. His Preaching (Luke 3:8-9). 1. Demanded Repentance (vv. 3-8). Suddenly emerging from his seclusion, he came into the region of the Jordan as a messenger of God, calling upon the people to repent in preparation for the coming of the Messiah.

2. Demanded Proofs of Penitence (vv. 7, 8). He insisted that their false hearts renovated—showed them that the vile passions of their souls must be uprooted. A change of mind, that is, the turning of the soul from sin to God, was necessary. This is a preparation which must be made before one can see and experience the salvation of God.

IV. Jesus' Testimony to John (Luke 7:24-28). Because John did not see the interval between the "sufferings of Christ" and the "glory that should follow" he was perplexed. Therefore he sent a deputation to Jesus for light. The prophets did not see, or at least did not make clear, the interval between the crucifixion of Christ and His second coming. The two events were so presented as to appear to be in close succession. John in his preaching has stressed the mighty judgments which should take place at the appearance of the Messiah. The turn things were taking (the gloomy prospect of death), was in great contrast to the coming of the Messiah in fiery judgment—"the axe is laid unto the root of the trees" and "the chaff is burned up with unquenchable fire" (Matt. 3:10, 12). The trend of events puzzled him. It was not lack of faith, but confusion of mind that prompted his inquiry. Christ's testimony defended him against any such accusation, Christ vindicated him against a vacillating mind because of the storms of persecution. He was not like a reed shaken by the wind (v. 24). He had lived a life of self-denial, therefore he did not deny his faith in Christ because of the dungeon (v. 25).

Jesus declared that no greater prophet had arisen. That which perplexed John was the delay in judgment—the day of God's patience while gathering out the Church. This was a truth not disclosed to the prophets—because a special revelation had been granted (Eph. 3:3). V. The Martyrdom of John (Mark 6:14-29). While John was in prison Herod had frequent interviews with him. John boldly told him that it was unlawful for him to have his brother's wife. He did not mince matters even with the king. This so enraged the licentious Herod that she caused his death. He sealed his testimony with his blood.

Seeking the Name of God. The Turks carefully collect every scrap of paper that comes in their way, because the name of God may be written thereon.—Richter.

Men of Genius. Men of genius are often dull and inert in society; as the blazing meteor, when it descends to earth, is only a stone.—Longfellow.

Prosperity and Adversity. He that swells in prosperity will be sure to shrink in adversity.—Colton.

It Is Just a Man's Way

By CORONA REMINGTON

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.) Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

"I'll be gone only a week, but you'll keep me in your thoughts every minute, won't you, dear?" The girl in his arms trembled. She was so exquisitely happy. What a wonderful lover he was!

"Promise," Dick Stanton urged again. "How could I forget you?" she asked.

"Or I you," He kissed her again. "Tomorrow morning at eight."

She wept a little. How could she stand it? Yet she had to—women did it all the time, so she could. And there would be telegrams and letters and maybe a long-distance telephone call.

"Do you just have to go?" she asked after a pause.

"Yes, I'm down on the program for a paper that I worked on until two this morning."

"Doctors are such important creatures, and already I'm beginning to believe they don't belong to their wives at all. They belong to their profession—wedded to it, that's it."

"If a man is to make a success in his profession, no matter what it is, he'll have to devote most of his time to it."

"I know," she admitted, but there was something pathetic about her tone of voice.

He left the next morning, and Constance McGuire slipped away in her little car to the depot. When he saw her coming through the crowd toward him his heart leaped and he darted forward to meet her.

"What a girl! I was feeling a bit blue, but now I'm all right. If it weren't for those darn doctors standing over there I'd kiss you on the spot, but they'd rag me about it."

They had a few short minutes together before the train was called for the last time, and Constance went back to her waiting-car, depressed, yet somehow happy. After all, a week wasn't so very long, and she would hear from him constantly. She might even get a telegram that very night.

Returning home, she found herself strangely idle. Time dragged, she could think of nothing to do. She wandered around the house aimlessly, the hands of the clock appeared to be standing perfectly still—never had there been such a stretch between breakfast and lunch, yet she was not hungry.

That night the telegram came: "Arrived O. K. Meetings are going to be great. Will write tomorrow. Love, Dick."

Sure enough, goodness knows; but it cheered her up, and the day after tomorrow the letter would come. It did, but it was very little longer than the wire, and all about the medical convention, scarcely a word about her and his love for her.

He had forgotten her and how much they meant to each other. It could not be otherwise—out of sight, out of mind. That was it. Constance went around trying to hide her unhappiness, but as the fifth day of his absence dawned and only two short notes had been received she gave up the fight and crawled into her own room and locked the door. She would never show her face again; she could not bear to be looked at and pitied.

When Mrs. McGuire went in to lunch and found her daughter missing she ran all over the house calling her, but at last to find that she was locked in her room, and no amount of coaxing would bring her out. Finally Mrs. Taylor was summoned. If any one on earth could do anything with Constance it was she.

"This is Mrs. Taylor, dear," she said through the door. "You must let me in or I shall go away heartbroken, and I've loved you all your life."

After long minutes of coaxing the door was opened and Mrs. Taylor saw a forlorn, disheveled, red-eyed, little girl standing before her.

"My dear, what is the matter?" she asked in alarm, taking her in her arms.

Constance tried to keep her troubles to herself, but the older woman's warm, motherly sympathy was too much for the girl and she burst into tears and sobbed the whole dreadful truth out on her friend's shoulder.

"It's all over, Dick doesn't love me any more. He's met some other girl at the convention."

"Oh, my poor, poor dear, but it can't be true. Dick isn't that kind. How do you know all this? Has he confessed?"

"No, but his actions have; only two tiny notes and a telegram since he left and they were about as affectionate as a letter you'd write to your lawyer."

Mrs. Taylor was relieved. "Oh, is that all you have to go by? You frightened me at first. Will you let me read them?"

Silently Constance handed over the two crumpled little letters and the message, and Mrs. Taylor quickly scanned them.

"Why, my dear, you foolish little girl. This is all right. He's just full of the convention and busy. That's all. Can't you see it? With a woman, Constance, love is the primary thing in her life. She thinks about her lover all day and half the night, but with a man business and love have a neck and neck race and often business gets the lead. It's a fortunate thing, since men have to earn the living. Divided attention never makes a success, so you see it's providential." "But you can't fool me. It's all over. Wait until he gets back, then you'll know."

"Wait until you've been married thirty years and then you'll know. I tell you a man can love a woman to distraction and forget her completely; forget her very existence, for days at a time. Now, if you take my advice, you'll treat him as naturally as ever when he comes back and tell him how glad you are to see him, and ask him all about the convention. He'll talk your head off for hours about things you can't understand, and that don't interest you, but a wife has to learn to be a good listening post."

"But what's the use of advising when it's all off and I'll never marry anyone else?" she said, impatiently.

The extension telephone on her little desk jangled. Irritably she took up the receiver.

"I'm back!" said an exultant voice at the other end. "I know it's two days earlier than you expected me, but I couldn't stay away another minute. Had to see my girl, and tell her all about it. It's been great! May I come right over? But I can't wait. I'll have to tell you now they've made me president of the State Medical society. I'm the youngest man ever got it. When I heard that last night I had to run home and tell my girl. I was afraid you'd see it in the paper first. Goodby, dear. Be right over."

"Oh, oh, oh! Mrs. Taylor, it's all right! It's all right! Oh, but if you ever, ever tell him!"

She was dancing around the room, almost hysterical.

"Tell him? Not I!" laughed Mrs. Taylor. "I'm no traitor to my sex, but I want you to remember this little experience. You'll need it many, many times in the years to come."

MADE LUNCHEON FOR EAGLE

Marmot Put Up Good Fight, but Was Outclassed by the Monarch of the Air.

Dr. Ferdinand Ossendowski, in his book, "Benets, Men and Gods," which is the story of many extraordinary personal experiences of his flight through Asia, from Siberia, tells of an exciting picture he witnessed when he passed through a marmot colony near the Orkhon river, in Mongolia. The marmots dwell in holes in the ground, much like the American prairie dog does—or did. Doctor Ossendowski says:

"There were thousands of holes here, so that my Mongols had to use all their skill to keep their horses from breaking their legs in them. I noticed an eagle circling high overhead. All of a sudden he dropped like a stone, and the top of a marmot's mound, where he sat motionless as a rock. The marmot in a few minutes ran out of his hole to a neighbor's doorway. The eagle calmly jumped down from the top, and with one wing closed the entrance to the hole. The rodent heard the noise, turned back and rushed to the attack, trying to break through to his hole. The eagle fought with one free wing, one leg and his beak, but did not withdraw the bar to the entrance. The marmot jumped at the rapacious bird with great boldness, but soon fell from a blow on the head. Only then the eagle withdrew his wing, approached the marmot, finished him off, and with difficulty, lifted him in his talons to carry him away to the mountains for a tasty luncheon."

She Landed Him.

According to tradition, Marc Antony, while on a fishing party with Cleopatra, had expert divers put large fish on his hook. The original vamp was wise. She had one of her divers place a salt fish on his hook and the episode caused a big laugh at the Egyptian country clubs.

Last summer a youth tried it in the lake on a damsel who thinks pretty well of her angling ability. But he got tangled in her line. She hooked his clothes and actually brought him to the surface, landed a fish, so to speak. They were married soon after. Here's the sad part.

Now she is telling a few select friends she is sorry she didn't throw him back.

Books People Like Best.

According to the circulating department of the Enoch Pratt library, Baltimore, instead of an increase in demand for love stories and poetry in the springtime, as might be supposed, there is a heavy call for books on gardening. Therefore, says Edward Wroth, assistant, the library has got up a list of books for its readers, telling how to grow everything from asters to zinnias and asparagus to zitzwa, the latter a Chinese watermelon particularly luscious for preserving.

We Really Didn't Know.

She—When you asked me to be your wife you deliberately deceived me. He—In what way, Martha? She—You told me you were well off.

He—Well, I may have said it, Martha, but I didn't know how well off I was at that time.—Richmond Dispatch

Why He Was Late.

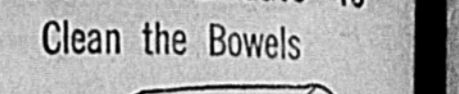

A Chicago boy's teacher asked him why he was so late. "Cause there was a man pinched for stealing hens," he said, "and setting a house on fire, and knocking down five policemen, and another sent me to see if it was pa."

Attempt to Stop Sunday Motoring.

Health authorities of one region in Austria are trying to have the use of automobiles on Sunday prohibited on the ground that the dust affects children's lungs.

MOTHER! GIVE CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP

Child's Best Laxative To Clean the Bowels

Even if cross, feverish, bilious, constipated or full of cold, children love the "fruity" taste of California Fig Syrup. A teaspoonful never fails to clean the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the stomach and bowels, and you have a well-playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Strange Experience.

When returning from a picnic last summer I took someone else's car by mistake. When I got out on the road and saw my mistake I hurried back to the parking grounds only to find my car gone. I still have the other car, but have never been able to find mine.—Exchange.

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

It's the thermometer that enables the weather to get warmer or colder by degrees.

A sure, safe way to end CORNS

In one minute you can end the pain of corns with Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads. They remove the cause—friction—pressure. You risk no infection from cutting, no danger from corrosive acids.

Zino-pads protect while they heal. They are antiseptic, waterproof, and a box today at your druggist or shoe dealer's.

Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads

Made in the laboratories of The Scholl Mfg. Co., makers of Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Appliances, Arch Supporter, etc.

Put one on—the pain is gone!

Coated Tongue Nature's Warning of Constipation

When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication.

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe. Try it today.

Nujol

A LUBRICANT—NOT A LAXATIVE

Fine View of Old South Church

Several hundred men stood in the heat of a July afternoon idly watching the work of excavating the cellar for the great office building which is to stand on the site of the old Province house on Washington street in Boston. They crowded around the board fence, two and three deep, looking down into the hole where steam drills bored, cranes swung slowly, great shovels cut into the soil, and men carted dirt. Not one was seen to turn about to look up at the Old South Meeting house, which stood diagonally across the street, revealed for the first time in many years from a distance far enough removed to do justice to its Wren-like spire and its fine proportions.

The first meeting house on this site was built in 1680, in the garden of the John Winthrop mansion, which then belonged to Mary Norton. It was a little church of cedar wood, but here Benjamin Franklin, who was born just across the road, was baptized in 1704. Here also Margaret Brewster appeared in "backcloth and ashes" during service to give the congregation the solemn warning because of the persecution of the Quakers. That was in 1677. About twenty years later Judge Sewall stood up in his pew while his confession for his part in the witchcraft delusion of 1692 was read.

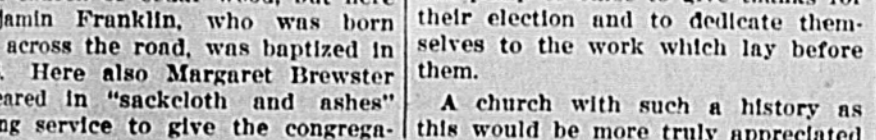

Historic Meeting House of Provincial and Revolutionary Days. The present brick building was dedicated in 1780 and in the course of the next century saw many stirring town meetings which were too large for the overhead meeting waited here while Samuel Adams sent back and forth negotiating with Hutchinson until he yielded and withdrew his regulations from the city. On November 27, 1773, a gathering of 5,000 citizens resolved that the tea on which King George bade them pay a tax, should not be landed. On December 16 of the same year 7,000 citizens waited here by candlelight for the return of a courier who had been dispatched to

Milton to ask Hutchinson for redress. When he brought word that there would be none, a war whoop was raised outside the church and a group of patriots, disguised as Indians, rushed down to Griffin's wharf where the ships were lying and pitched the tea overboard. Another dramatic scene occurred in 1775 when Joseph Warren entered the pulpit from a window above to deliver his now famous oration on the Boston massacre. The aisles and the very steps of the pulpit were crowded with red-coated officers and men.

The Election Sermon. Until 1872 the church was the scene of the picturesque ceremony started in 1712, the annual election sermon, at which the newly elected governor and all the provincial or state dignitaries appeared in the pride and pomp of office to give thanks for their election and to dedicate themselves to the work which lay before them.

A church with such a history as this would be more truly appreciated if it were almost anywhere except just where it is, for in this part of Boston it has two rivals which have been preserved to carry on the very traditions for which it stands. Faneuil hall, honored throughout the United States and not unknown in Europe, is today the fitting meeting place of idealists and reformers. And King's chapel, also only a few blocks away, is now just as when the beribboned and belaced officers of the British army and their Tory hosts attended service there, a dignified and beautiful place of worship. Obviously the Old South cannot compete with the "Cradle of Liberty" as a meeting place for young America, nor can it serve in its first capacity without many changes and a continuous sacrifice on the part of the congregation in going far downtown on Sunday mornings. So it has come about that today the Old South church is for the average Bostonian only a historic and cherished exterior.

JULY 4th 1923 Birthday Wishes

The passing of the years but mark any course, Dear our cherished land (in all the earth the best). Upon the far and Christly road Where all the world shall rise to call thee blest.

