ANOTHER BIG RAIN

2 3-4 inches of rain fell in Cross Plains from Tuesday at noon to Wednesday morning. The rain is certainly plentiful, and no doubt did some damage to cotton that is open, according to report. Peanuts were not damaged by the rain, but likely will be better matured.

We make a specialty of children's headwear. Pretty Tams for 60c. Hand-made hats at reasonable prices.

BAGWELL--PATTERSON

W. C. Bagwell of this place and Miss Bettie Mae Patterson of De Leon were united in marriage at the home of the bride on Tuesday, 9 a. m., in the presence of a few friends and relatives, Rev. W. C. Hilburn of the M. E. church of that place officiating. Mr. Bagwell accompanied by J. J. Horn went on Monday to DeLeon in the Higginbotham-Saxon car, Mr. Horn returning Tuesday by rail and the bride and groom in the auto. They are keeping house in the Norrell house on Ninth street, which house had already been partially furnished for their reception. Mr. Bagwell is bookkeeper for Higginbotham Trading Co. and, tho he has not been here long, has proved himself a young man of ability and integrity and commands the respect of all who know him. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. C. W. Patterson of De Leon and bears the name of of being a most estimable young lady. The Review joins the many friends of the young couple both at DeLeon and Cross Plains in wishing them life's best blessings.

CROSS PLAINS, TEXAS.

Cotton is bringing ten cents per pound. That is a good price. Our advice is to hold for higher prices. We have a great deal of confidence in cotton's going up in price. It is evidently worth more money that we are getting.

The peanut crop is good. If the worst come to the worst, a fellow can exist on this nut alone. It contains protein in a large proportion, being more efficacious as a muscle builder than the best of meat. With a little corn bread made from our good crop of corn, which furnishes the starchy element of our diet, sugar in the form of good old country sorghum, of which we have a great deal this year, with a little salt imported from Mitchell county, we can have the basic parts of food. Who says we are not self-supporting?

County fairs are to be held almost universally throughout west Texas this fall, it would appear from announcements of the same reaching this office. The Brownwood Free Fall Fair, the Coleman County Fair, the Central West Texas Fair, at Abilene, the Eastland County Fair at Cisco, etc., are among those we recall. County fairs are mirrors which reflect the enterprise and progress of communities as probably no other events do. Our many fairs this fall are evidence of the prosperity of the west and its progress.

F. J. Walderson, proprietor of the picture show, has quit the air-dome, this week moving his show into the house which he has been improving. He has built a fire-proof structure on the outside of the house, just at the door, for holding his picture machine and for a ticket office. Also he has raised the floor in the rear of the building so that everybody may have a chance to see. The curtain has been fringed with a black border, which has a softening effect on the light.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

THE EXPLIOTS OF ELAINE

vented pair of handcuffs which snapped automatically over first one and then the other of Long Sin's bony wrists. Then he pressed the bracelets tighter until even Long Sin winced.

As Craig stood panting over his prisoner, the wounded Chinaman staggered downstairs until he almost fell into the cellar.

"Master," he gasped. "He is—alive!" The mere hint of Kennedy's name was as though some word of black magic had been spoken to them. The three other Chinamen fell back as if in fear of an uncanny power.

"What Shall I Do?" Elaine Appeals.

Wu, white with anger, raised his hand, and they cowered still.

"Is anyone else there with him?" demanded Wu.

The wounded Chinaman had only strength to shake his head in the negative.

"Then there is time yet," ground out Wu furiously. "Follow me."

Craig was still bending over Long Sin making sure of his capture when he heard the scurry of footsteps outside. It was Wu and his servants. Craig rushed to the door, but not in time to close it.

Instantly his gun spat a fatal dab of smoke and fire at the foremost Chinaman, who dropped. Craig seized the next onrushing Oriental and flung him over his head, butting him like a human battering ram directly into Wu. Craig's onslaught had been fiercer and more unexpected than the Chinamen had bargained for. They recoiled. Kennedy instantly slammed the door on Wu and the rest.

They recovered in a few seconds and returned to the attack, battering against the door. It swayed and creaked with the weight of the Chinamen pushing against it, while Kennedy plugged away blindly with his gun through the panels.

Down the street I wondered, as the minutes passed, what was happening behind the calm exterior of our apartment. Elaine was anxious; Chase was impatient. But I wished to be exact. As the ten minutes ended I gave the signal to the driver. The police crowded in with us and we shot around the corner and up the street. In front of the apartment we could see and hear now that shots were being fired off. Were we in time?

We dashed upstairs. As we came down the hall we caught a glimpse of Wu Fang and his underlings at our door. They had almost broken through.

They were too late to get Kennedy, but we were too late to get them. Wu knocked out the foremost policeman and dashed down the hallway with another after him. He managed to gain the roof and slamming the door up there braced it on the other side. Then, crossing the roofs, he succeeded in reaching another apartment and escaping.

"Craig," I shouted, pulling on the pattered but still locked door. "This is Walter."

The door opened and we piled into Kennedy's room.

There sat Long Sin, at last manacled and bound, sullen, in a chair. Elaine breathed a sigh of relief as she seized both of Kennedy's hands.

"You—you got him at last!" she cried.

NOT A HERO TO HIS FATHER

Michael O'Leary, Sr., Thought That His Son Might Have Done More Than He Did.

