POST-WAR FLYING IN YOUR HOME TOWN

By C. C. CAMPBELL, Member, Aviation Writers Association, Washington, D. C.

Post-war flying will depend directly upon each of our 16,752 communities, aviation authorities point out.

Just as the automobile could not become generally useful to every American who wanted to own or drive one until good roads were built, so personal flying will be grounded until suitable landing facilities are available everywhere.

Planes in the air can land in safety only on level, prepared surfaces. Planes on the ground need smooth runways and space to "take-off."

However, these facilities need not be expensive or costly, many communities are now finding out. With the advice of both Federal and State aviation groups, as well as non-government aviation organizations such as the Personal Aircraft Council of America, Inc., Washington, D. C., plans are under way in many sections of the country for the construction of inexpensive airports, flight-stops and air harbors. These are fitted to the size and needs of the individual community and usually can be expanded later if conditions warrant.

What seems to be more to the point, many town officials expect that their proposed landing facilities will become income producers and perhaps pay off the costs of construction and operation in time. They feel that the development of community personal flying may prove to be good business in more ways than one.

This is the first of a series of articles on post-war flying and its effect on community life. The next article, "Freedom of Personal Flight," will appear in an early issue.

These in turn will probably influence thousands of others within a few years. "There is little time to lose. American communities must get ready and plan now for this coming nation-wide interest in personal flying."

That warns William A. Burden, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Air. To insure that the five million estimate of flying enthusiasts may be conservative, Mr. Burden offers the following figures:

More than 300,000 pilots in uniform. About 150,000 others in civilian life are expected to continue to fly. Then there are two and a half million men and women who are working in the aviation industry; 250,000 of whom are taking aerial courses in high schools each year. While there are only approximately 25,000 civilian aircraft in the United States today, he predicts that there will be 400,000 civil airplanes in this country within ten years after the end of the war.

The national significance of this must be overlooked, but the real peace-time world of tomorrow will be a world in which the airplane is a part of the life of every citizen.

It is the hope of the aviation writers that their proposed landing facilities will become income producers and perhaps pay off the costs of construction and operation in time.

They feel that the development of community personal flying may prove to be good business in more ways than one.

AT BROTHER'S GRAVESIDE

Pvt. Lewis M. Slate, awarded combat infantryman badge, is shown at the graveside of his brother, Woodrow (Mutt) Slaughter, who was killed in action December 6, 1943, somewhere in Italy while serving with the 36th Division.

Private Slaughter wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Slaughter of this city, that he is now stationed 35 miles from the cemetery in which Mutt is buried. The name of the cemetery is Marzanello Nuova Cemetery, plot Q, row 5, grave 49, located in southern Italy.

Mutt was one of the first Cross Plains boys to enter the service, and had been in 3 1/2 years when he was killed.

Word was received last week by Mr. and Mrs. Conner Elliott of Brownwood, formerly of this city, that their son, Cornelius, had landed on the New Caledonia Islands north of Australia and is stationed in the Base Hospital No. 2, doing repair work.

Cornelius writes that he had a very pleasant voyage going overseas as he met up with his old friend Randal Aiken, who was stationed on the ship as a censor.

He is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott and is a graduate of Cross Plains high school, having finished with the class of '38. Later he attended Abilene Christian College two years where he was an outstanding basketball player.

His address now is U. S. Navy Base Hospital No. 2, P.O., San Francisco, Calif.

Mr. Edmondson says that the program is still in progress and will continue as long as there is need for it.

It is being conducted solely for those who do not have adequate training equipment at home. Everything is free of cost, including such pressure cookers, stoves, tubs, etc. Mrs. Jim Barr is assisting with the work.

Soldier Vote Is Assured In Proposed Amendment

A condition for exercising the right of suffrage is a decree of the Constitution itself. It was seen that no remedy at that time was possible, for Legislatures cannot submit constitutional amendments during special sessions.

The Twenty-Ninth Legislature, last little time after it assembled in January in making sure that no such injustice would be done the voters, it resolved to submit to the voters, what would be Section 2a of Article 6 of the Constitution, the new section to be inserted between the existing Sections 2 and 3.

How It Reads.

The first paragraph of the proposed Section 2a reads as follows: "Nothing in this Constitution shall be construed to require any person who at the time of the holding of an election hereinafter referred to, is, or, within eighteen months immediately prior to the time of holding of any such election, was a member of the Armed Forces of the United States or of the armed force reserve of the United States, or of the United States Maritime Service or of the United States Merchant Marine, and who is otherwise a qualified voter under the laws and Constitution of this state, to pay a poll tax or to hold a receipt for any poll tax assessed against him, as a condition precedent to his right to vote in any election held under the authority of the laws of this state, during the time the United States is engaged in fighting a war, or within one year after the close of the calendar year in which said war is terminated."