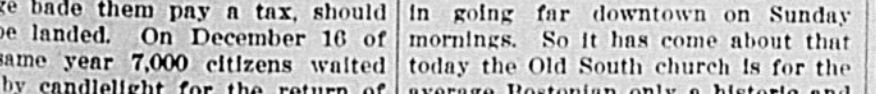

Thy hamlets and thy farms in sweet content Dream softly in thy twilight's ling'ring glow Where war may never again be heard Nor alien banner ever dare to flow.

The history of thy past, of slave and lord, Sad chronicle of famine's deadly reign, Of storm, and red man's barb'rous law, On thy white scroll have left no lasting stain.

But rather shall thy glory shine the more, To clearly show thy upward-reaching bounds That mount upon the chastened past To tread with joy its ladder's lifting rounds.

Thy cities and thy gallant ships grow fair, Nor hate nor conquest cloud thy wide domain, Where love and strength together rule, A mighty and a heaven-gotten twain.

Oh may thy cloudless sun, dear native land, That lights the millions' weary path, Where peace and justice spread a healing balm, Ne'er darkly set in shadow of thy wrath —Maude de Verse Newton.

For the passing of the years but mark any course, Dear our cherished land (in all the earth the best). Upon the far and Christly road Where all the world shall rise to call thee blest.

attention never makes a success, so you see it's providential."

"But you can't fool me. It's all over. Wait until he gets back, then you'll know."

"Wait until you've been married thirty years and then you'll know. I tell you a man can love a woman to distraction and forget her completely; forget her very existence for days at a time. Now if you take my advice, you'll treat him as naturally as ever when he comes back and tell him how glad you are to see him, and ask him all about the convention. He'll talk your head off for hours about things you can't understand, and that don't interest you, but a wife has to learn to be a good listening post."

"But what's the use of advising when it's all off and I'll never marry anyone else?" she said, impatiently.

The extension telephone on her little desk jangled. Irritably she took up the receiver.

"I'm back!" said an exultant voice at the other end. "I know it's two days earlier than you expected me, but I couldn't stay away another minute. Had to see my girl, and tell her all about it. It's been great! May I come right over? But I can't wait. I'll have to tell you now they've made me president of the State Medical society. I'm the youngest man ever got it. When I heard that last night I had to run home and tell my girl. I was afraid you'd see it in the paper first. Goodby, dear. Be right over."

"Oh, oh, oh! Mrs. Taylor, it's all right! It's all right! Oh, but if you ever, ever tell him!"

She was dancing around the room, almost hysterical.

"Tell him? Not I!" laughed Mrs. Taylor. "I'm no traitor to my sex, but I want you to remember this little experience. You'll need it many, many times in the years to come."

Even if cross, feverish, bilious, constipated or full of cold, children love the "fruit" taste of "California Fig Syrup." A teaspoonful never fails to clean the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the souring food and nasty bile out of the stomach and bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

When returning from a picnic last summer I took someone else's car by mistake. When I got out on the road and saw my mistake I hurried back to the parking grounds I hurried to find my car gone. I still have the other car, but have never been able to find mine.

—Exchange.

There were thousands of holes here, so that my Mongols had to use all their skill to keep their horses from breaking their legs in them. I noticed an eagle circling high overhead. All of a sudden he dropped like a stone to the top of a marmot's mound, where he sat motionless as a rock. The marmot in a few minutes ran out of his hole to a neighbor's doorway. The eagle calmly jumped down from the top, and with one wing closed he entered the hole. The marmot heard the noise, turned back and rushed to the attack, trying to break through to his hole. The eagle fought with one free wing, one leg and his beak, but did not withdraw the bar to the entrance. The marmot jumped at the rapacious bird with great boldness, but soon fell from a blow on the head. Only then the eagle withdrew his wing, approached the marmot, finished him off, and with difficulty, lifted him in his talons to carry him away to the mountains for a tasty luncheon.

According to tradition, Marc Antony, while on a fishing party with Cleopatra, had expert divers put large fish on his hook. The original plan was wise. She had one of her divers place a salt fish on his hook and the episode caused a big laugh at the Egyptian country clubs.

Last summer a youth tried it in the lake on a damsel who thinks pretty well of her angling ability. But he got tangled in her line. She hooked his clothes and actually brought him to the surface, landed a fish, so to speak. They were married soon after. Here's the sad part.

Now she is telling a few select friends she is sorry she didn't throw him back.

Books People Like Best.

According to the circulating department of the Enoch Pratt Library, Baltimore, instead of an increase in demand for love stories and poetry in the springtime, as might be supposed, there is a heavy call for books on gardening. Therefore, says Edward Wright, assistant, the library has got up a list of books for its readers, telling how to grow everything from asters to zinnias and asparagus to zikwa, the latter a Chinese watermelon particularly luscious for preserving.

We Really Didn't Know.

She—When you asked me to be your wife you deliberately deceived me.

He—In what way, Martha?

She—You told me you were well off.

He—Well, I may have said it, Martha, but I didn't know how well off I was at that time.—Richmond Dispatch

Why He Was Late.

A Chicago boy's teacher asked him why he was so late. "Cause there was a man pinched for stealing hens," he said, "and setting a house on fire and knocking down five policemen, and another sent me to see if it was pa."

Attempt to Stop Sunday Motoring.

Health authorities of one region in Austria are trying to have the use of automobiles on Sunday prohibited on the ground that the dust affects children's lungs.

She Landed Him.

According to tradition, Marc Antony, while on a fishing party with Cleopatra, had expert divers put large fish on his hook. The original plan was wise. She had one of her divers place a salt fish on his hook and the episode caused a big laugh at the Egyptian country clubs.

Last summer a youth tried it in the lake on a damsel who thinks pretty well of her angling ability. But he got tangled in her line. She hooked his clothes and actually brought him to the surface, landed a fish, so to speak. They were married soon after. Here's the sad part.

Now she is telling a few select friends she is sorry she didn't throw him back.

Books People Like Best.

According to the circulating department of the Enoch Pratt Library, Baltimore, instead of an increase in demand for love stories and poetry in the springtime, as might be supposed, there is a heavy call for books on gardening. Therefore, says Edward Wright, assistant, the library has got up a list of books for its readers, telling how to grow everything from asters to zinnias and asparagus to zikwa, the latter a Chinese watermelon particularly luscious for preserving.

We Really Didn't Know.

She—When you asked me to be your wife you deliberately deceived me.

He—In what way, Martha?

She—You told me you were well off.

He—Well, I may have said it, Martha, but I didn't know how well off I was at that time.—Richmond Dispatch

Why He Was Late.

A Chicago boy's teacher asked him why he was so late. "Cause there was a man pinched for stealing hens," he said, "and setting a house on fire and knocking down five policemen, and another sent me to see if it was pa."

Attempt to Stop Sunday Motoring.

Health authorities of one region in Austria are trying to have the use of automobiles on Sunday prohibited on the ground that the dust affects children's lungs.

MOTHER! GIVE CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP

Child's Best Laxative To Clean the Bowels

Even if cross, feverish, bilious, constipated or full of cold, children love the "fruit" taste of "California Fig Syrup." A teaspoonful never fails to clean the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the souring food and nasty bile out of the stomach and bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

When returning from a picnic last summer I took someone else's car by mistake. When I got out on the road and saw my mistake I hurried back to the parking grounds I hurried to find my car gone. I still have the other car, but have never been able to find mine.

—Exchange.

There were thousands of holes here, so that my Mongols had to use all their skill to keep their horses from breaking their legs in them. I noticed an eagle circling high overhead. All of a sudden he dropped like a stone to the top of a marmot's mound, where he sat motionless as a rock. The marmot in a few minutes ran out of his hole to a neighbor's doorway. The eagle calmly jumped down from the top, and with one wing closed he entered the hole. The marmot heard the noise, turned back and rushed to the attack, trying to break through to his hole. The eagle fought with one free wing, one leg and his beak, but did not withdraw the bar to the entrance. The marmot jumped at the rapacious bird with great boldness, but soon fell from a blow on the head. Only then the eagle withdrew his wing, approached the marmot, finished him off, and with difficulty, lifted him in his talons to carry him away to the mountains for a tasty luncheon.

According to tradition, Marc Antony, while on a fishing party with Cleopatra, had expert divers put large fish on his hook. The original plan was wise. She had one of her divers place a salt fish on his hook and the episode caused a big laugh at the Egyptian country clubs.

Last summer a youth tried it in the lake on a damsel who thinks pretty well of her angling ability. But he got tangled in her line. She hooked his clothes and actually brought him to the surface, landed a fish, so to speak. They were married soon after. Here's the sad part.

Now she is telling a few select friends she is sorry she didn't throw him back.

Books People Like Best.

According to the circulating department of the Enoch Pratt Library, Baltimore, instead of an increase in demand for love stories and poetry in the springtime, as might be supposed, there is a heavy call for books on gardening. Therefore, says Edward Wright, assistant, the library has got up a list of books for its readers, telling how to grow everything from asters to zinnias and asparagus to zikwa, the latter a Chinese watermelon particularly luscious for preserving.

We Really Didn't Know.

She—When you asked me to be your wife you deliberately deceived me.

He—In what way, Martha?

She—You told me you were well off.

He—Well, I may have said it, Martha, but I didn't know how well off I was at that time.—Richmond Dispatch

Why He Was Late.

A Chicago boy's teacher asked him why he was so late. "Cause there was a man pinched for stealing hens," he said, "and setting a house on fire and knocking down five policemen, and another sent me to see if it was pa."

Attempt to Stop Sunday Motoring.

Health authorities of one region in Austria are trying to have the use of automobiles on Sunday prohibited on the ground that the dust affects children's lungs.

Coated Tongue Nature's Warning of Constipation

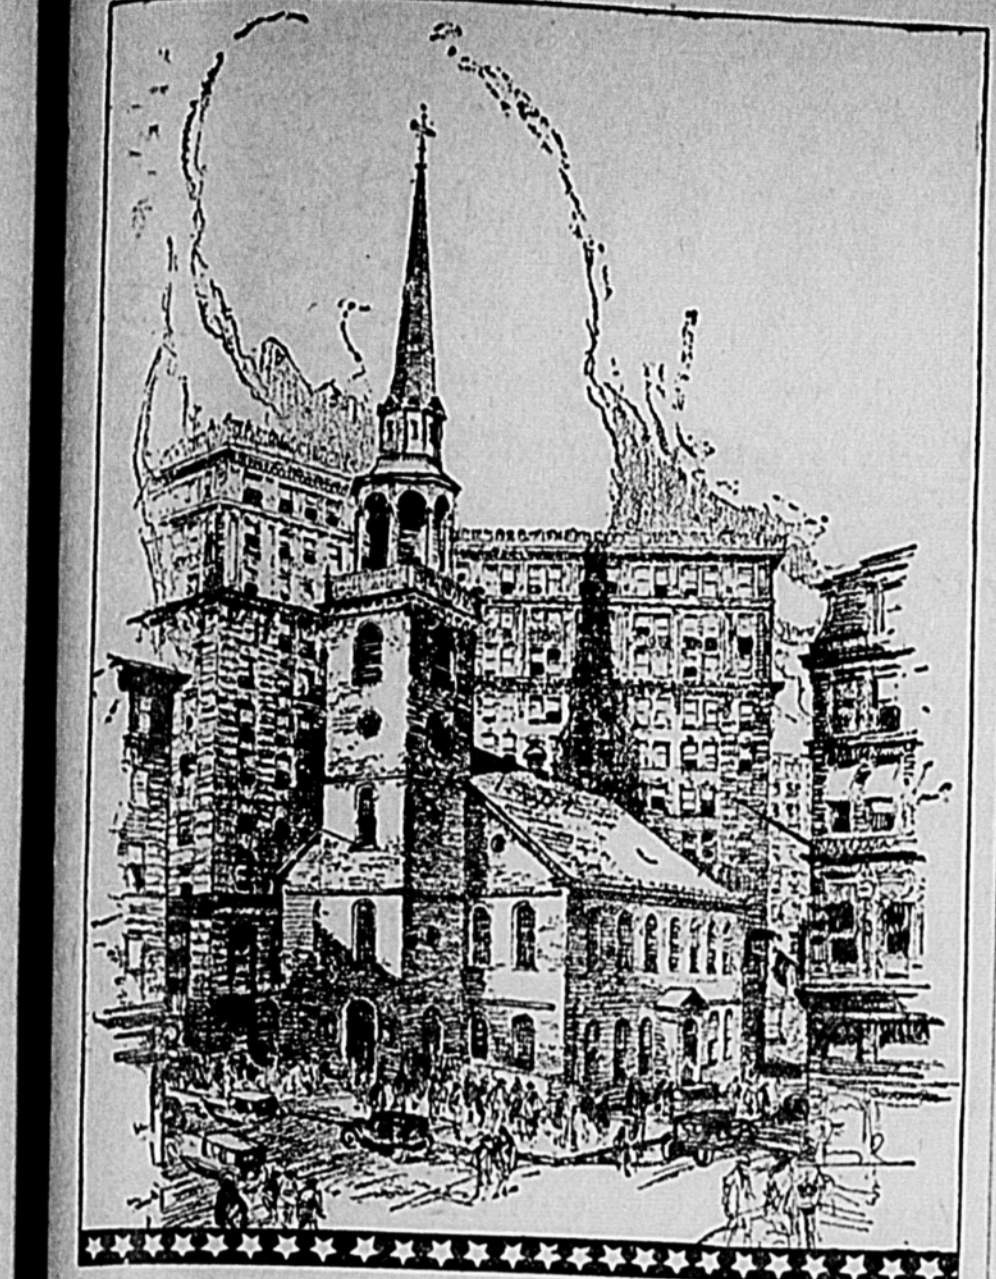

When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication.

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine of laxative—so cannot gripe. Try it today.

Nujol

A LUBRICANT—NOT A LAXATIVE

Fine View of Old South Church

Several hundred men stood in the heat of a July afternoon idly watching the work of excavating the cellar for the great office building which is to stand on the site of the old Province house on Washington street in Boston. They crowded around the board fence, two and three deep, looking down into the hole where slowly drilled bored, cranes swung slowly, great shovels cut into the soil, and men carted dirt. Not one was seen to turn about to look up at the Old South Meeting house, which stood diagonally across the street, revealed for the first time in many years from a distance far enough removed to do justice to its Wren-like spire and its fine proportions.

The first meeting house on this site was built in 1699, in the garden of the John Winthrop mansion, which then belonged to Mary Norton. It was a little church of cedar wood, but here Benjamin Franklin, who was born just across the road, was baptized in 1706. Here also Margaret Brewster appeared in "blackcloth and ashes" during service to give the congregation solemn warning because of the persecution of the Quakers. That was in 1677. About twenty years later Judge Sewell stood up in his pew while his confession for his part in the witchcraft delusion of 1692 was read.

Historic Meeting House of Provincial and Revolutionary Days.