No man is a hero to his own valet. That is proverbial. Is any man a hero to his own father? Maybe that depends on circumstances. The British hero of the hour is the Irishman, Michael O'Leary, who won the Victoria cross by bayoneting eight Germans. As many articles and poems have been written about his deed as were written in the United States at the time of the destruction of the Maine about the man who coolly reported to Captain Sigsbee that the "ship has been blown up and is sinking." Now a recruiting poster has made its appearance. Under a fanciful picture of O'Leary slaying the eight Germans, is the admonition: "Follow the example of Michael O'Leary, V. C., and join an Irish regiment today."

But it appears that Daniel O'Leary, Michael's father, is almost disappointed in his son. According to a correspondent the sire of the Victoria cross hero was interviewed and asked if he was surprised at his son's bravery. He replied:

"I am surprised he didn't do more. I often laid out twenty men myself with a stick coming from Macroon fair, and it is a bad trial of Mick that he could kill only eight, and he having a rifle and bayonet."

Thus the rising generation stands rebuked.

SURELY A MEAN REJOINER

Seems to Prove Truth of Assertion That "We Keep for Our Own the Sharpest Tone."

The talk topic in the lobby of a hotel the other evening turned to the mean things occasionally remarked by hubby, when this incident was recalled by Winston Churchill, the author.

Sometimes ago a party named Brown sat in the living room of his bungalow pulling away on a Kentucky meerschaum and reading the evening paper. Near by little wifey was juggling an embroidery needle.

"Here is another evidence of it, Mary," remarked the old man, glancing up from his paper. "If a man steals, no matter what it is, he will regret it."

"During our courtship, John," reflectively rejoined little wifey, "you used to steal kisses from me quite often."

"Well," was the brutal rejoinder of the mean husband, "you heard what I said."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Why Men Eat More.

That men eat 5 or 6 per cent more than women—not because they are gluttons, but because they actually require that much more nourishment—appears as a result of an investigation made in the nutrition laboratory of the Carnegie Benedict and L. E. Hames, says the Literary Digest. The reason for the discrepancy seems to be that women have a smaller proportion of active tissue than men of the same weight and more inactive material, such as fat. The investigation disclosed that the average woman generates only 1,355 heat units in the twenty-four hours, as against 1,638 produced by the man, or about 2 per cent more for the latter per pound of body weight. When groups were compared, after careful selection of individuals of nearly the same height and weight, the men were found to produce about 12 per cent more heat than women.

Starving "Troops" Send Food.

The New York Sun's correspondent with the Foreign Legion, writing on April 24, says:

"On a patrol the night before last we left a Paris newspaper near the German lines. It contained a story about the starvation undergone by the enemy which we thought would interest them. Last night Captain C. of another company of our battalion, when out on patrol, found the newspaper, with a nice little note in it, placed in a basket of food. The basket contained two bottles of beer, some sausages (inevitably), bread, cheese and other good things. The note said that if the finder was satisfied with the contents he could get more by leaving a note of appreciation. The Dutchmen seem to have a keener handle your dead and you will be satisfied. I will go any where any-time day or night.

Clint Rutherford

Many of the readers of this paper will remember me as being connected with Dr. R. G. Milling at Putnam in 1914.

Since we left Putnam many may not know where I am located. I take this method of telling my friends that I am now back at Putnam where I am prepared to take care of all who desire the treatment I give, and I am charging a very reasonable board rate which is $1.50 per day, and give treatment free to all my boarders.

I invite all who are suffering with any kind of chronic trouble to give me a trial. I have treated a number from Cross Plains and surrounding country, and if you know nothing about me I will be glad for you to ask them about me, will also be glad to give you their names if you wish.

Give me a chance to cure you as I have hundreds of others all over Texas and other states.

I am respectfully,
H. V. CALDWELL.

Paint Put-on

Think of paint put-on and not by the gallon.

A gallon of paint in the can is of no account to anybody. Put it on. Now reckon its cost and value.

The secret is: one paint goes twice as far as a bad one.

You have a job. It'll take 10 gallons Devoe and 12 or 15 or 18 or 20 of middling poor very-poor and trash. You know painter's wages in your town. Put the price of a gallon of paint and the painter's day-wage together. You can, we can't.

Devoe cost less than any inferior paint; there are hundreds of them.

One paint is as good as another, so long as it lasts good; one lasts months and another years; and the one that goes furthest last longest.

DEVOE

F. P. Shackelford sells it.

Attention Buggy Buyers

We are making some special prices on Moon Bros. Buggies. It will pay you big to investigate.

WHY NOT

come to me to get your suits? I have hundreds of the latest styles of woollens to select from and my years' experience will guarantee a perfect fit. And prices are right. At Tarrt the Tailor.

Jim Lawrence of Hamilton has moved here and has a position with The City Drug Store. He is a brother to Mrs. S. P. Rumph. We are glad to have him with us.

WE'RE GOING SOME

Saturday last in addition to other brands we sold 42 pair of Foot Rest Hose. What did this? Why, the fact that we bought a good quality and sold at the right price.

THE RACKET STORE

John McDonald and family and Frank Bryson have returned from a trip to Bangs where they went on account of the death of Mr. McDonald's father, L. A. McDonald of five miles southeast of Bangs. The deceased formerly lived in the Pioneer country where he bears the name of being a good man in the best sense of the word. He died Saturday night and was buried Sunday. By his own request the funeral services were conducted by T. C. Yantis, banker of Brownwood, Mr. Yantis and the deceased being life-long friends.