It will be noted that the term of the exemption is a year and a half before an election and continues for a year thereafter.

Among those who are denied the right to vote by the terms of Section 1 of Article 6 are "all soldiers, Marines, and seamen of the Army, or Navy of the United States," and that exclusion is in effect reaffirmed in the second paragraph of the proposed amendment by the proviso that nothing in the first paragraph just quoted shall be construed to confer the right to vote upon any person who is a member of the regular establishment of the United States Army, Navy or Marine Corps.

It is a further specific and complementary provision of the second paragraph of the proposed amendment that "all persons in the armed forces of the United States, or members of the regular establishment of the United States Army, Navy or Marine Corps, are hereby declared not to be disqualified from voting by reason of any provision of sub-section fifth of Section 1 of this article"—Article 6.

Both provisions of the second paragraph are regarded by some as being probably superfluous, but harmless, at all events.

Given Vote Right.

It was not until 1932 that officers and enlisted men of the National Guard, the National Guard Reserve, Officers Reserve Corps, Organized Reserves and retired officers and enlisted men of Army, Navy and Marine Corps were allowed to vote in Texas. That suffrage privilege also was conferred by means of an amendment to the Constitution.

This proposed amendment would not take away the right to vote from anyone who has it, nor would it bestow the right on anyone who doesn't have it. It only relieves members of the armed services named in the first paragraph of the need of paying the poll tax for the period named as a condition of exercising that right.

Other members of the wedding party included Lt. and Mrs. K. W. Stewart, Miss Lynn Oiler, Sgt. Lynn, Sgt. and Mrs. Carl Ringholz, and Sgt. and Mrs. Bill Parvin.

The couple are making their home at 2287 Peppercorn, Long Beach, 4, Calif.

Every farmer in this section is urged to be present at this meeting and hear discussions on how to improve the soil and the advantages these crops have over others, from those who have been successful in growing them.

News From COUNTY AGENT ROBERT L. SHULTS

Four Collin County boys attended the District 4-H encampment held at Lake Brownwood State Park, July 19, 20, 21. The boys were R. G. Farmer and Johnny McKee of Enla, Carroll Lee McClain, Rowden, and Howard Johnson of Denton.

The testing of Collin County dairy cows for Bang's disease, was completed Wednesday, July 19th. There were 175 cows on the county agent's list tested in this program.

Approximately five out of every 100 cows tested, had Bang's disease in this test, but as these included some of the best dairy herds in the county, this may not be a high enough average.

Fundamental courses in public speaking will stress the importance of clear, distinct speech. The college has a man or woman needing training of this kind, for he or she will be able to speak effectively in all business life, in church, and in civic organizations.

Another feature of the Daniel Baker program is the speech clinic, where students with disorders and defects such as stammering, stuttering, and lisping will be given special training and help. Speech and reading will be taught to the deaf and hard of hearing.

A verse choir will be organized, which will be heard regularly over radio station KBWD. In addition, this group of students will make a touring program in various Texas high schools and in army camps and hospitals near Brownwood.

The aim of the Daniel Baker speech Department is to train students in their every day speech habits and to prepare them for their chosen profession. Speech scholarships are being offered to deserving students. Anyone interested should write to Mrs. Novalyne Price Roberts, Daniel Baker College, Brownwood.

MARY BETH SANDERS NAMED ON DEAN'S HONOR LIST AT NTSTC

DENTON—Among the 64 North Texas State College upperclassmen to be named to the dean's honor list for the second semester of the 1945 summer session is Mrs. Mary Beth Sanders, post graduate, wife of Lt. Aaron R. Sanders of May, and a teacher in the Cross Plains schools.

The 1945 summer dean's list of 593 shows an increase of 141 students over that of last summer, when a total of 392 upperclassmen were included on the honor roster for the two semesters.

In accordance with regulations set forth in the college catalog, a student whose name appears on the dean's list is exempt from the usual penalties from class absences. Membership is restricted to junior, senior, and graduate students having at least a B average with no grades below C.

Any student may be dropped from the list at any time, if in the opinion of the dean of the college, in consultation with the dean of women or the dean of men and the student's instructors, he is abusing the privilege.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Huntington and Pattie Sue visited Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ellis and son, Lt. Ellis, in Cisco Tuesday night.

Cross Plains Review CLAUDE BUNNELL - Publisher

The Review is an independent Democratic newspaper, supporting what it believes to be right and opposing what it believes to be wrong regardless of party politics, publishing the news fairly and impartially at all times. Any erroneous reflection on the character, standing or reputation of any person, will gladly be corrected if brought to the attention of the editor personally at his office, Eighth Street, Cross Plains, Texas.