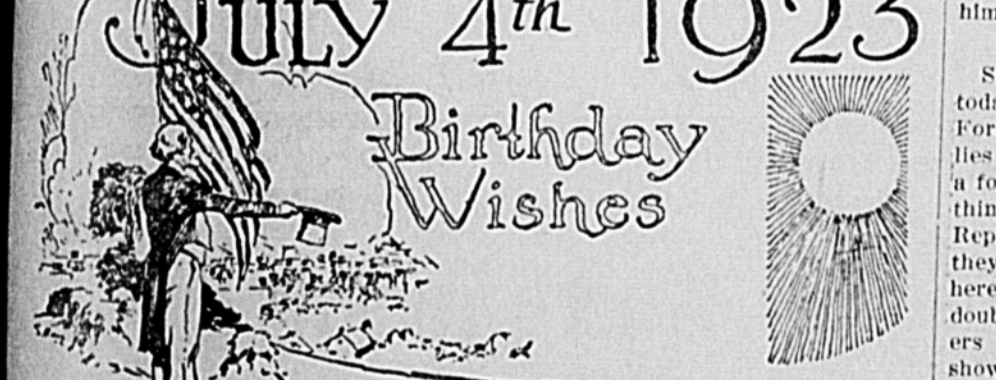

The present brick building was dedicated in 1790 and in the course of the next century saw many stirring town meetings which were too large for Faneuil hall. In March, 1770, such an overflow meeting waited here forth negotiating with Hutchinson until he yielded and withdrew his regulations from the city. On November 27, 1773, a gathering of 5,000 citizens resolved that the tea on which King George bade them pay a tax, should not be landed. On December 16 of the same year 7,000 citizens waited here by candlelight for the return of a courier who had been dispatched to

Milton to ask Hutchinson for redress. When he brought word that there would be none, a war whoop was raised outside the church and a group of patriots, disguised as Indians, rushed down to Griffin's wharf where the ships were lying and pitched the tea overboard. Another dramatic scene occurred in 1775 when Joseph Warren entered the pulpit from a window above to deliver his now famous oration on the Boston massacre. The aisles and the very steps of the pulpit were crowded with red-coated officers and men.

The Election Sermon.

Until 1872 the church was the scene of the picturesque ceremony started in 1732, the annual election sermon, at which the newly elected governor and all the provincial or state dignitaries appeared in the pride and pomp of office to give thanks for their election and to dedicate themselves to the work which lay before them.

A church with such a history as this would be more truly appreciated if it were almost anywhere except just where it is, for in this part of Boston it has two rivals which have been preserved to carry on the very traditions for which it stands. Faneuil hall, honored throughout the United States and not unknown in Europe, is today the fitting meeting place of idealists and reformers. And King's chapel, also only a few blocks away, is now just as when the be-ribboned and bearded officers of the British army and their Tory hosts attended service there, a dignified and beautiful place of worship. Obviously the Old South cannot compete with the "Cradle of Liberty" as a meeting place for young America, nor can it serve in its first capacity without many changes and a continuous sacrifice on the part of the congregation in going far downtown on Sunday mornings. So it has come about that today the Old South church is for the average Bostonian only a historic and cherished exterior.

JULY 4th 1923 Birthday Wishes

The passing of the years but mark thy course
Dear cherished land (in all the earth the best),
Such as the far and Christly road
Where all the world shall rise to call thee best.

Thy hamlets and thy farms in sweet content
Dream softly in thy twilight's ling'ring glow,
Where war may ne'er again be heard
Nor alien banner ever dare to flow.

The history of thy past, of slave and lord,
Sad chronicle of famine's deadly reign,
Of storm, and red man's barb'rous law,
On thy white scroll have left no lasting stain.

But rather shall thy glory shine the more,
To clearly show thy upward-reaching bounds
That mount upon the chastened past,
To tread with joy its ladder's lifting rounds.

Thy cities and thy gallant ships grow fair,
Nor hate nor conquest cloud thy wide domain,
Where love and strength together rule,
A mighty and a heaven-gotten twin.

Oh may thy cloudless sun, dear native land,
That lights the millions' weary path,
Where peace and justice spread a healing balm,
Ne'er darkly set in shadow of thy wrath.
—Maude de Verso Newton.

THE CROSS PLAINS REVIEW

FORD BOOM STIRS GREAT INTEREST

BOTH REPUBLICAN AND DEMOCRATIC MANAGERS ARE RATHER AGITATED.

HEARST'S SUPPORT EXPECTED

Old Party Leaders Agree That the Automobile Manufacturer's Best Chance for Nomination Will Come From a Third Party.

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—For some time there has been agitation on the face of the party waters in Washington. Democrats and Republicans are wondering whether the Henry Ford breeze which has ruffled the water is only a passing gale or whether it is to gain the force of a wind of popular sentiment and blow the motor man through the open doorway into the White House.

This Ford boom is giving trouble to the managers of both parties. What effect it is having on the rank and file of Democracy and Republicanism is not yet known definitely. Members of both parties are attempting to read the signs of the times.

Col. Edward M. House started for Europe the other day. He was just about to mount the boarding plank of the steamer when he was interviewed on politics. He said it was altogether too early to get excited over anything political, "for it is a long time until the convention date."

Hardly had this ordinarily accounted astute politician sailed before the Ford manifestations took on what some would call a menacing aspect. At this writing it seems that the politicians expect William Randolph Hearst to support the Ford movement with all the influence, printed or otherwise, at his command.

What Old Party Leaders Say.

The Republican managers are interested in the Ford manifestation not because they think it in any way humanly possible that Mr. Ford can secure a Republican nomination for the presidency, but because they do not know how much strength he could draw from the Republican ranks if he should by any chance become a nominee of the Democrats, or perhaps by a greater chance become the nominee of a third party.

Democratic leaders have said that it is impossible that Henry Ford can be the nominee of their party. Some of them have said that while he might have a great backing in the convention, it would not be sufficient to give him the nomination for it requires a two-thirds vote in the Democratic convention to give the nomination to anybody, and that while Mr. Ford may possibly make a great showing, it would be within the power of the delegates of the "old faith of Democracy" to prevent him from being named.

It is hard to tell from the present fomentation of things, marked as they are, just how much solidity and cohesion is back of what, for lack of a better and better word, must be called the Ford boom. The Democrats of note, not one of whom is favorable to the nomination of Mr. Ford, have said that the Detroit man can secure the Democratic delegates in the convention from every southern state except Alabama. They declare that his strength in the country districts will give him this backing. They add that he can get blocks in the western and northern states, and that he will be a formidable and dangerous rival in the convention, no matter how prominent nor how seemingly strong the candidates may be who are to strive with him for the nomination.

His Third Party Chances.

Seemingly as Washington looks at it today the chief chance of Henry Ford's nomination for the presidency lies in the possibility or probability of a formation of a third party. If such a party were to come to pass, the Republican managers seem to think they would lose many of their adherents, but they still have strong doubts as to whether or not such leaders within their own party as have shown third party leanings really would go to the extreme of joining such a party and of supporting Mr. Ford as its nominee.

There recently closed in Chicago a conference of men in public life who met together to consider railroad legislation, or as somebody has put it, railroad restraints. Senator LaFollette was the leading figure in this conference, but among his associates were Democrats who hold membership in congress and others of the party who are prominent in one line or another of progressive or radical endeavor.

It is from groups like this the Republicans and the Democrats fear that third party strength may be recruited. It is said that Senator Borah, who had something to say a year ago about the formation of a third party, has a better understanding with Mr. LaFollette today than ever he had before. This may or may not be true, for Senator Borah always is doing the unexpected and he is in him, as past political history shows, an ingraining of regularity which at the last moment may keep him, or possibly certainly will keep him within the fold of Republicanism.

Real Issues Are Lacking.

If the senate next winter shall sanction the administration's proposal for

THE CROSS PLAINS REVIEW

FORD BOOM STIRS GREAT INTEREST

BOTH REPUBLICAN AND DEMOCRATIC MANAGERS ARE RATHER AGITATED.

HEARST'S SUPPORT EXPECTED

Old Party Leaders Agree That the Automobile Manufacturer's Best Chance for Nomination Will Come From a Third Party.

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—For some time there has been agitation on the face of the party waters in Washington. Democrats and Republicans are wondering whether the Henry Ford breeze which has ruffled the water is only a passing gale or whether it is to gain the force of a wind of popular sentiment and blow the motor man through the open doorway into the White House.

This Ford boom is giving trouble to the managers of both parties. What effect it is having on the rank and file of Democracy and Republicanism is not yet known definitely. Members of both parties are attempting to read the signs of the times.

Col. Edward M. House started for Europe the other day. He was just about to mount the boarding plank of the steamer when he was interviewed on politics. He said it was altogether too early to get excited over anything political, "for it is a long time until the convention date."

Hardly had this ordinarily accounted astute politician sailed before the Ford manifestations took on what some would call a menacing aspect. At this writing it seems that the politicians expect William Randolph Hearst to support the Ford movement with all the influence, printed or otherwise, at his command.

What Old Party Leaders Say.

The Republican managers are interested in the Ford manifestation not because they think it in any way humanly possible that Mr. Ford can secure a Republican nomination for the presidency, but because they do not know how much strength he could draw from the Republican ranks if he should by any chance become a nominee of the Democrats, or perhaps by a greater chance become the nominee of a third party.

Democratic leaders have said that it is impossible that Henry Ford can be the nominee of their party. Some of them have said that while he might have a great backing in the convention, it would not be sufficient to give him the nomination for it requires a two-thirds vote in the Democratic convention to give the nomination to anybody, and that while Mr. Ford may possibly make a great showing, it would be within the power of the delegates of the "old faith of Democracy" to prevent him from being named.

It is hard to tell from the present fomentation of things, marked as they are, just how much solidity and cohesion is back of what, for lack of a better and better word, must be called the Ford boom. The Democrats of note, not one of whom is favorable to the nomination of Mr. Ford, have said that the Detroit man can secure the Democratic delegates in the convention from every southern state except Alabama. They declare that his strength in the country districts will give him this backing. They add that he can get blocks in the western and northern states, and that he will be a formidable and dangerous rival in the convention, no matter how prominent nor how seemingly strong the candidates may be who are to strive with him for the nomination.

His Third Party Chances.

Seemingly as Washington looks at it today the chief chance of Henry Ford's nomination for the presidency lies in the possibility or probability of a formation of a third party. If such a party were to come to pass, the Republican managers seem to think they would lose many of their adherents, but they still have strong doubts as to whether or not such leaders within their own party as have shown third party leanings really would go to the extreme of joining such a party and of supporting Mr. Ford as its nominee.

There recently closed in Chicago a conference of men in public life who met together to consider railroad legislation, or as somebody has put it, railroad restraints. Senator LaFollette was the leading figure in this conference, but among his associates were Democrats who hold membership in congress and others of the party who are prominent in one line or another of progressive or radical endeavor.

It is from groups like this the Republicans and the Democrats fear that third party strength may be recruited. It is said that Senator Borah, who had something to say a year ago about the formation of a third party, has a better understanding with Mr. LaFollette today than ever he had before. This may or may not be true, for Senator Borah always is doing the unexpected and he is in him, as past political history shows, an ingraining of regularity which at the last moment may keep him, or possibly certainly will keep him within the fold of Republicanism.

Real Issues Are Lacking.

If the senate next winter shall sanction the administration's proposal for American membership in the International Court of Justice this subject probably will be removed from the field of issue not only in the next presidential campaign but in the pre-convention campaign of the winter months.

A careful reading of the various leaflets and pamphlets printed for public perusal by the national Democratic and the Republican committees discloses the fact that the leaders of the two parties recognize the absence from the field of anything which resembles a real issue between the rival political organizations.

League of Nations still is an issue. So it is, but it is not an issue which has complete and consistent support or opposition in either party. There are plenty of Democrats, as the people's ears have told them, who are opposed to the league, and there are plenty of Republicans who are in favor of it. It is not, strictly speaking, a party issue.

It still seems to be certain that the Republicans will lay claim to the leadership of the national Democratic party of the country, provided the strength does not become a weakness by the time that the presidential campaign begins. Prosperity is not an issue, although the Democratic national committee seems in a way to be striving to make an issue out of it. The effort of the Democratic campaign leadership is to prove that present prosperity is fictitious, that the rich continue to be rich and the poor continue to be poor.

Prohibition Not a Party Issue.

Prohibition is not an issue as between the parties. The strongest advocates of the amendment to the Constitution which a good many people do not like are Democrats. Senator Sheppard of Texas was the most earnest and generally speaking, the most vocal advocate of the cause of the prohibitionist. The great and good Democrat William Jennings Bryan stood, metaphorically speaking, at Senator Sheppard's elbow, an elbow by the way which never was crooked, to give more power to it when it worked on its hinge in the posture of oratory in behalf of the cause of temperance.

Neither Democrats nor Republicans today can find a party issue in the great public utilities question. Not many years ago the public carriers and others looked to the Republican party for their salvation from exploitation from overvalued forms of regulation and from the heavy government ownership. Today in the Congress of the United States the salvation depends not on the Republican party but upon a group composed of Democrats and Republicans who must fight for old-time conservatism against an element composed of members of both of the great political parties.

Both Have the Same Aims.

There never was a time when immigration strictly was a party issue. It is true that today some of the advocates of less drastic restriction laws look to the Republicans to help lower the bars, but it is virtually certain that the great majority of the members of both houses of congress, irrespective of party, are in favor of restricting the bars higher than they are today. Immigration is outside the field of party issues.

Both the Democrats and the Republicans in their speeches and in the "platform" pleadings of their national committees endorse plans for lower taxes, proper consideration for labor on the one hand and capital on the other, and for uplifting efforts for agriculture. Some Republicans and some Democrats are denouncing radicalism while others, although avoiding the use of the word radicalism, are charged with doing what they can to Republicanize the land. There are a few Republicans and Democrats in both houses of congress who are charged with being to all intents and purposes Communists.

The bloc system in attempts to accomplish things legislative has roused the ire of President Harding, and he has disclosed the rousing in speech and in manner. There are members of both parties who think that if the bloc system has come to stay the old political parties as such may be unable to perform their functions. The issues of the day are between factions and not between parties.

Princess Tatiana's Life.

Princess Tatiana was the daughter of Empress Elizabeth of Russia and Alexis Rozumoffski, whom the empress had secretly married. She was carried away at the age of twelve by Prince Radivil and concealed in a convent in Rome. This step was taken by the dissatisfied noble to curb the ambition of Catherine, who then ruled. But it failed, and her favorite, Alexis Orloff, himself pretending great discontent against the government of Catherine, prevailed upon her to marry him, return to Russia and initiate a new reformation. The young and unsuspecting princess had no sooner placed herself in his power than she was seized upon on board a ship in the bay of Lezhorn. She was bound in chains and carried to St. Petersburg. In December, 1777, a violent rising of the Neva suddenly forced the waters into her prison cell and she was drowned before assistance could reach her.

Kills the Odor.

Wipe the knife with which you have cut onions with a damp cloth and then rub briskly with coarse salt. The unpleasant odor will not linger on the metal to annoy you.

His Inheritance.

"I hear Joe's rich uncle is dead. Did he leave anything to Joe?"

"Nothing but a lot of rich cousins."

Watch Cuticura Improve Your Skin.

On rising and retiring gently smear the face with Cuticura Ointment. Wash off Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water. It is wonderful what Cuticura will do for poor complexions, dandruff, itching and red, rough hands.—Advertisement.

A Slow Shaver.

Barber—I am forty-five years old. Customer—How old were you when you began shaving me?

News Item.

"Here's a young man hugs a girl and breaks two of her ribs."

"Well, he loves her, anyhow."

Insist On Karo

The Great American Syrup for Every Purpose

Piles Can Be Cured (itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding)

Many sufferers have been made very happy over the results obtained from the use of PAZO OINTMENT—60c at any Drug Store. (Follow the Directions Carefully.)

WINTERSMITH'S CHILL TONIC SOLD 50 YEARS

The All-Year Car for Every Family

For Economical Transportation

CHEVROLET

Chevrolet is leading in the great shift of public demand to closed cars because this company has the world's largest facilities for manufacturing high-grade closed bodies and is therefore able to offer sedans, coupes and sedans at prices within easy reach of the average American family. Six large body plants adjoining Chevrolet assembly plants enable us to make prompt deliveries of the much wanted closed cars.

As soon as you realize that your transportation requirements demand the year-round, all-weather closed car, see Chevrolet first and learn how fully we can meet your requirements at the lowest cost obtainable in a modern, high-grade closed automobile.

Prices f. o. b. Flint, Mich.

Two-Pass. Roadster	.. $510	Five-Pass. Sedan	.. $660
Five-Pass. Touring	.. $525	Light Delivery	.. $10
Two-Pass. Utility Coupe	.. $490	Commercial Chassis	.. $25
Four-Pass. Sedanette	.. $500	Utility Express Truck Chassis	.. $75

Dealers and Service Stations Everywhere

Chevrolet Motor Company
Division of General Motors Corporation
Detroit, Mich.

SHINOLA

AMERICA'S HOME SHOE POLISH
Black - Tan - White - Ox-Blood - Brown

SHINOLA preserves leather as paint preserves buildings. Quick and easy to use. SHINOLA HOME SET Makes Shining Easy. Genuine Brat's Leather cleans around the sole and applies the polish thoroughly. The Shine to Shine.

Shines in a hurry. Lamb's Wool Polisher just fits the hand. Brings the brilliant Shinola shine with a few strokes.

In the Health Swim.

Two plunges daily in a swimming tank keeps the doctor away. Is the belief of Fred L. Eaton, assistant United States district attorney, who says that he practices his preening by a morning and evening swim in a tank at a hotel where he resides, the Detroit News reports. Mr. Eaton says that real comradeship is found among those who frequent the swimming tank—a comradeship more fraternal and lasting than that of golf enthusiasts.

News Item.

"Here's a young man hugs a girl and breaks two of her ribs."

"Well, he loves her, anyhow."

His Inheritance.

"I hear Joe's rich uncle is dead. Did he leave anything to Joe?"

"Nothing but a lot of rich cousins."

Watch Cuticura Improve Your Skin.

On rising and retiring gently smear the face with Cuticura Ointment. Wash off Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water. It is wonderful what Cuticura will do for poor complexions, dandruff, itching and red, rough hands.—Advertisement.

A Slow Shaver.

Barber—I am forty-five years old. Customer—How old were you when you began shaving me?

Insist On Karo

The Great American Syrup for Every Purpose

Piles Can Be Cured (itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding)

Many sufferers have been made very happy over the results obtained from the use of PAZO OINTMENT—60c at any Drug Store. (Follow the Directions Carefully.)

WINTERSMITH'S CHILL TONIC SOLD 50 YEARS

THE CROSS PLAINS REVIEW
Review Publishing Co.

Foreign Advertising Representative
THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

Entered at postoffice at Cross Plains, Texas second class mail matter

R. A. AUTRY
Editor and Business Manager
TOM BRYANT, Managing Editor

Outside Callahan County:
$2.00 for one year.
$1.00 for six months,
In Cross Plains and vicinity:
$1.50 for one year

FOUR ISSUES CONSTITUTE A MONTH
CROSS PLAINS, TEXAS

J. A. Sawyer and daughter, Miss Jewett, of Eastland, have been visiting with Will Sawyer and family of Route 1, and Mrs. Frank Thate, of Comal community.

A newspaper report tells of a Fort Worth man born without arms, who has won in struggle against great odds, is successful and happy. And yet some of us who are whole and sound in mind and body are prone to grumble. Strange.

The vast domain of Alaska, comprising 379,000,000 acres, only cost the United States 2c an acre. It was purchased from Russia in 1867. Alaska is about twice the size of Texas, with population of 60,000.

Horses and Mules.

Horses and Mules for sale or trade, broke or unbroke. Will trade for Ford, Ford truck, or cattle. Will trade suckling colts for yearlings, or 2 and 3 year old cow cows. See me at once, as am going to West Texas.

Joe Smartt, With High Line Dept. Cross Plains, Texas.

Am closing out my stock of hats, and am making some very special prices. Mrs. Corrie B. West.

Notice

Beginning July 1st our business will be strictly cash. We have to pay cash for every item we carry. We appreciate all the business we can get but it takes money to make business. If you haven't paid your grocery account, we absolutely can not sell unless we get the money. We are not running a bank and can not carry accounts. We do not want to be hard but if we don't look after ourselves we will have to close our doors.

So we will expect each and every one to call in promptly, and pay your accounts. If we can't get ours we can't expect the wholesale people to sell to us.

Clark's Grocery.

Mat; Browning went to Brownwood Wednesday after his wife who was recently operated on. She has not fully recovered yet.

Pledger Fisher of Marshall, Texas, is visiting with H. B. Brewer this week.

Mrs. Geo. Strausel, of Moran, is visiting with A. G. Crabb and family.

Charlie Parish and family are leaving this week for Regan Co.

Pauline Bond, Katharine and Christine McGowen and Francis Gilbert, visited in DeLeon this week.

G. W. Robb, general manager of the North Texas Supply Co. was here this week.

Am closing out my stock of hats, and am making some very special prices. Mrs. Corrie B. West.

FOR RENT—4 room house and sleeping porch, close up, $16.00 per month. See Mrs. L. E. Devaney

I will appreciate the business if you will let me write your FIRE and TORNADO insurance, SAM CARSON.

Lost—Thursday afternoon between Cross Plains and Baird, dark sack coat, bearing label of Misfit Clothing Store, Abilene. Pockets contained check book of First State Bank, Richland Springs, Texas; prescription blank pad of McElmore and Bass Drug Store, Abilene; physician's hypodermic syringe case. Finder notify S. T. Dowda, box 809, Abilene. 4 t. p.

Buy it Here

Fruit Jars, Lids, Rubbers and Caps

Water Coolers and Ice Cream Freezers

Fly Swatters

Tourist Supplies

Electric Fans

Fishing Tackle

Base Ball, Tennis and Croquet Goods

Cross Plains Hdwe. Co.

United States Tires
are Good Tires
-and "USCO"
confirms it!

YOUR enthusiasm over "USCO" performance won't surprise the motorist who knows the fabric tire field.

Every 30 x 3 1/2 tire user recognizes "USCO" as a value to be respected and to be investigated.

The users of "USCO," know it as a money's worth that came before the public as a leader and that has maintained its leadership.

"USCO" is made by the same people who make Royal Cords.

Where to buy U.S. Tires

CROSS PLAINS HDW. Co.

Pay Your Note or Account Before July 4th.

If you want Grain Bags, See Us
if you want Hay Ties, See Us
if you want good fresh Groceries, See Us if you want good fresh Meats, see us if you want to sell chickens and eggs, See Us
if you want to sell wheat or Oats, See Us

In Fact, See Us Before You Buy or Sell

B. L. BOYDSTUN

"Where it Pays to Buy or Sell"

ANNOUNCEMENT

We wish to announce that we have purchased the Cozy Drug Store stock, and will continue the business under the firm name of Joyce Drug Co. We will enlarge the stock and carry a complete line.

Your Consideration

is earnestly solicited, and your patronage will be highly appreciated, we assure you. We will conduct a clean, up-to-date drug business.

Call and see us.

On Sundays will close from 10:30 to 2:30.

JOYCE DRUG Co.

J. Worth Joyce, Druggist

Where To Pay

Arrangements have been made for you to pay your Electric Light and Power bills at the Farmers National Bank. So please settle your account there.

Take Discount

We allow one cent per kilowatt discount on all bills paid on or before the Tenth of the month.

We would be glad to consult with you at time concerning anything in the electrical way. Yours for Service.

West Texas Utilities Co.

Racine Tires are worth the price, at Higginbotham's.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young, motored to Baird Sunday to witness the ball game between Coleman and Baird.

A. J. Gensley left Wednesday for Pampa, Texas.

J. M. Harlow was visiting in Baird Tuesday.

Tom White of Dublin was in town Wednesday.

M. E. Waketield of Brownwood, who formerly resided here, was here this week, looking after his interest here.

Miss Lillian Peoples of Cisco, visited friends here Sunday.

Virgil Hart went to Fort Worth Monday, returning later.

Mr. R. E. Wilson and family were visiting relatives in DeLeon Sunday, Miss Juanita remained for a several days visit.

Racine Tires are worth the price, at Higginbotham's

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Garrett of Corpus Christi, are visiting relatives here this week.

Mr. and McAdams, newly elected school supt. moved here with his family this week.

Tom Bryant motored to Eastland Wednesday on a business trip.

Electric Light Bulbs, at Higginbotham Bros. & Co.

For Sale—Twenty-five head of goats. Ike Kendrick.

I will appreciate the business if you will let me write your FIRE and TORNADO insurance, SAM CARSON.

Can pasture a few head of horses and cattle. Good grass and water. Ike Kendrick.

Wanted—Lady help, at Grace Hotel, apply at once. 2t-pd

Grasshopper Feed.

We have ready-sweetened feed for grass hoppers. All that will be necessary, is to add the poison. At $1.75 and $2.25 per hundred. Aiken & Childs, Feed Store.

Big Knock-Out!

The Style Shoppe

-VS-

High Prices

"Cross Plains Popular Store"

Meeting All Requirements

In an emergency, it's some comfort to know that your immediate needs can be filled right quick. We can cover practically all the bare spots in your lumber schedule.

For every character of construction in which Lumber and Timber is used—garages, barns, implement sheds or other buildings, our material will please you.

W. W. PRYOR

LUMBER DEALER
B. F. Wright Manager.

Cross Plains, Texas

Telephone 70

PIC

Saturday July

Everybody

to A

Big Basket Picnic at Ada Bayou, one and a

Burkett

Beautiful Shades and Bathing Pool for T

A Spec

To All Old Settlers to C
Cele

Buy it Here

- Fruit Jars, Lids, Rubbers and Caps
- Water Coolers and Ice Cream Freezers
- Fly Swatters
- Tourist Supplies
- Electric Fans
- Fishing Tackle
- Base Ball, Tennis and Croquet Goods

Cross Plains Hdwe. Co.

For Sale—One 16 foot marble Soda Fountain. See R. E. Wilson, Cross Plains, Texas.

Harry Kuteman, president of the First National Bank of Rising Star, was here looking after business matters last Saturday.

Geo. B. Scott made a business trip to Gorman Wednesday.

H. R. McGregor and R. T. Kilgus left this week for a trip to Illinois.

Marechal Neil flour at Butler's. There is none better, $1.90 Saturday only.

ANNOUNCEMENT

We wish to announce that we have purchased the Cozy Drug Store stock, and will continue the business under the firm name of Joyce Drug Co. We will enlarge the stock and carry a complete line.

Your Consideration

is earnestly solicited, and your patronage will be highly appreciated, we assure you. We will conduct a clean, up-to-date drug business. Call and see us.

On Sundays will close from 10:30 to 2:30.

JOYCE DRUG Co.

J. Worth Joyce, Druggist

Where To Pay

Arrangements have been made for you to pay your Electric Light and Power bills at the Farmers National Bank. So please settle your account there.

Take Discount

We allow one cent per kilowatt discount on all bills paid on or before the Tenth of the month.

We would be glad to consult with you at time concerning anything in the electrical way. Yours for Service.

West Texas Utilities Co.

Big Knock-Out!

The Style Shoppe

-US-

High Prices

"Cross Plains Popular Store"

Meeting All Requirements

In an emergency, it's some comfort to know that your immediate needs can be filled right quick. We can cover practically all the bare spots in your lumber schedule.

For every character of construction in which Lumber and Timber is used—garages, barns, implement sheds or other buildings, our material will please you.

W. W. PRYOR

LUMBER DEALER
B. F. Wright Manager.

Cross Plains, Texas

Telephone 70

Dr. T. C. Smith

Specialist

in Chronic and Nervous Diseases

Piles, Skin Diseases, Sore Eyes, Cancer, Blood troubles, and Lung Troubles.

Diseases of Man or Woman

Consultation Free

Cross Plains, Texas

Located Between the Farmers Nat. Bank Building and Cross Plains Motor Co.

Dr. John Tyson has just had his residence on fifth Street painted, which adds materially to appearance.

Mrs. Colvin who lives on Fourth Street, is having her residence painted.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Little, of Cisco, were last week visiting their son, Dee Little, and family.

Miss Patsy Derrington of Fort Worth, is visiting relatives here this week.

Murman McGowen and family motored over to Hog Town, Sunday. Mrs. McGowen's brother, Charlie Gregory, came home with them for a visit.

Mrs. Belle Parsons and children, of Weathertord, and her mother, Mrs. Nannie Million, of Richmond, Ky. visited with J. M. Coffman, last week.

Where to Pay.

Arrangements have been made for you to pay your electric light and power bill at the Farmers National Bank. So please settle your account there.

Take Discount.

We allow one cent per kilowatt discount on all bills paid on or before the Tenth of the month.

We would be glad to consult with you at any time concerning anything in the electrical way. Yours for Service.

West Texas Utilities Co.

F. M. Gwin and family accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John Westerman, left last Saturday for a week's tour of South Texas, where they will visit and fish.

Miss Clea Henderson of Coleman, is visiting her sister, Mrs. R. H. Davanay.

Saturday Bargain

2

Cans of Jack Frost Baking Powder for the price of

1

W. E. BUTLER

Buy a Pair!

of Guaranteed Shoes and Hose. If they don't wear, you get another pair.

We Guarantee All Our Merchandise to Give Perfection Satisfaction

TRY

our American Beauty Flour. While here price our Dishes. We have just received a large shipment.

Cross Plains Merc. Co.

Masons Install Officers.

At the installation of officers Saturday night, at the Masonic Lodge, the following officer were installed for the ensuing year: Ralph Chandler, W M; Ike Kendrick, S W; J. A. McGowen, J W; W. A. Williams, Treasure; Taylor Bond, Secretary M Baum, S D; H. C. Freeman, J D; J. W. Booth, Tyler; J. A. Barr, S S; W. E. Connelly, J S

Goodyear Tires, are good tires Get them here. Higginbotham Bros. & Co.

Murman McGowen and family visited in DeLeon, Sunday.

Miss Lancaster, of Fort Worth, is visiting her brother, B. H. Lancaster, and family.

O. T. Merriman and E. R. Smit of the Bayou district, were among the Monday visitors in Cross Plains.

Mrs. Carl Klutts and Mrs. Henry McDaniels of Dressy, were here the first of the week shopping.

Subscribe for the Review.

Mrs. J. F. Butler, of Putnam, is visiting with her son, W. E. Butler, and family.

Goodyear Tires, are good Tires. Get them here. Higginbotham Bros. & Co.

Mr. C. S. Gee and wife of Baird, visited here Sunday, with W. A. McGowen and family.

Mrs. D. M. Seaton, of Big Springs, is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. A. Williams.

Lee and Pomp Payne of Burnt Branch, were business visitors here Saturday.

Mr Dick Stone and sons, Charlie and Montie Stone, of Cross Cut, were in town Monday.