Entered as second class matter at the Postoffice at Cross Plains, Texas, April 2, 1909, under act of March 3, 1879.

Editor's Note—The article appearing below is an editorial by Douglas L. Main, publisher of The Review (Texas) Cherokeean, protesting actions of the War Production Board in stopping work on a blast furnace and chemical plant to be used for developing deposits of high grade iron ore in that section. Publisher Main is urging every Texan to appeal to his Congressman to give his support to this matter.

This is an undigested appeal for help from the people of one of the Texas towns and surrounding territory to the people of all other Texas towns and communities. And to make it as short as possible here is the story:

For over seventy-five years of people of Cherokee county have tried to develop their deposits of high-grade iron ore. Shortly before Pearl Harbor, in spite of opposition of the big steel interests, an attempt was launched which has resulted in the approval of the construction of a blast furnace and chemical plant at Rusk county, Cherokee county. In approval of the project as war industry, Daniel Nelson said he was doing so because of its great possibilities in the war period. The plant was the fourth-fifth completed when war was halted Friday, July 13, 1945. Investigation of the post-war market.

There is no space to go into details except to say that this need was already established and to add that Governor Coke Stevenson immediately came to Rusk to check into the matter and wired his protest to the War Production Board and the Defense Plant Corporation in Washington. Henry Love, state legislator of the American Legion, at the same time, Every Texas Representative in congress has pledged support as have both Texas Senators. There are all interested in the development of the natural resources of Texas is not a local matter.

The plant will use vast amounts of scrub oak and gum which is crowding out the great pine forest of East Texas. The Texas Forestry Service and the U. S. Forest Service have both brought this matter before the Washington authorities. The preservation of the natural resources of Texas is also a local matter.

The plant will benefit every community in Texas because it will produce Texas pine forests and timber. It will offer local competition to the big steel interests of the North and East. It will provide labor for many war veterans who are doing their part in assuring the food supply.

Take a non-nursing auxiliary job. Hospitals are overworked and badly in need of personnel. Apply at your local hospital.

The editor of the Rusk Cherokeean, Cherokee county seat weekly newspaper, is asking your editor to publish this appeal with the promise that he will send him another copy later telling how Rusk won or lost its fight.

Jackie Dunn returned to her home in Abilene Wednesday afternoon after visiting the past week here with his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Smith.

PRETTY PAULA BANE, USO-Camp Shows Singer (left), and CAPT. R. G. MOREHEAD, holder of the nation's second highest award for bravery, will be principal speakers at regional conference of war chest leaders. At the conference, plans will be laid for the October Campaign on behalf of the National War Fund.

War Chest leaders from this area who attend the United War Chest of Texas regional conference at Second Street USO Center, Abilene, August 7, 1945 will hear from one of America's preniest and most talented USO-Camp Shows entertainers, a report on services being provided for our fighting men through agencies of the National War Fund.

At the same time, while laying the groundwork for the October war chest campaign in Texas, they will hear from one of the nation's most outstanding battle heroes a personal account of the fighting abroad.

The USO entertainer, Miss Paula Bane, has just returned from a tour of both the Atlantic and Pacific fronts, during which she sang for thousands of American troops. She will appear at the war chest conference in uniform, to tell of USO work abroad in an informal talk entitled "This is the Foxhole Circuit."

Capt. R. G. Monere, twice-wounded battle veteran and holder of the nation's second highest award for bravery, will give a first-hand account of modern warfare. A grim warning that the war is still far from ended is given in the title of his frank talk, "Many More Will Die."

Captain Monere is now a patient at McCloskey General Hospital, where he is recuperating from serious wounds, but volunteered to make a tour of Texas because of his intense interest in the success of the National War Fund drive in Texas.

Charles E. Payton, chairman of war chest region 14, will preside at the conference, at which Wayland D. Towner, general manager of the United War Chest of Texas, will discuss plans for another year of the top campaign in Texas. The meeting will be attended by war chest leaders and workers from every county and community in the region. All local persons interested in the October campaign have been invited to attend.

The conference will open at 10 a. m. Following the business discussion, all delegates will be guests at a luncheon.

STOMACH WORMS CAUSE BIG LOSSES OF CATTLE

College Station—In view of the losses from common stomach worms in cattle which are being reported over many parts of Texas, A.A.M. College Extension Service has published a new circular, "Control of Stomach Worm in Cattle," by Geo. W. Barnes and A. L. Smith, Extension Animal Husbandmen, and R. D. Turk, head of the Department of Veterinary Parasitology.

"An understanding of the life cycle and treatment of stomach worms is of dollars and cents value to cattle producers," A. L. Smith, co-author of the circular, remarked, "and since the trouble is widespread at this time, a few pointers on symptoms and treatment of the trouble might now be of interest."