Piano for Sale.

New Remington Piano shipped to me to sell, for Star Piano Factory. Will sell on $10 monthly payments, or one-third cash and balance on two years time, to responsible party. Will price low to avoid shipping back. Se. J. E. Henkel.

PICNIC

Saturday July 7th. Saturday

Everybody Invited!

to Attend

Big Basket Picnic at Adams Crossing on the Pecan Bayou, one and a half miles north of

Burkett, Texas

Beautiful Shades and Free Camping Grounds
Bathing Pool for Those Who Have Suits

A Special Call

To All Old Settlers to Come and Enjoy This Big Celebration

If You are Not

If you are not a subscriber, we would be glad to have you join the big family of Review readers. We are now receiving many new subscribers, from far and near, and in order to take care of such a large number, we have increased our standing order for news print. The Review covers all the news, including world, national, state, and local. The local oil development news is given each week. If you are interested in Cross Plains and adjacent territory you NEED the Review--and costs but little. Read it.

If You Are

If you are a subscriber, and have gotten behind on your subscription, we would be glad to have you come and pay up as we wish to "repair" our subscription list. If the Review isn't worth the subscription price to you, advise, and we will discontinue sending it to your address, but if it is worth the price, we would be pleased to have you so express your self in a substantial way at an early date.

TERRITORIAL WATERS CANADIAN PRECEDENT

DECLARES AMERICAN VESSEL RESISTED SEARCH, EXPLAINING FATALITY

NO AID AS TO LIQUOR

Clearance Papers to Be Given to Ships with Liquor Clearing for American Ports

Washington.—The Canadian Government, in answer to an inquiry from the State Department here, has made a report covering the fringing upon the American fishing schooner Sloop by a British coast guard ship off the coast of Vancouver Island two months ago, which resulted in the killing of an American sailor.

The report sets forth that the American vessel was caught with lines set overboard, fishing within the territorial waters of British Columbia; that upon being hailed she attempted to make off and resisted search, so that it was necessary to fire upon her.

Washington.—Canada has refused to restrict exportation of liquor to the United States as requested by this Government in an effort to stop rum running along the Northern border.

The Canadian Government has informed Secretary of State Hughes that the export of liquor is not prohibited from Canada, and that there is no reason to refuse clearance papers to vessels carrying liquor merely because entry is prohibited at the port of destination.

Last March Secretary Hughes sent a note to the Canadian Government calling attention to the fact that difficulties were being experienced in enforcing prohibition along the Canadian border because small motor boats were permitted to take on cargoes of liquor and make a regular customs clearance to some port on the United States side. It was suggested that Canada withhold clearance papers for cargoes of liquor unless an importation permit had been obtained.

"The refusal of the Canadian Government to assist in suppressing rum running across the border is another severe jolt to prohibition enforcement, which is already sagging from the mass of recent complications and burdens created by New York's withdrawal of co-operation along the international tangle which has developed regarding sealed liquor stores on foreign liners."

UNITED STATES OPPOSES PIECEMEAL RELIEF

Policy for Aid to Greek Refugees Outlined at League Meeting

Geneva.—Outlining the American policy for aid to Greek refugees of the Asia Minor debacle, F. A. Dolbeare, State Department representative who is meeting the League of Nations financial committee to discuss the problem, told the committee that the United States had found it impossible to continue further piecemeal efforts in relief.

He urged international collaboration in a comprehensive plan aimed at a permanent settlement of the situation, and said that meanwhile the American Red Cross and the American Near East Relief would continue their temporary aid.

M. Parmentier, French delegate who has recently returned from Greece, said that the Greek Government guarantees for the suggested $50,000,000 international loan were sufficient, but that the Greek political situation was uncertain and the present revolutionary Government was under the heaviest mobilization expenses.

He therefore advised the league to be most cautious in any support of the loan.

Four to Hang in Missouri Jefferson City, Mo.—Four men will be hanged in Missouri within the next sixty days as the result of a State Supreme Court decision upholding validity of the capital punishment law.

Harvest First Bag of Wheat Hutchinson, Kan.—President Harding will harvest the first bag of wheat from the 1923 crop in Kansas under plans of the local entertainment committee when he arrives here on his western tour.

Electrical Storm Hits South Mobile, Ala.—Mobile was visited by an electrical storm of unusual intensity. Five persons were injured slightly.

Chas Bathers, Then Land Liquor River Head, N. Y.—Rum runners inferring the Long Island coast were reported to have grown so bold that they covered bathers off a beach here with liquor from a yacht, said to have been on Canadian registry, was landed. The yacht anchored about 700 feet off shore. Residents are so upset that women are now afraid to remain on the beaches after dark.

STATE TAX RATE TO BE UNCHANGED

BOARD TO BE COMPELLED TO LEVY ALL THE LAW ALLOWS

SOME DECREASES APPARENT

Merchants Do Not Carry Large Stocks Like They Did a Few Years Ago

Austin, Texas.—Informal announcements have been made by State officials that the State tax rate to be made next March will be the same as that now in effect, a total of 75c, it being divided into the three maximums allowed under the Constitution of 35c each for general purposes and school support and 5c for pensions.

State Tax Commissioner Willacy said there is nothing else to do when it meets on July 20. As the appropriations so far exceed the revenues, the board will be compelled to levy all the tax the law allows. The same statement was made by State Treasurer Terrell, who is a member of the board, with the Governor and the Comptroller.

Under the automatic tax law, the County Tax Assessors are required to have estimates of the total renditions in hand by July 15 and the board to meet not less than five days later to fix the tax rates. The board could meet at any time and adopt the maximums, said the officials, since they have no alternatives.

A disappointing feature of the situation is that most of the forty-five counties which have submitted their estimates of tax values report decreases as compared to last year. The fear in the Comptroller's Department is that there will be a reduction in the total assessments at a time when all the tax money possible is needed. Last year the total assessment for the State was $3,379,872,796 and that amount may be reduced this year; anyway, it is not expected to be increased.

There are some modern factors which contribute to the decrease in assessments in Texas. Merchants do not carry large stocks like they did a few years ago but have lean supplies on Jan. 1 and make quick turn-overs during the year.

The deficit in the general fund is now $1,510,000 and State Treasurer Terrell says it will be about $3,300,000 on Aug. 31, the last day of the fiscal year. The State pay roll is $15,000 monthly and in August the departments and institutions clean up all unexpended balances of appropriations that would expire on the last day of the month.

FARMERS ARE URGED TO BUY ARMOUR

Bernard M. Baruch Says Ogden Armour Agrees to His Co-operative Plan

New York.—Bernard M. Baruch has made copies of letters and telegrams in which he had made suggestions that farmers purchase a "going concern like the Armour Grain company," as a solution to their problems of co-operative marketing. Mr. Baruch made it clear, however, that his plan had been offered only as a suggestion and thus far had not progressed beyond that point.

Mr. Baruch said he made public his correspondence in order to set at rest false inferences that might result from premature publication in Chicago of a tentative plan relating to co-operative wheat marketing. His suggestions were contained in a telegram to J. M. Nehl, secretary of the United States Grain Growers, Inc., and in a letter to a "prominent agricultural senator."

Mr. Baruch's plan would call for the purchase of the Armour Grain company, or some similar organization with the understanding that its personnel would be retained. Control, however, would be entirely in the hands of the purchasers.

In his letter to the "agricultural senator," Mr. Baruch said he had talked to J. Ogden Armour, head of the Armour Grain company, who at first was adverse to the proposition but who later became more sympathetic. President George E. Marcey of the company "seemed to be captured by the idea," said the letter. Mr. Marcey told him, Mr. Baruch said, that had the plan been in effect last year, he believed the farmers of America, under world conditions then prevailing would have obtained 40 cents more a bushel for the wheat without costing the people any appreciable extra amount for their bread.

Flyer to Try Trip to North Pole An attempt by a French aviator to fly across the North Pole next summer is being planned under Government supervision, the Petit Parisien says. The distance will be 1,400 miles and the flight will be made in 20 hours at 70 miles an hour. The announcement follows close on the abandonment of a polar flight planned for this summer by Roald Amundsen, the Scandinavian explorer.

SHIP WITH LIQUOR CLOSE TO GALVESTON

Fleets of Small Vessels are Seen Going to and From the Schooner

Galveston, Texas.—The first appearance of a rum fleet in the Gulf off Galveston has been reported here by incoming ship captains who have declared a large steamer has been laying anchored about eight miles out in the Gulf for the last ten days. Fleets of small boats were reported going to and from the steamer.

The mysterious steamer is described as a vessel of about 2,000 tons, painted black. She is anchored in about sixty fathoms of water, between Galveston and the Head bank lightship and is slightly off the regular steamship lane.

Fleets of motor boats were seen approaching the steamer which has a platform alongside for the convenience of the smaller craft. The crew of the steamer was said to resemble Filipinos and were of unkempt appearance.

The vessel flew no flag and ship captains were unable to identify her. Federal officials here had no report on the rum ship.

Ship captains who have seen the vessel say that she is of battered and rusty appearance with a black funnel and name obliterated.

One of those who saw the ship said that cases of whiskey could be seen distinctly piled on her deck. They also saw cases being loaded into motor boats.

The vessel was said to be of the lake type, similar to rum ships which have been plying their trade off Sandy Hook. A white man in an officer's uniform was seen on deck.

PUBLIC STREAMS ARE TO BE SURVEYED

State to Get Return For Sand and Gravel Taken From River Beds

Austin, Texas.—Preparations have been started by the State Game, Fish and Oyster Department to have the property lines along public streams marked to the end that the State of Texas get a return for the sand, gravel and other materials which may be taken from the river bed. The first surveys will be made along the Colorado River in and adjacent to Austin, where large beds of valuable sand and gravel are located and which have been a local source of building materials for years. Little State is going to collect 5c per yard for sand and 6c for gravel. It is to be collected by the Game, Fish and Oyster Department.

In many places the owners of land abutting streams have come to think their property line goes to the center of the channel and includes the land up to the water and half of the water. This is an erroneous impression as to public streams. Deputy Commissioner Simmons said, for the law provides that the State owns the beds of all streams thirty feet or over in width and private property lines extend only to the banks.

Mr. Simmons also said the statute of limitation does not run against the State, therefore the State will have surveys made and establish the proper lines so it will have clear title to the sand and gravel in the beds. This doctrine has already been put into effect by the Land Commissioner, who issues oil and gas permits in public stream beds.

A law has just been passed which permits the condemnation of roadways over abutting land so the State's sand and gravel may be hauled from river beds. Mr. Simmons said condemnation will occur wherever necessary to cover passageways.

Crops in Good Condition. Bowie, Texas.—Despite recent heavy rains the optimistic note is sounded in practically all the farmers' talk regarding the crops. Little damage seems to have been done by the wet weather, although the marketing of berries has been hindered.

Troops Are Not in Ruhr. London.—British war office officials discredited reports that British troops had entered Dusseldorf, headquarters of the French army occupying the Ruhr. They said it was possible British forces had relieved the French in some posts near Dusseldorf, but no word to that effect had been received from Cologne, British military headquarters on the Rhine.

Shrine Approves DeMolay Kansas City, Mo.—The Imperial Shrine Council, in recent session at Washington, unanimously adopted a resolution endorsing the Order of DeMolay for boys, National DeMolay headquarters here announced.

Haymakers at Work. Alvin, Tex.—Weather conditions have been favorable the past week for haymaking and the several outfits at work at Alvin are putting up a very fine crop of South Texas hay.

Woodcutters Get $1 Per Cord. Flatonia, Tex.—Farmers who own woodland are having wood cut for winter sale. All wood left over from the past two seasons has been consumed. One dollar a cord is paid to woodcutters.

Texas Items

A farm-labor rally will be held at Flatonia August 1 and 2.

Figures compiled by the state department of insurance show there was a total of $619,444,150 worth of life insurance in force in Texas on the first of the year.

Insurance in force by the 16 Texas life insurance companies at the end of the year, December 31, 1922, amounted to $619,444,150, according to figures just compiled by the Texas department of insurance and banking.

Two new district judges for courts created by the thirty-eighth legislature were named by Governor Neff Friday. Royal R. Watkins was appointed judge of the ninety-fifth court, Dallas, and Towne Young of the special Dallas district court.

The Walker county commissioners' court has ordered an election to be held July 14 and 17 in the Loma and Goshen communities to determine whether or not bonds to the amount of $15,000 should be issued in each case for road building purposes.

Due to the increased acreage in figs and indications for a bumper crop, efforts are being made to bring another preserving plant to League City, between Houston and Galveston. Unless the plant now in operation is doubled in capacity, it will be unable to care for the entire crop, it is believed.

An election has been called for July 10 to vote on a bond issue of $200,000 to make an addition to the Silabec high school. The attendance at the school last year was in excess of 700, and it is estimated two additional rooms will be required to take care of the pupils next year.

The forces of the car department of the Trinity and Brazos Valley Railway Company shops at Texark are being increased more than 100 per cent. They are estimated to be more than 200 cars in need of repairs in the Texark yards and the additional men being employed will be used in this connection.

Petitions are being circulated asking the state water board of engineers to order an election for the creation of the Colorado Valley Irrigation District. The proposed district includes the towns of Ballinger, Miles and Dromot, and embraces a territory of fine farming land which can be irrigated by gravitation.

Three bills enacted by the recent legislature were signed by Governor Neff Saturday. They were: Changing the name of the state insurance and banking department to insurance department; amending agricultural credits act passed by second called session, and the Bonham bill amending the delinquent tax act passed at the second session.

An average of 45,000,000 gallons of gasoline is sold monthly in Texas, according to figures compiled by A. W. Taylor, special investigator in the attorney general's department. This means that if collections by the state were 100 per cent on the 1-cent a gallon tax, there would be produced in revenue $5,400,000 a year, three-fourths of which goes to the state highway fund and the remaining one-fourth to the available school fund.

The Austin Chamber of Commerce has begun a determined fight on the proposed interstate commerce commission plan of breaking up the Texas freight common point group which, it was claimed, would give Dallas and Fort Worth advantage over South and Central Texas. South Texas commercial bodies will be asked to join in making protest at the interstate commerce commission hearing scheduled to be held, probably at Austin, it was announced.

TEXAS STATE HIGHWAY AID IS DISTRIBUTED

Austin, Tex.—As a result of the monthly meeting of the state highway commission, an allotment of $180,000 was made to Webb County for laying of a bituminous top on Highway No. 2, the so-called San Antonio-Laredo Road, extending from Laredo north to the county line, a distance of 34 miles. For completing the gap on Highway No. 2, between the city of Austin and Round Rock, an allotment of $19,846 was made to Travis County. The commission awarded Tarrant County $124,500 on Highway No. 10 and $37,500 on Highway No. 40. Bexar County was allotted $7609 on Highway No. 3.

Additional counties receiving aid are: Smith, $75,000 on Highway 15; Ellis, $10,175, on Highway 14; Navarro, $36,455; Bastrop, $10,500 on Highway 20; Fannin, $25,000 on Highway 5; Uvalde, $22,000 on Highway 3, east of the town of Uvalde, and $36,000 west of Uvalde; Millam, $20,000 on Highway 45; Leon, $15,000 on Highway 32; Falls, $15,000 on Highway 14.

Haymakers at Work.

Alvin, Tex.—Weather conditions have been favorable the past week for haymaking and the several outfits at work at Alvin are putting up a very fine crop of South Texas hay.

Woodcutters Get $1 Per Cord. Flatonia, Tex.—Farmers who own woodland are having wood cut for winter sale. All wood left over from the past two seasons has been consumed. One dollar a cord is paid to woodcutters.

THE MARKETS

DALLAS WHOLESALE MARKETS.

Prices quoted below were those obtained at the opening of the day's business from jobbers and commission men and are subject to constant fluctuation of the actual market.

Fresh Vegetables.

Selling prices in Dallas to retailers: GREEN BEANS—10c per lb. LETTUCE—California iceberg 16.00 per crate, POTATOES—Idaho $2.00 per 100 lbs. BEETS—40c per lb. CABBAGE—50c per doz. bunches. ONIONS—Green 50c per doz. bunches. CRISP WAX $3.00 per crate. TOMATOES—Texas $2.50 per crate. SWEET POTATOES—42.00 per crate (50 lbs). TURNIPS—30c per lb. SQUASH—60c per lb. CARROTS—60c per doz. bunches. CUCUMBERS—12c per doz. BLACKBERRY PEAS—10c per lb. ROASTING EARS—40c per doz. ORA—25c per lb.

Packing-House Products.

Selling prices in Dallas to retailers: HAM—Extra 28.00 per lb. BREAKFAST BACON—Strips 32c per lb. Sliced 36c. DRY SALT BELLIES—18c per lb. LARD—Best 10.00 per 100 lbs. COMPOUND—14.00 per lb. NUT MARGARINE—19c per lb. FRESH PORK—Loins 17c per lb. Ham 18c per lb. Shoulders 15c per lb.

Dairy Products.

Selling prices in Dallas to retailers: BUTTER—Creamery 40c per lb. CREAM CHEESE—25c per lb. domestic Swiss 40c per lb. PAID 35c. POULTRY AND EGGS.

Prices paid by Dallas wholesalers to interior shippers: HENS—15c per lb. ROOSTERS—8c per lb. YOUNG CHICKENS—20c per lb. TURKEYS—10c per lb. DUCKS—10c per lb. GUINEAS—15c per lb. GESE—8c per lb. EGGS—Fresh current receipts 18c per doz. candied eggs 21c per doz. PACKING BUTTER—22c per lb.

Grain, Hay and Feed.

Selling prices in Dallas to retailers: HAY—No. 1 prairie $28.00 per ton, alfalfa $30.00 per ton. JOHNSON GRAIN $20.00 per 100 lbs. CORN—$1.10 per 100 lbs. OATS—45c per 100 lbs. COHN $1.00 per 100 lbs. BRAN—$1.75 per 100 lbs. KAHR CORN—$2.20 per 100 lbs. COTTONSEED MEAL—$5.00 per 100 lbs. WHITE SHORTS—$1.20 per 100 lbs. GRAY SHORTS—$1.50 per 100 lbs. HOMOINY FEED—$2.10 per 100 lbs. MILK MAIZE—$2.00 per 100 lbs. CHICKEN FEED—Best grade $3.00.

Fresh Fruits.

Selling prices in Dallas to retailers: BANANAS—9c per lb. LIMES—$1.10 per basket. LEMON—$1.00 per 100 lbs. ORANGES—California $2.00 per box. CHERRIES—15c per crate. CANTALOUPE—$1.50 per crate (45 to 50 lbs). PEACHES—$1.00 per crate. PLUMS—$2.00 per crate. APRICOTS—$2.50 per crate.

Flour and Meal.

Selling prices in Dallas to retailers: FLOUR—Extra high patent $7.00 per 48 lbs. 48 lb. sacks $6.15. 24-lb. sacks 46c. 6-lb. sacks 25c. CREAM MEAL—50-lb. sacks $1.40. 25-lb. sacks 70c. 10-lb. sacks 30c. 5-lb. sacks 15c.

RIVERS OF MOLTEN ROCK POUR FROM MT. ETNA

Volcano in Violent Eruption is Laying Waste to Countryside in Hissing Flood.

Catania, Sicily.—Thirty thousand persons are homeless and four villages wiped out following the eruption of Mount Etna, which hurled monster sheets of molten lava skyward.

SPEED AMAZED MRS. O'DONNELL

Rapidity of Improvement Following Use of Tanlac Was Astonishing, She States.

"It didn't seem like I could get any better until I began taking Tanlac, but this medicine has me improving so rapidly that I'm just carried away with it," declared Mrs. M. C. O'Donnell, 1012 S. Walker St., Oklahoma City, Okla.

"My stomach was giving me a world of trouble, and I was in a dreadfully nervous, run-down condition. I couldn't eat anything much but the lightest of food, and even then indigestion and gas caused me untold misery. Many nights I awakened with such smothering sensations I simply thought I would suffocate.

"I heard so much good about Tanlac I decided to try it, and while it has not yet had time to rid me completely of my troubles, it is making wonderful headway. I have a much better appetite, my sleep has become a great deal more restful, and I feel ever so much stronger in every way. I think Tanlac is just wonderful."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 87 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are nature's own remedy for constipation. Sold everywhere.—Advertisement.

Religious Organization.

The teacher of a class at an Indianapolis school had asked the pupils to give the names of five religious organizations.

A girl named the following three among her list: "The Ladies' Aids, the Brother's hood, and the Lamon's leg."

Investigation revealed that the organization last named was the Lamon's league.

Fresh, sweet, white, dairy clothes for baby, if you use Red Cross Ball Blue. Never streaks or injures them. All good grocers sell it.—Advertisement.

Both in the Swim.

"My daughter sprang from a line of peers," said the proud father. "Well," said the suitor, "I once jumped off a dock myself."—Everybody's Magazine.

The world is wide, with lots of narrow people in it.

Deeds last longer than words.

Shake into your Shoes ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE For Corns, Bunions, Itched and Aching Feet. AT ALL DRUGGISTS. Trial package and a Foot-Ease Walking Shoe Free. Address ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE, Le Roy, N. Y.

Better Than Pills For Liver Ills. You can't feel so good but what NR will make you feel better. Get a Trial Box.

Girls! Girls! Clear Your Skin With Cuticura. Soap 25c, Ointment 25c and 50c, Tablets 25c.

SHU-WITE CLEANER. CLEANS & WHITENS LIQUID OR CAKE. AT ALL DEALERS.

Rimrock Trail

By J. ALLAN DUNA

Author of "A Man to His Mate," "The Copyright," 1921, by J. Allan Duna

CHAPTER XV—Continued.

"My name's Keith, Wilson Keith," and the other. "I'm a mining promoter. Plimsoll had agreed to sell me his interest in certain claims which showed well in assay reports. They alone were sufficient to interest me. When he notified me of the news of development work, I came on. You seem to have closed the deal. However, I suppose Plimsoll can be located later, have you any idea where he might be found?"

"It wouldn't do you one mite of good," said Sandy. "Plimsoll didn't own those claims. Didn't have an interest in 'em, tried to jump 'em, and did the jumping himself. I heard some eastern folk had been sampling them some. Those claims Plimsoll tried to sell me, I reckon, for cash, figgerin' in the deal with Plimsoll, which was a dumb idea. Plimsoll got nothin' to show his end. From now on he won't try to. The claims belong to Molly Cassey, the same being 'my legal ward.'"

"Ah!" Wilson Keith's eyes grew wide and cold. "Have you any interest in them yourself, Mr. Bourke?"

"I'm not my two partners' partner," said Sandy. "I'm not interested in 'em, equal with Molly," said Sandy Cassey. His eyes matched those of the promoter and held them for a second or two.

"The thought passed through Keith's mind that Sandy's interest, and that of his partners, might have been obtained from the girl under false pretenses, but he was very far from a fool and among the things he saw in Sandy's eyes, it was clearly written that here was a man who was both absolutely fearless and absolutely honest. He had not seen many such 'you later'."

"I'll be glad to talk with you later," he said. "Just now I'm ravenous. Any place to eat? And does the camp get up early or just to bed later?"

"The remark raised a laugh in the crowd, now milling good-naturedly about the machine. Sandy recommended Simpson's and pointed it out. Keith, the man with him, his secretary, and the chauffeur, got out and walked stiff-legged to their coffee.

Sandy introduced Sam as his partner, Westlake as a mining engineer and assayer. Keith gave Westlake a shrewd appraising glance, and a nod. "I'm too sleepy myself to talk business," said Sandy. "My two partners are in the same boat. So, if you-all want to look over the camp again, Mr. Keith, an' talk business with any one you find awake an' willin', I'll probably see you befo' nightfall. You know where the claims are."

Keith stood for a moment in the door of Simpson's, looking after Sandy. "A fairly slick article, the man with the two guns, Blake," he said to his secretary. "But he's straight."

"And mighty hard to bend," added Blake with a yawn. "There were only a few old-timers in the crowd, Blake," said Keith. "A heap of people hear of a gold rush and think it's always a Tom Tiddler's ground, like washing out the rich sands of Nome. They'll be glad to sell and take shares for cash."

"Ought to change the name of the camp," suggested Blake. "Dynamite is known as an exploded prospect."

"Thought of that," said Keith. "How about Casey Town, after the original discoverer, who always believed in the place, but lacked the money for development and wouldn't take in a partner? Picturesque and good stuff for the prospecturers. You might send off some stuff about that, Blake, work in this Sandy Bourke and Plimsoll affair. Good, lively publicity stuff, we can use again later on. Romance of Casey's daughter. Wonder where she is!"

He lapsed into silence, swallowing his coffee in gulps. Sandy and his companions found Mormon asleep on the Bailey claims. Miranda brewed coffee, and they told her the news of Plimsoll and the arrival of Keith.

"It's too bad you didn't run Plimsoll out of the county, or the state," remarked the mining engineer. "If that man Keith wants to buy my claims I'm willin' to sell. Milk'n is more in my line than mind'n, I've decided."

"Let's hold a pow-wow before we turn in," said Sandy. "Westlake, what do you know about Keith? Anything?"

"I've heard of him. I imagine he started out as a promoter rather than a developer. He has made some lucky strikes. There is no doubt but that he can float this proposition on a large scale. Induce others to put money into it. He'll put the camp on a working basis. If the gold's here that will be a sound one. There is no doubt in my mind that Patrick Cassey picked the best side of the gulch. The indications are in sight there. I would say sell these for cash, holding out on price until Keith refuses to offer more. He'll come back for a final bid. But let him organize with your claims. Those claims are the big bet of this camp, and he knows it."

"Fifty-one per cent, and the name's Molly Cassey, then," said Sandy. "What's more, you're to be consulting engineer or whatever they call the fat job. Westlake, I'm davg tired. Sam, let's shack over to our claims."

Sandy, Sam and Mormon returned to the Three Star with the papers drawn and signed and the shares of stock issued that gave 20 per cent of the Molly property to her and 25 to the three partners. Keith returned to New York with his 49 per cent to weave his plans for the full development of the claims he had acquired.

He had the capital and was willing to put it into developing the Molly mine if necessary, but it was a business principle of his never to use his own money when he could get hold of someone else's. He had turned his eyes toward all of late, scenting quick turns, and this took money. His wife took more; his son, just out of college, took all he could get. Mrs. Keith, he decided, should look Molly up at her school, take her into the Keith home on vacations, introduce her into the social whirl. The right newspaper man would see her, meet her, get the story from Blake of her romantic childhood, with photographs of the Western Heiress in the Park on Horseback. Moreover, she could be introduced to the right people that was Mrs. Keith's end of it.

Then would come the best paragraphs, tied up with views of Casey Town, with engineers' reports, with semi-scientific stuff about sylvanite, a masterpiece of romance and fiction, peppered with fact. The whole to be titled White Gold.

Blake suggested his clever campaign, worthy of better things, and Keith approved of it. That the partners of the Three Star as fifty-one per cent owners, of Molly Cassey herself with them, should be consulted or informed, never entered his head.

She Wrote to the Three Star Ranch to Sandy Bourke, Guardian of Molly Cassey.

Items

ally will be held at 1 and 2.

filed by the state de- nances show there was 4,150 worth of life in- in Texas on the first force by the 16 Texas companies at the end December 31, 1922, 19,411,550, according to mplied by the Texas insurance and bank- ing, and the special Dallas county commissioners' re- an election to be held in the county and unites to determine bond- to the amount of be issued in each case ng purposes.

increased acreage in fig- for a bumper crop, ef- made to bring another nt to League City, Bea- and Galveston. Unless in operation is doubled will be unable to care rop, it is believed.

has been called for July a bond issue of $20,000 addition to the Silabee The attendance at the ir was in excess of 700, limited two additional required to take care of t year.

of the car department and Brazos Valley Rail- shops at Teague are be- more than 100 per cent. mated to be more than imed of repairs in the and the additional men ed will be used in this re being circulated ask- water board of engineers ection for the creation of Valley Irrigation District. 1 district includes the inger, Miles and Bronte, a territory of fine farm- ch can be irrigated by enacted by the recent ere signed by Governor y. They were: Changing the state insurance and tment to insurance de- ending agricultural cred- by second called ses Bonham bill amending ct act passed at the on.

of 45,000,000 gallons of old monthly in Texas, ac- cures compiled by A. W. al investigator in the at- rials department. This If collections by the state cent on the 1-cent a gal- re would be produced in 00,000 a year, three-fourths es to the state highway a remaining one-fourth to a school fund.

In Chamber of Commerce a determined fight on the interstate commerce com- of breating up the Texas mon point group which, it d, would give Dallas and advantage over South and as. South Texas comm- will be asked to join in test at the interstate com- mission hearing scheduled probably at Austin, it was

ATE HIGHWAY. ID IS DISTRIBUTED Tex.—As a result of the eting of the state highway 1, an allotment of $180,000 to Webb County for laying inous top on Highway No. called San Antonio-Laredo nding from Laredo north y line, a distance of 34 r completing the gap on No. 2, between the city of 1 Round Rock, an allotment was made to Travis County, mmission awarded Tarrant 24,500 on Highway No. 10 on Highway No. 40. Bexar as allotted $7609 on Highway al counties receiving al- 7, $75,000 on Highway 15; 179, on Highway 14; Navarro, 2, $10,500 on Highway 1; $25,000 on Highway 5; 22,000 on Highway 3, east of Uvalde, and $36,000 west of Milam, $20,000 on Highway 3, $15,000 on Highway 32; 0,000 on Highway 14.

Haymakers at Work. Tex.—Weather conditions in favorable the past week aking and the several outfits at Alvin are putting up a crop of South Texas hay.

cutters Got $1 Per Cord. is, Tex.—Farmers who own are having wood cut for sale. All wood left over from two seasons has been con- One dollar a cord is paid to ers.

SPEED AMAZED MRS. O'DONNELL

Rapidity of Improvement Following Use of Tanlac Was Astonishing, She States.

"It didn't seem like I could get any better until I began taking Tanlac, but this medicine has me improving so rapidly that I'm just carried away with it," declared Mrs. M. C. O'Donnell, 1012 S. Walker St., Oklahoma City, Okla. "My stomach was giving me a world of trouble, and I was in a dreadfully nervous, run-down condition. I couldn't eat anything much but the lightest of food, and even then indigestion and gas caused me untold misery. Many nights I awakened with such smothering sensations I simply thought I would suffocate. "I heard so much good about Tanlac I decided to try it, and while it has not yet had time to rid me completely of my troubles, it is making wonderful headway. I have a much better appetite, my sleep has become a great deal more restful, and I feel ever so much stronger in every way. I think Tanlac is just wonderful!"