The common stomach worm lays an enormous number of eggs, microscopic in size, which hatch and develop into infective larvae within a few days. These are picked up by grazing cattle and develop to maturity within 15 to 21 days. Animals most seriously affected are calves and yearlings and symptoms include loss of weight, general weakness and anemia. The skin and mucous membranes are pale and the hair coat often becomes rough. In later stages swelling often may appear under the jaw.

While it is reasonable to suspect poor, unthrifty calves and yearlings of parasitism, poor feed or other conditions may also be responsible, for that reason, it is advisable to obtain veterinary diagnosis before resorting to treatment. Caution should be used in the various treatments, as all drugs which will kill internal parasites are dangerous and should be given in doses based on the age and condition of the animal. Directions are included in the circular for administering the three treatments commonly used in the control of parasites, phenothiazine, copper sulphate and tetrachlorethylene.

Mr. and Mrs. Olden Ferrell and son of Sidney spent last Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cox.

FARM AND RANCH CHATTER

With reduced army and navy requirements of some foods, supplies for civilians should be improved soon—particularly sugar and some cuts of meat, lard, and clothing materials.

Efforts already are being made to get northern soybeans shipped into this area for crushing before our own cottonseed oil mills get busy with the cotton crop. Stockmen were due to present the problems to Secretary of Agriculture Anderson in Oklahoma City on Thursday August 2. Commodity Credit Corporation representatives, however, have said there are no soybeans now available for shipment to this area.

A friendly controversy between ranchmen and state experiment station men developed at the feeders' short course at Texas Tech last week. The "feeding experts" say livestock are getting more cottonseed meal than they need now because of its low price in relation to other feeds. This situation contributes to the impending protein shortage, it was pointed out. Ranchers, however, rejoice that this good feeding ingredient is priced reasonably low.

Phillip Robbins of Pecos county is another who has let his sheep do the whole harvesting and grinding job of milk at a good profit. This plan was hit upon last year when harvest labor was scarce. He reports good gains and practically no death loss. F. G. Parry of Taboka tells of similar experiences.

Wallace Dameron, superintendent of the state experiment station at Sonora, says the effects of poison-attenuated pasture can be offset in sheep by feeding three pounds of sorghum silage each day with a quarter to a third of a pound of cottonseed meal. Alfalfa will do it too, if enough is fed. West Texas bitternut is different from that in east Texas, where the most harmful effects seem to be bitter flavor milk. Cattle as a rule won't eat the west Texas variety.

Set. Nolan Bryan spent the first of this week in Fort Worth, and his brother, Pfc. Roland Bryan, returned home with him to spend a 15-day furlough here with their mother, Mrs. W. L. Bryan.

Private Oliver entered the service in January, 1943, and received his basic training at Riverside, Calif., and Oregon before leaving for overseas in April, 1944. He landed in New Guinea, staying there only three months and was then sent to the East Indies.

He has been awarded the Good Conduct Medal and three Bronze Stars.

Sgt. D. C. Hargrove, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hargrove of Cottonwood, has been awarded the Oak Leaf Cluster for heroic service while serving with the 359th Infantry Regiment of the 90th Division, which is a part of the 3rd Army.

The citation accompanying the award reads as follows: "D. C. Hargrove, 38125504, S-Sgt., Infantry, 359th Infantry, United States Army, for heroic achievement on 14 of March 1945 in the vicinity of Neershausen, Germany.

"During an engagement with the enemy, Staff Sergeant Hargrove voluntarily led a group of old men over a fire swept area to the position of several casualties who were in a critical need of medical treatment and evacuation. Upon returning to his squad alone, he encountered an enemy patrol of seven troops. Though greatly outnumbered he opened fire upon the hostile soldiers, killing two and forcing the remaining five to surrender. His heroic achievement was in accordance with military tradition. Entered military service from Texas."

Sergeant Hargrove is now stationed in Amber, Germany, and has 87 points toward a discharge.

Cross Plains Schools To Open Monday, September 3rd

Cross Plains school luncheon is in operation for the opening of the ensuing term, according to announcement this week by A. J. McCuin.

Plans were received last week stating that the federal government desired the project to be operated on about the same time last year.

Two vacancies remain in the faculty at this time. They are high school principal and one grade teacher. Members of the board of trustees expect, however, to have those filled before the term opens.

Indications are that the enrollment for the approaching term will be approximately the same as last year, with possibly a slight increase.

Grounds and buildings are being placed in readiness for the opening date, and Supp. McCuin states that the entire campus will be a beautiful appearance, despite the fact that the lawn has not been watered during the summer.