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 87 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are nature's own remedy for constipation. Sold everywhere.—Advertisement.

Religious Organization. The teacher of a class at an Indianapolis school had asked the pupils to give the names of five religious organizations.

A girl named the following three among her list: "The Ladies' Aide, the Brother's hood, and the Lamson's leg."

Fresh, sweet, white, dainty clothes for baby, if you use Red Cross Ball Blue. Never streaks or injures them. All good grocers sell it.—Advertisement.

Both in the Swim. "My daughter sprang from a line of peers," said the proud father. "Well," said the suitor, "I once jumped off a dock myself."—Everybody's Magazine.

The world is wide, with lots of new people in it. Deeds last longer than words.

Shake into your Shoes ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE For Corns, Bunions, Tired and Aching Feet

Better Than Pills For Liver Ills. You can't feel so good but what MR will make you feel better.

Girls! Girls!! Clear Your Skin With Cuticura Soap 25c, Ointment 25 and 50c, Talcum 25c

SHU-WITE CLEANER CLEANS & WHITENS LIQUID OR CAKE (SOLD AT ALL DEALERS)

Rimrock Trail

By J. ALLAN DUNN Author of "A Man to His Mate," etc. Copyright, 1922, by J. Allan Dunn

CHAPTER XV—Continued.

"My name's Keith, Wilson Keith," said the other. "I'm a mining promoter. Pimliss had agreed to sell me his interest in certain claims which showed lots in assay reports. They alone were sufficient to interest me. When he spoke me the news of the general strike and the prospect of development dried and I came on. You seem to have blocked the deal. However, I suppose Pimliss can be located later. Have you any idea where he might be found?"

"I'll want to do you one mite of good," said Sam. "Pimliss didn't own those claims. Didn't have an interest in 'em. Tried to jump 'em, an' did the jumpin' game. I heard some eastern folk had been samplin' or an' I saw some news on the Casey claims. Those are the claims Pimliss tried to sell you. I reckon for cash, aggrer on the deal, equal with Casey, which was a good job. Pimliss got nothin' to show for his end. From now on he won't try to. The claims belong to Molly Casey, the same bel'n' my legal ward."

"Ah! Wilson Keith's eyes grew round and cold. "Have you any interest in them yourself, Mr. Bourke?"

"I'm an' my two partners of the Three Star ranch own one-half interest with Molly," said Sandy earnestly. His eyes meted those of the promoter and held them for a second or two.

"The thought passed through Keith's mind that Sandy's interest, and that of his partners, might have been obtained from the girl under false pretenses, but he was very far from a fool and, among the things he saw in Sandy's eyes, it was clearly written that there was a man who was both absolutely fearless and absolutely honest. He had not seen many such."

"I'll be glad to talk with you later," he said. "Just now I'm ravensome. Any place or just go to bed later?"

"The remark raised a laugh in the general, now milling good-naturedly about the machine. Sandy recommended Simpson's and pointed it out. Keith, the man with him, his secretary, and the chauffeur, got out and walked stiff-legged to their cot."

Sandy introduced Sam as his partner, Westlake as a mining engineer and assayer. Keith gave Westlake a sharp warning glance, and a nod. "I'm too sleepy myself to talk business," said Sandy. "My two partners are in the same boat. So, if you-all want to look over the camp ag'in, Mr. Keith, an' talk business with any one you find awake an' willin' I'll probably see you befo' nightfall. You know where the claims are."

Keith stood for a moment in the door of Simpson's, looking after Sandy. "A fairly slick article, the man, with the two guns, Blake," he said to his secretary. "But he's straight."

"And mighty hard to bend," added Blake with a yawn. "There were only a few old-timers in the crowd, Blake," said Keith. "A heap of people hear of a gold rush and think it's always a 'Tom Thumb' sort of thing, like walking out the rich sands of Nome. They'll be glad to sell and take shares for cash."

"Ought to change the name of the camp," suggested Blake. "Dynamite is known as an exploded prospect."

"Thought of that," said Keith. "How about Casey Town, after the original discoverer, who always believed in the place, but lacked the money for development and couldn't take in a partnership? Picturesque and good stuff for the prospectuses. You might send off some stuff about that, Blake, work in this Sandy Bourke and Pimliss affair. Good, lively publicity stuff, we can use ag'in later on. Romance of Casey's daughter. Wonder where she is?"

"He lapped into silence, swallowing his coffee in gulps. Sandy and his companions found Miriam asleep on the railway claims. Miriam brewed coffee, and they told her the news of Pimliss and the arrival of Keith."

"It's too bad you didn't run Pimliss out of the county, or the state," remarked the spinster. "If that man Keith wants to buy my claims I'm willin' to sell. Milk'n's more in my line than minin', I've decided."

"Let's hold a pow-wow before we turn in," said Sandy. "Westlake, what do you know about Keith? Anything?"

"I've heard of him. I imagine he started out as a promoter rather than a developer. He has made some lucky strikes. There is no doubt but that he can float this proposition on a large scale. Induce others to put money into it. He'll put the camp on a working basis. If the gold's there that will be a sound one. There is no doubt in my mind that Patrick Casey picked the best side of the gulch. The indications are in sight there. I would say sell these for cash, holding out on price until Keith refuses to offer more. He'll come back for a final bid. But let him negotiate with your claims. Those claims are the big bet of this camp, and he knows it."

"Fifty-one per cent, an' the name's Molly Casey, then," said Sandy. "What's more, you're to be consulting engineer or whatever they call the fat job, Westlake. I'm dave-draw-draw. Sam, let's shack over to our place."

Sandy, Sam and Mormon returned to the Three Star with the papers gotten, the need of companionship and advice from an older woman. All went home; though it was some time before the trio entirely absorbed the meaning of the flowy phrases and glib vocabulary. The letter passed about in silence after Sandy had read it, Sam and Mormon plowing through the maze of the fashionable script. "Reckon she's right," said Mormon. "Molly's different. She had a mighty hard time of it along with her old man, compared to what them soft-skinned snips must have had. How 'bout it, Sam?"

"Sounds good to me. What do you think, Sandy? It's up to you as her guardian."

"It sure sounds good," said Sandy. "Seems like this Mrs. Keith must be a pretty fine woman to think of takin' Molly into her own home. I'd be inclined to put it this way; if Molly cottons to the idea, let her hop to it."

"Mirandy ain't brought over the butter yet," put in Mormon, with a glance at his partners that was half smothered. "Why not get her opinion? Takes a woman to understand a woman. She'd snipe this letter a heap better'n we do."

"Sam winked covertly at Sandy and showed his tongue in his cheek. "That's a good idea, Mormon," said Sandy. "Never did that last odd just what happened. Didn't have wife of yours, did ye, Mormon?" asked Sam. "Never did."

"General principles," said "Speak'n' wide, the weddin' cake of matrimony has been mostly mildewed for me," said Mormon reflectively. "but I've allus had an affinity fo' the sex. I ain't like Sandy. Nature give him an instinct ag'in 'em, as pardners. He was bo'n lucky."

"But Sandy had gone out. Sam and Mormon trailed him and saw him walking toward the cottonwood grove with Grit at his heels. "He thinks a heap of Molly," opined Sam. "I reckon he sure hates to lose her, if he is woman-shy. 'Course Molly was just a kid. But I don't fancy she'll take the back-trail once she gits mixed up with the Keiths."

"I ain't no plumb sure of that," returned Mormon. "Molly's bo'n bred with the West in her blood. She'll allus hear the call of the range, like a colt that's stepped wild. He'll drink at the tank, but he ain't forgettin' the water-hole."

Sandy, under the cottonwoods where the spring bubbled, so near the old prospectors' grave that perhaps the old man lying there could, in his new affinities with Nature, hear his flow, was thinking much the same thing Mormon had expressed, hoping it might be true, hiding himself lest, the thought be selfish.

Memories of Molly flickered across the screen of his mind; Molly beside her father by the broken wagon, climbing to get the cactus blossom for his mother, Molly at the grave, Molly giving him the gold piece, the wild ride across the pass and the race for the train and a recollection that was freshest of all, one he had not mentioned to his partners; the touch of Molly's lips on his as he had bade her goodby. The kiss had not been that of a child, there had been a magic in it that had thrilled some chord in Sandy that still responded to that remembrance.

Miranda, alone in the driver, a new car of her own, bought with money paid by Keith for her claim, was at the ranch house when Sandy returned. Miranda and young Ed Bailey, accepting Westlake's advice, had sold for cash, getting fifteen thousand dollars to divide between them, refusing more glittering offers of stock. It was a windfall well worth their endeavor and they were amply satisfied. Young Ed had promptly gone to agricultural college. Miranda, Mormon and Sam were talking about this when Sandy came up.

"I sure made a man of young Ed overnight," said the spinster. "He thought it out all by himself 'n'igh surprised me off our feet. We're plumb proud of him."

"Mr. Westlake was over day before yesterday," she went on. "He says this is boom'n' up to Casey Town. There's been some good strikes, one in the claim nex' but one to ours. Keith's goin' to start things whirlin', I reckon."

"Mebbe he'll see Molly," suggested Sam. "Thought of course she ain't no Keith's house yet."

"How's that?" asked the spinster eagerly. "We are waitin' fo' Sandy to show you the letter," said Sam. Miranda read the letter through twice, folded it and held it in her lap for a few moments. Then, "It ain't right; it ain't the motive back of this writin'. It ain't been sent without one. Mebbe she's just taken a fancy to Molly, mebbe she's a woman that likes to do kind things and thinks Molly'll pay well for bein' taken up. I don't mean in money, but if Molly didn't have a show of bein' rich, an' wasn't pretty, which she is, I ain't certain Mr. Keith 'ud be her eager. I guess it's all right, but, somehow, it don't hit me as plumb sincere."

"You'd vote ag'in 'er?" asked Sandy. "No-o. I wouldn't."

"I digger on puttin' it up to Molly." "That's a good idea. An', as her guardian, I'd suggest that Mrs. Keith times up to that halfpromise or her own make it a condition she brings Molly out here inside of six months. That'll give time for a fair trial an' you can see right then fo' yourself how it's workin'."

"That's a plumb fine idee," said Mormon, looking triumphantly at his partners.

"It was with Sandy's own wishes and he subscribed to it. Sam indorsed it as well, and a letter was sent east that night, containing the proviso of Molly's return and another that Molly should bear all her own expenses of tuition and living. All this to hang upon Molly's own desire to make the change.

"When Molly's letter came there appeared no doubt as to her willingness. She admitted that she had been some- times "lonesome" at the school. After that Molly's letters were written every week telling of life at the Keiths. Miranda made up the quartet to read them. Molly wrote: "It is full of excitement, this life at the Keiths, and they are just lovely to me. There is a lot of game always at the house and ever- one seems to be enjoying himself, by some- how it strikes me as not quite real. I want to be back where we nobody pretends. "I'd give anything, sometimes, for a good gallop through the redtop and sage and rabbit-brush on my pony."

"There was more talk of dinners and dances of receptions and then- ters, with mention of Donald Keith here and there, chat of new clothes, kind words for the elder Keitha. "Don't think I've changed," she said. "I'm the same Molly underneath even if I have been revamped and decorated."

The famous White Gold prospect- izes and advertisements duly fol- lowed the news stories. Casey Town boomed with some bona-fide strikes that sent Keith's stocks soaring high. The porphyry dyke at the Molly mine began to yield rich results almost from the first, and dividends were paid in such quantities as to stagger the Three Star outfit, who saw them- selves in a fair way to become rich. All over the barren hills, where the old futile shafts had been driven and abandoned, buildings sprang up like mushrooms, housing machinery, send- ing up plumes of white smoke that tokened the underground energies.

The three partners held consulta- tion as to their disposal of the checks that were sent them. "Molly, she's gettin' the same amount we're splittin' both ways," said Sam. "If somehow it don't seem right to me the way it come in. It was her dad's mine. He found it. All we did was to find her—an' Grit done that."

"The gal 'udn't promise to go to school 'less we shared even- Steven," said Mormon.

necks and legs are thin and dainty looking and they enjoy warm weather. "There are the Griffon Vultures who were so cross last spring that they fought all the time—even with the mates in their cage—and behaved very badly. They do not receive much admiration. The Secretary Bird is always looked upon with interest because of his long legs and because of the way he can suddenly start to run and before it seems as though you had seen him start he is away off."

"For he can run very quickly with- out a moment's thought about it. A Turkey Vulture came the other day from afar to call upon the Turkey Vultures here in the park, which was very exciting for the keepers and the people. They thought it a most in- teresting fact."

"There is the King Vulture from South America who dances for the visitors. He does that beautifully, holding his wings somewhat spread out and looking very fine, indeed."

"Yes," said Sidney Sea-Lion, "all that you say is true. For we hear the keepers talking and we hear the people talking as they stand outside our cage."

"The South American Condor, a cousin of King Vulture, always looks to me as though he were dressed up as some one most important and that he was going into a parade like that."

"You know how we've seen people ready to go in parades pass by. They were supposed to look like some old gamou(person and they looked just as far from fame as possible except in their wonderful get-up of clothes and such grandeur. You know the kind?"

"I do," said Samuel. "I think the South American Con- dor is like that. But dear me, here comes the keeper. Now for luncheon."

"Now for luncheon," agreed Sidney. And all the other Sea Lions agreed, too! "Let's call it baseball," said Samuel. "Of course," said Sidney. "My chout! I've got it! I'll get this one," shouted Samuel as he caught the first piece of fish, the least or three, and all the Sea Lions proved that they could catch in any baseball game where fish and not balls were thrown! At least they liked to have fish thrown best!

"Cannibals and Other Folks. "Father, what is the difference be- tween cannibals and other folks?" questioned young Albert. "Well, my boy, cannibals eat their enemies; as a rule other people go no further than to live on their friends and relatives."

Thought for the Day. The fellow who never does any more than he is paid to do seldom had much to do.

High Civilization in Yucatan. The ruins in the Egypt of America. As early as the beginning of the Chris- tian era the people there built stone structures of excellent masonry, true angles and smooth, vertical faces. They had astronomical observatories, an accurate calendar and a better sys- tem of numerals than the Romans.

THE CROSS PLAINS REVIEW

THE CROSS PLAINS REVIEW

THE CROSS PLAINS REVIEW

THE CROSS PLAINS REVIEW

THE CROSS PLAINS REVIEW

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

SEA LIONS' CHATTER

"I hear those baby bears are so proud because they can box and play baseball," said Master Samuel Sea-Lion. "And I have also heard that boys were very fond of baseball and could play it very well. But we can do tricks and play games, too, and we can catch, which is a most important part of baseball. We don't waste our time, though, in catching a ball. We wait until it is meal time and then we catch fish."

"The keeper says that no matter how quickly he throws fish into our pool we don't let it reach the water. No, we have caught it first. So I think it is foolish to waste time catch- ing a ball when one can catch fish."

"Of course," said Sidney Sea-Lion. "Some creatures may not care to catch fish. "I cannot understand such crea- tures but I believe it is so. I've seen boys and girls here in the zoo and they sometimes have had sandwiches with them which they have eaten and bars of chocolate. But they don't use the same things here in the zoo and then jump for it and catch it. Strange it is that they shouldn't, but such is the case!"

"I hear," said Samuel Sea-Lion. "that the Nall-Tall Wallaby is at- tracting a great deal of attention of late in the zoo because of his tall which has a thorny end as though it were almost a nail-like tail. It is a protection for him. They are also interested in the snake-bird, I have heard. Well, he is a queer creature, for he can dive and swim and yet as he swims he holds his head and neck above all the water like a bird and he is quite fond of the big bird house of the zoo where he makes his home. He has a pool to dive down into, of course."

"Then the Flamingoes are much ad- mired, with their lovely pink bodies. They really are beautiful. And their necks and legs are thin and dainty looking and they enjoy warm weather. "There are the Griffon Vultures who were so cross last spring that they fought all the time—even with the mates in their cage—and behaved very badly. They do not receive much admiration. The Secretary Bird is always looked upon with interest because of his long legs and because of the way he can suddenly start to run and before it seems as though you had seen him start he is away off."

"For he can run very quickly with- out a moment's thought about it. A Turkey Vulture came the other day from afar to call upon the Turkey Vultures here in the park, which was very exciting for the keepers and the people. They thought it a most in- teresting fact."

"There is the King Vulture from South America who dances for the visitors. He does that beautifully, holding his wings somewhat spread out and looking very fine, indeed."

"Yes," said Sidney Sea-Lion, "all that you say is true. For we hear the keepers talking and we hear the people talking as they stand outside our cage."

"The South American Condor, a cousin of King Vulture, always looks to me as though he were dressed up as some one most important and that he was going into a parade like that."

"You know how we've seen people ready to go in parades pass by. They were supposed to look like some old gamou(person and they looked just as far from fame as possible except in their wonderful get-up of clothes and such grandeur. You know the kind?"

"I do," said Samuel. "I think the South American Con- dor is like that. But dear me, here comes the keeper. Now for luncheon."

"Now for luncheon," agreed Sidney. And all the other Sea Lions agreed, too! "Let's call it baseball," said Samuel. "Of course," said Sidney. "My chout! I've got it! I'll get this one," shouted Samuel as he caught the first piece of fish, the least or three, and all the Sea Lions proved that they could catch in any baseball game where fish and not balls were thrown! At least they liked to have fish thrown best!

"Cannibals and Other Folks. "Father, what is the difference be- tween cannibals and other folks?" questioned young Albert. "Well, my boy, cannibals eat their enemies; as a rule other people go no further than to live on their friends and relatives."

Thought for the Day. The fellow who never does any more than he is paid to do seldom had much to do.

Check that Cold and Get Rid of that Cough

It is dangerous to let them run. A tonic laxative of direct and positive action. It is safe for the most delicate and is the best for the young.

For Two Generations. Peruna has proved the reliable treatment for riding the system of all catarrhal poisons. Its side direction, stimulates the liver and bowel action, enriches the blood, tones up the nervous system and soothes the inflamed and congested mucous linings.

Honest and Dependable is the verdict of thousands. Sold Everywhere Tablets or Liquid quickly relieves the distress- ing paroxysms. Used for 50 years and has been the most successful treatment of throat and lung diseases by Dr. J. H. Guild. FREE TRIAL BOX. Treatise on Asthma, its causes, its treatment, sent upon request. Cost, $1.00 at druggists. J. H. GUILD CO., ROCHESTER, N.Y.

GREEN MOUNTAIN ASTHMA COMPOUND

INFLAMED EYES

Well Exposed, Perhaps. Think—Your daughter seems a well-developed girl. Jinks—Young Supleigh doesn't seem to think so. He makes my parlor a darkroom every time he calls.

CHILDREN CRY FOR "CASTORIA"

Especially Prepared for Infants and Children of All Ages. Mother! Fletcher's Castoria has been in use for over 30 years to relieve babies and children of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhea; allaying Feverishness arising there- from, and, by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving natural sleep without opiates.

The genuine bears signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher. "Slow but sure," is a good motto for the fellow who is satisfied with second prize.

Good to the last drop

The restaurateur, whose patronage is due largely to the uniform flavor of his coffee, is usually proud to identify it as Maxwell House.

MAXWELL HOUSE COFFEE

Keep Your Shoes Neat

2 IN 1 WHITE Shoe Dressing CAKE OR LIQUID

Metropolitan BUSINESS COLLEGE A. Harland, President, Dallas, Texas "The School With a Reputation."

The Metropolitan has made good for thirty-five years—it stands first in Texas as a thorough and reliable Commercial School. Write for full information.

W. N. U., DALLAS, NO. 26-1923.

THE JONES SALE

Goes into Full Motion
SATURDAY, JUNE 30TH.

For Twenty Days Merchandise Will Be Sold at Prices that Will Bring People From All Parts Of The County. A Supreme Selling Sacrifice that Means The Greatest Bargains and Grandest Money-Saving Opportunity You Have Seen since the day you were born.

Careful and special arrangements are being made to handle the crowds; extra sales people employed and everything arranged so you can see and buy with ease.

Be Here When The Doors Open
Everything Will Be Marked Down
For This Sale

Jones Dry Goods, Inc.
Baird "11 Stores in Texas" Texas

The Sea

The sea, the sea, the rolling sea!
High flung, wide swinging, so wild and free,

The leaping waves with their white-capped crest
That plunge and lunge on the Ocean's breast

Like wild, white horses racing free,
With the swing of the rolling, surging sea!

The white sea-cloud that drifts like a dream;

The sea-gulls that skim o'er the waves, and scream;

The dolphin's pludge and the petrel's nest,

That is borne to land on the tide-race crest:

And all that goes, from mid-ocean
to lea,

To make up the rolling, the surging
sea!

Can ye stand on the peaceful, quiet
lea,

And gaze on the tumbling, tossing
sea,

Out o'er the surge and the white waves crest,

Nor feel a longing within your breast?
A drawing, a pull, be it day or night,
That tempts ye to dare the ocean's might.

I stood on the deck of a ship offshore

And barked to the awesome and deafening roar

Of the ocean waves when they struck the reefs,

High tossed on the tide like crested chiefs

Whose plumes toss high 'bove the battling hordes.

Where leap the lances and flash the swords.

And the mighty waves rose high and steep

To the hand of the winds that smote
the deep.

And my soul leaped wild, and my soul leaped free,

To the leap and the swing of the rolling sea!

And my soul was freed with that ocean leap,

And it plumed the depths of the mighty deep!

Down, down, down where the mermaids ride,

Down where the things of the deep sea glide.

Down where the ships, long sunken,
float,

War-ship and galley and coracle boat;

Down beyond reach of the storms
or the tides,

To the coral halls where old Triton hides!

And I saw the mermaids and mermen play,

And the kraken and sea-serpent locked in tray.

And all the ocean-marvels that be,
And the wonderful monsters of the sea.

I wandered 'mongst beautiful,
sea flowers,

Where the castle built by the polyp,
towers,

Where the waters glitter with strange sea-jad,

And the sea-thing swim through the deep-sea glade.

And then my soul came back to me,
Back through the surge of swinging
Sea.

But still I gaze from the quiet lea,
And long for the swing of the plunging sea.

—Robert Howard.

P. Smith, and son, Charlie, with
W. T. Austin, went to Merkel
Monday to visit family connection.

Dr. Lindley has painted his residence on north Main Street.

Geo. Baum and family of Burnt Branch were in town Monday, trading. Mr. Baum states that they are getting ready for a big threshing season, which will start this week.

Grain is good, and he states that his corn prospect is the best he has ever had.

S. L. Teague and wife motored to Brownwood Sunday. Mr. Teague also went to Santa Anna before returning.

Jim Stone, who lives on the Bayou was marketing his grain here this week.

You Are Invited

To visit the big newly arranged Racket Store. Everything attractively displayed on counters.

Our sales are increasing daily. The Reason—We carry everything that the people need, and a purchase here means money saved.

You can save from $1.00 to $2.00 on every pair of shoes you purchase at the big Racket Store—and they are the well known and guaranteed Roberts, Johnson & Rand Star Brand Shoes.

Headquarters for Fruit Jars—wide mouth, self-sealing and Mason medium mouth. Extra caps and rubbers.

THE RACKET STORE

An article most needed at this season—a Fan with beautiful lithograph picture, given free to each visitor.

By Request

As many have requested us to again stage

"An Old Fashion Mother"

We have decided to do so. As many were unable to attend this play when given just recently. It will be given at

High School Auditorium

Friday Night June 29

Given By

Joe Fielder Sunday School Class of Baptist Church

The Cr

VOL. XIV

You Must

Provide For the Future while you have time and opportunity

Put away a part of each pay-check. Let your expenditures be LESS than your income. Don't spend it all. Establish and maintain a bank account—and MAKE it grow with each month. If you haven't started a bank account with us, do so now.
When reverses come, it's good to KNOW that you acted wisely, Saving your money and Banking it while you could.

Farmers National Bank

OF CROSS PLAINS, TEXAS

"A Bank of Personal Service"

SPLENDID RAIN FELL OVER SECTION LAST SATURDAY

Last Saturday this section of the country was visited by a fine rain which fell at an opportune time, as the crops were beginning to suffer, especially the corn, most of which was in the roasting ear stage. This season will mature the corn and other grain crops, and the yield promises to be heavy. Garden and truck growers are smiling since the rain, and they have reason to rejoice. Had the rain come a little later, most gardens would have been too far gone to have been benefited by it, as they were drying up rapidly, but they are now taking on new life and will be of much value to the country in general. We all like fresh vegetables and most folks have gardens. The pastures were greatly stimulated by the rain fall.

The Cross Plains Hardware Co. informed the Review reporter this week that their business had been much better for the last few weeks, and is still improving. That sounds good, as this is supposed to be the quietest season of the year.

Sabanno News

Mr. Guy Westerman of Weatford is visiting Mr. Fins Marsh
Truman McKay of Parks Car is visiting his grandparents Mr. &
Mrs. Sam Ervin.

Mr. Luther Forbes will teaching school at Sabanno, begin on or about the 9th of July.
Mrs. W. E. Lusk went to Da-lar to be with her father who is ill.
S. W. Lilley of Pioneer, sp
Sunday with R. L. Holder.

There was family reunion at S
Ervin Sunday, Children of different places were there.

Mrs. L. A. Jarvis and children have been visiting at Fort Worth and Terrel have returned.

S. C. Barr and family and Ch-E. Hemphill and family, left Tu-day afternoon for Abilene, wh-they will attend the Presbyterian encampment.

Mrs. P. M. Kykemball and li-daughter, Alla Ray, of Desdemo-are visiting with Tom Bryant & family. Mrs. Kykemball is M-
B. yants sister.

Seasonable Items

ARSENIC for your grasshoppers
COWEASE to keep flies off your cows BLUE BUG REMEDY guarantee to rid your chickens of blue bugs.
RAT-NIP to kill your rats and mice.

We Are in Business to Serve You.

Cross Plains Drug Store

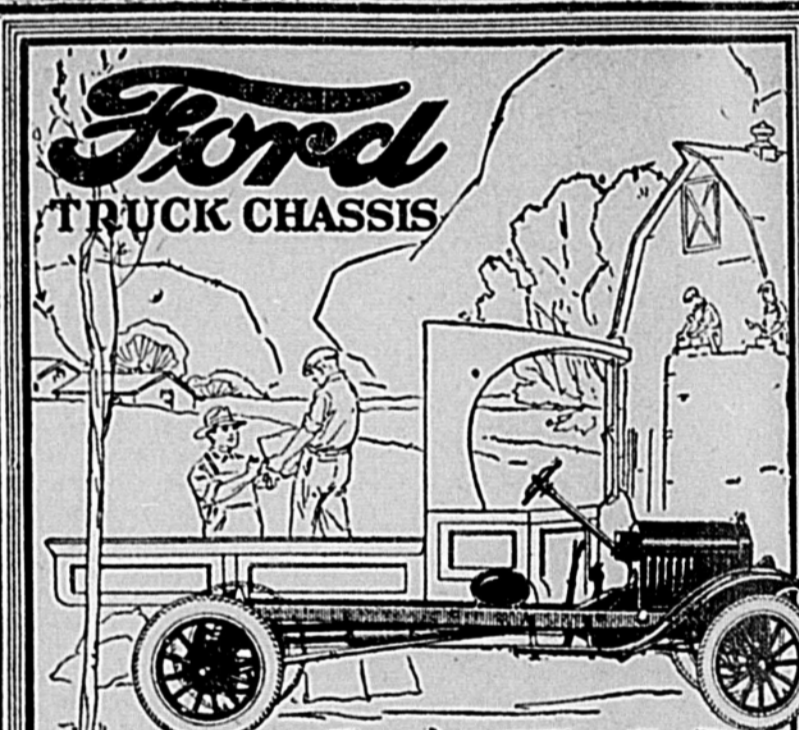

"Neighborly Service"
Dr. R. Robertson, Prop.

JOB PRINTING

WE are prepared to do printing of all kinds and can do the work just as good and as cheap—quantity and quality considered—as any other printers. We appreciate the patronage given given us in the past and solicit your orders for High-Class Printing.

Review Pub. Co.

R. A. AUTRY, Manager

$380
F. O. B. DETROIT

Still Lower Hauling Costs

are open to every line of business because of the present price on the Ford One-ton Truck. This dependable form of motor delivery is in general use where-ever hauling at low cost and good speed is essential.

Original installation in your service costs so little and the subsequent saving in delivery cost is so great that further delay in putting a Ford One-ton Truck to work is needless extravagance.

List your order at once—a small down payment—convenient, easy terms.

Ford prices have never been so low
Ford quality has never been so high

Cross Plains Motor Co.

Authorized Ford Dealers

Hot Weather loses half its discomfort when you enjoy cooling drinks at our fountain.

You are sure of getting the best drink obtainable here as we use only the purest ingredients.

Pure Drugs

The City Drug Store

A large number of Cross Plains people motored over to the Bayou
Sunday afternoon and took a plunge.

C. M. Slate, W. F. Gaines, Geo.
Gaines and John Conrally, of Cross
Cut were here a few days back looking after business matters.

J. D. Love of Cottonwood, renewed his subscription this week.

Virgil Hart

ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office Over Farmers Nat. Bank
Cross Plains, Texas

Doctor Howard

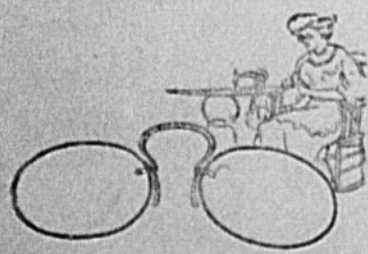

Office at City Drug Store
Special Attention Given to Chronic Diseases

LOTHER THOMASON

DENTIST
Office Over Guaranty State Bank
Cross Plains
Operations done under nerve blockin-

DENTISTRY

Mondays—Edentulous Patients.
Wednesdays—Pyorrhea.
Four days general practice.
Prompt Service.
Office near water Tower, Main St.
MARY L. SHELLMAN GRAVES

DR. HENDERSON

Manager Coleman Optical Co.
Will be at Dr. Robertson's
Drug Store on his regular date
July 9th